Country Echoes Mrs. Bill Tucker

We visited over Cheaney way Sunday and things seem to be dry in that section as we are here at Indian Mountain, with the burning as badly as the feed and row crops here. Gardens have gone to nought over in that neighborhood, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Strickler and family came over from Caddo in time for Church service, and a visit with his mother, Mrs. J. P. Strickler. They had just returned from a vacation trip to Colorado and Pikes Peak, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler are taking a Colorado trip this week.

Ben Freeman is visiting his mother Mrs. J. H. Freeman, in the home of his brother, Allen Freeman at Natalia, near San Antonio, this week. Mrs. Ben Freeman accompanied him as far as Comanche for a visit with her brother Dick Weeks and family, while Mr. Freeman is away.

Ray and Jackie Blackwell and daughter Kim, from Quannah, are spending the week with the parental Elmer Blackwell family.

Little Miss Rhonda Lynn Neger of Eastland visited her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Neger over the week-end. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neger came for her Sunday afternoon.

William Richard has been spending the past two weeks with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tucker. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Mofgan Box and sister Mary Ella will come for him soon. Their home is in Wichita Falls.

Local College Offers Students Advantages

Ranger Junior college has been serving the residents of this area for almost a third of a century. As its facilities expand, and its faculty increases, more and more courses are being offered at tuition rates that have not advanced.

Ranger Junior college is a state-supported school. Since the state pays the salaries of the instructors, the students can attend school one whole semester of four and one-half months for only $25. This allows the student to take fifteen semester hours' work or five courses of three hours' credit each.

Expensive textbooks may be rented from the college for only $5 per semester. A $12 activity fee admits the student free to all college football and basketball games and to dram productions. At no other school can you get so much for your dollars invested in education.

Ranger Junior college offers majors in agriculture, business administration, (including accounting and secretarial studies) and a one-year accounting program) education, english, foreign language, industrial arts, journalism, mathematics, physical education, science, social science, speech, applied music, and music education.

Special programs for pre-dental, pre-engineering, pre-law, pre-medical, pre-medical technologist, pre-nursing and pre-pharmacy are available for those qualified to take them.

Ranger Junior college instructors are highly skilled in the junior college fields. They are specialists in their line, but more important, their philosophy of education directs them to display a special sincere interest in each student, and to assist each student in developing his abilities to his utmost capacity.

More students flunk out of college during the first semester than at any other time. Ranger Junior college assists the students in making the adjustment from high school to college.

Another call was in the Roy Kinser home. We met Mrs. Kinser who is a nurse at the Gorman Hospital, and very charming. The 15-year old daughter, Holly Kinser entertained us awhile before her mother came home from work.

Then we stopped by the Fred Joiners and picked up our daughter-in-law, Margaret Tucker and children for the return trip home. One of our favorite pastimes is meeting people—Or had you already noticed?

We watched television a few nights ago with the Ernest Brooks. And she does make the most delicious lemonade for a refreshing pick-up.

Do you remember the mockingbird we mentioned a few issues ago? Well, we still have the critter. But we certainly let him know that there are other things to eat besides grasshoppers. He likes lightbread, spaghetti, peaches, cantaloupes, and cold cuts of meat, now that he knows. We still think that he would make a nice pet for someone.

Seemed queer to be going over to Duster to vote on Saturday. We have always liked to help hold elections, wherever we lived.

NOW HUMBLE RESEARCH presents to the motorists of Texas the world's finest automotive gasoline . . . Golden Esso Extra

This new gasoline is designed for the growing number of automobile engines with very high compression ratios, and for cars that tend to knock on "premium" gasolines. In many cars, it is the only gasoline that will give you knock-free performance. It has the highest octane rating of any automotive gasoline in town—the highest by far.

Golden Esso Extra is One of Three Great Humble Gasolines Golden Esso Extra is for cars with very high compression ratios. But there are hundreds of thousands of automobiles in Texas that give perfect performance on Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline, and there are others that perform well on regular grade Humble Motor Fuel.

Humble provides all three grades: Golden Esso Extra—premium over premium; Famous Esso Extra—premium; Humble Motor Fuel—regular. Those whose cars require Golden Esso Extra quality will find it profitable to pay more for this new gasoline. For others, Humble Motor Fuel sets the pace for performance and mileage among the "Regulars." It is the only regular gasoline in Texas that contains a patented solvent oil to keep your engine clean.

Use and pay only for the gasoline your car requires . . . You'll find it under the Humble sign. HUMBLE

Beth Grace, formerly of Breckenridge where she was valedictorian of Breckenridge high school, will be another real asset to the college. Beth's father is the Methodist minister at Carbon. Beth will be an assistant in the registrar's office at the college.

Another capable and energetic student who has already demonstrated her ability in the college office this summer is Doris Nabers, valedictorian of Desdemona high school. Doris will be in Rangemans, the chorus and plans to major in psychology.

From Vernon comes Geneva Martin who is also a music major. Darla Gerlack, pianist, soloist and valedictorian from Winters will be another real addition to the Fine Arts dept.

Mr. Al Lotapeich is all smiles as he talks about the RJC band for next year. Eddie Green, honor student from Breckenridge, will share all-state trumpet honors with last year's favorite, Bobby Brooks.

Alfalfa, Important Hay Crop, Has Varied Uses To Farmer

Alfalfa is a crop of varied farm uses. It is important in Texas as a source of hay, pasture and seed and also as a soil improving crop. Its blossoms provide bees with a prime source of nectar for honey. E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, says the supply of high quality alfalfa hay never seems to be adequate. As a pasture crop, it is excellent alone for hogs but for cattle and sheep is usually used in mixtures with grasses. Its excellence as a soil improving crop is well established. Alfalfa does best, says Trew, on fertile, well drained soils which are neutral to alkaline and of medium texture. With applications of lime and plenty of fertilizer, it is being grown on acid, sandy soils in East Texas. The most widely adapted varieties are the "Common" varieties, Texas, Southwestern and Barstow. These varieties are recommended for all of Texas except for the area south of a line east and west through College Station and San Antonio. For this section, hairy Peruvian, Indian and African make more winter growth and more total yield than do the "Common" varieties. Arizona Chilean may also be used in this area. Ranger and Buffalo are grown in the Rolling and High Plains areas for seed but have no advantage over the "Common" var-

June graduates will find that job prospects this year and next "should be good," according to the Labor Department. Labor Department officials stress the importance of getting all the education and special training possible, however, cautioning that a high school education is the minimum requirement for many "entry" jobs.

The 60-year-old hulk of the battleship Oregon, once flagship of the United States Fleet, will soon be nothing but scrap metal. She served in three wars, was converted to an ammunition barge in World War II and has now been purchased by a Japanese firm and towed from her "port" at Guam to Japan where she'll be cut up to feed the blast furnaces.

FILLERS

Pennies cost millions. A bill now in Congress would boost the revolving fund from which production of one-cent and five-cent pieces is financed to three million dollars from the present top limit of two million dollars. Raise is needed because of the rise in copper prices since 1954, when Congress authorized an increase in the supply of these coins.

About 50 cents' worth of copper is used in the minting of $1.45 in pennies, which also contain other metals. A solid copper penny would be much too soft to stand up to the rigors of constant usage.

Consumption of newsprint reached an all-time high in the first four months of 1956, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The nation's presses gobbled up an estimated 2,247,262 tons in that period as compared to 2,130,821 tons in the corresponding period of 1955.

Howdy, Ranger, howdy. It is with genuine pleasure that we now identify ourselves with your city in the capacity of editor of The Times. While it will be fairly easy for you people to remember and "cuss" us, being as we are only one, please do not feel offended if we cannot remember your name every time we meet you on the street, after all—there is only one for you to remember and some 3900 of you that we must remember.

A gal may be as strong as an oak, but she still needs some SAP to support her. With the battle between Mickey Mantle and Ted Williams going on it seems strange that hardly any of the sports writers will go out on a limb and say which of the two they are pulling for. Personally, we like Mantle and hope that he will be the eventual winner, at least he is not the conceited bum that Williams has turned out to be. Good luck, Mick.

Three Months of Color In Spring Bulb Garden

Tulips make a lovely decoration for the patio.

To get the best effect from spring flowering bulbs in the home garden, do not plant them in single rows or massed beds. The grace and beauty of the daffodils, hyacinths and tulips are much better displayed when they are planted in groups, the number in a group depending upon the size of the garden. A group of five bulbs is approximately equal to one perennial plant, and such groups can be arranged in pleasing combinations with other bulbs or plants. For maximum effect they may be planted at focal points in the garden where their beauty will stand out.

Three months of color can be enjoyed from bulb plantings, but this requires that several kinds be planted, chosen for their flowering season. Each kind gives a relatively brief display, and several may for a brief time overlap, as do the daffodils, hyacinths and early tulips. The late tulips have the longest season. For a full three months, usually March, April and May, you will require snowdrops, which blossom when the ground thaws out, followed in turn by scillas, crocus, species tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, early tulips, and then late tulips, which include the parrots and late doubles.

It does not take many of the earliest flowers to make a welcome display since they come at a time when nothing else is in bloom. They also bloom when it is cold outside, and will be enjoyed most if they can be seen from the picture window. Daffodils bloom before trees and shrubs are in leaf and do well in locations which are in full sun when they bloom, though later would be shaded. That is why they are often naturalized beneath trees.

Tulips require sunshine most of the day. Groups of tulips can be tucked into the ground alongside perennial flowers and if planted eight to ten inches deep will bloom for several years in well drained soil, without being lifted. If there is room for a bulb border, the tall late tulips are best to plant there because of their remarkable variety of forms and colors. By carefully selecting colors and types, and using the new parrot and double tulips, as well as the Darwin, Cottage and Breeder varieties, a border can be made more beautiful than at any other time of the year.

All the colors of the rainbow are available among the tulips, in many tones and blends. There are many blue-purple and lavender varieties to plant in effective contrast to the yellow, orange, pink and red varieties. A group of parrot tulips will attract instant attention, with their huge fringed petals and brilliant coloring. The new late double tulips are almost as large as peonies.

Tulips blossom before weeds have begun to grow, or insects have hatched out to damage the plants. They rarely have to be watered, and are the most dependable of all plants for planned effects, since they blossom at the same time, grow to the same height, and never spread out of their assigned location.
