ELIGIBILITY HILL STILL IN DOUBT

A decision by Ranger high school officials to forfeit the games to Cisco and Eastland because of apparent ineligibility of some Hill, tackle on the Bulldogs, was recalled this morning until a further investigation could be conducted.

It was hoped, by school officials, that evidence could be procured to show that an error had been made registering the birth of the player, though this chance was slim.

Official announcement as to the ruling is expected to be made by P. Holloway tomorrow after this investigation is completed.

It is found that enough evidence is present a case before the district committee cannot be found the forfeiture of the games will be announced without the formality of a meeting of the district committee, but if the evidence is reduced it is likely that the meeting will be called, the evidence presented and the case left to the vote of the committee.

Regardless of the outcome of the vote, which has not officially been made to the district committee as yet, the Bulldogs are to play Brownwood Friday afternoon and Breckenridge Thanksgiving Day, was announced by both Coach Eck Curtis and Supt. R. F. Holloway.

Among other records on which Hill's eligibility were based are school records from 1925 to date, which show that Hill gave his birth date as 1914, with the exception of one or two years several years ago, when it was listed as 1913.

In the records of the county superintendent at Eastland, however, the records show that in 1927, 1928 and '29 the school census showed that the player was born April 8, 1915, which would make him now 18 years old.

As soon as these differences in records of the school, the county superintendent and the county clerk are sifted down and definite information is received, an announcement is to be made by the school as to whether the games are to be forfeited voluntarily or whether a meeting of the district committee is to be called upon to decide the issue.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock for Mrs. J. M. Keener, 39, of Tiffin, who died in a local hospital Tuesday night. Rev. D. W. Nichol, pastor of the Church of Christ, conducted the services.

Interment was to be in the Russell Chapel cemetery, near Thurston, this afternoon.

$40,000 Ransom Asked for Son

Ransom of $40,000—later reported reduced to $20,000—has been demanded of Alexander J. Hart, wealthy San Jose, Calif., merchant, above, for release of his son, Brooke, 22, held by kidnapers since Nov. 9.

RANSOM MONEY IS SOUGHT ON TEXAS FARM

DALLAS, Nov. 16.—The missing $125,000 of the Urschel kidnap ransom is being hunted by Dallas officers and department of justice agents on and near the John A. Morgan farm in Wise county, it was revealed today.

The group made inquiries at the camp of a group of Fort Worth business men Tuesday and, according to the Dallas officer, returned to the hunt yesterday.

Morgan, the owner of the place, was arrested last week by justice agents as the author of two letters to Charles Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, who was held prisoner on the Shannon farm not far from the Morgan place. Morgan is now in jail at Dallas.

Racing Turnover Was $2,795,335 at Arlington Downs

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—Calculations based on tax figures at Arlington reveal the pari-mutuel turnover in the recent 21-day Arlington Downs meet was $2,795,335.

Confirmation of the figure was lacking, however, from the offices of the track owner, W. T. Waggoner, where it was said compilation of the figures had not been completed.

Crew of Steamer Believed to Be Lost

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Twenty-seven men, adrift in a stormy sea after abandoning the steamship Saxibly were given up for lost.

The giant liner Berengaria, after a race to the crew's aid and a search for their tiny lifeboat off the Irish coast, gave up hope and turned toward France. Nothing had been heard of the Saxibly and its crew 24 hours after the men took to the boats.

THROUGH PACKS HEARING ON LONG ELECTION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—While many followers of Senator Huey P. Long, milled around the Scottish Rite temple, Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the committee delving into the operations of the Long political machine, climbed a fire escape and entered the building to continue the hearing.

Doors were ordered locked, barring the public after the management announced they feared the balcony would not hold the crowd.

The doors were locked, however, after morning newspapers announced that officeholders in the Long administration had been ordered to "quit work and pack the house."

About 300 persons were congregated outside the temple doors when Senator Connally arrived. Many of them were recognized as Long followers. Because it was feared the crowd might force their way into the hearing room, its doors were opened for Senator Connally, the committee chairman chose to enter by the fire escape.

Mrs. John Abadie, a watcher at the polls for Senator Broussard at the election in which he met defeat at the hands of the Long political machine, told a senate committee that election commissioner told me "to keep my mouth shut."

Another watcher charged five election commissioners "stuffed" 40 ballots into the box. When he went to vote, he said, one commissioner said, "We'll vote you like we want to."

Burn's Fatal to Mother of F. A. Jones of Eastland

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 16.—M. M. Jones, 417 Amarillo street, was notified last night of the death of his mother, Mrs. W. N. Jones of Covington, Texas. Mrs. Jones died at 7 p. m.

Early yesterday, making a fire, her clothes became ignited, and burned her frightfully before her daughter could reach her. Mrs. Jones, who formerly lived with her home with a daughter, Mrs. Mal Jones, of Covington.

Other survivors are another daughter, Mrs. Henry Orr of Stanton, and two other sons, F. A. Jones of Eastland and Parker Jones of Denver, Colo.

Scottsboro Case Waits His Ruling

Affidavits purporting to show grave danger of lynching for defendants and their counsel in the famed Scottsboro case will be read to Circuit Judge W. W. Callahan, above, at Decatur, Ala., Nov. 20, when the defense will ask a second change of venue in the new trial of seven negroes convicted of criminal assault.

BROOKE HART MURDERED BY HIS KIDNAPERS

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 16. Brooke Hart, 22, graduate of the University of Santa Clara, and son of a wealthy family here, who was kidnaped Thursday night, was killed last night by two men, one of whom allegedly confessed to do so.

Excited police activity followed early today when two unidentified men were sought in the kidnaping of Brooke Hart, 22, young college graduate missing from home since last Thursday.

Deputies hustled a man into the office of the sheriff. After questioning him, they went out and brought in a second man. The sheriff and an automobile load of peace officers then started out on an unannounced mission.

Report Shows Many Receive Employment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Secretary of Labor Perkins reported today that 85,000 workers received jobs and 86,000,000 was added to weekly payrolls in October, according to a survey of 86 manufacturing and 16 non-manufacturing industries.

Myers to Succeed Henry Morganthau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—William Myers of New York will succeed Henry Morganthau, Jr., as governor of the farm credit administration, the White House announced today.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 16.—A strike of 1,700 Armour & Co. employees here was called today after the packing plant officials had refused wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

BULLDOGS WILL PLAY LIONS AT LILLARD FIELD FRIDAY

The Brownwood Lions, who have long been one of the chief worries of the Bulldogs in their championship aspirations, will play the Bulldogs on Lillard field Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The fact that the three games were earlier in the season may be lost through ineligibility of one player has not dampened the spirits of the Bulldogs to the extent that they are giving up and the team is expected to be fighting just as hard, maybe harder, than ever before on the hope that they may still be declared district champions if they win Friday and Thanksgiving day.

The Lions have made a better record this year than in several seasons, having defeated the Lobes, only to lose the game on protest of a player, and have won from the Eastland Mavericks. They lost to the Abilene Eagles and the Breckenridge Buckaroos by small margins, which also indicated that they have a strong team.

Although the chances of the Bulldogs remaining in top position seemed to be diminishing today, the team still has its never-say-die spirit and will be fighting to win the remaining two games on its schedule.

Coach Eck Curtis said today that the team worked out better in practice yesterday than in many days and if they kept up the fine spirit they showed yesterday they had a good chance of taking the two remaining games.

The two teams will be about evenly matched in size and both have proven their ability in conference games, which indicated that the game Friday should be close.

Tragedy Mars Wedding Joy

Tragedy climaxed the leap from one romance to another for Mrs. Merry Fahney Parker-Pickering, above, Chicago heiress to a patent medicine fortune. Returning from an elopement with Frank Eisner of River Forest, Ill., she was injured and her new brother-in-law killed in an auto crash. Only a week before she had been halted in her plan to fly to Chile to marry Count George Di Georgia, barred from the U. S. by police.

Lone Star Gas Employee's Death Mourned by Many

The Lone Star Gas Company of Texas lost a trusted and valued employee last Saturday morning when James F. Mayor Jr., lost his life in an explosion at the Gordon Gasoline Plant, where he was superintendent. Mr. Mayor was a native of Bonham, Texas, and received his degree in chemical engineering from A. & M. College with the class of 1926. He married Mrs. Lucille Worden of Dallas in 1928 and they had made their home in Gordon since that time.

Mr. Mayor died at the Strawn hospital Saturday evening and brief services were conducted Sunday at three o'clock at the Strawn Merchandise Funeral chapel by Rev. C. R. Wydic, pastor of the Gordon Baptist church. Services were also held Monday at 10:00 a. m. at Ed C. Smith chapel by Dr. Geo. W. Truitt. The Belmont quartette sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Crossing the Bar." Interment was at Restland Memorial Park.

Active pallbearers were J. R. Jarvis, general superintendent of the gasoline department and Paul C. Coffin, assistant superintendent of the gasoline department, Dallas; Harry Wheelton, superintendent of the Ranger district; Chester Rogers, superintendent of the Hollis plant; J. A. Bates, superintendent of Breckenridge plant; Cecil Louks, superintendent Cheatey plant. Honorary pallbearers were all officials of the Lone Star Gas Company and co-workers.

According to Dr. Truett's message, he was one of the most excellent and trustworthy young men of today. He was well trained, had a promising future, and was much loved by the men who worked under his direction.

Roosevelt Hopes For Termination of Recognition Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—President Roosevelt still is hopeful his negotiation with Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign minister, will be closed up by Friday night, the white house announced. The commissar is expected to call on the president today when it is believed the agreement will be perfected, although the announcement of its contents is not expected until later.

Mr. Peddie stated that when he was visiting in this section that he was very much interested in "Old Rip," and that when he revisits this section next spring he expects to again stop in Eastland.

MANY CITIES HAVE PROJECTS UNDER WAY

More Men To Be Employed Over State As Other Plans Approved.

AUSTIN, Nov. 16.—One hundred thousand men, taken from relief rolls, went to work today in Texas with picks, shovels, axes and rakes in an opening drive against winter employment.

They were employed on 1,160 projects approved for participation in the $20,000,000 civic works administration allotment to Texas.

Coincident with the starting of the projects came an announcement from relief officers that effective today all persons now on a work relief basis who are performing clerical or other duties should have their budgets raised to $12 a week. Some of them have been on budgets as low as $3 a week.

With temporary employment on 1,000 projects a meeting has been called for Nov. 21 of mayors, county judges, relief administrators and county chairmen to spread information on types of work that can be undertaken and the method of administration.

Figures of men returned to work in Texas cities were: Fort Worth, 1,500, with the total expected to reach 3,000; El Paso, 3,000; Dallas, 3,000; Houston, 4,000; Waco, 600; Cleburne, 400; Ranger, 300; Breckenridge, 100; Cisco, 92; Sweetwater, 350; Mineral Wells, 800.

Car for Orphans Will Be Loaded On November 28

A car for the Buckner Orphans' home will be loaded at Cisco Nov. 27 and will be in Ranger Nov. 28 to receive any kind of food for the children of the home or for any livestock.

It is expected that chickens, turkeys, hogs and cattle that can be butchered for food will be donated and a good supply of clothing and money received.

All cattle and hogs to be given to the home must be in Ranger not later than noon, Nov. 28, the announcement concerning the car states, and any information needed concerning the car should be sent to Rev. O. B. Darby, Eastland.

Hearings on Oil Price Fixing May Be Called Up Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Oil Administrator Ickes announced today it might be necessary to postpone the effective date of the proposed oil price fixing schedule in order to permit ample time for opponents to be heard.

In announcing the price schedule on Oct. 16, Ickes said the right to all interests to protest against them or support them in hearings was pledged in good faith and will be carried out.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR IMMEDIATE RELIEF WORK

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt opened the campaign under the auspices of the 1933 mobilization for human needs and generous contributions by "the well-to-do Americans in particular." In her foreword she said it was the job of the well-to-do ones to help Uncle Sam to take care of the needy unemployed. Newton D. Baker is the head of the nationwide organization. This organization calls for the contribution of millions of dollars from private sources to augment the millions provided by state and national governments. The more work you put on government the more taxes go up," declared the wife of the chief magistrate. "The more those who still have means to serve and do so with voluntary effort, the better it will be. The feeling of helplessness among the needy is growing. There never was so great a need for social agencies as there is today."

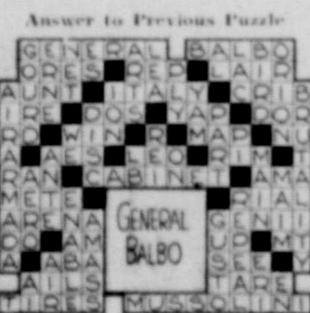

Mrs. Roosevelt declared it the duty of the women of America to educate the people into the importance of relief needs, a job they are especially fitted for." In addition she said the movement would result also in women becoming more interested in and helpful to their government. She reminded the American public that women have been given the part of investigating and educating in the campaign and to the men had gone the task of raising funds.

Texans voted a bond issue of $20,000,000. Texas taxpayers will foot the bill. Concentration camps for floaters are to be constructed in the southwest by the federal government. There are millions of floaters. They are found in the North and East in good old summer time. They invade the South and Southwest when winter comes. Those who are able to work should be willing to work. Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins has a fund of $500,000,000 for the relief of the hungry unemployed. State governments should do their part. In other words, the state should provide a dollar for every dollar advanced by Uncle Sam. Registration of floaters should be one of the requirements. There should be no waste of public funds. There should be no fancy salaries paid to the employees of federal or state setups.

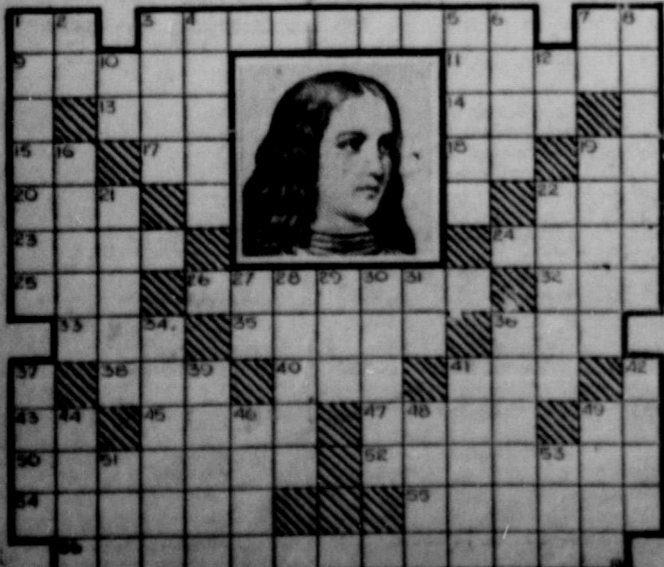

It is said that boundless energy is built on sound sleep. Some business concerns have long been asleep. They should now wake up, use some of the stored up energy, do some newspaper advertising and stay awake.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

On a stormy November evening DAVID BANNISTER meets a pretty blond girl and offers her a lift in the cab in which he is riding. Her handbag opens and he sees a revolver inside. Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before. Bannister, remembering the girl in the taxi cab, is puzzled.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

DURING the taxicab ride to police headquarters, J. Randolph Gaine drew a package of cigars from his pocket and held them toward Bannister. "Have one?" he offered. Bannister took the cigar. "This girl—" he said, and then stopped because he could not go on. The reporter struck a match and held it forward. "Light?" he offered. Bannister accepted the light. Gaine touched the match to his own cigar. "It was fast work!" he commented. "I thought myself all that line about the mysterious blond suspect was just a stall. Especially when Henley wouldn't give us the description." Gaine's voice was quiet and steady but his eyes had narrowed and the blue in them seemed even brighter.

"You can't keep him here!" the girl cried. "You've got to let him go!"

"Do you think she did it? The girl, I mean?" The reporter shrugged. "How should I know? Tracy King must have had plenty of girl friends all right. Probably wasn't above giving them a dirty deal either. The rat!" Gaine spat viciously into the air. "I hate crooners," he said. "That's what this guy King was. As an orchestra leader he was lousy. The dames fell for him because of the way he sang." Gaine's face assumed an expression of distaste. "Lousy!" he murmured softly. "But why are they so sure the girl did it?" "That," said the other quietly, "you will have to get from your friend, Police Chief James Adolphus Henley."

The cab turned a corner and a moment more drew up at the curb. Gaine flashed a card in the taxi driver's face and dashed into the building, followed by Bannister. "Where's McNeal?" Gaine demanded of the sergeant at the desk. "Upstairs. They're all up there." Two steps at a time Gaine mounted the stairs. Bannister was only a few feet behind, his breath coming rapidly. On the second floor the reporter turned left down a corridor. Half way to the end, a door opened ahead of them and a dark figure appeared. "Cunningham!" Gaine exclaimed. "Where is she?"

"The man in the dark suit nodded. "In there," he said. "Steve Fisher's talking to her." "So we've got a brunet but the blond's still out," Gaine interrupted. "Say, where's Henley? The Boss says we've got to get the description of that other girl." "The door at the end of the corridor opened then and an officer in a blue uniform stepped out. Suddenly, with a rush, a smaller figure was beside him. A figure in red and black and tan. A figure stamping and shaking defiant fists and bursting into a torrent of high-pitched hysterical protests. "But you can't keep him here!" the girl cried. "You've got to let him go! He's my husband. He never hurt anybody. You've got to let him go. Herman's a good man. Just because he loves me you want to take him away. But you can't do it! This is a free country and I'll fight. I'll show you where you big bums get off! Such a nerve you've got! I'll show you—"

"That's another one," he said shortly. "Oh, they're still looking for her. This dame's an usher at the State. Name is Carlotta Scurlach—ain't it a peach? Her husband's Herman Scurlach. Last night they found a letter Scurlach wrote to King, threatening to get him if he sang a certain song again. The guy, Scurlach, is jealous of this crooner, see? And the name of the song is "Listen, Carlotta"—the same name as Scurlach's wife. There was a lot of other stuff in the letter about how King had better leave the girl alone. Well, last night King did sing the song—at the first performance. He left the theater after that and he never came back." "We know all about that," Gaine interrupted. "How about the letter? Did you see it?" Cunningham nodded. "Rid told a picture of it. Got one of the girl, too, when they brought her in. She's darned pretty. Spanish, I guess, or maybe Italian. Dark hair and eyes—"

"You little devil!" he exclaimed, holding up the blood-stained finger. "Quiet down now or you'll go into a cell—and stay there!" "I won't! I won't!" screamed the girl. "This is a free country—" It was Gaine who stepped forward. "Listen, kid," he said, "maybe you'd like to tell me about it. I'm from the Post and I certainly want to see that you and your husband get a square deal." Whatever Gaine may have expected, his words had an instant and surprising effect. Carlotta Scurlach's dark eyes widened. Then her carmine lips closed together firmly. She looked at Gaine but no words came from those lips. They walked down the corridor, Gaine at the girl's side. "I'd like

Relief Promised in Mid-West Storm

By United Press
 CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Relief was promised today from chilling Arctic blasts that sent temperatures around the zero mark in the most severe early winter storm in recent years. A blinding snowstorm and a 40-mile gale swept the Great Lakes, driving two large steamers ashore. Snow covered most of six states.

This and That:
 Someone has ask me just "what's what" in Ranger high school and Junior college, so since that's what they want, here goes.

Just a few things which everyone makes their business and which is really no one's except those parties concerned. Jesse White and Corrine Benson seemed to have "called it a day." Corrine is seen here and there with Euel Bryan and Jesse with Jane Branton.

Lila Louise Davenport and Joe Briley and Sammy Ruth Matthews and "Big Shot" Jimmie Westbrock are in the parade, too, while Vinola Kimbrough is in the navy, so to speak, that is Everett Mitchell, her

Agnes, have my Hanes heavyweights come yet?

COMB your fingers through the downy fluff inside HANES Wonderwear. Ruffle it up and smooth it down. Think of the shivers and shakes ahead... think of plowing through snow all day. Then, imagine HANES hugging your legs and arms, and snugging across your chest!

No matter how much you bend and reach in HANES, there's never a catch or scratch. The springy knit "gives" like your own skin, and snaps back just as smoothly. That's because HANES is knit and cut two ways—to the trunk-measure as well as the chest!

Buttonholes, cuffs and seams are sewed to last the life of the fabric. Stock-up for a warm winter with Wonderwear. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

2—about Cigarettes

There are 6 types of home-grown tobaccos that are best for cigarettes

- BRIGHT TOBACCO
 U. S. Types 11, 12, 13, 14.
- BURLEY TOBACCO
 U. S. Type 31.
- SOUTHERN MARYLAND TOBACCO
 U. S. Type 32.
- U. S. Type 11 is produced in the Piedmont Belt of Virginia and part of North Carolina.
- U. S. Type 12 is produced in eastern North Carolina.
- U. S. Type 13 grows in South Carolina.
- U. S. Type 14 is produced mostly in southern Georgia—a few million pounds in northern Florida and Alabama.
- U. S. Type 31 includes what is called White Burley tobacco. It was first produced by George Webb in 1864. It is light in color and body, and is milder than the Burley used for pipes.
- U. S. Type 32, Maryland tobacco, is noted for its "burn". In this respect Maryland excels most other tobaccos.
- These are the kinds of home-grown tobaccos used for making Chesterfield Cigarettes.
- Then Chesterfield adds aromatic Turkish tobacco to give just the right seasoning or spice.
- Chesterfield ages these tobaccos for 30 months—2½ years—to make sure that they are milder and taste better.*
