GRAHAM EXTENSION IS BEING SOUGHT

COUNTY SEAT OF YOUNG COUNTY WANTS THE SOUTHERN BUILT THERE FROM NEWCASTLE.

COMMITTEE COMES HERE

Matter is Discussed With Road's Officials But No Definite Action is Taken.

Graham, Young county, Texas is clamoring for the extension of the Wichita Falls and Southern from Newcastle to that point and a committee representing the Commercial Club called on Messrs. Kemp and Kell yesterday and asked them to take the matter up.

While the officials of the Southern have not indicated what action they will take in the matter, it is believed upon good authority that a proposition will be submitted to the Commercial Club of Graham sometime soon. At present the Wichita Falls route has three other extensions on hand in Oklahoma and this may cause some delay in acting on the Graham matter.

The extension from Newcastle to Graham would entail the construction of only twelve or fifteen miles of road and would put Wichita Falls in touch with the Graham coal fields, which are proving to be richer and richer the further their development proceeds. Graham considers that the building of the line would be the first step in the extension of the Southern to Fort Worth, which is understood to be contemplated by the officials of the road.

S. P. Crawford, John E. Morrison and A. K. Graham constituted the delegation visiting the officials and the matter was freely discussed without any definite action being taken at this time. The Wichita Falls route is now at work on the extension of the North-western from Altus to Elk City and also from Altus to Hollis, and is planning the Devo-Lawton extension, all three of which projects are keeping the road fairly busy at present.

Graham is the county seat of Young county and is on the Rock Island system.

BACKCLOTH AND ASHES.

Carival Festival Displaced by Lenten Season.

New Orleans, Feb. 9.—With the Mardi Gras ball and pageants of Comus and Rex the carnival season was brought to a close in New Orleans tonight. In conformity with an old established custom, the identity of Rex, the merry monarch, who in mask had reigned over the city for two days, was revealed tonight. He was Hunter C. Leake, general freight agent of the Illinois Central railway. The queen was Miss Amelia Baldwin.

It was estimated that 50,000 visitors among whom northern tourists were almost in a majority, witnessed the merry-making.

The parade tonight of the Mystic Krewe of Comus was one of the most elaborate in the history of this old carnival organization.

"Mahomet" was the subject of the pageant, the traditions associated with the prophet being illustrated in a score or more of gorgeous floats.

The estimated cost of this pageant and celebration was $100,000.

NEW COTTON MILL PROPOSAL MADE

A NORTH CAROLINA CAPITALIST WILL BE HERE SHORTLY TO SUBMIT PROPOSITION.

CAN DELIVER THE GOODS

Is Understood To Be One of the Largest Mill Operators in Southern States.

It was learned this morning that a cotton mill operator from North Carolina will be in Wichita Falls in about ten days to take up with this city the question of a cotton factory here. The gentleman, whose name is withheld, learned that Wichita Falls was in line for a cotton factory and wrote to Judge Carrigan, who is chairman of the special cotton factory committee, asking him what Wichita Falls was willing to do. He is already in charge of one of the foremost mills in North Carolina and is understood to be financially able to give Wichita Falls a cotton mill, provided this city is willing to do her share.

The gentleman has been notified that Wichita Falls is ready to talk business with him and he has been wired to come here at once, with the promise that this city will "make it big enough." His proposition is understood to be on a bonus basis, though just what the size of the proposition is has not been disclosed.

If the promoter comes here, as it is believed he will, the Chamber of Commerce will be ready to take up his proposition without delay and if possible will close the deal without waiting any time. The fact that he is already in charge of one of the North Carolina mills lends substance to his proposition and it is believed to be one of the best that the Chamber of Commerce has received. The next few weeks will doubtless witness some vigorous action along this line.

It Will Not Come Up Until Next Term of Court—Action Causes Sur- prise.

Texas News Service Special.
Hillsboro, Tex., Feb. 9.—Proceedings at the trial of Major Durham, charged with the murder of Convict Athens was halted this morning to await advice from Austin, as to whether Governor Campbell will restore Joe Lovell's citizenship to enable him to testify for the state.

The state's counsel is confident that Lovell will receive the governor's endorsement, on account of his good record while a convict.

Sheriff Cox is in Austin today submitting certificates of Lovell's record. Nearly a hundred witnesses are awaiting to testify.

Texas News Service Special.
Waxahatchie, Tex., Feb. 9.—Joe Lovell, the ex-convict who is figuring in the trial of Major Durham of Hillsboro, and who is the state's main witness in the prosecution, was sent up from Ellis county in 1904 on conviction of theft of over fifty dollars and was given two years. He is now residing in this county.

Texas News Service Special.
Austin, Tex., Feb. 9.—Governor Campbell today declined to refuse or grant to ex-convict Joe Lovell his citizenship in order that he might testify for the state at the trial of Major Durham, at Hillsboro. Texas News Service Special.

Business Policy

From Chemical Engineering

Managers of very large enterprises have different questions of business policy to solve which smaller firms are exempt from. When a firm or trust becomes so large or powerful that it dominates the market supply of a commodity, the question of "fixing prices" arises; in other words, it has become master to a large extent, of the law of supply and demand, in that one line. Such domination is usually based upon control of the main sources of supply and of the bulk of the machinery of distribution, in addition to the manufacturing features which are the original scope of the business. Given a firm in such a commanding position with respect to a commodity which the public needs and must buy in large quantities, be it beef or wheat, steel rails or coal oil, what are the principles which should actuate and determine the fixing of prices? Are they to be fixed at the utmost extent of the public's ability to pay, or at the reasonable limit of the company's ability to furnish?

Our business friends are familiar with the term "good will." It probably existed on earth as a business asset centuries before the "angels sang it in." Certain it is that it is as highly valuable an asset in the balance sheet now as it ever was. Can trusts or monopolies afford to dispense with it? To come down to the concrete facts, can any firm or corporation afford to squeeze its customers to the last limit of their endurance, and thus forfeit their good will? If an extra demand arises which causes a temporary shortage, is a corporation justified in temporarily putting up its prices, although its own manufacturing costs have not increased?

Many modern business men—the "public-be-damned" type—will answer these questions without hesitation by the simple affirmation "business is business." But, business is not business, as they mean it; it is horse sense and common sense and good sense applied to commercial life.

The doctor who usually charges a certain sum for a certain service, and who doubles his fee because he was wanted more urgently, is not a sensible man; he makes enemies instead of friends. The shopkeeper who would charge me 10 cents for a 5 cent loaf of bread because I am extra hungry, is unprincipled, and gets no more of my future custom than I can help giving. The monopoly which "fixes prices" according to the demands of the market and not according to its cost price plus a reasonable profit is working upon equally false and unfortunate ethical and business principles.

By so doing it is forfeiting the good will of its customers, it invites competition, it provokes hostile legislation and stringent regulation; in other words, it antagonizes the general public good and no business can permanently succeed upon such a foundation. A more profitable business, a more honorable business can be built by cultivating the good will of the public, by a "public to be pleased" policy and by avoiding exploitation of its necessities. Short-sighted, self-willed, hard-fisted, penny-wise-and-pound-foolish some business men are, and they do not see the better way, the more honorable way—and in the end the really more profitable way—which best business sense and intuition sees and acts upon.

American-Built Automobiles.

From the American Review of Reviews. The development of the motor-car industry in America has been so rapid in the last five years that it has actually outgrown statistics. The trade associations which keep in closest touch with the situation are unable to furnish adequate figures of the production of cars for the past two years. Estimates compiled by both associations show that in the year 1918 it is expected that 300,000 automobiles will be made in America.

As near as estimates can make it, there were produced in 1909, 110,000 cars. This was an increase of 25,000 over the production of the previous year, when the output of cars in America was exactly doubled; 1907 practically doubled the output of 1906, and 1906 showed a gain of 60 per cent over the previous year's production. In other words, in the past five years the output of cars has increased seven-fold, while in 1918 the production planned is thirteen times the number of cars made in 1906.

The manufacture of automobiles in America in five years has not only advanced remarkably in numbers, but the improvement in the product has been even more striking. Five years ago the European car markedly outclassed the American-built machine. With the production of modern automobile machinery and the increased knowledge of metals, the American car is now built even better than the foreign-made machines. Hand work employed in foreign factories may produce a finer finish of individual parts, but the advance of American manufacturing methods and American design has more than counterbalanced this foreign advantage. There continues to be a market for foreign cars in America, and doubtless in a certain class a market will always continue, but the yearly increase of imports is small, and the probability is that it will diminish from this time on.

HOGG MEMORIAL.

From the Austin Statesman

The new scheme for the Hogg memorial has now every prospect of success and, when it succeeds, will enjoy the unique distinction of having been the first memorial to the illustrious dead ever reared by the generosity and patriotism of the children of the state which the grand old statesman had loved and served. The scheme of prizes to the boy or girl securing the largest number of contributions is one which relieves the grown-ups of all the work and worry of soliciting while it tests their patriotism to the state and reverence for true greatness by offering an opportunity for a generous contribution at the solicitation of innocent childhood pleading for a remembrance of its ideal hero.

The scheme will succeed because it deserves success. It is a state-wide matter against whose success no locality in the state can offer a reasonable objection. And its success will reflect more credit on the state than on the noble dead it seeks to honor and offered by the children of our great commonwealth to the man who did so much to establish its greatness. No nobler offering or one coming from a purer source was ever made to worth and valor than this which comes from the loving hearts of purest innocence to commemorate with courage and patriotism.

PICKLED RIPE, CANNED RIGHT

There are two reasons for the delicious flavor of Hawaiian pineapple. Another reason is: the fruit is naturally better. All fruit reaches a higher state of development in some one place than in other parts of the world, and Hawaii is the spot most favorable to the growth of a perfect pineapple. It grows larger and more luscious, its color is richer and its meat more tender.

Sliced, grated or crushed, the Hawaiian product is so superior to ordinary pineapple, fresh or canned, that you can close your eyes and tell the difference. We have this pineapple in the Club House brand.

WE ARE LAYING FOR YOU

And the way we are doing it is keeping the best wire fencing in stock.

Before deciding on the wire fencing most suitable to our particular trade, we investigated all the leading makes. Our object was to get the strongest fencing; fencing that would stretch up the easiest; would not sag when run over uneven ground; was animal proof and so constructed as to best withstand the ravages of time.

The fencing that we found to most nearly combine all these desirable qualities was the Pittsburg Perfect Welded Wire Fencing. So this is the fence we not only offer you, but advise you to take. It costs no more than other fencing of inferior quality.

Bathing Girls in "THE THREE TWINS."

At Work on the Stage.

Messrs. Joe Stevens and Harry Kirkpatrick arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and are now at work bracing the stage of the Wichita Theatre for the "Three Twins," which will appear here Thursday, February 10th. This company carries a mammoth electrical swing, weighing over two tons, which will be set up and used during the first act of this delightful musical comedy. This swing is lighted by over 2000 electric lights and taken as a whole, forms one of the most stupendous pieces of stage machinery ever contrived and put into actual use on a stage.

During the first performance of the "Three Twins" when the mammoth swing was used for the first time, one of the supporting rods was too light to stand the strain upon it and broke, killing Miss Dolly Clise and seriously injuring one of the other girls.

While in use in Colorado Springs some time ago, the timbers of the stage were unable to stand the weight and gave away allowing the machine to crash through to the basement. Fortunately no one was badly injured.

Owing to the fact that the stage of the Wichita Theatre is new and is excellent shape, no apprehension is being felt for the safety of all concerned.

The "faceograph" is another popular element in the list of things electrical. By means of a complicated system of lights and mirrors, the features of the prettiest of the chorus girls are reflected on a rear "drop," vastly enlarged and with the limits of her complexion exactly portrayed. On the sheet the girl is seen to smile, pout or roll her eyes, her lips moving with the words of the song, "The Girl Up There." The chorus girl in question has to insert her head—upside down—within a small compartment, wherein are powerful reflectors. The electrical power of 150 amperes is required for the faceograph, equal to the light force of 300 sixteen-candle power lamps.

The song hits are: "Yama Yama," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "The Girl Up There," and many others.

Mr. Galtes has spared no expense in staging the attraction and the New York Telegraph said that it was the most handsome costumed company on Broadway. It requires two baggage cars and three coaches to transport the "Three Twins" company and they generally travel by special train.

The company is headed by Victor Morley, who was associated with Richard Carle in "The Spring Chick en," until he created the title role in the "Three Twins," at the Whitney Opera House, Chicago. Others in the company are Bessie Clifford, W. H. Woodside, Florence Kolb, Harry Hanlon, E. P. Bower, Frank Smith, Harry Johnson, Albert Livingston, Minnie Allen, Helena Salfinger, Ada Bateman, Lillian Badler, Ada Gifford and a chorus of sixty people. The orchestra is under the direction of Ivan Rudisill.

HOBNOBS WITH ROYALTY

Fairbanks and Wife Win Distinct Social Triumph in Rome

Rome, Feb. 2.—At the court ball tonight as a special honor, former Vice President Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks were admitted to the section reserved for the members of the diplomatic corps. Mrs. Fairbanks was invited to occupy a seat next the queen, who engaged her in conversation for about an hour, a distinction which is seldom conferred except upon the wives of ambassadors. Meanwhile the king chatted with Mr. Fairbanks.

TO TAKE UP BONDS

Party of Officials of G. T. & W. Road Now in Dallas

Dallas, Feb. 2.—Accompanied by a number of eastern capitalists and business men, R. C. Megargel, chairman of the executive board of the Gulf, Texas & Western railroad reached Dallas tonight from St. Louis. The object of the gathering is to look over the property with the view of taking up the bonds issued some time ago by the Middle Plains route. These bonds were issued on the authority of the state railroad commissioners on the basis of more than $29,000 per mile for the first fifty miles built by the company, and amounts to more than $1,000,000.

The executive board will hold a meeting tomorrow at the general offices of the company in the Praetorian building, following which the entire party will take a trip over the property.

It was stated today that the extension will reach Seymour not later than April 15, and the work is being delayed at this time by a heavy rock cut just east of Seymour.

The new office building at Jermyn is under course of construction and the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The transportation headquarters will be at Jermyn as soon as the building is completed.

A Despondent Young Woman Dies in Niagara Cataract

Niagara Falls, N. Y. Feb. 2.—A young woman, thought to be Miss Beatrice R. Snyder of Buffalo, committed suicide today by wading into the river just above Prospect Point, and going over the American falls. As her body swept over the brink of the cataract she turned her face toward would be rescuers and smiled a farewell to them.

On the bank was found a handbag and in it this note:

"Mama and Papa: May you both forgive me for bringing this awful disgrace upon you in these years of your life. Also may our Heavenly Father forgive all my sins. But I have never been very good, thank God. You will find a slip for the money under your dresser scarf. With my heart full of love for all your kindness and tender love, good-by. Lovingly, 'BEATRICE'"

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity,
◆—Tonight, fair and freezing.
◆—Thursday, fair and warmer.

Now that labor is boycotting the meat trust, it is but fair to remind labor that if exorbitant prices are being exacted for meat products, there is no agency more responsible for placing the meat packers in a position where they can do this than the labor vote itself. Throughout the north and east the labor vote upheld the republican administration. Had Bryan received an even fifty per cent of the vote of organized labor in the northern and eastern states, he, instead of Taft, would have been president and in that event, there would now be no meat trust or any other kind of trust. They would have been put out of business by Bryan and a democratic congress. The organized labor vote which is now pressing so energetically its boycott against high-priced meats, will, in all likelihood, forget all about its experience when the time comes to elect another president and will do exactly as they did before—cast their vote to keep in power a party which is now, and has always been, a better friend to the trusts and moneyed interests of the country than it has to the organized labor vote.

A DEMOCRATIC HOUSE

It is an old saying that in this country one campaign is scarcely finished till another is begun. It is ten months till the November election but already not only are forecasts being made but preparations also, for, while it does not always hold true, it generally does, that the party which wins in the Congressional election preceding a Presidential election wins that Presidential election also. Consequently, while the Republicans will hold the White House until March 4, 1913, much interest attaches to the complexion of the House of Representatives in the Sixty-second Congress not only because of the political power which goes with it but as a forerunner of things to happen in 1913.

To state the case modestly the signs are that the Democrats will elect the next House unless a foreign war should unfortunately intervene. Revising the tariff is always a ticklish performance for the party in power, ending under normal conditions, in the defeat of that party. Republicans revised the tariff in 1874 and lost in 1874. They again revised it in 1890 and lost. Democrats revised it in 1894 and lost. Republicans revised it in 1897 and won—but they won only by the skin of their teeth and by reason of the Spanish American War. When the House elected in 1898 convened, it had only thirteen Republican majority which was promptly increased by the simple but effective plan of throwing out Democrats who were elected and putting in Republicans who were not elected, for Republican leaders can always be depended upon to commit any outrage which will give them a political advantage from the shift of the Presidency as in the Tilden-Hayes campaign of 1876, a change of only ten votes down to let political larceny. In seven would have given the House organization to the Democrats, but a miss is as good as a mile. The house organization went to the Republicans and with it the Presidency in 1900. No man in full possession of his senses can doubt that the Spanish war gave the Republicans that narrow margin of thirteen in the House elected in 1898. Democrats did as much fighting as Republicans but it was conducted by a Republican administration and the Republicans were helped politically thereby. It gave President McKinley several thousand fat offices to dispose of with which to reward the faithful, heat up the lukewarm and poultice the soreheads of those disappointed and disgruntled by his original disposition of official pap.—Champ Clark in Norman E. Mack's National Monthly for February.

In the north, the meat boycotters are in the very consistent position of being opposed to something to the cause of which they largely contributed by their votes last November a year ago.

Judge Gaynor, elected to the mayor's chair of New York on the Tammany ticket, is an experienced Bible student. Some consoling quotations seem in order.

The "cross-country runs" pulled off by Aviator Paulhan are somewhat different from those of our daddies when they were at school.

The Hatters Union has been fined a quarter of a million for violating the anti-trust laws. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Of course, it is all right for cattle like Senator Heyburn of Idaho, to be in the senate, but they ought to be properly branded.

SHIP SUBSIDY IS BAREFACED GRAFT.

The ship subsidy is a brazen, barefaced, unblushing graft. No man that votes for it or that has voted for it should be re-elected to either house, whether he be democrat or republican. No platform and no candidate should be supported that does not pledge unremitting hostility.

The policy of centralization goes on. The states are to be stripped of legitimate power in order that the federal government may be vested with omnipotent power. The administration threatens virtually to divest the states of the authority to charter interstate carriers to transfer that power to congress alone. "This is an indestructible union of indestructible states." Let the states charter and the federal government license interstate carriers—thus accomplish the good and avert the danger.

The capstone upon the climax of centralization is Senator Aldrich's central bank. This is the tigress which Jackson drove to the jungles. Who will dominate this benevolent institution? Will the Standard Oil and Steel Trust be voiceless in its councils? The United States bank of old debauched American politics! Will this one be shrines of those vices? This great moneyed institution would control the finances, the commerce, the industries and the politics of the nation. It is unsuited alike to the conditions of our country, the character of our institutions and the genius of our people. It can be builded only upon the grave of our liberties. Is it not enough for Mammon to reign? Must he insist upon a formal coronation? Will he demand the insignia as well as the substance of power? Is it not enough for the people to serve? Must they kiss the toes of this crowned and sceptered monarch? Our financial system and sceptered monarch?—U. S. Senator T. P. Gore, in Norman E. Mack's National Monthly for February.

An exchange makes the suggestion that those who have paid their poll tax vote for men for office who believe in "turning Texas loose." The candidate who expects to make that phrase his campaign slogan had best get a few tips from the Honorable George Warwick Clark of Waco.

CORPORATIONS NECESSARY.

No One Man Can Build Transcontinental Railroad.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—"More power" to the interstate commerce commission was urged by United States Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa in an address before the Traffic Club here last night.

"I will not try to convince the corporations that they are sound and well, because they are already on the operating table," declared the senator in opening his remarks. "The surgeon's knife is gleaming all around them. I shall not try to convince them that after it is all over they will be stronger, because under strength is the very disease from which they suffer. But I will try to convince them that after it is over they will be better and safer."

Senator Cummins' topic was "The Interstate Commerce Commission, the Additional Power It Requires to More Completely Fulfill Its Functions."

Mr. Cummins declared that corporations are a necessity, "because, for instance, no one man could build a railroad from New York to San Francisco."

MISS KELLER'S TALE DAMAGING TO HYDE.

Testimony of Nurse in Swope Case Develops Some Very Startling Facts.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 9.—With the testimony of Miss Pearl Keller, a nurse of Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, of Mrs. Loman H. Swope and Dr. Frank Hall in the inquest over the body of the late Colonel Swope in Independence today, came developments in the mystery of the millionaire's death more startling than any facts heretofore produced. Miss Keller's detailed story of the last moments of Colonel Swope's life, replete with features of happenings in the Swope household, produced a sensation. So carefully had her story been guarded that, although much has been written and rumored about the case, not until today had any one outside of the immediate circle interested in the inquiry heard her narrative.

Miss Keller testified that immediately following the death of Colonel Thomas Moss Hunton, Dr. B. C. Hyde asked her to use her influence with Colonel Swope to have him appointed administrator of the Swope estate. Mr. Hunton had been the administrator.

On the morning of Colonel Swope's death she gave him a three-grain capsule supposed to contain dyspepsia medicine. She did it at the direction of Dr. Hyde. His death soon followed. Five minutes after Colonel Swope's death Dr. Hyde appeared and with Attorney John G. Paxton secured Colonel Swope's will from his vest pocket.

D. Hektoen testified that one-sixth of a grain of strychnine was found in one-seventh part of Colonel Swope's liver. He believed there might be a grain in the entire organ. Half a grain would cause death. Traces of strychnine were found in the stomach. Strychnine might have been injected into the body after death. He did not believe the taking of medicine containing strychnine could leave as much as a grain of the poison in the liver.

Mrs. Swope testified that Dr. Hyde knew of Colonel Swope's intention to give $1,500,000 to charity and of his plan to change his will to this effect. She also said Colonel Swope told Dr. Hyde of his plan to give Thomas Swope the largest part of his estate. She denied she entertained any ill feeling against Dr. Hyde.

Dr. Frank Hall said he was absolutely certain Colonel Swope did not die from cerebral hemorrhage or apoplexy.

O. P. Gentry, a druggist of Independence, said he prepared the medicine for Colonel Swope which contained elixir of iron, quinine and strychnine. The strychnine in a teaspoonful amounted to but one one-hundredth and eightieth of a grain, he said.

Dr. Hyde was again present at the inquest today and heard the testimony. Especially did he follow that of Miss Keller, but he gave no sign that her narrative perturbed him in the least.

In the tense moments while Miss Keller described the dying actions of Colonel Swope, Judge Ross and spectators leaned forward and listened eagerly to every word she said. She told in detail how she gave the man a capsule and how he passed into convulsions. While conscious, he cried:

"Oh, my God, I wish I had not taken that medicine; I wish I were dead."

After she had given most of her testimony and the room was quiet, Coroner B. H. Zwart asked her:

"Do you know of anything that might have caused Colonel Swope's death other than the capsule?"

"I do not," she replied firmly.

The report made by Dr. Hektoen on the liver was supported by affidavits from Drs. Walter S. Haines and Victor C. Vaughan. The report on the condition of the stomach was given verbally by Dr. Hektoen. Dr. Hektoen said that the examination of the organs of the body had not been completed.

A question that may have a great bearing on the case was asked by a jurymen during the afternoon. It was:

"Could the body absorb strychnine that had been injected after death?"

"Yes," Dr. Hektoen replied. "If strychnine had been injected after death and the body had lain for a long time the poison could have found its way to other parts of the body through diffusion. Strychnine would have to be in solution for that, and would spread through the tissues."

Mrs. Swope told of the many eccentricities of Colonel Swope. She said she had thought for twenty-five years that his death was imminent. "I am the same as a dead man," she testified that he once said to a relative. "I am just walking around to save funeral expenses."

Something Real Good

Is a dish of genuine Sockeye Salmon. This fish is bright red in color, is full of rich red, deliciously flavored oil. The meat is firm and very rich and sweet. Serve it just as it comes out of the can, or, if you wish to cut the taste of the oil a little, serve it with good vinegar, catsup or other relish. Makes a beautiful appearance on the table when garnished with either parsley or lettuce leaves. Our Monarch Brand of Sockeye Salmon, in 1 pound cans, is 25 cents.

TEXANS AT PUEBLO.

Lone Star Citizens To Organize Texas Club. Pueblo, Colo., Feb. 3.—Pueblo has a Kansas society, and the chances are that it will soon have a Texas society.

E. B. Carson of the Texas Oil Co., one of the energetic young men who have recently come to Pueblo, and who is an enthusiastic member of the board of control of the Eighteenth National Irrigation congress, and a director of the Public Business Men's association, has the matter in hand and expects to have a meeting shortly to consider the question.

There is a good-sized Texas colony in Pueblo, and the idea of having a reunion and organizing a state society has occurred to Mr. Carson as being just the thing.

Colonel Isaac T. Fryor of San Antonio, Texas, a possibility for governor if his state, and president of the Transmississippi Commercial congress, will be here in the near future and it has been the intention of the officers of the board of control of the Eighteenth National Irrigation congress to show him some attention while here. He is the president of the organization that next to the Irrigation congress is the most conspicuous in the West, and the chairman of his executive committee is Colonel Fred. W. Fleming of Kansas City, who is fourth vice president of the National Irrigation congress.

When he comes, Mr. Carson thinks it would also be a good idea to have a Texas Society to welcome him. Therefore he has given more immediate thought to the matter than before. Colonel Fryor's brother, A. M. Fryor, lives at Fryor, south of Pueblo, in Huerfano county, where he has a large ranch.

Mr. Carson has also been greatly interested in the effort to secure a congressional appropriation of $50,000 for the benefit of the Eighteenth National Irrigation congress, and has taken the matter up vigorously with every member of the Texas delegation, nearly all of whom members he knows well. The responses he has had so far are most encouraging, indeed.

Mr. Carson is what might very properly be denominated a "booster."

Notice. I wish to announce that I am not in business with any one and any one so stating misinforms you.

I make this announcement in view of the fact that many of my friends and customers have inquired of me as to my going in with some other electrical firm—anyway; I am not, and phone 622 and you have the right number. —227-tfc W. L. KEMPER.

MORGAN'S GROWING POWER. Continued extensions of J. Pierpont Morgan's tremendous power in the financial world has become the principal subject of the discussion in banking circles in Europe and America, and experts are busy trying to figure out what it means. They agree that the colossal centralization now going on will exercise upon financial America an influence that thrills the imagination with its immensity. Since Mr. Morgan's recent acquisition of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society and the control of a number of additional trust companies accountants have been at work figuring the Morgan interest. They find that: The Morgan influence covers institutions and enterprises having assets and capitalization of twelve billions of dollars, equal to one-ninth of the wealth of the United States. Gross earnings of the railroads controlled or partly financed by the House of Morgan is 10.7 per cent of the banking power of all the bank and trust companies in the United States. The financial district views centralization under Mr. Morgan variously. An international banker points out that it will make the United States greater financial power, and perhaps that prospect is partly responsible for the criticism coming from the other side. A German writer goes so far as to call Mr. Morgan a menace to the civilized world. This German alarmist says Mr. Morgan can make or unmake panics in America and that he has too much power for one man. In its various connections and regulations with some of the country's leading financial institutions and enterprises, J. P. Morgan & Co. may be said to represent capitalization and assets amounting in the United States alone, to $9,176,308,423. It begins with railway systems, extends to industrial and commercial corporations, and insurance companies, and embraces several of the largest National banks and trust companies in New York City. The table below classifies these in the order of their capital and assets represented in the latest available financial statements: Railway group capitalization $4,723,453,945 Industrial and commercial capitalization 2,313,099,000 Insurance groups, assets 1,089,636,178 Banking group, assets 671,322,500 Trust company group, assets 438,806,800 Total, five groups $9,176,008,428 These totals represent none of those Halley's comet has, it is estimated, been pursuing its great path around the sun for 2,000 years. It comes within sight of the earth every 76 years and its last appearance was in 1835. It has been a conspicuous object in the sky since it was first observed in A. D. 837; its most celebrated appearance was in 1456, three years after the capture of Constantinople by the Turks. It was described as large and terrible, extending one-third of the way across the entire heavens, of a brilliant gold color and presenting the aspect of a waving flame; men feared that it portended the downfall of christianity. This was the first comet ever recognized as moving in a closed path about the sun and of which the return was predicted; this was done by Halley, a contemporary and friend of Sir Isaac Newton, and whose name was conferred upon the comet. On its present visit the comet was first observed last summer, but it was then so distant that it could be discerned only by the most powerful of telescopes; it has since been rushing towards the earth at a rate of 2,000,000 miles a day and is now more distinct; it will be seen in the evening sky until Mar. 13, when it will pass west of the sun and remain in the morning sky until May 18; it will then return to the evening sky and run rapidly eastward. It will be visible to the naked eye after March and is expected to be a brilliant object by the middle of May.

Paulhan Flying at Los Angeles; His Exhibits Will be Big Feature of "Madri Gras" Carnival

PAULHAN IN BLERIOT MONOPLANE

PAULHAN FLYING IN FARMAN BIPLANE

In his flights at Los Angeles during the first aviation meet held in America, Louis Paulhan, the representative of the French experts, used a monoplane similar to the one in which Bleriot crossed the English channel and a biplane constructed on the plans of Henry Farman. Both his record flight for height, in which he ascended 4,144 feet, and his cross-country trip, when he flew more than twenty-three miles and return, covering forty-seven and one-half miles in 1 hour, 2 minutes, 45-46 seconds, were made in the biplane. According to the report of the treasurer the Los Angeles meet was a great success. The daily attendance averaged 20,000, and the receipts were close to $20,000 a day. Mr. Paulhan is scheduled to attempt a flight today from New Orleans to the east, a distance of one hundred miles. Paulhan's flights will be a feature of the Madri Gras Carnival, which opened yesterday.

WE HAVE RECEIVED

From the largest importer and cutter of coconuts in the United States a shipment of the fanciest fresh thread coco-nut obtainable. This firm is engaged in the importing and cutting of coconuts for the trade exclusively, and does not extract or sell any coco oil or package any coco nut.

You will find this different, and much superior to any coconut you have ever used. And buying as we do direct from the importer we can sell at retail for the low price of 25 cents per pound. Special wholesale prices quoted to large users on application.
