HUGGINS TO RETURN AS EDITOR

Beacon Changes Ownership

John Carroll, 31, of Del Rio has become the new publisher of the Floyd County Hesperian and the Lockney Beacon, former publisher and owner Wendell Tooley announced this week.

Tooley, who moved to Tulia in January after purchasing the Tulia Herald, announced the sale of the two newspapers to Carroll and his associates.

Carroll also will serve as editor of the Floyd County Hesperian.

Jim Huggins, who has been filling in as editor in Floydada, will return as editor at Lockney where he has been for the past five years.

Tooley, who has owned the Hesperian since 1962, said that he is certain that Floyd County people will be very happy with the new ownership of the newspapers.

Carroll is a native of San Antonio and has been on the editorial staff of the Del Rio News-Herald for the past year.

Also involved in the new ownership of the newspapers are J. Tom Graham, publisher of the Del Rio News-Herald, and Austin businessmen Jack Crosby and Frank Krasovec.

"For many years, Mr. Tooley has published newspapers which have served Floyd County very well," said Carroll. "We plan to continue this fine tradition of community newspapering, and we wish Mr. Tooley the best in his new enterprise."

Carroll said that there will be no major changes in the newspaper and that the staffs of both the Hesperian and the Beacon will continue as before.

"I have been very impressed with the friendliness of the people of Floyd County, and I am delighted to be a part of this progressive community," Carroll said.

Carroll grew up in San Antonio, Virginia, and Houston. He entered the U. S. Marine Corps in 1965 and served more than a year in Vietnam as an infantry squad leader.

He is a holder of the Purple Heart for a wound received on the DMZ on the Fourth of July, 1967.

Carroll is a journalism graduate of the University of Houston, and he had performed many various duties for the Del Rio newspaper, including a recent series on the dormant natural gas fields around Sonora which received national attention.

He was a winner in last year's Associated Press Managing Editor's competition for daily newspapers in the news writing category.

His wife, Pamela, was raised in north New Mexico around the Farmington and Four Corners areas. She is an artist with an emphasis in textile and fiber art and has gained recognition in Del Rio for her dress designs.

Carroll began his duties as publisher on Tuesday. His wife will join him in Floydada within the next few weeks.

Huggins will return as editor on the Lockney Beacon on July 9.

Jim Reynolds Bids Goodbye To Lockney

Dear Friends:

During the five months we were associated with the two Floyd County newspapers, it was a sincere pleasure to renew so many friendships.

Our thanks to each of you for your help and support. Also, a special thanks to Jim and Edith at The Beacon and to The Hesperian and Blanco Offset crews for their cooperation and friendship.

We ask your continued support of the new ownership. Our best wishes go to these people and to Wendell and Mary Tom at Tulia.

Continued good wishes to each of you. We have twice enjoyed working with the good people of Lockney and Floyd County. Maybe we will again have that opportunity at some time in the future.

Warmest personal regards,
 Jim and Beth Reynolds

Clinic Expansion Date Comes Closer With Approval Of Application

In a hearing conducted Thursday in Austin, the Texas Health Facilities Commission approved the application of Lockney General Hospital District to build onto and remodel the clinic wing. Blueprints for the proposed $150,000 addition are now being studied in the office of the consulting architect in the Texas Department of Health, life safety code division. Conforming the new addition's blueprints to life safety codes must be done to keep the hospital's winning runs on base when the last out was called.

Joe Hayes was coach of the winning team. The championship trophy will be given to the team sponsor, First National Bank.

Junior Brotherton and Bobby Spencer were coaches of Tye Company.

Tye Company went three-fourths of the season without a loss, but the "bad-news bankers" improved as the season progressed. Both teams had identical won-loss records of 4-2, and Tye won the first-place position in the play-offs by the toss of a coin. First National took the championship by winning two straight games over Tye.

Members of all four Little League teams and their families had a swimming party Tuesday night in Lockney pool.

Mexican Baptist Convention Draws Lockney Residents

Members of both of Lockney's Spanish Baptist churches went to Lubbock June 24-27 for the annual Mexican Baptist Convention of Texas.

The Lockney people participated in meetings of the Sunday School, Brotherhood, Woman's Missionary Union, pastors, youth and other church groups, and also heard inspirational messages and special music.

Primera Iglesia Bautista members attending the convention included Juan Morales, Julia Perez, Romanita Castro, Dominga Morales, Simona Blanco, Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, Ester, Glenn, Joe and Orfa Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Castille and Cheryl, Monica Castro and Richard, Nora Castille, Noe Blanco, Pedro Del Toro, Mr. and Mrs. Chavita and family, Mr. and Mrs. Migel Padilla and possibly others.

Among those members of Templo Bautista Salem going to the Lubbock meetings were Rev. and Mrs. Manuel Alaniz, Doreen, Julie and Oseas Alaniz, Simona and Ruth Blanco, Sammy and Tommy Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Silva, Linda and Phyllis Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Rodolfo Blanco, Socorro Roagli.

Senior Citizens Set Meeting

Lockney Senior Citizens will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church.

SUMMER CARE FOR WINTER WOOLS

You can keep your home from turning into a summer haven for moths without spending a fortune on dry cleaning and mothproofing.

With wool clothes that are very soiled, you have no choice; they must be dry cleaned professionally, preferably by a cleaner who mothproofs for no extra charge. But woollens that haven't been worn very often and have just a spot or two don't have to go to the cleaners. You can save money by spot-cleaning these and other dry-cleanables with K2r Spot-lifter. Just apply spot-lifter to the soiled area, let dry to a fine white powder, and then brush the powder—and the soil—away.

Then all you have to do is arm yourself with a few cans of moth balls or flakes. Hang the moth repellent as high as you can in a clean closet, since the vapor will descend, not rise. Store your woollens below the moth repellent, and close the closet as tightly as possible. Don't open the closet until autumn.

When you're again ready to wear your woollens, fluff them in the dryer (without heat) for a few minutes, and they'll come out perky and fresh.

Food takes a smaller part of disposable income in the U.S. than it does in other countries, even though food prices rose about eight percent during 1978, reports a foods and nutrition specialist, Mary K. Sweeten, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

TAMMY SUE BEADLES of Levelland and Daniel Edwin Wilson of Lubbock plan to marry Aug. 10 in Fairview Baptist Church of Levelland. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. W. O. Beadles of Levelland and the late Mr. Beadles. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Wilson of Lockney. Miss Beadles is a graduate of Levelland High School and is employed as a secretary with the public schools there. Wilson was graduated from Lockney High School and attended South Plains College. He is employed in Lubbock as a diesel mechanic with Plains Truck Center.

Elizabeth Farris On TCU Dean's List

In recognition of high scholastic achievement, Anne Elizabeth Farris has been named to the Dean's Honor List of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, as a Fine Arts Scholar, School of Fine Arts.

Miss Farris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Kinder Farris, Floydada, had a 3.65 GPA for the spring semester, 1979. She is a senior student, majoring in Speech Communications and Fashion Merchandising, and a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

Gift Shower Fetes
Teresa Duvall

Friends and relatives of Miss Teresa Duvall of Lockney and Mr. Ronnie Lawson of Dimmitt presented them with wedding gifts during a shower held June 23 in the Lockney home of Mrs. Jack Frizzell.

The Duvall-Lawson wedding is calendared for July 21.

The engaged couple's mothers, Mrs. Tom Duvall of Lockney and Mrs. Bennett Lawson of Hamilton, assisted Miss Duvall in greeting shower guests. Miss Duvall and the mothers wore corsages of daisies and gypsophylla tied with apricot satin.

Special guests were the bride-elect's sisters, Mrs. Frank Savage of Lubbock and Mrs. Robert McCrary of Andrews, and the prospective groom's sister, Mrs.

Howard Lerman of Rockwall.

A floor-length apricot cloth, edged in lace and overtable, centerpiece was a silver compote filled with daisies. A silver service was used by Christy Hulcy and Kathy McCarty in serving punch and cookies.

Summer Cosmetics Tips

"It's not the heat, it's the humidity," say the experts.

Whenever you find that either the blazing sun or the dense moisture make you feel as though you're in a steam bath with your clothes on, you might want to plunge into an icy stream.

Since icy streams are rarely available when you most need them, Dordie Lamphier, director of cosmetics products for a large firm, suggests 10 ways to cool down and freshen up when the mercury is climbing.

"A light flowery or green fragrance can make you feel cooler," says Lamphier.

"Spray a bit of cologne on an artificial flower and pin it to your hair. This will also help keep straggly hair off your face. Another way to give the illusion of being in a field of wildflowers while you're actually on a stuffy commuter bus or train is to dab some scent on a cotton ball and tuck it in your handbag."

Oily complexions tend to become oilier still in hot weather, so it may be necessary to switch to a concentrated astringent such as Extra Toning Lotion, Lamphier advises. "Keep astringent and skin fresheners in the refrigerator at home and keep an extra bottle at the office with cotton balls for a quick blotting. If you press (not rub) moistened cotton on nose, forehead and chin, you can remove oil without disturbing your makeup."

Powder helps minimize the shine on your nose. A translucent powder in a compact can be applied in the morning to set makeup and whenever you freshen up with astringent. Powder blusher rather than cream blusher is another useful product in warm weather. To simulate a touch of sunburn when you've been at the beach, powder away and over-brush with a butter-fly powder. Evaluate your makeup products as much as you evaluate your wardrobe. Eye pencils may be better than eye liners. Cream-based eye pencils can be smudged to give just a hint of color. Avoid cream-based eye pencils. Cream-based eye pencils are more likely to smudge than eye liners. Cream-based eye pencils are more likely to smudge than eye liners.

Correct amount of when filling jars. Do not time to "knife" before seal.

10. Don't reuse jars in which commercial foods are sold. These jars are designed for use on high speed packing machines and with caps developed especially for that product, but not for home canning.

11. Don't use warped, rusty worn bands, or old commercial caps.

12. Don't reuse lids. The lid of a two-piece metal cap should not be used more than once. This applies to all brands.

13. Don't use old jar lids. If jar lids are old, the sealing compound may harden and not soften sufficiently to obtain a good seal.

As long as the sealing compound is resilient when mashed with the fingernail, the lid will probably seal. It is preferable to use jar lids the same year as purchased.

When kept longer, they often stick together and must

DON'T SEAL

Failures in home canning result from some mistakes. Avoid them by following these instructions:

1. Don't take it for granted that all home jars are alike and exactly the same.

2. Don't reuse jars in which commercial foods are sold. These jars are designed for use on high speed packing machines and with caps developed especially for that product, but not for home canning.

3. Don't use warped, rusty worn bands, or old commercial caps.

4. Don't reuse lids. The lid of a two-piece metal cap should not be used more than once. This applies to all brands.

5. The compound is not guaranteed to seal a second time and the lid itself is often bent or warped when removed the first time.

6. Don't use old jar lids. If jar lids are old, the sealing compound may harden and not soften sufficiently to obtain a good seal.

7. As long as the sealing compound is resilient when mashed with the fingernail, the lid will probably seal. It is preferable to use jar lids the same year as purchased.

steam pressure in the canner.
As a result, some lids may seal while others in the same canner load may not.
9. Don't let pressure in canner fluctuate. This can cause food particles to be forced between jar and lid which will cause sealing failure.
The same thing may happen if steam is released too quickly after processing. Let pressure in canner reach zero degrees naturally before removing cover. Do not run cold water over canner to reduce pressure.

10. Don't reuse jars in which commercial foods are sold. These jars are designed for use on high speed packing machines and with caps developed especially for that product, but not for home canning.
11. Don't use warped, rusty worn bands, or old commercial caps.

The compound is not guaranteed to seal a second time and the lid itself is often bent or warped when removed the first time.
13. Don't use old jar lids. If jar lids are old, the sealing compound may harden and not soften sufficiently to obtain a good seal.
As long as the sealing compound is resilient when mashed with the fingernail, the lid will probably seal. It is preferable to use jar lids the same year as purchased. When kept longer, they often stick together and must be heated in boiling water to separate them.

If jars do not seal, you may reheat and process over again.
However, the product will be over-cooked and lose food value, flavor and texture.

EYE ON SAFETY

Safe Sports

In sports, keeping your eye on the ball — which could be traveling at speeds of over 100 mph — should include keeping the ball off your eye. Eye injuries among tennis, squash and paddle ball players are increasing, but most of the 36,000 sports-related injuries last year could have been prevented.

Ducking faster isn't the answer. Special protective eye-wear could be. Eyeguards or safety "specs" are inexpensive and available at many sporting goods or hardware stores. They may not only save your sight, but can also improve your game, since properly protected players may overcome the subconscious fear of catching a ball or racquet in the eye.
For a free booklet on eye safety, write your state Prevent Blindness Society, or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

South Plains News

South Plains - June 2-Monday the weather was beautiful again, but Saturday there was much destruction from the storm which swept through our vicinity. The area hardest hit was the Cedar Hill area near the Silverton Highway, where the gin and a barracks was destroyed. A vegetable shed at the J. D. Busby vegetable farm was badly damaged and torn from its moorings. Crops were damaged, and yet, we are so thankful no one was hurt in the storm. The fields at Sterley were badly hit by the winds and rain, and most farmers are having to replant.

Happy birthday greetings go to Mrs. Lois Lyons who has a birthday July 1; Sandy Powell, July 4; Breck Stapleton, June 5; Nathan Johnson, July 8; C. V. Blake, July 13; Kristi Julian, July 15; Kendis Julian, July 18; and Troy Dee Johnson July 20. Anniversaries celebrated this month in South Plains are those of Mr. and Mrs.

Harold Hamm, July 3; Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Powell, July 4; Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Powell, July 10; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mulder, July 14; and Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Cummings, July 2. We wish them all a very happy day and much happiness in the future.

Reverend and Mrs. H. S. Calahan Jr. have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Carl Smith, in Floydada, and are visiting his relatives, the Calahan families of the vicinity. We understand they will spend their summer vacation here with their folks. Rev. Calahan will go back and forth to Houston for therapy on his knee, which he broke in a bicycle accident which occurred some months back. They were in Georgia at the time. They have been appointed missionaries to Liberia and will be going there sometime in September, if his knee gets well by then.

Last Wednesday evening at the South Plains Baptist Church A. C. Sharbutt of Denver brought the Wednesday prayer meeting sermon. His wife Karen led the singing, and their son Al played the piano for the services. The Sharbutts were visiting here from Denver Colorado, with Rev. and Mrs. Fred Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chappell from Duncan, Oklahoma, were here visiting her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr. and his parents, the O.A. Chappells week before last. Jerry helped his father in the wheat harvest, and they attended Jerry's grandfather's funeral services which were held in Crosbyton. Mr. Chappell died Monday June 18 and was buried Wednesday June 20. Darla was a visitor at the Baptist Church with her parents Sunday morning June 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr. visited her uncle, Rufus Young in Plainview Sunday after morning church services. Mr. Young has been in Central Plains Hospital for three weeks. We hope to hear he is better. The Fred Blakes had as return guests in their home, from Monday to Friday, their daughter and family, A. C. Sharbutt, Karen, Al and Kandy Sharbutt from Denver, Colorado. The Shar-butts went to Levelland to attend the Ballow family reunion, and expected to return home Tuesday July 3. Also visiting in the Blake home over the weekend were Mike and Sherri Bolding from Fayetteville, Arkansas. The Blakes took them to Rails Tuesday where they met their grandparents the Boldings from Lubbock, who were enroute to the Bolding reunion in Winfield. The Blake's daughter and son-in-law, Barbara and J. T. Bolding will meet their children and other relatives in Winfield for a short visit before returning to Fayetteville, Arkansas. Atha Blake is spending the summer in the Bolding home in Fayetteville. She is a sophomore at Wayland College in Plainview.

They are cutting wheat in our community, and most of the grain is turning out very good.

IF SMALL-FRY GIVES THEM THAT MUCH TROUBLE--

---Perryton Herald

Nader's Machine

As we watch the results of the last decade's proliferation of government regulation, we are gradually realizing that the regulatory burden hurts small firms worse than big ones. Now we are learning that in terms of this effect, small firms may include members of our 10 largest industrials.

The woes of Chrysler Corp., the nation's tenth-largest industrial company, are by now well advertised. As part of the effort to understand its predicament, Chrysler started to wonder about the relative competitive burdens of the auto industry's safety, pollution and energy regulation. It hired Boston's H.C. Wainwright & Co., which has now produced a study authored by Kenneth W. Clarkson, Charles W. Kadlec and Arthur B. Laffer. The Wainwright report concludes not only that the regulations are a disproportionate burden on Chrysler, but that the escalating burden between now and 1985 may drive it right out of the auto business.

The auto industry is of course difficult competitive ground. General Motors is the nation's largest company, and Ford is third. Since Ralph Nader's debut as a public figure, the industry has also become among the most heavily regulated. There are now 40 safety standards alone. The air pollution concern gave us the catalytic converter, and the energy crunch gave us the mileage standards. Complying with these standards has been a man-sized job even for the auto giants.

These ambitious performance standards mandate huge research and engineering costs, which are basically the same for big companies and small ones. When it comes to recovering these costs by increasing auto prices, though, companies with big production runs have a huge advantage. They can spread the fixed costs over many more units, recovering the added costs with relatively modest price increases. A smaller producer needs larger per-auto boosts to cover the costs, and is faced with the choice of swallowing part of the cost or posting prices above those of its larger competitor.

Beyond that, the resources of a smaller competitor are diverted away from their logical strategic uses. If all autos were standardized, there is no doubt that GM could use its economies of scale to produce cheaper than anyone else. Smaller firms have to carve out a niche on the basis of styling, engineering or some other advantage. A huge burden of regulation makes them play the big company's game.

The Wainwright report tries to quantify these effects. In particular, it tries to measure how rates of return for the various auto makers will be affected by the new regulations already scheduled to go into effect. The final stages of both emission standards and mileage standards take effect between now and 1985. The regulations hurt all of the companies, but they hurt the smallest worst.

Chrysler shows negative rates of return and "may not be able to survive as a full-line auto manufacturer." American Motors "likely will not continue as a producer of domestic automobiles." The estimates on the nation's third largest company are particularly interesting: "Ford's viability as a full-time auto manufacturer also will be impaired. The company's domestic operations may well become unprofitable, with its profitable foreign operations providing most of the financial resources required to attain compliance with the various U.S. standards. That too is an untenable position in the long run."

We would guess that Ralph Nader is unperturbed by the monopoly machine created by the burst of regulation he spearheaded; when GM becomes the only remaining auto maker, he will be delighted to argue that its prices and procedures must therefore be set by something that will be called FAC, the Federal Automobile Commission. But those of us who think that consumer prices and choices are best protected by competition have great reason to worry — and not only about auto makers. For if Mr. Nader's monopoly machine is doing in a company as large and resourceful as Chrysler, imagine what it must be doing to the fledgling enterprises that give a competitive economy its innovation and vigor.

WASHINGTON* D.C.—On July 2, 1976. The Continental Congress declared that America was separated from Great Britain.
Two days later on July 4, the Congress endorsed an extraordinary document, a Declaration that stated the Colonies' numerous reasons for leaving the British Empire.

On this week of the 203rd anniversary of this event, I feel it fitting to pay tribute to the author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson. This man proved himself to be a skillful legislator, inventor, scholar, diplomat, and an influential President.

Jefferson began his career as a justice of the peace and then, in 1769, he took his seat in the House of Burgesses, the lower house of the colonial legislature. He served in this, and in the later revolutionary conventions, until 1775, when he was sent as one of the Virginia delegates to the Continental Congress in Philadelphia. Then in June, 1776, Jefferson was appointed to the committee assigned to prepare the formal statement on the reasons for separation from England. He later served as governor of Virginia, Minister to France, Secretary of State, and President of the United States.

Jefferson's contribution to world events can not only be measured by his political career as a legislator and President, but also by his political philosophy which has helped shape American institutions for over 200 years. He was a firm believer in the ability of mankind to govern himself. The effort to establish republican government over a large area and a heterogeneous people was a novel idea, but in the end it turned out to be the most successful experiment in human history.

Thomas Jefferson's conception of government institutions was derived from the doctrines of natural laws and natural rights. He wrote the Declaration of Independence that men were endowed with the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. He was of the conviction that the ability to own property was a natural right.

Also he was a chief advocate of the principle of separation of powers as a necessary safeguard against abuses of authority. During the process of forming our government, Jefferson adhered to a policy of strict or narrow interpretation of the Constitution which he thought essential to the preservation of the citizen's liberties. In the early years of the Republic, there was a continual battle over the scope of authority of the Federal government that Jefferson founded a party that was opposed to a strong centralized government, and he ad. ocated the belief that a large sphere of the interests of the citizens could best be served either by state or local governments or by no governmental action at all. One of the phrases most associated with his philosophy is "the government that governs least governs best." In this 203rd year of our existence as a nation, America would be well served by a reaffirmation of this basic political tradition.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Caprock Trappers Association will hold its July meeting Friday night, July 6, at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.
The high fur prices and Texas' liberal laws, trappers are pouring into the area from all over the 50 states. Most trappers in the area are reputable, but some are coming into the area in search of a quick buck in the fur business.
Homeowners should be careful who is allowed on their land. Caprock Trappers Association has 2000 members in this part of Texas and if a trapper needs a trapper he may write me, Preston Mynatt, P.O. Box 295, Roaring Springs, Texas 79256. We will try to put him in contact with any trapper we know nothing about. Members carry cards inscribed with their names, the name of the secretary, Clifton Shaw, and the expiration date.
With all these transients coming into Texas, be sure to call on any officer or member of the association. Remember, one bad egg will hurt all of us.
Land owner's, be careful who you let on your land and we would like to have you visit our monthly meetings.
Watch this paper for upcoming events.

Big Federal Government

The U.S. News and World Report of June 11, 1979, reported some very interesting information headlined "Just How Big Is The Federal Government?" The following are a few of the interesting facts revealed:
(1) The number of U.S. government civilian employees has remained below the 1969 peak of 3,076,000, but the civilian payroll of the U.S. government has more than doubled during the period of 1969 to 1978, reaching $53.7 billion in 1978.
(2) The federal government occupies enough building space to fill 613 Sears Towers and more is being added every month. The Chicago Sears Tower is 1,454 feet high with 110 floors.
(3) The U.S. government employed a total of 2,866,657 in 1978, divided as follows: executive branch, 2,814,879; legislative branch, 38,609; judicial branch, 13,169.

(4) In the twelve months ending last September 30, the General Service Administration, the Government Printing Office, and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing bought 330,752 tons of paper for use by federal agencies. This represents 66 billion sheets of standard 8 1/2 by 11 inch paper or 304 sheets per capita (based on 217 million population).
(5) Lands owned by the U.S. government total 742 million acres, which is about 1/4 of all U.S. land and would cover the entire U.S. East of the Mississippi, plus Texas and Louisiana.
(6) U.S. holdings include 91% of all land in Alaska; 88% in Nevada; 65% in Utah; 53% in Oregon.

The first windmill in America, it's believed, was set up in Virginia in 1621.

establish republican government over a large area and a heterogeneous people was a novel idea, but in the end it turned out to be the most successful experiment in human history.

Thomas Jefferson's conception of government institutions was derived from the doctrines of natural laws and natural rights. He wrote the Declaration of Independence that men were endowed with the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. He was of the conviction that the ability to own property was a natural right.

Also he was a chief advocate of the principle of separation of powers as a necessary safeguard against abuses of authority. During the process of forming our government, Jefferson adhered to a policy of strict narrow interpretation of the Constitution which he thought essential to the preservation of the citizen's liberties. In the early years of the Republic, there was a continual battle over the scope of authority of the federal government.

Jefferson founded a party that was opposed to a strong centralized government, and advocated the belief that a large sphere of the interests of the citizen could best be served either by state or local governments or by no governmental action at all. One of the phrases most associated with his philosophy is the government that governs least governs best.

In his 203rd year of our existence as a nation, America could be well served by a reaffirmation of this basic political tradition.

THREE THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT INSULATION

BTU...Kilowatt Hour... Peak Load Period... Retrofitting. Confused by all the jargon surrounding home energy efficiency and insulation?

No need to be. Whether you do-it-yourself or hire a contractor, there are only three basic things you need to know about installing insulation: where to install it, how much to install, and the right type for the job.

As for the "where," insulation is needed in areas that adjoin unheated spaces of a home, such as attics, crawl spaces under the house, exterior walls and basement walls.

How much do you need? That depends on climate and energy costs. But one thing's for sure—as energy prices have risen, many homes with what was once regarded as "full insulation" (6 in. in the attic and 3 1/2 in. in the walls) are now underinsulated. A contractor, utility representative or building supply dealer can tell you what your home needs by today's standards.

And, say the experts at Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, a leading manufacturer of home insulation, you should ask about insulation levels in R-values. The higher an insulation's R-value, the greater its insulating power.

Confused by all the "jargon" surrounding home energy efficiency and insulation? Saving on energy doesn't have to be complicated, once you understand insulation.

Finally, insulation is commonly available in two basic forms: loose-fill and blankets. Loose insulation, which is installed with special pneumatic equipment by a professional insulation contractor, is especially good for hard-to-reach areas such as exterior walls. Blankets are most convenient for do-it-yourself jobs such as in attics and unfinished basements and offer the advantage of assured performance.

TRACT THREE: Lots Nos. 1 through 14, both inclusive, Block No. 8, Nall Addition to the Town of Lockney, Floyd County, Texas.

That Defendants unlawfully entered upon the said premises and ejected Plaintiffs therefrom and unlawfully withheld from them the possession thereof to their damage in the sum of $10,000.00. Plaintiffs pray for judgment and possession of said land, and for other and further relief to which they are entitled as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in said suit. That Plaintiffs further own title to the above described tracts of land under the 3, 5, 10 and 25 year statutes of limitations, and that title to each of the above respective tracts of land is presumed to be in Plaintiffs, respectively, as alleged, as a result of peaceable and adverse possession under duly recorded deeds and claims of right and payment of taxes on said property, respectively.

If this Citation is not served within ninety (90) days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates thereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Floydada, Floyd County, Texas, this 15th day of June, 1979.

Lone Star Farmer Degrees Won By Six Lockney Students

Six members of the Lockney chapter of Future Farmers of America have been approved to receive the Texas Lone Star Farmer degree.

Doug Sparkman, Mike Ford and Randy Ford, all LHS seniors, and Jody Foster, Randy Summers and Buddy

Wiley, recent graduates, will go to Lubbock Wednesday to the state FFA convention to receive their honor.

The Lone Star Farmer degree is the highest degree offered by the state FFA association. A total of 1640 will be conferred during the convention.

Local FFA advisors Elvin Lyon and Mike Glenn will accompany the young men to the convention which meets Wednesday through Friday in Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. Other local FFA members attending and will take turns voting delegates.

Susan B. Anthony Dollars Released

Five hundred million of the new Anthony dollars were released Monday, July 2, said Director of the Mint Stella B. Hackel. The new dollar will be distributed by the 37 Federal Reserve Banks to commercial banks, who in turn will distribute them to the business community and to the public. Mrs. Hackel noted that the 500 million coins available for the initial release will provide sufficient coins to the public so that they are readily available. Production and distribution of the coin will continue after release at a rate needed to meet the demand.

Promotional materials are being sent directly to national retail and financial associations and major civic and women's groups, requesting their aid in promoting the coin and educating the general public to its many advantages. Each of the Federal Reserve Banks will also be distributing the promotional kits along with attractive posters to local retail and financial institutions. The Director noted that this is a joint effort of the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve System. "We look forward to the wide acceptance and use of the new convenient and economical coin by the American public," she said.

"Providing that consumer acceptance meets expectations, the new dollar should generate significant savings," she said. The Treasury Department is already saving 60% of the cost of minting dollar coins when comparing production costs of the large Eisenhower dollar to the Anthony dollar. As the coin displaces the need for the dollar note, the Federal Reserve System could achieve dollar savings as high as $50 million a year through reduction of printing, processing and destruction costs for dollar bills.

Many of the Federal Reserve Banks are planning media events to coincide with the introduction of the new coin. In addition a June White House ceremony began a series of events planned to celebrate the release of the new coin throughout the nation. A few of those already scheduled include a July 2 ceremony in Rochester, New York, where Susan B. Anthony resided for over 50 years; a Susan B. Anthony Day rally in New York City on July 3; a July 3 ceremony at the Verrazano Narrows Bridge (crossing the New York Harbor between Brooklyn and State Island) which has converted the dollar toll gates to accept the Anthony dollar; and a July 6 ceremony in Adams, Massachusetts, the birthplace of Susan B. Anthony. Events are also being planned in Seneca Falls, New York, which was the site of the first women's rights convention held on July 19 and 20, 1848. A ceremony will be held in Boston on July 24 at the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

In expressing her enthusiasm for the new dollar, the Mint Director added that the widespread acceptance of the new coin will improve the nation's cash system for the benefit of the nation's retail and financial communities as well as the American public.

CARROLL ANDERSON, new president of First National Bank in Lockney, shows the new Susan B. Anthony dollar coin which became available Monday. To the right of Anderson is a $10 stack of the new coins and a $10 stack of the Eisenhower dollar coin. The stack height is equal but the Anthony coin is 5 of an ounce lighter than the Eisenhower coin, and is only larger than a quarter. Government officials hope that the public will use the new dollar coin that is expected to last 15 years in good shape, compared to 18 months for the paper dollar.

Guzman Brothers Stationed In Germany

Johnny Walter Guzman

Guadalupe Guzman

Sgt. Johnny Walter Guzman was honorably discharged from the U.S. Army in October of 1978 and has re-enlisted for four years. He was in Alabama three months (from January to March 1979) in training for the Military Police.

Sgt. Guzman left for Germany May 2 where he will be stationed for two years.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chon Guzman, who have another son in the service, Pfc. Guadalupe Guzman. He is also stationed in Germany and will be there for the next two years. He enlisted in January of 1978.

Seat Belts Protect Against Injury

Motor vehicle crashes claim almost 50,000 lives each year, and injuries number in the millions. Most of the deaths and serious injuries can be prevented by the regular use of seat belts.

Scientific research, including actual crashes under controlled conditions, proves that safety belts can be extremely effective in protecting you and your family, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association.

The most effective safety belt is the combination lap-shoulder harness, but even the lap belt alone will help to keep you safe.

Seat belts already are saving more than 3,000 lives each year, and between 7,000 and 8,000 more lives could be saved each year if safety belts were always buckled.

The lap-shoulder belt combination protects passengers in crashes above 60 miles per hour. Deaths occur at speeds as low as 12 miles per hour when safety belts are not worn.

A large majority of motor vehicle crashes occur within 25 miles of home, frequently at neighborhood intersections, and at speeds of under 40 miles per hour. Most of the injuries and deaths in these accidents could be avoided if safety belts are used.

The arms of a parent are not strong enough to restrain and protect a small child even in low-speed crashes. If the parent is not wearing a belt, he or she may be thrown forward. For maximum protection, an infant or young child should ride in a specially designed infant carrier or child restraint that is secured by the safety belts already in the motor vehicle.

Less than 20 per cent of motor vehicle occupants bother to buckle up.

Floyd Philosopher Ponders The Plight Of Kids Who Can't Play Ball Without A Director

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm looks at the younger generation this week, somewhat.

Dear editor:

Every once in a while you hear somebody say America has lost its punch.

People say the spirit the early settlers of this country had, the spirit that made them make out with what they had and press on to something better, seems to be playing out. Where once American ingenuity was hard at work, giving us the light bulb, the automobile, the airplane, the atom bomb, mass production, etc., now we're finding it hard to compete with foreign cars, Japanese TV sets and Chinese pocket combs. It makes us look like we're behind the rest of the world in everything except red tape.

I didn't believe all that until I read an article in a newspaper last night.

According to it, a kids' baseball team had to be disbanded because its city's recreation money ran out.

I can see the kids, standing around with their gloves, bats and balls, not knowing what to do because there was nobody there to tell them to play ball. How can you play ball without somebody there to organize you? The only thing they could think to do was go home and watch television, and during commercials, I guess, gripe about city hall.

I don't know what to think of this. Surely it can't be typical of the young generation because if it is we'd better not be looking to them to grow up and invent a new source of energy.

The world sorely needs a generation vastly more ingenious than the present one composed of us adults. All we know to do when the electricity goes off is call the power company and when it's coming back on, if the line is busy, no use calling Washington. Washington is on the phone asking the power company the same question. I don't know who the power company can call.

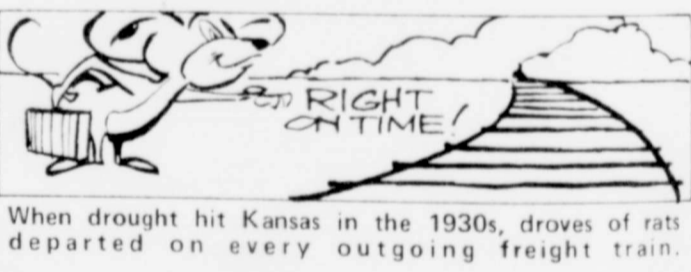

Yours faithfully,
J. A. A.

Q: My mother deeded me her home and reserved a life estate in it. At that time she lived in the house, but has since moved and now rents the house for $50.00 a month. The rent money goes to her, which is the way I want it, but do I have to report the $600 a year as income?

A: No, your mother should report the rent as income on her personal tax return. As a life-estate holder your mother may lease her interest or a part of such interest to a third party and the rent income would be taxable to her.

Q: I have heard that in Texas a person does not have to will his or her real estate, money, etc. Is this true?

A: While it is true that in Texas a person does not have to will anything to his or her children, the Probate Code does provide for a family allowance

Q: I have heard that in Texas a person does not have to will his or her children any of his or her real estate, money, etc. Is this true?

A: While it is true that in Texas a person does not have to will anything to his or her children, the Probate Code does provide for a family allowance which gives the minor the deceased parent's share of the estate. The amount to be paid an amount for their care and maintenance one year from the date of the parent's death. In cases where the minor does not have sufficient support and maintenance of their own to provide for their education and maintenance.

Q: In the State of Texas, a man, married with no descendants and no children, dies without a will, does his wife inherit his real estate?

A: The answer depends on whether he owns separate property or if the man is not a head of household. If he is a head of household, one-half of his separate property would go to his wife. If he is not a head of household, one-half would go to his children. If he has no children, one-half would go to his parents. If his parents are deceased, one-half would go to his brothers and sisters. If he has no brothers and sisters, one-half would go to his next of kin.

Q: I have heard of a person having left assets to a pet. Is this legal in Texas to leave my dog in order that he be assured proper care?

A: While Texas law does not specifically provide for a gift to a pet under a will, it is possible to create a trust for the care of a pet. This is done by appointing a trustee to care for the pet and to disburse funds for its care from the trust.

Q: I want to know for speeding. Do I need an attorney?

A: While it is advised to consult an attorney, you must appear in court to represent the Municipal Court and to attend prior court sessions. Cases in order to be tried are those where the evidence is clear and the defendant admits guilt. In other cases, the court may require a hearing to determine whether you are innocent or guilty.

Q: I am measuring the distance between the city of Lockney and the city of Floydada.

A: The distance between Lockney and Floydada is approximately 100 miles.

Q: I have heard that the 1930s, drove of rats going freight train.

A: This is a common myth. There is no evidence to support this claim.

Q: Among beliefs win strong, and then make them stronger." Walter Bagshot

CITY OF FLOYDADA
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

The City of Floydada's application for Community Development Block Grant funds in the amount of $132,600 was accepted for processing by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development on July 2, 1979.

In accordance with Section 570.300 (b) of the Consolidated Community Development Block Grant regulations, this application is available for inspection at the Floydada City Hall. Handicapped individuals who may have difficulty in getting to City Hall should contact the City Hall to make appropriate arrangements to review the City's application.

Persons who have objections to the City's CDBG application should submit details of these objections to the Dallas HUD Area Office: 2001 Bryan Tower, Dallas, Texas 75201. HUD will only consider objections on the following basis: (1) the City has incorrectly described its needs and objectives; (2) the proposed project is inappropriate to meeting the City's needs and objectives; or (3) the City's application does not comply with CDBG regulations. All objections must be submitted within 30 days of this notice.

For further information, contact the Floydada City Hall at 983-2834.
