

NORMAL PICNIC ON JULY THE FOURTH

STUDENTS WILL BE TAKEN TO THE BIG CANYONS.

Faculty and Business Men to Furnish Free Transportation and Big Barbecue Dinner.

The annual picnic at the canyons will be held July Fourth under the supervision of the faculty of the Normal and the business men of Canyon. The picnic will be held for those attending the summer session of the Normal and all citizens who wish to participate in the festivities of the day. A big barbecue dinner will be held at noon.

A little different plan has been made this year for the transportation of the students. Tickets have been provided which will be issued to the students entitling them to a free ride. Every man who will take a wagon load will be given 25 cents each for hauling students the round trip. In this manner it will be known within a few days just how many can be expected upon to make the trip the canyons that day and will compensate the men who take teams. J. D. Gamble, Oscar Hunt, J. R. Cullum and H. W. Morelock are on this committee ask that all who will take loads on a wagon to report to them at once. The wagons will leave the court house at seven in the morning.

Free barbecue and bread will be furnished for dinner at noon. Each student and visitor is expected to take whatever else they wish for their dinner, but plenty of meat and bread will be furnished. J. W. Reid and David Thomas are on this committee. The town people are invited to join in the picnic, but the transportation committee states that the town people will be expected to furnish their own transportation as 500 students are expected to make the trip.

Moreland-Reed Marriage.

Miss Grace Moreland and Raymond Reed were married Friday afternoon by Rev. Holmes Nichols at the parsonage. Miss Moreland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Moreland of this city and Mr. Reed lives at Graham. He is a nephew of W. D. Scott, a former resident of this city, and they become acquainted when Mr. Reed visited here last summer.

Their marriage came as a great surprise as they announced their intent to only a few intimate friends. They left Saturday morning for Graham. The best wishes of Miss Moreland's many friends go with them.

Will Play Amarillo Fourth.

The Canyon baseball team will play the Monograms a third game on the morning of July Fourth. The Canyon fans have arranged for a special train to leave the city at nine o'clock and to return home about 12:30. The team will be made up of the same men as played the other two games.

County Raises Few Valuations.

The commissioners court raised several renditions last week and will sit as a board of equalization next Wednesday. The greatest raise made was in the railway property.

C. H. Jarrett was in Tulia Friday on business.

CANYON 4; AMARILLO 3.

Canyon Gets Revenge for the Defeat at Amarillo Decoration Day—Fast, Clean Game.

The Canyon boys evened up the baseball honors for the season Saturday afternoon by defeating the Monograms, of Amarillo by a score of 3 to 4. The game was one of the fastest of the season and both teams showed excellent form. Word pitched the first five innings for Canyon and was then replaced by Prichard. Both men did excellent work.

Canyon started the game lively, getting one score in the first inning. Amarillo evened up in the fourth and in the fifth, registered two more. Canyon following with another in the seventh and it then looked like the game was all over for the local boys. In the final period Campbell came up to bat first and was walked. In fact, out of the five times up Campbell was walked three times and hit with pitched balls the other two times. The visitors were afraid of him. Prichard and Starr both went out on little flies. Reynolds got a little hit which brought Campbell home and tied the score. Wallace advanced Reynolds to third on a safe hit and Black was walked. Reeves came to bat and on a wild throw Reynolds scored, thus winning the game for the locals.

Word struck out 5 men, walked 2 and allowed 4 hits; Prichard struck out 7 men and allowed 1 hit. Richardson, for Amarillo, struck out 5 men, hit 3 men, walked 7 and allowed 7 hits.

Railway Valuations Raised $93,560.

The commissioners court has raised the valuation of the P. & N. T. Railway physical property in Randall county from $6,000 to $8,000 per mile or a total amount in valuation of $93,560. The company rendered the property at $6,000 per mile. The court instructed Assessor C. Eakman to phone the assessors of adjoining counties what valuations were being placed on the railway property and he found that the values were from $8,000 to $10,000 per mile. Last year the company paid on a valuation of $5,625 per mile.

The intangible property of the railway is fixed by the state board and Mr. Eakman has not received this valuation. Last year this valuation was $10,000 per mile and probably be the same this year.

Visiting Kaffir Club Members.

L. L. Johnson, assist. agricultural demonstrator for the Santa Fe, is visiting the members of the Randall-Potter county kaffir club. Mr. Johnson is highly pleased with the progress being made by the members of the club. He says that in a majority of the cases the boys and girls are taking great interest in the work. That their crops are looking exceptionally fine. That all have good stands to begin with. And that the crops of these boys and girls are better than the crops of the men who are co-operating with the Santa Fe this year.

Mr. Johnson reports that Mr. Bainer has returned from California and taken up the work in the Panhandle territory.

Mr. Johnson is talking silo stronger than ever and hopes to see a silo on every farm in Randall county.

Miss Pearl Shelnett returned Wednesday night from Hico where she has been spending a two week vacation.

CATTLE BRING RECORD PRICE—ENSILAGE FED

Prominent Visitors at the C. O. Keiser Feeding Pens

Reading from left to right—C. O. Keiser, Owner; J. Brinker, General Passenger and Freight Agent of the Santa Fe; R. R. Selway, of Sheridan, Wyoming, a prominent stockman and brother-in-law to Mr. Keiser; E. W. Currie, associate editor of Country Gentleman, who was touring the Panhandle; N. H. Reed, publicity manager of the Santa Fe; H. M. Bainer, agricultural demonstrator for the Santa Fe.

ENSILAGE CATTLE BRING BIG PRICE

SOLD AT $9.00 and $8.85 ON KANSAS CITY MARKET.

C. O. Keiser Shipped Last Spring Calves Which Have Been Fed On Panhandle Grains.

C. O. Keiser shipped the last spring calves which he has been feeding on his ranch northwest of the city and on the Kansas City market Wednesday the best of the bunch sold for $9.00 per hundred and the remainder sold at $8.85. The extreme top price paid this year in Kansas City is reported to have been $8.85 until this shipment was placed on the market.

Mr. Keiser shipped 131 calves 93 of which have been in the feed lot since last November when they were weaned. They have been fed on kaffir-corn ensilage, maize chops, millet, sorghum and cotton seed cake, all of which with the exception of the cotton was raised in Randall county. Thirty-eight of the calves have been put in the feeding pens since January and one calf in the shipment had received no feed and was not weaned. When the cattle were sold, 21 of these late steers and 9 heifers were cut out and sold by themselves, but 8 were left with the bunch that sold for the high price.

The bunch bringing the high price paid on the Kansas City market up until yesterday were 26 steers which weighed 965 and sold at 9 cents, or $86.85 each. There were 41 steers which weighed 877 and brought $8.85, or $77.61 each. There were 34 heifers which weighed 689 and brought $8.85, or $60.97 each. Of the 30 which had been fed only a short time and which were shipped only to fill out, 21 steers weighed 705 and brought $8.25 and nine heifers weighed 660 and brought $8.00. The shipment amounted to $9,226.59.

Last fall Mr. Keiser had 148 calves, of which he shipped 55 of the best heifers to the Kansas City market before he decided to feed. These heifers broke the world's record for range calves at Kansas City. Had these heifers been fed and shipped with the best steers the average weight of the heifers would have been fully as much as the steers.

The record made with this bunch demonstrates the wonderful adaptability of the Panhandle country for cattle feeding. The native raised feeds and the silo are responsible for the record made with this shipment.

Two Building Additions.

J. B. Hensley and Mrs. Dale are building additions to their homes. Mr. Hensley is building a four room addition to his home in the northeast part of town. When completed he will have a fine nine room house.

Mrs. Dale is adding a 14x16 foot room to the three room cottage she built last fall on east Evelyn street.

City Equalization Board.

The board of equalization for the city of Canyon will be in session next Tuesday. Assessor J. H. Jowell sent notices to nearly one hundred people this week that their valuations had been raised by the city officials.

Mrs. Pearl Moriarty is in Adrian this week on business.

CONTRACT LET FOR OIL WELL

MILLER OIL WELL WILL BE STARTED THIS WEEK.

D. L. Hickcox of This City, Gets Contract for Big Well North of Canyon in Randall County

The contract for the big oil well on the Will A. Miller & Sons land north of Canyon was let last week to D. L. Hickcox of this city. Mr. Hickcox says he will begin as soon as he can bring his outfit from Hurley, which will probably be this week or the first of next week.

The contract for this big prospecting well calls for a hole 2000 feet deep, sixteen inches in diameter at the top and eight inches in diameter at the bottom so that the well may be put on farther down should no oil be struck and there appears to be favorable indications. Mr. Hickcox is farming extensively but he will personally oversee the work in order that no time may be lost. He has a large cable machine and will run all day and night. Two shifts of men will be used to take care of the machinery and he says that after they pass the first strata of water the machine will make 100 feet per day.

There several prominent men in Canyon and Amarillo interested in the well besides the principals, Will A. Miller & Sons. These gentlemen believe that there is oil in abundance in this section of the country and are putting up the money to put down this test well. The project will be watched with inter-

START NEW CITY WELL.

Contractor Will Begin Work Next Monday—Contract Calls for 425 Foot Well, 8 Inch Hole.

Edward Hyatt, contractor for the new city well, reports that he will begin Monday on the new city well which the city ordered last winter. This well will be 425 feet deep, start with a 10 inch hole and be 8 inches in diameter at the bottom. Barring accidents, Mr. Hyatt thinks the well will be completed within three weeks.

The city has one good well but the system has grown so much in the past year that one engine has hardly been able to supply the demand. When the new well has been completed and the big engine installed, Canyon will have the best water system on the Plains.

est by all the citizens all over the Plains as oil and gas in this section would mean great things for all the towns.

Prominent Lumberman Here.

J. M. Rockwell, of Houston was in the city Tuesday visiting Manager C. R. Burrow, of the Canyon Lumber Co. Mr. Rockwell reports that everything looks very fine on the Plains and that he is well pleased with prospects. He and Mr. Burrow went to the south Plains Tuesday to visit the other yards of the company. Mr. Rockwell is one of the largest lumber dealers in Texas. He has many yards all over the state and controls extensive timber lands in other states.

Mrs. David Thomas returned Thursday night from a two weeks weeks visit with friends in Clarendon.

664 ENROLLMENT IN THE SUMMER QUARTER

244 MORE THAN TOTAL ATTENDANCE OF LAST SUMMER.

Thirty Eight Enrolled This Week—Training School Begun Work Tuesday Morning.

The attendance in the Summer Normal reached 664 this week, or an increase of 38 over the attendance of last week. Compared with last year, this is double the number that enrolled the second week of the quarter.

The attendance at this date is 58 per cent more than the total attendance of last year, the net attendance of the summer quarter of 1912 being 420.

Students will continue to come for another week as they can enter the quarter next week in time to take the second series of state examinations. The law provides that they must attend a summer normal for six weeks previous to the state examinations.

The training school opened Tuesday morning with an enrollment of 80. President Cousins announces that a few more pupils can be accommodated in each grade above the first. Those wishing to enter children should do so at once. The school runs for two months, begins at 8:40, closes at 12:20 and each pupil will take four subjects.

A series of lectures by the members of the faculty was started Tuesday at chapel time. The public is invited to attend these lectures.

Clark Pelt left Thursday for Kansas on an extended visit.

T. Ry. Co., and running east three miles to the northwest corner of section 14, block 6, I. & G. N. R. R. Co. provided that all parties interested are favorable to the said change."

Expert Test of Thistles.

An expert analysis of the Russian thistle was received recently by parties living near Tullia who had sent samples to some chemist. The report shows that at an early age the thistle has the same properties as alfalfa.

Several cattlemen in Canyon have reported that the cattle are eating the thistles now in preference to grass. W. C. Baird says that he would rather have one acre of thistles than ten of grass at this time of year.

Miss Frankie Gober left Sunday for Tullia and Kress where she will visit with relatives and friends.

New Cemetery Fence.

The material for the new cemetery fence has arrived and work will begin within a few days. The north, west and south fence will be made of high woven wire and the east fence will be iron ornamental. A large double gate has been bought, with an arch on which will appear "Dreamland Cemetery." A small gate will be at the side of this arch. The new fence will be rabbit proof. The Civic Improvement League has raised money for the new fence and were given $200 by the commissioners court. The ladies are taking great interest in the work and hope soon to have a very beautiful cemetery.

Helps for Poultry Raisers.

Convinced that means could be found to overcome the loss of several million dollars a year in the egg industry, the Department of Agriculture at Washington D. C. has just completed an inquiry into the causes of bad and addled eggs. In a statement issued Friday, the investigators fix the blame on the farmers and poultry raisers.

"The greatest part of the loss is due mainly to ignorance or difference on the part of the farmer and producer," says the report, "and only a small part is caused by carelessness on the part of the buyer and shipper."

The department urges the observance of five simple rules in the conduct of the egg industry and sets them forth as follows:

- Give the hen clean nests.
- Gather eggs at least once daily.
- Keep eggs in a cool dry place.
- Market eggs at least twice a week.
- Kill or sell all mature birds as soon as the hatching season closes.
- Get some V-AVA at the News office.

PRESIDENT MEZES REPLIES

Many erroneous statements have been widely published about the position of the University authorities in the event that the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution No. 18 should be adopted. It seems fitting, therefore, that an authoritative statement should come from one who is in a position to speak for the University.

The amendment does not contemplate, and gives no authority for the consolidation of the A. & M. College and the University in Austin.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the Medical Department.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the College of Industrial Arts for women.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the Sam Houston Normal, the Southwest Texas Normal, the North Texas Normal, or the West Texas Normal.

The Amendment will in no way change the constitutional relations between the University and the A. & M. College of Industrial Arts, or the four state normals.

If the Amendment is adopted, the authorities of the University will continue to develop the course of study as seems best for the needs of its thirty-three hundred students. Four hundred and sixty-one of these students, in the regular session alone, came direct from the farm and more than a thousand of them are preparing to teach in the common schools. It is probable that the demands of these students will require more courses than we now offer in agriculture, both for those who plan to teach agriculture in the public schools and for those who expect to go back to the farm.

Should another disastrous fire revisit the College during the administration of a governor who considered appropriations for A. & M. buildings unconstitutional, how would it be possible to replace the burned buildings? I cannot think that the opponents of the Amendment have seriously considered the question.

I have spent twenty of my best years in educational work in Texas, and I expect to spend the rest of my life here. I am more confident than ever that the people of Texas wish to develop all their educational institutions and will deal generously by them. The pending Amendment, in my judgement, is the most equitable and beneficial measure in the interest of every higher educational institution that has been submitted to the people during my long residence in the state. I confidently urge every friend of education to vote and work for the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution Number 18.

S. E. MEZES,
President of the University of Texas.

Will Canyon Join?

Will Canyon get into the Cleanest City Contest? This question is being asked on every hand, but no definite steps have been taken. Dr. F. M. Wilson, mayor of the city, is very anxious that Canyon enter the contest. But before Mr. Wilson sends in the application for the city he wants to have the assurance of the business men and citizens that they will stand by him. A canvass is being made to ascertain who will be willing to keep their property free from weeds and filth in general.

Dr. Wilson suggests that the Civic Improvement League get to work on the proposition. He would like to see the ladies divide the city into districts and make a house to house canvass in the interest of this cause.

Canyon has the natural resources for the cleanest town in the state. The lay of the town insures perfect drainage. The town is laid off well in alleys. There is a splendid water and sewer system. The streets are well graded. The sidewalks generally are in good state of preservation. The buildings of the town generally are good. All that is needed is a disposition on the part of the citizens to keep the weeds and trash burned, all the filth cleaned up and all the weeds cut. We can do this. It will take a little work, but the people of Canyon have shown that they can do work and lots of it when once they get their heart set on a thing. Will we work for this prize?

Steps must be taken at once to enter this contest, as the final date of entry is July 1. CERTAINLY THE PEOPLE OF CANYON WANT A CLEAN TOWN!

The Civic Improvement League and the business men should tell Dr. Wilson they are with him in this contest.

Farm Facts.

(By Peter Radford, president Farmer's Union.)

Only hard work receives a recompense. The secret of success is constancy of purpose. Power is permanent when it is a product of principal. One of the greatest problems of civilization is to eliminate the parasite. Tomorrow may never come but the wise farmer plans for it just the same. No man ever climbed the ladder of success with his hands in his pockets. Progress is not only desirable and necessary but it is natural and inevitable. Hands that work and brains that think are the silent partners of successful farming. The person who expects something for nothing usually harvests a good crop of expectations. Don't forget good health when you take an inventory of your assets; its value outranks all others. Farm products are increased in value by getting them where needed at the proper time. Good roads increase values. The greatest need of the Texas farmer is cheap money and better marketing methods. The city man should stand behind the farmer instead of standing in front of him. Good roads annihilate distance and cancel space. They bring the farmer nearer the market and place the city man in closer touch with nature. Can't keep it secret. The splendid work of Chamberlain's Tablets is daily becoming more widely known. No such grand remedy for stomach and liver troubles has ever been known for sale by all dealers.

A number of Panhandle newspapers are fighting the amendment No. 18 which provides for bonds for the state educational institutions. Investigation shows that all of the institutions are very greatly in need of buildings and the only way they can procure these buildings is through this bond issue. Exaggerated reports have been spread wide over the state relative to this amendment. Many false statements have been made. The state institutions need this amendment and the News trusts that the liberal minded people of the Panhandle country will vote solidly for the amendment. The expenditure of money authorized by the amendment must be made if the educational institutions are to prosper as they should and it is only a question of whether the state shall give these institutions the proper support through the bond issue and thus obtain the best educational system in the United States, or we shall rely wholly on appropriations by the state legislature thereby greatly increasing taxes at the present time if the legislature sees fit to give proper support to the institutions, and if they fail to give this support thereby seeing our educational system retrograde. Good educational institutions mean much to the people of Texas and especially do the people of the Plains country which has been favored with the establishment of one of these great institutions. Let the Panhandle country be solid for the amendment.

What about that silo this year? There is no investment that the farmer can make that will bring him bigger returns than the silo. If you haven't the money, borrow or steal it and pay the fellow back next spring. The silo is absolutely the greatest feed reserver and preserver the farmer can get. It makes a small field of grain go further toward fattening stock than a large field under the old method. Get a silo this year.

The reduction of land values by the commissioners' court sounds mighty good to the tax payers, and the reduction in the tax rate will sound still better. Randall county has a royal good lot of men on the court who are looking after the interests of the county splendidly. Judge Coss, Commissioners Shelnett, Neece, Caylor and Park are running the county at a minimum expense and will do all in their power to make the taxes lower.

And still the students are coming. The attendance is greater than the most hopeful anticipated. The fine climate on the Plains and the excellently equipped school are receiving the approval of the teachers of Texas. One of the professors stated this week that next year there would be 1,000 students in attendance at the summer session. This means that more houses must be provided before that time. Good built and well furnished houses will always bring good rent and there should be more out toward the Normal. In the meantime, prepare to take care of a large number of regular winter students.

When Woodrow Wilson returns to the capitol building as an ex-president, he is not going to get lost as did Prof. Taft while looking for Champ Clark. Wilson is going to familiarize himself with the capitol and the people who stay there. Taft failed to do that.

Col. A. G. Richardson, of the McLean News, has been quarantined for small pox and last week escaped after the usual routine of fumigation. Rich didn't have it bad and his newspaper-friends are glad he is once more at the head of his flourishing paper.

Some of the Normal students got frightened last week at rain for seven days straight and threatened to leave. Fear not, it doesn't always rain for so long a time on the Plains. There will be much nice clear weather this summer.

"Another Precedent Smashed by Wilson," is a most frequent head line. That precedent family had better look out or Wilson will extinguish the whole tribe.

It is stated that the government will lose $1,500,000 on the free list revision. Mighty glad we are not the government or we might go busted.

A little boosting from every fellow and here comes the Panhandle Fair, the biggest and best fair in Texas. Will you help a little, brother?

The man who works hard all week is not going to worry over the germs that may be in the money he gets on pay day.

Uncle Joe Cannon says that "President Wilson is a sincere patriot." Sure, we knew it all the time.

The row crops are looking mighty fine. Look out for a big crop this fall. It's sure coming.

It is very evident that "Sugar at a Glance" will receive more than a glance from congress.

Don't Throw Out Papers.

So many papers are thrown on the streets that Mayor Wilson wishes to call attention to the city ordinance regarding this subject.

Ordinance No. 11. Section 1. To sweep, throw, deposit or cause or permit to be swept, thrown or deposited in any sewer, gutter, ditch, road, street, alley, sidewalk, or in front of any occupied premises any sweepings of trash, waste paper, rags, boxes, cans, rubbish, or filth of any kind.

Section 2. All such rubbish as named in the preceding section shall be by owner, lessee or occupant of such premises collected together and placed in a box, barrel, sack or other such receptacle and the same removed beyond the city limits at his or her expense; provided that such person may burn the same on his own premises if done in such a manner as not to be offensive or dangerous to the adjacent occupants or premises.

Kindly read, reflect and act.
 F. M. WILSON, Mayor.

Otto-Burrows Wedding.

On Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Guthrie B. O. Burrows and Miss Mable Otto were married. A few of the young lady friends of Miss Mable gathered with her at this home and very artistically decorated the parlors for the occasion. Mr. Burrows arriving on the 10:15 train, was met by Mr. Guthrie and conducted to the place where a number of friends had gathered to witness the tying of the "nuptial knot," John A. Wallace officiating. Mr. Burrows is telegraph operator at Sayre, Okla. and Miss Otto is one of Randall-county's best young ladies.

They left on the afternoon train Wednesday for McLean, where they visit Mr. Burrows' family, thence to his position at Sayre.

The Baptist Church.

The pastor will preach at both hours. The themes will be "In the Garden With Christ," and "In Heavenly Places With Christ Jesus." Altho thirty extra chairs were placed in the isles last Sunday night several people were turned away for lack of room, but special provisions in the way of additional chairs will be made to accommodate the large audiences attending our church. Special music at the evening service. All are cordially invited to worship with us. Strangers cordially greeted.
 HOLMES NICHOLS, Pastor.

Visitors From Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Brandt of Nebraska City, Nebr., arrived in the city Wednesday morning to look after their land west of town. This is Mrs. Brandt's first visit to Randall county. She says that she got very sick coming down on the train, and felt just like she did on the ocean when she visited her old home in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Brandt have a son they are thinking of sending to the Randall county land and are making this trip to look after conditions.

Two Pit Silos.

W. F. Thurman, eight miles north of Canyon, will build two pit silos this summer. He has bought some cattle to feed this winter with the ensilage. Mr. Thurman fed some cattle last year and reported to L. L. Johnson, (of the Santa Fe, that he cleared $1,000 more than he could have sold the grain he used on the market. Mr. Thurman is one of the most progressive farmers in this country and after several years experience thinks that maize, kafir, cattle and the silo are the quickest and surest way to prosperity.

Notice - Reward.

I will pay $25 reward for the apprehension and conviction of any person or persons representing themselves to be my authorized agents or solicitors. Arrest and wire at my expense. Dr. Claude Wolcott, Specialist, Amarillo, Texas. 2t

Presbyterian Reception.

The members of the Presbyterian Sunday School held a reception Monday night at the Rev. A. B. Haynes home in honor of the Presbyterian students who are attending the Normal. Over sixty were in attendance. Several interesting games and contests had been planned for the visitors. A large punch bowl on the lawn was the center of attraction during the evening.

More Rains.

A heavy rain fell east and south of town Tuesday afternoon. Two inches are reported a few miles southeast of the city. Wednesday afternoon showers fell most of the afternoon, doing a great amount of good around Canyon as the top of the ground was thoroughly wet. A heavy rain fell Wednesday afternoon all over the southern part of the county.

TO THE STUDENT

If you are not doing good work find the cause. One of the most frequent causes of dullness in school work or other mental labor is eye strain. If your nerves give you trouble it is probably due to unconscious eye strain. Your eyes may be under strain without you realizing the fact. What is a good light for others may not be sufficient for you. Some people require twice as much light as others for comfortable study. If you are not doing good work try a better light. ### More Silos Needed.

The Farmer's Union has been conducting an exhaustive investigation into agricultural conditions with reference to the cost of producing and value received for farm crops with a view of recommending a substitute for cotton as that industry is already suffering from over-production. In discussing the subject, President Radford of the Farmer's Union said: "The Lord made the greater part of Texas a cotton country and it will always remain the money crop of Texas so long as the farmers market this crop direct from the harvest field, but I believe with plenty of good live-stock and a silo a farmer can successfully raise feed stuff and he will be justified in planting less cotton and raising more live-stock."

The Federal Census reports show that we have 14,080,936 head of livestock in Texas and 96 per cent of our farms reported domestic animals.

There were 360 farms in Randall county that reported live-stock when the Thirteenth Census was taken according to a report just issued by the Federal Department of Commerce and Labor and the total number of domestic animals on these farms numbered 18,452, which has a combined value of $77,617. Cattle is the predominating class of livestock in this county as shown by the following table:

KIND	NUMBER	VALUE
Cattle	19,864	$326,655
Horses	2,706	281,105
Mules	705	128,105
Asses & burros	41	7,575
Swine	3,843	27,193
Sheep	62	357
Goats	8	27
TOTAL	18,452	771,617

26 New Farms Opened.

Twenty-six new farms are opened up in Randall county every year and the latest Federal Census Reports, which are based on data gathered in the spring of 1910 showing a total of 363 farms in this county at that time. In 1900 we had 96 farms. We have a total of $7,864,920 invested in farm property and our farms are worth $21,666 each including equipment.

Put One Eye Out, Suffered 36 Years from Skin Disease.

I suffered from a skin disease for 36 years, and about six months ago it attacked me of my eyes and put it out. After it was to late, I got a box of Hunt's Cure and begun to use it and I must say that it is the best remedy I have used in 36 years, and I believe it will cure any skin eruption.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from digestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

MOLLY McDONALD
A TALE OF THE FRONTIER
By RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc., etc.

"No; not now; both your explanation and mine can wait," he replied quickly. "I can stand alone now—see," and he regained his feet, swaying slightly with dizziness, yet smiling down at her as he held forth a hand.

"Good. We shall have to tramp a little way. In which direction did Dupont go?"
"Across the ridge there; see, that is his trail."

"Then he never saw our horses out- runder. That is one piece of good luck, at least. The sooner we get to them the better. I have been guilty of enough foolishness today to be careful hereafter."

"Why? Were these two enemies?"
"They had been partners, stealing and running cattle. Dupont had cheated Hughes out of his share, and there was bad blood between them. I ran across the fellow up on the Cimarron, waiting for Dupont to come back to its old range. Did you ever hear Dupont called by any other name?"

"No; wasn't that his real name? The woman back there—wasn't she his wife?"
"Was his wife, yes; but their name was not Dupont. That was assumed; the correct one was Le Fevre."

"Le Fevre! Why—why, wasn't that the name of the man you told me about once?—the officer who brought you those orders?"
"Le Fevre is the name. I did not know him at Dodge; not until Hughes told me. He had changed greatly in appearance, and I only saw him at night, but it was because I knew that I talked to kill him here; I wanted him alive, so I could compel him to tell the truth."

"She gave a little sob, her hands clasped together. The man's voice softened, and he took a step nearer, bending above her.
"And yet now I do not care quite as much as I did."

"He looked up quickly into his face, and as swiftly lowered her lashes.
"You mean you have found other evidence?"
"No, but I have found you, dear. You need not try, for I am not going to let you get away. It is not the officer's daughter and the enlisted man any more. Those barriers are all gone. I do not mean that I am indifferent to the stain on my name, or any less desirous of wringing the truth from Gene Le Fevre's lips, but even the memory of that past can keep me silent no longer. You are alone in the world now, alone and in the shadow of disgrace—you need me."

"He stopped, amazed at the boldness of his own words, and in the silence of that hesitation, Molly lifted her eyes to his face.
"I think I have always needed you," she said simply.
He did not touch her, except to clasp the extended hands: The loneliness of the girl, here, helpless, alone with him in that wilderness of snow, bore in upon his consciousness with a suddenness that robbed him of all sense of triumph. He had spoken passionately, recklessly, inspired by her nearness, her dependence upon him. He had faith that she cared; her eyes, her manner had told him this, yet even now he could not realize all that was meant by that quiet confession. The iron discipline of years would not relax instantly; in spite of the boldness of his utterance, he was still the soldier, feeling the chasm of rank. Her very confession, so simply spoken, tended to confuse, to mystify him.

"Do you mean," he asked eagerly, "that you love me?"
"What else should I mean?" she said slowly. "It is not new to me. I have known it for a long while."

and that far from brilliant—as he remembered the long, desert ride from the distant cow camp on the Cimarron—lay in immediate departure. Every moment of delay served to increase their peril. Even beyond the danger of Dupont's report to Black Kettle, this snow-bound valley was not so far away from that chief's camp as to be safe from invasion by young warriors in search of game. All this flashed upon Hamlin's consciousness instantly, even as his heart thrilled to her frank avowal.

"This is so strange I can hardly realize the truth," he said gravely. "But, dear one, we must talk elsewhere, and not here. Life was never before worth so much as it is now, and every instant we waste here may mean capture and death. Come, there are two ponies at the mouth of the valley."

"You can walk? It is not far."
"Yes, the numbness is all gone."
He was all seriousness now, alert and watchful, the plainsman and the soldier.

"Then come; I'll break trail."
"Where is the Indian village?" she asked, her voice trembling slightly.
"Beyond those bluffs; at least Hughes thought so. We saw their pony herd in the valley below, mere dots against the snow."

"Ten minutes later, plowing through the intervening drifts, they came forth to the broad vista of the valley and the two patient ponies standing motionless.
CHAPTER XXXIII.
Molly's Story.

The two rode steadily, following the trail left by Hamlin and Hughes earlier in the morning. As there had been no wind, and the cold had crusted the snow, the tracks left by the two ponies were easily followed. As they skirted the ridge the Indian pony could be distinguished, sufficiently close by this time to leave no doubt as to what they were. Hamlin cautiously kept back out of sight in the breaks of the ridge, although his keen eyes, searching the upper valley, discovered no sign of pursuit. Fired as Dupont's horse undoubtedly was, he might not yet have attained the Indian encampment, which, in truth, might be much farther away than Hughes had supposed. The fact that no spirals of smoke were visible puzzled the Sergeant, for in that frosty air they should naturally be perceived for a considerable distance. Possibly, however, the bluffs were higher and more abrupt, farther up stream, affording better chances of concealment. Indeed it was quite probable that the Indians would seek the most sheltered spot available for their winter camp, irrespective of any possible fear of attack. Reasonably safe from a winter campaign, the atrocities of the past summer would naturally tend to make them unusually cautious and watchful.

Molly, muffled to the eyes in her thick blanket, permitted her pony to follow the other without guidance, until they both dipped down into the hollow, safe from any possible observation. In some mysterious way the overpowering feeling of terror which had controlled her for days past had departed. The mere presence of Hamlin was an assurance of safety. As she watched him, erect in saddle, his blue overcoat tightly buttoned, his revolver belt strapped outside, she no longer felt any consciousness of the surrounding desolation or the nearness of savage foes. Her heart beat fast and her cheeks flushed in memory of what had so swiftly occurred between them. Without thought, or struggle, she gave herself unreservedly to his guidance, serenely confident in his power to succeed. He was a man so strong, so resourceful, so fitted to the environment, that her trust in him was unquestioned. She needed to ask nothing; was content to follow in silence. Even as she realized the completeness of her surrender, the Sergeant, relaxing none of his watchfulness, checked his pony so that they could ride onward side by side.

"We will follow the trail back," he explained, glancing aside at her face. "It is easier to follow than to strike out for ourselves across the open."
"Where does it lead?"
"An old cow-camp on the Cimarron. There is a trooper there waiting. Shall I tell you the story?"
"I wish you would."

"And then I am to have yours in return—everything?"
"Yes," she said, and their eyes met.

"There is nothing to conceal—from you."
He told his tale simply, and in few words; how he had missed, and sought after her in Dodge; how that searching had led directly to the discovery of crime, and finally the revelation of Major McDonald's body. He told of his efforts at organizing a party to follow the fugitives, inspired by a belief that she was a prisoner, of the trip through the blizzard, and of how he had succeeded in outstripping Dupont in the race.

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

The Mere Presence of Hamlin Was an Assurance of Safety.

—that I must have fainted. At any rate I remembered nothing more distinctly until we had crossed the river, and I was on horseback wrapped in a blanket, and tied to the saddle. Some one was holding me erect; I could not move my arms, but could see and hear. It was dark, and we were moving slowly; there were two Indians ahead, and a white man riding each side of me. They thought me unconscious, and spoke occasionally; little by little I recognized their voices and understood their words.

Her voice broke into a sob, but the Sergeant's eyes were still gazing vigilantly out over the snow-clad hills.

"It is hard to tell the rest," she said finally, "but I learned that it was not robbery, but the betrayal of trust. My father was guilty, and yet at the same time a victim. I only got the truth in snatches, which I had to piece together, although later I learned other details. Mrs. Dupont had bled my father through some knowledge she had gained of his sister's family. I cannot even imagine what this could have been, but it was sufficient for her purpose. He gave her all he had, and then—then she heard of this government money being sent to Ripley. She had known about that for several days through the Lieutenant, and had ample time to arrange the plot. My father must have been crazy to be did, he did. The woman compelled him to it."

"I understand, Molly," broke in Hamlin, anxious to spare her the details. "They were to pretend robbery, but with the Major's connivance. An officer impersonating him was despatched to Ripley by stage. This would prevent any immediate pursuit. Later the Major was to be released, to return to Dodge with his story. The projection of yourself into the affair disarranged the entire plot, and then a quarrel occurred, and your father was killed."

"Yes; it was over what should be done with me; although I believe now they intended to kill him, so as to retain all the money. The older Indian bred the shot treacherously."

"And Connors?"

"Dupont killed him; they were both drunk, and the soldier fired first, but missed."

"And after that?"

"She covered her face with her hands."

"It was all a dream of continuous sorrow, yet through it all, I do not recall consciousness of physical torture. I seemed to be mentally numbed, my brain a blank. It was a realization of my father's guilt more than my own danger which affected me—that and his death. They were not unkind nor brutal. Indeed I do not clearly recall that I was ever spoken to, except when some necessary order was given. One night I heard them discuss what should be done with me; that I was to be hidden away in Black Kettle's camp. Generally Dupont spoke to the Indians in their own tongue, but that night he thought me asleep. I—I had so hope left—not even faith that you could ever rescue me."

Hamlin's hand clasped hers firmly, but his eyes were riveted on something in the distance.

"Wait," he said, checking his horse, "what is that? See; down in the valley of the creek! Is it not a moving body of men?"

He stepped back, where he could look directly into her face.

"They are soldiers all right, but that was not what I wanted to be so certain about. When we ride down there, Molly girl, we shall be swallowed up into the old life once more, the old army life."

"Yes."

"Perhaps you do not realize how different it will all be from out here alone together."

"Why should it be different?"

"I shall be again a soldier in the ranks, under orders, and you Major McDonald's daughter."

"But—but—" her eyes full of appeal.

"No, little girl," he explained quickly, reaching up and touching her gently; "we are never going to say anything about that to those down there—his comrades in arms. It is going to be our secret. I am glad you told me; it has brought us together as, perhaps, nothing else could, but there is no reason why the world should ever know. Let them think he died defending his trust. Perhaps he did; what you overheard might have been said for a purpose, but, even if it were true, he had been driven to it by a merciless woman. It is ours to defend, not blacken his memory."

She bent slowly down until her cheek touched his.

"I—I thought you would say that," she returned slowly, "but what else you said is not so—there will never again be a barrier of rank between us." She straightened in the saddle, looking down into his eyes. "Whoever the officer may be in command of that detachment, I want you to tell him all."

"All?"

"Yes, that we are engaged; I am proud to have them know."

The truth was shining in her eyes, glowing on her cheeks. She leaned forward.

"Kiss me, and believe!"

"Molly, Molly," he whispered, "Never will I doubt again."

They could perceive the blue of the overcoats as they rode over the ridge, and at their sudden appearance the little column of horsemen came to a halt. Hamlin fung up one hand in signal, and the two urged their ponies down the side of the hill. Three men spurred forth to meet them, spreading out slightly as though still suspicious of some trick, but, as they drew near, the leader suddenly waved his hand, and they dashed forward.

"Hamlin! Glad to see you again," the first rider greeted the Sergeant cordially. "Can this be Major McDonald's daughter?"

"Yes, Major Elliott; I can repeat the story as we ride along, sir. You are the advance of Custer's expedition, I presume?"

"We are; the others are some miles behind, moving slowly so that the wagons can keep within touch. Wonderful the way those wagons have pushed ahead over the rough country. Have only missed camp twice since we left Fort Dodge."

"When was that, sir?"

"Before the blizzard all except your troop were at Camp Supply; they had joined since, and it was then we heard about your trip down here. What became of your men, Sergeant?"

"Wasson and one private were killed, sir; the other private was frozen so badly I had to leave him in shelter on the Cimarron."

"By gad, it sounds interesting; and so you tackled the villains alone, and had some fight at that before rescuing Miss McDonald. Well, the story will keep until we make camp again. However," and he bent low over the lady's hand, "I must congratulate Miss McDonald on her escaping without any serious injury."

"That is not all I should be congratulated upon, Major Elliott," she said quietly.

"No—perhaps I do not understand."

"I desire that you shall; I refer to my engagement to Sergeant Hamlin."

The officer glanced in some bewilderment from her face to that of the silent trooper.

"You—you mean matrimonial?" he stammered, plainly embarrassed, unable so suddenly to grasp the peculiar situation. "Hamlin, what—what does this mean?"

"Miss Molly and I have known each other for some time," explained the Sergeant bluntly. "Out here alone we discovered we were more than friends. That is all, sir."

For an instant Elliott hesitated, held by the strange etiquette of rank, then the gentleman conquered the soldier, and he drew off his glove, and held out his hand.

"I can congratulate you, Miss McDonald," he exclaimed frankly. "I have known Sergeant Hamlin for two years; he is a soldier and a gentleman."

The red blood swept into her cheeks, her eyes brightening.

"He is my soldier," she replied softly, "and the man I love."

They rode together down the steep hillside covered with its mantle of snow to join the little body of troopers halted in the valley. Only once did Elliott speak.

"You know Black Kettle's camp, Sergeant?"

"We were almost within sight of it, sir. I saw his pony herd distinctly."

"Where was that?"

"On the Canadian, close to the mouth of Buffalo Creek."

"Did you learn anything as to the number of Indians with him?"

"Nothing definite, but it is a large encampment, not all Cheyennes."

Panhandle Athletic Association.

The following article appeared last week in the Hale County Herald, Plainview:

"An athletic association composed of Clarendon College, Goodnight College, Lowrey-Phillips Academy, at Amarillo, the State Normal School, at Canyon, and Wayland College and Seth Ward College, both at Plainview, has been proposed by the recently organized athletic association at Goodnight.

"The association will be modeled after the Texas Inter-Collegiate Association or associations of colleges in the middle West. Uniform rules of eligibility will be fixed for all colleges, and a fixed schedule of games would be played. In that way it would be easy to determine which school came out champion each year."

The News wishes to call attention to the fact that just such an organization has been in existence for three years. Three field meets have been held at Canyon and invitations have been sent each year to all these schools to send teams, but none of them responded. Coach John George Miller, of the Normal, has been elected manager of the association each year and is anxious to see all the schools of the Panhandle in the organization.

The association wishes to foster clean athletics in every school and if all the colleges will come and agree to play only certified students on their teams, athletics in the Panhandle will be cleaner and the sports generally more manly.

The schools that are in the association hopes to see all the remainder of the schools enter this next year. Athletics will make a great forward stride as soon as each school is willing to play the games strictly according to the rules.
