THE STORY: Well-to-do Louis Bernard excites on a correspondence courtship with a Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. She comes from St. Louis to New Orleans by boat to marry him. She is young, vivacious, blond. Within a month of their marriage, she withdraws $50,000 from his bank account and disappears. Investigation points to an inventor, Bernard's partner Walter Downs, detective, to solve that crime. He committed suicide. The real Julia Russell, who vanished on the boat trip to New Orleans, a year later Bernard is alone in Hittot. He makes the acquaintance of a Colonel Worth in a hotel bar. He accidentally discovers that the colonel is Bernard's partner. A case goes to the hotel room. She is terrified. He tells her he is going to take her back to New Orleans to solve a murder charge.

right, or done things that were wrong. I've been no man's but yours, Lou. No man's, until I married you."

"He wondered why he felt so much lighter than a month ago, and warned himself sternly he regretted, and in spite of that he said, "Julia," he drawled reproachfully, as if in utter disbelief. "You ask me to believe that? Julia, Julia."

"Don't call me Julia," she murmured remorsefully. "That isn't my name."

"Have you a name?"

"She hesitated her lips. "Bonny," she admitted. "Bonny Castle."

HE gave a nod of agreement that was a jeer in pantomime. "To the colonel, Bonny. To me, Julia. To Billy, something else. To the man on the boat, something else." He turned his face from her in disgust, then looked back again. "Tell me about him. The man on the boat."

"He was a professional gambler. He worked the river boats. The girl who had been his partner had quitted him to marry a pianist-owner—or so he told me—and he was looking for someone to take her place. He offered me a share of his profits, if I would join with him." She waved her hand. "I had been with a troupe of traveling actors before that. This was but a different form of acting, after all."

"What was his name, what was he called?"

"What does it matter? His name was false, like mine was. On every trip it changed. It had to, as a precaution. Once it was McLarnin. Once it was Riddle. I doubt that I ever knew his real one, in all the time we were together. I doubt that he did himself, any more. He's gone now. Don't ask me to remember."

SENATE OPENS WAY FOR HOUSE TO CONTINUE BIG MONEY BILL

AUSTIN, Tex., May 11 (UP)—Action by the Senate today opened the way for continued house consideration of the $50,000,000 departmental appropriation bill. The action also lowered the bars, if the House approved, to consideration of the lower chamber's $58,000,000 higher education appropriations.

Upper chamber approval for the House to consider the appropriations drew token opposition, spearheaded by Sen. Howard A. Carney of Atlanta.

High on the house docket was a unification measure, already passed by the Senate, allowing cooperative development of Texas oil fields.

Carney, pointing to the bill's position on the lower chamber calendar, told the Senate the House was asking permission to take up the appropriations "for the purpose of not taking that (the unification bill)."

The lights burned late last night at the state capital as the House reached the halfway point on the 200-page money bill after lopping $86,000 from the proposed $50,000,000 (M) appropriation.

When representatives trooped out of the lower chamber at 9:30 P. M., they left the immediate destiny of the bill in the hands of Senators.

That is, each Wednesday the House considers Senate bills, and members needed a special dispensation from the Senate today to continue the work they left at adjournment time last night.

One of the hardest hit agencies in yesterday's money-slashing activities was the State Aeronautics Commission. The House struck out all funds intended for the commission during the next biennium.

Then members began carving into the governor's office. Other appropriations slashed were: The state's participation in the council of state governments, from the proposed $24,000 for the next

Demand To End Spy Case Refused

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today turned down a defense demand that he end the Judith Coplon spy trial immediately.

The 27-year-old suspended Justice Department analyst is accused of stealing top secret government information for transmission to the USSR through her Russian boy friend, Valentin A. Gubitev.

The defense request was in the form of a motion to dismiss the espionage indictment against her and to order "an immediate cessation of this trial." Her attorney said she had been the victim of "un-American tactics."

Fourth Member Of Family Shoots Self To Death

ST. LOUIS, May 11 (UP)—Charles E. Lemp, 77, was the fourth member of the famous Lemp brewing family to die by suicide, authorities said today.

Lemp was found dead yesterday in a bedroom of the ancient family mansion of St. Louis' south side. The neighborhood once was a fashionable residential district, but has become an industrial district in recent years.

A .38 caliber revolver lay on Lemp's chest. He had shot himself in the head. A note read: "In case I am found dead, blame no one but me."

Lemp's father, William J. Lemp, Sr., shot himself to death at the home in 1904. Another son, William J. Lemp Jr., shot himself fatally in the same house in 1922. A daughter later committed suicide at her home in West St. Louis.

The family established the brewery in 1840 and the business grew to national stature by the turn of the century. The firm never recovered from the impact of prohibition, however.

ELECTRA TO SHOW HOSPITALITY BEFORE STOP ORDER EFFECTIVE

ELECTRA, Tex., May 11 (UP)—A Fort Worth and Denver City Zephyr will whiz through Electra and seven other northwest Texas "whistle stops" today, but it will stop here Friday for three reasons.

1. An Electra citizen will be aboard the streamliner.

2. An ordinance passed by the City Council Monday night will go into effect at midnight Thursday, requiring all trains to slow down to 15 miles per hour in Electra's corporate limits.

3. Electra Mayor T. Leo Moore has planned an elaborate reception for the train's crews and passengers.

"Zephyr" conductors meeting in Dallas yesterday decided it would be best to obey city ordinances such as the Electra law which will permit safety officers to board trains to assure themselves the toilet doors are closed. A brass band will be on hand Friday afternoon to give the Zephyr a musical welcome. And townsmen and their ladies will pass among the passengers with coffee and doughnuts.

The commission started in Electra when the railroad commission gave the Burlington Lines owner of the FW&DC Railway, permission to pick up and discharge only long-haul passengers at the eight northwest Texas towns.

A slower passenger train would continue to transport travelers on shorter missions, the commission order said.

At Fort Worth last night, a Burlington spokesman said he had received the order and would put the new schedule, with its "conditional stops" into effect today.

Moore and the mayors of the other small towns, charging the order would transform their communities into "whistle stops", were ready to go into court.

But not until Electra has shown some of its hospitality to passengers of the train.

One Killed, 11 Hurt In Crash

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 11 (UP)—A gravel truck and a church bus collided just north of Haltom City late last night, injuring 12 persons, one fatally.

C. B. Brown died in a Fort Worth hospital early today of injuries received in the crash.

The collision occurred on Highway 377 about eight miles north of Haltom City.

Brown, 42, was driver of one of three buses returning members of the North Side Assembly of God church congregation here from a tent revival service in Denton. He suffered internal injuries.

Most seriously injured was James A. Hollingsworth, 54, driver of the truck. A tow car was used in extracting him from the wreckage, and he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital here in critical condition with a lung puncture and internal injuries.

Only five of those injured remained in Fort Worth hospitals, the others having been dismissed after receiving treatment or remaining overnight.

Besides Hollingsworth, those remaining in the hospital were W. J. Witt, several facial cuts; Viola Lafoon, 13, lacerations and shock; Marilyn Parker, 14, broken left leg; and Mrs. A. C. Hammer, 38, lacerations.

Denies Rehearing In Dr. Ross Case

AUSTIN, Tex., May 11 (UP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today rejected a plea for rehearing in the death sentence conviction of Dr. Lloyd L. Ross, San Antonio physician.

Ross was convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of four members of the family of Willard York on May 25, 1947.

The motion for rehearing had been filed last Dec. 8. Earlier, the court had held there was no ground for reversible error and had sustained the death sentence.

The court stated today that it found no reason to overturn its earlier opinion.

"There is no question," the opinion said, "but that the facts . . . presented a very strong defense of insanity."

"However," the Appeals Court added, "mere mental deficiency

Communist-inspired pickets who marred yesterday's crucial negotiations by parading in front of the conference building.

Talks started as three more Ford assembly plants shut down, boosting to 90,000 the total number of workers off their jobs because of the strike at Ford's Huge River Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants.

Reuther's ultimatum to "deal with" errant workers came after union negotiators were embarrassed by the appearance of about 40 UAW pickets at the mid-city office building where the negotiating sessions are being held.

Income Tax On Tips Studied

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Sources close to sources who have sources behind the locked doors of the House Ways and Means Committee had this report to make today—

Bellhops, waitresses, waitresses and others get about $380,000,000 (M) a year in tips. Not bad, eh?

There's so much money involved, in fact, that the ways and means committee has devoted considerable time in the last day or two to a discussion of it.

This can be reliably reported today despite the news blackout surrounding the committee's super-secret work on new social security legislation. The committee decided to keep everything secret until it takes final action. It contended that publicity on its tentative decisions would subject it to too much pressure.

It can be stated on the best of authority—from a committee member, as a matter of fact—that the committee hasn't done anything yet except talk. But the subject of tips aroused a lot of interest.

The committee has been told, among other things, that Uncle Sam has had trouble for years trying to figure out how to collect income taxes on tips.

Lubbock Editor Chosen For Honor

LAREDO, Tex., May 11 (UP)—Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, was chosen today as the outstanding editor and publisher in Texas by a committee headed by Mayor Hugh S. Cluck and invited to attend the streets of Laredo's founding fiesta May 15-16 as an honor guest. The committee which selected Guy was composed of representatives of the Laredo Times, South Texas Citizen and Chamber of Commerce. It made its selection after a state-wide survey of Texas.

Guy was informed of his selection in a long distance telephone call this morning by Mayor Cluck and accepted the invitation to attend the Founding Fiesta. He and Mrs. Guy will arrive in Laredo Saturday afternoon.

"We think we have expressed the sentiment of the entire Texas news paper profession in selecting Charles A. Guy as our state's outstanding editor and publisher," Mayor Cluck stated.

Wheat Surplus Predicted At 150,000,000 Bu.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—A wheat "surplus" of more than 150,000,000 bushels appeared today to be in prospect for this summer.

Judging by the Agriculture Department's latest production forecast, officials said there may be that big a margin between this year's total production and the amount consumed or exported before the 1950 crop is harvested.

The department yesterday forecast a harvest of 1,021,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, barring an unexpected setback in spring wheat production, that would pile the nation's wheat stocks to a new record high this summer.

The so-called surplus would be added to the estimated carry-over of 300,000,000 bushels of 1948-crop wheat. That would boost total reserves to 470,000,000 bushels going into the 1950 harvest.

If production prospects are borne out, officials said, it probably will mean the return of prewar government controls on 1950 wheat production.

But I want a telephone—not a cable

Telephones and telephone cables go together. You talk into the telephone—but it's the cable that carries your voice.

If you are waiting for a telephone you may wonder why we don't connect it to a telephone cable already near your home.

The answer usually is: That cable is carrying a full load right now.

It would be handy if we could hang out an "SRO" sign like a theater—"Standing Room Only"—and connect a lot of extra telephones to these full-up cables.

But cables aren't like that. When they're working 100 per cent—when every wire in them is already connected—there just isn't any more room, standing room or anything else.

So . . . to bring service to you and to others waiting, we must place more cables. That gives us extra wires. Then we can connect new telephones.

That's what we're doing, getting more cables in place, and faster than ever before. A million miles of cable wire this year alone. All so that we can get telephones to those waiting just as soon as we can, and to make all service better than before.

Youth Charged In Girl's Death

ROANOKE, Va., May 11 (UP)—A Husky, 16-year-old high-school wrestler who sang in his church choir today was charged with the parish house murder of his pretty schoolmate, Blonde Dana Marie Weaver.

The tall, handsome youth, Lee Goode Scott, gave detectives a statement last night after more than six hours of questioning. Scott is an Eagle Scout.

Lovely Dana Marie, also 16, him $50, was beaten and choked to death by a savage attacker in the parish house of Christ Episcopal Church Sunday night. Scott has sung bass in the choir there for the past two years.

Police withheld all details of the youth's statement, which they hesitated to call a "confession" until a brutal slaying remained a mystery.

But two detectives said earlier that the youth had confessed killing the pretty Jefferson High-school junior.

Police found the clothing which Scott wore Sunday night after the youth told them it was in a closet at his home. Stains believed to be blood covered the brown corduroy coat, tan trousers and saddle oxfords.

Scott's tanned face and hands were slashed with fresh scratches which police believed Dana Marie might have inflicted while fighting for her life.

She was found Monday morning in the kitchen of the parish house, lying in a pool of blood. Her fingernails were torn and ragged, and her slender body was covered with gashes and ugly bruises. She was fully dressed and a coroner's examination revealed that she had not been raped.

Protestants Plan Newspaper

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11 (UP)—Protestant Clergymen and Lay leaders planned today to establish a national Protestant newspaper.

Some 200 representatives opened a two-day meeting yesterday at which plans were laid for buying and developing the "Protestant Voice," which has been published privately for eight years, to make it a publication for the Protestant world.

Dr. Robert W. Searle, executive secretary of the Protestant Councils of Churches in New York, said "there is no more imperative and no more immediate need in American Protestantism than the need for a national Protestant newspaper."

To said the Catholic Church relies on "the diocesan paper with national and international sections, complementing local news, (to) help to deepen and sustain that sense of a participation in a universal church."

Query Of Farm Families Planned

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—The government is going to question 700 farm families in four Kansas counties to find out how farm families have "changed their ways" in the past 13 years.

The Agriculture Department said the survey will show how farmers are spending their money these days, compared with 1936 when a similar study was made.

"It will show the goods and services families now buy and what they produce at home," the department said.

Directed from a "headquarters" in Dodge City, the survey will begin May 23 and will take two months. The four coun-

Sleeps On Dynamite
FORT WORTH, Tex (UP)—Mrs. A. C. Dodson has been sleeping on dynamite for years. She found 100 dynamite blasting caps under her bed. The caps were stored in a suitcase, which Mrs. Dodson surmises must have come from a relative in whose home she visited during the war. The relative worked in a blasting crew.

SOCIETY

WSCS Continues Mission Study

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church continued the study of the mission course, "China In The Asia of Today" when the group met at the church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The study was led by Mrs. Stanley McAnelly, mission chairman, who with Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall gave the devotional on "Peace On Whose Terms?"

Mrs. Vernon Deffebach gave a discussion on the subject "The Aftermath of War-Program of Reconstruction." Chinese pictures and an explanation of them was given by Mrs. James W. Ratliff and Mrs. D. B. Holmes discussed a representative of the Koumintang. Mrs. James L. Turner spoke on a representative of the Communist Party.

Current events in China were outlined by Mrs. A. W. Brazda and the closing prayer for the meeting was offered by the Rev. Cecil Ellis.

"NEW LOOK" FOR ROOMS

Greater flexibility of furniture arrangement and a more distinctive modern appearance are made possible in rooms using the new style heating units. In the attractive living room above, a new convective radiator is installed flush against the wall beneath the window, where it makes practically no space demands on the floor area of the room and blends effectively into the adjacent oval areas. Thanks to the gentle nature of convected heat, furniture is grouped close to the unit without danger of damage. Free-standing units, such as the convector shown, are simple to install as part of Spring and Summer modernization projects.
