Downpours Break Heat Wave, Cool Area

22-Day Stretch of Torrid Temperatures Ends Monday, But More Heat Is On The Way

A sizzling, sweltering three-weeks heat wave which had the Eastland County vicinity helplessly staggering under its avalanche of torrid 100-and-better temperatures was broken Monday with cooling, welcome downpours which were general over this section of the state.

The relieving rains drizzled from dark, overcast skies, and the light showers continued Monday night and early this morning.

Heaviest moisture was gauged west of Cisco where gully-washing downpours totaled around 4 inches, according to reports gathered by this newspaper at 11 a. m. this morning.

Cisco led the urban area with 2.02 inches.

Ranger's rains were gauged at 1.41 inches.

Eastland reported a total of 1.32 inches.

Other reports: Rising Star, 75 inch; Gorman, 60 inch; Olden, 1.39; Carbon, 1.50; Flatwood, 1.65.

Good rains were reported in the northern portion of Eastland County, according to mid-morning information.

Ahline's total—2.30 inches.

At noon today skies over the Eastland County vicinity were still overcast, but the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast a let-up in moisture late today with skies due to be cleared of clouds by Wednesday afternoon.

This afternoon's maximum temperature is slated for around 90 degrees, and tonight's low will be about 70.

For Wednesday, Old Man Summer's sizzling sun is due to be back on the job, starting a new heat-ridden reign. Tomorrow afternoon area thermometers may again register maximum readings of around 100 degrees.

Considerable cloudiness with scattered thundershowers was forecast by weathermen for North Central Texas Tuesday, Wednesday, partly cloudy with widely scattered afternoon thundershowers, Warner Wednesday.

The West Texas outlook: Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thundershowers today, Wednesday, partly cloudy with widely scattered afternoon thundershowers. Cool today.

EASTLANDERS ARE URGED TO MAKE JULY 4 A SAFE, SANE HOLIDAY; 27 DUE TO DIE

Death is predicted for 27 persons on Texas Highways during the coming July 4 weekend.

The State Department of Public Safety said in Austin today that the race to beat the heat will be largely responsible for the heavy toll.

The prediction is just two deaths less for the short two-day holiday period than were recorded a year ago when the holidays, stretched from Friday through Sunday.

If the current heat wave continues, there will be a record number of cars on the highways with people seeking parks, swimming pools, beaches, and similar recreation spots, said Department Statistician N. K. Woerner.

"Even if the heat wave should be broken," he said, "this trek in places away from home will be greater than usual for Independence Day because of the unusually hot and dry month of June."

In addition to the traffic deaths, there will be many more fatalities by drowning, burning and other violent means, Director Garrison added.

He urged motorists in the Eastland County vicinity to play safe on the 4th and 5th and be alive on the 6th. He listed these suggestions for making for a safer, saner weekend:

Be courteous. Observe the legal and sensible speed limits.

Slow down at sundown and obey every traffic regulation.

Stay out of the sun, if possible, during the middle of the day and don't overexert when the weather is hot.

Don't overload boats. Have plenty of life preservers. Don't show off around deep water.

Treat fireworks with caution and don't trust them to small children.

Funeral services are scheduled for this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Church of Christ in Tahoka. Bro. Kelsey, minister of the church, will officiate.

Another last rite will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Cotten-Bratt Funeral Home Chapel in Weatherford in Weatherford Cemetery.

Ranger Citizens Meet National Demo Head

Seven Ranger citizens and "regular" Democrats figured prominently in the party parley out at Abilene Monday when Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell conferred with area Demo leaders to start a week-long tour of the Lone Star State aimed at corralling the Texas domain back into his party's fold.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bauman, very active in the Stevenson-Eisenhower presidential battle last November, attended the conference which was held at the Wooten Hotel in Abilene Monday afternoon and evening.

A picture, including the Ranger couple, appeared on the front page of today's morning edition of the Abilene Reporter-News.

Girls Ranch Formally Opened; Many Attend

Girls Ranch in Stephens County, though just north of Eastland and Ranger, was formally opened Saturday afternoon. This is to be a home for underprivileged girls—just neglected girls who will be given an opportunity to grow and develop into worthwhile, Christian womanhood.

More than 200 visitors were present for the opening ceremonies, some of them coming from considerable distance, from many West Texas cities.

Climax of a brief dedication program was an address by Rev. Claude H. Harris who dedicated the 64-acre tract of land for the Ranch. This land was received through his father's will, and is to be used as a home for girls who have no home and might otherwise become wayward.

Charles Brinkley, assistant vice president of the First National Bank, Weatherford, and one of the incorporators of the Ranch, served as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Millard A. Jenkins of Abilene, another incorporator, also spoke.

Other parts of the program was an address by Rev. Ralph Perkins, of Ranger, and several musical numbers.

The Rev. Harris made an impassioned plea for support of an establishment that would help build underprivileged girls into useful citizens comparable to many homes and ranches that now serve boys in need of a home and guidance. He named several such places for boys in Texas and told of the excellent facilities some of them have and then declared, "You can make as fine a man as is spiritually and intellectually possible out of a boy, but if our girls go to the dogs they will drag our men down with them."

He stated that teen-age girls who had proper home guidance are the same as little children and he quoted the words of Christ when He said "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

"The underprivileged girl who is entitled to a chance in life has now been channeled into our thinking," said Dr. Jenkins, who also referred to the many advantages now offered for homeless boys.

Dr. Jenkins referred to Mr. Harris as a dreamer and asserted, "Nothing worthwhile is ever accomplished without a dreamer to glimpse a vision and then get others to see it." He expressed thanks to God "for this day—a day of history making," adding that Girls Ranch "will rise as we collectively back it and give it the wherewith."

The Rev. Perkins compared an adopted child to a person who has been adopted into the Kingdom of God, and spoke of the great joy that has been given to many couples without children of their own when they adopted children.

Doctor: "Thanks to me, my good friend, you're now another man."
Patient: "Then send your bill to the other man, will ya, Doc?"

Today's guest star is Pattie Barker, an elementary teacher, whose "A New Pair of Shoes" appears in a current issue of The Texas Outlook, state teachers'

mag: She writes—
My third grade class hardly knew that Annie had arrived. She was so quiet and shy we could have forgotten her.

But at night, it was hard for me to forget her dark eyes and her thin, pale face, her straggly, dirty hair, her bony arms and legs. I knew her parents were migrant laborers, and her dresses and shoes had been furnished by our school's second-hand stockpile.

Annie was an excellent reader, she disliked standing before the class. When she did, her voice was so low I could scarcely hear the words. She was good in arithmetic too, so it was difficult for me to understand why she wanted to spend each recess working number combinations instead of playing with the other children.

I finally decided that Annie was one of those children my college education teacher would have called "not socially well-adjusted." I was still hoping to find a solution when Annie dropped out of school.

One of my former students whispered the reason in my ear. "Annie's shoes are worn out." I sent word to Annie that shoes would again be provided soon. She came, and before school began, we rummaged thru the pile searching for a pair for her—only to find that they weren't to be had.

"I guess I won't stay today," she said softly as the bell rang. "The kids laugh if you don't have shoes."
She slipped thru the door and was gone before I could stop her. All day long I watched Annie's empty desk and hear her quiet voice. "The kids laugh."
By 3:30 I knew that Annie would have her shoes—and that they wouldn't be from a second-hand stockpile.

I have never seen such a change in a child. When she came to school this morning, her hair was washed and curled. She volunteered to read aloud. She bounced in and out of her seat endlessly, doing things for me and the other children. At recess, she was the first one on the playground. And when the youngsters returned from lunch she was laughing and holding hands like one of the "girls."

Postal Rates May Be Hiked

Eastland Counties and other Americans in the nation face the prospect for higher postage rates in the future.
A proposal to boost postal rates generally is "a probability" for action during this session of Congress in Washington, according to legislative leaders. And though opposition is anticipated on both sides of the Capitol, observers predict higher rates finally will be approved.

Postmaster General Arthur A. Summerfield now is working out final details of the administration bill.

Although definite details haven't yet been released, it is expected that ordinary letters will require four-cent stamps—at least, those going out-of-town. Out-of-town letters have been frozen at three cents for nearly 21 years, while rates on local letters went up from two to three cents in 1944. Air mail rates would be raised from six to seven cents.

A four-cent charge for out-of-town letters would bring in an extra $150 million a year, while the same rate for local letters would and other second-class mail have been boosted 20 per cent in the last 14 months, but still don't cover transportation costs, Postmaster General Summerfield said. Another 10 per cent boost in these rates already is scheduled for next April.

Third class rates, on circulars, books and catalogs, have increased 25 per cent since 1949.

Postal deficits are running around $600 million a year. The administration already has made three moves to cut the figure, but "they aren't enough," a department spokesman said.

Tillie Lewis, most famous dietitian in Texas, has spent more than ten years in intensive research in the field of sweetened low calorie dietetic foods.

THE BEST THING TO DO ABOUT DIETING... FORGET IT

Let's face it... the best diet for you is the one which you can follow without hardship, without sacrifice... and without sacrifice... and without a second thought. That's why it is so very important for you to discover the kind of diet which satisfies you, yet does not involve a daily battle. Just as soon as you can arrive at a point where your food gives you pleasure without building up the poundage... then you've won the battle of the bulge. You can forget about "dieting" and simply enjoy your meals and your new healthier, trimmer figure. Look at today's menus. Any hardship there?

The OASIS on your route

The traveler of ancient times sought rest and refreshment at an oasis on his route.
So does the traveler of modern times... he stops at an oasis that prepares his automobile for another hundred miles or more of driving... at an oasis that provides ice water and a chance to stretch... at an oasis that offers clean and sanitary rest rooms... at an oasis where our traveler can give and get a friendly greeting.

Today's oasis is the service station on the American highway. It makes your trip. It provides your contact with the country through which you're driving. On its driveway you feel at home; you get the impression, wherever you stop, that this is your America.
Not one service station, but thousands of them. All along the highways you'll find them, staffed and equipped to give your car the expert care it requires, to make your brief visits on their driveways comfortable and pleasant.

The service station where you buy gasoline and motor oil is your chief contact with the American oil industry. It is probably an individual enterprise; and it competes to give you better service and better products than another station down the street or on the other side of town. No small part of the oil industry's progress in the service of the motorist finds final expression on service station driveways...

A New Mop For the Man of the House

Based on feminine housekeeping techniques, there is now on the market a Car Mop that does away with the old water-soaking, mud-splattering routine of car washing. Just introduced by a manufacturer noted for home cleaning products, the Car Mop produces professional washing and drying results without a hose or chamois. Equipped with only the mop and a pail of water, and dressed in his best business suit, the man of the house can do as quick, thorough and splash-proof a cleaning job on the car as the lady does with a sponge mop on her kitchen floor.

County Asked To Have 'Day' When Waco Fair Starts

Eastland has been invited to have a special day at the Heart 'O Texas Fair in Waco, Sept. 26 through Oct. 4. The invitation from Texas' newest exposition was extended by Pat Taggart, president; and M. D. Corbin, executive vice president, who urged this city to name a sponsor and bring the high school band with the delegation.

Corbin's letter stated, "The Heart 'O Texas Fair is designed primarily to serve as a showcase for the agricultural and livestock industries of this great section of Texas and to foster these industries. This is, therefore, your Fair and it needs the help of your city and county if it is to succeed."

"The Heart 'O Texas Fair will be truly, we believe, a major exposition. The center will be the brand-new $1,000,000 McLennan County Coliseum, second largest in Texas. The fair will include beef cattle, dairy cattle, junior show, Quarter horse show, women's department, girls' department, Midway and many exhibits—agricultural, commercial, educational and entertaining—and a big-time rodeo."

Wright of Hale Center, road and televised Friday night at 10:30 o'clock. The Rev. Claude Harris of Breckenridge officiated.

A wedding altar was arranged before a setting of greenery and flowers lighted by a myriad of tapers. Preceding the twinning service, Bill O'Brien of Childress sang "Through the Years," "I Love Thee," and "You'll Never Walk Alone." He was accompanied by Bill Hess, organist, who played traditional marches. A benediction O'Brien sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

After a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the Wrights will be at home at 2107 15th St. The bride attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, where she completed her junior year. She was a campus beauty; a member of the A Cappella Choir and active in religious activities.

Miss Anita Irwin and Sara Fleming of Dallas and Miss Joyce Horn of Plainview were bridesmaids; Kathryn Williamson of Eastland, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Debra Norton of Coleman was flower girl.
