RAILROAD MEETING HELD AT TEMPLE

PROPOSITION TO BUILD LINE FROM BYERS NORTHWARD GIVEN AN IMPETUS.

THIS CITY REPRESENTED

Meeting Assured of All Possible Encouragements From People of Wichita Falls.

A well-attended and enthusiastic meeting was held yesterday at Temple, Okla., to consider the long-proposed railroad from Byers to the northward, and the new movement for that line was given a decided impetus.

The meeting was attended by practically every business man in Temple, a large delegation from Byers and a representation from this city, consisting of G. D. Anderson, J. C. Tandy, W. M. McGregor and R. A. Thompson.

The Wichita Falls delegation assured the meeting of this city's hearty and substantial support of any proposition that might be made for the construction of the line, which is to run from Byers to Oklahoma City, by way of Chickasha.

'Our money was countfeited up there,' said one of the delegates this morning. 'The Byers delegation had us in charge and they considered us their guests.'

This proposition is indirectly related to that of Henrietta to build northward to Byers. Wichita Falls will, of course, get the benefit of any road going northward from Byers into Oklahoma and could not be hurt at all by any competition from Henrietta.

BASEBALL AFFAIRS; NEW MANAGEMENT

WILLIAM BONNER WILL BE IN CHARGE OF WICHITA TEAM DURING 1910 SEASON.

GOOD TEAM IS PROMISED

Negotiations Already Under Way for First Class Players—Has Leased the Old Park.

The management of last year's Wichita baseball club has been succeeded by a new management which proposes plans providing for a Wichita Falls Athletic association. The site of the old ball park composing 50 acres of land, has been leased from Henry Sayles of Abilene and Judge Edgar Scurry of this city, by Wm. N. Bonner. The Times reporter learns that it is Bonner's intention to make extensive improvements on the premises in order that games of football, tennis, and track, as well as baseball may be indulged in.

It is intended to encourage each of these sports along the right line and to have such teams as will advertise this city in this respect. Such players as 'Stopper' Witherspoon of Denton, 'Cub' Wathen of Dallas, 'Manly' Graham of Austin and 'Happy' Brownlee of Bertram, have been negotiated with and have expressed their willingness to wear a Wichita Falls baseball uniform. The ability of these players is well known and it is intended to build around them other players including such home talent as Wm. Huff, Frank Coiler, Carson and Thomas, a first class gentlemanly baseball club.

Wichita Falls has always shown its willingness to foster and encourage clean athletic sports, and the fans will no doubt be glad to hear of the progress that is being made in this behalf.

HOSPITAL QUESTION BEFORE CONFERENCE

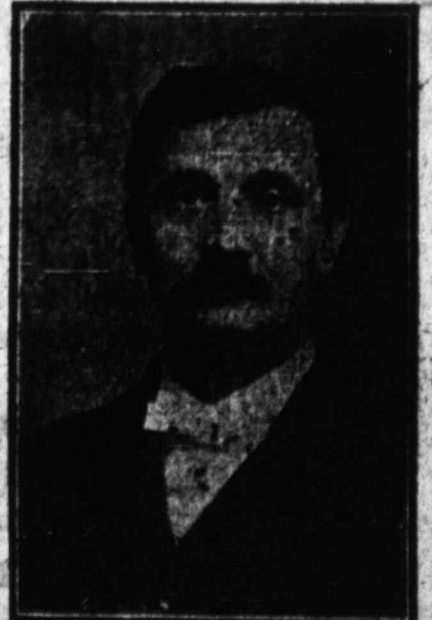

Dr. R. L. Miller of this city, who is the moving spirit for the proposed new hospital, appeared before the session of the Austin Conference of the Methodist Church this morning and addressed them on his plans for the new institution. He was attentively heard and upon the conclusion of his address the matter was referred to a committee consisting of Rev. Summerville of Fort Worth, Rev. C. R. Robinson of Dallas and Rev. R. E. Farley of this city.

While no further action was taken on the matter, sentiment seems to be very much in favor of the hospital and it is very likely that friendly action will be taken when the matter comes up for final consideration.

IS A FATALIST

Barney Oldfield, Auto Racer, Ready to Meet His Fate When It Comes

Barney Oldfield, the world's champion pilot of racing machines, and Ben Kerscher, the noted German driver will arrive in Houston Friday.

Word was received from the pair of dare-devil auto splinters Wednesday morning in which they said that they had arrived in Beaumont and would leave there Friday morning for this city.

All the racing machines have been overhauled and are now in fine form for the dashes on the half-mile tracks here and at Beaumont.

When asked by a Texas auto fan why he was not afraid to race on the dangerous half-mile course, Oldfield said: "Well, it would not make much difference to me what kind of track it was. You see I am a fatalist and believe that when my time comes I will go, and there is no power in the world that will be able to stop me."

"I have had five bad spills already and emerged from all without losing a limb or taking the count. Now, if it had been intended that I should go, why didn't it?"

"I started the racing game in this country. I was the first champion of the world and I won the title honestly when I defeated Terry, Sartori and a couple of other foreigners in the great $10,000 match race at New York City in 1904."

"I have been racing on all kinds of tracks and under all kinds of conditions ever since and still I have neither lost my nerve or a limb. Of course, my time may come right here in Houston, but I will meet it bravely for I don't believe there is any power that could have stopped it."

"When I went through the fence at St. Louis and smashed my Green Dragon into bits of scrap iron, I made up my mind that I wasn't to be killed driving a car and I still retain this idea. There are people in Houston now that saw that smashup and they will tell you that it was one of the worst the auto game has ever had."

"Then take the time I turned my car over at Detroit and almost scalped myself on a fence. I looked a lot like a dead man when I was picked up, but still I escaped with a few days in the hospital. And, in fact, every time I have had an accident it seemed that some great power was protecting me."

Oldfield is very serious in his talks on fatalism and thinks that everybody dies when their time comes—Houston Chronicle.

TO THE INSURING PUBLIC.

A Few Pertinent Facts About Fire Insurance Which It Will Pay You To Know.

Since the year 1880 some 440 stock companies engaged in the business of fire and marine insurance in the United States have either reinsured, retired, or failed—an average of more than 15 retirements and failures a year.

In purchasing securities, clothing, or builders' supplies, or provisions, most buyers are careful to select the best that can be had for the money.

Why should not the same law of trade govern the purchase of fire insurance? The rates charged by the stock fire insurance companies are the same. Then why not select policies of companies which have large resources, whose business is carefully selected, and which have honorably met the enormous losses occasioned by the great conflagrations at Chicago, Baltimore and San Francisco, to say nothing of those resulting from the smaller catastrophes of the kind?

Any insurance policy is a good enough policy until the unexpected happens—until a fire comes, then it will be found that it paid to select the best.

Companies represented in our office have more than TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS in United States assets, they are the leaders, strong and old-established.

Don't forget that the very best insurance protection can be had for the same money as an inferior article.

WEATHER FORECAST.
For Wichita Falls and vicinity.
—Tonight and Sunday, unsettled weather. Showers tonight or Sunday. Colder.

Wichita Falls is throwing fits about the alleged cool treatment of the Byers railroad delegation to Henrietta, as though she were the conservator of our hospitality. Is Wichita getting scared again?—Henrietta Independent.

Wichita Falls is not envious of any of her neighbors. The Byers delegation, or at least two or three very prominent and leading members of it, said they were rather badly treated at Henrietta. That is putting it mildly. What these gentlemen said of their reception (?) at Henrietta would not look well in print. The Times is glad, however, that by calling attention to the matter Henrietta has repented, and in the future a delegation from the thriving little city of Byers will receive a more cordial welcome, provided, however, it will call on the secretary of the Henrietta Board of Trade and consult with him as to what hotel they shall put up at, or stop over. In a rather heated communication to this paper the Henrietta secretary admits that 'they went to a hotel, which, so far as its sympathies with the work of the Henrietta Board of Trade is concerned, I will say the management is about on a par with the interest shown in our affairs by the Times. . . . I suggested to the press agent of the Byers delegation that if they would transfer to another hotel, I felt sure they would be received more cordially.'

The above is a correct quotation from the secretary's letter to the Times, and the reader will readily see, by his own language, that the Times has only stated facts.

The letter was not published for the reason that it contains language which does not become one gentleman to use toward another.

Wichita Falls Times: A Cleveland physician says baldheaded men have more brains than men upon whose locks time has not wrought such havoc. It is probably no surprise to our readers to learn that every member of the Times' force is amply supplied with hair.

The editor of the Denton Record-Chronicle, with whom you occasionally cross hats, is also heavily endowed with hirsuteness. Is the public to assume that you two would be averse to a literary controversy with a baldheaded man? Would you avoid argument with Editor Lowry of Honey Grove or go out of your way to miss Editor Ransome of Cleburne? On the other hand, wouldst welcome a war of words with Editor Wortham of Fort Worth?—Dallas News.

We have not had a scrap with Brother Edwards of Denton for nearly a week now. But we are laying for him.

This was probably the only paper in the country falling to publish a turkey hash joke yesterday. We wrote one, but it was left out through an error.

The Times may have been a little short on quantity yesterday, but there was enough quality to make up for it.

SHORT ITEMS OF INTEREST

A marriage license has been issued by the county clerk to Charles J. Jennings and Hiss Theodosia Helen Cornelius, both of Hastings, Okla.

The item in the Times yesterday that St. Mary's Academy would remain closed until next Wednesday, was an error. The academy will resume Monday.

Wichita Falls' behavior during Thanksgiving was, if anything, better than usual, and the number of cases in the city court showed that those who celebrated too convivially were few in number.

Wichita Falls has been invited to take part in the West Texas Development Congress, which meets at San Angelo on December 6, and President Huff of the Chamber of Commerce has appointed the following delegates:—T. EXCLUSIVE SHOE HOUSE

A Gold Mine to All

The following is an analysis of water taken from a well on my farm two miles southwest of town, on the road to Lake Wichita; was made by G. S. Fraps, Ph. D., State Chemist, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, on Oct. 13th, 1909.

This sample of water has the following composition, expressed in grains, per U. S. Gallon:

Carbonate of Lime.....	7.58
Sulphate of Lime.....	23.33
Calcium Chloride.....	15.68
Magnesium Chloride.....	32.19
Sodium Chloride.....	135.41

This water is classed as a murlated saline water. These waters stimulate the secretion of the stomach, increase digestion and favor a more complete absorption of the food. This water should have a laxative action, taken in small doses, and a purgative action taken in larger doses, on account of the magnesium which it contains.

Yours truly,
G. S. FRAPS.

This water will be delivered to any part of the city at 10c per gallon.

ANDY'S BIRTHDAY.

"Conny Scot" is Seventy-Two Years Of Age

New York, Nov. 25—Andrew Carnegie, capitalist, manufacturer and philanthropist, celebrated his 72d birthday today. He spent the day quietly in his Fifth avenue home in company with his family and a few intimate friends invited to partake of the Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. Carnegie is still devoting the most of his time and attention to his vast schemes of philanthropy. Colleges, hospitals and the hero fund, together with the Foundation for the Advancement of Learning are receiving most attention. The great philanthropist is not giving much money nowadays for libraries, though he says he is well satisfied with the results of his expenditures in the library line.

A recent estimate places the total of Mr. Carnegie's benefactions at $158,000,000. Of this vast amount about $30,000,000 has been bestowed upon public libraries in the United States, Canada, England, Scotland and Wales. The Carnegie Institute has received almost $20,000,000 and the college professor's pensions have amounted to about $15,000,000. Small colleges in the United States have received $20,000,000, and half that sum has been bestowed upon Scotch universities.

The hero fund benefaction amounts to $10,000,000 and a like sum represents the amount given for the endowment of the Carnegie Institute in Washington. The remainder is represented in miscellaneous gifts in the United States and Europe, notable among the latter being the $5,000,000 Dunfermline endowment and the $1,750,000 given for the establishment of the peace palace at The Hague.

TEXANS AS PIRATES.

Two Well Known Characters Believed To Figure in Plots.

Galveston, Nov. 27.—LeRoy Barnett, well known in Houston and Galveston, is believed to be the central figure in a plot that smacks of piracy disclosed in San Francisco. After the man had been arrested, convicted and sentenced for raising paper money, two others, one of them George Barnett, also well known here, were apprehended, heavily armed and under circumstances that indicated preparations for the rescue of LeRoy Barnett while he was being conveyed in a boat across the bay to Alameda jail.

During the wild reign of the bunco steerer in the "wide open" town of other years, the four Barnett brothers made headquarters here and were widely recognized characters. They ordinarily came from Galveston.

The last seen of the quartet was about five years ago when the one known as "Cotton," because of his white hair, complained that he had been robbed. The circumstances of the case caused the officers much merriment.

Of the brothers, one was killed in a street fight in Fort Worth. Prison records have been established for two others in Arkansas and Minnesota. The most recent event in California has attracted considerable attention.

LeRoy Barnett was arrested in Reno, Nev., after passing raised bills in various cities in California. His trial and subsequent conviction in San Francisco followed.

Before his real identity was discovered he was known as David C. Belmont of Houston.

Pending and during trial two mysterious strangers evidenced considerable interest in the case. One of them going under the name of Richard Wilson, was identified from photographs in the rogues' gallery as George Barnett. They frequently visited the jail before trial; heard all the evidence, and immediately after the verdict was rendered left the court room while LeRoy Barnett was temporarily quartered in the cell provided in the federal building.

The two men made inquiries to find out when LeRoy would be transferred across the bay and it was then that one of them was recognized. He left the marshal's office but was afterwards found hiding in a lavatory. When searched he had two revolvers on his person.

When LeRoy Barnett was carried across the bay he was heavily guarded to prevent any violent attempt at rescue. The officers anticipated an attack from the pirates of the water front, but precautions taken are believed to have forestalled any intention in that direction.

AFTER HIS LIQUOR.

County Judge Comes to Relief of Amarillo Bootlegger—District Judge Out of Town.

From the Amarillo Panhandle. Hugh Cooper, attorney for T. S. Mitchell, has notified Sheriff Hughes to return whiskey recently removed from a dugout two miles out of the city, on a search and seizure warrant, to the point from which it was taken. Sheriff Hughes understands that he will be forced to do this under the order of Judge Jeter of the county court, unless he can get relief from the district court through Judge Browning.

In the absence of Judge Browning, and the uncertainty as to what his ruling would be, Sheriff Hughes finds himself in anything but an inviting position. If the sheriff does not return the goods within a short time, steps will doubtless be taken to force him to comply with the conditions of Judge Jeter's order.

In the meantime the situation is watched with closest interest by citizens looking at the proposition from all angles. Sheriff Hughes is brought hourly in contact with perplexing and vexatious phases of which the public has but limited knowledge.

The sheriff today reiterated the statement that he will continue this fight to an end, in which he believes victory will be his. He is continuing his search for liquors and men in

HORRORS OF THE ARCTIC.

Terrible Experiences of the Crew of the Ill Fated Jeannette.

When Ross in 1818 touched at Etah the Eskis thought they were being visited by ghosts. With her white sails appearing on the horizon, where the sky melts into an abyss of ocean, what else could the ship be but some great white winged ghost, and what those strange creatures on her decks but lost souls? They thought she, a great bird, had flown from the moon, where wood was abundant, and when they saw her close, her wooden bally and her masts, they whispered, "How much wood there is in the moon—how very much!" Wood is like gold to the Eskis.

One of the unhappy crew of the Jeannette writes: "I put some mercury to freeze and beat it out on the anvil. Our frosep brandy looked like black topaz. We divided meat, oil and bread with a hatchet. Joshua forgot to put on his right glove; in a moment his hand was frozen. The poor devil wished to thaw his lifeless hand in warm water. It was immediately covered with pieces of ice. The doctor was forced to cut the unlucky mate's hand off, and he died next day. Toward the middle of January a caravan of Eskis came to ask us for some dried fish and brandy. We added a little tobacco to these presents, which they received with tears of joy. The chief, a feeble old man, told us that the week before he had eaten his wife and two sons."

Cold more terrible than the white wolf and bear seizes its victims unaware, instantaneously, fatally. The cold purifies the blood, sharpens appetite, favors digestion and stomach. It soothes to sleep by bringing death in the midst of beautiful dreams. This intense cold, so dry, so pure, stops putrefaction, sweetens the air by greatly increasing its density and purifies water. Cold takes the place of cooking, for it makes raw meat, raw fish and tallow eatable.

A Roman nosed people could not hold their own in the arctic. A Roman nose would be too often frozen off. The Esk fat nose is less exposed. The name Eskimo, or raw food eaters, is a nickname given by the Labrador Indians. Their true name in their own tongue is Inuit and means "man." If patriotism be a virtue the Eskis have it surpassingly. Never was a land of verdant groves, golden harvests and willows mirrored in the streamlets and silvery waves better beloved than their snow fields and ice hills and gloomy, stinking tents and igloos.—New York Press.

THE CENTURY PLANT.

It Blooms, Says a Florist, Every Twenty-five to Forty Years.

"The regular century plant," said an expert in floriculture, "is not a cactus. It belongs to a family by itself. It has a large, broad leaf, sometimes two or three feet long and several inches thick where they branch from the center. There are two varieties, one the variegated and the other green. The only difference is that the variegated has a white stripe along the outer edge of the leaf. Both bloom every twenty-five to forty years. A stock perhaps eight or ten inches in diameter shoots up from the center to a height of fifteen or twenty feet, and around this stock cluster small blossoms. They are neither pretty nor fragrant. They were formerly supposed to bloom once in a hundred years.

"The nearest thing to a century plant is a night blooming cereus. It is a cactus and blooms once in about every twenty-five years or so. The flower is large, very beautiful and has a delightful odor. One plant may have several blossoms, but each flower lasts only one night.

"There is no such plant as a 'century cactus.' The cactuses that many have mistaken for 'century cactuses' will bloom in four or five years if kept under glass or about seven years if not in a hothouse. Because they are so long in blooming, I suppose, they have been called 'century cactuses,' and the name has been handed down until it is considered the proper term for them. They bloom yearly after the first blossoms appear. They are just an ordinary cactus, but they have a pretty, fragrant flower."—Seattle Times.

The Ganny Scot.

In the differences that would sometimes arise between members of his tenantry the Duke of Argyll was often invited to arbitrate upon the matter in dispute, and he used to tell a characteristically Scottish story of one of the occasions. Two tenants having waited upon him and asked him to decide the question at issue, the duke put what he always regarded as a very necessary preliminary question, "Will you abide by my award?"

"Well, your grace," was the reply of one of the hard headed old disputants, "I'd like to ken first what it is."—London Chronicle.

The Other Way With Him.

"Remember, sir, that you owe something to your constituents," said one member of a town council to another.

"Humph!" said the other. "If you owe anything to your constituents all I've got to say is that you're lucky. Why, there are not half a dozen voters in my ward that have not borrowed money from me."—Stray Stories.

CAVALRY ON THE MOVE

They Usually Travel at a Walk While on a March.

CAREFUL OF THEIR HORSES.

Reasons Why a Trot or a Gallop Might Prove Disastrous to the Animals. The Wagons and Supplies—Going in to Camp at Night.

People unfamiliar with the marching of troops frequently have the impression that mounted troops usually travel at a trot or gallop while on a march. In the cavalry, however, the gait is usually a walk.

There are reasons why it is not advisable for cavalry to trot or gallop on its road marches. The trooper is required to carry his three weapons—rifle, pistol and saber—over a hundred rounds of ball ammunition, his blanket, shelter tent, canteen, extra horse-shoes and sundry other articles, all of which add considerable weight to that of the trooper.

This weight is more or less concentrated at comparatively few points instead of being uniformly distributed over the horse's back, so that at a trot, in spite of all that may be done to avoid it, the concussion at certain points is considerable and if kept up tends to develop blisters, and sores on the horse's back, which may increase until the animal is no longer fit to use.

As the supply department furnishes but one horse to each trooper, differing in this respect from the mounts of the cowboy, who has as many as he wants, a constant vigilance is required on the part of the captain while on a long march in order to keep his horses serviceable and prevent his troopers from becoming dismounted.

This he accomplishes in part by marching at a walk whenever the circumstances will admit it. By means of the walk we make four miles an hour, says Captain William F. Flynn, U. S. A., in Forest and Stream, and as twenty-five miles is considered a fair day's march it is thus made in about seven hours, considering the necessary halts. The wagons carrying our supplies can go no faster than that, and there is rarely any advantage in reaching one's camping ground very much in advance of the wagons.

It is customary with individual tourists and campers upon making camp to turn their horses loose and either to watch them or else trust to luck in the matter of finding them again. We are not permitted to do this in the army. We always mean to provide grain for our animals on the march, and when we are unable to buy hay en route and thus have to rely upon grazing we put each horse out on a rope fastened to a picket pin driven in the ground.

On the march each mounted man carries his lariat and pin attached to his saddle and as soon as he unsaddles seeks a good grazing place for his horse and drives his pin in the ground. The horse thus gets a limited area upon which to graze. The pins are changed once or twice during the evening, and as the horse stays all night on his rope he gets a pretty fair chance at the grass, after all, and when we want him in the morning we can find him.

The horses having been unsaddled and disposed of, the men then put up their shelter tents. A shelter tent is a convenient little affair made in two halves to accommodate nicely two soldiers. Each soldier carries his half and his pole with him on his blanket roll attached to his saddle, so as soon as he unsaddles he can select his "bunkie" and put up his tent. The officers' tents are wall tents, carried in the wagons and cannot be put up till the wagons come in.

As soon as that takes place details of men put up the officers' tents, get wood and water for the cooks, and the latter build their fire and at once set about getting supper. Soldiers like to have their food well cooked; but, better still, they appear to like it promptly cooked, and that camp cook is always popular who yells "Come and get it!" just a little sooner than it is expected.

On the march we eat but two meals a day. After breakfast the cooks give each man a liberal sandwich of bacon and bread. This the man incloses in his meat can and when he gets hungry eats it. This constitutes his mid-day meal.

Supper over, a guard is posted to look out for the safety of the camp, and the other men usually collect fuel, build a roasting fire, gather round it and amuse themselves by singing, telling yarns and cracking jokes upon each other till bedtime, which comes pretty early with men on the march. The officers fill in the time in about the same manner.

On the march one always has to rise early. There are so many things to be done in order to get the cavalcade fairly on the road that early rising is essential. The guard rouses the cooks long before daylight, and by the time the horses are fed and brushed off the cook announces breakfast. After breakfast the tents are taken down, wagons packed, the horses saddled, and the column is once more on the march.

Benjamin Clothes

After all, it's really the tailor who makes a suit a success or a failure. The most fascinating style would be a fizzle if there were not careful needle work underneath. The most phenomenal designer on earth could not make a garment a success without the co-operation of the tailor. It is he who, by the diligent plying of his needle, gives shape and style and ensures service. The world's most excellent tailors are congregated in New York on account of its being the greatest clothes manufacturing center in the world. They have more work and are better paid there. Could there be a better explanation of why "Benjamin Clothes," Made in New York, are the most stylish and the most perfectly made of any on earth. Won't you make it your particular business to see these wonderful "Benjamin Clothes."

Owing to ill health, I will sell at public auction, township 31, range 22, block nine in Gee Haw survey, One crush raspberry cow, aged six years. She is a good milker and not afraid of the cars, or anything else. She is a cow of undaunted courage, and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form, she would be a great boon. She is very much attached to her home by the means of trace chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right.

She is one fourth short horn and three fourths Hyena; purchaser need not be identified. I will also throw in a Lefever double-barrel shot gun purchased at the Wilson Hardware Company, which goes with her.

In May she generally goes away for a week or two and returns with a long wabby-legged calf. Her name is Rose and I would prefer to sell her to a non-resident.

A Harvest Thanksgiving Reminder

With Cotton soaring way up—I'm feeling pretty good,
As all should be, I take it, in our own neighborhood,
At any rate I'm thankful for the sales that I have had Show Wichita a county where the Most of folks are glad,
Glad that they're living; glad to know that always here is found
On furniture the savings to make their thanks abound;
And we're all thanksgiving, and that is just and right—
So let's think of all our blessings when the turkey comes in sight.

In Society

The River of Life.
The more we live, the more brief appear.
Our life's succeeding stages,
A day to childhood seems a year,
And years like passing ages.

The gladsome current of our youth,
Ere passion yet disorders,
Steals lingering, like a river smooth,
Along its grassy borders.

But as the careworn cheek grows wan,
And sorrow's shafts fly thicker,
Ye stars that measure life to man,
Why seem your courses quicker?
When joys have lost their bloom and breath,
And life itself is vapid,
Why, as we near the falls of Death,
Feel we its tide more rapid?

It may be strange—yet who would change
Time's course to slower speeding,
When one by one our friends have gone
And left our bosoms bleeding?

Heaven gives our years of falling strength
Indemnifying fleetness,
And those of youth, a seeming length,
Proportioned to their sweetness.
—Thomas Campbell.

A Dollar Social.
The members of Circle A met in a social informal way with Mrs. Malone Friday afternoon. We were cordially greeted, and madeto feel the cheery hospitality of our hostess' manner reflected in each other.

The special feature of the afternoon was the relating, of the manner in which we had earned our dollar, some of the members had developed quite a poetical muse, and related their experience in verse, much to the pleasure of all.

Time and space forbids the publication of them all, but following by our treasurer, Mrs. Gallager:

When 'tis decreed we must make a dollar,
It seemed to me hard work must follow.
So I decided to make some aprons,
If I could find a couple of patrons,
They were found and my dollar made
And for my work I'm amply paid,
And may our dollars swiftly come,
So that our church may soon be done.
And the one by our hostess, are worthy
For by our deeds, the circle is known memory.

To earn a dollar for Circle 'A,'
I find it easy to do in an easy way
But to tell the truth and make it rhyme
It takes no work but lots of time

First I begun by peddling candy,
The idea was good for the sales were dandy,
So look out my neighbor dear,
This may be my occupation for the year.

And to make money we will have to work
For I am sure not one their duty will shirk,
My tale of woe 'twas useless to tell
For by our deeds, the circle is known well.

I've earned my dollar, I'm glad to say,
Let's all rejoice this Thanksgiving day.

When our noble aim has been won
Our records will show great work has been done,
For my part I am ready to say
I am glad I am a member of 'Circle
A.'

After the program was over, dainty refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cakes were served. Then Circle A adjourned to meet with Mrs. S. C. Trevathan, Friday, December 21.
