

GETTING READY FOR STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

C. R. McAfee Will Go With Exhibit to Dallas—Asks for Good Samples at Once

At a meeting of the directors of the Canyon Business Men's Association Thursday morning C. R. McAfee was selected to take charge of the exhibit and to go to Dallas with the Randall county display.

A committee composed of H. W. Morelock, D. A. Park and C. R. McAfee are preparing literature which will be distributed by Mr. McAfee while in Dallas.

The exhibit will be collected at the court house, and Mr. McAfee is making the following request for samples.

In checking over the list of products offered us for the Randall County Exhibit at the Dallas Fair we find that we are short of the following varieties, and will be very grateful to have them furnished by some one.

Apples, Pears, Peaches, Plums, Grapes, Strawberries, Irish Potatoes, Sweet Potatoes, onions, okra, carrots, parsnip, egg plant, celery, garlic, gourds, cauliflower, pumpkins, watermelons, canteloupes, dry beans, dry peas, turnips, cucumbers, kohlorabi, threshed millet, threshed sorghum, speltz, hand threshed new maize and kaffir, sudan grass seed, seeded ribbon cane, bundle millet, baled sudan and sorghum, baled johnson grass, red kaffir, white maize, feterita, barley, indian corn pop corn, peanuts, broom-corn, red top can heads black amber heads, canned fruits of all varieties as well as canned beans and other vegetables.

Kindly look over the above list and see how many of the needed varieties you can furnish and let the undersigned know at your earliest opportunity for in order to make a creditable at the Dallas Fair we must have the cooperation of everyone and then some. In preparing fruits and vegetables for the exhibit please leave a good long stem or part of the vine on each product. In preparing threshed grain please have at least one peck of each variety and re-clean as well as possible. In preparing kaffir, other heads, please cut the stalk near the ground and strip it of all leaves and tie in bundles of ten stalks, being sure to tie the same near the heads and also middle of the bundle. We may not need to take all the stalks with us but we can very easily remove the heads after all our stuff is assembled. Baled hay etc. should be put up in not less than 35 pound bales and tied with three wires. Make the bales very compact and short.

In order to have our exhibit shipped to Dallas in time it will be necessary to have all this stuff in Canyon not later than October 5th. When bringing it in you can find me at the Guthrie Garage where I will be glad to receive the stuff and see that it is properly marked. If you prefer you can leave it in the Court House in the north wing of the rotunda.

Now lets everybody do our share and make this Dallas Exhibit worthy of our great county. We want to make the folks in the forks of the creek "set up and take notice." So let everyone Pull and all Pull together.

Dynamite Fish.

J. M. Myers is looking for parties who went into his creek pasture week ago Sunday or Monday and dynamited the two fishing holes just below the club house dam.

He first discovered the fact last Wednesday when he happened to be below the dam and saw a few fish dead along the creek. He thought it queer that fish would die in fresh water and started up the creek. The fishing holes, two of them, were literally covered with dead fish, as the result of dynamite.

Christian Services.

All members of the Christian church are urged to be present next Sunday morning. There are matters of business to be attended to. Also there is a definite proposition facing the members as to employing a pastor for the church.

BIG WHOPPER CANNON PASS THROUGH CITY

Five car loads of big whopper cannons destined presumably for El Paso passed through Canyon over the Santa Fe Friday afternoon, pulled by one of the larger engines of the system.

The guns were made in the north and started at once upon their journey to the Mexican border. Just where the guns will be stationed has not been learned, but they will probably be placed temporarily at El Paso, Eagle Pass, or some other border city.

The Santa Fe a short time ago secured a number of cars of monster cannon from ships at Galveston and carried as far as Sweetwater, where delivery was made to the Texas and Pacific line.

HEREFORD TENNIS PLAYERS WIN IN THE TOURNAMENT

Saturday night there was a great deal of lightning, and in the southern portion of the county came reports of stock being killed. A little hail fell, but not enough to injure the growing crops.

Col. E. J. Hernan of Washington was through the city Saturday inspecting the auto road running south with a view of making recommendations regarding the establishment of a national highway. The grand jury was dismissed Thursday afternoon after filling the following report with Judge Umphres:

We have been in session seven days and have examined about sixty witnesses and have presented into court four indictments for felonies and two for misdemeanors. Certain matters which were before us we were unable to find sufficient evidence upon which to warrant presentment of indictments and have presented indictments in every case wherein we believe the evidence did warrant such action.

A True Story from Slaton Life

Slaton Stationer:

A few moons ago two itinerant pain daubers who styled themselves landscape portrayers arrived in Slaton, presumably and to all indications broke. That is, the brush wielders were broke. Slaton was not—that is the reason they came to Slaton: But adorning the landscape with the caricature which their thin shadows made as the day's lengthened towards nightfall, didn't satisfy an aching void, so the road artists formulated plans to rifle the tills of our merchants in a legal way. They made a dummy of a purportedly enchanting mountain scene that they purposed to transfer to a signboard which would be planted on somebody's land near the depot, so that he who ran thereabouts might read. For a few simoleons per these traveling painters compromised their conscience for inartistically adorning the landscape in printing the names of various business firms of the city around the alluring waterfall of the mountainside. They secured the work from the merchants under the magic word "Advertising."

The sign was duly placed, but its attractiveness on paper was not apparent on boards. It was an eye sore to an otherwise unobjectionable view. The first strong wind that came blew the thing over on its face—even nature seemed to have been outraged. There the sign reclined in its lowly attitude, and grasshoppers and ants explored the mountain fastnesses. Then a good man came along and took the sign away to patch a hole in a pig pen. The paint was good; it will preserve the lumber for years. The hogs will improve their temperaments and put their intellect on a higher plane by gazing at the beautiful mountain scenery.

Here is the moral: Advertising is one of the biggest, if not the biggest, assets of any business. But business men should make a distinction between legitimate appropriations for advertising and giving dollars to the petty fakir who grafts them under the lure of big results. The fakir knows that the business man recognizes advertising as a big item in business, and in promoting alluring advertising schemes he takes advantage of a merchant's ambition for bigger trade and immediate results.

Progressive business men are rapidly learning that all schemes that promise big and immediate sale dividends are losing investments. Many commercial clubs are organizing against the advertising grafters by having a committee to investigate all such schemes presented and to pass on them. If the committee approves the plan, then such business men as desire may put their money in it. If the committee rejects the scheme, then no business man will have any thing to do with it.

All business men want to encourage any enterprise that will help build the city, and they must be protected from the grafter. Very few merchants have time enough to fully investigate a proposition, so they subscribe to it just because their competitor does. There are hundreds of dollar picked up in every town each year by petty grafters working under the magic name, Advertising.

Premiums never won any trade. Good merchandise, low price, and courteous treatment is all the stock in trade that a merchant can use profitably. And then talk to the people of a community every week through the medium of the local newspaper, that goes right into their homes and is read assiduously, and you have done all that a merchant can do to boost your business.

A premium seller doesn't care whether a merchant gets new business or not. His business is to sell the premiums to the merchants, and he conceals his real motive by urging the premiums as a medium of advertising.

The Slatonite may be accused of talking in our own interest. For the sake or argument, we will grant that. But we do not regret seeing business men fleeced time after time by advertising schemes that have no value whatever.

Newspaper advertising has long since been passed upon by Mr. Business as being a profitable investment. We send a paper into a large per cent of the homes in this part of the South Plains once a week regularly, year in and year out. We have a good list of subscribers who pay us cash for the paper, so we know that we give one hundred per cent value for every dollar spent with us for advertising.

We object to the fakir coming along and proselting our legitimate business in order to get money from the business men of Slaton.

A great deal of dust is being kicked up in this state over the question, "Does prohibition prohibit?" Figures in bewildering array are being presented by the so-called prosperity league to show that it does not. It isn't necessary, however, to study statistics to come to a certain conclusion on his question, says the Nebraska Farmer. If prohibition does not prohibit, it is as much liquor as every is sold under it, why do brewers and distillers always oppose prohibition? And what of it if prohibition does not stop the use of liquor? When the saloons are closed temptation is removed from the boys and young men. The important thing is to close the saloons, the open highways to the drinking habit. That prohibition does close the saloons in all law-abiding communities cannot be questioned.

EASY EGG AND #### BUTTER MONEY

Panhandle Herald:

The question: "How can the wife on the farm be independent of her husband's bank account and have spending money of her own?" has been easily solved by Mrs. J. J. Holcomb, living eight miles west of Panhandle.

Saturday while Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb were in town, the Herald editor inquired of Mrs. Holcomb if she had kept a record of her butter and egg sales since the first of January.

"Yes," said she, "From my flock of hens now numbering 85, having sold two dozen since the first of the year, I have sold up to today, Sept. 9th, 579 dozen eggs, for which I have received $106.51; chickens sold, $15.30; butter, 155 lbs., $40.45; milk, $47.45, making a total of $209.71."

Besides the amount sold," continued Mrs. Holcomb, "we have had all the eggs we cared to use and I set enough to raise about 200 young chickens. We have also had plenty of milk and butter for our own table besides the amount we have sold from the four and five cows we have been milking. As to the expense of feeding the chickens, it is practically nothing, as they live off the waste around the feed lots."

"I don't believe there is anything that will pay the farmer more for the amount of money invested in a flock of 100 young hens," were Mrs. Holcomb's closing remarks, and the Herald heartily agrees with her statement.

Last year Mrs. Holcomb sold 529 dozen eggs for $76.03; Fiftytwo chickens, $19.25; Thirty turkeys, $32.50; butter, 228 lbs., $54.60; milk, $47.05; vegetables $4.60; making a total of $234.03.

Cut Out the Cows That Don't Pay Their Way.

It is strange with what tenacity the average dairyman hangs on to his poor cows. It is generally true that in the average herd about one-third of the cows do not pay their feed bills; another third about pay their way but make no profit; while the other third are profitable.

This being true, the average dairyman would be better off with one-third the cows he is now caring for and milking. Only the average dairyman can see the economy of milking cows that make no money or even cause a loss, but he will tell you he just must have the milk, that he can look after a large herd more economically than a small one, and a lot of other similar fallacies. He cannot attend to a large herd of cows, one-third of which are unprofitable, as economically as he could the one-third which alone makes any money; but he is generally dead set in his refusal to get rid of the poor cows. In fact, his fondness for keeping cows which will not pay their keep is strange, beyond understanding.

The dairyman who does not weigh the milk and keep a record of each cow's production is in about the same position as would be the merchant who didn't keep books. It must be that these dairymen don't believe that there are cows in their herds that are not paying for their keep, but in that case the results are not altered, the unbelievers pay the penalty just the same.

A Thought for the Week.

The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain of the stupidity of his helpers, of the ingratitude of mankind, or of the inappreciation of the public. These things are all a part of the great game of life, and to meet them and not go down before them in discouragement and defeat, is the final proof of power.—Elbert Hubbard.

In a recent interview Luther Burbank, when asked how much land is really necessary for the average man to use, replied: "A thousand acres for an Indian, a hundred acres for a farmer, 10 acres for an orchardist, one acre for a good market gardener, half an acre for a flower or seed man, and for an experimenter like myself a graveyard lot will do.—Orchard and Farm.

We Sell Chandjer Coal from the Chandjer Mine

Chandler is Mined in the Canon City District of Fremont County, Colorado

NOTE THE DIFFERENCE:

Canon Coal is not Chandler. There is only ONE Chandler, but a dozen kinds of so called Canon. The coal companies say to us their Canon Coal is as good as Chandler. Never has one claimed to us yet their's is better. Now, if Chandler is so good [which it is] that competing companies acknowledge its merit, why take any risk? Buy the GENUINE Chandler, which is the best—and you can't better the best.

SILK PRODUCTION FOR TEXAS FARMERS

The silk farm of the Austin silk plantation is the largest in the United States. The success of his plant is becoming more certain every day. This farm has 40 acres of mulberry trees imported from France. There are 12,000 trees on the tract. In addition to these trees here are 60,000 cuttings that will soon be large enough to stock other farms in different portions of the state.

The Austin company was organized in three hours one afternoon in April, 1916, after the Austin Chamber of Commerce had worked on the proposition for four months. It was incorporated for $12,500 and among the purposes for which it was created was the leading purpose of spreading the raising of silk over the state of Texas.

Today this company has prepared 3,000 silk exhibits showing the production of silk from the egg to the finished product. These exhibits are to be placed in the schools of the state to encourage the introduction of this new crop. In addition to this the company is now raising 200,000 silk worms which will produce as many cocoons before this article will reach the readers of this paper.

It is the intention of Dr. V. K. Osigian, the Armenian expert who is in charge of this plant, to make it possible for the boys and girls all over the state, on all the farms, to raise silk and pick up a lot of pig money which they would never have otherwise. By raising silk there is no reason why many a bank account cannot be built by the boys and girls over the state for their future education in the state university or some college.

The mulberry tree will grow on any kind of soil. It matters not whether the land be black, clay, sand, limestone or what not, for the mulberry trees will grow there. The preparation required to grow the trees is not at all difficult or expensive. The method is very simple. It is believed that it is a matter of only a short time until all the small patches of overflowed land on the farms of the state will be planted to mulberry trees and the children of the tenant and land owner alike can assist in the purchase if a home.

The silk worm will work from the first of March till the first of November at Austin. He will make six crops a year there against two crops in France or Italy.

The United States imported in 1915 over $200,000,000 worth of raw silk. This is the average price of a Texas cotton crop. Texas can produce this much silk alone, and not cut out an acre of cotton or any other crop, by just using the waste land about the farm homes and on the overflowed creek banks.

The Austin company is in the business to stay. Already tens of thousands of eggs have been shipped out to commercial clubs, business men, farmers, school teachers, demonstrators, and others. Austin is being surrounded by a silken web. Plans are now under way to construct a raw silk produced in the state next year. There will never fail to be a market here. The price of raw silk has advanced from $3.25 a pound in July, 1914, to nearly $8 per pound in July 1916.

The prospects are pleasing and it now seems that the gains are to the man, woman or child who gets in the game.

It is the earnest desire of those who are backing the Austin silk company that thousands of acres of waste and overflowed land in Texas may be used at an early date in the production of the mulberry tree and that the money thus added to the wealth of the state will raise hundreds of mortgages as well as educate the children of those who now are denied those privileges. Raising silk is far easier than raising cotton or chickens. The worms are no trouble whatever and the smallest child can handle the work.

Hereford Show is Best in the West.

"The Hereford division of the livestock exhibits at the Panhandle State Fair is the best I have seen this year," declared R. J. Kinzer, secretary of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders Association, at the Amarillo Hotel. Mr. Kinzer has made it a point during the fall to visit every Fair in the country worthy of attending. Such a statement from so well informed a man should buoy up every Panhandle stockman and Amarillo citizen.

Mr. Kinzer, in the interview, had the following to say:

"I attended the Iowa State Fair a week ago last Friday. This show, as every one knows, is famous for its liberal and generally unexcelled line of Herefords. While the stock exhibited there was the cream of the country, I must say that the exhibit as a whole cannot approach the exhibits which I saw at your Fair today. The class of your stock is much better than the Iowa stuff. Reason for this may be found in the fact that Iowa has been dry and hot this year and the stock show the effects from it.

"These people should be congratulated on these fine exhibits. I was specially interested in the champion bull on exhibit by Joell and Joell of the Panhandle. This animal weighed 2600 pounds and was a specimen that can hardly find a counterpart elsewhere."

Mr. Kinzer said that he would be in Amarillo probably a couple of days attending the fair. He has attended the Indiana State Fair and has had reports from the Nebraska, Kansas and Ohio State Fairs and from all that he can gather the Panhandle State Fair leads them all in the Hereford line.

"With the exception of the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City in October, the Hereford exhibits at Amarillo this year will far surpass anything ever shown at other fairs. Of course, you understand that the royal show is made up of the picked stuff from all the states and small fairs and therefore is the finals, as they might be called. There are 450 entries in the Royal show this season of this grade of stock.

"I wish also to state that the honor for the success of the Hereford exhibits at the Fair should be given to Mr. J. L. Van Natta who has used his time freely to that end. The people of the Panhandle should encourage this line of stock at their fair. The exhibitors should be commended for the splendid line of stock.

"There is no question but that the Panhandle State Fair is far ahead of a state fair in this line. But this is the Amarillo and Panhandle spirit.

"The rate at which the Hereford cattle business has been built up in the Panhandle country in the last few years is marvelous especially in view of the fact that the grade was built up here without the aid of imported breeding stuff."

"Brown-Eyed Dick"

By Jake H. Harrison
He is just a common mongrel,
But has eyes of silky brown
That are scintillating magnets
As he goes around the town;
He is always kind and friendly
To the children when they meet,
And they hail him as a comrade
As he passes on the street.

He is never in a hurry,
Never lounges in the places
Where contentious dogs are found;
Has no master, has no kennel,
Has no home to call his own,
Has no pedigree to back him—
Just as "Brown-eyed Dick" is known.

But to know him is to love him
As you would a human friend;
For the slightest act of kindness,
He is grateful to the end;
His expression is enticing
And his courtesy is grand,
For those brown eyes speak a language
That all hearts can understand.

Not a dog in town molests him
As he goes his quiet way,
Charming all with gay good humor,
But too dignified to play;
Those brown, scintillating magnets
And his gentle nature blend
In a pleasing combination,
That has made the world his friend.

Cleave then to the sunnier side of doubt,
And cling to Faith beyond the forms of Faith!

She reels not in the storm of warring words,
She brightens at the clash of "Yes" and "No."
She sees the Best that glimmers through the Worst,
She feels the sun, is hid but for a night,
She spies the summer through the winter bud,
She tastes the fruit before the blossom falls,
She hears the lark within the songless egg,
She finds the fountain where they wailed 'mirage.'

Progressive Farming

Amarillo News: No one will dispute the fact that the Panhandle and plains country of Texas is making the greatest progress of any section of the State, a fact largely due to availing ourselves of scientific aid.

The Panhandle and the plains are making great strides in thrift. The fields and towns and pastures and bank deposits prove it. And much of the credit for this state of affairs is traceable to the willingness of the western people to be taught things they don't know.

Mine ear, awake to silence, can fore-tell The cuckoo's fitful bell. I wander in a grey time that incloses June and the wild hedge roses.

I know the secrets of the seeds of flowers And how, in kindling Spring, the cuckoo shall. Alter his interval. But not a flower or song I ponder is My own, but memory's, I shall be silent in those days desired Before a world inspired. Sugar Treatment of Wounds

German army doctors are using sugar with great success in the treatment of wounds, it is reported. The method is simple. The wound is dressed with granulated sugar, and then bound. The sugar does not act as a disinfectant, and must not be applied until bleeding has been arrested. But when applied to a clean wound surface healing proceeds with astonishing rapidity.

No washing of the wound is necessary when redressing, which is merely a matter of renewing the application of sugar every second or third day. The sugar dressing has also the advantage that there is no adhesion to the flesh.

There are so many campaign issues that Mr. Hughes deserves great credit for going unerringly to the heart of things and charging that Mr. Wilson has been giving the Republicans' jobs to the Democrats.—Grand Rapids Press.

Until the Ship Comes In

Robinson Crusoe was a persistent sort of cuss. He was stranded on an island with only a few goats, a dog and a cat to keep him from getting lonesome, and later on, picked up a pretty decent sort of side-picker, in "Friday," even if the nigger did make the camp lock like rain.

But every night Crusoe had dreams of a nice, juicy roast beef and maybe a cold lettuce, and he wanted to get away from that old island—wanted to go badly. He wanted a ship. There wasn't any in sight.

—So he advertised for it.

—Yes, sir—advertised. He put up a sign—a sign on a stick. When the shirt got dirty or the wind blew it to shreds, he put up a clean shirt. That, in its turn, went to ribbons, and he used another, and kept that up till the ship came.

It's just that way with an advertising, whether you are advertising for a ship or customers to come to your store.

If you want to make a real success with your advertising, you've got to give it a chance—Not a fighting chance, but a whole-hearted "I'm with you" opportunity to work.

Some long haired genius, posing as an advertising man, with a faculty for cleverly turned phrases, once tried to awe his audience by relieving himself of "A dollar spent in advertising today sends two back tomorrow."

Undoubtedly he meant well when he said that. But his audience interpreted his statement too literally, and that innocent remark has done more damage, and has wrecked more perfectly good advertising campaigns than one could imagine.

The trouble was that, his hearers caught hold of the wrong "tomorrow" and put it too close to "today."

We'll all admit that John Wannamaker has made a pretty fair success at a business man. Here's what he said:—

"Advertising is like the old fashioned goose grease that mother used to use. You've got to rub it in, keep on rubbing and rub it in some more."

As with everything, anything that is really worth while is worth while waiting for.

You've got to build, and if you will build right and solidly, you will build slowly.

The big advertising successes of today were not built in a day. They are the cumulative result of a persistent determination to hammer home an idea that this or any article is the article to buy, or that this store is the one that deserves your patronage.

The concerns that did the advertising, "stayed with it." They worked with it and did not sit back in their chair with "show-me" attitude. They helped it make good and it did make good by bringing closer that "tomorrow" mentioned in the forefront of this article.

They were concerned with imagination—No, not dreamers, but firms that could visualize, see in their minds eye the goal, the target at which they were aiming. They furnished the rifle.—advertising was only the ammunition.

In this connection let us again quote Wannamaker and then pass on to another phase of this advertising question. Says he, "If there is any one thing in the world that a quitter wants to leave strictly alone, it is advertising."

Now in regard to that other phase of advertising. Suppose we ask ourselves, "Why are we in business," and "What are we trying to accomplish?"

Time was when we got our trade on the basis of price. With the coming of better manufacturing facilities for every one, prices became pretty well evened up all around.

Then came the matter of delivery—and now that argument is done for. What have you left?

PERSONALITY,—that's all. YOUR SELF, which means YOURSELF in the final analysis, if you are the right kind of merchant.

And advertising is the only logical, practical method that you have of projecting yourselves into the homes and minds of your customers and prospective customers.

That's why it pays to be really human in your advertising once in a while. Forget occasionally the cold, dollar and cents copy that goes into your ads, and inject some warm-blooded talk into them which will make your people forget that where they buy your goods is a place with four walls and some clerks. Let them realize that back of it all it a real man, a man who is interested in his customers and has a real desire to serve.

Chronic Catarrh is Curable

Nothing is more distressing to the sufferer and his friends. Chronic catarrh is systemic—that is, it is present throughout the body, though it may manifest itself in a local situation. Only a constitutional treatment will overcome systemic catarrh. Local treatment sometimes help the acute manifestations, but they cannot overcome the systemic disorder.

PERUNA Has Helped Thousands

It is a foe to catarrh. The voluntary testimony of thousands establishes that. Peruna benefits in a number of ways. Peruna builds up the digestion, restores the strength, and helps put the system in condition.

Peruna has special value in catarrh. It gives vitality to the system, restores tone to the membranes and enables these to perform their functions. In many cases its benefits begin at once, and it rarely fails when treatment is continued properly. The Peruna Medical Department will be glad to assist you to overcome this disease. The doctor's advice is free. Don't delay treatment.

Exchanges are telling of a candidate in Kentucky who is canvassing his county for the office of County Attorney, which if true will undoubtedly insure his election. This candidate, it is told, takes a negro along with him as his assistant, and when he sees a farmer in the field at work, the negro does the farmer's work for him while the candidate talks politics. Thus the farmer loses no time, gets a rest, and is willing to listen. We predict a rapid ascent for this ambitious gentleman.—Clarendon News.

An exchange prints this one: "A western paper once published something about somebody which made the latter mad. On seeing a lawyer to find out how he could break up the paper, he was advised to buy the paper and run it himself for about six months."

If you never quote what "they say" you may be certain that you are not causing some innocent party to suffer and quite certain you are not a gossip.—Ex.

War

War is a science of destruction. War is a crime which involves all other crimes.

If Christian nations were nations of Christians there would be no wars.

Battles are never the end of war; for the dead must be buried and the cost of the conflict must be paid.

The measure of civilization in a people is to be found in its just appreciation of the wrongfulness of war.

War suspends the rules of moral obligations, and what is long suspended is in danger of being totally abrogated.

War is one of the greatest plagues that can afflict humanity; it destroys states, it destroys families. Any scourge, in fact, is preferable to it.

Every war involves a greater or less relapse into barbarism. War, indeed, in its details, is the essence of inhumanity. It dehumanizes. It may save the state but it destroys the citizen.

I hate that drum's discordant sound Parading round and round and round: To me it talks of ravaged plains, And burning towns, and ruined swains, And mangled limbs, and dying groans, And widows' tears, and orphans' moans;

And all that misery's hand bestows To fill the catalogue of human woes.

Carry his body hence! Kings must have slaves; Kings climb to eminence Over men's graves; So this man's eye is dim: Throw the earth over him!

I abominate war as unchristian. I hold it the greatest of human crimes. I deem it to involve all others—violence, blood, famine, fraud; everything that can deform the character, alter the nature, and debase the name of man.

War in men's eyes shall be A monster of iniquity In the good time coming, Nations shall not quarrel then, To prove which is the stronger; Nor slaughter men for glory's sake.

Of all the evils to public liberty war is perhaps the most to be dreaded, because it comprises and develops the genius of every other. War is the parent of armies; from these proceed debt and taxes.

War—the trade of barbarians. The poor souls for whom this hungry war opens its vast jaws.

War begun, hell let loose. War is a game which, were their subjects wise, kings should not play at.

Misery and ruin to thousands are in the blast that announces the destructive demon (war).

They shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

A peace is of the nature of a conquest; For then both parties nobly are subdued, And neither party loser.

What Would We Do Without Sugar?

How Sugar Cane Grows

We are so used to sugar that we are likely to forget to give it its proper place. Right now if somebody asked you what sugar was good for, you'd probably say—"Oh! to put in coffee and tea and for making candies and desserts."

That's it—we all think of sugar as a sweetener and overlook its value as a food. The chemists classify sugar as a hydrocarbon—that name may or may not be interesting to us, but what is interesting is their statement that it has, as a hydrocarbon, equal food value with the starchy foods and by digestion largely adds to the fatty tissues of the body.

Why do we eat sugar anyway? Your first answer might be: "Because it is sweet and tastes good." Of itself the answer would be correct, but the more important fact is that the body craves sugar because it needs it. And when the body craves something it gives us an appetite for it.

So primarily that's why we like sugar and things made with sugar and not just because they are sweet. In view of the fact that sugar has gone up so tremendously of late these facts are interesting because we find that instead of the luxury sugar having gone up it is the FOOD sugar that has raised its price.

Yet—even though the price is up we have to have our sweet food just the same. Certainly the makers of the delicious beverage Coca-Cola must have discovered that sugar is up, because one of the principal ingredients in making Coca-Cola syrup is fine cane sugar.

Think of it—they use an average of 80 tons of sugar a day—about 4 carloads. But unlike many manufacturers that company has itself borne the raise and so you and I pay just the same today for our bottle or glass of Coca-Cola that we've always paid. Incidentally, this phase of the situation is a good reminder of the benefits one gets from drinking a beverage as pure and good as Coca-Cola. Not only do we please our palates and derive wholesome refreshment from the drink but we also give our systems that bit of sugar sweetness that is necessary to health and vigor.

Is it any wonder then that Coca-Cola is so popular and so universally drunk that it has been called "the drink the nation drinks"?

BIG BUFFALO HUNT ON THE GOODNIGHT RANCH

Colonel Charles Goodnight, one of the central figures of pioneer Texas history and who has the only remaining herd of buffalo in the State, is planning a "Buffalo Barbecue" for a number of his early day pioneer friends. In order that the people generally, may have a glimpse of early day scenes, he has arranged to bring a band of Kiowa and Comanche Indians to his home and will get them to kill the buffalo in their aboriginal way. The hunt will be staged in the large ranch adjoining his home at Goodnight, and everybody will be permitted to see it. The herd of full-blood buffalo will be seen and one of the largest bisons will be killed. The Indians are very anxious for the event to take place as this is possibly the last chance they will have to make old memories real again before they pass to the "happy hunting grounds" forever. This hunt will take place Friday afternoon October 6th at 2 o'clock and everybody is invited to be on hand. Trains on the Denver run so that people may come and leave the same day and get the full benefit of the hunt. Goodnight is on the Colorado-Gulf auto road and of easy access by automobiles from every direction. An informal program will follow the "hunt," in which the visitors will be addressed by some of the old Texas pioneers and others.

Special invitations are out to the barbecue the next day, to which many of the prominent leaders of the state and a large number of pioneers have promised to come. Colonel Goodnight has spent 71 years of active life on the frontier land of Texas, and has been one of the most prominent figures in their upbuilding. He is a man of remarkable vitality and sound judgment and has always put himself on the side of moral and civic welfare. He is deeply interested in education and founded Goodnight College, in his home town, which is doing a splendid work for education, especially among boys and girls who have struggle and hardships of making their own way in the strictest economy. This was the actuating purpose in Colonel Goodnight's philanthropy in founding the school, to making it possible for such young people to get an education.

He and his wife are the old-fashioned strain of hospitality and they hope that all who possibly can will accept their invitation open house for the hunt and social features following on Friday, October 6, 1916 at 2 o'clock.

House Joint Resolution 30 Its Adoption Does Not Impose a Tax But Insures A Better School System

House Joint Resolution 30, passed by the Thirty-fourth Legislature, submits an amendment to the State Constitution to be voted on by the people at the general election to be held in November, 1916, providing that the Legislature may enact a law permitting common and independent schools districts to levy a local tax not to exceed one dollar on the one hundred dollars of assessed property valuation by a majority vote of the qualified property taxpaying voters of the district, and also permitting counties to levy a county school tax of fifty cents on the one hundred dollars of assessed property valuation to supplement the county school funds if a majority of the qualified property taxpaying voters of the county desire to do so.

The adoption of this amendment does not, therefore, impose a tax upon anyone, but simply removes the constitutional handicap which forbids many localities having efficient schools, and allows the people of school districts and counties where they desire to do so to provide adequate financial support from their own funds for the proper maintenance of their own schools.

In many sections of the State the schools are suffering seriously on account of insufficient funds. The people of such districts desire better schools for their children, but the Constitution stands in the way. Is this right? If you do not need the amendment in your county or district, will you not help your fellow citizen in some other section who does need it?

The State of Arkansas has a constitutional limit of seven miles for local school purposes, as against five miles in Texas. The people of Arkansas are asking that this limit be raised to twelve miles. The people of Texas are asking that the limit be raised to only ten miles. Oklahoma already has a State school tax of fifteen mills.

It is an acknowledged fact that Texas is considerably below the average among the States of the United States from the standpoint of an efficient public school system, and the main reason for this state of affairs is attributed to the fact that many of the schools of Texas are hindered by a constitutional restriction which orbi ds the people to provide out of their own means sufficient funds to maintain good schools, although, in a majority of instances, they are eager and willing to do so. Should not the Constitution and the laws serve the educational needs of the people?

Read what Governor Hogg said in his message to the Twenty-second Legislature: "The proposition narrowed down to the line of candor is that if the people ever expect to have an efficient system of free schools, they must prepare to pay for it."

Should not the people of every local school district and of every county of the State be given an opportunity to provide for their own children such educational advantages as they desire and need? To this end the constitutional restriction should be removed from the schools of Texas by the adoption of this amendment, and it is confidently predicted that this will be done if the patriotic citizenship understand the purpose of this resolution.

Again, let it be definitely understood that the adoption of House Joint Resolution 30 does not impose a tax upon anyone, but only grants permission to the citizens of school districts and counties who may desire to levy a tax upon themselves to do so by a majority vote of the qualified property taxpaying voters to provide more revenue for their own schools.

Money Makes the Man Go.

Southwest Farmer and Investor:— Investors and Investments are words that unequivocally mean Business. Today the world is charged fuller than a thoroughly loaded storage battery, with business spirit. Hence the universal in vogue called: "Commercialism."

Investors and Investments are words that make everyone think of Money. The Buyers give Money The Sellers take Money. Money is exchanged on the give and take principle.

Money is the stone thrown into the water that makes waves of Commerce. So it is that Money when thrown into investment produces waves of trade. It is the "Juice" that Electrifies Trade.

Without Money the Investor ceases action. Without Investors, Investments are not.

The Battle of Life is one continual struggle between Man and Money. It is a continual performance struggle for Rule and Supremacy, for both can not Master and one must Serve.

Money is a manufactured product. It is a Creature of Man. Logically the Creature so created should serve. Under such a Law of Logic, Money Should Be Man's Servant. Unfortunately, the Rule and Law is Reversed. Money is Man's Master. Money not only "makes the mare go," but it Makes the Man Go, often to Ruin.

Money's potency rises in its Purchasing Power. That is Increased by Concentration and Control. It is Lessened by Distribution and Competition.

When its purchasing power is inordinate it is termed "Too Dear." Such condition is like that of the habitual drunkard who is often "Tight," as money so frequently is when Money is "Tight" investors "Lock It Up." They keep it in the Banks.

When Money is Withdrawn from Circulation then Financial Stringency, otherwise "Hard Times," Prevails. To carry out the simile. When man gets "tight" and is "locked up," in order to get out and to circulate again he has to "Give Bond." So it is with money. When Money is Tight, it has to be "Blinded." That is the main Trouble With the World Today. It is Too Heavily Bonded to Get Money out of the "Lock-up."

Still more unfortunately, while Man is getting Money out of the Lock-up, he is putting Himself in Durance Vile to Release Money.

According to a great philosopher, "Man's greatest study is Mankind." But the most perplexing problem presented is the Control of Money in Such Way is to Keep It in Circulation. The "Money Question pervades and permeates all conditions of Mankind and Life. Hence Mankind will never be free and never be able to truly enjoy life and its blessings, its rights and sovereignty, as well as its equity, Until this Great Money Problem Shall Be Solved.

No solution of the problem has yet been found, but some partial relief and relaxation have been proposed that will be of benefit to Labor and Land.

One of these is the "Rural Credits Bill." It favors the welfare of the Masses by affording Means by Which this Country is Proposed to Become

For his reason it behooves every person and organization to work for the location in their section of one of the Farm Land Banks. It particularly behooves all persons residing in Southwest Texas to endeavor to the utmost to secure one of them to be located at San Antonio.

A "Git Together" and a "Pull Together," together with the strongest sort of pull with the United States Senators and Congressmen of Texas and particularly with those representing this section should be undertaken and never relaxed until our people can all unite with all of the People of this Nation in singing in realization the harmonious chords: "Real Homes. Sweet Homes."

A Thought for the Week

Jesus went away and prayed. Tremendous fact! If necessary for Him how much more for us! How well worth the night in the mountain, if the blind eyes open, the deaf hear, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the dead raised up, and the devils flee on the morrow! Prayers puts the soul in the path of the working God, who only can save. Prayer brings the Spirit in power upon the soul we would have saved. Prayer gives spiritual illumination, to know truth and to know hearts, so that we live in the heavenly air. Prayer puts us so in accord with the heart-knowledge of God, that He shall put into our lips the message needed, beyond our knowledge or thought of need.—J. C. Fernald

The meanest man on record is the one who said that when his wife complained to the family physician of a "tired feeling," and the doctor asked her to let him see her tongue, said that, "it was not her tongue that was tired."—Midothian Argus.
