LAYERS OF BROOKE HART LYNCHED BY MOB

SPRING THRU KNOTHOLE

Although the football season is drawing near a close, the Hamlet team is in full swing—you know the one or two to be, that is the question.

In other words eligibility problems are flying thicker than ducks around the Louisiana rice fields. It is no team that is in the lead to good teams, but that it will be better than the coal bin in the cellar to grow.

A wise coach who knows his players and a game in the LES—If a room is worth two on we will win by the games it wins, but the games it keeps.

It is still true that fine feathers make a fine bird, but good plays make a good team.

Temple was the first to fall, Amarillo was second. Amarillo was the first to fall, Amarillo was the first to fall, Amarillo was the first to fall.

And in the meantime the Bulldogs are still another jinx to the team, though it has never been considered much of jinx until they have overcome several so they defeated Abilene at which was unheard of.

They won their first gridiron game against Cisco since now they go to Breckenridge to play.

A few remember, or at least that Ranger has not defeated Breckenridge at Breckenridge since 1927. Coach Eck has never taken a team to Breckenridge and come back as a champion. The worst defeat any team ever coached suffered was administered at Breckenridge in 1929 when the Buckaroos won by a score of 40 to 7. In 1931, the time the Bulldogs played here, the Buckaroos won by a score of 25 to 0—the worst defeat the team had chalked up against B that year.

The another jinx is in the ranking unless the Bulldogs register a win Thanksgiving it may hog every other year for some time to come.

The records of the two teams, from 1923 to date, show that Ranger has won more games than has Breckenridge, but that most of the victories were scored years ago. In recent years the teams have been fairly evenly matched, and Breckenridge possibly having the edge.

In 1923 Ranger has won six and Breckenridge three, and in 1927 each team has won

Auto Tags Carry Out Black Motif

CHICAGO.—Black and white, and black and yellow, will be the two favorite color combinations in 1934 license plates in the United States, the American Automobile association has reported.

Fourteen states will retain the same colors they used in 1933 during the coming year, but will reverse them.

The association reported a distinct departure from the "blues" of the past few years.

Six states will have white figures on a black background for 1934 plates. They are Florida, Minnesota, Mississippi, Rhode Island and Virginia.

Second honors go to black on a yellow background, to be used in Idaho, Michigan, Oklahoma, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. Illinois will have a yellow on black combination.

Black on orange, yellow on black, and white on blue will be used by four states.

Delaware will use old gold on blue; Iowa, yellow on blue; Utah, black on aluminum; Washington, green on white; and Wyoming, white on wine color.

Some of the state license tags will be distinctive through special markings. Maryland plates will carry the word "Tercentenary" in observance of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the state. Louisiana tags have the familiar pelican. Montana plates carry the outline of the state, and Kentucky plates will have the name of the home county of the automobile.

Alaska will use plates with white letters and numerals on a green background; the Canal Zone will have white on blue; Hawaii, the same; the Philippines, white on apple green, and Porto Rico, yellow on black.

Other states will have the following colors:

Alabama, black on orange; Arizona, black on copper; Arkansas, red on white; California, black on orange; Colorado, yellow on black; Connecticut, white on blue; Georgia, orange on blue; Indiana, white on midnight blue; Kansas, black on white; Kentucky, black on white; Louisiana, white on blue; Maine, black on orange; Maryland, orange on black; Massachusetts, white on dark red; Montana, orange on black; Nebraska, white on green; Nevada, green on white; New Hampshire, white on green; New Jersey, green on black; New Mexico, gold on red; New York, yellow on black; North Carolina, gold on black; North Dakota, blue on orange; Ohio, white on maroon; Oregon, black on gray; Pennsylvania, blue on gold; South Carolina, yellow on black; South Dakota, orange on black; Tennessee, white on blue; Texas, black on orange; Vermont, blue on white; and Wisconsin, white on blue.

Wynkoop Is Charged As Accessory

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Earle Wynkoop, handsome young husband, today was charged in an ex parte hearing before Judge Schiller with being an accessory in the murder of his wife, Rheta.

The charge was placed despite the bitter objection of defense attorney, Frank Tyrrell.

The formal warrant charged Wynkoop was an accessory before the fact of his wife's murder.

Police captain Thomas Duffy testified in presenting the warrant that Wynkoop purchased a revolver and bullets and instructed his mother, Dr. Alice Wynkoop, in their use.

"In my opinion," Duffy testified, "Rheta Wynkoop died as a result of a shot fired in her back by Dr. Wynkoop with the gun which Wynkoop purchased."

Funeral Is Held For H. L. Williams

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. K. C. Edmonds of Ranger for H. L. Williams, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charlie Koch at Olden Saturday night at 7:30. The services were conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral home of Killingsworth, Cox & Co. had charge of the body.

The decedent was born Feb. 11, 1882, and came to Texas at the age of seven years. He had been a resident of Stephens and Eastland counties for the past 28 years, having lived in Ranger for several years at one time.

Refuse Ferments; Rising Star Pigs Throw a Party

RISING STAR, Texas, Nov. 27.—John Gardner, farmer who lives five miles north of Rising Star, set a barrel of apple-pool skimmings discarded from the process of syrup making out in his barnyard. Mother Nature saw to it that the substance fermented. A few days ago some of Gardner's hogs discovered the barrel full of delicacies and began partaking thereof in fashion common to the species. When the barrel was emptied, the hogs started off in search of other food. But the animals found it difficult to walk in the manner customary with a self-respecting hog! One pig was seen to make a valiant attempt to move forward, only to root his nose in the soil and go into a neat somersault. Others tried and encountered like difficulties, with variations. They swayed, staggered and fell to the ground, stupefied.

Gardner, of course, could do nothing about it, as the animals were in no condition to be punished, and, too, repeal is only a few days away. But he believes that his hogs have had enough of "re-peel."

Robbery Loot at Ranger Is Around $1,400

Burglars were busy in Ranger Sunday night, breaking into two business houses and taking loot valued at $1,400.

Sometime between 5:45 and 6:30 Sunday evening thieves broke into the front door of the C. D. Hartnett wholesale grocery and loaded up 20 cases of cigars, valued at $1,000.10, and hauled them away.

Shortly before the burglary a truck belonging to the concern was loaded for Monday morning deliveries. The truck was loaded just before 5:45. At 6:30 Mr. Hartnett went to the building to write some letters and found the front door had been broken down and the merchandise hauled away.

The company maintains a night watchman, who goes on duty at 6 o'clock, but he was reported to have gone to the postoffice for mail at the time the robbery occurred.

Later in the night thieves broke into the Piggy Wigly store, but a check-up this morning failed to show anything had been stolen. The safe had been tampered with but had not been opened. If any merchandise was taken, Eddie Sargent, manager of the grocery, said today, it was only a small amount and an inventory would be necessary to determine the exact amount.

Entrance to the building was gained by means of the skylight and a rope was lowered into the building. Officers discovered the rope early this morning and apparently frightened the thieves away before they could get away with anything.

Officers in nearby towns were notified last night to be on the lookout for the merchandise stolen from the Hartnett grocery.

Deputy Constable Parker of Carrollton, reported to police here a car had forced his truck off the Arlington-Grapevine road last night. The occupants inquired direction. One of the women referred to one of the men as "Clyde," Parker said.

Murder Clues

The .32 caliber revolver and the chloroform mask, shown above, found in the basement office of Dr. Alice L. Wynkoop in Chicago, where her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rheta Wynkoop, was slain, are among the meager clues left behind by the killer. An anesthetic was given the victim before she was shot to death, police believe. The gun was identified by Dr. Wynkoop as one stolen from her room.

GOVERNMENT TAKE UP ISSUE OF SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Fresh from a week-end visit with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., Henry Morgenthau, Jr., acting secretary of the treasury, returned today to tackle the troublesome problem of refinancing $727,692,500 government securities which mature Dec. 15.

A substantial rally in government securities last week, in the absence of federal reserve support but aided by treasury purchasing was expected to lead to a decision to refund the maturing obligations with a new issue, in the regular manner.

There are several alternatives if something unforeseen should arise by Dec. 15 to jeopardize a new issue. One method would be for the government to pay off the maturing securities out of its $1,100,000,000 current cash surplus. Another would be the outright printing of new United States notes or greenbacks.

Parade Reveals Soviet Might

The military might of Soviet Russia was demonstrated impressively in the gigantic celebration held in Moscow on the sixteenth anniversary of the October revolution. Above is shown the Red Square, as 76 modern army tanks rumbled down the broad thoroughfare past Lenin's tomb, at the right, to the cheers of hundreds of thousands of spectators. The Cathedral of St. Basil is silhouetted against the sky in the distance.

MANY TOWNS PROFITED BY C. W. A. PROJECTS TO AID ALL UNEMPLOYED

DALLAS, Nov. 27.—President Roosevelt's promise of a New Deal has become an actuality for some 100,000 Texans and 300,000 old members of their families.

Since Nov. 15 those 100,000 Texans have been employed in construction enterprises made possible through the $400,000,000 Civil Works administration program designed to take 4,000,000 able-bodied men off relief rolls in the United States.

For the Texans already employed bleak prospects of a winter of want and suffering have been replaced by the cheerfulness of a comfortable and sustaining existence that will not come from charity, but from toil.

And those 100,000 Texans are not the only beneficiaries of the giant program in which the federal government and the state of Texas have joined hands.

Each day additional hundreds are being added to the work payroll.

Skilled workers are earning $30 a week on the basis of a 20-hour work week, with $12 weekly going to unskilled workers.

According to Col. Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, approximately 211,000 Texans—men and women—will have been employed before the program is ended.

Even those not in need of employment will be materially affected by the program in Texas. They will benefit from the wide variety of improvements in their communities which this employment will bring about.

Almost every conceivable type of construction work is included, from repairing of sewers to the construction of buildings.

What the CWA actually means to Texas is best illustrated by the following random records of cities, counties and communities, based on the end of the first week's program.

Fort Worth and Tarrant County—4,800 employed. The first week 1,800 of these drew $3,500, virtually all of which it was estimated went into immediate circulation among local merchants and business houses.

Dallas—Upwards of 8,000 jobs made available. The work campaign includes a sanitary survey and rodent control educational drive.

Austin—Streets being graded, parks improved, alleys cleaned, clerical work performed by 2,226 persons—including 270 women—all of whom were taken from Travis county relief rolls.

Amarillo—500 CWA workers surfacing a highway from Canyon

Wynkoop Is Charged As Accessory

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Earle Wynkoop, handsome young husband, today was charged in an ex parte hearing before Judge Schiller with being an accessory in the murder of his wife, Rheta.

The charge was placed despite the bitter objection of defense attorney, Frank Tyrrell.

The formal warrant charged Wynkoop was an accessory before the fact of his wife's murder.

Police captain Thomas Duffy testified in presenting the warrant that Wynkoop purchased a revolver and bullets and instructed his mother, Dr. Alice Wynkoop, in their use.

"In my opinion," Duffy testified, "Rheta Wynkoop died as a result of a shot fired in her back by Dr. Wynkoop with the gun which Wynkoop purchased."

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE LORD IS NEAR: The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit.—Psalm 34: 18.

DEALERS DEMAND LIQUOR REVENUES FOR WET STATES

John Barlevcorn will return to the republic on and after Dec. 5. There will be many wet states and a bunch of dry states. Now the executive committee of the retail beer and liquor dealers' association is responsible for a resolution urging the federal government to deprive dry states from sharing revenues from the sale of legalized liquors after repeal. In other words, that the license-tax money should not be used or distributed among states which in no way contribute to liquor revenues. Texas will continue a dry state on and after Dec. 5. Constitutional prohibition has not been voted out of the ancient document. Texas has licensed the sale of light beer and light wines. Now why should Texans be denied their share of federal liquor revenue?

RICHEST GIRL COMES INTO A FORTUNE

Doris Duke of North Carolina is said to be the richest American girl. Indeed, she is said to be the world's richest girl. She is the daughter of the late James Buchanan Duke of North Carolina. James Buchanan built up a huge fortune in water power development, tobacco interests and investments in many other fields. Doris inherited a fortune of $30,000,000. On Nov. 20 she was handed a third of the fortune; she will receive another third at 25 and the last third at 30. This is her dearest hope and ambition: "I wish I could go into a store and shop for things just as any girl."

Doris can't. A battalion of detectives guard her trail and tight lipped chaperons accompany the girl everywhere she goes.

She owns a magnificent town house in New York; she owns a 5000-acre estate at Summerville, N. J.; she owns a castle at Newport; she owns an estate in North Carolina and another estate at Antibes. Her New York place is valued at $1,600,000. When she travels she flies.

All the European fortune hunters who are owners of "flies will flock to America. Barbara Hutton inherited a huge fortune. She captured and led to the altar a foreign prince, dashing in appearance, handsome in a physical sense, without a dollar in his pocket or a solid foundation for the title he sports. But why pity Doris? If she were 21, penniless in purse, out of a job and hunting a place to rest her tired feet and her weary head, it would be different. Let it go at that.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

HOOKS and SLIDES BY BILL BRAUCHER

Looking Ahead
PURSUING the trend of wrestling events as they are conducted nowadays, it may not be many years, according to our prognostication department, before we are reading some such chronicle as this:

"Savoldi was wearing a spiked helmet, spiked shoes and a spiked belt and collar when he entered the ring for his match with Gentleman Jack Washburn. Washburn wore a Jerkin of tempered steel and among the equipment in his corner, besides the usual halberd, were an adz and a brace of cold chisels. Jumping Joe depended upon his customary tools, a Moline plow, nine yards of picture wire, a sash-weight and a blow-torch.

Cry for Action

THEY rushed for each other's throats, emitting the hoarse cries of the bull ape. The first 15 minutes of the bout were spent in the exercise of various guzzling, throttling and garrotting holds. Savoldi managed to twist Washburn into a picture-wire hold, but Gentleman Jack squirmed his way to his corner where he managed to break it with one of the cold chisels.

"Washburn leaped into the offense, whacking the former Notre Dame fullback about the head and ears with the adz. Savoldi laughed.

"There were 'oh's' and 'ah's' from the effete ringside section when Washburn followed up this lead with a flurry of three-edged trench knives which he dug into Savoldi fendishly.

Referee Warns

BUT the gallery boomed and called upon the referee to "make 'em fight or throw 'em out, the bums!" That worthy official thrust his helmeted head from a window in his one-man tank and warned the boys to quit stalling or he would open fire with one of the field-pieces mounted on the turret of his armored tractor.

"The boys changed to applause and hilarious laughter when Washburn began singeing Savoldi with his blow-torch. The high point of interest was reached a few minutes later when Savoldi, seizing his plow, split Washburn right up the middle.

"The fans, leaving the hall, congratulated the promoters on the show, which, by the way, was popularly priced at 10 cents to 25 cents, with school children admitted at half price."

Minister Celebrates 78th Birthday With Sermon
 Honoring Rev. J. C. Taylor on his 78th birthday, Rev. H. H. Stephens of the Central Baptist church released his pulpit to Rev. Taylor for the morning hour.

The honoree took as his text, "The Glories of the Saints in the Victories of the Resurrection."

There was a full house to hear him.

At the close of the sermon, the audience made him a personal cash offering in honor of the event of his birthday.

Reports show one of the most widely attended B. T. S. hours in the recent history of the department.

First Christian Church In Regular Services
 The First Christian church met in regular services yesterday, with the exception of the evening hour when all churches met for a union Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church.

The pastor, Rev. H. B. Johnson, preached at the morning hour. He took his sermon from the subject, "The Evangelist." There was a communion service just before the morning preaching hour.

First Baptist Church Exhibits Unusual Spirit
 Reports from the First Baptist church show an unusually fine spirit prevailing in yesterday's services.

The pastor, Rev. G. W. Thomas, spoke at the morning hour.

The adult department led the attendance with 50 present. The B. T. S. last evening was also well attended.

The church plans a new budget to begin at an early date.

There will be five or six cars of young people attend the B. T. S. convention at Mineral Wells Thanksgiving.

Presbyterian Church Meets in Bible Study

As is the custom at the Presbyterian church on the second and fourth Sundays, the church met in Bible study only yesterday.

Reports show an interesting meeting.

Next Sunday the pastor, Rev. L. R. Gray, will be back in full day services.

Church of Christ Has Packed House

The Church of Christ reports a packed house at yesterday morning's service when the pastor, Rev. D. W. Nichol, spoke.

Communion was offered at 7 p. m. for those who were not present at the morning hour.

The Bible classes continue with large crowds.

The pastor took as his morning

subject, "We Be Brethren."

Rev. Bond Speaks At Thanksgiving Service

Rev. J. M. Bond, who has recently been appointed pastor of the local Methodist church, was the main speaker at the city-wide Thanksgiving service last evening.

The pastor wove his sermon around the Thanksgiving theme, with a complete resume of the purpose of the day. The audience was brought to think on the details of the celebration.

All churches in the city were represented in the meeting hour. Music was under the direction of Miss Maxine Henderson.

The UNKNOWN BLOND By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

HEAVENLY BEING TODAY
 Who killed TRACY KING, architect leader found dead in his apartment?
 DAVID BANNISTER, who is a police officer, is the man who is being sought for the murder of King.

Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen this girl, but she has disappeared since.

HEIRMAN S. C. H. KING, who wrote King a threatening letter in jail. He declares his innocence. Bannister stands on the case with J. RANDOLPH GAINES, star reporter of the Post. In the dead man's apartment Bannister picks up an old-fashioned wedding picture which he keeps.

AL DRUGAN, friend of King, says the architect leader had been having trouble with JOE PARROTT, his former wood-shop partner, and accuses Parrott of the murder.

GAINES and Bannister go to see wealthy DENISE LANG, King's fiancée. PARKER COLEMAN, an old friend, also calls. Bannister's father enters the room, sees the newspaper and demands to know what is the meaning of this.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

THE girl was on her feet instantly. "Father, please—" she began.

He did not seem to hear her. Arthur Lang was a man of medium build, slightly built, but anger seemed to make him formidable. He took a few steps forward, then stopped.

"This is an outrage!" he exclaimed dramatically. "Newspaper men—that's what you are! Don't try to tell me you're not—I heard enough to know. Sneaking in where you're not wanted. It's an outrage. I told you this morning not to come around my house. I told you to stay away from here!"

"But, Mr. Lang—"

"There was no use trying to stem the torrent. Bannister saw that as soon as he had spoken.

The older man's voice rose in volume. "I won't have you here!" he roared, his face flushing crimson. "Don't you understand that? A man has a right to some privacy in his own home! You can print what you want in your filthy sheets; you can peep through the keyholes of other men's homes, but I'll have the law on you, damn you, if you don't get out of here!"

Bannister interrupted again. Already he was on his feet. "Come on, GAINES," he said levelly. "I take it we're being invited to move elsewhere. Sorry, Miss Lang!"

Over his shoulder he caught a glimpse of the girl's white face. Was there mute appeal in that swift glance—something the girl wanted to tell him? Bannister thought so. Perhaps it was nothing more than an apology for her father's behavior. Whatever it was, there was only a fraction of a second before Bannister had turned away. A moment later he and GAINES were in the hall. The maid supplied their hats and the two men stepped outside.

GAINES snorted. "The old crocodile! Say, who does he think he is, anyway? I'd like to bounce him on the beam! I'd like to tell him a thing or two—"

"Well, you'll have to pick another time," Bannister assured him. "I thought you'd better get out before the old duffer had another of the press-much, does he?"

GAINES's mutterings subsided in gentle profanity. He concluded, "Parents and Teachers at Sherman will make their reports. Members are urged to attend."
