HOFFMAN PARAGRAPHS.

The recent rain has put a fine season in the ground. More wheat and rye will be sown.

Farmers have been very busy gathering in their crops; grain is fine. The plains have been very prosperous this year.

W. R. McClain is very sick at this writing. Rev. J. T. Burnett and wife of Canyon, visited him Sunday.

A. B. Cage has moved into his new house.

Mrs. Frazier of Deaf Smith, visited Mrs. B. T. Johnson last week.

I think all the correspondents ought to come to the front now and keep up with the city news, as "wireless telephone" on the plains is so successful.

Hurrah for our Umbarger correspondent! "Tassie" heartily indorses every word he said; if farmers could sell their produce in Canyon City, there would be no need to go to Amarillo to trade, or send orders to other points.

Would be glad to hear of "Uncle Dan's" whereabouts as he will likely go into winter quarters soon, and to know if old "Pids" has enough forage to carry her through the chilly breezes of winter.

TASSIE.

Best Treatment for Colds.

"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderate laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain indoors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough-Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? Then no unusual precaution is necessary to avoid contracting a fresh cold. It also counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by S. V. Wirt, Druggist.

The nepotist in office whether governor or 'way down the line, should be marked now and retired to the shades of private life as soon as possible.

As usual with Tammany when defeated, off will go the head of the Grand Sachem.

OUR BIG RETIRED LIST.

It would not be surprising if there was a revolt some time against the retired list of the army and navy. Through recent legislation and rapid promotions the retired list has become topheavy. There are now 3 lieutenant generals, 20 major generals and 250 brigadier generals on the retired list of the army. In the navy of the three highest grades there are 123 rear admirals, 18 commodores and 54 captains. The act of congress two years ago raised many men on the retired list one rank if they had seen service in the civil war and had not been advanced a grade on retirement. This swelled the list of brigadier generals a great deal, but 250 brigadier generals on the retired list is entirely out of proportion to the size of the army, either now or what it has been during the past forty years since the close of the civil war.—Washington Post.

Making Flawless Steel.

By the use of the substance called thermite, which consists principally of a mixture of aluminium and iron oxide and which possesses the property of continuing to burn spontaneously after having once been ignited, producing temperatures as high as 3,000 degrees C., it has become possible to make steel castings of enormous size and weight, free from flaws. The thermite is introduced into the steel as, in a molten state, it flows into the casting mold, and, igniting, it raises the mass to an extremely high temperature, thus filling up any flaws that may have started to form. When liquid iron is treated with thermite the metal shows much finer grains when it solidifies, and the surface possesses a remarkable polishing capacity.

Fined For a Laugh.

"Insulting behavior" is a very elastic charge in Australia. It may cover anything, from pitch and toss to manslaughter. Its latest application comes from Bendigo. In that golden-city, where the late Marquis of Salisbury tried his luck as a digger in 1852, the authorities of one of the churches decided to suppress juvenile giggling. They introduced a policeman in plain clothes, and he detected a couple of small boys laughing during the evening service. The boys were brought into court on a charge of "insulting behavior" and fined 10 shillings each, plus 11s. 6d. costs. There are very few of us who have not been guilty of this crime at some period of our lives.—London Standard.

Egyptian Embalming.

M. Berthelot, secretary of the Louvre museum, believes that he has discovered the secret of the agent used in embalming in ancient Egypt. After a laborious examination of the sarcophagi of the fifth and sixth dynasties, which date back as far as 3500 B. C., M. Berthelot has come to the decision that the oil employed was simply castor oil, such as is still used in Egypt, which has undergone some oxidization, but retained during the long period its preservative qualities.

Glace Chestnuts.

Skin and blanch twenty to twenty-five chestnuts and boil them for a quarter of an hour. Make a sirup with a pound of loaf sugar and a pint of water to which is added a teaspoonful of vinegar. Boil for fifteen minutes or till a rich sirup is obtained. Dip in the chestnuts, off the fire, singly on a fine skewer and stand to dry on an oiled paper. Some people like the addition of a slight flavoring to the chestnuts.

His Stronuous Wife.

Oldwed—Do you use condensed milk at your house?
Newed—No, but my wife gets busy occasionally and turns out a condensed cake.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Man and Woman.

Chicago Record Herald.

Comparing man with woman, Professor Chamberlain of Clark University says:

He is more gifted in art.

He has greater business capacity.

He is more industrious in business affairs.

He has more genius.

He is more intellectual.

He is more logical.

He is more gifted in invention and in composition in music.

He has more originality.

He has greater power in oratory.

We might add that:

He drinks more whiskey.

He uses more tobacco.

He possesses a larger assortment of "cuss" words.

He stays out later at night.

He yells louder when he is hurt.

He has to have more covering on his lungs.

He is more eager to kill things.

He is more likely to be crazed by love.

He bets on more horse races.

He gets in jail oftener.

Our right-of-way committee has been industriously at work for some days and has secured right-of-way from the county line to Plainview with two exceptions, (through small tracts) and these will come through, it is thought, when they take a proper look at the matter, figure up the advantages to accrue, the price of land at present, then by the rule of single subtraction, the actual amount of damage can be arrived at. This looks like a fair way to arrive at the damage, or to approximate it so closely that no room is left for contention. The speculator seldom gets rich by selling right-of-way to his neighbors who give it to the railroads.—Plainview Herald.

GOD'S COUNTRY.

Down in the Central portion of the State, from whence came the editor of The News, many of the folks are at present intensely agitated over the recent discovery of a wonderful land—"God's country." It is near the coast of Mexico where 'tis said that all the good things of life abound and may be had by all, simply for the gathering.

Several of our old friends and neighbors, tried and true men under normal or the ordinary conditions of life, have, Joshua like, visited that country and the stories they have brought back with them lay in the shade the report of that ancient worthy, Joshua, touching his finds in the promised land, "beyond the Jordan." On the strength of these reports, colonies have been formed, lands have been purchased and an advance guard has been chosen and sent forth, whose duty it is, after the manner of the Loop Indians, to clean the briars from the paths of their people who, in a short time with all their earthly chattels, will cut loose from kith and kin, native forests and mountains—all and more, for this paradise of great promise down in the land of the Monte zumas. Concerning it, R. T. Elliott, one of the advance guard, in the Copperas Cove News of Oct. 20, says:

"When I left Copperas Cove I told you that I would write you when I got somewhat settled. I have had a hard time getting here, was tied up in a R. R. strike on the Mexican Central—was six days getting from Monterey to Tampico. Left Tampico Thursday night at 12 o'clock and was two nights and one day from Tampico to this place. This is surely God's country. I like the country better than I did when I was here in August. Wilbur King and myself are cutting up the 15,534 acres of land and will have it ready in six or eight weeks for our people to come and take their land. We are going to have a whole lot of gringos down here, (that is what the natives call white people). I can't see for my life why people will cultivate the poor white rocky land in Coryell and Lampasas counties when they can buy as rich land as the sun ever shone on for from $3 to $5 per acre. They are still planting corn and all kinds of garden truck. I saw watermelons growing that were planted a year ago last August, and had melons on them. I see pumpkin vines that are two or three years old, and look as thrifty as if planted a few months ago. Corn that was five or six inches high when I was here in August is now in roasting ear.

"Oh say! I saw the darndest looking varmint yesterday that I ever looked at. It had a tail about two feet long and the body about the size of a large coon with a long head. It looked to be a cross between a coon and a monkey. They call them Koo-noons. It looked like it could put up a nasty fight. I am up the Panuco River one hundred and forty miles southwest from Tampico, but is only about sixty miles as the crow flies. I came up on the Steamboat Eagle. She had two barges in tow and for that reason we did not go very fast. But scenery was grand. I have been a little off since I came, but will be up on my feet in a day or two.

"There are thousands of deer, turkeys, chick-a-lacks, ducks, geese and wild pigeon here. Oh what a noise the parrots make! There is a blackbird that makes a noise between a frog croaking and the barking of a squirrel. There are a few black squirrels here. A native brought me a nice piece of venison today, another one brought me a plate of cracklins; they think it a fine dish." I told him it was bueno, (good.)

"I saw un poco boneto seniorita ests tardes. The natives are baling sarces today to ship to the States to make patent medicine of. I bought a bunch of bananas yesterday for thirty-five cents, Mexican money, fifty nice oranges for twenty-five cents, Mexican money, about the size you would get three for a dime in Copperas Cove, and the woods are full of lemons.

"We are having a light north wind this morning and the air feels quite cool—you must be having a cold norther in Texas. Today is Sunday, so we are not at work, we use six natives to cut the brush, or monta as they call it. We only make about two kilometers a day, and we have to work early and late to do that. Will write again soon."

"God's country?" Sure. In the all wise providence of the Creator there is a place for everything. There are climates where the white man does best; where the black man fits best, and where the copper and yel-

PLANT A HOME ON THE PLAINS OF TEXAS.

Paraphrased from Daniels Bros. lines on "Plant a Home in old Missouri."

Young beginners, in life's morning,
 Don't forget the rainy day.
 Sunshine cannot last forever,
 Or the heart be always gay.
 Save the dime and then the dollar,
 Lay up something as you roam;
 Choose some blooming spot of beauty;
 Some fair lot and plant a home.
 You too, who have babes around you,
 Coming up to take your place,
 Give them something to remember—
 Homestead memories let them trace.
 Would you feel the pride of manhood,
 Let the sun your dwelling greet,
 Breathe the blessed air of freedom—
 Own the soil beneath your feet.
 You too, who perhaps have squandered
 Life's fair morn, 'tis not too late—
 Start at once to woo bright fortune,
 Rail no more at so-called fate;
 Sow the golden seed of Saving;
 In the rich and quickening loam;
 Spend your last days in Texas,
 Enter heavens' gate from home.

Judicial Humor.

An Australian judge has just declared his determination to "put down laughter in court." A Melbourne paper advises him to begin with his brethren on the bench. "It is an extraordinary fact," says this candid critic, "that as soon as an otherwise sane man is raised to the bench he commences making vile puns and jokes, each of which should secure him six months' hard labor."

When the Bands Play "Dixie."

When the bands play "Dixie" the young fellows toss their hats on high and shout, "Hooray!" and cheer the glad processions. But the "old boys" who followed Lee and marched with Jackson feel the thrill of it from far and far away and look with dimmed eyes down the phantom lines and hear the bugle call—the call of the drums on the "eternal camping ground!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Farmers and Crime.

Here is a fact that city folks should remember when they are poking fun at the "country Reuben;" Farmers compose one-half of our population, but they only commit 2 per cent of our crimes.—Kansas City Journal.

Still Another Railroad.

"Seven big roads went to his house." Plutarch uses these words in telling how the people sought after an ancient worthy. And so it is with the Plains country—all the roads, railroads, are coming here.

The Frisco extension; Quanah via Hale Center to New Mexico; The Dallas and Northwestern; Dallas, Decatur, Floy dada and Lubbock to Roswell; The Plainview, via Tulia to Canyon City, with its right-of-way already secured and the surveyors now at work putting in the grade stakes and laying off switches and stations; and now another brand new one, the "Northwest Texas Railroad." This last filed its articles of incorporation last week giving its capital stock as $500,000. Big Springs is designated as headquarters with a line south to Kerrville and north through the counties of Martin, Dawson, Lynn, Lubbock, Hale, Swisher and Randall to Canyon City. Here we have six railroads and all of them said to be "certain as fate," to say nothing of the line coming from Stamford via Lockney or Floydado, to connect with the Pecos Valley at Canyon City.

With six sure, "dead sure" railroads coming this way "at once"—the Plains country is likely to pass the historic seven recorded by Plutarch, before it gets out of its swaddling clothes.

PERSONAL AND OTHER MATTERS THAT CONCERN OUR CITIZENS.

Very little aside from the well used bugbears of trusts, railroads, and such like matters, which properly come within the province of the National Congress, was discussed at the recent State political love feast. In ancient Democracies, Athens, for instance, it used to be asked, "and what proposeth thou to do," or words to that effect, and such should be the question propounded to candidates in Texas next year.

The camera doesn't lie, and this is emphasized by the Amarillo Herald of Tuesday, when it says:
"The current number of the Canyon News contained two pages of excellent half-tones of Randall county scenes, which was worth more in building up that favored section than all other factors used this year. It wasn't burdened with write-ups—the pictures spoke for themselves."

Croup.
A reliable medicine and one that should always be kept in the home for immediate use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will prevent the attack, if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

TEXAS FARMERS

Located in the Panhandle Country constitute a vast proportion of those who are out of debt; possess an abundance of all that is necessary to comfort and easy hours, and own

Bank Accounts.
Those who are not so fortunate should profit by all past experiences and recognize that these conditions are possible in

The Panhandle
as no where else for the reason that no other section now offers Really High-Class Lands at Low Prices and that the Agricultural and Stock-farming possibilities of this section are the equal of, and in some respects better than three to five times higher priced property located elsewhere.

In a word: Many magnificent opportunities are still open here to those possessing but little money, but prompt investigation and are advisable, as speculators have investigated and are fast purchasing with a knowledge of quickly developing opportunities to sell to others at greatly increased prices.

The Denver Road
sells cheap Round-Trip tickets twice a week with stop-over privileges.
