School Board Adopts Budget, Sets 70 cent Tax Rate

School trustees met Monday to approve the '79-'80 budget of $100,000 and to set a tax rate of 70 cents on full market valuation. The budget is a 5.12 per cent increase over last year's. The budget of 70 cents includes 62 cents for salaries and operation, and 8 cents for indebtedness. The rate of $1.62 was not on the ballot and only taxed a portion of the district, while reappraisal brings this year's tax roll valuation to about $70 million. The district is losing about $100,000 in tax monies because of the home-stead, old-age, and ag production value exemptions. (Otherwise the tax roll would be over $90 million.) Texas Education Agency believes that the state will provide 45 per cent reimbursement of those lost funds. Local officials had expected that a tax rate of 65 cents on full market value would generate about the same money as the old $1.62 rate on lesser value. But the loss caused by the exemptions necessitated the 70-cent rate. Most of the taxpayers in the district will be paying less taxes this year than last year. The school board members will meet Monday at 3 p.m. in the board room to amend the 1978-'79 budget.

In other business, the trustees hired the following teachers and aides: Robert Murdock, Texas Tech graduate from Lockney, junior high coach and teacher; Gregory Fuiten, Drake University graduate from Illinois, junior high coach and teacher; Juanita Lopez of Plainview, junior high English teacher; Nell Carlton and Cheryl Bradley, junior high math aides; Barbara McCormick and Emma Collins, Title I junior high reading aides; Lesca Durham, Title I elementary aides; Mario Arellano, junior high migrant and community aide; Melida DeLeon, Kindergarten migrant aide; Celia Torres, first grade migrant aide, and Teresa Demetri, early childhood aide. Hiring of the aides is subject to funding through state and federal programs. The board voted to begin the school days at 8:45 a.m.

Resignations were accepted from Alice Cruz, junior high social studies and high school French, and from Ron Rodgers and Cindy Noel, two teachers who were hired this summer. Bids were accepted from Bacuss Motor Company on a '79 heavy duty, one-half ton pickup, and from Wesley Electric, Plainview, for new lighting in the junior high building and cafeteria. The substitute teacher list was approved by the board.

McMurry College, Abilene. His 16 years of coaching were in Anton, Mt. Pleasant, Plains, Sudan and Lockney. This is his sixth year at Lockney. Jim and wife Lela (a junior high school teacher) have three sons: Steve, Russell and Doug. Steve Culwell will work with the quarterbacks, receivers on offense and with the secondary on defense. He will be track coach, and will become the interim athletic director at the end of the football season. Culwell, who is single, was graduated from Oton High School and Wayland Baptist College. He coached in junior high at Lockney for one year, then spent last year on the coaching staff at Perryton. The chapter has been meeting twice a month, but will decide at this meeting whether to continue that practice or meet once a month. Interested farmers are invited to attend this meeting and participate in the chapter activities.

The members met Thursday night of last week for a family ice cream and cake supper. New officers were elected. Keith Phillips is new president, and he will be assisted by Danny Lambert, vice president; Ricky Kellison, secretary; Ronnie Aston, program chairman; Jim Bob Martin, reporter, and Archie Jones, treasurer.

Attending the social were Van and Cheryl Bradley, Lisa and Jimmie, Randy and Nancy Henderson and Randy Jo, Dan and Reeda Cay Smith, Mike and Vickie Glenn, Archie Jones and Glenda Cooper, Jim Bob and Kay Martin, Ronnie and Treena Aston, Ricky and Kathy Kellison, Danny and Kim Lambert, and Keith Phillips.

Revenue Sharing Funds 'Tight' Judge Smith Warns Groups

Floyd County Judge Choise Smith warned groups who appeared at the courthouse Monday to put in requests for a portion of the revenue sharing funds that they probably would not get as much as they wanted.

The judge blamed the money shortage on higher-than-anticipated costs for refurbishing the county jail up to state standards.

Judge Smith told approximately a dozen petitioners that he was "shocked" at the $280,000 low bid for the jail construction but the specifications had been cut as much as they could be. Earlier bids for a more elaborate construction reached as high as a half-million dollars, Smith said, and the commissioners readjusted their specifications to lower the cost.

"With the jail costs being higher," Smith told the group, "the revenue sharing funds will be tight for other projects. There will be no excess, but we'll take suggestions for the remainder."

In addition to the jail remodeling, the commissioners already approved $60,000 for heating and air conditioning at the courthouse. The jail and courthouse projects account for more than $360,000 of the available $388,272.

"There are things we need more than a place to lock a man up," the judge said, "but the state came in and insisted that we update the jail." He noted that the improvements would include facilities for juveniles, women and drunks as well as the emergency life-saving equipment.

Representatives from the Floyd County Museum, the Senior Citizens group and the Friends of the Library, among others, were on hand to state their cases and to present their petitions for funding.

The judge praised the civic and community groups for their work and promised to do the best he could to meet as many requests as possible.

Judge Smith defended the commissioners' decision to allocate the major portion of the revenue sharing funds to the jail and courthouse projects, saying that it was possibly the last opportunity to get outside financing for the work. The revenue sharing program, he noted, was in danger of being cut off next year. "We've already lost the lateral road fund," he said.

"We don't want to raise taxes, we're trying to hold them down," Judge Smith said, but the projects must be paid for somehow.

The judge will present his recommendations for revenue sharing allocations to the various groups at the special commissioners meeting Aug. 21. The commissioners will also sign the jail construction contract on that date.

In regular business at the Monday meeting, the commissioners approved a motion by Grigsby Milton that the county pay 20 cents a mile to the county Sheriff's Dept. on the understanding that each deputy and sheriff hold their mileage down to less than 2,500 each month.

Former DPS patrolman Bill Dawson received approval from the commissioners as a special deputy for the Sheriff's Dept. There will be no cost to the county for Dawson's services.

The commissioners transferred $60,000 from the Road and Bridge Fund to be divided among the precincts. Each precinct will receive $16,500.

The commissioners also transferred $20,000 from the General Fund to the Permanent Improvement Fund, and another $20,000 from the General Fund to the Officers' Salary Fund.

The court approved a motion by Bob Jarrett to accept H.R. Bundock's $225,531 bid for general construction of the Floyd County Jail. A time limit of 240 days and a 5 percent bond were stipulated.

Also accepted was a $54,630 bid from the Willo Products Co. for detention equipment. A 45-day time limit and 5 percent bond were stipulated on that contract.

In final action, a motion by Judge Smith to establish a Child Welfare Board and put $300 a year into the Child Welfare Board Fund died for lack of a second.

Residents Use About One-Half Normal Amount Of Water

Water consumption in Lockney has been well below the normal amount this summer because the frequent rains have left little need for watering lawns and flowers.

Normally the hot summer days would require about 600,000 gallons per day. However that high figure was reached this summer once in early May and once in July.

Until this week average use each day had been over 300,000 gallons, but a little over 400,000 gallons were used Sunday.

The City of Lockney has three wells that furnish the residents with water. Eventually, the city will be using Lake Mackenzie water.

Robbie Sparkman Takes Floydada Band Position

Since Robbie Sparkman was a freshman or sophomore in high school, her ambition has been to become a band director.

Her dream was realized a year ago when she took a position as junior high band director at AAA school Beeville. Now she's taken a new job, and if she had the time, she might be pinching herself to see if she's truly wide-awake because she's the new director of bands for the Floydada schools.

The daughter of George and Jean Sparkman of Lockney has trained herself well for the position. She completed studies in 1978 for a bachelor of music education degree at Texas Tech University. While at Tech, she played a baritone in Dean Killion's marching band and an alto saxophone in the concert band.

While at Lockney High School, Robbie was a drum major for three years, while playing the alto saxophone in the concert band. She also was a band member the first year of high school in 1974. Robbie's band was named in her honor in 1974. Robbie's band was named in her honor in 1974.

SAFETY SENSE

Your helmet will help you head off trouble—if you keep it in top condition. In case of a really severe impact, the hard, outer shell should be partially destroyed. That's because it absorbs part of the shock before it gets to the inner lining—and your head! So don't reuse your helmet after any impact. The Motorcycle Safety Foundation points out that even an unintentional dropping of the helmet may partially weaken the shell.

Alan Bligh, Better Business South Plains Manager

Alan Bligh, 34, has been elected executive director and general manager of the 18 county Better Business Bureau of the South Plains, it was announced today on behalf of the Board of Directors by chairman Leon Harris. Bligh, presently executive vice-president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, will take over his new position August 20.

Bligh has been very active in Better Business Bureau matters in Lamesa for the five years he has been Chamber leader there.

South Plains Chamber executives are well acquainted with Bligh. He served as President of the South Plains Association of Chamber Executives (S.P.A.C.E.) in 1978-79. Bligh has also completed five years of the Institute of Organizational Management sponsored by S.M.U. and the National Chamber.

An adopted Texan, Alan Bligh was born in Tacoma, Washington, was raised in San Diego and received his prep schooling there along with his B.A. Degree from San Diego State University. He served on duty with the Air Force at Goodfellow Field San Antonio, where he was later assistant Chamber of Commerce Manager from 1968 thru 1974.

He is married to the former Blenda Marie Strickland of San Angelo. The couple has two children: Richard 16 and Alanna, 10. The Blighs enjoy church work and civic activities, with photography and tennis as hobbies.

During his tenure in Lamesa, Bligh has been involved in several Chamber achievements. Most unique was the creation of the nation's only rural chamber health and welfare committee. This resulted in his being appointed to the National Chamber's Panel on Welfare Reform. Other accomplishments include creation of the Lamesa Industrial Park, the securing of a major new industry, and the awarding of the Accreditation endorsement for the Chamber by the national body.

In introducing him to Lubbock and the South Plains in this new role, Harris said: "Bligh is a young man on the way up, who sold his organization on membership in the Bureau because he himself is sold on the Bureau's fair-minded efforts to promote an equal stake for business and the buying public in the American free enterprise way of doing things in the marketplace. We are proud to have him head Better Business Bureau activities in these 18 counties."

TIPS FOR MOTORISTS

Mileage Means Money!

You can cut down on the cost of driving your car and help conserve gasoline in the process.

Most important, for safety's and economy's sake, heed the national 55-mile-per-hour speed limit. The difference between 55 and 70 mph, is about 25 percent better mileage.

Just keeping a light foot on the gas pedal however, is not the only mileage booster tip. Here are a few more:

- A badly out-of-tune car can cut mileage about five percent.
- Keep your tires properly inflated. Underinflated tires reduce mileage.
- Maybe you can't squeeze blood out of a turnip. But you can squeeze more miles out of a gallon of gas.
- These and other tips are provided in the "Gasoline Mileage Book." Ask for your free copy when you write: Answer Books, Shell Oil Co., P.O. Box 4315, Dept. N., Houston, Texas 77001.

Oilmen say 'fourbles' top 'thribbles' every time

Farm Management -

Income Tax

Managing farm and ranch income properly is vital to managing one's income tax liability.

Dr. Ashley Lovell, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, emphasizes wise management of all types of income during the current tax year.

Often livestock sales can cause problems in income management, says Lovell.

In 1977 and 1978, many Texas cattlemen were forced to sell excessive numbers of breeding livestock because of the drought. Normally, any gain realized would be recognized for income tax purposes. However, due to forced sales caused by the drought, if replacements are purchased within two years of the year of forced sale, producers can defer paying tax on the gain.

GASSER. This is not a knee slapper on Hee Haw. It is the term for a commercial well that produces natural gas.

DUCK'S NEST. A standby tank or pit used to hold extra drilling mud or the overflow if mud should be displaced from the well by a blowout.

HALF SOLE. When a section of pipeline becomes corroded, it can be patched with a half sole. The patch, cut from a pipe of the same diameter, is securely welded over the defective section.

HOUSTON, Tex. — In today's complex world, every business has its own terminology. The oil business is no exception, and the language of the modern oilman is particularly colorful. It is not that so many of the words themselves are uncommon, but the meanings they have taken on in the oilfields give an interesting flavor to the oilman's speech. Aminoil USA, Inc., a subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., offers the following listing of some of the more colorful terms.

CHRISTMAS TREE. Saint Nick wouldn't recognize this variety. It is the assembly of fittings and valves that caps a completed well. It controls the flow of oil from the well to storage tanks or pipelines.

FIREFLOODING. Although it sounds like a contradiction in terms, it refers to another way to increase production of heavy oil. Oil deep underground is ignited and fed large amounts of air. This heats and thins nearby oil and provides pressure to move it to producing wells.

LIGHT ENDS. Not what weight watchers hope to achieve after dieting. They are the more volatile products of petroleum refining, such as gasoline, propane and butane.

HOT FOOTING. The application of heat to the lower extremities of a well. Involves installing a heater at the bottom of an input well to thin heavy crude oil and increase its flow to nearby producing wells.

HIGH. Has nothing to do with joints. Has everything to do with the uppermost part of an inclined geological structure deep underground where the possibility of finding oil is considered to be the greatest.

DUSTER. Feather dusters and oil field dusters have something in common, both are dry. A duster is a dry hole, one of the 47 out of 48 wildcats that doesn't find oil or gas.

CRUDE. An individual who is crude is often said to be unrefined. In the oil industry, crude refers to oil that is unrefined. It is oil just as it comes out of the well.

JOINT. It is not a funny cigarette. It is a section or length of steel pipe or casing from 20 to 30 feet long. Joints are added one at a time to drive the rotating drill bit into the earth. The string of pipe is pulled up out of the hole in sections of two, three or four joints.

ROUND TRIP. Describes the voyage of a drill bit when it becomes dull and has to be changed. It is painstakingly pulled up out of the hole — 2, 3 or 4 joints at a time — changed and returned to the bottom. A round trip can take more than 24 hours for very deep wells.

SPUD. No relation to the starchy tuber for which Idaho is famous. To oilmen it is a verb. To spud a well is to begin drilling.

STRIPPER. Of course it's not an ecadysist. A stripper well pumps (or "strips") oil from a reservoir. The standard definition of a stripper is one that produces less than 10 barrels of oil per day. With average daily production for the 500,000 oil wells in the United States at 16 barrels of crude per day, we have many strippers. By contrast, in the Midwest, the average well produces 5,500 barrels per day.

WILDCAT. When is a wildcat not a wildcat? When it is an exploratory well drilled in an area where there has been no previous oil production. About one wildcat well is 48 finds commercial deposits of oil or gas. At $3 million per wildcat in an area like the Baltimore Canyon, it is an expensive gamble.

THRIBBLES. They are not the cute little creatures from Star Trek. When drill pipe and tubing are pulled from the well two joints at a time, they are called doubles. Oilfield logic then designates three joints as thribbles. Yes, four joints are called fourbles.

LESSEE. Not the contraction for "let me see," as in "lessee now, where was I?" A lessee is the company or individual that, under the terms of a lease, is entitled to drill and operate an oil or gas well.

work in place. It's safer than using your hand, and it frees both hands to operate the tool.

Tools For Homeowners

Home Improvement, Safety And Economy

PLAY IT SAFE AND SAVE

In this era of escalating costs, more and more people are doing it themselves with tools ranging from a hammer and screwdriver to power tools.

To make home repair pay, you've got to be able to do it for less, and do it with safety. It's no fun — and it can be costly — to unnecessarily injure yourself while doing that odd job around the house or apartment.

Organize! If you have a screwdriver in a kitchen drawer, a saw in the garage or basement and a pair of pliers in the car, valuable time will be lost looking for the tools you need to do the job. As your confidence and skill grow, so does your arsenal of tools. So create a place-for-everything place for all your tools.

Here are some other basic safety tips:

- * Keep work area clean.
