The Lockney High School Orchestra under the direction of Miss Hettie Hofstetter and assisted by Mrs. Maye Crager, gave a concert Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Grammar School Auditorium.

This was the orchestra's first appearance this season. They have been practicing since the latter part of October and were 11 members in the orchestra and 6 of these were beginners this year. Miss Hofstetter started these on the different instruments and they, as well as the more advanced players, have been under her constant supervision.

During the concert the orchestra played twelve selections of DeLamare, J. G. Klein which consisted of marches, waltzes, spirited selections. In conclusion a Majestic Overture. Audience was swept from a march to a slow dreamy piece which brought contentment and then into a rapid dance of mirth, and in conclusion an overture which consisted of all three.

They were played by Roy Dyer, soprano; Patricia Patterson, flute; Cooper, cornet; and Mrs. Maye Crager and Kenneth Hohlaus played

Mayor Warns Owners Of Chickens

Quite a few complaints have reached my office in reference to people failing to keep their chickens in pens. It seems that some people of our city have been negligent in this matter and they are worrying and destroying their neighbors gardens and flowers. We are sure on second thought no one wants their chickens over in their neighbors yard or garden scratching everything up as this is very annoying to the owner that has worked to

How many of you are going to the Wool Texas Chamber of Commerce this week end at Big Springs? I noticed where a lot of pretty girls are going to be present with bells on their feet, wearing foreign countries and such. Of course you women are not interested in the beauties but I just thought I'd tell you so you could prevent your husbands from going without you charge for that tip, please.

Let's get more domestic and use a few household hints. Here are a few good ones:
1. Starched collars and cuffs should be washed in cold water with a little soda.

Starch stains may be removed from white goods by rubbing the spot with the cut end of an onion and washing the garment in the sun.

A half teaspoon of baking powder added to boiling frosting will keep from running.

Rain spots on cloths can be removed by pressing with a moderate iron through a clean, damp cloth.

The household is less bothersome when colored cloths instead of white are used for cloths and dishes are used.

Oilmeal on a dampened cloth is excellent for cleaning white paint.

Crumpled artificial flowers or ferns may be freshened by holding the stem of a kettle for a few minutes.

Is your husband the clinging vine type? Of course, you think I have question mixed with women but is not the case. According to Garden, opera star, the man in clinging vine type instead of the man these days. She says, "A man who makes her own living can get along without marriage, but the never. He just has to get married."

to be taken care of."

There was a time when a girl was beautiful with perfect features or she was horrible ugly with the most grotesque mouth, ears or nose. Alas! the girl can be pretty and the beautiful girl can be ugly—At the Beauty Shop owners at New York, women with dark Gable ears can purchase "tacks" which will keep the high winds from blowing their outstanding aural appendages. These tacks are made out of thin colored court plaster and are guaranteed to make the ears lie close to the head.

If your nose don't suit you get a plate to order demountable gold plate nose which is worn on the inside of the nose, however if your trouble is on top of the nose then you'll just have to have an operation like Etta Kott's prize fighter did.

Removable fingernails, eyelashes, and lips may be obtained at your price. Wholesale bargain.

How about learning to make Pirate Bread? The kiddies will love them and they are delicious. Here it is:

1 1/2 Graham cracker
1/4 Teaspoon of salt
1/2 cup of pasteurized dates
1-2 Teaspoon of baking powder
1 cup of chopped nuts
2 eggs
1/2 cup of brown sugar
Crumble the graham cracker fine in 1/2 cup of crumbs mix with salt and baking powder. Beat eggs and sugar together and combine the two mixtures thoroughly. Turn into well buttered shallow pans. Bake in moderate oven 20-25 minutes. Cut in bars while warm.

I presume it is time I was saying "Love off" since my time is limited. They too it is almost "Chow time" see you next week.

It isn't a joke about Cardinal tomatoes producing a big crop every year, the joke is on those who will not plant them.

A customer said: "I planted several varieties of tomatoes last year but not any produced except Cardinals and they were loaded down with fruit."

If you are satisfied with bushels of vines, most any variety of tomato will do, but if you want bushels of fruit, the answer is easy, plant Cardinals.

Bright red, smooth, firm, splendid to slice, delicious to eat, fine to can that's a Cardinal tomato.

Do Not Think Of Your Electric Bill

in terms of a LIGHT BILL

IT IS NOT

You wouldn't speak of your cost of drugs as a part of your grocery bill—

Neither would you include your cost of entertainment as a part of your grocery bill.

LIGHTING represents only ONE SMALL PART of the average family's use of electricity. The other uses are many, even in the smallest of homes.

The combined cost of these comfort-making conveniences is less than 10 cents a day for the average family.

GRANDMOTHER GRIFFITH

O beautiful Spirit thou has flown From lonely hearts with grief to bear Yet oh how sweet to once have known

Thee, Lovely Flo wer, that's blooming there!

I seem to see from across those golden bars that happy smile, and hear those soft, tender words of beloved grandmother. We had to give her back to God, back to her Creator, but she has left us a beautiful life, so impressive, so patient, kind, and good. We have lost our greatest treasure and yet she gave it all to us. That lovely face that showed bitterness, but was ever radiant with love and cheerfulness, is stamped in our hearts, yet gone from our sight. The withered body that was always alert, laboring untiringly for the good of some one else has paused to rest for a moment.

That noble soul has winged its way to a better clime. Still I hear it calling, "Be tho-u faithful unto death."

What sweet consolation and hope it gives to remember her in all the ways of a life as unselfish as to be shed entirely for others. We can only hope that the loving spirit she has chose to tread will know the footsteps of many lured that way by her goodness. Let us express our sincere love and deep appreciation for her faithful examples live for posterity by forever clinging to those noble ideals of the one who has been to us a faithful wife and servant, a loving mother, a dear devoted grandmother, and a kind friend and helper to all.

A large attendance at church last Sunday, one of the best during the year. We were pleased to meet so many from the country in the services. We are looking forward to next Sunday with the expectation of a great service. The Lord will bless us if we shall only do our part. Let every one interested invite others to the services. Remember: always that if you can not "Pay," you are just as welcome to a place in the congregation as can be. We want the inspiration of your presence. Please do not stay away because "Times are hard." All of us understand that we can not do as we once could. We shall do our best, and the Lord will do the rest.

MAIN STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST

G. F. MICKY, Minister
More than one hundred persons attended the mid week service last Wednesday evening. This service was held in honor of the new members that came to us during our recent meeting of whom there were about twenty. The evening was well spent, and every talk was pointed and rich in good things. Such services are always helpful, and should be frequently repeated.

Moreover, for next Wednesday evening we shall arrange another service equally as helpful. The program will have been made out by Sunday, and every part assigned. Nothing of profit, helpfulness, and encouragement to spiritual growth will be lacking. Don't forget, but be ready to come.

Then for the Lord's Day, everything that prayer and devout consideration can arrange will be put into the service; while nothing shall be permitted that will detract from the purpose of the meetings. Let every disciple plan to be on time help carry out the service, and keep glowing the spirit of the day.

The sermon topic for the morning hour is "Jesus and His Mother." This topic is especially chosen for the hour for this is "Mother's day." The evening hour will be spent at the City Auditorium, in honor of our High School Graduates of this year. The topic for the evening is—"Life's Voyage." Let us unite in making this a great day of worship.

GUY LAWSON MORELAND

Once more the divine anile was sent to earth and entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Moreland and taken from them one of their most valued jewels, Little Guy.

At times we wonder why God does such things as these. "Suffer little Children come unto me—for He ever suffers not as little children can not enter the kingdom of Heaven." After reading these few line we understand right and good way. Then as we close also that God doeth all things in the our eyes and think far far beyond the beautiful Haven of Rest where all of God's children are gathered about the throne. Beautiful silvering angles—in the land where there is no sorrow, pain, nor grief. A time of this kind is hard for us to believe—but then think of the suffering old wicked world. We know that God is
