Spreads Like Wildfire. When things are "the best" they become "the best" and they spread. Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling thing I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Hence cure multitudes of ailments. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, random man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. April 27.

Our nature is inseparable from desires, and the very word desire—the craving for something not possessed—implies that the present feeling is not complete.—Hobbes.

Our sales on opening day were very satisfactory, and we appreciate it very sorry to keep so many customers waiting two hours or more for their turn, but as my force of clerks was limited to 12, we could not wait on them all at once. As sales run far above the $1000 note, you may think we were busy, and not a clerk off his dinner all day. I thank you again for your patronage, and will appreciate it if you will continue the same. T. E. Powell.

A brother B. F. Barnard, who recently came out on a visit, died Wednesday night, at the residence of his brother, south of town. We did not learn the particulars.

Mamie, the little daughter of 12 and Mrs. J. J. Sigler, of Putnam, who was born sick for several weeks, died Wednesday morning. The family have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

HOW THEY SAVED THEIR HOME. They started their new happy life in love and hope together in a little bright cottage. Little home that stood back upon a level and high road. A Wife Says:

"We have four children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pain for 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came, which was a relief. It is a strong, fat, healthy baby, his mother's body doing my household work up to within two weeks of birth, and suffered no new hard pains. This limit of time is the greatest remedy ever made."

Mother's Friend. It will do for every woman what it did for the Minnesota mother who writes the above letter. Not to use it during pregnancy is a mistake to be paid for in pain and suffering. Mother's Friend equips the patient with a strong body and clear intellect, which return as imparted to the child. It relaxes the muscles and allows them to expand. It relieves morning sickness and nervousness. It puts all the organs concerned in perfect condition for the final work, so that the actual labor is short and practically painless. Danger of rising or hard breasts is altogether avoided, and recovery is merely a matter of a few days.

BEAR FORCING LION FROM KHYBER PASS

The Russians Are Daily Defying England by Operations in the East.

England never forgets that the north star looks down through the Khyber pass, and that year after year the Russian outposts creep closer to the confines of India. The movement of 200,000 Russian troops to the Afghan frontier and the publication of secret Russian documents which they call the Pushawar—Quetta line—the Russians are to make a feat on Quetta, capture Kabul, and the aid of the native tribes try the Khyber pass, while other troops are poured in from the north.

he said to me with his ladylike smile: 'Mr. Perkins, I am from a country road, and I don't know just how your rates are in this city, but here it is better for you tomorrow. Oh, he was a sick youngster, all right. It was four years he owned his house.'—Chicago Tribune.

sin state papers purporting to have been stolen from the archives of the Muscovite ministry of war have created a sensation in England, and engaged public attention there to a degree not only to the interest in the war news from South Africa. These papers were sold in London by a man who formerly was connected with the office of the Russian general staff, and who had fallen out with his employers and fled to England. The documents show that Russia regards Afghanistan as her opportunity, and has lately been making every preparation to overrun the "buffer state" of Afghanistan and smash the borders of northwestern Asia. A thorough military reconnaissance has been made by Russian officers of the Indian frontier, a plan of campaign outlined, native rulers and religious leaders "sounded," and a policy for stirring up the border chieftains and the native princes of the coveted country has been formulated. Henry Norman and an anonymous writer have challenged the authenticity of the papers, but though it is admitted, as Mr. Norman ascribes, that some of the land for Samarkand—such mistakes might easily occur in the hands of copyists and translators. Signatures, dates, names, places and maps are given, several of the places on the map, as traced from the Russian original appearing on no English map, though they really exist, and the documents to bear intrinsic marks of genuineness. Attempts to discredit have not succeeded. The Russian officers reported made the investigation and reported Maj. Ulkoff Naraskoff, Capt. Basov, Novich Markoff and Yonoff Krivatski, and Vasiliouf Karasoff, secretary of the commission. They began their secret labors last May, and traveled their report late last December to Gen. Kuropalatin, minister of war. Traveling sometimes together and sometimes separately in order to avoid notice, they visited all the Russian outposts, the principal strategic points in Afghanistan and along the Indian frontier, and even passed over the Chinese territory in the course of their investigations. In submitting their report they are unanimous in their conclusions of only one, and have not the least doubt that the invasion of India and the bringing of the millions who inhabit that country under the beneficent rays of his imperial majesty the czar are not only possible, but could be accomplished in a comparatively short space of time, of the exact period requisite depending mainly on the moment chosen and the conditions of the season when the work is undertaken.

The commissioners—or spies—seem to have no doubt as to the uprising of the natives in favor of Russia.

Characteristic Story of Ruskin.
During the proceedings of a recent conference of the British Library association, a characteristic story of John Ruskin was told in connection with the subject of village libraries. A library for the laborers of a lake-country village had been established, and just before the opening Mr. Ruskin was called to inspect it. He cordially commended the arrangements, and promised to send a present, which came in the form of a sumptuous set of books for the purpose, and at the earliest opportunity told the donor so. "Madam," said Ruskin, "if the money the books cost had been spent in floral decorations or wines for a dinner, nothing would have been said against it, but because it has been laid out for the enjoyment of the simple villagers it is thought extravagant."

Edwin Markham.
"My earliest recollection," said Mr. Edwin Markham, author of "The Man with the Hoe," in a recently reported interview, "go back to the day when I was a shepherd boy on the California hills. I was 7 years old then. When my mother gave up her sheep range I turned cowboy, and learned the many tricks of the trade—could throw a strata or ride a broncho with the best of them. Later I became a farmer, and spent many months walking jobbing."

What a story of suffering that one word tells. It says: "I am all tired out. It seems to me I can hardly take another step. I haven't a particle of ambition. I can't do half the work I feel I must do. I am weak, nervous, depressed, discouraged."

That's Impure Blood

Now you know what the trouble is, you certainly know the cure.—a perfect Sarsaparilla. "Sarsaparilla" is simply the name of the medicine, for in a perfect Sarsaparilla there are a great many remedies. Some act by taking out the bad; others, by putting in the good. You want a Sarsaparilla that will make your blood pure this spring, a Sarsaparilla that will make it rich and strong, a Sarsaparilla that is a powerful nerve tonic. You want the strongest and best Sarsaparilla that can be made.

That's AYER'S

"The only Sarsaparilla made under the personal supervision of three graduates: a graduate in pharmacy, a graduate in chemistry, and a graduate in medicine."

"Last July my oldest daughter was taken sick and I was on my feet. It seemed to me, night and day for weeks taking care of her. I had no other help than that which my husband gave me, and by this time daughter began to mend I was down sick myself. I was discouraged, and did not care much whether I lived or died. My husband got me a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and its effects were magical. Two bottles of the medicine put me on my feet and made a well woman of me."—JANE M. BROWN, Bentonport, Iowa, Jan. 19, 1900.

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is a Tasteless Tonic. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.
