Thousands Pay Respect To Late Governor Jester

Representative Back From Hiway 80 Conference

J. E. Meroney, president of the Highway 80 Boosters Association in Ranger, has returned from the meeting of the National Highway 80 Association in Ruston, La. this week end and reports favorably on action taken there.

He also stated that final work on the highway directing sign for the highway has been completed and that the sign is now in operation east of Weatherford.

The sign advertises the "Fastest Route to El Paso and West Coast" with a map at the bottom shows towns from Weatherford to El Paso.

The sign, which will be flood-lighted, was underwritten by Ranger and the contract covers three years. With tourist traffic for the season approaching the peak, it was felt that no time should be lost in putting up the sign. J. E. Meroney, Ranger Highway 80 Boosters Club president, and Rip Galloway, Ranger Chamber of Commerce manager, are confident that other towns along the route will aid in the cost.

Highway 80, is one of the chief parts of the national system of interstate highways.

Officers elected by the National Association at the meeting in Ruston are Henry C. Sevier of Tallulah, La., president; and M. N. Caddell of Colorado, president of the central division of the highway. Directors of the central division are H. D. Price of Van Horn, Edward L. Allmayer of Fort Worth, A. C. Bishop of Sweetwater, and A. B. Hallbrook of Mineola.

Eleven Injured In Dallas Crash

DALLAS, July 12 (UP)—Eleven persons were injured today when a heavily-loaded truck crashed into the rear end of a city bus.

Police said the driver of the truck, Dick Lambert, about 30, was the most seriously hurt. He was pinned in the cab of the truck, smashed by the impact of the crash.

Traffic officers said the bus had halted, at a regular stop, to discharge passengers.

Nine of the 10 injured aboard the bus were negroes, sitting in the rear section which was caved in. The 10th injured bus passenger was identified as a white woman, Mrs. Grace Johnson.

The truck was pulling a trailer, loaded with six pieces of 20-inch gas pipe, and police traffic investigators said, tentatively, they believe the pileup was caused by lack of airbrakes on the trailer.

The truck was owned and operated by the Ball Brothers Company of Fort Worth.

The bus, traveling busy Harry Hines Boulevard at the height of the morning rush hour, was carrying about 25 passengers. All were jolted severely, but police said the count of actual injured was 11, including the trucker.

Man Charged In Brother's Death

HOUSTON, Tex., July 12 (UP)—William Howard House, Jr., 30, was charged today with the murder of his twin brother, shot during a scuffle last night.

Dead was Evin Winfield House, owner of a framework shop. He was shot once in the neck while he and William Howard fought in the presence of two customers, who tried in vain to break up the fight.

O. N. Allison and his son, R. L., told police William Howard came to the shop and warned his brother, "I've come to get you."

Evin then lunged at him, Allison said, and the two men struggled on the floor. William Howard produced a gun and fired once. Evin was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

FORMER RANGER MAN BRINGS IN CAMERON COUNTY'S FIRST WELL

According to word received in Ranger this morning, Cameron county's first oil well was brought in Sunday by a former Ranger man, Sidney H. Smith, Jr.

During Smith's residence here he was associated with the Lone Star Gas Company, and while residing here was married to Tince Calloway, sister of Mrs. John Kinde of Dallas, also formerly of Ranger and daughter of Mrs. E. O. Calloway, also formerly of Ranger.

The following account of the well was clipped from the Harlingen Valley Morning Star.

The Sidney H. Smith, Jr., No. 1 O. W. Johnson—Cameron county's first oil well—was brought in Sunday in the Lacy Field by independent operators.

Cores showed 12 feet of oil sand from 7,536 to 7,548 feet. In drill stem tests on quarter-inch choke the well produced 500 feet of oil and no water in 11 minutes, with a maximum pressure of 275 pounds.

The test indicated a production rate of 1,200 barrels of 44 gravity oil per day, which would make it the top producer in the Lacy field, and one of the best in the Rio Grande Valley.

Casing Set Monday

Setting of five and one half inch casing at 7,550 feet was completed Monday night. Perforating and running of potential test is scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

Smith, formerly associated with Thomas O. Payne here, and now associated with J. L. McIlvane, Washington, D. C. contractor, said he was "mighty lucky to hit such a good well on the first try."

To Give Barbecue

Smith said he would have a fried chicken barbecue at the location Thursday from 5 to 7 p. m. for the crew and friends. The scheduled 7,600-foot test, started June 16, was drilled by J. J. Broadus Drilling Co., Harlingen.

Location of the new producer is Lot 14, Block 8, Capillas district, 3,300 feet southeast of the A. W. Smith Marsh No. 1 gasser, and 500 feet south of the Lacy No. 4 gas well and one mile northeast of the Thomas O. Payne Dillon No. 1 and 2 locations.

Smith said the new partnership plans to drill another well in the vicinity, but not immediately.

OLD TIMERS WILL GREET HOMECOMING VISITORS

By Boyce House

Old timers returning to Ranger for the homecoming and Junior Chamber of Commerce rodeo, July 20-23, will see a lot of familiar faces.

Frank Champion, driller on the discovery well which touched off the great boom in 1917, will be here. After a number of years in other oil fields, he is again making Ranger his home.

Jack Rapp, nitroglycerine expert, also makes his home here. He is credited with having shot more wells than any other man in the history of the oil industry.

Another man who still lives here and who will be remembered by those who were here during the rush is George Murphy who, for so long, was head of the fire department.

Bill Morris, after several years in distant fields, has returned to Ranger and each afternoon the veteran driller can be seen seated on the iron railing in front of the Ghoson Hotel spinning humorous yarns about drillers, tool-dressers, mule skinner and pipe liners.

Hall Walker was a youth when the first test for oil was spudded in on his mother's farm and he worked around the well. The test hit gas, which was a disappointment as there was no market for gas, oil was what the company wanted. However, not long after the McCleskey well hit oil and opened up the field, the Walker well began flowing oil, too.

Walker's interests are highly diversified in Ranger, where he has lived all his life. He owned a hotel, cafe, farms, ranches and oil wells and was head of the bank though he has since disposed of the hotel and cafe. Walker also found time to serve as mayor, Chamber of Commerce president, school board president and chairman of his church board.

"Shorty" Woods, now living in the Gorman-Deadmona area, holds the world's record for loading an oil field boiler on a wagon, single-handed except for his two horses—3 minutes, 45 seconds. He is expected to attend the homecoming.

From Eastland, Frank Day no doubt will be on hand. He and Jesse Willard, then world's heavyweight champion, were partners in several wells during the boom. Also expected is Joseph M. Weaver of Eastland, president of the States Oil Corporation, who had assembled a big block of leases and had made location for a test before the McCleskey came in.

Fiddlers contest, barbecue, swimming, golfing will be daytime features and the rodeo will be held at night.

Ft. Worth Mayor Invited To Rodeo

Mayor Edgar Deen of Fort Worth received an official invitation today to attend the annual Jaycee rodeo here July 20-23.

A delegation from Ranger met Mayor Deen at his office at 2 o'clock this afternoon and extended the official invitation.

After the visit with Mayor Deen, the delegation made other stops to advertise the rodeo.

Those on the trip were Wilson Guest, president of the Jaycees; Ray Ward and F. P. Braslier Jr. and Nancy Phillips, Jerry Bowen, Carolyn Pruet, Betty Jo Penn and Wanda Clem.

C. E. May Shows Improvement

According to reports received today C. E. May, Sr., who is a patient in All Saints Hospital in Fort Worth, was slightly improved over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. May, Jr., spent the week-end in Fort Worth and on returning stated that Mr. May had rested very well during the week-end.

Brotherhood To Have Social

Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock men of the First Baptist Church will be entertained at a watermelon feast on the lawn of the church.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Brotherhood of the church and all men of the church are invited to attend.

Berlin Bound Plane Crashes

BERLIN, July 12 (UP)—A Berlin-bound American C-54 airlift plane crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany early today.

There was no immediate word as to the fate of the crew, believed to total three. A ground search party left Potsdam for the scene of the crash, two miles east of Klaitz and 53 miles west of Berlin, just outside the Hamburg-Berlin airlift corridor.

The plane radioed it was having engine trouble just before the crash. There have been 15 fatal crashes in the little more than a year that the airlift has been operating, killing 52 persons. Nine of the crashes involved American planes, and 29 American fliers have been killed.

The latest crash came as the three western occupation powers were awaiting an official explanation from the Russians of their restrictions on western truck traffic to Berlin.

For the third straight day, the Russians were slowing Berlin-bound western trucks on the Helmsdorf-Berlin Super-Highway to four an hour. They have closed altogether the other 11 zonal border crossings allied trucks had been using to bring food and other supplies to western Berlin.

The Russians promised last night that they would explain everything today in a reply to an official British protest. Western Allied authorities believed the Russians might be using the curb on truck traffic as a lever to force an east-west trade agreement in Germany.

July Proving True To Form

By United Press

This being mid-July, the weather is doing just what comes naturally. Forecaster A. M. Hamrick of the Dallas Weather Bureau said today.

He was referring to the current heat wave which has kept the mercury boiling over the century mark at a number of state points for several days.

Yesterday's high was 103 degrees at Presidio followed by 102 at Dallas, Laredo and Wichita Falls. It was 100 degrees at Waco, Fort Worth, Bryan and Mineral Wells and Abilene reported 99.

Some showers fell again in West Texas and the Panhandle, and along the coast. Rainfall reports included Amarillo, 35; Clarendon, 53; El Paso, 19; Lubbock, 12 and Beaumont, 81.

Overnight lows have been sultry too. Dallas, Fort Worth, Presidio and Galveston each reported 80 degrees for a minimum. Guadalupe Pass had the overnight low of 63 degrees.

Dallas' 102 yesterday was its fifth consecutive day of 100 degrees or more. The 102 was the highest in Dallas since last Aug. 22.

Parts of Dallas experienced a brief power failure last night because of overloaded transformers. Fuses were blown when the transformers became overheated. Dallas Power & Light Co. officials said cooling systems, running full blast throughout the city were putting a bigger strain on the power system.

Former Principal Visits Ranger

P. O. Hatley of Rusk, formerly principal of Ranger High School, was a visitor in Ranger Monday en route back home from Cisco where he has accepted a position with the high school.

Hatley stated while here that he has accepted the position of principal of Cisco High School and will move to Cisco on or about August 15.

He has been principal of Rusk High School since leaving Ranger during the war years.

Austin Service At 2 This Afternoon; Corsicana Rites At 11 O'clock Tomorrow

AUSTIN, Tex., July 1 (UP)—Somber, saddened Texans in an ever lengthening line filed quietly past the bier of Gov. Beauford Jester, paying their final respects today to the man whose unexpected death plunged the state into sorrow.

In the first hour, an estimated 1,000 persons moved slowly into the capitol's senate chamber, and walked softly across the buff green carpeting to the flag-draped metallic silver casket.

Hundreds of floral tributes banked the chamber.

There was no conversation as friends, acquaintances, high state officials and the plain folk of Texas paused to honor their fallen Chief Executive.

In the line were shirt-sleeved, bare headed men, pig-tailed little girls, farm women and military personnel. Whole families came together. A few carried cameras.

At the entrance, many of the persons paused long enough to sign their names. Five books were being used to handle the flow.

As the slowly moving line filed from the senate chamber, a few of the men and many of the women hastily wiped their eyes.

Around the capitol corridors, to direct the thousands of Texans, were 75 blue-uniformed state police.

At each end of the gray satin-tufted lined casket, two enlisted men of the Texas National Guard stood rigidly at attention.

The governor was dressed in a dark blue suit. On the lapel was his military ribbon awarded for service overseas in World War I.

His favorite tie, a gift from his family, was neatly knotted.

On it, emblazoned on a dark blue background, was the lone star of Texas and, at the bottom, a sprinkling of Bluebonnets.

At the head of the casket was a four-foot cross of white lilies. Off a few feet, at the foot, was a shield of white daisies, a remembrance from the men with whom he served at Camp Leon Springs in World War I.

Other flowers were brought in by a constant parade of capitol building porters.

Overhead, to the left, the flag of the United States gently waved in a breeze, filtered through open windows of the senate chamber.

At the right, overhead, was the flag of Texas.

A cavalcade of roaring military planes brought the body of the 56 year old governor home to the capital city last night from Houston, where his death was discovered when a train pulled up at the Southern Pacific Station yesterday morning.

The body rested overnight in the rose room at the executive mansion.

Today, it was moved into the senate chamber at the state house to lie in state from 10 A. M., to 2 P. M.

Brief services were to be held in the chamber at 2:30 P. M., with the Rev. Edmond H. Heinsohn, pastor of Austin's University Methodist Church, officiating. The Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, J. E. Hickman, was to eulogize the State's fallen Chief Executive.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillie Frances Perrin of Fort Worth were conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Alameda with the Rev. W. H. Rucker of Royalty, Texas, officiating. Interment was in the Alameda cemetery with Killingsworth in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Perrin who was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 30, 1872, died Monday, July 11, 1949 in a Fort Worth Hospital. She was married to the late Will P. Perrin in Tennessee, who preceded her in death about eight years ago. She was a member of the Baptist Church at Hollis Hill, Texas.

Pallbearers were Wilson Simpson, Reace Rogers, R. V. Robinson, Weaver Aishman, J. D. Nichols and Troy Lee Dawkins, all of Ranger.

With her at the time of her death were the following children: B. P. Perrin of Ranger, Mrs. M. W. Sparger of Fort Worth, Jim Perrin of Anson, Mrs. H. O. Davis and Mrs. R. L. Staggs both of Strawn, Johnny Perrin of Valle Jo. California and Mrs. Bob McLane of Brownwood. Other survivors are another son, Sam Perrin of Merkle; one daughter, Roy Finor of Fresno, California; two sisters, Mrs. Addie Poteet of Verne, Tenn., and Mrs. Audie Cathey of Nashville, Tenn., 19 grand children and 15 great grandchildren.

NEWSPAPERS HAVE HIGH PRAISE FOR GOV. JESTER

By United Press
 Texas newspapers, looking back over the accomplishments of Gov. Beauford Jester's administration, lauded his loss as a blow to the Lone Star State.

The Dallas Times Herald said Jester was an "able, courageous and dignified governor... Texas honored Beauford Jester with high office and he served it nobly and has died in harness. His fellow Texans are bowed in sorrow."

The Dallas Morning News said he was "in the best sense a career man," and "more than any of his predecessors, Beauford Jester realized that a broad state can not be successfully governed from an ivory tower. Texas has met no other of its governors so often..."

Walter R. Humphrey, Editor of the Fort Worth Press, composed a personal memorial to Jester and bade him farewell: "Well done, Governor. I hope we appreciate your sacrifice."

Humphrey wrote, "I have always believed that he has been a first-rate, competent public official and an excellent Christian gentleman. He has served Texas well."

The Tyler Courier-Times praised the man and his administration, but it observed that new-Governor Allan Shivers' views are "not widely different" and wished him good luck.

"The State of Texas," it said, "is indeed fortunate that when one high official drops suddenly in the traces, there is another young man ready to take his place."

"About the only criticism ever raised against him," said the Post, "was that he was a compromiser, and the reason was that he was fundamentally so kind-hearted he shrank from hurting anyone's feelings."

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said, "his administration was marked by middle-of-the-road policies at a time when a steady, sound administration seemed best calculated to serve the interests of the state... perhaps the most distinguishing mark of Mr. Jester's judgement was the soundness of the appointments he made, especially in the Judicial Branch of the Government."

The Houston Post editorialized the late leader as "The People's Governor" who took the middle road aptly called "the People's Path."

"About the only criticism ever raised against him," said the Post, "was that he was a compromiser, and the reason was that he was fundamentally so kind-hearted he shrank from hurting anyone's feelings."

Messages of condolence from all parts of the nation, from friends and acquaintances of Jester in all walks of life flooded into Austin.

Further services will be held tomorrow at 11 A. M., in Jester's native Corsicana.

The body will be flown to Corsicana following the Austin services in "The Bluebonnet," the state plane which carried the remains to Austin last night.

A 20-plane escort, fighters of the Air National Guard, flew alongside the gleaming, silver Bluebonnet as Brig. Gen. Harry Crutcher of Dallas piloted the big plane on its sad mission.

When the Bluebonnet landed, the escorting group roared over the capitol building, dipped their wings in salute and turned away south, back to Houston.

Jester's widow, and two of their youngest of pure wool—warping east) old Beauford, Jr.,—will fly to Corsicana in a private plane. The second daughter, Mrs. Howard Burris, flew directly to Corsicana from her New York home.

The Corsicana service will be held in the First Methodist Church where Jester worshipped when "at home." Dr. Ernest P. Bohmfalk, the Corsicana pastor, will officiate. The late governor's body will be lowered to its final resting place in Oakwood Cemetery, in the family plot where lies his father, George T. Jester, once a Texas Lieutenant Governor and his son's inspiration along the political trail that led to the highest State Office Texas could bestow upon a citizen.

Jester had become an international figure when a heart attack overtook him and ended his life as he slept in a Pullman berth moving southward from Austin in the early hours of Monday.

From Mexico City, President Miguel Aleman of Mexico, said "His death was very saddening. He was a good friend of the Mexicans and was working for the welfare of his people."

Balbearers included Ike Ashburn, and James P. Nash, both of Austin; R. W. Henderson and James Rockwell, Houston; Suttle Roberts and A. F. Mitchell, Corsicana; Aubrey Alexander, Fort Worth, and Paul Brown Harlingen.

Rockwell is a member of the University of Texas Board of Regents, while Mitchell is a State Highway Commissioner. Brown is State Fire Insurance Commissioner. The other pallbearers are all engaged in private business.

Myra Sue Ice, Ronald B. Pruet To Be Married In Ceremony Here August 21

The engagement and approaching marriage of Myra Sue Ice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ice, to Ronald B. Pruet, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Pruet, was announced Monday afternoon when Mrs. Ice entertained at her home with a tea at 4 o'clock.

The wedding will take place on August 21 at 9 o'clock in the evening at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Cecil Ellis, pastor of the church, will officiate.

At the tea guests were received by Mrs. Ice, Miss Ice, Mrs. Pruet and Mrs. J. L. Gray of Olney, grandmother of the bride-elect. Carolyn Pruet, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

In the dining room the table was laid with a Madeira cloth and at one side of the table was a miniature bride and groom standing on a pedestal under a big white wedding ball and surrounded by white gladioluses and fern. From the centerpiece, white satin streamers ran to the center of the table and the end of each were white cards bearing the names of the betrothed couple and the date of the wedding. Mrs. Dorothy Penn Smith presided at the cake which was a white and green confection and Phyllis Gray of Olney, aunt of the bride, presided at the crystal punch bowl. Betty Jo Penn assisted in the dining room.

Hunter-Beehler Rites Solemnized

Mrs. Hal Hunter has returned from Baltimore where she attended the wedding of her son, Ensign H. Reid Hunter, U. S. N., to Betty Davis Beehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beehler, 2503 Alendale Road, Baltimore.

The wedding took place June 25 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Walbrook Presbyterian Church in Baltimore. Dr. Brown Caldwell performed the ceremony.

Janice Garrett of Baltimore was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Carol Adams of New York and Margaret West of Baltimore. Myri Squyres of Ranger attended the groom as best man and ushers were the bride's brother, Albert Beehler Jr., and Thomas Edward Byerly of Baltimore.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony.

Ensign and Mrs. Hunter are now at the U. S. Naval Submarine Base at New London, Connecticut where Ensign Hunter is attending the
