Board Contracts To Buy School Building Site

The Board of Trustees of the Lockney Rural High School District entered into contract with two property owners Tuesday night to buy land on which the new school building will be constructed, school officials said Wednesday morning. The site is located directly west and across the street from the present high school building a part of which block the school already owns.

Contracts call for purchasing lots 11, 12 and 13 in block 2 of the Walling addition from C. H. Rose and lots 9 and 10 in the same block from E. D. Williams. The school owns the remainder of this block and has several houses and the band hall and agriculture building setting on it. It is possible that some of the buildings will be moved to make room for the school building, it was said.

The new building to house 10 class rooms, will face east. Paving already runs on the east and south side of the block, officials said. Plans as to the auditorium, funds for which were also provided in the bond issue voted recently, are still in the talking stage. Board members have talked of converting the present gymnasium into an auditorium and building a new gym on the north of the present high school building, but have settled on definite plans as yet. WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering"... but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences.

Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always to do two things. First, it does 4 to the wheel as you turn the wheel. Second, it does the amount of wheel turn needed by over 100 lbs.

Parking or cruising, you get more control than ever before. In sand, snow, the hydraulic power is always there to front wheels from "steering back" at you the same amount and feel of control all the full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in performance and in steering safety and control, are impossible to put in words... but just as impossible to feel the moment you get into a new car and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer do that, soon?

3rd-4th Lease Is Common Way Under Irrigation

College Station. — Although several types of leases are used for irrigated farms on the Texas High Plains, the third-and-fourth share agreement is by far the most common. Such arrangements call for payment of one-third of the grain and one-fourth of the cotton as rent.

A study of farm leases on irrigated farms of this area was recently completed by William G. Adams, sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Orel A. Parker, associate county agent, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Adams and Parker found that practically few straight cash leases—probably no more than 2 per cent. Share-cropping also is very limited.

The study shows that less than one per cent. of the total acreage in the area is under irrigation. The remainder is in the hands of the State and Federal governments for irrigation, little difference was noted between crop-share leases on irrigated land and dry land.

Capital investment items seldom are shared. It is a general practice for the landlord to furnish facilities which are not usually attached from the land, and the tenant supplies the more easily moved items.

Adams and Parker prepared a table of the most frequent arrangement of details for leases. However, they point out that custom is not a completely satisfactory basis for rental agreements. Every agreement should be worked out separately between the tenant and landlord, they emphasize.

One of the best tools for establishing a successful landlord-tenant rental agreement is a written lease form. Such a form would serve the land as a legal instrument, but as a basis for planning a farming program.

Results of this study are given in Progress Report 1434, available from the publications office, College Station, Texas.

Simplifying Cleaning Chores Saves Time

College Station. — Simplifying the cleaning task should appeal to all housewives. Florence Law, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says the best way to do any job is to use simple, easy, quick and safe methods. Take any one room in the house to start with, and do a little planning.

Write a list of all the jobs that need to be done in keeping the room clean. Decide which should be done daily, weekly, monthly or seasonally.

Mrs. Law suggests making a plan for one week. After it has been followed, carefully changes may be made if needed.

It has been found that every task has three parts. First comes planning the order of work and collecting tools and supplies. Next is doing the task. Here make every motion count by working from right to left, or from left to right if left-handed. Use circular motions and make both hands work. When through cleaning, put the tools and equipment back in the proper storage place.

For cleaning a room, Mrs. Law gives the following order of procedure. First brush the dust off the walls with a broom covered with a cloth bag. Next dust the shades and curtains, wash if needed.

After the dusting has been done, sweep the floor evenly in one direction. Keep the broom in the floor to prevent making too much dust. A dust pan, like a broom, needs a long handle to prevent stooping.

Dust woodwork and furniture with a duster that cloth. Make one this way: mix 1 tablespoon kerosene with 1 quart of hot water. Dip squares of clean soft cloth into this solution. Wring out, dry and store in a covered container. It is best to prepare several cloths at a time and remember they must be treated after each washing.

The last step is to mop the floor with a dust or a wet mop. Complete the cleaning of one room before starting another.

For more information on work simplification, Mrs. Law suggests you contact the local home demonstration agent and ask for C-202, Home Cleaning Made Easier.

Visitors are cordially welcomed to attend Stetson Worship and all the activities of the Trinity Church.

Plant Good Seed For Top Yields

College Station. — Farmers will want to use "every trick in the bag" to meet the production goals which have been set for 1936. The planting season is approaching in most sections of the state and farmers are reminded by L. C. Coffey, associate agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, that only top quality seed should be used for seeding the 1936 crops.

He points out that certified seed are usually the best seed of a particular variety available. These seed come from fields that have been inspected during the growing season, have been properly handled, stored in proper bins, cleaned, tested for purity and germination, and properly stored.

The blue tags attached to each sack of certified seed carry accurate information about the quality of the planting seed. Watch your expiration date.

These tags are issued by the State Department of Agriculture for use on seed which have met certain high standards of purity and germination. In 1935, blue tags were issued for 31 varieties of 25 different crops grown in Texas.

Although certified seed may cost slightly more than other seed, the added expense is offset by the assurance of purity, higher percentages of germination and varieties that are adapted to Texas conditions, says Coffey. Seed of questionable germination and purity may not be cheap at any price.

Coffey urges farmers to get the seed that will be needed for this year's crops now while supplies are adequate. Last minute seed shoppers may find the stocks depleted and this will be sure to plant whenever available. The use of poor quality planting seed may prove to be a year-long handicap in meeting production goals warns Coffey.

GOOD HEALTH

DO OLDER PEOPLE HAVE MORE COLDS THAN YOUNG PEOPLE?

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. With advancing years common colds become less frequent, but chronic bronchitis, asthma and pneumonia are more common and more serious. It is always a good idea to consult a physician about a heavy cold, because in their early stages many diseases resemble colds.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. Some persons are born with flat feet. Others acquire them because of toeing out, improper shoes or lack of exercise for the feet muscles. Special exercises or shoes are often prescribed by physicians to help this condition.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. The bite of the wood tick may cause an infectious disease that has been named "Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever" in the western part of the United States. Recently a similar fever has been found in the eastern portion of the United States and is transmitted by the bite of the dog tick. A vaccine for both types of fever has been developed and the use of antibiotics is effecting cures.

EDITORIAL

The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.—Psalms 51:17.

Lockney merchants ought to be more careful of the way they spend their advertising money. Sometimes something sold as advertising turns up to be close kin to fraud. Such was the case last week when a woman came around selling advertisements in a song book which she said was going to be given to the Methodist Churches at Aiken and Sterley. As it turned out, the church didn't give the lady permission to use its name and they do not want the song books. And in addition to that the lady will derive between $1.50 and $2.00 per book from the advertising revenue while the books could be bought for around 25 cents each.

Charlie Andrews, a member of the Aiken Church, says that the church members select and buy the song books they want and it is a much better book than the one the lady was showing. Therefore the church would have no use for the books. The lady, in selling her advertisements, inferred that she lived at Aiken, which she doesn't and she also inferred that she had permission of the church to use its name in soliciting the ads, which she didn't.

This is just another promotion job wherein someone makes a good wad of dough out of one day's work and then moves on to another field to reap another harvest. Lockney merchants need to use some organization to investigate such rackets and thus protect themselves against fraud.

We are very much in favor of Gov. Allan Shivers suggestion that Texas use the preferential ballot in Texas to give the people a stronger voice in selecting presidential candidates. This was the method used last week in New Hampshire in which votes were cast for various announced candidates with the electors of the state bound to support the candidate receiving the majority of votes.

The precinct, county and state Democratic convention method of selecting presidential candidates is weak because of the very few people who participate in it. In all the county and precinct conventions that we have attended we would estimate that not more than one per cent of the qualified voters of the precinct or county participated. Yet it is these bodies who express the will of the people concerning the President of the United States.

The preferential primary is an expression of the will of the people and that is democracy. Under the present system, it is not the will of the people so much that counts as it is the will of the men who manage affairs at the conventions and engage in the "behind-the-scenes" maneuvering to win votes for their candidate. We believe that most citizens of this country are thoroughly and completely fed up with political maneuvering of any kind.

The fact that people are fed up with politics and politicians who place their own well-fare above that of their country is going to result in some upsets in races this year. The Connally-Daniels race is an indication of this. Other men in Washington who have strong opponents are in for the same trouble. When affairs get so bad a feeling of "throw the rascals out" sweeps the nation and a lot of new faces appear on the scenes there. We predict that this is one of those years.

We hope that every citizen who is interested in the welfare of his country will plan now to attend the precinct convention of the Democratic party as well as the county convention. That's one way to let your voice be heard.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Washington observers comment on the current drive to get a review of the army court martial action that sentenced a 20 year old wounded Korea veteran to 10 years of prison for falling asleep on a guard post.

It's a good thing many Congressmen are not in uniform, or they'd all be in prison for falling asleep.

Prompting this remark are the further developments resulting from the disclosure by Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan that Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, has set up a world-wide monopoly controlling raw materials usage.

Recently this column reported Sen. Ferguson's findings that copper shortage causing mass unemployment in Detroit is due to this international control. In his report, he stated that Acheson set up the International Materials Conference which is in reality a monopoly controlling raw materials. He found that any American firm paying 2 1/2 cents for copper would be prosecuted, yet American tax dollars are being given to foreign nations to buy copper at prices as high as 30 cents per pound.

Immediately after this disclosure, it was revealed that the MSA, the Marshall Plan under a new name, had just granted another $800,000 worth of copper to France; the metal being shipped from presumably copper-short U. S.

And then came more facts on the scandal concerning the International Materials Conference.

(National Federation of Independent Business)

When Congress voted for the Defense Production Act, the legislators let a "joker" slip by that would permit Acheson to take such action. At least, that has been the interpretation of the law.

It is now learned that this cozy arrangement was arrived at over a year ago between the U.S. State Department, England and France.

Newsprint, lead, zinc, cotton, wool and manganese are also included in the list of materials now being controlled for the benefit of world monopolies.

Acheson had one major problem to solve, and that was getting control of lead and zinc.

But that problem was easily solved, because the Office of Price Stabilization, better known as OPS, or Office Plenty Screw, was just champing at the bit for something to do.

The Office Plenty Screw wrote another order setting the price that U. S. firms could pay for lead and zinc below the prevailing world price.

And of course, the order provided severe penalties for any U. S. firm that pays more for needed lead and zinc. Then to round out the picture, the MSA, or Marshall Plan under a new name, makes it possible for foreign nations to use American dollars to purchase the metals at any price.

It required weeks of investigation for these facts to be uncovered.

With elections staring them in the face, many Congressmen would have been happier if the facts had not been dug up because constituents are clamoring.

numbered tags?" She informed him that she was and asked if he'd like a set. "Nope," he replied. "I'll wait till you start giving out some high-numbered jobs. Long numbers are harder for 'em to remember." The man didn't elaborate on who "em" is — The Slaton Slatonite.

A DRAFT THAT'S HEALTHY!

Do you force your children to sleep in a room with closed windows because you believe a "draft" causes the common cold? Do you avoid walking in the rain, wet socks and night air for the same reason?

Probably. Half the American population has suffocated itself on the theory that "air in motion" is unhealthy instead of one of Nature's great purifiers.

Now comes a report from the British Medical Research Council which says that you can sit all day in cold drafts, exercise in the rain and wear slobby shoes if you like. It "won't" make you one bit more liable to catch the common cold.

Our advice is to file these practices under the head of ancient superstition and go ahead and enjoy yourself. — Ralls Banner.

NEWS RELEASES

We are trying to figure out why information that is considered a "news release" (that means published for free) in our well-read little weekly news sheets is worth the price of a paid advertisement in a big daily paper. Our desk — and subsequently our oversized trash basket — is full of just such information. This little gripe will perhaps not interest many of our readers, but that's one big reason why postal charges were recently increased and the postoffice department is still operating at a loss. Every week our office is flooded with "news releases" which are purely and simply plugs for some kind of business, and if worth publishing should be worth paying for. And it requires hours of a postal clerk's time to work such matter. We always open the envelope hopefully, because there might be an advertisement order in it—but no, not for a little weekly. The money goes to town,—for us, not even a free sample. — Quitaque Post.

This week Miss Vera Smith, a Lone Star girl, leads in the piano contest that is being sponsored by the Beacon office.

The Lockney Airdome moved into their winter quarters one day last week. The management is giving the public some good pictures and interesting programs.

September 20th the pool hall closed its doors in Lockney in obedience to the verdict of the people, expressed at the polls several weeks ago.

May 28, 1920
J. J. Harris bought the home place of G. F. Rigdon this week for $100 an acre. The place contains 137 acres and joins the town section. Mr. Harris comes to Lockney from Scurry county.

Watt Griffith announces this week that he will run for the office of tax collector and sheriff of Floyd county. Mr. Griffith was reared in Floyd county.

Wednesday of this week the Lockney country received another fine rain amounting to at least two inches.

Monday at noon W. N. Brown, president of the Lockney State Bank, suffered a small loss by fire at his residence. The fire occurred in the kitchen and burned all the paper off the walls.

With Our EXCHANGES

A LOT OF WATER

Don't take our word for it, but there is a lot of water being pumped out from under these old Plains. Hugh Nelson did the figuring on this one, with results that resemble the national debt. At last official count there were 15,000 irrigation wells on the high plains. Taking a conservative estimate of a 600-gallon average for all the wells, that means they pump 9,000,000 gallons per minute or 540,000,000 gallons per hour. In just one 24-hour period, they will lift 12,960,000,000 gallons of water out of the ground. The average irrigation well is in operation about three months of the year. This means the irrigation wells take out of the ground a conservative estimate of 1,166,400,000,000 gallons per year. In case you can't read that figure its one trillion, 166 billion, 400 million, or about four times the national debt. Any way you put it, however, that's a lot of water. — Crosbyton Review.

WONDER WHO "EM" IS

Mrs. F. P. Drewry, deputy tax collector, is used to people asking for license tags with special numbers. Especially this year, her office, which recently began selling 1952 tags, has been issuing the lower numbered tags first, some of them two-numbered models. She says sales are going at a good clip because of the easy-to-remember plates. Tuesday, though, Mrs. Drewry was conversing at the post office with a man who inquired of her, "Still passing out those low-

Worm Of Scalp Increase

Ringworm of the scalp appears to be increasing in sections of Texas, and under way to contain it. In medical circles as "pityriasis" ringworm of the scalp is said to be prevalent in Grande Valley, Houston, San Antonio, and Dallas. Reports from the Department of Health specialists in those areas are seeing increasing numbers of affected children. A preliminary study conducted by the state health agency on 31 children in two Rio Grande Valley schools shows 5.5 percent positive infections, in the Rio Grande Valley and 5.7 percent in the Rio Grande Valley. Positively infected children numbered the boys four, although there were more girls. The study showed that ringworm is contagious. Children most often afflicted are adults, while less than 1 percent of children have ringworm and longer lasting infections. Ringworm is marked by round, red patches on the scalp, and is caused by a fungus. It is caused by a fungus-like growth spores. Sources of infection are scalp infected persons, articles containing the fungus, or an infected person. Health Officer Geo. W. Roberson says that in cooperation with the skin society of the Texas Association, and the Texas Association of Barber and Cosmetologists, is rewriting the regulations governing the regulation of beauty and hair salons after they hope to get legislation to provide penalties for non-compliance. No immunization against ringworm. Recommended measures are cleanliness of scalp, and separate isolation for suspicious cases. Infected children excluded from school until condition is cleared up, he believes.

How To Use A Dress Pattern

College Station. — Since the spring sewing season is just around the corner, tips on how to use a pattern are given by Nena Roberson, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First take the pattern from the envelope and identify each piece. If there is a piece or two that you will not need in making a particular dress, put them back into the envelope, says the specialist, so they'll be out of the way.

It is very important, Miss Roberson says that you read carefully the instruction sheet. It will help you understand the pattern. Study the diagrams on the instruction sheet of how to place the pieces of a pattern on the material in relation to size, width of material and style of garment. Select the layout you will use and encircle it with a pencil for reference.

Every piece of material has a lengthwise and crosswise grain. Before placing the pattern for cutting, fold the material, right sides together, lengthwise with selvages even, says the specialist, then lay the folded material on a table. If the crosswise yarns are not parallel, stretch in place by pulling carefully on the true bias. Now place the pattern on the material, following the layout selected, and pin it in place, says Miss Roberson. Pin on the grainline toward the edge of the pattern and pin near edges and corners by placing pins at right angles to the edge of the pattern.

Miss Roberson says when the pattern is pinned securely, you're ready to cut out the garment and suggests that a pair of good sharp shears be used for this job.

Insect Control Is Important To Farmer

College Station. — High acre yields, efficiently produced, determine the profit from growing cotton. One of the more important determining factors in high cotton yields is keeping the damage caused by insects to a minimum. Another mighty important item is the weather but man has been unable to do much about solving this problem. He can however, through the use of the right insecticides at the right time materially increase the production of quality cotton.

It is not too early to make plans now for carrying the fight to the cotton insects, says A. C. Gunter, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He suggests that every cotton producer in Texas obtain a copy of C-182, "1952 Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects in Texas," from his local county agent's office.

The recommended control program for 1952 is divided into three phases; early season control, late season control, based on actual infestation and early stalk destruction and farm clean-up, says Gunter.

Right now, the specialist says is the time to get the spraying or dusting equipment repaired and ready for use. Labor is expected to be in short supply when the heavy work season arrives and unless everything is in readiness, valuable time may be lost getting equipment ready for fighting the bugs. Time is on the side of the bugs, adds the specialist and unless cotton producers get in the first "lick," the job of controlling the harmful insects is made more difficult and expensive.

Cotton Burrs May Be Returned To Land

Austin. — The State Department of Agriculture has lifted the ban on returning cotton burrs to the land in 42 counties of West Texas.

In revoking the regulation under which burrs have been burned as "gin trash," Agricultural Commissioner John C. White stated: "These counties in West Texas are only lightly infested with the cotton pink bollworm, and we feel that the cotton burr can be returned to the land without danger of spreading pink bollworm infestation."

"Lifting the ban on return of the cotton burr to the land in West Texas does not mean, of course, that the quarantine itself is lifted. Other quarantine regulations will remain in effect. It does mean, however, that since there is little likelihood that it will cause pink bollworm infestation to spread at this time, the grower can put the burr to profitable use on his land."

"The growers of West Texas have been anxious to return the burr to the soil for its important organic and fertilizing effect. During the drought the burrs also will help prevent soil erosion from blowing."

Commissioner White made his announcement after conferring in Lubbock for two days with cotton growers, ginners and oil millers of West Texas. Counties released include Gray, Hall, Childress, Hardeman, Foard, Wilbarger, Wichita, Motley, Cottle, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Kent, King, Knox, Baylor, Archer, Yoakum, and Terry.

Also Lynn, Garza, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Young, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Stephens, Donley, Collingsworth and Wheeler.

The Highway Department's first project was Texas' portion of U. S. Highway 80, known as the Bankhead Highway, which enters Texas at Marshall and exits at El Paso.

Bank Gains In Size Standing

New York, N. Y. — The First National Bank of Floydada, which reported deposits of $7,867,422 on December 31, gained 452 places in its standing among the 2,500 largest banks in the United States during 1951, and now ranks as the 2136th largest in size compared with 2,888th place at the end of 1950.

This is revealed in the 1952 annual roll call of the larger banks in the United States published today — March 10 — by the Daily American Bank of New York, which is the trade newspaper of the banking business.

Floydada 'Cowhide Artist' Shows Work At Waldorf-Astoria

Floydada — Joe Dick Moore, the Floydada man who does wonders with cowhide, is showing his work at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City and is scheduled to make several television appearances there.

Moore, who makes life-sized likenesses of people or animals out of leather, has just completed a display of his work in the Shamrock Hotel in Houston. While there, he posed with Cowboy Movie Star Roy Rogers and a leather likeness of the star.

The Floydada youth can take a piece of cowhide and "draw" a figure that is lifelike down to the minutest detail. The figure of Rogers, for example, was made from one piece of leather, and was so real that the casual observers would think such things as the belt, boots and hat were of other pieces.

Working On 'Masterpiece'

Only one thing worrying Moore to date — no sales. He's hoping his New York showing and television appearances will remedy that but, if not, he plans to go to the West Coast, where the "real market" lies.

Moore first tried to get his work displayed at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth. Failing there, he moved on to the Shamrock at Houston for the Palomino Show. He worked the deal and television programs, newspaper stories and pictures followed. An agent contracted him about the trip to New York. So, he's gone there now and hoping for sales.

A picture in leather of the Crucifixion of Christ is what Moore considers his masterpiece. To be 12 feet high with the Three Marys and the disciple, John, Kneeling at the Cross, this leather "drawing" now is in the making. Some of his other work includes such western scenes as calf roping, bronc riding and others in a similar vein.

Vets Responsible For Home Loans Even When Sold

Veterans who sell their homes and let the purchasers assume the 4 per cent GI loans remain personally responsible for the payment of the loan, Veterans Administration warned today.

VA said World War II veterans should not sell their property without making certain that their interests are protected. The best way to do that, VA stated, is to have the purchaser pay cash or arrange a loan in his own name.

VA points out that property is more easily sold with the favorable 4 per cent GI mortgage remaining in effect — a factor that should influence the selling price.

However, a veteran selling his property with the GI loan intact runs the risk of later having to pay all or part of the debt resulting from a default by the new owner.

Should the new owner of the property fail to keep up the mortgage payments, the holder of the GI mortgage can foreclose.

When the proceeds of the sale resulting from the foreclosure do not cover the amount of the GI loan outstanding, the difference may remain a debt against the veteran. The VA has to pay the holder of the mortgage for the guaranteed portion of the debt. The veteran will then owe the government the next amount of that payment, plus interest.

In many areas throughout the country, foreclosure may take place without notice being given directly to the original veteran-borrower (for example, foreclosure by publication) even though the veteran remains liable for the debt.

For this reason, the veteran is urged to keep the holder of the GI mortgage and the Veterans Administration advised of any change of his address. He should also request the lender to notify him if the new owner defaults.

VA, when notified of property sales and of any change of address, will inform the veteran when it learns that the loan is in serious default or in danger of foreclosure. The veteran can then contact the holder of the GI mortgage and the owner of the property to protect his interest. In many instances, the veteran might be able to obtain title back from the owner and either sell the property to cover the unpaid balances or rent the property for enough to keep the loan current.

Veterans faced with the problem of foreclosure on property they have sold with the GI mortgage in effect can obtain assistance and advice from their nearest Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Rev. Pickens Makes Statement

Rev. Chas. Y. Pickens, pastor of the Methodist Churches at Aiken and Sterley, has asked The Beacon to publish the following statement regarding the unauthorized solicitation of advertising on song books in this area last week:

"There was a misunderstanding in regard to the gift of song books to the Aiken and Sterley Methodist churches made by the Goodwill Advertising represented by W. D. Stephenson, 1610 Avenue Y, Lubbock, Texas. I would like to clarify this with the business people of this area. I did not authorize the use of the churches' names in soliciting the funds for either of them. It brings a reflection on both churches as well. I said we would accept the free gift of the books, but certainly not as was carried out at the business houses' expense. I am certainly opposed to underhanded methods of solicitation. Our church is not responsible for this action. If anyone is to blame, it is I, the pastor. Nothing was said as I recall as to any type of solicitation to be in this area or any other area. I regret very much the whole procedure and will do all I can personally to correct the mistake.
