J. T. Parks and family move to Amarillo this week. "Jim" Parks, as old acquaintances call him, has made us a good county commissioner and Justice of the Peace, and in addition to serving precinct No. 1 and the county generally in this official sense acceptably, Mr. Parks is an all round good citizen—one we regret to lose and can heartily recommend as worthy a cordial reception in his new home, Amarillo.

L. N. Lochridge went to Hereford Tuesday to see about sending his two oldest children, a son and daughter, to the Christian Panhandle College. He would make no mistake in this as the college under its present management is sure to prove one of the best institutions of its class in the State, and Hereford as a school town, in which to attain physical and moral perfection, has no superior anywhere.

A. M. Smith has sweet potatoes, planted the first of June, that will go a pound and a half each easily. Dr. Latham claims that he can beat this bad and that his "taters" were planted ten days later.

Mrs. J. I. Campbell returned Tuesday from her visit to Roswell and Artesia. Jack kept "bach" during her absence and since her return she has been kept busy cleaning house.

Mrs. T. W. Barrett returned Sunday from her visit to Chillicothe.

Mrs. R. G. Oldham returned from her visit to Abilene last Friday.

An Anti-Expansionist.

A Virginia mountaineer, who had strayed to Richmond on an excursion, and who, as his holiday progressed, became rather hilarious, grew over-confident of his own greatness. Looking around at his companions, says the Baltimore Sun, he boasted vainly.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I kin lick any man in Richmond." No one offered to dispute the assertion, and he tried again.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I kin lick any man in the whole state of Virginny."

The words were hardly out of his mouth before a tall sinewy man from his own part of the state entered the game and gave the boaster a good thrashing.

The mountaineer had a sense of humor. He slowly picked himself up and faced the group to which he had boasted.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I am now ready to acknowledge that I kivered too much territory in that last statement."

Of course, Japan is only a poor heathen nation, while Russia considers itself the representative of enlightened Christianity and regards the present conflict as a "holy war." But the Mikado understands that it is considered quite legitimate among Christian people to catch your adversary napping and to cheat him if you can. That is the doctrine proclaimed by some of the most highly respected business men of America and Europe. Besides, Japan has had experience with the ethics of Christian nations in the war with China in which Russia, Germany and France united in a little hold up. Really, is it any wonder that the pagans are suspicious of the promises of their Christian adversaries?—Kansas City Star.

From Uncle Zekiel.

"Uncle Zekiel" in the Bridgeport Index gives utterance to the following timely truths concerning the control of children:

"Those who are super-sensitive about the use of the rod, when milder means fail of the desired effect, and yield to their feelings instead of a sense of duty, may wake up some day to a sad realization of the fact that they are parents of badly spoiled if not worthless children, who are likely to plague the remnant of their days on earth, if indeed they do not bring their grey hairs in disgrace to the grave.

"Combine as far as possible right precept and example with loving admonition, but when these fail (they will at times), chastisement becomes a necessity and must be resorted to for the best results, all the maudlin sentimentality in the world to the contrary notwithstanding."

Judge Eakman is back from his trip to New Mexico and he, together with the other gentlemen composing the new real estate firm, are getting down to business.

Practice, Not Profession, Tells.

It is reported from Washington that Japan distrusts Russia so thoroughly that it is not willing to make peace terms until it is certain that the Czar is in earnest. The Russian's reply to the President's proposal implies certain reservations, and Japan fears that the St. Petersburg government is merely sparing for time.

The Baptist meeting is still going on. The preacher, Rev. J. F. Black, of Dallas, is a strong man intellectually and an effective talker; the audiences have been fair and the interest good. Tuesday evening three were baptised into the faith; Lonnie Gentry, Dunlap and Frank Lester. The meeting will continue until about Friday night.

A wedding, one of the contracting parties to which is well known in town, is slated for Sunday.

Baked Bacon.

If you find fried bacon objectionable and indigestible try this way: Place thin strips of bacon, after removing the rind, on a broiler. Put the broiler above a pan so that the grease will not touch the bacon and put it all in a hot oven; turn the broiler once. The oven should be hot enough to cook it in five minutes. The bacon is then so crisp and so greaseless that it can be eaten with the fingers.

Hair Tonic.

A good hair tonic is made as follows: Quinine sulphate, two drams; acid gallic, two drams; tincture cantharides, one ounce; alcohol, ten ounces; boiling water, six ounces; rose oil or other perfume, a small quantity. Dissolve the gallic acid in boiling water, add the rest to the alcohol. Mix both liquids together and strain or filter. Use twice a week.

Cold Cream.

Shave fine and melt in a double boiler half an ounce of white wax and an ounce of spermaceti. When melted add one gill of almond oil and take from the stove. Slowly add one and a half ounces of rose water, beating until the right consistency. Last thing add twelve drops of benzoin.

Hanging Out Clothes.

Stockings should be hung up from the toes. White flannels must be hung out at once and be well shaken before hanging them. Nightdresses, etc., should be hung from the shoulders. Do not drag any garment when pinning. Allow it to hang easily.

Vaseline For Sore Throat.

Vaseline is not only an excellent remedy for sore throat, but it is a hair tonic and can also be depended on to render tractable a door or window that sticks by applying it to the parts that adhere.

The Odor of Onions.

It is worth knowing that the odor of onions may be almost entirely removed from the hands by rubbing them with celery tops. This means will also remove the odor from dishes.

Toilet Soap.

Odds and ends of toilet soap should be saved. Dried and powdered, mixed with bran or oatmeal and filled into cheesecloth bags, they make delightful accessories to the bath.

Today the Northwest Texas Press Association convenes at Hereford for a session of two days. A program full of live issues is already arranged for, and the meeting gives promise, not only of good results to the craft but of lasting benefits for our Plains country. The News makes this latter statement because the Association extends east beyond Gainesville and southward including Young county, and there will no doubt be present at Hereford many newspaper men from way below the Cap Rock who, while they have heard, yet have not believed, in our truly great agricultural possibilities. We, who reside here and do know, intend to "show them"—they must and will believe—and returning home, can tell their people from their own observation, the wonderful story, that "the half has not been told" touching the vast resources of a country that in extent would rank well as an empire. As "mine host," Hereford can be depended upon to do her part and The News editor looks forward to the occasion as giving promise of being one of the best events of the kind that it has ever been his good fortune to attend through a journey of over fifteen years in the ranks of Texas newspaperdom.

Going? Well, I should reckon so, and for want of our presence The News office will stand closed until next Monday.

A. B. Horn left some specimens of the beet products from his garden at this office. One is what is known as the "sugar beet" and measured a little more than twenty-four inches in length and was well proportioned as to width. The other is the ordinary turnip-shaped beet, and measures more than twenty-two inches in circumference. They are merely samples of the garden which Mr. Horn cultivates, and tend to show what the Leader has often claimed that the best of every product can be raised here. The sugar beet weighed 12½ lbs, and the turnip-beet weighed 5 pounds. Beat these beets who can.—Lampasas Leader.

The record for turnip beets out here, Bro. Vernor, stands easily at eighteen pounds and much heavier for the other kind, so you see you are not in it at all with the Plains country. And then cabbage, good sound crisp ones, ranging, lots of them around the twenty-five pound mark; and watermelons at from 80 to 100 pounds. How about this, friend Vernor?

These rains have put Randall county in beautiful shape.

The papers are having a great deal to say about the patronage that goes abroad, chiefly to the mail order houses. There is a little different song being sung by the papers. They have found that this complaint does not come to any great extent from the home merchant or home manufacturer who hustles for his trade by advertising, but from the man who relies on the fact that he is a home man to get business. It has been found that the home man who bids for trade half as earnestly as the foreign man, has no cause for complaint that the other fellow takes it away from him. The people in this progressive age are trading with the firms that seek their trade most earnestly, and the firms that sit idly by expecting business to come anyway are doomed to disappointment.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Texas' distribution of $5 25 per capita to her school children is better than that of many another State which has more to say about what it does in the cause of public education. This fund, supplementing ample local taxation for school purposes, justifies the good things President Roosevelt had to say, on his recent tour, about the liberality with which Texas provides for the education of her rising generation.—St. Louis Republic.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by S. V. Ever see some men who gloried in another's success and sacrificed, if need be, some personal aspersion? Ever see some big-hearted man take a struggler by the hand and say: "I'm glad to see you succeed?" Ever see any of these things? Of course you have. You see them every day. There are dozens of people who will greet you with a smile and stab you in the back because you attend to your business and

Success In Stock Raising

The breeding principles adopted by L. H. Kerriek of Illinois, the world renowned cattle feeder, in establishing a type of steer for the most economical beef production should be adopted by the breeder of other kinds of live stock, says National Stockman, and then continues:

Mr. Kerriek said in relating the story of his success at the Iowa state institute that when he commenced the feeding business he could not find a breed of cattle that produced a type of steer exactly to his liking, but he could see all of the beef points in two breeds—viz, the Shorthorn and the Angus. So he procured a lot of the best grade Shorthorn cows that he could pick up. Then he got an Angus bull as near his ideal type as could be had. From this stock he procured his feeding steers, keeping the best heifers for breeding stock. In all his after breeding he used the bull that was nearest his ideal beef type. Every one who has kept in touch with the great cattle feeders of the country knows of Mr. Kerriek's success. He commenced about twenty years ago and was successful from the start.

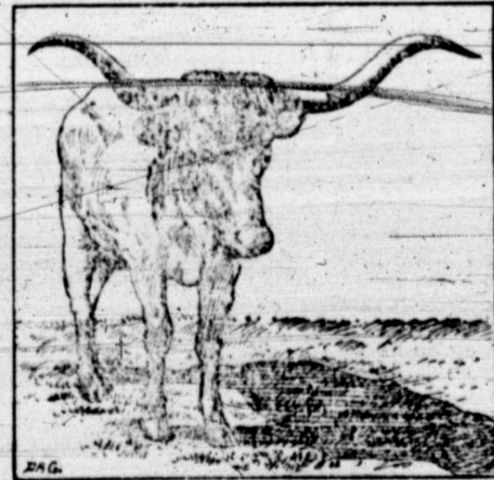

Was not his plan a shorter and better route to success than to have tried to get his type of beef steer from some breed that did not have the type demanded except in very rare and remote instances? The fundamental principles of breeding are the same wherever applied. Rigidly applied they mean progress, but if not they mean retrogression or at best little progress.

Breeding Polled Calves.
Answering the query, "Are double standard Polled Durham bulls as sure to get polled calves from horned cows as are Angus bulls?" F. S. Hines says in Breeder's Gazette:

Without knowledge as to the percentage of polled calves got by Angus bulls used on horned cows it would naturally seem that the Angus bulls would be the sure dehorners, as they have been bred hornless for many generations, while Polled Durhams are not many removes from horns. However, there are many Polled Durham bulls that have made excellent records as dehorners, some having as high as 90 per cent of polled calves from horned cows.

If your correspondent wishes to breed polled calves his best course would be to buy an aged Polled Durham bull with a good record as a dehorner. There is a great deal of the lottery about this "breeding off the horns," just as there is in breeding in general, and some bulls with many polled crosses are not as sure dehorners as those with only one cross of polled blood. Therefore I should advise your correspondent not to try a young bull, but to get one that is known by his works.

Passing of the Long Horns.
One of the signs of the times illustrating the change of methods in raising beef cattle is the passing of the lanky, long horned steer that once roamed the Texas ranges. He is rapidly giving way to an animal much better fitted for the purpose of beef production and soon will be only a memory. The picture herewith shown of the fast disappearing Texas long horn is reproduced from Breeder's Gazette.

Money in Sheep.
It seems strange that while the supply of cattle and hogs is on the increase in this country the number of sheep is decreasing, says Shepherd's Criterion. This seems more strange when one stops to consider how prolific sheep are and how quickly the supply in the United States might be doubled if stockmen would turn their attention to it. It is stranger still when figures show that sheep are the most profitable animals the farmer can raise. Year in and year out there is positively more money in sheep than anything else the farmer can produce. Mr. Farmer, if you don't raise sheep you are overlooking an opportunity.

The Tamworth Breed of Swine

The Tamworth is strictly a bacon hog, remarkable for its lean, juicy hams and long sides that make up in to the best breakfast bacon, writes C. B. Metcalf in Farm and Ranch.

A distinctive feature of the bacon breed is the form and growth of its side, or "middling." The Tamworth has been bred for several generations with a view to shaping this middling up differently from that of the "lard" breeds until his advocates claim to have a hog that will produce a side of almost equal thickness from belly to back-bone and from shoulder to ham, well streaked with lean throughout, nearly all of which will make up into the choicest breakfast bacon.

Tamworths are remarkable for heartiness of constitution, great prolificacy and their wonderful success in rearing every pig born, for notwithstanding their great size with a nestful of pigs they hardly ever overlay a pig. One sow brought eight litters, and in those eight litters, all born in three and one-half years, she saved and raised eighty-three pigs.

The Tamworth is of value to the American farmer in its use for crossing on our stout bodied, short legged and chunky lard hogs, which will make not only a cross, but a hybrid as well, the cross being of two entirely different species, Tamworths being pure Sus scrofa, while the lard breeds are made up largely of the species Sus indicus.

B. F. Dawley, director of the New York farmers' institute, says of the Tamworth:

"The Tamworth is a bright cherry red, sometimes light or dark, has a rather long nose, very light jowl, ears erect, legs long, with the best feet, shoulders narrow and smooth, body or sides long and deep, back not wide, but flat on top, bearing a heavy tenderloin. It is a great rustler, active, wide awake, a great grower, matures early and is at maturity the largest breed of swine. The litters run from nine to fifteen pigs, and we often save all of them. Each leggy, muscular little fellow is born with a chip on his shoulder, and war begins with the second arrival. They are long legged, active hogs, but being long and leggy does not necessarily mean that they are slow to develop, as a Tamworth at ten months old will weigh as much as any breed and more than most of those of the "chunky type."

TAMWORTH HOG.

(From "First Principles of Agriculture," by Goff & Mayne.)

Ear Mark the Pigs.

In the fall when we wish to sort out breeding sows we do not know whether they are from sows that we care to reproduce or from inferior animals, writes H. E. Cook in National Stockman. Ofttimes a sow may have only three or four pigs, and they become full grown on account of plenty of nurse. Now, I would much rather have young sows from mothers giving full litters even if not quite so large because they are bred from good milkers, just what we want to reproduce. I therefore ear mark the pigs in the spring as soon as they are strong and record the numbers, making a judicious selection possible.

W. F. Taylor is breaking land for wheat this fall. "Jim" Barker of Green Valley, Illinois, is here and also having some land torn up for the same purpose.

THE PROFITABLE PORKER.

Costs Less to Raise Spring Pigs Than Those of Other Seasons.

The cost of the pig in growing it successfully into a matured porker is the topic of interest to the hog raiser. This involves the question of when the pig should be farrowed to most profitably meet this end. The summer pig, the fall pig and the winter pig all have their drawbacks and hindrances in hog development at one end or the other of their existence. The American Swineherd in discussing this subject refers to the claim, made by the Indiana experiment station, that pigs farrowed in March, April and May are best for profitably converting into pork. It is late enough to usually avoid the severe weather of the season and enables them to be grown during the summer season and fattened before winter sets in.

It offers an opportunity to have the pigs do their growing during that season of the year when grass or pasture is in condition to be used. They can actually be reared at less cost than during any other period of the year. It is possible to plant green spring crops that will furnish cheap feed for the litters and sows, and do much toward promoting the development of bone and flesh.

From experience of feeders at the experiment stations the pig increases with great profit until six or seven months old, when it has reached the maximum. After that the pigs require a larger amount of grain to produce a given amount of pork, and they should be fattened and disposed of.

One bushel of corn made 13-13 pounds of pork at six months old; at seven months old, one bushel made 13.2 pounds, and eight months old one bushel made 12.6 pounds.

While there are varying conditions that have their influence upon the amount of gain made, it is a general principle that after six or seven months the amount of gain from a bushel of corn is on a decreasing scale.

These gains do not come up to the ones that have been secured by individuals. It may have been partially in the quality of the pigs, as there is a great deal of characteristics of certain animals. We have farmers who have sows and boars that they can scarcely feed little enough to keep them from getting too fat, they have such a propensity of assimilation, which is out of all proportion compared with others.

Breeds of Sheep.

The question of breed should be largely one of fancy and environment, says American Sheep Breeder. All breeds have merit when kept in the right place. If the fancier has a poor, rough, rugged farm some of the smaller breeds would be found to do better than the heavier breeds. It would be too much to expect the Lincoln, for instance, the product of low, fertile lands, to do well on the bleak, sparsely grassed highlands of Scotland.

Best Cure For Lameness.

A roopy yard or large box stall is a better place for a horse requiring rest on account of lameness than a grass field, says American Cultivator. Very often the rest may be rendered more complete by judicious surgical shoeing, which throws the part actually involved into a state of rest.

Many make the mistake of turning horses out during the day and bringing them in at night. Generally speaking, the animal would be better off out at night than during the day, the exception being when there is a great variation between the day and night temperature.

The horse is nocturnal in his habits; he can graze and get about comfortably in a low medium of light, if he cannot actually "see in the dark," as he is popularly supposed to be able to do, and he can get food, moderate exercise and the beneficial effect of night dews and damp grass to his feet and is subject to no disturbance.

RAILROAD GOING SOUTH.

Wednesday, our citizens were stirred up over a proposition submitted by Messrs. Tallmadge, Gordon, Buntin and Judge Gatewood to begin immediately on a railroad from Canyon City south.

Tallmadge and his associates ask the people of town and county for depot grounds and right of way to the county line, stating that if the same be granted, that the road shall be completed and in operation by January 1, 1907.

In considering this proposition, two meetings of citizens were had at the conclusion of which, after conference with Mr. Tallmadge and the others of his party named, it was determined to take steps looking to the securing of the right of way and be in a position at the return of said Tallmadge party, who left for Tulia and Plainview Thursday morning, to give a definite answer to the proposition submitted by them. To this end a committee was appointed to canvas the situation.

This whole matter was sprung on our citizens Wednesday, and came in the nature of a surprise, but by next week it will no doubt come out of the fog and getting its bearings correctly. The News will have something to say about it.

TOWN & COUNTY

PERSONAL AND OTHER MATTERS THAT CONCERN OUR CITIZENS.

It is stated that Squire Parks will tender his resignation as commissioner and Justice Monday when the commissioners' court will be in session. Just who will succeed him is not known yet save perhaps to the County Judge.

T. B. Ketner says he "knows" he has the cleanest crop in Randall County. It consists of corn, maize etc. and he gives the height, regular all over, at about six feet.

Alvin Young from East Texas, a nephew of our townsman Pat Young, with his mother and two sisters, are visiting their relatives here. Mrs. Young will stay awhile for the benefit of her health, the others return today.

Newt Reeves who went to Oklahoma a few days ago with a shipment of horses returned yesterday reporting satisfactory sales and a good time "with the melons."

Mr. Gatewood of Johnson Co., a brother in law of Mrs. Gatewood of our city, with his wife and her sister, arrived here Wednesday.

Mr. Glasscock of N. M. shipped a car of Black Pole bulls, which he bought of J. T. Jowell, to his ranch near Portales.

Geo. Burrows of Unionville, Missouri, who was here prospecting, left for his home Wednesday. He likes the country all right and will return before long.

Prof. Ernsberger and wife who were expected home yesterday did not arrive.

Mr. Morris of Dallas came in yesterday on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. F. Smith.

W. A. Donaldson, cashier of the Tulia bank, has been in town several days this week.

The Daughters of the Confederacy are requested to meet at Mrs. J. C. Pipkin's August 16th at 3 P. M.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

The Various Uses of Ammonia In the Household.

The uses of ammonia in the household are many. In cleaning of any kind it should be used in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a quart of water. It makes the water softer than rain water. Smoky lamp chimneys, window panes and mirrors all respond quickly to ammonia. When a stain is produced by lemon juice or any other acid nothing is so effectual as ammonia in neutralizing and thus removing it. A few drops to a pint of water sprinkled on the roots of house plants will produce an abundant growth. Stains on marble can be removed by rubbing them well with a toothbrush flipped in powdered chalk and ammonia.

Lice on Canaries.

To cure lice on canaries take the bird from the cage, wet a cloth with kerosene oil and rub the wires of the cage and all places where they would hide, so that they will be glad to leave. At night place a piece of cotton flannel over the top of the cage and remove before it is very light. The lice will leave the bird, and you can kill them on the cloth. Use the cloth constantly for two or three weeks, oiling the cage once a week, and the lice will disappear. It is a good plan to put some sulphur in a muslin bag and suspend it from the top of the cage.

Ironing Fringed Doilies.

Combing out the fringe of doilies after ironing results disastrously in a very short time if the linen is really fine. A clever woman discovered this method, which, after all, may not be new. After rinsing the doilies they are floated, one by one, in a dish of clean, cool water. When the fringes are perfectly smooth and flexible, slip a piece of manila paper or blotting paper under the doily and slip the whole thing out of the water. Let the doily dry on the paper, and the fringe will need very little combing.

Mrs. J. C. Pipkin was a pleasant caller at the printing office this week.

Miss Ethel Leonard of near Tulia is visiting in town this week.

C. O. Whitman presented this office with samples of his cucumbers weighing, on an average, four pounds each.

W. B. Greenfield, a brother of Mrs. B. E. Cobb, and wife left for their home, Pine Bluff, Ark., yesterday. They have been here a month or better and are delighted with the country.

TO REAL ESTATE OWNERS.

We, the undersigned, have associated ourselves together for the purpose of engaging in the real estate business and desire that our friends and other parties having lands for sale will list them with us. Our intention is to go out and bring in purchasers and otherwise devote our entire time to the business. Call on us at our new office, across the street east from the Hotel Victoria, and let us tell you what we propose to do.

Respectfully,
Cyrus Eakman,

Doctor Knew It Could Not Be.

Dr. W. W. Keen, the Philadelphia surgeon, has a number of scrapbooks filled with anecdotes about physicians. These anecdotes are odd from the fact that they all throw upon physicians a most unflattering light. To illustrate their character Dr. Keen quoted one of them recently.

"A physician was driving through the street," he said. "A friend stopped him.

"Doctor," said the friend anxiously, "have you heard that horrible story about Williamson?"

"No," said the doctor. "What story is that?"

"A story to the effect that he was buried alive."

"Buried alive?" said the doctor. "Impossible. He was one of my patients."—Collier's Weekly.

An Australian Telegraph.

It is not generally known, according to the Indianapolis News, that there is a telegraph across the southern desert land of the Australian continent 2,000 miles in length. It runs partially through an uninhabited country and long tracts of waterless desert. While it was being constructed more than 2,000 tons of materials had to be carried far into the interior, and many of the iron and wood poles were conveyed 400 miles. A recent report says that the wear and tear of this telegraph construction has been inconsiderable, but there is great difficulty found in supplying the stations across the desert with operators.

Silkworm Weavers.

Some ambitious silkworms of the neighborhood of Venice have woven by themselves a ribbon three yards long and three inches wide. When they reached the chrysalis stage, according to the Indianapolis News, instead of weaving round cocoons on the twigs prepared for them they preferred to travel up and down the smooth upper side of a strip of wood nine feet long and three inches wide. Back and forth they went, spinning their silken web until at last they made a beautiful ribbon, transparent in its center and golden yellow at the heavier edges. The scarf is amazingly strong for a fabric so delicately woven.

Stock Shipments.

Saturday and Sunday

Molesworth & Lewis	4 cars
White & Swearingen	5 "
C. B. Rider	3 "
Jinks-Curry	5 "

The first twelve cars were fat cows and calves and went to the Kansas City markets. The Curry shipment of five cars was steers, ones and twos, and went to pasture at Whitmore, Kansas.

We may well call this the first shipment of range fat stock for the season. It is rather early for this section along the line of butcher stuff, but stock in this vicinity, even at this date, are really in finer flesh than at any time last fall, and later on, stock shipped from here are going to be prime.

There are few if any buyers in the country at present, but the present tendency of the markets for good stuff is upward and as the good stuff is here and can be had at reasonable figures, the buyers are certain to put in appearance ere long.

T. F. Gilleland was in Tuesday after the last load of lumber needed to complete the Happy Methodist Church. He stated that this week would see it done except the seats, and that there would be preaching in it Sunday.

High Class Herefords.

To reduce my herd I offer at private sale

- 10 Beau Donalds heifers 1 year old
- 10 Beau Donalds heifers 2 year old
- 10 Bright Boys' heifers 3 year old

The 3s have calves at foot by Climax 5th, a 2600 pound bull, and will weigh a ton each easily. The 2s are in calf by Senator Wilton Grove.

I do not mean to say that I will sell the horns and tail of a Hereford or even its marking—but I will sell the Hereford in its broadest sense—those with individuality and quality—no better anywhere. This I guarantee. My Herefords are not pampered for show purposes but bred and raised for quality and for service as breeders on the range and will compare favorably with anybody's herd at any place—Northern breeders have no edge over me. I will make the prices right. Come and see the cattle—they speak for themselves—or write

District Court

Sam Wilson, indicted for theft of horses, was, on a plea of guilty, given three years "down the way." This disposed of the criminal docket for the term.

CIVIL DOCKET.

Lela Withey vs. A. W. Withey, for divorce; was dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

In cause of Lovie Montgomery vs. C. T. Montgomery, also for divorce, suit was dismissed, the case being compromised.

R. W. O'Keefe vs. P. O. Davidson et als, suit on note and for foreclosure; judgment for plaintiff in sum of $475.50 and foreclosure ordered against defendant Davidson's undivided interest in survey No. 68 etc. All other cases on this docket were continued.

The grand jury returned seven bills for offenses as follows:

- 1 for horse theft.
- 1 for adultery.
- 2 for perjury.
- 2 for subornation of perjury.
- 1 unlawful sale of liquor to minor.

Court adjourned Saturday evening and the following is the final report of the grand jury:

Honorable Ira Webster, Judge 47 Judicial District of Texas. We, the Grand Jury, empaneled at the July Term, A. D., 1905, of the District Court of Randall County; submit this, our final report for the term.

We have carefully investigated all violations of the criminal laws of the State of Texas, reported to have been committed in Randall County, and have returned five bills for felony and two for misdemeanors. Besides these cases we have in no instance found evidence sufficient, as we believe, upon which to warrant finding indictments.

The committee appointed by the Foreman from the Grand Jury to inspect the books and accounts of the county officers, report that they find the same all balanced and well kept, and that the County's business, so far as the committee had an opportunity to determine, is in a safe and good condition.

The public buildings and premises have been inspected by us and we report them in reasonably good condition and repair. The County jail we find cleanly and in a good sanitary condition. The only repair needed is a window pane which has been broken out and should be replaced by a new one.

It appears that at the late Confederate Soldier's Reunion in Canyon City there was considerable violation of the local option law, but that the officers of the county whose duty it was to attend to such matters, did their duty promptly and efficiently and not much of that nature was left for the Grand Jury to investigate. We feel that the County is to be congratulated on these conditions, and that it is to be generally congratulated on the peaceable, prosperous, law-abiding conditions prevailing generally in the County.

We have finished our labors as we believe and request to be discharged for the term.

R. W. O'Keefe,
 Foreman of the Grand Jury.

Notice!

Notice is hereby given to all persons, holding claims against the estate of C. B. Rider lately deceased, that the same will be paid, upon presentation to the undersigned properly itemized, and authenticated as required in administration. This August 11th 1905.

H. S. Moran,
 Attorney for Mrs. C. B. Rider.
 Post office address,
 Weatherford, Texas.

Wednesday of last week some party or parties, at present unknown, did take and carry away without the consent of the owner and with evident intent then and there to deprive said owner of the value thereof, about one quarter of a mile of T. D. Coffee's pasture fence. The fence taken was along the public road and nothing of it was left barring the holes from which the posts were drawn.

Sheriff Slover was at Hereford Sunday trying to catch up with the fellow that "got away" with Pete McIlroy's "shooting iron."

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hunt visited friends at Hereford Sunday.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Bright Wits Show to Advantage in the Game "My Garden."

Any number of persons may play this game. It requires no preparation, but the wits of the players must be bright and alert to make it a success.

The leader asks each player in turn what he planted in his garden, and the player may name any article he chooses, but the thing that "came up" must be some plant that has a connection with the article. The answers cannot therefore always be given instantly, as a little thought may be necessary to make the answer good. That, however, will make the game all the more entertaining.

Here are a few answers that show how the game should be played:

- "I planted some steps, and they came up heels."
- "I planted a ball, and it came up a rubber plant."
- "I planted a calendar, and it came up dates."
- "I planted a watch, and it came up a four o'clock."
- "I planted a ship, and it came up in dock."

A Geographical Puzzle.

If the following are to be found, first, the name of a continent; second, the name of a country in that continent, and, third, the capital of that country:

The baseball match had just begun. One of the players, an amateur, opened by striking the ball into another field, where they had to pay a boy a fine eventually before it could be found.

"He's a sailor; he's batting with a spar, isn't he?" laughed a man in the audience.
 "I don't know," replied one of the players. "He's certainly not sparing with the bat."

Tools For the Boy Carpenter.

For ordinary work you will require a good rip and crosscut saw, with twenty and twenty-four inch blades respectively; a claw hammer and a smaller one; a wooden mallet for chisels and to knock the lap joints of wood together; a jack and a smoothing plane, a compass saw, a brace and several sizes of bits, ranging from a quarter to one inch in diameter; a draw knife, square, awls, pliers, rule, several chisels, a screw-driver and a few other tools that will become useful at times, but which can be added as they are required.—St. Nicholas.

For a Party.

A pretty and ever pleasing diversion is to have in an adjoining room as many red balloons as children. Let these float through the room with strings attached. On opening the door have the children rush in and try to catch the strings. Balloons always delight little people, and the excitement of catching and proudly carrying them home as souvenirs forms a delightful ending for an entertainment.

The Senator's Part.

Senator Dryden tells of an unusual wager in his home city of Newark, made on the recent election for governor of New Jersey.

"Ten of our Republican business men," said the senator recently, "decided to guess what the governor's plurality would be. It was agreed that the one who guessed nearest to the vote should order a dinner for the entire number and that the one whose guess was farthest from correct should pay for the repast. 'The lowest guess was 5,000 Republican majority and the highest 15,000. The actual majority was about 50,000.' 'Were you one of the ten, senator?'"

"No," he answered, smiling with satisfaction. "I had something better than that. I was the invited guest of the ten when the dinner was eaten."—Washington Post.
