Ickes Accuses Senator Downey Of Perjury

9 Dunno, But...

Winter really knocked at Ranger's door this morning, dropping mperatures as low as 40 with the reading at 45 degrees at 8 o'clock. The clear skies and cool north wind were like a tonic, injecting pep into the population.

And talk about pep, we had a fine example of that Tuesday night in the way those Pups trounced the 'Eastland Dogies. While the boys that carry the ball were doig a fine job in their end of game, they had the finest support from the line that we've seen in a long time. It was postively spine tingling to watch that block ing line take its place to clear the a bright glow on Ranger's football future. And about 50 of 'em sitting on that bench, too.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 13. (UP) -Fan Dancer Sally Rand, who plans a court appearance here tomorrow minus her fans, sassured the public today that judges are among her favorite people.

She also has a genuine fondness for newspapermen.

"You made me," she told s gathering yesterday of the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

The blonde striptease credited the press with her rise from obscurity before the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago to her present standing as a headliner in show business.

Miss Rand said she will forego her usual lack of costume and wear street clothes, maybe a Christian Dior creation and a Lily Dache hat, for her stint in district court tomorrow.

At the hearing, two Chicago agents will seek half of the proceeds from her current State Fair of Texas revue, claiming they signed a contract with the Fair to provide all "girlie shows" for the exposition's midway.

Miss Rand indicated she will clase her production if the court decision is unfavorable to her. "But as I've said before, I have complete faith in judges," she Speaking to the newsmen yesterday, she mentioned a Chicago Judge who ruled on her case 16 ears ago when police objected her strip tease.

"I'll always be grateful to that kind judge," the star commented. In dismissing my case, he said ome people would put pants on horse."
