

TOWN TALK

NEWS * NOTES * BRIEFS

REFLECTIVE THOUGHTS after a week of visiting with Ranger folks: 1. There are quite a few Andersons at Anderson Chevrolet Co. 2. Lone Star Man W. T. Eaton is a busy man and best place to find him is on the job. 3. Postmaster Dick Hodges has the "Patrons' point of view." 4. Mayor Morris Newham has to spend a lot of time explaining for friends and supporters why his name wasn't permitted on the ballot, when asked, about twice a day. 5. Harold Turnipseed, manager up at Montgomery Ward reports a major city-wide event for early May which you'll be hearing much more about. 6. Irrigation is being given careful thought around Ranger, with the view of increasing agriculture production, and we're all likely to see and hear more about wells and pipes and increased yields in the near future as more and more of our area farmers and ranchers explore this "new" watering system, linked with fertilization practices which can put new life into tired soil. 7. The color television reception on a set at Ranger Furniture Exchange was the best and the colors trued we'd seen the day we visited with Felton and Pete Brasher. 8. Les Crosley's brother is president of the Texas Press Association. 9. Howell Boggus, manager up at JRH Super Market, is no stranger to printing and in fact, has spent many hours "feeding" newspaper presses. 10. Pickrel Insurance Co. on Main St. was a busy, busy place Friday afternoon as visitors called on Mrs. P. and son David. 11. Fire Chief Isabell is catching his share of crappie, but wasn't too anxious to tell us "exactly where." (Don't blame him.) 12. High Schoolers were having a great time in town Friday on their "Kid Day," and the costumed seniors were to move together Friday night. . . .

MOST DELIGHTFUL SIGHT: youngster laying flat on his stomach on the nice warm sidewalk adjacent to Rusk St., off Main, in the Spring afternoon. His attention was centered on a long-haired, various-bred dog, who like the boy, was sprawled, taking the sun, and returning the gaze. There must have been volumes being communicated between the two, and an older, but no wiser viewer, could only look at the placid scene with wonder, and a bit of envy, and think, "That should be painted and named: 'Boy Contemplates Dog—World Problems Considered in Due Time.'"

WELCOME VISITOR to the Times office on Tuesday was Carl Hunt of Carlisle, Iowa. A resident of Ranger and Olden during boom days, he witnessed the terrific population explosion in Ranger in 1919. He experienced some difficulty in finding familiar landmarks. . . . Looking forward to the usual pre-Easter high record of egg sales are Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cunningham who operate a poultry farm on Ranger, Route 2. . . . One subscriber, Mrs. Jimmy Jones of Cleburne, former Ranger resident who spent several days in Ranger General Hospital, will visit with friends before returning home. (Continued on page 2)

Survey Will Determine Need For Summer School

A survey of high school students by Principal James W. Childress shows that 63 junior or senior high school students are interested in summer school after school is out in May.

Eighteen in the seventh grade checked the form sent to all parents that they were interested. In the eighth grade 12 signed up while 15 in the tenth and 13 in the eleventh signed up.

The survey sheet sent out to parents stated that if enough interest is shown that a summer school will be offered shortly after school is out in May.

The session would be from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, four days a week with no tuition charged to local students. Seventy clock hours permits one-half credit.

One-half credit could be earned in high school and it could count towards graduation.

The proposal for high school students was to offer either Economics or Trigonometry. Neither course was offered this regular term. For the seventh and eighth grade it was planned to offer a single course in math for both grades using programmed instruction methods.

Another survey will be taken after graduation according to Supt. James R. Clark, who stated that Title I Funds would pay for the course and textbooks.

Parents who did not sign up for their child should call the high school principal and ask for information or leave their name.

JESUS' TOMB is one of the permanent stages of the 325-foot amphitheater stage complex that the J. H. Kendrick family has built during the past six months as a permanent home for the annual Kendrick Easter Pageant. The huge stage faces a large green area where many thousands can spread quilts and blankets and watch the cast of 135 stage the 2nd annual pageant at 3:30 a.m. Sunday, April 10. Bill Kendrick plays the part of Jesus. Rehearsals are being held twice weekly.

CHILD JESUS in Temple is the above scene from the Kendrick Easter Pageant that will be presented at the Kendrick Amphitheater on Highway 89 midway between Cisco and Eastland on Sunday morning, April 10. Ron Kendrick plays the part of the Child Jesus. Elders in the picture, left to right, are played by Fred Brown, C. L. Bigby, Gayle Baucum, W. R. Coston and Menton Hanna. The cast of 135 people was recruited from towns of this area. The pageant will begin at 3:30 a.m. and end at sun rise. There will be no charges for the event.

BOAT OPERATORS ADVISED ABOUT NEW REQUIREMENTS

Boat riding and fishing smaller than 14 feet in length or propelled by motors of ten horsepower or less are not required to have their boats numbered.

The identification number will be painted on or attached to each side of the bow of the boat, Mr. Dry said. Law specifies that persons applying to the state Highway Department for a number must provide name and address of the owner, make of boat, year built, length, serial number, present certificate of number (if any), state in which principally used, citizenship of owner, hull material of boat, type of propulsion, type of fuel, statement as to use, certificate of ownership by applicant and owner's signature.

Owners of motor boats and college students. Many of the stations — Texaco, Shell, Mobil, and Standard — will relocate near the new highway to bring their business back up to where it was before the highway bypassed them.

Haird — The highway left its mark upon this small town. While the main traffic was passing through the main route, its business was thriving. Then the highway by-passed it, and the cafes and stations were affected the most. Their sales dropped around an estimated 50 per cent. Plans are being made for new business around and along the new highway to restore the lost income to the small town.

Ahlene — When it was announced that Interstate 20 was to bypass Ahlene, everybody felt that it would affect the hotel, motel, and station business. As time went on, the hotel and motel business was not affected more than 5 per cent, and the service station business not more than 10 per cent. The highway has opened up a complete new commercial area which has meant a considerable increase in tax income to this city and has brought in several new businesses.

Merkel — The stations and cafes were the only businesses that were really affected. The stations and cafes reopened but they have relocated along the highway.

Sweetwater (the first city in Texas to be bypassed by an interstate) — The motels and stations were the only businesses affected but they weren't affected with such a great loss. All the motels except one are still operating. In addition, two large motels have been built on the bypass, and a Holiday Inn will be built in February. Several small stations were closed, but two large stations have been located on the bypass plus two large truck stops. Although the bypass closed a number of businesses, it resulted in millions of dollars of investment currently on the tax rolls which would not have been there had the bypass not occurred and has definitely shown a tendency to increase station sales totals in this area.

Colorado City — There was some decline in business for certain businesses such as stations and cafes. This type of business has moved to the highway, and a few stations which closed have reopened. This city, like many others, is facing the challenge of the bypass with more determination for survival through local co-operation and interest.

Midland — Interstate 20 is not completed, so no effects on Midland as of now. Percentage figures indicate traffic will decrease about 30 per cent from the old routes. After three years, increase of trade will cause traffic to return, percentage wise, back to original source.

Odessa — At present the city of Odessa has not been affected by the bypass, since it has not been completed. It will be completed during the spring of 1967. Plans call for a number of recreational programs and the development of attractions to draw people.

After putting all of this material together we have come to a conclusion about the effects of Interstate Highway 20 on the businesses of the towns it bypassed.

Interstate Highway 20 has not had any bad effects on the towns it is bypassing and it may bring new and better business in the future.

The other committee had this to say about Cisco: J. D. Yardley, operator of the Road Restaurant, expects a 30-35 per cent reduction in sales after the highway bypasses. Most of the Spot's customers are comprised of local area and college people. The loss will be felt primarily in the summers when tourist sales are usually in.

One Mobil station manager speculated a 50 per cent drop in business, and Hal Page of Pure Texaco Station said his station's loss would be between 60 and 70 per cent. The Texaco Co. has purchased three acres of land near the bypass for $45,000. Our research indicates that Cisco will benefit from the change in the long run.

Class A, less than 16 feet in length, $3; Class One, 16 feet but less than 26 feet, $8; Class Two, 26 feet but less than 40 feet, $9; and Class Three, 40 feet and over, $12.

Literature on the new regulations is available at boat dealers, department offices, and from the Texas Highway Dept., Motor Vehicle Division 2631 and Jackson Avenue, Austin.

Will Hwy Bypass Fold Economy? Student Research Says, 'Nay'

How will Cisco, Eastland and Ranger be affected by the bypassing of Interstate Highway 20? Will they wither away as commercial communities? Or, will the bypass actually bring new vigor to economy?

The latter statement seems to be the conclusion of two student committees at Cisco Junior College who have studied the effects of the bypass on several towns as a project for their introductory business course.

Highway 80 (Interstate 20) began a bypass stretch in Texas in 1960, beginning at Sweetwater. Its completion in Eastland County is scheduled for 1970.

The student committees began their research last October. Data for their reports were gathered by writing to chambers of commerce of the towns that were bypassed or are being bypassed by the highway. Some of the towns did not answer inquiries.

The students (13 in both committees) found that the type of business who suffered greatest losses from the bypass were service stations, motels, hotels and restaurants.

One of the committees was composed of students Roger Oldenburgh, chairman, Terry Clift, Roy Lynn Gann, James Hulse and David Austin.

Members of the other committee were Linda Galle, chairman, Jo Lynn Buntin, Jimmy Haught, Larry Butler, Cecil Hopkins, Don Ballard, Tommy Edgar and Tommy Chambers.

The latter committee's report, "The Effects on Cisco of Interstate 20 Bypass," compiled by Miss Galle in January and edited by The Press follows:

The effects of Interstate Highway 20 on the businesses of towns it bypassed shows that the highway did not affect the businesses as greatly as expected. To prove this statement we have written to many towns that the highway is bypassing, asking them to send any information they could on their businesses since the highway has bypassed them. Several of the replies came out this way.

Cisco — Many owners and managers of restaurants and stations said they would not lose less than 40 per cent of business, since most of the business is composed of local Congressman Omar Burlison announced today that he is presenting to the Library of Ranger J. C. a copy of the book, Formation of the Union.

The purpose of this volume is to present under one cover the most significant documents relative to the formation of the American Federal States. The only comparable collection of documents published by the Government of the United States is the Documentary History of the Constitution, which was brought out some thirty-two years ago.

In the present document greater emphasis has been placed upon the evolution of the Constitution in the Constitutional Convention of 1787. The documents necessary for a complete study of the development of the Federal Constitution have been scattered so widely in different publications, many of them inaccessible to the ordinary reader, that it is a real service to collect all relevant materials and publish them in one volume.

Burlison stated that while each Member of Congress received only five copies of this volume, he has arranged for each of the eight College Libraries in the 17th Congressional District to receive a copy of this edition. The Congressman states it would be a most valuable reference to students of American History.

Copies of the impressive volume are available for public sale from the superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, at $7.50 per copy.
