Great Spiritual Film Coming

Final arrangements have been made for the showing here of "The Prince of Peace," new $2,500,000 Hallmark Production, in Cinecolor, that has been breaking attendance records everywhere, it was announced today by J. B. Seale, manager of the Plains theatre.

This unusual, two-hour attraction is a complete unit in itself, according to Manager Seale. The breathtaking beauty of the Wichitas are the background for the powerful, moving story.

It is because "The Prince of Peace" is so tremendous in scope, so beautiful in color, so sweeping in grandeur and so human in its theme that it is breaking box-office records from coast-to-coast. Its glorious and thrilling musical score and strong sermon-on-film has caused clergy- men of every faith and educators at all levels to call the film the most important motion picture ever to come out of Hollywood.

According to one critic the film makes its appearance at a time when the world needs it most. "There are people in Hell who could have been saved by this picture," he said.

"The Prince of Peace" is a movie for the entire family. Father and mother will thrill to its majestic beauty while little brother and sister will delight in the new six-year-old child star, Ginger Prince, making her first screen appearance.

This outstanding picture will show at the Plains Theatre here Sunday and Monday, November 12 and 13.

To Flouridize City Water Supply

Austin.—The Texas State Department of Health has undertaken a program to promote the flouridization of municipal water supplies wherever necessary, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

It has been proved that where drinking water contains 1.0 to 1.5 parts per million of sodium flouride that less dental decay occurs especially among those that have used the water since birth. Excessive amounts of flourine causes mottling of the enamel.

The city water supply of Marshall has been treated for four and one half years. This has resulted in a reduction of 47 per cent in the decay rate among the age group 6 and 7 years. The younger groups receive the earliest benefits from such a program but all ages have shown some improvement. Other cities adopting flouridization of their water supplies are Austin and Corpus Christi. Ft. Worth, Iowa Park and Breckenridge and some forty other Texas cities are seriously considering the measure.

The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the State Health Department and the State Dental Society has made this program its main health objective for this year for control of tooth decay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thompson of Aiken spent Sunday in Wichita Falls where they attended funeral services for Mrs. J. W. Walker. Mrs. Walker was an aunt of Mr. Thompson.

Ginnings at the three Lockney gins passed the 1000 bale mark this week and the harvest tempo was increasing by the day. A total of 1009 bales had been ginned here up to Wednesday noon.

Harvest hands were still scarce although they were coming in at a little faster rate this week than last. The pulling price was standing on $1.75 delivered in most instances with some paying up to $2.00.

Ideal weather the past few weeks has added considerable value to the cotton crop although some cotton is still not open fully.

The yellow blooms are very attractive and although the plant isn't in as full bloom as it usually is in the springtime, it is blooming.

General Election Next Tuesday

The general election will be held Tuesday of next week, November 7 and the people of this area are hardly noticing the event at all. Although there is very little reason for the people of the 19th Congressional District to be interested, people up in the 18th District are sitting up and taking notice for there a Republican has a chance to win over a Democrat.

Republican Ben Guill, the incumbent, is opposed by the Democrat Walter Rogers and it is scheduled to be close.

In this district Congressman George Mahon has a Republican opponent on the ballot but no one is taking the matter seriously.

The ballot is somewhat smaller than usual this year with four columns, Democrat, Republican, the Independent and the write-in. The Democrat column carries a full slate of nominees from governor down to precinct officers. The Republican column has nominees for all offices from governor to congress with the exception of commissioner of agriculture. The other two columns are vacant.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. as in the usual election and each voting box will be open to receive voters although probably less than one-third of them are expected to appear.

The Lockney Longhorns won their fourth straight gridiron victory over the Floydada Whirlwinds last Friday night by the score of 31-12. The Longhorns did all their scoring in the first half while the Whirlwinds scored one time in the first half and once in the last half.

The game was fought on fairly even terms except for the second quarter when the Longhorns exploded for three touchdowns. Ray Ferguson seemed to run wild during this period, and in fact during most of the game. He accounted for or set up all of the Longhorns five touchdowns. Runs of 82, 46 and 44 yards were all good for scores and another 25 yard run set up another.

The Whirlwinds uncorked a passing attack such as they had not had all year, attempting an amazing 26 passes and completing 12 of them for a total of 135 yards. The Longhorns also did a little passing, trying five and completing three for 71 yards. Each team had one interception.

The Longhorns were hit hard by penalties in the second half and did not make even one first down during that period. They were assessed a total of 115 yards in penalties during the game to 15 for the Whirlwinds.

The Whirlwinds scores were the first they had made against district opposition this year. The win raised the Longhorns to fourth place in district standings.

Outstanding defensive players included Ferguson, who plays defensive left end, Barry Thompson, center, and little Pat Frizzell, who was the outstanding pass defense man for the Longhorns. The entire Longhorn team showed great defensive play against the Whirlwind ground game.

Here is the summary of the game:

The Whirlwinds received the kick off and returned to their own 38 yard line. The Winds were penalized 5, made 0 and 1, and connected with a pass which was nullified by a 5 yard penalty on the Floydada boys. The Longhorns were also penalized 5 and the Winds kicked to the Lockney 12. The Longhorns made 1, and 6 and then Ray Ferguson broke through his own left tackle and outdistanced the Whirlwinds to the goal line, scoring standing up. Try for point failed and the score was 6-0, Lockney.

The kick was returned to the Floydada 37. A fumble lost 4 for the Winds, a short pass was completed for no gain and they kicked to the Lockney 33. The Longhorns were penalized 15, made 9 and 7, lost 3, and kicked to the Floydada 48. The Winds lost 1, lost another yard and then a pass from Carmack to Ring was good for a first down on the Lockney 40. They made 4, and a pass from Carmack to McGuire was good for a first down on the Lockney 18. They made 5 and then a first down on the 7, made 1, were penalized 5 and another pass took the ball to the half yard line from where Carmack scored. Try for point failed. Score 6-6.

The Longhorns received and returned to their own 32 yard line. They lost 2, made 0 and then Stanley Conner passed to Mac Howard for a first on the Floydada 38. The Longhorns made 4, lost 3 and Ferguson broke loose on the next play to the Floydada 12, a 25 yard run. The Longhorns made 2, Ferguson carried to the 2 and Pat Frizzell carried over for the score. Try for point failed and the score was 12-6.

The Whirlwinds received and returned to their own 25. A pass was incomplete, and then a pass into the flat was completed for a first on the Floydada 38. They made 2 and 4 and then a pass was intercepted by Pat Frizzell and returned to the Floydada 46. From this point Ray Ferguson broke through the line again, twisted away from several would-be tacklers and ran 46 yards for the score. Try for point failed after a 5 yard penalty and the score was 18-6, Lockney.

The Whirlwinds received the kick and returned to their own 37. They made 1 and 4 and then a fumble was recovered by a Longhorn on the Floydada 44. An amazed crowd then watched Ray Ferguson repeat the identical performance of the preceding play when he broke loose to go all the way for the score. Try for point failed again and the score was 24-6.

The Winds received and returned to their own 39. A fumble on the first play gave the Longhorns the ball on the Floydada 36. A pass from Conner to Ferguson carried to the 25 yard line and then Ray Ferguson carried to the 13 for another first down. Here the Longhorns were penalized 15 but came back with a pass from Conner to Ferguson for the score. Norton Baker plunged over the extra point, the only one the Longhorns made, to bring the score to 31-6.

The Winds received and returned to their own 32. They made 0 and then on an attempted pass, the passer was rushed and the ball slapped out of his hand but an alert Floydada player caught it and carried for 9 yards as the half time whistle blew.

The precision marching of the Longhorn Band during the half time intermission was very good. They formed an F on the Floydada side of the field and an L on the Lockney side.

The Whirlwinds Band marched on the field and one of the twirlers presented a twirling exhibition with a baton afire on each end while the flood lights were turned out.

The Longhorns received and returned to their own 39. They were penalized 15, made 0, made 2 and 0 and kicked to the Floydada 49. A pass was good for 9 yards and then the Winds made a first on the Lockney 38. Another pass carried to the 25 and another pass was good for a first on the 14. A pass was completed but lost a yard, the Winds made 7 and 2 and another pass was incomplete. The Longhorns took over on their own 5 yard line. They lost 4 on the first play, made 0 and 4 and kicked out to the Lockney 28. A fumble by the Whirlwind safety man gave the Longhorns the ball here. The locals were penalized 5, made 2, were penalized 5, made 4 and kicked to their own 44. The Longhorns were penalized 5, the Whirlwinds made 3 and then a first on the Longhorn 31. Ferguson rushed the passer badly on the next play and he was forced to throw the ball quickly, not finding a receiver. The Winds made 4, made 0 and a pass was incomplete, the Longhorns taking the ball on their own 26.

The Longhorns made 2, 1 and 0 and the kick was returned to the Lockney 48. The Winds made 1, 3 and then a first on the Lockney 37. A pass was incomplete and the Winds made 3 and then a first on the Lockney 20. They made 0 and then a pass to Helms carried to the 3 yard line. The Winds made 1, tried a pass which was incomplete, made 1 and then drove over for the score. Try for point failed and the score was 31-12.

The Longhorns received the ball and returned it to their own 35. They were immediately penalized 15, and an attempted pass was intercepted by a Floydada player giving the Whirlwinds the ball on the Lockney 34. The Winds tried two incomplete passes and then Pat Frizzell stepped in to intercept an attempted aerial. On the play the Longhorns were penalized 15 and they took over on their own 29. They made 3, then Joe Cunyus came around to carry the ball from his end position getting loose to the Floydada 40 but the play was nullified by a 15 yard penalty on the Longhorns. The locals made 6, lost 2 and kicked out on their own 38.

The Winds tried a pass which was incomplete, threw two more incomplete passes and on a fake kick ran to the Lockney 26. They completed a pass to the Lockney four and made 3 as the game ended.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1: 1. It isn't one nerve but several, each of which starts from the spinal cord, joins its fellows from other vertebrae and proceeds down the back of the leg. Sometimes an operation is necessary for cure of sciatica. Your doctor can determine the cause and then recommend treatment.

Answer to Question No. 2: 2. A baby born this year can expect to live to be 67 and his expectancy will continue to rise as he grows older. Thus a man of 40 today may expect to live 30 years more and a man of 65 may expect to reach 77. A child born in 1900 could expect to live only 49 years. Americans today look forward to increasing their life span because of improved medical care.

Answer to Question No. 3: 3. Right or left, it makes no difference in reading, despite the old saying. Right-handed persons can avoid annoying shadows in writing, however, by having the light come from the left.

Postmasters Are Permanent Civil Service Says

Harry B. Mitchell, Chairman of the United States Civil Service Commission, has called upon the American public to recognize that postmasters are permanent officers under the Civil Service System, and entitled to all the rights and privileges of the law.

Chairman Mitchell's statement was issued as a part of a nationwide campaign launched by the National Association of Postmasters to educate the public as to the true status of postmasters in the Civil Service System. Too many people, the Association announced, believe that postmasters are temporary political appointees and it is resulting in an incorrect attitude toward the Postal Service.

In a public statement Chairman Mitchell announced: "Every postmaster not only has to qualify for appointment through an examination given by the Civil Service Commission, but he must be among the three top eligibles. Like other Federal workers, the postmaster serves without limitation on his term, subject only to the same competent handling of his office as required of all personnel."

"The country benefitted when postmasters were placed under competitive civil service. The postmaster and his employees are the most important daily contact a citizen has with his Government. I am glad to know that the National Association of Postmasters is launching a campaign to inform the American public as to the real facts. The United States Civil Service Commission is particularly gratified at the manner in which postmasters are performing their duties."

The Association has established a national committee to conduct the campaign with Fergus McRee, Postmaster, Richmond, Va., as Chairman. Top officials in Government and in both major political parties have joined in expressing approval of the program the sole aim of which is to correct the oft-repeated statements that postmasters are serving only on a temporary basis, whereas the law of the land has placed them as a vital part of the Civil Service System.

TEC Seeks Methods To Improve Gov't.

Austin.—The Texas Economy Commission is pushing the work to give the average Texas citizen a voice in securing "the bargain of a lifetime," according to an announcement today by John Ben Shepperd, Secretary of State and secretary of the TEC.

"The Commission offers the average citizen a chance to spend a little in order to save a great deal," Mr. Sheppard said. "Texans paid $164,323,500 for state government in 1939. Last year, only ten years later, they paid a staggering $443,776,800. This year it is going to cost over half a billion dollars."

"The TEC needs $75,000 for its first year of operation. This will be spent on intensive, impartial research into all agencies of the executive branch. The facts turned up will be the basis for designing an efficient reform program to be acted upon by the Legislature."

"If the rising trend in governmental costs can be reduced through the TEC's work and influence of its individual members, then the average citizen who supports the TEC has made plainly the bargain of a lifetime," Mr. Sheppard continued. To reach its $75,000 goal, he explained, citizens in every part of the state must be aroused to the need for economy and efficiency in their government.

VACCINES SAVE FARM PROFITS

New vaccines developed by veterinary science during the last few years are saving livestock and poultry raisers millions of dollars. Unhatched chicks play a big part in the advances that have been made. New methods have made it possible to grow disease-producing viruses in the chick embryos. By this technique, scientists now produce vaccines against such diseases as equine sleeping sickness, fowl pox, Newcastle disease and laryngotracheitis of fowls from the infected embryos.

Vaccines now produced from chick embryos.

Through similar methods, veterinarians have developed a vaccine which protects cattle against rinderpest—the deadly "tropical cattle plague."

Another system is being used to make effective vaccines against foot-and-mouth disease of cattle and contagious sore mouth of sheep. This method is based on re-creating the disease-causing power of a virus, but leaving its ability to immunize. Thus, when the vaccine is injected into an animal, the animal does not come down with the disease, but builds up resistance to it.

The search for new vaccines is by no means ended, for many of the known virus diseases of man and animals have yet to be conquered.

Feed The Land and Fatten The Crops

College Station.—"Feed the land and fatten the crops" is a good slogan for Texas farmers to adopt, because plants must have plenty of the right kind of food in order to grow well and produce big yields, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Good crops cannot be grown without sufficient plant food, even when the best seed and cultivation methods are used. Miller points out that plants also need plenty of water and suitable soil conditions to grow in.

He states that feeding the land by plowing under a well-inoculated and fertilized legume is the best way to provide these important items. Legumes supply plant food, especially the high-priced and badly needed nitrogen, which they get from the air by means of bacteria in the nodules on the roots.

Organic matter or humus, supplied by the legumes when they are plowed under, improves the condition of the soil and thus makes it more suitable for plants to grow in. And the more organic matter there is in the soil, the more water there will be for the plants because the vegetation that decays in the soil acts like a sponge and increases the water holding capacity of the land.

Miller reports that increased cotton yields of over 100 pounds of lint per acre were obtained when cotton followed hairy vetch on the East Texas Experiment Substations at Nacogdoches and Tyler. And corn yields were more than doubled at these substations. On the more drouthy soils at College Station, vetch increased cotton yields 59 pounds per acre.

At the Temple Substation in the Blackland area, cotton following phosphated and inoculated hubam sweetclover produced a five-year average of 315 pounds of lint per acre—and the hubam was harvested for seed before being turned under. On similar land where no legumes were planted, the five-year average was 165 pounds of cotton per acre.

The sweetclovers, hubam, Madrid, and annual yellow blossom, increase the yield of crops that follow them. Hubam and annual yellow blossom are especially beneficial because they also reduce losses from cotton root rot. To farmers who are troubled by cotton dying on the blackland, Miller recommends the planting of these two sweetclovers in the rotation, for a seed crop, for grazing and to be plowed under green.

For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and world lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world.—Titus 2:11-12.

The only spot of interest for the people of this area in the general election to be held Tuesday of next week will be the race for Congressman in the 18th district, comprising Amarillo and its surroundings. There a supposed-to-be Republican is holding office. He is Ben Guill of Pampa. Opposing him is another Pampa man, Walter Rogers, who is running on the Democratic ticket. The question is can a Republican keep his seat against the Democrat. Mr. Guill is known for his opposition to the socialistic tendencies of the present administration. That race will be watched closely over all the nation.

We have a feeling that a number of Democrats, as well as the Republicans, are getting fed up with the administration. Its desire to look after everyone's welfare has resulted in such unpopular things as the Fair Employment Practices bill, the child labor bill that has disrupted the harvest in West Texas to some extent, and a number of others. You can run anything into the ground—even Santa Clause.

A local man thinks that as long as we heap abuse upon Jake Malik the Kremlin will keep him on the job. If, however, we begin to cozy up to him, his masters in Russia will begin to suspect him and call him home.

Our defense of Korea was the only practical and feasible thing we could do. Anything else would have been disastrous to our foreign policy. It would have made us the laughing stock of the rest of the world. More people than we think look upon this country for world leadership. If we evince those qualities of leadership that prompt us to defend the things we say we stand for such as the rights and the freedom of all people we are going to be respected for it. The small people of the world are going to believe in and have faith in us as defenders of their way of life against the strong aggressor nations. By our prompt espousal of the cause of liberty loving people everywhere we are going to gain a following in the world that will add immeasurably to our strength and prestige. Our alternative is to do nothing. Let Russian and Communism take what she wants. By following this course we will find ourselves standing alone against a world whose combined resources could and would drain us dry.

FOOTBALL GOES DECENT . . .

Reports coming from football spectators at the Lockney and Post games this season give ample grounds for praising the work of Coach Doc Brantley for the manner in which he trains football boys.

With the possible exception of one Ralls player, the boys show Brantley's resolve to teach fairness, obedience to the rules and sportsmanship to members of his squad. We agree with the coach that it would be far better to lose every game played than to resort to the tactics being adopted by other teams—just in order to win.

Brantley has told his boys and the people of Ralls several times that his aim is to build character and sportsmanship first — and win football games second. This season is likely to prove that a team need not be an aggregation of sneak ruffians to win. We have every praise for the Ralls team and the way it performs. But if the time ever comes when the individual players employ the gridiron tactics used by Lockney players Friday night, we hope they lose every game.

Editor's Note: We hope that the Lockney people will not take seriously the rantings of Mr. Joiner down at Ralls. He is what is known as a "crusading editor"—that is one that must tell everything what is wrong with everything whether he knows anything about it or not. Mr. Joiner does not approve of football in the first place and he knows nothing about it in the second place. It is our guess that he did not even see the game in which Lockney played Ralls. However, we will give credit to Coach Brantley. He sure has one of his players well trained. He slugged right end Joe Cunyus for three and a half quarters before the referee was able to catch him and then the referee threw them both out of the game. Either the referee was blind (a condition we suspected all the time) or the boy was well trained. As for the Lockney players, they are trained to block and tackle hard. Perhaps Mr. Joiner didn't know it.

but that is a requisite of football. And if he thinks the Longhorns were rough the night they played Ralls he should see them some night when they are really playing ball.

COMMUNISM vs. CHRISTIANITY

In speaking down at Tulla last Tuesday on the 11th Annual Newspaper Week, the Newsman referred to the work of the commies and the work being done by the press to combat their efforts.

At the close of the Kiwanis luncheon, a returned missionary from China took the floor and remarked in a very short statement:

"I wish that all of you men could have seen behind the iron curtain like I have. I hope that you will never suffer the consequences of being insulted and abused by the Reds as I have been in China. They are brutal in the extreme. I want to say: Communism and Christianity cannot exist together in our nation; in any other nation; or on the face of the world. One or the other must go."

The Canyon News has been buying a cartoon service for about a year with the idea of combating communism. Sometimes we have wondered if the money we paid for this service has not been wasted. Yet when we realize the indifference of the average citizen to the commies and how they are threatening to take over this nation through this indifference, we are persuaded that we should continue, week after week to picture the work of the commies.

The necessity for action on the part of the government in combatting communism, while our President was referring to the head of the dastardly herd as "Good Old Joe," is more and more understandable.

When the White House wakes up to the danger of inroads of communism in this nation, we shall all sleep sounder.—Canyon News.

Huntin' AND FISHIN'

By Harve Pennington

The SMM Mauser, sometimes called the 7.9, is found in fair numbers in the United States, as many were brought into this country after the war. In Germany it is the army rifle and is popular for sporting use, but here it is not well developed and is underloaded both with the 236 and 170-grain bullets at 2,100 and 2,530 foot seconds respectively. Barrels and chambers run all sorts of sizes and shapes, and though the SMM is inherently a good cartridge it doesn't amount to much here. It's true that they do have a good action, and there have been a lot of them rebored and restocked and chambered for some of our most popular ammunition in this country such as 270, 30-06, 25-7 Roberts and many others.

Probably the most widespread of all reasons for the missing of game, be it the lowly crow or the buck, is that the average hunter never does a thorough job of sighting in his rifle. Sometimes he hits what he is shooting at, sometimes he doesn't. He assumes that the factory has "targeted" his rifle and lets it go at that. As a matter of fact, factories usually do target rifles. They bore-sight them, that is they line up the sights by looking through them and checking them by the alignment of the bore. They also shoot them and make adjustments. But here is the catch—the factory may not be using the same brand of ammunition that the hunter uses. Another catch is that no one can do a good job of targeting the hunter's rifle but the hunter himself.

Two different people's methods of shooting open sights almost always differ. One may take a "fine" bead, another a coarse one and so on. Peep sights offer somewhat less individual variation, and scope sights still less. But even with a scope, a rifle will seldom shoot to exactly the same point of impact for different riflemen. Again the only one who can sight your rifle in is you yourself.

First, the man who wants to sight in his rifle should have a plentiful supply of the exact kind of ammunition he plans to use. Second he should have a target he can see, and third, he should have a level, open spot with a good backdrop where he will do his shooting. This business of sighting in with the kind of ammunition you are going to use is very important.

Rifles with stiff, fairly heavy barrels well-letted in the stock, will shoot different brands of ammunition with different bullet weights to more or less the same center of impact up to 150 yards or so. But such rifles are few and far between.

A&M Soil Testing Facilities Explained

College Station.—The soil testing service of the Texas A. & M. College System is being expanded and will be in charge of M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist. According to Director G. G. Gigson, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the laboratory will be ready to begin operations on November 1, 1950.

A charge of one dollar per sample will be made for the testing service and samples should be sent to the Soil Testing Laboratory, Agricultural Extension Service, College Station, Texas. Each sample submitted for testing will be analyzed for organic matter, nitrogen (computed), soil reaction, available phosphoric acid, available potash, available lime and soluble salts, says Thornton.

Recommendations based upon the soil analysis and the information furnished the laboratory at the time the sample is sent in will be made and returned to the sender, says Thornton. Each soil sample sent to the laboratory should be accompanied by a completely filled in Form ST-2. These forms are available at your local county extension agent's office.

The sample submitted for testing must be truly representative of the area it is supposed to represent. If it is not a representative sample, says Thornton, the analysis and recommendations may be of little value to the sender of the sample. County agricultural agents can furnish complete information on how the samples should be taken so they will represent the area which is being tested.

Thornton says that at least two and possibly three weeks will be required to process, analyze and get a report back to the sender. He points out that samples should be sent to the laboratory well in advance of the date when recommendations will be needed for use in planning the planting and rotation systems for the farm or ranch. A good plan is to send in samples during the winter from land that will be planted to crops in the spring, in the spring for summer use and in the summer for fall use. By following such a procedure, he says the recommendations will be available in plenty of time for use in planning cropping and fertilizing operations.

Thornton says soil tests will not determine whether a plant died from root rot or some other disease; will not disclose the presence in the soil of nematodes, wire worms or other root destroying pests; will not determine other physical soil troubles unless caused by plant-food deficiency and will not determine physical characteristics of the soil nor determine plant troubles caused from drought, temperature extremes or drowning.

The information obtained from soil tests will aid in determining deficiencies of one or more plant nutrients; the need for lime or other soil amendments; in diagnosing certain plant deficiency diseases; in diagnosing certain soil abnormalities, such as salt spots and in determining toxic quantities of materials in the soil.

She said that she was just a little pebble on the beach of his life, so he asked her to be a little boulder.

BEAUTY

By MONA

Hi! Honey!
As you will remember, I was squaking last week about my sister-in-law who had humiliated me in front of a fastidious friend by saying to my face that my floors were as muddy as the Mississippi; I can just imagine what she said over the sour-grape vine behind my back. I vowed housekeeping vengeance, and panting to show her up as a shrew in whom kindness was not just dead, it was decomposed, I went to work with a will on my floors the very next day.

This is what I did: because strongly disinfected water ruins my manicure and gives me dish-pen hands (truth), I bought a pair of rubber gloves and for a fine massage thickly covered my hands with Lanolin before putting them on. For a cushion for my knees that prolonged kneeling reddens and swells, I took an old pillow and put it in a plastic pillowcase to keep it dry—now no more ache-y, ugly knees even after a couple of hours on them. As heavily chlorinated water bleaches my house dresses and stings the skin where it splashes, I decided to wear my plastic reducing suit and so saves my clothes, and, as it covers me from neck to ankles, is almost as healthy as a turkish bath. To prevent myself from being driven into a froth my wisps of hair falling into my eyes or tickling my nose whenever I bend over, I braided it tightly across my head. The small tug from braids or a bun will promote circulation of blood in the scalp, stimulating growth and also keeping the ends of the hair from splitting off or breaking. Finally, I slathered an emollient complexion cream on my face and throat so that when I flushed with exercise it would be as effective as a facial to help me put my best face forward. To complete this home beauty treatment, instead of slumping round-shoulderedly as a bumblebee, I worked in long, cat-like, stretching swipes in order to be more supple than I was when I had started.

When I had finished, I was waspishly pleased with myself, for my floors were as gleaming as hers, but better yet, this had been accomplished without my being aggravated into my usual frenzy. Now I no longer begrudge any scrubbing, for I'm not cleaning the house at my expense; I'm improving myself, for the harder that I work the nicer I'll look instead of it being the other way around! Since this happy discovery of "Beauty Through Housework" I've applied this principle to all of my duties, adding for example, such items as a turban of hot bath towels to steam oil into my scalp before a shampoo, or tying twine around my waist as a tight reminder to hold my tummy in. I had a friend who would put ten thimbles on her long nails to protect them from breaking. I tried it. Ugh! Some weeks ago I was pleased to see in a French movie, "Gigi", the heroine being told to put on cotton gloves before she shelled peas so that she wouldn't stain her fingers with vegetable dye.

Now these things that I have mentioned are just a few of many that you can easily do to beautify yourself. They don't take much time, cost little or nothing, make housework much pleasanter, and, wonderful, wonderful thought, will make you lovelier. This is the reason that I've no sympathy with any housewife when she wails how little time and/or money she has to take care of herself. She, too, probably has a sister-in-law that can "inspire" her.
"Bye, Honey, see you next week."
Mona.

Feeding Herd Now Will Pay Off In Spring

"Next spring's calf crop percentage will depend a lot on what's done this fall and winter with the brood herd," a timely editorial recently in "The Livestock Weekly" pointed out.

"There are too many beef herds that are hitting well below 50 per cent calf crops," the editorial added. "In most cases, a protein supplement will go a long way in balancing the ration of the wintering cow, and upping the calf crop."

Experimental evidence backs up this editorial advice. Many experiments show that each dollar spent for needed protein supplements returns two dollars in more and heavier calves.

California Experiment Station, in an 8-year experiment, found that feeding a winter supplement, mostly cottonseed meal or cake, reduced from 11 to 45 per cent more calves, and calves from cows fed the supplement weighed 21 to 36 pounds more.

The Nebraska Station doubled the calf crop percentage and increased weaning weights by 39 to 77 pounds per calf when cottonseed cake was fed as the winter supplement to prairie hay.

There is a good reason why such protein supplements as cottonseed meal, cake or pellets increase the number of calves and their weaning weights. Protein is essential for regular breeding, development of strong calves, and milk production. Excellent green pasture contains a lot of protein, but protein drops rapidly as grass matures. Mature

Physical Disability Only Reserve Excuse

Austin, Texas.—Physical disqualification is the only basis for exemption from active military service of members of the Army Organized Reserve Corps when called to active duty in time of national emergency. Colonel Oscar E. Abbott, Chief of the Texas Military District, stated here today.

However, delays may be authorized for compassionate or occupational reasons when applied for by the individual or, in case of occupational reasons, by the employer of the reservist.

Deferments, or delays for compassionate reasons, may be authorized by the Texas Military District headquarters up to a maximum of three months. Requests for deferment for a longer time must be forwarded on to higher authorities for final decision, Colonel Abbott explained.

When requested in writing by his employer, a reservist will receive consideration for deferment if his civilian occupation or activity is critically necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety or interest.

However, recall to active duty of a reservist engaged in a critical civilian occupation will not be delayed:

- (1) If there is need for him in a military assignment which will make full use of critical civilian skill.
 - (2) Unless the firm or agency by which employed is principally engaged in production of items or services obviously essential to national health, safety or interest.
 - (3) Unless urgency of the civil pursuit of the reservist outweighs the need of the armed forces for his services.
 - (4) Unless written request from the employer for delay to active duty of the reservist is submitted when the reservist is informed that he is to be ordered to extended active duty.
- The initial delay, if granted to reservists with critical skills and not considered immediately replaceable in the industry, will not exceed a period of six months. An extension of the delay may be authorized for a like per-led but will be subject to a more rigid application of above requirements.

In addition to delays that may be granted for compassionate and occupational reasons, graduates of the advanced course senior division Reserve Officers Training Corps and reservists enrolled in or who have been accepted for admission in recognized schools of medicine, including internship, theology or divinity, may be delayed in call to active duty until the end of the fall quarter or extend their college or university. Request for deferment based on occupational reasons must be initiated by the individual. Occupational reasons must be forwarded through reservists local Organized Reserve Corps Unit Commanders, local Unit Instructors if he is a member of an organized Reserve Corps Unit, or through Documentary evidence must accompany the request.

grasses usually contain only about one-third as much protein as they had when green. Then, supplemental protein is needed to maintain good performance in the herd and aid utilization of the available dry forage.
Best results are obtained when supplemental feeding starts early in the season. When cows lose weight they are drawing on their reserves and weight losses are costly to replace with later feeding. Cows that enter the more severe part of the winter in good flesh because of early supplemental feeding are easier to maintain and are usually in vigorous condition to calve and produce milk for the young calf.
As grasses become dry in the fall, start bred cows on 1/2 to 1 pound of cottonseed cake, per head daily. As winter progresses, increase the daily allowance to 1 to 2 pounds. After calving, feed 2 to 3 pounds, per head daily, to insure good milk production for the young calf and maintain good condition for prompt breeding when the bulls are turned into the pasture.
When plenty of dry grass is not available, some dry roughage or silage is needed. Under usual conditions, feed cows 5 to 10 pounds of dry roughage when grazing is short or weather is severe. When grazing is extremely short or when cattle are confined to lots in severe weather, feed 15 to 20 pounds of dry roughage or 40 to 50 pounds of silage. Cattle raisers in Cotton States find that cottonseed hulls are economical and easy to feed when dry roughage is needed.
A good mineral mixture is especially needed in fall and winter seasons because the phosphorus content of forage drops as it matures. During this season cottonseed meal or cake has added value because its high phosphorus content helps insure sufficient phosphorus consumption by cattle.

The story is told of a preacher who failed to show up at the regular service one Sunday morning recently. Several of his flock approached him on the matter during the following week. "Well," he said, "the reason I didn't appear in my pulpit is that I have as much right to fool you as you have to fool me. On a number of occasions you have been absent and have never called me up to tell me you were not going to be in church Sunday."
