A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE THIRSTY LAND: O God, thou art my God; early will I seek: my soul thirsteth for thee, and my flesh longeth for thee in a dry thirsty land.—Psalm 63: 1.

SPEAKING OF ACREAGE REDUCTION OF COTTON

According to statisticians, including federal census takers, there are 65,000 farm tenants in this commonwealth. Federal farm administration officials are drafting a plan for their relief. This is the tentative program outlined: "Landlords who join in the cotton production control plan for next year, probably, will have to provide houses for the same number of tenant farmers on their land as this year." However, the landlord would not be bound to furnish cotton land to the tenants, although the federal administrators will urge that this be done wherever possible. They hope next year to cut the acreage in cotton to 25,000,000 acres, compared to an annual average of 40,000,000. This would be a reduction of 40 per cent "and means that thousands of tenant farmers might be deprived of a means of livelihood." Land-owners who joined in the wheat acreage reduction campaign did not have to accept such conditions and owners of corn land are not expected to agree to such stipulations. A substitute is offered for the plan. The government officials have been asked to make available to the tenants the 15,000,000 acres taken out of production. Given land on which to grow food, tenants would still lack stock and tools, "but the landlords are expected to cooperate in furnishing these."

Like Banquo's ghost new problems are ever bobbing up; but the old world continues to jog along as it has jogged along for millions of years. Ten governors of 10 Western commonwealths are at the capital of the nation clamoring for a price fixing program for the products of the farm. Washington correspondents are advised that the President is lending a willing ear. Is price fixing on the way?

INVESTMENT BANKERS FEAR HIGH BEER TAXES

National investment bankers of America are holding their annual convention at Hot Springs, Va. High aces of the association made a survey. They reported that too high beer taxes already are causing loss of revenue to the nation and that potential taxes on other liquor may be so high as to strengthen the bootlegging industry. Is this an indirect appeal to the administration or to the American congress to impose low taxes on liquor imports from foreign nations? Scotch and English and French distillers and manufacturers of wines and champagnes are vitally concerned. They are ready to unload their huge stocks on this ride of the Atlantic.

DEPRESSION CENTERED IN THE HEAVY INDUSTRIES

President Roosevelt took a day off and looked over a stack of charts and summaries. He decided the recovery campaign was pushing wages, employment and commodity prices upward. And interpreting economist at the elbow of the President reported "the depression was concentrated at this time in the heavy industries." It required the work of many years to bring about the crash. It will require the work of years to restore prosperity or a fair share of it to the foreign as well as the American world.

BORGER TELLS OF ITS RESURRECTION

Borger in the not remote past was a wild oil town in West Texas. It had a Jack-of-the-beanstalk variety of growth. It kept the law enforcement officials as well as the rangers busy all of the time and not some of the time. There came a slump in oil production. Now there is a resurrection on. Hundreds of men have gone to work in refineries and natural gas plants. Hundreds of houses, "ranging from genuine houses to the shacks of boom days" have been reoccupied. Now the wives of the willing workers are clamoring for kitchen sinks and plumbing. In the dead days of Borger kitchen sinks and plumbing disappeared from hundreds of vacant houses. Is this a cheerful little earful or a feminine cry for a R. F. C. loan to complete the resurrection of an oil town that was deserted and dying before the coming of the New Deal in the petroleum game?

It needs no stretch of imagination to realize how tiresome it is when you sit down to listen to a program of music on the radio and are bombarded with a lot of advertising. When most people want to find where to buy, they read the advertisements in the newspapers. When they want entertainment, they turn to the radio. Advertisers should stop and think this over.

There are a few cities in this country where the merchants fight each other. Citizens who fight each other keep the home town in an uproar all the time and then wonder why business does not get better and why the city does not grow.

of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cottingham, who was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday morning, is making a nice recovery. George A. Davison of Austin and his son, George Allen, now a law student at State University, were Eastland visitors from Thursday to Sunday evening.

12 Year Old Boy Kills Large Buck

SAN ANGELO.—Robert Ellis Benton, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bascom Benton, San Angelo, probably holds the title of being the youngest hunter to bag a deer. The youth recently brought down a 6-point, 7 foot buck while hunting alone in Mason county. It makes the second straight year the young hunter has come home with the venison.

Situated in a tree, young Benton hit the animal with the first shot and killed him with a second. A new Jewish state has been started in Siberia. It's called Bureya—which warns you in advance of the weather you can expect there.

Cost of Heating University of Texas Is $7.50 Per Student

AUSTIN.—It will cost the University of Texas approximately $7.50 per student to heat the 21 buildings on the campus here this winter.

Around 36,000,000 pounds of lignite will be burned to produce the 200,000,000 pounds of steam needed for heat this winter, according to estimates by C. J. Eckhardt, Jr., adjunct professor of mechanical engineering and superintendent of the power plant.

On the coldest days, 2,000,000 pounds of steam will be produced by the $115,000 steam generating system, at a cost of approximately $450. The lignite, mined at Bastrop by a former University student, F. L. Denison, is burned in furnaces which maintain a temperature of 2,400 degrees fahrenheit. Steam goes into distribution mains aggregating 100,000 feet in length.

In 1836 Texas had but one weekly newspaper.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE THE CHAMPION TRAP SHOOTER

SHOOTING FROM SCRATCH, 25 yards behind the traps, Walter Beaver pulled out of an exciting tie to win the 34th Grand American—the first time it has been won by a limit contestant! He has been a steady smoker of Camels for years, and says: "I like their taste and mildness...they never jangle my nerves."

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES? If you smoke a lot...inside...outdoors...wherever you are...join the swing to Camels. You'll like those costlier tobaccos in Camels. You'll find them milder, better tasting, and they never get on your nerves.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

WALTER BEAVER, holder of the coveted Grand American Handicap, says: "Winning a trap-shooting championship is partly a matter of luck, partly the result of practice and partly healthy nerves. I'm a steady smoker. People kid me about it at the tournaments. They say I never have a cigarette out of my mouth. During all these years I've been smoking Camels, not only because I like their taste and their mildness, but also because they never jangle my nerves." It's no fun to feel that your nerves are ragged—and to wonder why. Check up on your eating...your sleep...your cigarettes. Get a fresh slant on your smoking. Switch to Camels. Your nerves and your taste will tell you that Camels are a more likable cigarette—and that they don't upset your nerves.

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCO

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES... NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
 Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

"MOONSHINER'S ACT"

By United Press

FORT WORTH—Whisky manufacturers here are learning rapidly that the "Moonshiners' Act," a federal law enacted in 1868, has teeth, perhaps as sharp as the 18th amendment.

Since the 36th state voted for repeal of the 18th Amendment department of justice agents have arrested and charged three men with violation of the act. Those charged are accused of failure to pay a distillers tax.

with Tracy—!"

Coleman put a hand on her arm roughly but at the same time as though he wanted to shield her. "Come on, Denise," he said. "I'm going to take you home. You shouldn't have come today, anyhow."

He said something more but Bannister did not hear it. Bannister was heading for a telephone. A minute later he reported to the assistant city editor of the Post that Denise Lang had identified the girl who was under arrest. The rest of the story was all just as he had given it before.

Parker Coleman and Denise Lang were gone when Bannister returned to the corridor. For a newspaper man who had just turned in an important exclusive story he showed a surprising lack of exuberance. His mood, as a matter of fact, was quite the reverse. Bannister looked again at the door of McNeal's office, scowled and returned to the press room.

THE news that Denise Lang had identified the blond prisoner as the girl she had seen talking with Tracy King two days before appearing exclusively in the Evening Post that afternoon but the full story of what happened behind that closed door was reserved for the morning newspaper. It was almost six o'clock when McNeal admitted the reporters to his office. All of them had been waiting an hour or more. They asked questions eagerly.

McNeal ignored the questioning. Leaning both arms on the desk before him he began impressively: "Well, I've got something for you this time. I think in 24 hours we'll have this case solved. The girl has been identified by Link, the clerk at the Shelby Arms, and she's admitted she went to King's rooms."

"What's her name?" demanded Gainey.

McNeal shook his head. "We don't know yet," he said, "but we'll find out. She's admitted she went to King's apartment at nine o'clock the night he was killed. Said she went there to get some letters."

"What kind of letters?" one of the others asked.

McNeal scowled. "Letters she'd written to him. Mash notes, I suppose. Her story is that she saw King in the morning and he promised she could have the letters if she came to his apartment that night. But when she got there he said he'd misplaced the letters and promised to bring them to her the next day at the hotel. That's her story. We haven't been able to break it yet but we will. Now don't print this, but here's my theory. Evidently this girl was crazy about King. Somehow she must have found out that he was going to marry Denise Lang, and she came here to try to stop the marriage. When she found she couldn't—bingo! You know the one about the 'woman scorned.' Well—"

BANNISTER, who had been listening silently, interrupted: "What about the letters? Did you find them?"

"We did not," McNeal told him. "and the reason is because they weren't there. There wasn't an inch of that apartment that wasn't searched. I was there myself and I know!"

Mob Shatters His Prophecy

A lynching would be almost impossible in his state, declared Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, above. But two days later a mob dragged a negro from the county jail in St. Joseph, Mo., and hanged and burned him. Governor Park ordered troops to the scene, but they were swept aside by the lynchers.

Checks were issued Saturday to 1,785 men employed on CWA projects in Eastland county. The total amount of $12,717.33 was distributed as follows:

Town	Amount	Men
Cisco	$ 3,052.16	407
Gorman	1,167.60	141
Rising Star	1,357.75	231
Carbon	601.20	71
Deadmona	851.50	132

Eastland	1,999.50	351
County Clerical	409.00	30
Total	$12,717.33	1,785

In addition to this amount $450.80 was paid from the work relief fund and $78 from the same fund for relief administration costs, bringing the grand total of all types of relief to $13,246.13.

The county quota of men to be employed on CWA projects was originally set at 796. When this number was found to be greatly insufficient the quota was raised to 1,241. Later authority was granted to the county administration to issue checks to all men at work on the approved projects. With the number of men engaged in CWA work increased, the administration Saturday expressed a belief that the number of families receiving direct relief would be lessened.

Fan Demand Makes Colbert 'Wickedest' As a Torch Singer
 Claudette Colbert will be the "wickedest woman in town" as the star of Paramount's "Torch Singer" which comes today to the Arcadia theatre. The cast features Ricardo Cortez, David Manners, Lyda Roberti and Baby LeRoy.

"Torch Singer," adapted from the magazine story, "Mike," by Grace Perkins, is Paramount's answer to the popular demand that Miss Colbert be given "bad-girl" roles.

 Cast in the role of Sally Trent, Miss Colbert portrays a New York show girl in love with a scion of one of the town's wealthiest families. Deserted just as she learns she is to bear his child, she becomes hard, bitter, vindictive. Forced to give up her child for adoption, she takes on the name "Mimi Benton," becomes a brazen torch singer, hostess to the night life of the town.

When "Mimi" becomes a success, she finds that she hasn't been able to stifle her longing for the child and institutes a nation-wide search. The child's father returns to town, learns of her difficulties and seeks a reconciliation. She spurns him.
 Directors Alexander Hall and George Somnes inject realism and romance into her return to happiness and provide "Torch Singer" with a plot of surprises and suspense.

Smithy Claims He Talks With Horses

By United Press
 BEAUMONT, Texas—Although teaching horses to talk isn't exactly in the province of blacksmiths, T. A. Stewart, smithy here, claims that ability.
 Now horse language has few audible sounds, the 105-pound smithy explained. Much of it is a variation of sign language. Teaching the horses their language or making them conversant, is supplementary to his regular duties. Through kindness and deft handling of the horses, Stewart claims he can have them answering questions for him within two hours. He has done it on a bet, he said.
 That's why he never has any trouble shoeing horses, Stewart added. He talks to the meanest ones instead of beating them.
 And while he is rasping away at a hoof he will have a horse nodding answers to questions.
 No hammock, swing or rack devices are seen in Stewart's shop. The only special equipment he has is his soothing voice.
 "Mules? They're different, the small smithy agreed.
 "You've just got to beat a mule," he said. "That's the only way to get anything in his head."

3 about Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

By the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by aging the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:
 "Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."
