S. Barnett Wins In Eastland Golf Tourney

ENTRANTS KE PART IN ANNUAL TILT

Barnett defeated George Smith 6 and 5 to top the lineup of the Eastland Golf and Country club in the 11th annual annual tournament. These youthful prodigies have been taking high places in the tournaments all over Texas since their early days. Barnett was the 1929 champion and Meredith the 1930 champion. It is little wonder that a crowd of spectators gathered to follow them in their battle for this year's title. The whole week up until Saturday had been spent in the preliminary rounds to enter the big elimination matches were quickly got it back and forth. The Fourth with 64 entered. Brilliant play featured in all the matches with every hole a grim battle to Barnett won his way to the final quarter of a century ago. A close semi-final contest between James Smith of Ranger and S. Barnett of Eastland. At the end of the match, Smith won by a hole over Barnett. However, he had a putt for an eagle on the eighteenth and missed. Barnett's drives were in the hole and he missed his putt for a birdie four which was a hole over Barnett's par. The play-off Sunday between the two leading contenders, Barnett and Meredith started with Barnett taking the first hole. Barnett went one over par, but he had a putt for an eagle on the third. He missed the eagle and then went on to take the hole. Barnett won the fifth to go two down. The sixth was halved with Barnett. Barnett had a putt for an eagle on the seventh and then went on to take the hole. Barnett was penalized for a hole in one on the eighth. Barnett ended the first round with a birdie three to go five down. Meredith lost the first hole of the second round and was six up. Then the next two holes were halved and Meredith was within two.

"For a birthday celebration," said Mrs. Mary Hartman, 103, "I think I'd like to go up in an airplane—one of these new windmill things." So they hired an autogiro and took the Philadelphia centennial for a joy-ride, and here you see her with her pilot, J. Miller. Mrs. Hartman had to get back to her housework, or she'd have liked to have flown to New York to see the globe-circlers, Gatty and Post.

"Old Ironsides" Sails Again

For the first time since 1897, when she was decommissioned and threatened with destruction, "Old Ironsides" put to sea again from Boston Harbor and began her tour of 17 eastern seaboard ports. Here you see the U. S. S. Constitution, proud old fighting frigate of more than a century ago, as it moved along in tow of the minesweeper Grebe. The hulls remained tightly furled, for her crew is insufficient to handle her under sail. Pennies contributed by American school children paid for the complete reconditioning of the craft.

for Occupancy.

The retail produce market, sponsored by the Ranger Truck and Fruit Growers association, will be formally opened and ready for business on Tuesday morning, July 6, just one day earlier than was anticipated when the market was first planned.

Truckers and those who buy produce for the purpose of selling it to the citizens of Ranger will be barred from using the market as it is for the exclusive use of the farmers who wish to sell their produce to the retail trade.

A large acreage of sweet potatoes has been planted this year because the soil is to be installed and a market secured and indications at present are that a large crop will be grown and a ready market found for the same.

ANOTHER RAILROAD FOR WEST TEXAS.

A new rail line known as the Texas & Pacific Northern will be built if the L. C. C. grants the permit to the Texas and Pacific railroad recommended by an examiner. Permission was asked to build 333 miles but the examiner advised that the company should confine its construction for the present to 126 miles or 80 miles from Big Spring to Brownfield and 46 miles from Lubbock Junction to Lubbock.
Later the examiner said it may prove desirable to continue the construction from Brownfield to Vega and from Dimmitt to Amarillo. He made a suggestion that it would be best to await further development of the Texas Panhandle country and also see what effect highway transportation has on the railroad situation.

Many counties will be benefited by the construction of the road. Rich farming lands abound and there is a good livestock industry. Oil, despite the present depression in that industry, is an important product. Lubbock according to the report of the examiner, is a railroad center, one of the largest inland cotton markets and has a number of mills and factories. In many of the countries, the report said, the country is generally supplied with good country roads and the farmers use motor trucks. There is tremendous development everywhere in the Panhandle and Plains section, including rail expansion, regardless of the so-called business depression and the keen rivalry which exists between the railroads and the buses and highway freight carriers. Texas is not standing still.

FARMING AND BUILDING ACTIVITIES.

A bulletin issued by the federal department of agriculture makes known that prices of farm products are far below a profit level. Farm wages are the lowest in 15 years.
Large farm production and low prices are given as the outstanding features of the general situation. Some encouragement for farmers was found in commodity price grains following the moratorium discussion. A record breaking supply of sheep and lambs produced sharply falling prices. Wholesale beef prices are from 30 to 50 per cent lower than a year ago. Prices of eggs are one-third lower and poultry prices down about a fourth. These were features of the livestock situation in general.

A recent story from Dallas is most encouraging. The reader is reminded that the year 1931 turned the half way mark, the last day of June, with Texas cities maintaining a steady pulse of new construction, which although in most cases somewhat less than during the similar period of 1930, indicated business conditions were maintaining an even keel of development. In the following order, Houston, first; Dallas, second; Fort Worth, third; Galveston, fourth, San Antonio, fifth. A sure sign that Texas builders are not lagging behind the procession.

CANADIAN LIQUOR FIGURES.

Perhaps one of the controversies about the results obtained in Canada by purposeful control of the liquor traffic will be settled by figures given out at Ottawa. Last year is compared with 1914, when the saloon system still prevailed everywhere in the Dominion.
The most significant figures concern quantity of consumption. In 1914 there were consumed in Canada 7,500,000 gallons of spirits, 58,140,000 gallons of malt liquors and 1-000,000 gallons of wine. In 1930 there were consumed 3-000,000 gallons of spirits, 62,000,000 gallons of malt liquors and 7,341,000 gallons of wine.
The most striking fact is the great decrease in the quantity of strong liquor and the substitution for it of milder liquors, particularly wine. This change is in line with deliberate Canadian policy, and is obviously in the direction of temperance and health.

It should be observed also, in comparing the two sets of figures, that since 1914 the Canadian population has grown from 7,500,000 to nearly 10,000,000, and that millions of American visitors now help Canada to do her drinking.

UVALDE CONDITIONS 40 YEARS AGO.

Uvalde county is the home of Minority Leader John N.
Garner. There was something of a panic in the United States 40 years ago. Cotton dropped to around four cents a pound, wool sold for around five cents a pound and cattle brought $3 and $4 a head. Staple groceries were cheap at that time, beans selling for around three cents a pound, bacon at eight cents and flour at 50 cents a sack. Laborers received 50 cents a day, ranch hands $10 to $15 a month, and clerks in stores, if they were good salesmen, $25 to $30 a month.
Working hours were daylight until closing time long after dusk. No hijacking, no bread lines, no famine victims, "all doing the best they knew how," according to an old timer in the Garner political preserve patch.

FROM LAWMAKING TO JAIL.

Federal Judge Robert L. Williams of Oklahoma sentenced Representative David C. Hybarger of the 11th legislature to 60 days in jail for violation of prohibition laws. His plea was that "higher life at the capitol got him." Judge Williams, who was a former governor, in passing sentence added that he approved the idea of Governor William H. Murray "for closely guarded dormitory on the capitol grounds for legislators." It is possible that there are American lawmakers who are unable to resist the combined allurements of wine and women and song?

WHEAT PLAN OF THE FARM BOARD.

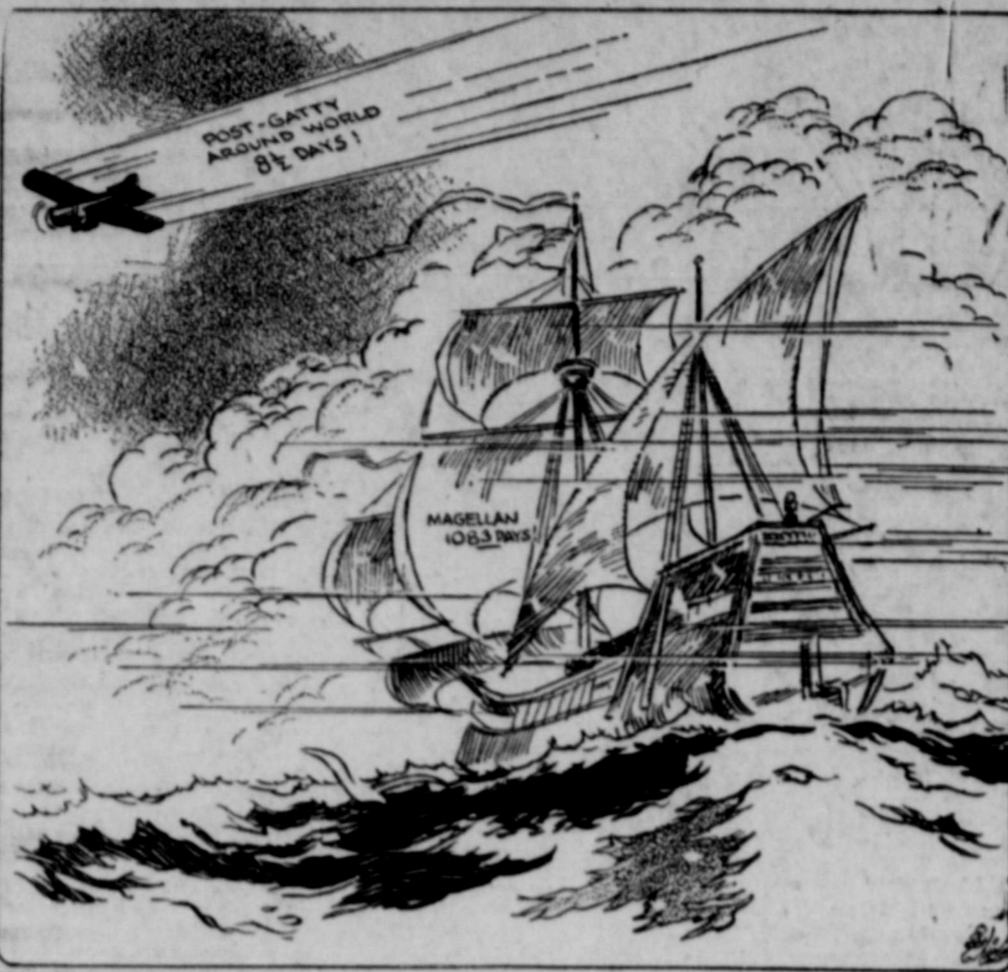

Chairman Stone of the federal farm board has announced that the board has agreed to limit the sale of stabilization wheat during the new crop year to accumulative maximum of 5,000,000 bushels monthly. If there is a world shortage of wheat Chairman Stone says that there will be a revision of the policy. Uncle Sam, represented by the Stabilization Farm Board Corporation, has 200,000,000 bushels of the old crop and he doesn't know which way to jump.

They'll be telling us next that it wouldn't do for Europe to disarm, because it would increase unemployment.

It'll be debt holiday for other folks, but for us Americans, only tax paying time.

Now let's all of us declare a debt moratorium, then everything will be all right.

quently about the Texas state-

Cisco Man Gets U.S. Warrant for Handful of Ashes

CISCO, July 6.—W. E. Keeter is one Cisco man who has recently exchanged a box of ashes for a nice fat warrant on the United States treasury. By following the advice of a local woman he says he is just $62.36 better off than he expected to be.
When the Alexander hotel burned June 18 Mr. Keeter lost $64.57 in addition to the $2,000 loss he sustained above his insurance on the contents of that hostelry of which he was the proprietor. At least he stated that he thought he had about $60 in currency and some fractional silver coins in the house when the building was burned. After the debris had cooled following the conflagration he decided to excavate the ruins in the hope of salvaging the silver coins, at least. There was just $2.15 in dimes, quarters and half dollars that he knew was with the currency when he was burned beyond recognition he had no hopes of retri-ving any of this that could be identified for redemption at the federal treasury. While excavating for the fractional silver a local woman came upon the scene and learned that he had some money burned in the building, asked if there was any currency lost. He told her that he had about $60, but supposed it was burned beyond redemption. She advised him to carefully remove the ashes and send them to Washington and he might be able to retrieve a part of his loss.

The service included the following passage from the Bible: "Re-

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

That many times we have had occasion to mutter angrily at the attitude of those who parade their lack of love of the beauties of nature by building high bill boards on dangerous corners where there is no obliging officer ready to direct the traffic.
Nowadays the users of the roads are subject to many attacks of nerves at dangerous corners on account of bill boards nicely placed so as to obstruct the view of the motorists. When you came to them you signal loudly by means of your horn, you hesitate and draw cently to a standstill, you start slowly, nervously tout your horn as an indication that you want to turn the corner and, hearing no signal in reply, you put your faith in whatever fates there be and then plunge into the abyss, not knowing what will happen.
Business men should learn that the proper place to advertise is in the newspapers and not by bill boards on corners that endanger life and limb of the motorist.

"Confession of A Co-Ed" to Show at The Arcadia

This modern age of ours and the young people whose heedless pursuit of happiness has won both favor and stern disapproval from the older generations, come under intellectual scrutiny in the new and absorbing Paramount drama, "Confessions of a Co-Ed," which will open a two-day engagement at the Arcadia theatre, Ranger, Tuesday. It is an honest, believable story, compelling in its dramatic sequences and endowed with a keen and enjoyable sense of humor. It is the story of a young girl of ideals, brains and beauty who learns more about life and human nature at college than is listed in the university curriculum.
And following her college days, the story proceeds with steady emphasis to her first years of married life, the result of a campus romance. In the leading roles are three young people of assured ability, namely Sylvia Sidney, heroine of "City Streets," and soon to be seen as the tragic heroine of "An American Tragedy," Phillips Holmes, that sterling actor of "The Devil's Holiday," "The Criminal Code" and "Stolen Heaven," and Norman Foster, talented actor of the New York stage.
"Confessions of a Co-Ed" is said to be taken from the diary of Texas Beauty

One of the University of Texas beauties selected by The Cactus, the school annual, is Janet Sheppard, above, daughter of U. S.
Senator Morris Sheppard of that state. Senator Sheppard is noted as the author of the prohibition amendment.

a young girl of today who has chosen to remain anonymous. The direction catches completely the spirit of college better than any other picture of its kind within ways sharp, brittle and pointed.

Eastland Trounces Jae Hamon, 15 to 5

The Eastland Longhorns continued their winning ways yesterday by trouncing the Jae Hamon team from Ranger, 15-5. The Longhorns also continued to hit the ball hard getting 13 hits which included five extra base hits.
Marshall Watson collected three hits to lead the Longhorn hitters.
Terrell Coleman, Everett Ligon, and Buzz Brown each collected two hits. The Longhorns extra base hits included a home run by T.
Coleman, triples by Norton and Ligon, and doubles by Watson and Overby.
Eastland scored one run in the first inning on T. Coleman's home run and followed with six more in the second inning. The six tallies were produced by Watson's double, R. Coleman's single, Ligon's triple, Norton's Brown's single and double. Eastland took adv-of several errors by the team and scored four runs fourth inning. Watson's singinfield error, and a sing-Brown added two more sixth. Eastland's final run caerror in the eighth.

THE SMOOTHNESS OF AN EIGHT . . . THE ECONOMY OF A FOUR

WALTER P. CHRYSLER ANNOUNCES $535

NEW PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER . . . and FREE WHEELING

To produce in 1931 an achievement in motor car design, engineering and pricing so revolutionary that it transcends every previous standard of quality, performance and value in the field of lowest price is to challenge the world.
That is precisely what the New Plymouth does.
For years, while designing fine Sixes and Eights for Chrysler, Dodge and DeSoto, Chrysler Motors engineers have worked unceasingly for the perfected Four.
Now they give you the results of their labors and discoveries—The New Plymouth, a quality car of lowest price with the Smoothness of an Eight and the Economy of a Four—due to Plymouth's exclusive Floating Power.
Here is power unshackled, yet power as smooth as satin, as soft as velvet. Here is power without vibration—literally floating, power so silent that even experts could not name the number of cylinders under the Plymouth hood, and many guessed the New Plymouth to be an Eight.
Plymouth now also gives you Free Wheeling which makes it possible to shift gears between all forward speeds without clutching.
Besides Free Wheeling Plymouth offers a new Easy-Shift transmission which makes it possible to shift not only from second to high at speeds of 35 or 45 miles an hour but back into second at these speeds, when you need sudden acceleration, without clashing or grinding.
The New Plymouth engine develops 56 brake-test horsepower—with actual stop-watch speed of 65 to 70 miles per hour; pick-up from 0 to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.
Among all cars in the lowest-price field, only Plymouth has weather-proof hydraulic brakes—simplest and unexcelled for safety and smoothness.
Chrysler Motors engineers have given Plymouth a double-drop frame.
Plymouth has a still lower center of gravity, still greater safety, still greater riding ease, still finer style.
We believe the new Plymouth establishes in the field of lowest price a new degree of artistic advancement with new eye-compelling beauty of line and color.
Plymouth challenges with full-size Safety-Steel body, with wire wheels standard, with hydraulic shock absorbers. No feature of comfort, or reliability, or economy has been left out of the New Plymouth.
I am happy to extend to the entire motoring world a cordial welcome to see, to drive and to ride in the New Plymouth, and to invite comparison between this exceptional product of Chrysler Motors engineering and any car in the world at or near its price.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Heart of Liane

By MABEL McELLIOTT

he able to come for a bit, he's that busy."

Mrs. Cleespaugh rapped her eye-glasses sharply on the gleaming desk. "Tell him I said to come at once. It's rightfully important."

Liane was disturbed. She had never seen the old lady in this mood. Perhaps this manner of his mother's explained the young man's sudden shyness, his hesitations and withdrawals. Liane sat quiet, hardly daring to lift her eyes.

"Want to see me, Mother?" The girl looked up to see Clive, still in his damp and crumpled tennis things, standing in the doorway.

"I certainly did. I want you to dress and lunch with us. We haven't a minute to spare. Leave the animal to Kelly and hurry."

The old lady's voice was imperative. Clive said, unperturbed, "So that was it! Sorry, I am not lurching with you today." He turned on his heel. His jaw had taken on a hard line. His voice cracked.

"Clive, did you hear me?" He wheeled and now Liane saw from behind her veiled lashes that his blue eyes were blazing. "I heard and I'm going," he rapped out. "No scorns, please. I'm a bit weary of them."

He was gone. "Bravo!" Liane applauded him in her heart. Yet she felt sorry for the old woman, who sat, staring at the closed door.

IS LOVE stronger than THE LAW

Meredith 5 4 5 2
The winners in the other flights were:
J. S. Brimberry of Ranger who took the second flight when he nosed out Ray Trammel, also of Ranger, one up 20 holes.
Douglas Jones, Eastland caddy, defeated Ray Morris, also of Eastland and once a caddy, 4-3, to win the third flight.
Francis Jones, Eastland, downed Dr. Van De Venter, Eastland, 5-4, and copped the fourth flight.
The four consolation flights were won respectively by Tommie Joe Barnett, Eastland; Gib Frazier, Ranger; J. J. Russell, Ranger, and Dr. Logsdon, Ranger.

It was a pitiful sight—that morning Mary found Bob White—near her desolate mountain cabin—his legs crushed under a rock—hurled down by a landslide.

Terrified lest death should claim him—frantically, Mary pulled—tugged his mammoth, half-conscious body to her cabin—set his splintered legs—dressed his wounds—nursed him night and day.

How she worshipped that bravery—that defiance to pain—even death—she saw in his noble eyes. Here was a man—a man worth loving. And day by day—she could see that he, too—was growing to love her.

Glad, excited, insanely happy—the weeks flew by—Bob's legs almost healed—and the day of reckoning came. "Mary," he said, "I love you—I got to talk. That morning—the rock—I was hiding money—he choked. You see—I'm well—you don't want a train robber—for a husband!"

"Oh, Bob!" she cried—threw herself on his chest. "You're mine—forever. God sent you to me—or else—He'd have taken you—out there."

"Don't, honey," he pleaded. "Remember the Law. It's out to get me—even if I've quit the game—for good."
