The increase means approximately $1,200 will be added to the monthly payroll. The Fort Worth Packing plant followed suit with a similar wage increase, and Swift and Armour both announced 10 to 15 per cent increases in employment.

From the same city came announcement of plans to construct a brewery in time to take advantage of the anticipated legislation of a 3.2 beer retailing. Fred Schroeder, president of the Milwaukee Bottling Works, said according to plans the brewery building would be a three-story brick structure.

Three Fort Worth garment factories started double shifts employing 350 persons.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GLORIOUS PRAISE: Make a joyful noise unto God, all the earth: Sing forth the glory of his name: Make his praise glorious.—Psalm 66: 1, 2.

So far three states have voted on the repeal of the 18th amendment and each of these have favored the resolution. Wisconsin was the first to ratify and was soon followed by a similar action by Michigan. Rhode Island, the third state to take action voted Monday overwhelmingly to repeal the amendment, the vote being in the ratio of about seven to one, but Rhode Island was the one state that never did ratify the amendment.

Over in Rannels county the R. F. C. money is being spent in building all-weather roads in rural sections to connect with paved highways. Such a program was beyond the finances of the county commissioners but with the use of this labor they were able to make these much needed improvements.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
 By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

CLYDE P. STEEN, Editor of the Fremont (Ohio) Messenger, says:

"Newspaper advertising is the very barometer of trade. Without it, there is no trade!

"Although it should not be true, newspaper readers know when business is bad. They know when little buying is being done. They know by the lack of advertising in their newspaper. The merchant, feeling the pinch of a distinct falling off in business, fails to advertise. The newspaper reader, as a result, fails to make purchases. Then they both begin to lament about how bad business is!

"It has always been that way. The merchant has never advertised when business was bad—at least has not advertised as comprehensively as he did when business was good. The psychology of this has never been definitely figured out. The recent depression would never have continued as long as it did if the merchant would have advertised in the newspapers. It was proven that every time this same merchant had something special and used extra space in the newspaper, he was soon sold out on that special. Dollar Days and similar events attracted larger crowds this year than ever before. The real reason was because they were advertised to a greater degree than was ever done previously.

"The average merchant has learned his lesson, it is believed. Consistent advertising, he has found is the only kind that will keep the channels of trade alive and cause the crowds to throng his store. Every day he is missing from the columns of the local newspaper means the loss of a definite amount of business. Mr. and Mrs. Public, and even the little Publics, read the newspapers now more than they ever did. They were all reading them during the depression, but now they find articles advertised which are much needed, and which would have been purchased before had they been brought to their attention.

"Newspaper advertising is slowly, but surely returning to normal. National advertisers—manufacturers of the nation's leading products—are increasing their advertising space and this causes the dealer who sells these products to increase the use of local space. Mr. and Mrs. Public will know that business is good when they see the advertising boom and they will want to satisfy that desire to be in the buying throng!

"Watch your newspaper. Keep tab of the advertising and you will know just what is doing in the volume of business at your favorite store."

No advertising gives as quick returns as newspaper advertising.

"WAIT FOR ME! WAIT FOR ME!"

Every Day Is Mothers' Day

By O. FORD

Mother's Day. Once a year we honor all motherhood and our own mother, individually by setting aside a day for suitable programs and services, a day for offering her gifts or tokens of our love and appreciation. It is a noble idea and worthy our time and consideration, but if it is the only day in the year we show our love and appreciation of our mother, we deserve no self-satisfaction and no peace of mind.

Every day should be Mother's Day. In merely observing one day a year as such, and failing to remember her on the other 364 days, we gravely err; just as we err if we think we can live six days a week for our own selves, disregarding others, so long as we keep the Sabbath holy. A wise man has said, "Remember the week day, to keep it holy." So also we should remember each day in one more chance to do something for our mother. Kind words, consideration, can do so much for her. Lifting the daily tasks from her shoulders when we can and are near her can do more. When we are away, we can write to her.

I think we in the postal service are peculiarly situated to observe the mothers in our towns, daily, and we are made to see and realize fully how a letter, a message, or even a postal card from an absent boy or girl can bring a smile and quicken the step of a mother when she steps up to the window and with a tired stoop to her shoulders asks, "Do I have any mail, please?"

I think too that no one realizes how badly we hate to say, "No, not any for you today." I wish it were possible for each of you absent boys or girls by some magic wand or flying carpet, to be able to witness just one such scene when your own mother is involved. You would never need to be told therefore what she appreciates more than anything else. You would know.

It is not the fine gift, wrapped in tissue and tinsel, that may come once or twice a year. Although she likes that too, but it is the weekly letter that keeps her chin up, her shoulders squared, that keeps the smile on her face, the light in her eyes and the song in her heart. It gives her confidence in the world and humanity in general because everything is all right when a mother knows her children are well and happy and are thinking of her.

If you can wear a red flower on Mother's Day, thank God for it and for the opportunity you have now and in the year to come to show your mother that for you every day is Mother's Day.

For you who have to wear a white blossom on Mother's Day, there can be only memories of the mother who gave you life, love and devotion; but you will find a measure of joy in doing for someone's mother what you would like to be able to have done for your own had she been living. In doing this you will be building a monument to your mother in love and service that will far outreach any monument in marble.

If your mother is away and you have neglected to write, do it now. It is a grand idea to write her at least once a week. Maybe you are tired. Maybe you are discouraged. Maybe you are out of work and maybe the kids have measles. But a three-cent stamp will carry your words to your mother and somehow in hearing from you, she is reminded of your love and care. Your mother is the one person who loves you just as much when you are down. Sometimes it seems she loves you more. So whatever your excuse to yourself has been, don't continue to kid yourself. Your mother deserves to hear from you wherever you are or whatever the circumstances, for every day is really Mother's Day.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
 WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Perhaps no such group of nationally-known, colorful characters has ever been involved in a labor dispute as those men and women now engaged in the war against sweatshops which has been to the fore in Washington and has its chief localized battleground in Pennsylvania.

President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins have all participated and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor, recently dramatized the struggle by parading on a picket line.

Important political implications enter the picture because the legislature which refuses to pass minimum wage and maximum hour laws is dominated by Andrew Mellon, Joe Grundy and Bill Vare. It was Senator Dave Reed, their man in Congress, who led the opposition to the Black 30-hour-week bill in Washington—a fact which will be used against him in his re-election campaign next year.

The sweatshop has come to be recognized by everyone, including Roosevelt, as a serious national problem. The reason is that sweatshop wages in industry force down wages and purchasing power generally when a majority of manufacturers are forced to meet unscrupulous competition.

The Pennsylvania Security League, which already has 30,000 members and is organized on the theory that economic security is the one thing people need today more than anything else—is the spearhead in the strong state-wide agitation for a special session of the legislature for the passage of wage, hour and old age pension laws.

During the last session they picketed the houses of state senators calling attention of all the

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

AS the weather grows warmer, our meals naturally grow lighter and meat loses much of its appeal. However, we must continue to serve some meat dishes to maintain a balanced diet. On this account unusual methods of preparation are a decided help in meal planning.

Tradition has taught us to serve certain fruit sauces with certain meats, but modern progressiveness has gone further and combined fresh or dried or canned fruits with meats in cooked dishes.

Sometimes just the juice is used to give a piquant flavor. Again the whole fruit is drained from its juice and broiled or grilled and used as a border. Sometimes the fruit is chopped and combined with the meat in a loaf or casserole dish.

Valuable in Diet
 Dietetically these fruit and meat combinations are very much worth while. The acid of the fruit acts upon the fat particles, breaking them up and making them easier to digest. The mineral salts of the fruits are valuable in sustaining the balance of a meal rich in protein and in counteracting the effects of meat in the diet.

There are so many delicious ways of serving fruit with meat that one might almost go on indefinitely mentioning them. Ham and pineapple is not unusual, but Frenched pork tenderloins with apricots, lamb chops with orange slices, roast beef with browned pears, roast pork with raisins, veal and raisin loaf with bananas, hamburger steak with broiled bananas, beef roll with horseradish, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup butter and when bubbling stir in flour and continue to cook and stir until bubbly. Add salt, pepper and brown sugar and slowly add water, stirring constantly. Add raisins and bring to the boiling point. Add lemon juice, horseradish and almonds and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil.

Optimism is Prevalent

000, according to an announcement from Amarillo, became available to cover warrants issued this spring.

A new source of wealth was held before the eyes of residents of the Wichita valley when a Nebraska sugar beet raiser near Wichita Falls. He was H. H. O'Connell, Scott's Bluff, who said he hoped to interest the Great Western Beet company in Wichita valley land.

Reports from Mount Pleasant contain unreserved optimism. Merchants and manufacturers alike point to increased business. A pottery company, a pottery factory and a milk plant are preparing for increased business. One store recently made out the biggest business report in a six-months period.

Good news of perhaps purely seasonal import include resumption of the Galveston-New York weekly sailings of the Clyde-Mallory lines. In this class comes the announcement of the United Fruit company that it will initiate a new fast and improved intercoastal service.

Spring Car Care Aims For Safety And Efficiency

This year Spring car care has two important aspects—the usual steps for increased efficiency, and elimination of the unsafe factors that caused an increased number of accidents last year, according to Al Tune, Firestone dealer. He gives here suggestions from his experience with thousands of motorists.

He takes up the matter of safe tires first, advising that tire prices are bound to go up and now is the time to save money. "It will come as news to many motorists that an old or worn tire is less safe now than at the height of winter; from now on tires will run hotter, and heat is their greatest enemy," he said. "Blow-outs will be more common."

The axiom that any car is only as safe as its tires is one that motorists should keep in mind, Mr. Tune asserts. Unlike brakes and headlights, there are no legal specifications as to what is a safe tire. There is, however, a common-sense definition—a tire with the non-skid tread worn off or a tire worn down to the fabric is unsafe.

"Such tires should be replaced for safety of yourself and other motorists if for no other reason," he said. "But actually it will cost you less money to replace worn tires than wait until they are punctured or go flat. The last 1000 miles in the average tire is worth only 39 cents, based on today's prices and mileages. New Firestone tires have extra values at no extra cost, and they will improve the appearance and handling of your car, give added safety, and cost you less in the long run."

"The brake lining on thousands of cars is now worn to a wafer-like thinness. It is past the normal expectancy. The brake drums are being damaged. It will amaze you to find out how much safer your car feels with new lining, such as that recently announced by Firestone—that is impervious to moisture, is a new revelation in 'soft pedal' control, and sets new standards of long wear."

"The battery has been under a strain in cold weather, and by spring is probably in a weaker condition. Its charging rate should be checked and the generator adjusted for summer driving. At the Firestone Battery Factories—which are considered the most efficient in the world—observation of batteries in test cases prove that battery testing extends the life and service of the batteries."

"The worn windshield wiper should be replaced. Lights should be inspected. Radiator hose and fan belt should be inspected and foreign matter removed with a dependable compound such as Firestone Radiator Cleaner.

"If your spark plugs are worn—thus wasting a gallon of gas in every ten—it will pay to give them attention. In replacing plugs that have gone 10,000 miles, and putting in new Firestone Spark Plugs you will see a vast improvement in performance of your car."

Colossal Adventure Melodrama Produced With Prodigious Effort

Tremendous technical resources were employed in producing "King Kong," the RKO-Radio picture which goes far to uphold the cinema's boast that there is nothing the mind of man can imagine which films cannot reproduce.
 "King Kong," which comes to the Arcadia Monday and Tuesday, was more than two years in the making, fantastically juxta-poses prehistoric monsters and modern man in a New York city setting—one against the other in an epic struggle for supremacy.
 From the purely technical point of view, the film is the most difficult translation of an idea into a motion picture structure yet attempted. These salient facts will make that point clear:
 The production shows prehistoric monsters fighting each other and receiving the sounds they must have made while living.
 A giant ape, 50 feet in height, is seen hurling automobiles at steel buildings and making his last stand against civilization atop the tower of the tallest edifice on Fifth avenue in New York.
 There this giant anthropoid,

"King Kong" with a fragile young woman in its paw, none other than the Hollywood screen star Fay Wray, fights a squadron of army pursuit planes remorselessly pumping bullets into its body. In a futile, but magnificent gesture, it plucks a plane out of the air and hurls it into the streets far below.
 The process for making "King Kong" required the ultimate in precision craftsmanship. Never more than a total of 20 feet of film could be photographed in the best 10-hour day, so laborious was the task. The chief problem involved was how to place the monstrous ape in association with human beings and animate them all against the moving background of a bustling city.
 The fight to the death between a bronchossaur and a tyrannosaurus (the combined weight of these creatures is estimated to be 100 tons) was difficult enough to tax the inventive powers and ingenuities of technicians, but this was simple compared to that scene which shows the ape, with struggling Fay Wray in its grasp, wringing the neck of a pterodactyl—a mammoth flying reptile.

Sunday and finish on Monday, May 22, with high mass at 8 a. m. As this is Mother's Day all who can will receive Holy Communion. On Sunday, May 21, the children will make their first communion.
