TRADES DAY NEXT MONDAY IN CANYON

AUCTION SALE DURING AFTERNOON DISTRIBUTION OF PIGS TO THE BOYS OF THE PIG CLUB.

Canyon will entertain the people of Randall County again next Monday in the regular monthly Trades Day.

The Randall County Commercial League officers join the business firms of Canyon in extending to all of the citizens of the county a most cordial welcome to the city for next Monday.

C. F. Walker, County Agent, will have forty or fifty members of his Boys' Pig Club in Canyon next Monday to draw for their pig. It will be a great event in the lives of these fine boys of Randall County when they get their first registered pig and start into the pure bred swine business. The parents of the boys should accompany the boys to Canyon.

A good auction will be held in the afternoon. It is the rule of this sale that no buy-bidding be allowed and if discovered the person caught pay for the auctioneer's time and be excluded from any further sales. Reports come that on a few occasions there has been buy-bidding. The Randall County Commercial League makes this auction a feature of Trades Day and will do all in the power of the organization to see that every article which is placed up at auction sells to the highest bidder.

Come to Canyon Trades Day.

BUSINESS HOUSE IS PLAN OF LEGION POSTPONE DINNER FOR TWO WEEKS

Proposition of Associate Membership Will be Taken up With Business Men of the City.

The members of the Palo Duro Post are still seeking the best plan for the construction of their home as evidenced by the meeting last Friday night when the proposition again centered around a business house on the square, rather than a bungalow to be used as a club house.

When the proposition for a home was first started, the men of the Post were tied to no particular idea, but were seeking the best. For some time it looked as if the club house plan would be adopted as it was by far the most popular.

The difficulty soon to confront the members was the maintenance of the club house, which would of necessity require heavy dues.

The experience of lodges and organizations in other towns in putting up business blocks was brought to the attention of the Post officers, and the possibility of such a building in Canyon. Numbers of towns were brought forward as illustrations of how lodges had erected buildings, the first story being used as a business room with the club rooms on the second story. The income from the rent of the business house will do a great deal toward paying the operating expenses of the lodge.

This idea is now being investigated very closely by the finance committee, and had the business meeting of the Randall County Commercial League not been called off Tuesday night, it is probable that one of the members of the Post would have presented to the business men a proposition regarding associate membership in the organization.

The prospects of organizing the Ladies Auxiliary for the Post is very bright. A number of women interested in the proposition have asked regarding the Auxiliary during the past week.

Stork Specials.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crowley on the 27th of Jan. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tucek on the 23rd of Jan.

Come to Canyon to live.

Sickness and Failure of Oysters to Arrive Causes Postponement to Monday, February 16.

The dinner scheduled for Tuesday night was postponed on account of the oysters failing to arrive, and none could be secured in Amarillo or any of the neighboring towns.

Furthermore, there was so much sickness that it was deemed advisable to postpone for two weeks, and by that time it is certain that the epidemic of flu will have run its course in this community.

The regular toast program together with the election of officers of the Randall County Commercial League for the coming year, as published in the News last week, will be the program for the 16th dinner.

Nona Baker Died Last Night.

Miss Nona Baker died last night at the J. D. Key home after an illness of only a few hours. She was taken with pneumonia.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Baker and was sixteen years of age. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. B. F. Fronabarger.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were called Saturday to Memphis by the illness of their son. Miss Nona went to the Key home to stay during their absence from the city. She was taken ill and passed away before they could return home.

The many friends of the young woman and her parents are sadly grieved to hear of her sudden death and extend their heartfelt sympathy to the sorrowing family.

Holcomb Baby Died Yesterday.

The nine month's old boy of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Holcomb died yesterday morning at the parental home as a result of whopping cough from which it had suffered since December.

All of the family has been sick during the past week with the flu, and were unable to attend the funeral which was held at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at the cemetery, conducted by Rev. B. F. Fronabarger.

The many friends and neighbors of the Holcomb family extend sympathy in their hour of sadness.

ENGINEERS FOR ROAD TO WEST

Highway Will Be Constructed from Canyon West to Deaf Smith County Line.

The Commissioners were in special session Saturday afternoon and let the contract for the engineering on the road running west from Canyon to the Deaf Smith County line. The contract goes to Nagle, Witt & Rollins Engineering Co. of Dallas, who also have the contract for the Potter county roads.

As stated in the News some weeks ago, the Commissioners have federal aid for the building of the road west as they have on the road running through Canyon from Happy to Amarillo. As soon as the engineering is completed, the contract will be let for the road west.

It is planned to spend about $25,000.00 on the fifteen miles of road to the Deaf Smith county line.

Work on the highway between Canyon and Amarillo is rapidly nearing completion. The grading is up in good condition and a large number of the concrete culverts are completed but the filling has not been done at the approaches. This work can be finished in a very little while.

When the culverts are completed, this road will be one of the best in the Panhandle.

NEWS WILL RAISE SUBSCRIPTION RATES TO $2.00 PER YEAR

The Randall County News has withheld any raise in its subscription rates during the period of high prices, but we are now forced to take the step.

During the war the News made no advances in subscription rates, and paid what was considered an unprecedented price of $5.75 per hundred for print paper, which before the war sold at $2.75 per hundred.

Today the price we pay is $9.50 per hundred. In New York the price bid by the big daily newspapers is $13.00 per hundred.

And print paper is hard to get even at these prices.

The subscription rate will be advanced on Trades Day, March 8. We are giving a whole month's notice as to this raise instead of the usual week's notice. Subscriptions will be received at $1.50 per year up until that time, and each subscriber may pay as far in advance as he pleases at this rate until March 8. One man paid three years in advance the other day when told of the raise. Another paid two years in advance. The News is urging no one to pay in advance, but suggest this if they wish to take advantage of the $1.50 rate.

There is hardly a weekly newspaper in the Panhandle that has not raised to $2.00 per year. The News would not do so were it not necessary.

The New York Herald and the St. Louis Republic, two of the oldest and best established papers in the United States have ceased to exist during the past two months, on account of the high costs of producing a newspaper, which makes the little weekly sit up and take steps to protect itself.

The new store being put in by the Guthrie Grocery Company will open for business Saturday. The stock was received during the week and is being arranged ready for the opening.

Federal Grain Demonstration Canyon, Texas, Saturday, February 28

Make More Money from Wheat

It is the policy of the Department of Agriculture of the West Texas State Normal College to use every available agency for the benefit of farmers of the Panhandle. For this reason I have invited and secured a Grain Grading Demonstration for Canyon on February 28. This demonstration will be given in the Randall County Court House. Every wheat grower and wheat buyer in this territory should attend this meeting.

An official from the Federal Grain Supervision office at Kansas City will demonstrate the methods of testing and explain the standard market grades of wheat and oats. Kafir has no U. S. standard grade

779 PAY POLL TAX IN THIS COUNTY

With Soldiers, Sailors and Overseas, It is Likely More Than 1000 Votes Will be Cast in County

One hundred eighty five women and five hundred eighty four men paid their poll tax or secured an exemption from Tax Collector Worth A. Jennings up to the time of closing the books Saturday night.

There are probably about two hundred returned soldiers and sailors in the county, and together with the overseas in the county, there will likely be more than one thousand votes cast in the July primary.

The poll tax payment among the women maintained a better average in Randall County than in many of the big counties of the state, but was not so large in this county as the ardent suffragettes had hoped to see.

Mr. Jennings reports that taxes came in very good. There is about $4000 left on the rolls, a big percent of which belongs to one man.

The following was the payments by precincts:

EPIDEMIC OF FLU RUNNING STRONG IN RANDALL COUNTY

The epidemic which has been running all over the country seems to be at its height now in Randall county. Very few homes have escaped having one or more cases, and in some homes all of the members of the family are afflicted.

The disease is by no means as bad as last year. The patients are very sick for several days, with high temperature, but there have been no fatalities in this section, and those who were taken early with the epidemic seem to have fully recovered by this time.

It is almost impossible to get the services of a physician, so great is the demand for their services.

It is impossible to give an estimate as to the number of cases in the city.

C. O. KEISER HAD OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS YESTERDAY

A message yesterday from Miss Phyllis Keiser in Denver stated that her father, C. O. Keiser, had undergone an operation for appendicitis yesterday morning in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Keiser left Canyon Sunday morning for Denver, called by the illness of Miss Phyllis. Mr. Keiser was in seemingly good health, and so far no particulars have been received at his office by A. W. Hamill who has been unable to get through on the phone.

A message late last night indicated that Mr. Keiser was doing nicely after the operation.

Mrs. Mattie Rogers Dies.

Mrs. Mattie Rogers of the Wayside community died Tuesday morning. Particulars will be given in the Wayside news next week.

PIGS TO BE GIVEN TO BOYS MONDAY

County Agent C. F. Walker Will Distribute Registered Pigs to Boys—Banks to Assist.

Next Monday will be a great day in Canyon for the boys who want to embark in the pure bred hog business. C. F. Walker will distribute to the members of the Randall County Pig Club the registered pigs he has bought.

Only the very best pigs will be accepted by Mr. Walker for the boys of the club. The breeders are interested in seeing Randall County have the very best hogs, and have given a free choice to Mr. Walker in order that the boys of the club may be encouraged in swine raising.

The boys are to come to Canyon next Monday, and the pigs will be distributed by lot. The average price for the pigs is about $35. The breeders are keeping the price down in order to insure a large increase in the number of pure bred herds in Randall county during the next few years.

The banks of Canyon are cooperating with Mr. Walker in encouraging the Pig Club Boys by extending credit to those not able to pay cash for their pig. The boy's note will be taken payable this fall.

The Pig Club of Randall County will have a show and sale this fall and all of the boys will report their success of the year.

The Pig Club movement was started a number of years ago in this country, and has meant a great deal to those communities which has fostered and encouraged it. It is the quickest means of starting a large number of pure bred herds, and is always the means of bringing prosperity to a community.

Every boy who wants to do something worth while should see Mr. Walker and get started in the Randall County Pig Club.

UNDER AGE PUPILS CANNOT ENTER SCHOOL NEXT FALL

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Canyon Independent School District Tuesday afternoon, it was decided that no child could enter the Canyon Public School next fall unless he would be seven years of age at least on or before December 31, 1926.

This regulation was brought about by the large number of children who entered school this year much under seven years of age. As a result, an additional teacher had to be employed after the opening of the school in order to take care of the young children.

The board is having a hard time to finance the school and will exclude all children not of lawful age in order to better provide for those children who have attained the scholastic age.

As stated in the News a few weeks ago, the board will be forced to make a great increase in tax valuations of the school district for the coming year in order to keep the school up to standard conditions.

Mrs. Terrill's Sister Dies.

Mrs. R. A. Terrill returned Sunday from Mineral Wells where she was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Fred Cheek, three weeks ago. On account of a breakdown Mrs. Terrill was forced to leave a few hours before her sister's death.

Mrs. Cheek has visited in Canyon a number of times both before and after her marriage and has many friends here who are grieved to hear of her death. She will be remembered as Miss Thelma Donald, a sister of Robert Donald and Mrs. Terrill, to whom sympathy is extended by their many friends in the city.

Allen in Austin.

Prof. L. G. Allen, dean of the West Texas State Normal College, is in Austin this week, attending the meeting of the educational interests which was called by the Governor to discuss the educational problem now confronting the state. President J. A. Hill intended attending the meeting, but has been sick in bed for several days.

Land Sale Made.

J. A. Hazelwood has bought the Ed Harrell two sections of S. B. Gregg at $28.50 per acre.

Pays $895 for Nine Months Old Sow, and Four Sows Averaging $650 per Head.

Randall county has the distinction of owning the highest priced gilt ever sold in the Southwest. R. E. Prewitt, one of the best swine breeders in this section, bought this nine months old gilt Monday at the sale in Childress, paying $875.

Mr. Prewitt went out after the best, and brought home the fanciest bred gilt that has ever been offered in the Southwest. Mr. Prewitt was not bidding blindly as he had as his competitors, two of the biggest breeders in Iowa and Nebraska, but was determined that such a fine gilt should not leave this section.

The gilt is from Sensation with Scissors as a dam. She will bring a litter in April from Sensation's Type. To the swine breeders, only a mention of these great hogs is necessary. They are the leaders of the south. The pedigree she carries is the fanciest of any hog on the plains.

For the three sows Mr. Prewitt bought he paid an average of $650. One is a Scissors, one, Lady Orion and the other Illustration's High Orion.

Mr. Prewitt stated that the sale was the best ever held in the southwest, netting $15,990. All of the best hogs stayed in this section of the country.

Mr. Prewitt stated that he was interested in seeing Canyon get the Futurity Show which will be held in this district during September. The show will be held in Canyon, Plainview or Lubbock, partially depending upon the action taken by the towns.

At this show the best pigs from the herds of Randall, Potter, Deaf Smith, Swisher, Armstrong, Hale, Floyd and Lubbock counties will compete for $400 in cash prizes. This money is raised by taxing each exhibitor, and the association paying the balance. The winners in this show will go to the state show at Childress where the prizes are $800, and the winners here will go to the Roundup Show at Dallas where the winners from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma will compete for $2000. Mr. Prewitt is anxious that all breeders in Randall county get in the district show, and that Canyon do her best to land the show for this city.

Joe Foster Buys Bakery.

Joe Foster has bought the bakery and took charge Monday.

Mr. Foster is making arrangements to open a grocery store in the building at the southeast corner of the square in which the bakery has been located, and in order to get early possession, he bought the bakery business. He hopes to get the building remodeled during the coming few days and will push the bakery business together with his grocery business.

Drilling Outfit Shipped.

D. L. Hickey returned Monday from Kansas where he finished Saturday night the loading of the drilling outfit of the Randall County Oil & Development Company. The outfit is expected to get here this week and be moved out to the Schram farm where the test hole is to be put down.

Drilling at the Palo Duro started last week after several month's shut down, but is closed down again this week awaiting fuel.

Hardin-Sadler Wedding.

Miss Minnie Maude Hardin and J. M. Sadler were married Monday afternoon, Rev. Simeon Shaw officiating.

Both of the young people are well known in Canyon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardin and has lived here for a number of years. The groom is a barber coming to this city a short while ago from Beaumont.

The friends of the young couple are extending congratulations.

City Property Sold.

W. H. Lewis has bought 5 3-4 blocks in the Corner Addition to Canyon of L. G. Conner for $3855.

We know we are big enough to lick Mexico; but are we big enough not to?—Brooklyn Eagle.

IVES' ADDRESS TO THE SWINE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION HERE

Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen:—

The program committee has assigned me the subject, "Profitable Pork Production in the Panhandle". What I shall say will be the simplest A B C of swine management to some of you, others may get some good ideas; and some of my plans may be wrong and invite discussion, which I hope you will freely give.

We propose to raise a small herd of pure bred hogs, under the supervision of the department of Agriculture of the West Texas State Normal College, for the purpose of providing stock for class study, to consume the kitchen waste from our dormitory and to provide meat for the same, and to produce some stock for show and sale.

I hope to buy two bred sows in the sale tomorrow, if they do not go above the price I am permitted to pay. We want to start with the best our limited funds will permit, as every farmer should do.

These sows will be bred for two litters every year. One to farrow in September and one in March. Why? I believe that December and January will generally be too cold for safe farrowing in this country, and July and August too hot. This leaves a choice between only three farrowing dates, March-Sept., April-Oct., and May-Nov. I want these pigs farrowed when they will have the best advantages for growth and will be ready for market at the best time.

A farmer should have his pigs ready for market when the price is highest. Information prepared by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture states that an average of the ten years, 1907-1916 shows that the average markets was lowest in December and June and highest in September and April. The period mentioned closed before our entrance into the world war, and can be considered a normal market period. The average high market advantage in price is only one cent, but the difference some years is as great as six cents per pound. This would amount to a good sum on a few car loads.

It does not pay to feed old hogs. The result of over five hundred different feeding tests prove that a 350-lb. hog required twice as much feed for one pound of gain as a 50-lb. pig, and this difference increases with the advance in age.

Any feeder should be able to make a hog weigh 250 pounds at nine months of age. If we are going to market this class of hogs in September and April the pigs must be farrowed in December and June. Both of these dates are unsatisfactory because of heat, cold and feed conditions. Well bred hogs can be made to weigh 250 pounds the most profitable market weight at a younger age than nine months. We shall therefore push our fattening culls as much as possible.

Now let us trace through the program of these two litters.

- Sows bred May, Nov.
- Farrow Sept., March.
- Pigs weaned Nov., May.
- Begin fattening culls Dec., June.
- Ready for market April, Sept.
- Sells breeding stock Sept., Feb.
- Breed sows Nov., May.

Most of the sow pigs will be bred at fourteen months of age, permitting them to develop that size and maturity so necessary to produce stock of the right type.

The herd boar will be kept in a separate pen with tight board fence. Brood sows will be placed in portable A houses about three days before farrowing, to become accustomed to the house.

These houses will be built with nine by ten floor space, on three two by six inch skids, roof made of matched flooring well painted, ends and floor of shiplap, ventilator and door at one end, door for attendant at side, pig rail all around inside. The floor will be bedded with straw, not too thick. I will stretch a wagon sheet around the windward side of the house and hang a lantern inside, if it is very cold weather at farrowing time, and stay with the sow to dry the pigs and set them to suck. These sows will be fed only a little bran slops for two days after farrowing; then run on pasture, and have access to a self feeder for a short time each day.

The pigs will be weaned at eight weeks of age, then fed skim milk and shorts with pasture until three months old. They will be immunized against cholera after weaning. Then the cull fattening hogs will have access to a self feeder having three compartments containing maize chops, tankage, and a mineral mixture composed of equal parts of salt, sulfur, copperas and charcoal. The Iowa Experiment Station has repeatedly proven that the hog will balance his own ration from a self feeder more profitably than he can be hand fed. These hogs will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Our plan for equipment includes a high board wind break fence on three sides of the feed lot, a steel trough for water and slop feed, a concrete wallow with both shed and tree shade, and a home made self oiler. I shall not take time to discuss these details.

Hogs can not be fed profitably without pasture. We shall use three patches of land in rotation as follows:

- September—sow wheat.
  - October—sow rye.
  - February—sow rape and oats.
  - April—sow cane.
  - May—sow Spanish peanuts.
  - September—sow winter barley.
- The peanut patch is an experiment. We shall also try a permanent patch of sweet clover as soon as the land can be prepared.

The essentials for success with hogs are good stock, good feed and good care. We believe that our plan provides for all of these, and we hope for success.

FRED H. IVES,
Director of Agriculture.

Not Half Bad.

Nineteen nineteen has been an unusual year for all. Prices have shot skyward and products have become scarce. The world has been acclimating itself to a peace time basis and trying to adjust itself to the operation of economic laws. Some may think that the present economic conditions are very stringent but let them consider how very difficult it was for our forefathers to "get along" at the time of the Revolutionary War. Fiske's "The American Revolution" tells us of money conditions at that time: "Washington said it took a wagon-load of money to buy a wagon load of provisions. At the end of worth sixteen cents in the Northern States and twelve cents in the South. Early in 1780 its value had fallen to two cents, and before the end of the year it took ten dollars to make one cent. In October, Indian corn sold wholesale in Boston for $150 a bushel, butter was $12 a pound, tea $90, sugar $10, beef $8, coffee $12 and a barrel of flour cost $1,575. Samuel Adams paid $2,000 for a hat and a suit of clothes." Still the people lived through this period of high prices.

Our grandfathers had similar obstacles to overcome after the Civil War and look at the nation that has developed since these two conflicts.

We will live through the present state of affairs too and after all, conditions are "not half bad". We too, will soon be able to step out in great strides toward a national prosperity! —Gulf Coast Lumberman.

Crops Should Be Subsidiary.
The agriculture of the Great Plains of the region, as a whole, will be based upon livestock industries instead of crop industries. This will be somewhat in the nature of a reversion. The Great Plains area when the white man found it was a buffalo pasture. Later it became what was perhaps the world's greatest cattle pasture. Broadly speaking, the agriculturist has failed to transform successfully what formerly was exclusively a cattle country into a specialized crop country. Between these two extremes the agriculture of the region gradually is becoming established. Instead of agricultural specialization there will be agricultural diversity. It would perhaps be as unwise to attempt to return to exclusive specialization in cattle as to continue in the present prevailing practices. Some cash crops should be grown in a great many localities; but, in general, crop industries should be subsidiary to livestock industries.

The kinds of livestock industries will vary in different parts of the region and under different local conditions. Much of the area will continue to be used primarily as a pasture for beef cattle. In many places the dairy industry will find a foothold. There will be opportunity for the successful establishment of the sheep industry in many places. Parts of the area may come to be important in the production of pork.

In that part of the region where the beef industry now predominates, it probably will continue to predominate. There must be changes in the methods of beef production, however, in order that the industry may be made more reliable and more profitable.

The dairy industry in many sections can be depended upon by relatively small land owners as a means of paying running expenses and making a living. In a farming system in which wheat production is secondary, the experience of state experiment stations and of many practical farmers is now showing the practicability of the dairy industry based upon small herds.

In the plains country sheep probably will find a place as consumers of waste materials which cannot be utilized effectively by other livestock and as destroyers of weeds.

When there are specially-favored spots, as along the stream courses where alfalfa can be produced successfully, pork production doubtless will find a place.

Most of the remaining virgin land of the plains probably will be left unplowed. Plains experience has demonstrated that millions of acres of the virgin land of the region can be most effectively utilized as pasture. There can be no doubt that other millions of acres of land in the region which should have remained in its virgin state have been plowed up.

More feed crops will be grown, and a smaller acreage will be devoted to crops grown for sale; there will be more acres in forage and fewer acres in grain. There is a wide variety of forage crops which can be grown successfully in the region, some being adapted to one set of conditions and others to other sets of conditions. These forage crops include the sorghums, corn, alfalfa, sweet clover and rye.

It is not impossible that the Russian thistle and the wild sunflower may prove useful over wide areas. Where native pasture is not available or where supplemental pasture crops are needed, use must be made of such plants as sweet clover and sudan grass, each of which is making a place for itself in the agriculture of the plains.

It will be necessary to utilize as livestock feed more of what is ordinarily regarded as waste material. Practicable utilization already is being made in many instances of volunteer grain, corn fodder, straw and even Russian thistles, and there are indications that the wild sunflower will be found worth harvesting for feed.

More feed will be stored during years of plenty for use in winter and during periods of crop shortage. The plains farmer must make extensive use of the silo as a means of storing feed against hard winters and protracted drought.

There must be developed a better relationship among the three chief classes of agricultural resources of the great plains: The grazing lands, the dry-farmed lands and the irrigated lands. Too often in the past each class of land has been operated by itself without much reference to either of the others. The range lands can be more effectively utilized when their utilization is associated with that of dry-farming lands and also with the irrigated lands of the region. The irrigation farmer, while occupying an almost negligibly small area of the great plains, nevertheless can be very helpful to both the dry farmer and the range stockman, and at the same time benefit himself. There can be developed relationships among these three classes of lands which will improve materially the utilization of all.—F. D. Farrell, Dean of Agriculture, Kansas State Agricultural College.

Nobody swatted the fly.
Nobody wore a wrist watch.
Nobody wore white shoes.

Farmers came to town for their mail.

Nor the seas alive with under-water boats.
The hired girl drew one-fifty a week and was happy.

Nobody "listened in" on the telephone.

A Figure Puzzle.
Open a book at random, and select a word within the first ten lines, and within the tenth word from the end of the line. Mark the word. Now double the number of the page, and multiply the sum by five (5). Then add 20. Then add the number of the line you have selected. Then add 5. Multiply the sum by 10. Add the number of the word. From this sum take 250, and the remainder will indicate in the unit column the number of the word; in the tens column the number of the line, and in the remaining figures the number of the page.—The Ladies Home Journal.

Poisoned Candy Kills Children.
Ethel Loree, age four years, eight months, and Lila Odel, age two years, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, living near Aiken, thirteen miles east of Plainview, died Monday night at 7 to 10 o'clock, from peculiar symptoms. It was first thought that they might be victims of the peculiar disease that last week broke out in certain towns in Oklahoma, but it is now thought that they were poisoned by eating some candy.
Two days before Mr. Johnson bought some candy and took it home to the children, and they ate it. The older girl became sick soon afterward, and a day or so later the smaller one was also taken sick. Both of them had several spells of vomiting. They were drowsy and listless and the sickness was different from ordinary poisoning.
Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are heart-broken over the deaths of their children. They have a small baby left.

Road Bonds Knocked Out.
Information was received here the first of the week that the Attorney General had failed to approve our $100,000 road bonds voted some time back. The cause for turning them down was the fact that the two Commissioners Precincts, Nos. 1 and 3, voted on the question jointly instead of each voting on a certain amount of the bonds.
Petitions will be circulated immediately, we understand, calling for an election to vote the $100,000 bond issue again while it is still possible to secure the $65,000 Federal Aid promised.—Silverton Star.

Locating the Buffalo Wallow.
(By Olive Dixon)

Another attempt was made Sunday to find the Buffalo Wallow battle grounds when a party went out from Miami and were joined in the afternoon by another party from Canadian. The place in question is in Hemphill county, between the Wichita river and Gageby creek. Walter Hyers of Canadian acted as guide and went direct to the location that had been pointed out to him by Mr. Fletcher, an old timer of the Panhandle. Mr. Fletcher was not in the fight, but at one time before his death, owned the land on which the fight took place; was personally acquainted with several of the men who fought there, and ought to be very good authority on the subject. Mr. Ayers had not seen the place himself for fifteen years and was very much surprised to find the wallow so much larger in circumference than when he first saw it. This could easily be accounted for owing to the fact that with every wet season the water would stand in the wallow and with buffalo, and later, cattle, standing and tramping the ground the place would naturally grow larger as the years go by. One of the books, "Life of Billy Dixon", which gives a minute description, both of the location and the fight was used and referred to in determining the spot. The place we visited is a depression in the ground one and a half miles almost due south of Charley Tea's home. It is something like forty feet in diameter with four or five smaller depressions circling it. One of them resembles a grave. Evidently there has been some kind of a fight made at this place, but whether this was the location we were out to find, was uncertain. After spending some time looking over the ground carefully, and not being fully satisfied that we had found the right place, one of our party suggested that we make one more effort to get Hines Chapman, who lives at Ceiling, Okla., and is the only known living participant in the fight, to come out an early date and either identify this location or find the correct one. Quite a lot of interest has been aroused lately in the early history of the Panhandle of Texas. The public at large is beginning to realize that time is obliterating these old land marks and unless something is done their location will be lost track of entirely. It hardly seems possible that forty-five years have gone by since the Adobe Walls Indian fight and the

Buffalo Wallow fight took place, two important events in the history of the Panhandle. The foundations of the picket and soil buildings at Adobe Walls on the Canadian river in Hutchinson county can still be plainly traced and the location is so well known that there is small danger of losing site of it. However, with the Buffalo Wallow site, there is nothing to go by only what has just been described. Judge and Mrs. R. W. Ewing went out in their car from Miami, accompanied by Mrs. Olive Dixon, Robert Ewing, George Wells and Hugh Dixon. We were met at Mr. Teas' ranch by Messrs. N. P. Willis, Walter Ayers and L. P. Loomis, and his father, the two latter are editors of the Canadian Record. Mr. Teas and his family joined us in our trip to the Buffalo Wallow. Robert Ewing had a kodak and got a picture of the crowd at the Buffalo Wallow and also snapped the Miami bunch while eating dinner. Judge Ewing, being a typical Western man insisted on taking a frying pan and coffee pot on the trip. We found an ideal spot to camp for dinner. Soon a fire was started and dinner prepared. It is useless to say how delicious the fried bacon and eggs, (yes, we had eggs), hot coffee and other fixings were after a morning spent in the open air. Our District Judge, who is always thought of as being very red-tape and dignified, cast aside the responsibilities of his office and apparently enjoyed the vacation as thoroughly as the three small boys shooting fire crackers and playing in the creek bed near by. During the noon hour, while we chatted and discussed the object of our trip, a panoramic scene was passing in front of the writer of this sketch. Looking back 45 years ago I could see in my imagination thousands of black shaggy buffalo grazing peacefully on the mesquite flat in front of us. When at early sunrise of a September day in 1874 there appeared slowly advancing up the ravine six white men on horse back, all splendidly mounted, and headed east, bearing important dispatches from one government camp to another. Hardly more than a mile from where we sat in the warm sunshine these men were surrounded by a band of Kiawa and Commanche Indians. Here a desperate fight took place, their only protection being a ridge of dirt thrown up by the men after they succeeded in reaching a depression in the prairie, made by buffalo wallowing in the soft earth. To honor these men, and to mark the spot where they made such a brave stand, and where the body of one of their dead is still supposed to lie was our object in going out there. Not until this is accomplished will the writer be contented.

Many Road Projects Approved.
The record indicates that from July 1, 1918, to November 1, 1919, the United States Department of Agriculture approved 1,345 road projects, involving the improvements of 12,159 miles, at an estimated cost of approximately $181,143,644. Of this sum approximately $78,592,167 represents Federal funds. Since the passage of the Federal air road act 1,927 projects have been approved. These call for the construction of 18,596 miles of road, at an estimate cost of $225,267,847, of which about $95,498,140 will be borne by the Federal Government. Gratifying progress also has been made in connection with the national-forest road work. From July 1, 1918, to November 1, 1919, 74 projects, involving 923 miles of road, were approved, and plans were completed for the improvement of 50 others, aggregating 946 miles. These facts are brought out in the annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Grant, I beseech thee, that I may eat my meal ticket on the square and in doing so may not stick a gaff where it does not belong.
Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts.
Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own.
Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.
Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play.

What To Be.
"What shall I be?" said he to me
The other night upon my knee,
"When I grow up to be a man?"
'Twas plain he wanted me to plan
His life on earth throughout the years
And cite, perhaps a few careers
That lead to fame and fortune great
From which he soon must choose his fate.
And so I said: "Let's talk it o'er
And see what really lies before
Each little boy later on Must do men's work when we are gone.
What is it every one must need
Out there who's eager to succeed?
Let's try to understand and see
Just what it is that you must be.
"First keep in mind that this is true:
The kind of work you choose to do
Will matter not, if it's a task
That men of you may fairly ask;
If real service here you give,
No shame can harm you while you live.
But whatsoever your post or fee,
There are some things that you must be:
"You must be honest—therein lies
The test of men, however wise;
You must be loyal thru and thru,
Willing to work and cheerful, too;
You must be patient and be kind,
Be big of heart and broad of mind,
And be too manly here to claim
Advantage that is linked with shame;
"You must be clean—the world demands
Clean hearts and minds as well as hands;
You must be willing here to bear
Your portion of life's constant care,
And set in every way you can
The fine example of a man.
If these you are, you need not fear—
You shall succeed in any sphere."

The Canadian government will lend $7,500 to every Canadian soldier to buy equip and stock a farm. Of this amount $4,000 is for the land, at $40 an acre; $2,000 for the machinery and $1,500 for the buildings. A small part of the loan must be paid back yearly, except that nothing is to be paid the first two years. The terms are easy and extended over a sufficient period of time to enable any farm owner to make the necessary payments.—American Hereford Journal.

BLAMES PUBLIC FOR HIGH LIVING PRICES

W. C. Pope, chairman of the local fair price commission, says the public is to blame chiefly, for the high prices that now prevail. He declares people buy too much.

Speaking of existing conditions and offering remedies that would solve the problems, Mr. Pope had the following to say:

"The most important subject of the day is the high cost of living. The U. S. Government is doing its best to solve the problem but the people of the country can do more and do it quicker themselves if they will.

"If the women folks will stop buying, that is buy only what they have to actually have for the family to get along with, and the men do likewise we will soon see prices drop. The supply and demand is what regulates prices. The manufacturers all over the country are way behind in all their orders, but they are doing their best to turn out goods. If buying stopped for a while it will give them a chance to catch up and get goods ahead and when they have goods lying on their shelves they will be anxious to sell them and will put prices on them to sell.

"In Chicago there are 700,000 women who have pledged to buy only what they have to have, as well as the men are wearing old clothes and patched shoes. New York is doing the same. Amarillo should do her part in this campaign. Another very great complaint is the high rents of houses, apartments, stores and hotel rates."—Amarillo News.

Extension A. & M. Service.
 The best automobile on the market needs proper fuel in correct proportions as well as proper management and care in order to do its best work. The same thing is true of livestock.

Like father, like son, like seed like crop. What kind of seed are you going to plant? As you sow, so shall you reap is actually true of the farmer.

A scrub hog may look like a real hog, grunt like a real hog and eat like a real hog, but it does not produce profit like a genuine purebred hog when properly fed and cared for.

What kind of tracks have you on your farm? The tracks of purebred dairy cows, beef cattle, hogs, sheep and goats, and standard bred chickens lead to prosperity; but the tracks of scrubs lead to the mortgage shark and bankruptcy.

What is that dairy cow worth? Did you ever weigh the milk to see how much butter fat she is actually producing? Do you actually know what she is doing with the feed you are giving her? Does it go to beef fat, butter fat or fertilizer? Try weighing your milk.

Men are very careful about exchanging real money for counterfeit money, but how about exchanging real money for counterfeit livestock. A hen laying about forty eggs a year, a cow giving about eight pounds of milk a day and a hog so small that it has to be located by its grunt, are all counterfeits. Of course a man gets discouraged and goes broke buying real feed with real money for counterfeits. Try a few purebreds, standard breeds, etc., with proper feeding under suitable conditions and note the results.

The Thing to Do is Keep Cool.

There seems to be more kicking and fault-finding in the world right now than ever before. Now even during the big war was there so much dissatisfaction on every hand, but there was a good reason for that.

At that time we were all so deeply intent on finishing a gigantic job that lesser troubles hardly seemed worth mentioning. We brushed them aside, or ignored them. Today the air is full of the clamor of contending factions and every man's hand seems to be raised in threat against his neighbors. But it will come out all right in the end.

We are all more or less in a state of irritation, and while worrying and stewing over high prices, strikes, etc., are inclined to overlook the blessings we have, which, after all, are manifold, if we would only stop long enough to inventory them.—Ex.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR

The boys of Randall County are going to show a lot of pep in their Pig Club work this year. Every boy who wants to do something worth while should get into this club and draw one of those pigs next Monday. Most boys can raise a better pig than their dads. A great opportunity is offered in business training as well as hog raising.

Canyon is the only town in the Panhandle that has a successful Trades Day. It takes the combined efforts of the business interests and the public to make a successful Trades Day. The people of Randall County should support the business houses that are making Canyon's Trades Day a success.

When two of the oldest and best known newspapers in America—the New York Herald and the St. Louis Republic—are put out of existence by the high cost of producing a newspaper, it is time for the weekly publisher to sit up and take notice. The News will therefore raise the subscription rate to $2.00 per year after March 9.

Senator Lodge just isn't going to let any kind of a reservation to the Treaty slip by him. He stands unreservedly for the Lodge brand of reservations. Ex-President Taft wrote a reservation which seemed to be acceptable to all but Lodge.

Congressman Blanton of Texas occupied the front page again this week. Gompers accuses him of not telling the truth. Perhaps Gompers expressed what a good many people have been thinking.

The News was asked this week if we wanted to publish a list of the sick folks. Well, it would have made a pretty complete directory of the city and county.

What has become of the old fashioned naval and army officers who were afraid to talk about their superior officers or governmental policies?

Winter tried mighty hard this week to stage a comeback, but the failure is very gratifying to all, especially to the family with the empty coal bin.

By the time Sims and Daniels get through talking about each other, we will wonder who is boss of the navy.

You can get a whole basketful of francs for a dollar now, but who in the world wants the things.

Those plans to reduce the high cost of living are as profitable as our oil stock.

Item Extraordinary.

The physical facts are numerously evidenced by the positive arrival and distribution of cars to move our crop of 1919. This following closely upon the heels of the Car Shortage Hearing which was held in Amarillo, January 20th under the direction of Mr. N. D. Ballantine who came direct from the offices of Mr. Hines in Washington, places upon us certain definite responsibilities.

Answering our distressed request for cars before the Railroad Administration, joined by the hearty concurrence of resident railroad authorities we have been heard and the relief which will ultimately be obtained now rests in a very large measure on ourselves.

- (1) Urge owners of unthreshed grain to rush threshing operations with all possible speed.
- (2) Urge removal of grain to loading stations quickly.
- (3) Urge greatest possible rapidity in loading of cars.

You will kindly scatter this sentiment throughout your community by personal conversation, by meetings called for the purpose and through the columns of your local press. AMARILLO GAS FIELD
BIGGEST IN CENTURY

Gross Production is Now Estimated at 206,000,000 Cubic Feet Daily

Frank A. Briggs in Dallas News.

Amarillo, Texas, Feb. 3.—Following the discovery of what is believed to be the greatest gas field in America, oil and gas companies, both great and small have checkerboarded the Panhandle country with leases with the expectation of discovering an oil field which will prove startling in its magnitude.

Enough gas already has been developed in the field north of Amarillo to more than supply the needs of this section, and, while wells may be added to the list in the search for oil, it is not the intention of operators to make a special effort to secure more gas until some means is found to dispose of the production at a profitable figure.

The Amarillo gas field, or, to be more general, the Panhandle gas field is one of the biggest finds of the century. Not only is the proven area very large, but the production is more than average. One of the wells has been gauged at 107,000,000 cubic feet each twenty-four hours, and there is reason to believe that other wells of equal magnitude, or nearly so, could be had for the drilling.

An area of 100 square miles, or 64,000 acres, is in practically proven gas territory. One well to forty acres would give the field 1,600 gas wells. The total production from such a large number of wells, even at minimum figures, would be almost too large to comprehend.

While the wells already producing prove a territory of approximately 100 square miles, there is reason to believe that the field is much larger than this, for, thus far every well drilled has been a big producer, and none has given indications that it was located on the extreme edge of the structure.

The Amarillo field now has six producing gas wells, with a total gross production of 206,000,000 cubic feet a day. Obeying the rules of conservation by permitting a flow of but 25 per cent of gross production, the field has a little more than 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas available daily. Other wells being drilled for oil may add to this list of gassers. Whether this should prove true or not, the supply available is sufficient for the needs of Amarillo for domestic and industrial consumption, and for other nearby cities and towns at a later date, when distributing lines are ready.

Well No. 1 of the Amarillo Gas Company is located twenty-eight miles north of Amarillo, north of the Canadian River. It was started in the fall of 1917 and completed in September, 1918, at 2,395 feet. It is in section 6, in block 018. It has a production of 10,000,000 cubic feet, gauge measurement.

This well came in unexpectedly, and for ninety days it ran wild, after which it was capped and the derrick removed and the well made ready for pipe line connections. With the coming in of this well, the stock of the Amarillo Oil Company, largely held by a few Amarillo business men, advanced from $10 to $1,000 a share, at which point it remains.

Well No. 2 was drilled half a mile west of No. 1, and came in in July, 1919, at 1,900 feet, making 7,000,000 cubic feet.

No. 3 was drilled three-fourths of a mile east of No. 1 and reached pay at 1,700 feet and drilled to 2,195 feet, making 10,000,000 feet.

A derrick was then erected for No. 4, one and a half miles south of No. 3, and at 1,665 feet the greatest gasser of America blew in, with a roar which could be heard for miles, and, figuratively speaking, was heard across the continent.

No. 4 hit the sand one Sunday in November, 1919, at 1,665 feet. The first flow was estimated at about 30,000,000 feet. It kept increasing until 40,000,000, then 50,000,000 was passed, and, then, suddenly tore loose with a growl and a roar such as even the experienced drillers had never before heard. The sound was deafening. Rocks and gravel showered the country for many rods and spectators scattered to safe distances. For six days the monster had its own way, when drillers succeeded in capping it with a shut-off valve. During the period in which it was running wild, the well gauged 71,000,000 feet. Following a period of time, after closing, the valve was again opened, and for one hour it was allowed to exhibit its power, after which it was placed on a gauge and showed a flow of 107,000,000 feet, which figure was placed on record with the oil and gas department of the Railroad Commission at Austin.

The workmen, who finally succeeded in shutting off this well, first packed their ears with cotton. On top of this they wedged balls of wet clay, and then covered the entire ear with clay and bound it in place with bands of cloth. Even this protection was insufficient, and for days following their efforts the men were partially deaf. The man who finally succeeded in placing the well in control said that he would not undergo such torture again for any amount of money that could be named, so great was the shock to the nervous system.

The geological survey showed well No. 1 to be at the apex of the dome, but since the bringing in of No. 4 with such a tremendous production, at 1,665 feet, as compared with a flow of 10,000,000 feet at 2,395 feet in No. 1, operators are of the opinion that No. 4 is nearer the apex than either of the other three wells previously drilled.

The four wells referred to are all on the holdings of the Amarillo Oil Company and are north of the Canadian River. In addition to these wells are the following:

Ten miles east of No. 1, the Amarillo Oil Company and the Jones Bros. of Kansas City are drilling jointly on the Bivens farm. This well is south of the Canadian River. At 1,900 feet a 2,000,000-foot flow of gas was encountered. At this point the drillers also had trouble and are now busy trying to get by a broken pipe.

Seven miles northeast of No. 1, across the line into Moore county, the Shamrock Oil Company is drilling, passing through the same formations as found in other wells.

In section 2, block 11, six miles southwest of No. 1, the Ranch Creek well has passed through eight sands and is now in another, which is producing 30,000,000 feet of gas. The total production from the various sands encountered and cased off is estimated at 70,000,000 feet per day. This well will be drilled deeper with the view of finding oil.

One feature of the Ranch Creek well is found in the fact that productive sands were found above the lime, and, after drilling through the lime, three other sands were found, ranging in thickness from six to forty-two feet. The flow from the lower sand is said to be wet gas. It has not yet been shut off, but is coming thru an eight-inch pipe with such force that it takes some effort to hold your hand over the hole without having the arm thrown into an erect position.

Ten miles southwest of No. 1, the Trig well found a flow of 2,000,000 feet of gas at 2,600 feet. This was cased off and the drill is now down approximately 3,600 feet, in an effort to find oil. This is the deepest hole in the Panhandle.

The Emerald Oil Company is drilling at 700 feet, four miles southeast of No. 1. Many other locations have been made.

The wells which have already become gas producers cover a wide territory, and prove up nearly 100 sections of land. There are many other similar structures, which may develop gas at the apex of the domes, all of which will add to the prestige of this field.

Come to Canyon to live.

Hogs for West Texas Farmers.
A letter received at the Plainsman office from Porter A. Whaley, General Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, says:

We beg to call your attention to the fact that we have closed a deal with the Fort Worth Stock Yards Co., by which we will put on a campaign to import 100,000 hogs for breeding purposes into West Texas. The campaign will be handled jointly by us and two representatives of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Co., under the leadership of C. C. French. The plan by which we will import these hogs into the communities of West Texas is as follows:

A meeting of farmers is to be called in each community and there it is to be ascertained how many farmers desire to import hogs for breeding purposes only. Their orders will then be taken and either checks representing their respective purchases or bank arrangements for the same arranged. In many places, the banks will advance funds, payable in installments for this purpose. An order for at least one car load must be made up. We recommend the purchase of hogs weighing an average of 160 pounds. 50 to 65 such sized hogs, to make up a carload, and in no event over 70 hogs, which is the maximum. After the orders have all been taken, and it has been ascertained that orders for one or more car loads have been secured, then the bank notifies O. W. Matthews, Secretary, Fort Worth Stockyards Co., North Fort Worth, Texas, of the number designed, and that the bank will honor draft for said hogs upon arrival of the hogs at nearest shopping point.

When the Stockyards Company receives the order, they will immediately pick from the best hogs on the stockyards market, sufficient hogs to fill the order. These hogs will then be placed in quarantine for 30 days and fed. They will be given the simultaneous hog cholera treatment, and also immunized against hog flu, pneumonia, etc. They will also be tested and if any show fever, the Government Inspectors will throw them out. Before these hogs are shipped they will again be inspected and if they show fever, will be thrown out. The cost of the hogs will be the exact price as shown by the daily livestock market, plus the feeding for 30 days and the cost of the immunizing treatment. These hogs will not be registered but be of pure bred Poland China or Duroc Jersey stock. Mr. C. C. French, representing the Stockyards Company, is now making a tour of West Texas, in the plans for this campaign, but any town may go ahead and put on a campaign without his aid, carrying out the plan as suggested above.

We think the farmers in West Texas will be glad to join the movement and have an opportunity to get some of these fine selected hogs for breeding purposes. For further information, write to Mr. O. W. Matthews, Secretary, Fort Worth Stockyards Co., North Fort Worth, Texas, or to, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Service Department, Stamford, Texas.

We have already had meetings under plans at Brownwood, Haskell, Seymour and Stamford, and already orders have been placed for about 1500 head. At a meeting which was held in Stamford this morning, two car loads were immediately ordered by long distance, and will be shipped out of North Fort Worth in the next few days. We consider this work very important, and that it is going to produce for reaching results for all of West Texas.

Man and Wild Cat Fight.

Sheriff W. S. The evidence, as gathered by the sheriff is, that when Mr. Pritchard discovered he had a wild cat in his trap, he drew his hatchet and started for the cat and the cat also started for him, breaking the chain and landing right on top of Mr. Pritchard, and for a minute the fight was fierce, but a final blow with the hatchet put Mr. cat out of the ring and when Mr. Pritchard's friends found him a few hours later he was still singing, "What Makes a Wild Cat Wild?"—Panhandle Herald.

A Message to the Boys.

The American boy is a product of the American School.

He is at the age then, between 15 and 20 years, when he will make himself physically strong, or weak, and form the ideals and habits that go with him through life.

It is for this reason that the United States Public Health Service has started a campaign in America to reach all of the boys between the ages of 15 and 20 years and interest them in a campaign to keep themselves physically fit. This is not with an idea of raising the boys to be soldiers, but because there is one young man in every three physically unfit, not only to be a soldier, but anything else that requires strong, vigorous manhood. This was revealed when the army had to reject one man in every three for physical disability.

Surgeon General Ireland, of the Army, and Surgeon General Braisted, of the Navy, have taken a very keen interest in this work, which has the backing of the Y. M. C. A., churches, welfare organizations, and educators throughout the United States, and have sent the following messages to the boys within this age group:

Surgeon General Rupert Blue, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Sir:

I am just informed of the plan for a great work which your Service is trying to put into effect, to reach three million boys between the ages of fifteen and twenty with a "Keeping Fit Message".

This appeals to me as an effort to meet a striking need. Our experience with an army representing a cross section through the manhood of our country convinces us that the greatest factor in the prevention or spread of venereal disease in the army is the mental and moral attitude of the men.

In general, a man's mental and moral attitude, his character, is largely the result of the influences which have molded him before he reaches the age of military service, and it can be improved afterward with difficulty and usually only by means which stir him deeply. Heretofore the formation of his viewpoint and standards in relation to sexual matters has been too much the result of chance impressions gathered from uninformed or evil associates, with the result that in far too many instances misinformation and false standards obtained.

I wish your Service the greatest success in this new undertaking and believe that the results of such success will later be shown in lowered venereal rates in the army.

Very truly yours,
M. W. IRELAND,
Surgeon-General, U. S. Navy.

My Dear Surgeon General Blue:

I have great pleasure in endorsing your movement to arouse the boys between fifteen and twenty years of age to a full sense of what they owe to themselves and the country. My message to them is:

"The habits of a lifetime are formed by what you think and do each day as young men; by the companions you choose and friends you make."

"Strong bodies, firm purposes, noble ambitions are your fortune. If you throw away your health by evil ways and soil the purity of mind and body for the amusement and excitement of the moment, you are like a man spending his capital instead of investing it."

"Work hard, play hard. Keep busy, keep clean."

W. C. BRAISTED,
Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

We have received from Brentano's "The Wisdom of Woodrow Wilson." It is a small book which can be carried in a vest pocket.—Heywood Brown, in the New York "Tribune."

ONLY 1 PRIVATE GOT D. S. M. TO 554 OFFICERS, IN THE WAR

Representative Gillivan in a statement issued January 14 declared only one enlisted man had been awarded a distinguished service medal, while 554 officers and 33 civilians had been given this decoration.

"Let it not be forgotten," said Mr. Gillivan's statement, "that the act creating the distinguished service medal abolished the certificate of merit, the oldest decoration of the American army which was for enlisted men only."

"I do not care to comment upon the figures which I append. It certainly is illuminating."

The figures quoted showed the following distribution of distinguished service medals: Generals, 3; lieutenant generals, 2; major generals, 69; brigadier generals, 12; colonels, 265; lieutenant colonels, 78; majors, 16; captains, 2; lieutenants, 3; chaplains, 43; sergeants, 1; corporals, none; privates, 1; civilians, male, 25; civilians, female, 8.—By B. N. Timmons, Washington Correspondent, Houston Chronicle.

Seventy Bushels Per Acre.

E. S. Ellis threshed a 27-acre field of kafir out on his farm east of town a few days ago that gave a yield of seventy bushels per acre. The kafir is of the black hull variety.

E. B. Porterfield, farming just west of town, stated to the Herald Tuesday that his white kafir corn was threshing out an average of sixty bushels per acre.

There are numerous other feed crops in the county turning big yields and there yet remains a big portion of the crop to be threshed and marketed.

The local market yesterday was quoting kafir and maize at $1.80 per hundred pounds.—Panhandle Herald.

An exchange professor says that education has passed from a luxury to a necessity. Then nobody will want it.—New York Evening Post.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Randall County, Texas—Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon H. L. Tracy, Nellie C. Brewington, C. G. Jackson, W. C. Randall, and wife, Allie E. Randall, and Joseph C. Baker, and the unknown heirs, their heirs and legal representatives of the said H. L. Tracy, Nellie C. Brewington, C. G. Jackson, W. C. Randall, and wife, Allie E. Randall, and Joseph C. Baker, deceased, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Randall County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Canyon, Texas, on the fourth Monday in February, 1920, the same being the 23rd day of February, 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 20th day of January, 1920, in a suit number on the docket of said court, No. 893, wherein Wilford Taylor is plaintiff, and H. L. Tracy, Nellie C. Brewington, C. G. Jackson, W. C. Randall, and wife, Allie E. Randall, and Joseph C. Baker, and the unknown heirs, their heirs and legal representatives of the said H. L. Tracy, Nellie C. Brewington, C. G. Jackson, W. C. Randall, and wife, Allie E. Randall, and Joseph C. Baker, deceased, are defendants, said petition alleging that plaintiff is the legal and equitable owner in fee simple title to and in possession of the following described lands and premises situated in Randall County, Texas, to-wit: All of the southeast quarter of Section or Survey No. 131, in Block B-5, located by virtue of Certificate No. 15-3605 issued to the Holston & Great Northern Railroad Company, and patented by the State of Texas, to the Texas Land Company, assignee, by patent N. 323 Volume 61, and containing 160 acres of land, more or less; and that his title thereto is clouded by reason of the following: Said land was conveyed to Nellie C. Brewington, and by Walter Brewington, and wife, C. Nellie Brewington, to O. P. Slack, and it is alleged that Nellie C. Brewington and C. Nellie Brewington is one and the same person; that said land was conveyed to H. L. Tracy, and there is no conveyance from him to any one, but same was conveyed by his father, George H. Tracy, as sole heir at law, there being no legal proof of heirship, and plaintiff alleges that any title vested in said H. L. Tracy is now owned by him; that said land was conveyed to C. G. Jackson and by Charles G. Jackson to W. C. Randall, and by W. C. Randall and wife, Allie E. Randall to Joseph C. Baker, and said Baker later conveyed said land, but that the acknowledgments to the deeds of Jackson, Randall and wife, and Baker are defective; that by reason of the facts aforesaid it appears that the defendants may have some claim, right, title or interest therein, but said matters are only apparent and not real. Plaintiff prays for judgment for the title and possession of said land, and removal of clouds from his title against defendants and each of them.

HEREIN FAIL NOT. But have before said Court on the first day of the next term thereof this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, O. W. Gano, Clerk of the District Court of Randall County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, in Canyon, Texas, this the 20th day of January, A. D. 1920.

Clerk of the District Court of Randall County, Texas.

A Small Orchard on Every Farm.
(By County Agent Harmon Benton.)

No one thing adds to the attractiveness of the rural home more than a well kept home orchard. Due to the fact that we frequently have late spring frosts which kill our fruits while in bloom, the planting of large or commercial orchards is not advised, except under special conditions. In some of the coves among the Canadian river breaks as fine orchards are found as in any section of the country outside of the specialized orchard sections. A home orchard on the Plains planted to the proper species and varieties of fruit trees will produce some fruit every year, and a reasonably full crop two years out of five.

By canning the fruit the years of full crop production to supplement the supply during years of scant production an ample supply of fruits may be grown on every farm in the Panhandle.

One progressive farmer informed the writer that a home orchard consisting of 100 to 200 trees was worth the trouble and expense just to "look at" "and the fruit is all profit."

The ideal location of an orchard is a northwest slope. This can not be found on every farm. Where there is no slope to the northwest on the farm; select the orchard site on some slope. Do not locate the orchard on the highest or lowest location on the farm.

If the orchard can be located so the surplus water from the windmill can be used for irrigation all the better.

On many farms it is not practicable to irrigate an orchard from the windmill; but there are convenient slopes on every farm where the runoff water may be controlled with embankments and caused to run through the orchard. The plan is to backfurrow around the orchard, throwing up small levees; then from the highest point or points in the levy plow contour backfurrows out from the orchard, giving enough rise to the contour furrows as they proceed from the orchard to bring runoff water that will be stopped by these contours, into the orchard; and not enough rise to the soil will wash. A fall of 5 to 8 inches to the 100 feet will give excellent results. By this simple method the orchard can be supplied with sufficient moisture during the driest years to keep the trees in a thrifty condition without other irrigation.

Cherries, plums and grapes are almost sure crops; apples, pears and peaches are frequently killed by late spring freezes, but are well worth planting in limited quantities. Of the small fruits blackberries, dewberries, raspberries, currants, gooseberries and strawberries are valuable additions to the home orchard. Practically every orchard within 50 miles of Amarillo has been visited by the writer. The condition of the plants was noted and the owner was asked to recommend the variety of each species he would plant again. Many varieties were found growing which do not appear below because they were found to be unsatisfactory from the fact that they were short lived, subject to disease or insects, or did not bear fruit satisfactorily.

Any of the following varieties may be depended upon for reasonable production:

Apples: Jonathan, Winesap, Storm Proof, Drouth King, York Imperial, Winter Banana, Missouri Pippin, Genatin, Grimes Golden, Starks Delicious, Black Twig, Limber Twig, Ben Daws, Arkansas Black, Early Harvest, Yellow Transparent and Gano.

Crab Apples: Translucent, Red Siberian.

Pears: Keifer.

Plums: Poole's Pride, Hamner, Forest, American, Lombard, Wickson, De Sota, Eagle, Shropshire, Wooten Golden Beauty, Green Gage, Indian Chief, Ohio Prolific, Surprise, Wild Goose, Othello, Wolf and Wonder.

Peaches: Mayflower, Triumph, Elberta, Champion, Mamie Ross, Indian Cling, Indian Freestone, Robert Lee, Chinese Cling, Heath Cling, Lemon Cling and Alexander.

Cherries: Sudie Hardy, Morello, Montmorency, Early Richmond, Black Spanish, Eagle, Windsor and Compas or Plum Cherry.

Grapes: Moore's Diamond, Moore's Early, Niagara, Worden, Campbell's Early, Concord, Green Mountain and Delaware.

Dewberries: Austin and Ruth's Hybrid.

Strawberries: Klondyke, Excelsior, Lady Thompson.

Raspberries: Turner and Cuthbert.

Radicals Plus Radicals.

Look at Russia—a nation in the hands of radicals!

Would you like to live in Russia? Would you like to see this country transformed into another Russia?

Radicalism made Russia what it is today—radicalism on both sides. The czars of Russia have been the greatest radicals of modern times—probably of all times. Their radicalism was in favor of plundering the poor in favor of the rich and favored class. Now the czar is rotting in an unhonored grave—murdered by another set of radicals—the peasant bolsheviks. The rich and favored are no longer rich or favored. They are being plundered and murdered by the very people whom they robbed a few short months ago.

A case of dog eat dog. But take a look at our own country. View the situation without malice and without passion.

Capitalistic greed and radicalism are fermenting a dangerous radicalism among the laboring classes.

Radical labor leaders are continually stirring up strife and enmity toward all capital.

Each wants to swallow the other at a gulp, and neither is willing to meet the other half way and adopt a conservative basis of adjustment of difficulties.

There are brains and common sense among both the capitalists and the laborers. But in both camps radicalism makes a big noise and conservatism dances to the music.

Throw out the radicals on both sides and we Americans will be able to view bolshevistic Russia with pity rather than with apprehension.

A radical is a radical, in whichever camp you find him.

Even the old artifice of making faces at the coal-cart drivers fail of its purpose in these degenerate days.

Winter.

Aha! he is here again.
His stormy trumpets blow;
The swift, dim lines of the beating rain
Blossom to starry snow.

With morning the drifts are deep,
And strangely over them go,
Like dreams on the silent heart of sleep,
Shadows of jay and crow;

But the hungry chickadees wait,
Their tree-hollow sealed with ice,
Till the sun shall open that crystal gate

To a sparkling paradise;
For never a branch so bare,
So gnarled and crooked and gray,
But it dazzles with diamonds unaware
And rainbows out at play.

Too soon the sun unfurls
Gold banners in the west;
The diamond pendants pale to pearls,
The flying shadows rest;

And the fair young moon in joy
Comes flushing up the sky,
To find our world a Christmas toy
Carven in ivory.

Hunter Kills Horse.

Some one, evidently on a hunting expedition, shot and killed a valuable mare belonging to Thurman Havins, on the Venable farm one day last week. The ball, supposedly one from a high-power rifle, entered the animal's head just below the right eye. Mr. Havins never discovered his loss until Monday morning of this week.—Claude News.

The New Savings Stamps.

Following the receipt of an official communication from the Treasury Department at Washington, the announcement is made by Dinsmore W. Hume, Assistant Federal Director, that the 1920 issue of Government savings stamps, thrift stamps and treasury savings certificates will be on sale January 1st at all postoffices and incorporated banks.

Since the beginning of the thrift-savings movement, which was adopted as a national war measure but is now a permanent peace-time program of the government, savings stamps and certificates totaling $1,128,480,781 have been purchased by American citizens up to December 15. Of this amount, more than $100,000,000 is held by the citizens of the eleventh federal reserve district.

The 1920 securities will be substantially the same in terms and conditions as those of the 1919 issue, but some alterations have been made in the forms. The 1920 Savings Stamp, for example, will be carmine in color, will bear the head of George Washington, and the size will approximate the larger stamp used in 1918. A change has also been made in the terms of the 1920 Treasury Savings Certificate as compared with the 1919 issue, in that the 1920 certificates are redeemable at the Treasury, beginning with the second calendar month after the month of purchase, without the ten days demand required by the terms of the 1919 Treasury Savings Certificates. Postoffices are not required, however, to make payment of War Savings Certificates until ten days after receiving written demand for payment.

Killed A Big Eagle.

J. A. Line killed a very large Golden eagle at his place near Ellen Saturday night, and brought it to town yesterday and presented it to the First National Bank, which will have it mounted and placed in the bank.

The eagle measures seven feet and four inches from tip to tip of his wings and 37 inches from the beak to the tip of its tail.

It and its mate have been ranging about Ellen for three years and have been shot at many times. Mr. Line found them roosting on his windmill tower and brought down one of them.—Plainview News.

Labor and the Farm.

Nothing could be clearer than that organized labor has been depending upon the farmers of America to cooperate in the vast scheme to dominate industry. Until very recently the labor leaders were sanguine that the farmers were ready to respond to the supreme rallying-cry. But now they are not so sure. The open invitation of Samuel Gompers to the farmers' organizations to join in a general conference has been most emphatically rejected. The efforts of other labor leaders have met similar rebuff. No agricultural organizations, except a few that are more political than anything else, and are consequently looking for allies with votes to help them put across their own undertakings, have fallen for organized labor's lure. The farmer's thumbs point downward, so far as labor's radical proposals are concerned.

Is there any way by which organized labor can cause a change in this attitude of the men on the farms? Yes—without a doubt.

How? Like all other great problems, the basic features are simple. The solution calls for no complicated formula. It will merely be necessary for organized labor to readjust its fundamental principles to conform to the following:

1. Guarantee the fulfillment of contracts.
  2. Assume responsibility for the efficiency and acts of its members.
  3. Replace the present plan of bringing all workmen to the same level with a genuine merit system, under which individual initiative and ability will be stimulated instead of stifled. Classify all members, according to ability, after proper examination by the union itself, and let the membership cards indicate their grade.
  4. Abandon the attempts to reduce the working hours below the point required by economic conditions, and recognize that production in the factories is as necessary as on the farms.
- These adjustments would be but fair. By making them, organized labor could win the friendship and cooperation, not only of the farmers, but of everybody else. And labor would be far stronger for it. Employers would then be eager to contract with the unions. Labor would have some genuine trading stock with which to negotiate bargains. As it is, it has nothing to sell that it is sure of delivering, nothing to use in a trade but a club, and that club is sure to be broken beyond repair if matters go on as they are. Honest workmen would seek and try to maintain membership in the unions, instead of being driven and held in by violence or penalties. The open shop would cease to be a bogie to the unions, for all workmen worth having on a job would carry union cards.

The Farmer's Position.

More than one-half of the American people live in the country, and from the country we get stability and a conservatism that insures this nation from the adoption of the program of the bolshevist.

Agriculture has given its answer to labor organizations—organizations that would disrupt our business life and shoulder on to an irresponsible government in their own making, the business of operating railroads, coal mines, business institutions and every other public utility.

The farmers of America are stable, they are conservative, they are to be relied upon, and the wonder is that the idea should ever spring up in the minds of labor leaders that farmers could be influenced to espouse the cause of radicalism and bolshevism, at a time when the whole world should be of a sane mind.

The right of the laboring man to leave his work has never been questioned, but when labor organizations attempt to restrict the supply and cut off the distribution of commodities that are essential to life, then it is time for the power of government to interfere. Farmers realize this fact, and hence any attempt to secure their patronage to a program that is unlawful because it is unhuman will not meet with their approval.

There are some industries in which those who are engaged have no right to strike. Agriculture is one of them, for when the production of food is restricted not only the business of the world is stopped but human life is imperiled, and whether or not the statutes say it in black and white, it would be a crime against humanity which no government could tolerate. As usual, the farmer thru his organizations, has refused to be influenced against his better judgment. He will not allow his business to be handicapped with that spirit of radicalism which is seeking a foothold in every industry of the world.

Fortunate indeed is the country—a majority of whose people live in the country, for as President Taft once expressed it, "Public opinion is moulded by the country fireside", and there today we find the stability, the courage, the will to do right, and to stand by the cause of freedom and justice.—The Dairy Farmer.

Good Roads Without Bonds.

Iowa is going to be pulled out of the six-months-of-the-year-mud-quarantine by the road bill which has just been passed. Without going under bonds, Iowa is going to build roads on a pay-as-you-go basis, which is intended to complete the 6,000 miles of permanent surfaced intercounty highway system in 10 years. In only one case will bonds be issued, and that is where a county wishes to build its highway faster than the average of the state. Even then the proposition must be submitted to a vote of either county or district before the measure can be carried out.

The road system, as worked out at present, approaches within two miles of 85 per cent of the people of the state. Roughly speaking, there are 12 main roads running from north to south in the state, and nine running east and west. This makes a main highway available for almost every tier of counties.

Federal aid funds which will be available for this work will amount to $8,736,835. This money will be allotted to the 99 counties in proportion to their areas, as federal funds are now distributed.

The new bill does not in any way interfere with present highway organization—state, county or township. Highway commission and county en-

This plan as put through will provide an easy way for Iowa to get good roads without going into debt or issuing bonds to do it. It is a strictly pay-as-you-go system, which in 10 years ought to give that state a permanent surfaced highway system which will provide transportation facilities for at least 85 per cent of her people.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN WILL BE WAGED BY THE TEACHERS

County school superintendents over the state have been requested by State Superintendent Annie Webb Blanton to solicit from each teacher in the county a contribution of 50 to 75 cents to help finance a campaign that is to begin in the early summer to secure higher salaries for school teachers. The campaign will be under the direction of Miss Blanton and Dr. Caswell Ellis of the State University, and its purpose is to secure by constitutional amendment a state income tax to augment the school fund. Teachers in private schools are expected to also assist in the effort since there would likely be no discrimination in salaries as between public and private teachers should the matter be pushed to a successful conclusion.

The Bolsheviks are Learning.

If the report from Finland is correct the Bolshevik leaders have made another great discovery as to how the world is run. They have found that Russia is suffering from insufficient production and a consequent low standard of living. So they have provided for a 12-hour day and they are trying to force a 7-day week of work.

At the outset they believed the country could get on beautifully without an army by using moral suasion. Now they have organized an army in which the death penalty—at first discarded—is often enforced. They abolished wages, and refused to pay a competent worker more than an incompetent one. Now they have revised the wage scale and have sanctioned all sorts of disparity in the pay. They believed the whole country would be prosperous and happy with a very short working day, once all returns on capital, and high salaries paid to executive were dispensed with. Now they have learned that if there is nothing to divide the share of each person will be negligible.

Of course, it is perfectly evident that the chief cause of poverty in Russia is lack of production. With industry shot to pieces and producing only 25 per cent of what it produced under the old regime there is no opportunity to better the condition of the people. So hard experience has taught the leaders the old lesson that the salvation of people lies in work.

What is true in Russia is true only in somewhat less degree in all other countries. There is no magic road to national wealth. A people cannot be made rich by legislation. The only way in the world to raise the standard of living in Russia or in the United States is to increase production.—Kansas City Star.

When Work Kills.

Many people will tell you that work never kills one. But it does. There is a certain pace that men travel that requires work—work of a peculiar kind—work that leads inevitably to disaster.

That is the work that has dissipation as its goal. The young man who spends hours chasing the wild orgies of the bright lights is a worker. He toils diligently in his search for new thrills, for the sordid and seamy side of life, for the "skirt" that smiles when he nods his head.

His brain is ever on the alert—seeking, seeking, seeking—and at each step his vitality becomes weaker and weaker.

In time he becomes old in his youth, his frame but an empty shell, his mind a conglomeration of selfishness and debauchery.

It requires work to go this pace—work that leads to the open grave.

Thought and Action.

Action denied turns noble thoughts to dust. As action void of thought depraves mankind; How happy they whose thought makes action just. And all whose action purifies the mind: Them neither thought nor action renders blind. To civic duty or some homely trust, And, whether to the world or books inclined, Their swords and souls alike are free from rust.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

Boy Scout Notes.

Anniversary week February 8 to 14th.

The Canyon Troop of Boy Scouts will keep the 10th Anniversary of the inauguration of the Scout movement by observing "Good Turn" week.

On Sunday the 8th the Troop will parade and attend service at the Methodist Church when a special sermon will be preached to them by the Pastor.

On Monday an all day hike will be planned if the weather is suitable.

Tuesday and Wednesday will be observed by the Scoutmasters in addresses on the Boy Scout organization at the different schools.

Thursday will be "Flag Raising Day" when the Troop will raise the flag on the campus of both the College and High School. Thursday night is Mothers' night and regular Troop meeting, when a "feed" will be on the program.

The Troop keeps up in numbers well notwithstanding the falling out of a few. Good work is being done both in the Troop room and in the gymnasium, and several are on the way to the "Second Degree."

Warning.

Scoutmaster Garner wishes to warn parents and citizens that the bunch of boys loafing around the square after dark, smoking and behaving generally in a way unbecoming a Scout, are not members of the Troop, even though they are wearing the uniforms unlawfully.

Junior High School Notes.

The "flu" is effecting the attendance this week. None of our pupils are seriously sick.

Miss Elva Fronabarger was ill on Tuesday and her sister, Miss Marie supplied for her.

Miss Frye leaves us for California where her parents are temporarily residing on account of her mother's illness. Miss Frye has made a loyal and efficient teacher and has won the love of her pupils.

Prof. Anderson who has been a very successful teacher and superintendent at Dallhart has consented to help us out for the remainder of the year.

The boys of the upper grades have organized a Young Citizens' Club and will engage in weekly debates and declamation efforts. Let the boys come.

The pupils have organized a School Bank in connection with their thrift work. Miss Ola Robinson was elected president and Miss Grace Barks, cashier. Please ask about the bank and encourage in the thrift work.

Our orchestra is moving along nicely.—C. L. SONE, Supt.

Harrell Makes Good At Austin.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 31.—The honor list of the University of Texas for the fall term, as announced by the dean, contains the name of Newton Samuel Harrell of Canyon among the best eleven per cent of the 3,800 students. Nearly 300 students attained the honors, which are calculated as follows: A, counts for 12 points; B, for 9; C, for 6; D, for 3. Grades in physical training do not count. Above 15 per cent of the students made 45 points, which is equivalent to five B's; 11 per cent scored 48 points and above, which is equivalent to a succession of A's and B's, or straight A's. No student taking only five courses, the normal amount of work, can make the best one per cent. The different percentages classed as follows: The best one per cent, upperclassmen, 61 points and above; freshmen, 58 and above; the best two per cent, upperclassmen, 58 to 60, freshmen, 56 and 57; the best three per cent, upperclassmen, 57 points, freshmen, 54 and 55; the best five per cent, upperclassmen, 53 to 56, freshmen, 48 to 53; the best eight per cent, upperclassmen, 49 to 52, freshmen, 44 to 47; the best eleven per cent, upperclassmen, 48, freshmen, 42 and 44. For example, if an upperclassman made in his five courses 4 A's and one B, he would score 57 points, thus placing him in the best 3 per cent.

Mrs. H. P. Canode Dies.
What came as a shock to the many friends and acquaintances of the family, was the death of Mrs. H. P. Canode, wife of H. P. Canode, formerly owner of the Amarillo Hotel Tuesday night at 11:30 o'clock.

Although Mrs. Canode had been suffering from a cold and sore throat for the past week, she had apparently been enjoying good health prior to that time and her death was a surprise to those who were closely connected with the family.

She had been a resident of Amarillo for the past 18 years, moving here with her husband from Illinois.—Amarillo News.

If you are ashamed of your guests don't report them to the News. Otherwise, phone 41.

Dammit, He Died.
The six hundred students of Simmons College of Abilene were in deep mourning last week because "Dammit" the bulldog mascot of the college for many years had gone to the "happy hunting grounds", where jack rabbits and cats to chase about. "Dammit" was buried on the college campus with ceremonies befitting such a distinguished creature. Honorary degrees were conferred upon him and orations were delivered at the grave. A tombstone over the grave bears this distinction, "Dammit, he died".

Advices say that "Dammit" rose to greatness through his own efforts. As a wee pup he came to the college and "pronto" had his tail canned. Undaunted he returned time and again until Dr. Sandifer, president of the college, took him to his home. There, by close application to his duties, he became one of the "respected members of the faculty".

It is a good thing for United States Senators that they are paid by the year. They would starve to death on piecework.—Dallas News.
