★ WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Few Basic Facts Help Bible Readers

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

THE comment offered here is not directed to any particular lesson, but is designed to help in the reading, understanding and teaching of any, or all, lessons based on the great Hebrew prophecies. Emphasis is at present on the prophecies of Isaiah and Jeremiah, and it is a coincidence as these words are written that the daily papers have announced the discovery of a manuscript, or scroll, copy of the prophecy of Isaiah of a much earlier date than any hitherto known. This new scroll is being studied by scholars at Yale University, and while the results of their studies are yet to be announced, it is indicated that this earlier manuscript confirms the authenticity of the text of the prophecy as we have known it. The discovery of this manuscript in itself, however, emphasizes a fact well known to Biblical scholars, both Jewish and Christian, not always taken into account by general readers. This manuscript, though much earlier than those formerly known, is some centuries later than the time when Isaiah lived.

If the "Book of Isaiah" meant that we have a book by Isaiah, directly from his own hand, like a book from some modern author, some problems in connection with the long prophetic book would be easily solved. But the prophecy by Isaiah represents a compilation at a later date in which other prophecies, and some of a period much later than the time of Isaiah, were included. This is particularly true of the chapters from the 40th on, which have sometimes been called "the Second Isaiah." The evidence for this is too full and technical for summary here, but interested readers might refer to articles in Hastings' Bible Dictionary, and to the commentaries on Isaiah by the late Prof. George Adam Smith.

A FEW basic facts, always present in the mind, attitude, and outlook of all the Hebrew prophets must be constantly borne in mind by those who would have even a meager understanding of what they said and wrote.

The first of these facts was their strong and basic belief in God's call to Israel as a chosen people. This choice was not inevitable, or non-forfeitable. It was established in a covenant, and a covenant is a two-party agreement. The prophets of the Exile period, like Jeremiah told in stern and realistic terms of how Israel had broken that covenant, failing to recognize God's call by their ways of idolatry, and the disregard of righteousness in personal life and in social injustice. Integrity and purity of worship were constant themes. Worship was not a matter of formal sacrifice, but of right living, and of justice and mercy, man with man.

The other basic fact was of Israel's situation in the midst of the great pagan empire of the ancient world. Egypt was always to the south and some great pagan power to the north, east and west. The fear of invasion was great, the danger of entangling alliances with one or other of their powerful neighbors always a possibility, and with it all the deeper danger of corrupting forces destroying the moral and religious integrity of Israel. These basic factors appear constantly in the prophecies. In future comment I shall strive to summarize what the prophets had to say about them.

Many Trapped By Heavy Snow

TWIN FALLS, Ira, Oct. 8 —

A heavy snowstorm struck the Rocky Mountain area early today, trapping hundreds of hunters and many women and children in the wilderness.

Snow was still falling as militiamen, rangers and deputies searched in canyons and isolated forests for victims caught in the out-of-season storm with little food and inadequate clothing.

An airplane carrying four persons was missing in the storm area.

The heavy fall was more than 16 inches deep in some localities and measured at least a foot in many upland sections of Montana, Wyoming, Utah, northern Colorado, and the eastern sections of Washington, Oregon and Nevada.

Weather Expert W. M. Percy at Chicago said light snow might extend eastward into the Dakotas and Nebraska later today. He emphasized that the storm, while heavy, was "far below blizzard proportions" because it was not accompanied by a sharp dip in temperatures and high winds which would cause the snow to blow and drift.

The storm struck just at the opening of the area's deer and elk season and wardens said "the woods are chock full of people unaccounted for."

Confirms Cut In Naval Aviation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (UP)

Chairman Carl Vinson told the House armed service committee that "secret orders" have been issued at the Pentagon for a huge cut in Naval Aviation strength.

Vinson said the cut in the pending fiscal 1950 appropriation for the Navy was $859,000,000 (M), of which 57 per cent would come out of naval aviation.

The Georgia Democrat traced the Navy's budget picture as the committee set out to prevent Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson from making heavy cuts in defense spending without congressional approval. The committee's main concern is a program which some members believed would end naval aviation in three years.

"I have seen public statements that decisions have been made in the defense department to cut Navy and Marine Aviation in half and that the Air Force is to be given an expanded role, leaving the Navy to convoy and submarine duty," Vinson said.

"It is my understanding that secret orders have been made to that effect in the Pentagon."

Trainman Killed In T&P Wreck

DALLAS, Tex. Oct. 8.—(UP) One trainman was killed today when a Texas and Pacific "700" type locomotive derailed rounding a 30-degree curve on the outskirts of Dallas.

O. W. Cooper, about 60, of Golden, Tex., the engineer, was scalded to death when he was pinned in the wreckage of the overturned locomotive, which was pulling a passenger coach on a "deadhead" run from Fort Worth to Mineola.

Three other crewmen escaped with only light bruises. The fireman, B. M. Mosley of Mineola, jumped to safety just before the big locomotive and tender jackknifed and overturned.

ONE DROWNS AS AREAS IN HOUSTON FLOODED

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 8(UP)

Flood waters from a 10-inch rain swamped outlying sections of Houston early today, forcing evacuation of a 100-block area of lowlands and causing the death of one fisherman.

Tony Lock, 43, drowned in the rising waters of Sheldon reservoir, 12 miles east of here on the Houston highway, when he tried to save some fishnets that broke loose during the rains. That road and highway 75, leading north to Dallas, were closed to traffic at midnight.

The incorporated suburbs of Bellaire and West University Place, both in the low, flat south part of the city, were hit hardest by the 22-hour rain, which halted just before dawn.

Police said the Harris County sheriff's department manned rescue boats to take families from their homes, flooded in six feet of water in many instances. Other crews were dispatched to the 3 A. M. to Houston's far-flung North Side, where water had trapped a dozen families in their homes.

City underpasses were closed to traffic, forcing delays at least an hour in bus schedules. The city's main streets was under a foot of water in some spots. Rising water also was reported in the Harris County towns of Jacinto City, Pasadena and Galena Park, all within a 15-mile radius of Houston.

The rain started at 8 A. M. Friday, an hour before three tornadoes lunged at north and east Houston, unroofing garages and about 20 homes before they moved away to the north.

The U. S. Weather Bureau here estimated the rainfall up to 6 A. M. at 9.53 inches. It indicated that final measurement would be higher, but telephone calls from anxious residents kept the bureau from final tabulations.

Grayish rain clouds covered the city as dawn broke. The Weather Bureau believed the center of heavy rains had settled directly over Houston. Galveston, 50 miles south, had reported less than an inch of rain after midnight.

It was the third blow Houston suffered from the weather this week. On Monday, a hurricane from the Gulf of Mexico swept over the city. Damage to crops — the affected area was estimated at $8,000,000 (M), and one 50,000 persons were forced to flee their homes.

Cross Plains Edges Gorman
The Gorman Panthers were edged, 6-0, Friday night in a conference game with the Cross Plains Buffaloes, in a hard-fought battle.
Following three scoreless quarters, the Buffaloes edged out in front 6-0 to win the game.

Rising Star Thumps Bangs
A powerful Rising Star eleven defeated the Bangs Dragons 38-7 at Bangs Friday night in a district battle. The Dragons gained their only touchdown late in the last quarter.

Carbon Loses To Baird 32-13

The Carbon Wolverines lost, 32-13, in a conference game Friday night with Baird Bears at Bear Field.

Baird scored in the opening pried with Dwight Mayes circulating his own right end from the 48 yard line. The kick for extra point was no good.

Charles McDaniles, Wolverine left halfback, retaliated for Carbon making a beautiful end-sweep from the 40. Gene Clark plunged off tackle for the extra point.

Baird's second tally came on a pass to Ashlock in the second period. Mayes intercepted a pass and scampered 30 yards for the third Baird score. The fourth Baird score came in the third quarter as Mayes took the ball off tackle and raced 60 yards. In the fourth quarter, Tom Ivey scored for the Bears on a ground play 30 to 7.

The Bear's final two points came on a safety when Norman Bethany, Wolverine quarterback, was trapped behind the goal line. An infuriated Carbon team came back for scoring blood with Clark intercepting a pass and racing 45 yards to the double stripes.

They Forgot To Get Married

ALICE, Tex., Oct. 8 (UP).—The story of a couple who "forgot" to get married for 20 years came to light in Alice today.
Mrs. Juanita Hulsey, chief deputy county clerk for Jim Wells County, said the whole error was uprooted when a man came to the court house for a copy of his marriage license. The license was there—but it showed that the couple had neglected to visit a minister of a justice of the peace.

State Fair Of Texas Opened

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 8 (UP).—The State Fair of Texas opened its gates today on what promised to be the biggest show of its kind ever held.

Gov. Allan Shivers was to officiate at the official opening, which was delayed until 10:45 A. M. snipping the golden scissors to snip the ribbon across the Fair's main gate.

Gov. Roy Turner of Oklahoma was on hand also, to ride in a parade heralding the exposition's opening, along with Shivers, Dallas Mayor Wallace Savage and Fair President R. L. Thompson.

The biggest event of the day, which was expected to see 250,000 persons pass through the fair's gates, was the annual grid classic between the Universities of Texas and Oklahoma. More than 75,000 fans had reserved seats for the game in the newly enlarged Cotton Bowl.

Also on hand to entertain the masses were the other components of an ordinary fair—the largest livestock show ever held, an atomic energy show, home-making exhibits, Spike Jones, carnival side shows and Sally Rand. Exhibits had come as far as Belgium, England and the Philippines.

Although there were the usual The gentlemen promptly went home got his wife and five children and got married. The 20-year-old license was used.

Old School Bell Retired
MARTHINS FERRY, O. (UP).—The old school bell will lose its final home this summer when the north building is razed to make way for a modern one. The bell called children to classes for the past 80 years. It also has sounded for every blaze in town since the fire department was organized 60 years ago.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 9.
The Golden text: "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations" (Psalms 67:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away" (Revelation 21:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When it is learned that disease cannot destroy life, and that mortals are not saved from sin or sickness by death, this understanding will quicken into newness of life" (page 426).

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, IS NEWSPAPERBOY DAY

Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice
Washington 25, D. C.

Every day, morning and evening, throughout the nation, newspaperboys are delivering the news of the world to the homes of millions of Americans. They distribute a precious commodity — the flow of information gleaned by a free and unfettered press — a commodity indispensable to the maintenance of a strong and democratic America. The newspaperboys are today playing a significant role in the fight to keep this nation free.

And these young men, by faithfully executing their tasks, are achieving traits of character, thrift, initiative and resourcefulness, which lead to good and healthy citizenship. They learn, for example, that their papers must be distributed on time, with care, and, by all means, their subscribers must not be skipped. Moreover, the youngster acquires sound and well-rounded business experience by collecting his bills — keeping straight his accounts. He can achieve the personal satisfaction of a job well done through the application of constructive effort and initiative.

These newspaperboys, who travel the streets each day are not the delinquent boys of America — no, they are the leaders of tomorrow, working to improve themselves, their families, and, in turn, their nation.

The newspaperboys of America are deserving of the honor and tribute paid them this day — National Newspaperboy Day. They have learned to serve their fellow citizens, and to serve them well. The work of the newspaperboys in reaching 13 million persons with a United States Savings Bonds message during the Opportunity Bond Drive in 1949 is symbolic of their qualities of thrift, service and self-sacrifice. Their demonstration of leadership and faith in the future of America should serve as an example for all of us.

Good luck and hearty wishes to these hearty lads, who are performing so many tasks in such meritorious ways.

John Edgar Hoover
Director

"... Their demonstration of leadership and faith in the future of America should serve as an example for all of us ..."

The Treasury Department is proud to join Mr. Hoover in paying tribute to the half-million newspaperboys who have done so much in the service of their communities and their country. They made an historic contribution during the war by selling almost two-billion 10c War Savings Stamps to their customers and have continued to set an example in thrift for the nation by their own regular investments in U. S. Savings Stamps and Bonds. They are working and BUYING U. S. Savings Bonds today to build their better future ...

Easy to Laugh Off
WHEELING, W. Va. (UP)—Charles Johnston was picking berries when a coperhead sank its poisonous fangs into his leg. Calmly, he killed the serpent and went on with his work. The leg was artificial.

Farming was rated as the fourth most dangerous occupation in 1948. Only transportation, construction work and mining and quarrying had higher death rates per 100,000 workers.

MANY AMONG THE GREAT WERE ONCE NEWSBOYS

By Harms W. Nichols
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (UP)—Men, is there one among us who can not claim to have been a newsboy?

Certainly not.

I just called the White House, on the eve of National Newspaper Carrier Week. Charlie Ross, the President's press secretary, who used to be a peddler of papers himself, said, sure, Mr. Truman did, too. Back in Independence, Md.

The Library of Congress here is full of lore about big and little shots who once wheeled a bike up to many a front door and maybe misfired and left a morning paper behind a fire tree instead of on the front porch.

The National Association of Circulation Executives and other sources list an imposing group of big timers who started their business careers as paper boys.

Among them are Leroy A. Wilson, a vice president of the A. T. & T. Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York. Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon. Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson of the Supreme Court. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Attorney General Tom C. Clark. James Cagney, the tough guy of the movies. Bing Crosby, who sings, and Bob Hope.

Friends of Guy M. Gillette.

Democratic senator from Iowa, like to tell about the time a few winters back when his youngster was ill and the senator himself bucked a head wind and peddled the boy's papers.

Later he told his pals in private: "I had a heck of a good time, and collected some back accounts for the boy."

The circulation people are great hands to keep boys' hopped up. They tell them that (1) they meet such interesting people. (2) They get a background in business (3) It's a good place to build character. (4) No income tax.

It's all of that.

A kid, when he takes a route, is taught that he will catch the very old mischief if he's a few minutes late with the morning or evening sheet. He learns all by himself to make up a lot of excuses. Like the route man who stubbed his toe and didn't get the papers out on time. The presses broke down. The editor didn't show up. And out in the country—the train was late.

Also, it's good training for parents. The old man has to teach his boy how to keep books. How to meet and influence people and get new customers.

The kid himself, has to be more than a newsboy. One customer is likely to ask him to stop at the Godwins and deliver a pie. Another will ask him to shoo up a tree and rescue a pet cat or monkey which has run astray.

The kid, being a kid, always does.

But there are rewards. On Christmas morning maybe a candy cane or a nice tie. In Boston, the newsboys take over the government one day a year during National Newspaper Week. Some papers offer free trips for a job well done.

In the old days, a lad used to work many hours a week and maybe make $2.75. They do better now.

Somehow, not getting your paper on time—sometimes—is worse than not being able to get a stray cat out of a tree.

I know. I've peddled papers and chased stray cats.

GIANT "SPIDER"—Little Miss Muffet would have been aghast if this 79-ton "spider" under construction in Pittsburgh, Pa., had sat down beside her. The "spider" is the inner framework for a 108,000-kilowatt waterwheel generator being built by Westinghouse for the Grand Coulee Dam power plant. A welder at work atop one of the "legs" is barely visible. When completed, the rotor will be 31 feet in diameter, will weigh 542 tons and will spin at the rate of 120 revolutions per minute.
