TWO SHOT DOWN ON DALLAS STREET

ABOUT THIS AND THAT.....

Although Wiley Post and Harold Gatty completed their round the world flight in less than the scheduled time, much to the joy of the millions of Americans, not to mention the English, French, Germans, and other nationalities who were interested in the flight, the National Geographic Society comes forward and tries to put a wet blanket over the project by declaring that the fliers missed the important part of their trip around the world when they did not stop and with the natives in the queer parts of the world.

But Wiley and Harold accomplished what they set out to do and in a big way. Everyone is pleased except the National Geographic Society. But the two Madrid all things did not set out to study geography at first hand and be able to give the probably couldn't have to the notoriety discussion on conditions as usual, and natives of Balgovechensk Khabarovsk.

It seems that it is getting harder and harder for a couple of enterprising and industrious young men to blaze their names across the pages of current history. There is a time when a Columbus, a De Soto or a Marco Polo could start out on a leisurely journey, be gone for a year or so and come back with tales of strange and foreign lands they had discovered and go down in history, only if more than eight days is to the captain going entirely around the world, it does not rate much more publicity and fame than a week in the next country.

Within a few more years it may be necessary to make round trips of Mars or non-stop flights to the moon before an aviator can break records on the front pages at all.

In the meantime the work on the Ranger produce market is progressing rapidly and soon eight stalls with counters in the front and tops to protect the farmers from the sun will be ready for business.

This market is being installed in the Ranger Truck and Fruit Growers association and the chambers of commerce in order that the farmers will have a place in which to display and sell the products of their farms and gardens. It is thought that it will be ready by the 10th, possibly before.

Already several have intimated that they will use the market place for good crops of canteloupes and tomatoes that have not been tried in years. One truck driver yesterday said that he had five acres of tomatoes and about the same amount in canteloupes. He was the best that ever was and he was going to be on early and stay late when the market opened.

Work in preparing the horse riding grounds for Ranger's second Monday are also progressing nicely and everything that can be done to assist the farmers and horse traders is being taken care of.

The farmers are certainly coming in for a lot of attention by the thousands of both Eastland and Ranger and a strong bid is being made to both towns to secure their good soil per acre, which will include everything from a good car load of produce, according to the claims of the farmers, will be a big help to those who do not find a ready market for their products at retail prices in the cities of the county.

University Oil Lands Bring in $53,550 Revenue

AUSTIN.—Payments of royalties on oil produced on lands owned by the University of Texas in Brazos, Upton and Crane counties totaled $53,550.16 during the month of June. These royalties are on production for the month of May. The big reduction in royalties was due to the low price of oil and to the enforcement of production in these fields.

The largest single payment for the month was that of the Big Lake Oil company, amounting to $25,632.30. The next largest was that of the Texas Oil and Land company (Continental), amounting to $13,008.04.

To Be Formally Opened Friday

New home of the Ranger Tire and Battery Company on the corner of Pine and Rusk streets, which will be formally opened on Friday, July 3, under the management of Clint Davis. Everything for the motor car may be found in this one-stop station.

Ranger Tire and Battery Company To Open Friday

The formal opening of the Ranger Tire and Battery company's new one-stop station will be held all day Friday, when visitors to the newly erected station will be cordially received by Clint Davis, manager and representatives of the Sinclair Oil company and the Firestone Tire company.

The new station is the most completely equipped in this part of the country. One may secure any kind of service for his car from washing and greasing to complete repair work in the garage.

Special equipment for the proper greasing of a car has been installed as well as equipment for making any kind of tests on the ignition and machinery to correct any disorders found.

At the opening Friday souvenirs will be distributed to all visitors and balloons will be given to all the kiddies who visit the station.

A free washing and service job will be given on each car where the crank case is drained and refilled and the gasoline tank filled.

Plenty of room in the front allows ample parking and service space in the 45 by 150 foot driveway which is served by four gasoline pumps, two for plain gasoline and two for Ethyl gas. Cars may be driven in from any angle and accommodation for a large number of cars is available.

The entire plant is new, having been built to the specifications of the management. Each department is separated from the others, which will eliminate the confusion that sometimes results in all departments being grouped together in one large room.

Supervised Play At Concerts Is Planned At Meet

At a meeting held this morning in the offices of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce the plans for the supervised play for the children at the weekly band concerts on Friday nights was discussed in detail.

It was decided that several groups would be formed of children of different ages in different groups and that each group would be under the direction of two or more ladies.

Names from which to select those in charge of the play period were suggested and another meeting called at 10 o'clock Monday morning with as many of the ladies present as possible in order that the work might be designated to each.

The children will be placed in two groups at the concert tomorrow night.

FLIERS GET ACCLAIM OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 2.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, pilot and navigator of the silver-white plane Winnie Mae in which they completed yesterday the fastest voyage ever made around the world—eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes—awoke today to find a wildly enthusiastic nation at their feet.

Their bodies numbed by the grinding strain, their ears still throbbing from the roar of the motor, their hunger for food and sleep partially allayed, for it was until after 1 a. m. today that the applauding crowds permitted them to go to bed, they had still to undergo the ordeal and the thrills of a formal reception by the city of New York with all the traditional tumult and applause that accompanies such events.

But the dogged determination that held them to their course from New York to England, Germany, Russia, Siberia, Alaska and an obliging though modest willingness to please the people led them to forego what would have perhaps pleased them more—another 12 hours of rest.

Neither one of these amazing men would admit even when he was practically foreboding sent to bed last night to being tired.

There was one disappointment in the joyous occasion. While Mrs. Post beaming through her tears was the first to greet her husband at the field, throwing her arms around him as his feet struck solid earth once more, Mrs. Gatty, delayed in her air journey to New York at Pittsburgh, missed the arrival and early celebration. She was to join them today.

MAN IS FINED FOR SLAYING OF A WOMAN

WAUTERS, Okla., July 2.—Burt Jones charged with second degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Jim Greenway at Temple was freed today after pleading guilty yesterday to a few minutes after he had been granted a new trial. He was released on payment of a $250 fine and costs.

Jones had been sentenced to two years imprisonment by a jury. Greenway was killed by shot fired through the window of a Temple house where a beer party was being held.

Burns Fatal To Port Arthur Refinery Worker

By United Press.
PORT ARTHUR, July 2.—One man was dead today, fatally burned in a shower of burning oil thrown high in the air last night when the Shering Gulf Refining Oil company oil barge blew up at the dock here, doing damage estimated at $100,000.

The miners were tearing through rocks to reach the hole where a connection will be made to turn off the flow of oil.

KILGORE, July 2.—Four Oklahoma miners employing air drills directed the digging of a tunnel below the surface of Bell and Graddy's burning oil well near here.

Upon arrival here Mr. Chance stated that his health was much improved and that he had been benefited by the treatments he had been taking in the resort city.

Flyers' Families Receive the News of Their Landing

HEAT WAVE IN MIDWEST IS BROKEN

Fresh breezes out of the north-west cooling the perspiring areas west of the Ohio Valley 12 hours ahead of schedule stopped the mercury on the eighth day of its climb toward the 100 mark and reversed its direction in some sections.

Sweating millions rejoiced. The rising death curve straightened and started downward. Parched fields and gardens revived and over-lax water pumps slowed down to normal loads.

The relief will keep the kid west happy over Independence Day and the week-end and perhaps longer weather forecasters promised.

African Brush Tells Slump

By United Press.
BAMAKO (Soudan).—The world depression, felt so severely in Europe and America, has swept the brush of Africa and natives of the southern fringes of the Sahara, the Niger valley, the virgin forests of the Congo and the Ivory and Gold Coasts have been hard hit in the annual bartering which has just been concluded.

Suffering threatens to be intense among the African natives unless they can find a market for their oil palm and coconuts, yams, grain, mutton and dried fruits.

The natives have sold their last crops and herds at unusually low prices, because of the lowered costs of raw products.

ROBBINS IS READY FOR LONG HOP

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—Another trans-Pacific flight attempt will be started tomorrow if weather is favorable and permission is obtained from the soviet government.

Reg L. Robbins, 28, and H. S. Jones, 36, hope to take off here early tomorrow in their Lockheed-Vega monoplane "Fort Worth" for a non-stop refueling flight to Tokyo to qualify for a $25,000 prize offered by a Japanese newspaper.

They arrived here yesterday on a flight from Boise, Idaho, to which point they had flown from Seward, Alaska, then swung north to Fairbanks, following the Alaska railroad, refuel over Fairbanks, fly to Nome, refuel, and then turn southwest over the Bering sea.

A tri-motored plane, piloted by Jim Mattern and Nick Greener will precede the "Fort Worth" to Fairbanks and make the refueling contacts there and at Nome.

Robbins said he expected to be at the controls most of the time because he was subject to airsickness when riding as a passenger.

He gained fame when he and the late Jim Kelly stayed aloft more than 172 hours to break the refueling endurance record of the Question Mark. Jones was in the refueling plane.

Testimony is Still Heard in $50,000 Suit

By United Press.
ARLINGTON, July 2.—Love for J. Louis Keel, reputedly wealthy young New Mexico cowboy, left Miss Margaret Roberts, drug counter clerk only melancholy, Miss Roberts' younger sister, Helen, testified today.

And because of the melancholy which Helen said caused her gray blond sister to lose interest "in things in which she formerly delighted" Miss Roberts was seeking $50,000 in breach of promise from Keel, whom she says promised to marry her.

Miss Roberts preceded her sister to the stand and told the jury her relations with the collegiate cowboy who she claimed wooed and won her only to marry an El Paso widow.

When Louis called on me at my home at night he would greet me with a kiss," Miss Roberts testified blushing.

Congressman Thomas Blanton, who is representing Keel, objected from time to time as attorneys for Miss Roberts questioned her. He objected to her telling of her selection of a bridesmaid for their wedding which was to have been last June.

In an effort to utilize unsold crops the French colonial authorities have suggested bartering instead of selling for cash. Bonuses also are being offered the natives in proportion to area planted and for the use of farm machinery and mechanical presses for palm oil.

EX-HUSBAND OF WOMAN IS BEING SOUGHT

DALLAS, July 2.—Mrs. Kathleen Achilles and J. W. McCulley, 45, were shot critically here this morning by a motorist who drove up to the sidewalk where they were waiting for a street car.

Police began a search for Chester Achilles, estranged husband of Mrs. Achilles. He recently was placed under peace bond at his wife's request, who also obtained an injunction requiring him to respect her.

A few minutes after the shooting police received a telephone call from a sister of Achilles who lives in San Antonio. She said her brother had just telephoned her that he had murdered his wife and a man and that he planned to kill himself.

In answer to the sister's plea, police rushed to the quarters of Achilles but failed to find him. Other residents of the place told officers that he was on the way to the sheriff's office to surrender.

After shooting both persons in the head the motorist sped away in the early morning traffic.

PICKING YOUR RIGHT JOB.....

By JOSEPH P. DAY, Real Estate Expert.
As Told to J. V. FitzGerald of The American School of Air

Broadly speaking, the broker, the building manager, the builder and the operator, or bond and mortgage expert, are all included under the general head of real estate. But I think for our purposes we can eliminate the builder.

You want to keep in mind that real estate is the basis of all security. Practically every business is allied with it in some way.

It is complicated and you can not learn it overnight. About five years' experience should equip you.

You must learn locations, values and conditions in your community, and all this requires study. Most fields of useful information have some contact with real estate. Government, engineering, economics, sociology and even religion have some relation to the business.

THE CRIPPLED NAUTILUS.

No one likes to be pessimistic about a great sporting venture. No one wishes the Nautilus and her gallant commander and crew any worse luck than they have had. But it may be that Sir Hubert Wilkins and his men have not fully realized the kind of craft they were counting on. Various American observers have been dubious of their undertaking from the first. Here is an editorial, for instance, printed in the Westery, R. I., Sun when the remodeled submarine first began to have difficulties on her trip across the Atlantic. It is captioned "Why the Nautilus?"

"Those who saw the Nautilus when she was at New London are rather glad that if her engines were going to break down and she was to have trouble, it was in the broad Atlantic and other craft were near enough to go to her rescue. It is much better to break down in a friendly ocean lane than it is up off Greenland somewhere with no friends within hundreds of miles, or under the ice where there would be nothing to do but bore holes heavenward from the submarine with their boring apparatus.

"The Nautilus is one of the oldest type of submarines. It has been used for experimental purposes by a private corporation. The changes which were made in her superstructure to convert it from a warlike craft to one which might go to sea, dive under ice and permit her back to be rubbed by the under side of that ice were of a rather flimsy construction.

"The Nautilus may get to the other side. She may get a lot of publicity and she may get further north. But those who know her and have seen her rather feel that that is about as far as she will get—'farther north' and not 'farther east north.'"

PUBLIC-SPIRITED TEACHERS.

Official Chicago made a discovery the other day. It was that there are 11,000 hungry school children in the city who are being fed by public-spirited teachers out of their own pockets. Chicago is one of the communities in which teachers have had to go without pay occasionally for lack of public funds.

In another industrial city where there has been much agitation for teachers' salary cuts, the superintendent asked for a report from principals as to charitable work done by teachers during the school year. The result was surprising to citizens who don't know teachers very well.

It was found that many children who came to school breakfastless because their families could not feed them were given milk or hot soup or vegetables by teachers. Youngsters who couldn't afford lunches were helped. Now and then a child inadequately clothed received stockings or shoes or a warm sweater from teacher. In many cases teachers didn't know precisely how much money they had spent in this way because they hadn't kept track of it. They had met certain needs as they discovered them, but they had done so generously and modestly without any thought of counting the cost and getting glory for it.

It might be well if a good many communities planning to cut teachers' pay this year would investigate the extra service their teachers have been giving all through the depression.

This country is beginning to go in for history. There are numerous movements in different states and sections to restore or preserve historic landmarks and to assemble, before it is too late, records and information in danger of being permanently lost.

One such movement is directed toward the preservation of old forts in the Middle West and West, dating back to the time when the Lewis and Clarke expedition first opened that vast new region to settlement.

It is a new phase of American development. For many years we were so busy growing that we had no interests in or patience with the relics of the past. Everything had to be cleared out to make way for the new construction which represented progress. Now, suddenly, we have become aware of the value of our own history and the interest and educational value attaching to historic landmarks.

Perhaps the great wave of European travel that has swept millions of Americans to Old World countries in recent years made us aware of our lack of historic treasures. Whatever the cause, the movement is good. Too much concentration on the past is unwise, but complete indifference to it is worse. There is a happy medium which should make for better understanding of ourselves as a nation and greater appreciation of the amazing work of the early explorers and settlers.

MYSTERIOUS MEDICINE MEN.

Just as we thought doctors were trying to make their work popular and understandable to the layman, members of one branch of medical science met in convention and disillusioned us. They talked about such things as "teleological thinking," "non-specific therapy," "biphase action of drugs," "internists" and "rhinologists."

A session with the dictionary might clear up some of these mysteries, but why should the physicians compel the public to such drastic measures in mid-summer? Why be so mysterious?

YOUNG MEXICO.

The two sons of President Rubio of Mexico are spending the summer in New York, and the way they are spending it is unusual for Mexicans. Both are students. They have taken jobs, just like thousands of our own students, for the summer vacation, earning money and experience at the same time.

A news picture shows Guillermo, who wants to be a business man, punching an adding machine, and Fernando, who aspires to be a civil engineer, busy with a battery-charger.

Thus modern Mexico is getting the idea. No "manyana" here, and no foppery, but energy and enterprise. It is such young fellows that will build the new Mexico now arising.

"What," asks Heywood Brown, "do all the prize-winning basketball do after they have received their silver cups and settled down?" He's begging the question. Seems as if they mostly don't settle down. Often, too, they don't settle up.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
SEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There are at least 130,000,000 cases of disabling illness in the United States every year and the cost of medical service is about $3,106,000,000.

Families afflicted by illness pay $123,000,000 annually for necessary extra household help alone.

A third of the money—$1,000,000,000—goes to physicians, according to estimates by the research staff of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care. This committee, under the chairmanship of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, is a large group of physicians, public health officials and other experts, economists, representatives of institutions and social agencies.

Medicine and supplies at $700,000,000 represent the next largest item and the others are hospitals $550,000,000, dentists $400,000,000, nurses (other than hospital) $112,000,000, public health $88,000,000, optometrists and opticians $50,000,000, chiropractors and naturopaths $30,000,000, osteopaths $20,000,000, midwives $15,000,000, chiropodists $15,000,000, and non-hospital dispensaries $5,000,000.

The estimates are based on continuing committee studies directed at the problem of adequate, scientific medical service to all people at a cost which they can reasonably meet.

Surveys thus far show wide divergencies in medical expenditures in proportion to income. Families with income under $1200 spend about $66 a year on medical service, those with under $3000 spend $71.48, whereas families with more than $5000 a year average $211 and those over $10,000 about $520.

It appears that the average person is disabled by illness at least once a year—men about once, women once to twice and children more than twice every school year. The very young and the very old have considerably more than their share of the illness and there is more of it in winter than in summer, as you doubtless suspected, because of colds and other respiratory diseases.

The available data, the committee has found, indicates that the average adult man loses seven to eight days a year from illness, and the average woman eight to 12 days. One large private survey covering 570,000 persons showed that an average of two per cent was ill on any single day, which would mean a general average loss of seven days a year.

And it appears that America's 36,000,000 wage earners lose at least 250,000,000 work days and 24,000,000 school children 170,000,000 days each school year. That represents only about half the population.

Dr. Homer Folke, secretary of the New York State Charities Aid Association and a public health authority, estimated a few years ago that the total cost of illness in this country, including loss of wages at $1,250,000,000 and loss of future earnings through death at $12,500,000,000, was nearly $16,000,000,000.

Colds, bronchial troubles, influenza and gripe are most often responsible for lost time. Digestive diseases and disorders "looming large," the committee's material shows. Throat diseases are of considerable frequency and severity.

Most people get the common communicable diseases of childhood before they become adults. One study covering 40,000 appears to show that 89 per cent have had measles at the age of 20, 77 per cent whooping cough, 72 per cent mumps, 52 per cent chicken pox, 11 per cent scarlet fever and 19 per cent diphtheria.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That the merchant who forges ahead is the one who quits thinking destructively about his competitor's business and starts thinking constructively about his own business. If one's competitor hurts him any it is his own fault. There must be some weak places in one's business bulwark or the darts of the competitor would never find a place to enter.

There never was a time when there was so much genuine thinking required in the business world as today, although there are indications that the need along this line is far from met. There are hundreds of so-called merchants who still measure their every move from the standpoint of their competitors. They do nothing as the result of original thinking. They do not look ahead. As a result they never get ahead.

One good way to get even and keep even with one's competitor is to forget him and devote so much genuine thinking to one's own business that the competitor is the one who starts worrying. The business man's primary purpose and

The business man who devotes his time to thinking about his competitor is not entitled to support from the community he is supposed to serve. He has the wrong viewpoint. His headlight is focused backwards.

Western Union Adds Express Check Service

To meet the demand of Ranger residents for a money order to be mailed or sent by methods other than the telegraph, local Western Union offices will begin the sale Wednesday of American Express money orders, it was announced today by R. O. Smith, Ranger manager of the telegraph company. Western Union main and branch offices in all parts of the United States will inaugurate the service at the same time.

Offices of American Express company will act as branches of Western Union in the sale of telegrams, cablegrams and telegraphic money orders. By agreement with the American Express company, 500 Western Union offices in and near New York city, Boston and Philadelphia began a trial of the sale of American Express money orders last Dec. 15. Immediate success of this trial indicated a general demand for an economical money order which can be obtained at conveniently located offices, and accordingly, the general extension of the plan was arranged.

This service will in no way conflict with the Western Union telegraphic money and gift order service, which annually transfers $275,000,000 in small amounts, and comprises about 93 per cent of the nation's telegraphic money orders.

Food Preservation "Flat Sour"
Three of the most popular vegetables put up by modern canners are first, tomatoes; second, corn; third, peas. Classified by the length of time usually taken in the processing, the difficult vegetables are corn, peas and lima beans. These three, with one or two others, such as beets and string beans, often develop what is known as "flat sour." This is always experienced more by those who can in tin, due to not being able to cool the glass-canned product so quickly after processing as can be done in tin.

To aid in eliminating flat sour, do not permit products to become heated, as in sacks and boxes which have no means of ventilation, as when the products start to sweat and overheat, you are developing conditions favorable for the growth of this "flat sour" organism.

Being one of the "thermophiles," as its name signifies, it can stand a great deal of heat, and is seldom processed at a temperature of 110 to 150 degrees F. There are also species of the "flat sour" which develop at lower temperatures.

Heat your cans quickly and cool quickly. Follow these temperatures and you will have little difficulty with the persistent organism. Remember, fresh products handled quickly and direct to the per temperature, held there for the required time and then cooled quickly, will help solve all troubles with "flat sour." The surroundings must be clean and sanitary to begin with, and to have this way, the room for all canning should be screened.

Dilled Pickles or Green Tomatoes
Select firm vegetable, uniform size, wash and place grape leaf in bottom of jar, put in a layer of cucumbers or tomatoes, then a layer of dill and so on until jar is filled. Place thin slice of onion and one slice of garlic, one bay leaf and about one inch of horseradish root on top (can use grated horseradish if do not have root). Fill jar with boiling liquid made up as follows: 1 gallon water, 1 cup vinegar, 3-4 cup salt. Seal and let stand for 2 weeks before using.

Note: If large tomatoes or cucumbers are used, cut tomatoes in one half inch slices and quarter cucumbers.

Canning Peas
Black-eyed, Crowder and Lady peas. Use only plain tin cans. Pick over carefully, snap and shell peas, wash and put in container with enough water to cover, boil 5 minutes. Remove and pack in No. 2 or No. 3 cans immediately. The cans should be firmly packed. Shake the can and press down with back of spoon in order that cans may be firmly packed. Cover with boiling water within one half inch of the top. Add 3-4 teaspoon salt to each No. 2 can and 1 teaspoon salt to each No. 3 can. Seal and process immediately. No. 2 cans 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure; No. 3 cans 1 hour and 15 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Then remove from cooker and cool immediately in a tub of cold water. This prevents "flat sour."

Green Grape Marmalade
5 pounds green grapes (seeded), 3 and 3-4 pounds sugar, 1-2 cup water.

Winter Pasture Pays
Select only fresh, crisp grapes which are fully grown and yet green. If they have begun to soften or color, it is too late. Halve and seed the grapes, using a silver or stainless steel fruit knife. Weigh grapes and sugar and place in an enameled lined kettle. Add the water to start steam, and boil covered about one half hour. Heat rather slowly at first, until the juice flows freely. Stir frequently. When about the thickness of preserves pour into small containers, not larger than pints. This is a mixture between

CRACKS IN THE DOME

By the POLITICAL ANALYST.
AUSTIN, July 1.—There is one kind of importation into Texas that this year won attention of the legislature for the first time. It is the importation of children for placement in orphan homes or in custody of individuals. . . . Such importation, under the law created a bureau of child welfare in the board of control, will be limited in future to cases sanctioned by the state children's bureau, and under bond of $1,000 for proper care of the children.

William Strauss, Houston man who sponsored the wife and children's welfare bill through the legislature, has estimated the 2,000 children in orphan homes in the state will be cut down to 300 or 400, and that the rest can be and will be put into private homes where they will receive more of the kindly care and the attention and affection of foster parents than is possible in the impersonal institutions.

The board of control, when the children's bureau comes into existence Sept. 1, will select a person trained in child welfare work and put the entire administration of the new law in his hands, its members said.

"The big oil companies are escaping income taxes by sinking enormous sums in real estate, and at the same time are burdening the people with an excessive load to pay for the investment, by building filling stations on every corner in every city and town." This is the opinion of former Representative W. T. Williams of Travis county. He would limit the number of filling stations by law, or by tax measures; and then when the state puts on an intangible or earnings or income tax the wealth of the big companies handling gasoline retailing would not be out of reach.

Of course the companies pay more property taxes when they acquire more property.

Former Representative Williams thinks the solution of the oil business is building small gasoline refineries at each oil field and local distribution of the gasoline without either pipe line costs to the state or refinery or railroad freight charges on the gasoline back.

One unnamed small refinery operator, he said, "told me he could sell gasoline at two cents above the state stay of four cents and get rich at it. . . . And he is more than doubling his refinery with this end in view."

Within a few days I shall be half way through the book. In it I am being brutally frank. There is no decoration, and I note events simply as they came and went. Many more are interested in this event than in any other. Moreover, I was in the midst of the Verdun episode, not as an actor, nor as a minister, nor general, but as an impartial judge.

Famous Quarrel
"When I evoke the quarrel between Foch and Clemenceau I shall try to tell the exact truth, because I was concerned with it somewhat in the function of an arbitrator. The Foch-Clemenceau duel will figure only in my tenth book. Now I am at Verdun, which was in 1916, and the Clemenceau-Foch episode took place in 1918, so it will be two books farther on."

Planes are said to produce air sickness, but then so do certain radio programs.

Poincare Back At Work After Long Illness

By United Press.
PARIS.—Raymond Poincare, who will be 72 years old in August, and who is without doubt the most distinguished living Frenchman, has recovered from his recent illness and is living tranquilly at his Lorraine chateau, Le Clos, in Sampigny. Poincare is now writing the eighth volume of his series, in the Service of France. It deals with the battle of Verdun.

Although the doctors have ordered a quiet life, Poincare follows the political situation closely. In an interview recently he declared himself contented with the election of Paul Doumer. He also expressed the opinion that the Laval cabinet appeared rather solid, and that the political situation seemed somewhat stabilized since that eventful night of Tardieu's reversal by the Senate.

Recovered Vigor
The Sage of Sampigny, as Poincare is frequently called, has recovered much of his former vigor and walks and rides about the countryside.

One of the President's favorite walks is down a shaded alley to the farm house where he takes great interest in the raising of rabbits, ducks, pigeons and chickens. Among Poincare's chicken population are several hens which were presented him by Edouard Herriot. Poincare's other faithful animal friends are two dogs, little Floe, a sprightly griffon, and Dany, a big shepherd.

"At present," Poincare said, "I am occupied with the battle of Verdun, and I am better here than anywhere else, inasmuch as this region was framed in those stupendous events that took place

The officers of the Eastland Building & Loan Association announced Tuesday afternoon after directors meeting that the usual dividends were declared and were being paid to all stockholders of record on June 30th.

This is the 11th consecutive dividend which has been paid by the Association since organization in March, 1926.

The company is officered and managed by local business men and has a two-fold purpose: First, it creates a safe depository for idle funds, paying the stockholders a good dividend rate, and second, the mortgage loan department provides the ways and means for many worthy people to become home owners in the community where they have their work.

OAK GROVE

OAK GROVE, July 1.—We were glad when we received the first copy of the Weekly Chronicle, and take it as a good omen; a forward step toward normalcy. The agitation of boom days passed and we dropped into the valley of depression almost without notice, and sank into an almost total point of stagnation. But new life is springing up on every hand. Optimism is taking the place of pessimism and the people are encouraged.

And now your correspondent from Oak Grove asks to join your copy of efficient news gatherers and furnish the news from this locality.

Oak Grove is a mission station of the First Baptist church of Carbon. We have preaching here on the first Sunday afternoon in each month at three o'clock, and invite all lovers of the "Wonderful Councilor" to come and worship with us.

Mr. Melvin Ables of this place and his mother, Mrs. C. V. Ables of Carbon, were in Eastland last Saturday shopping and looking after other business.

On account of a slight illness of Pastor F. A. Hollis of Carbon Baptist church he was not able to fill his regular appointment Sunday and Rev. F. L. Moore supplied for him at the morning hour and Rev. J. E. Cannaday of Oak Grove at the evening hour.

W. M. McMillan of New Hope, and R. E. McMillan of Okra, and their families were pleasant visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McMillan last Sunday.

Times look prosperous in this community from a crop yield standpoint. If the freeze did get all of the apples, pears, peaches, and plums, we still have an abundance of berries and grapes. Our gardens are fine and the surplus beans, beets, cucumbers and other early vegetables are finding their way into tin cans and glass jars.

When Crippled Nautilus Finally Reached Irish Coast

It was a crippled but apparently not a discouraged Nautilus that limped into Queenstown, Ireland, after her adventurous journey across the Atlantic. For Sir Hubert Wilkins and the crew were still on the north pole when this picture was taken of the battered submarine in tow of an Irish tug. The starboard engine damaged, and her periscope and superstructures swept away by heavy seas, the Nautilus had been towed almost to the Irish coast by the U. S. S. Wyoming. The submarine was taken to the recharging of her batteries.

Youth Spends a Restless Night With Copperhead Snake

OKMULGEE, Okla.—A night's sleep with a snake caused a seven-year-old boy near here no injury other than fright.

Awakened early in the morning by the frightened cries of her son, pleading that there was something in bed with him, Mrs. Brown arose and went to the boy. She took the boy up and found him, thinking that he had had a bad dream.

Then she laid him back where he slept until breakfast. In removing the cover, making the bed, Mrs. Brown started when a large copper snake dropped to the floor. She believed the snake had crawled into the house in the warmth.

Camp Fire Girls Hold Interesting Meeting
 The Camp Fire Girls met Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the Methodist Church. After a short business meeting they went to Trionon Lake in Oiden where a swim was enjoyed. Carolyn Cox, Carolyn Doss and Elizabeth Ann Hurrell came "polly-wog." Joan Johnson was already a "polly-wog." Several girls swam 100 yards and brought stones up from the bottom of the lake. Wednesday night the girls met at the Tourist Park. They marched around the fire singing "Wohelo For Aye." After forming a large semi-circle the fire was lighted and the ceremony performed. "Burn, Fire Burn" was sung. The girls next made known publicly their wish to follow the laws of the fire. Joan Johnson, who presided over the meeting made a three minute talk on the "Principles and Ideals of the Camp Fire Girls Organization." Elizabeth Ann Hurrell told the story of "The Legend of the Peace Pipe." "Mammy Moon" was sung as the closing song. "Credo for Camp Fire Girls" was recited by Eleanor Ruth Ferguson. The girls marched off singing the walking song.

At the meeting next Wednesday Mrs. Gates will instruct the girls in first aid in the water.

GREED COST SNAKE LIFE.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—A bull snake, two and one-half feet long, crawled through an inch and one-half feeder hole in a battery brooder at the Southern Hatchery here and gobbled down a week-old chicken. His greed cost him his life, as the bulge in his "tummy" prevented crawling out again.

 One can call them young and in this modern age, and other names which might infer "fancy" but it looks as though Ranger will have in a few years some rather smart "Debs," after looking over the society calendar and finding a bridge club recently organized by a group of young ladies whose ages range from 6 to 11 years.

Yesterday afternoon little Miss June Ann Grigoliet entertained the club which has been named Y. G. R.—Young Girls' Bridge. The playing tables were prettily appointed in tones of yellow and white, which were further daisied with bowls and vases of daisies used throughout the rooms.

At the close of the games a dainty and delicious ice and dessert course was served at tables laid with lined and centered with clusters of the chosen mid-summer blossom.

Those present included little Misses Vivian Champion, Maxine Wheatley, Cecilia Shelton McDowell, Gloria Stewart, Maxine Dutton, Robbie Lee Colvert, Ann McDonald, Leon Jean Galyon, and Muriel Bratton and hostess, June Ann. The club will be entertained at the home of Muriel Bratton two weeks from yesterday afternoon, at the usual hour, 2:30.
