

TEST SATURDAY IN CONVENTION

Bailey vs. Administration Will Be Fought Out in Precinct Conventions Saturday.

The first political event of importance this year will be Saturday when the precinct conventions will be held. It is the only chance that the voters will have this year to state their views as to whom Texas shall endorse in the campaign for the presidency. The delegates elected Saturday to the county convention will express the will of the people of the various precincts in their selection on next Tuesday of delegates to the state convention where delegates to the national convention will be selected and instructed as to the will of the democrats of Texas. Thus is seen that whatever action taken Saturday will be carried out through delegates to the other conventions.

Bailey has entered the fight against the Wilson administration, and is opposed to endorsing the administration in the national convention. The administration's friends are likewise active in winning the endorsement of Texas for the work of the administration during the past eight years. As to which faction shall win will depend upon the precinct conventions on Saturday.

C. D. Lester, Chairman of the Democratic County Executive Committee have announced the following precinct chairmen who will hold the precinct conventions Saturday afternoon at two o'clock and serve on the County Executive Committee.

- No. 1—A. N. Henson.
- No. 2—J. J. Levitt.
- No. 3—A. J. Garrison
- No. 4—R. E. Prewitt
- No. 5—J. E. Park
- No. 6—J. W. Blair
- No. 7—Geo. E. Mason

TAG DAY IN TEXAS SATURDAY

Sumis from Dime Up Will be Asked from Citizens to Put Over Constitutional Amendment.

A well organized movement is on foot in Texas to carry the constitutional amendment in the November election removing the 50 cent tax limit for school purposes. It has often been said and demonstrated that constitutional amendments cannot be carried in Texas. The interests of the state in the coming generation is at stake in the educational amendment and the big campaign to carry the amendment is now starting.

The Tag Day will be observed for Saturday, May 1st for the purpose of raising funds to carry on the campaign. Any amount from a dime and up will be acceptable.

Mrs. C. W. Warwick has been appointed by Miss Amie Webb Blanton county chairman for the drive.

STOP to consider the future of 70,000 Texas children who are now without teachers.

LOOK at the poverty, crime and disease bred by the kind of ignorance they are doomed to grow up in unless you—

LISTEN to the appeals now being made to SAVE OUR SCHOOLS and ACT by buying a tag on May First, to finance the Educational Amendment Campaign.

COUNTY GETS $11,000 FOR ROAD

Flesher Appeared Before Highway Commission in Austin for the County's Roads.

County Judge C. R. Flesher has returned from Austin where he appeared before the Highway Commission in regard to the aid for the highways in Randall County.

When the new highway running from Happy to Amarillo was first proposed it was estimated that the state's share would be $19,200. When it came to letting the contract, this amount was found too low, as the contract price was $63,000. When Judge Flesher made a statement of the cost of the highway to the Commission, an addition $11,612 was allowed to pay one-half of the expense of the highway.

The Commission sometime ago appropriated $14,000 for the highway which will connect with No. 9 at the east end of Houston street and run west to the Deaf Smith county line. Judge Flesher states that the state engineering department has approved the survey recently made by the engineers of this highway, and that the plans are now with the federal engineers. As soon as they are approved, the advertisement for bids will be placed.

BUSINESS LEAGUE MEETING WILL BE HELD NEXT MONDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Randall County Commercial League will be held next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the News office.

All persons interested in the welfare of Canyon and Randall County are urged to be at the meeting.

Arrangements will be made for the regular monthly Trades Day.

Sugar is Jumping

There has been quite a scramble in Canyon during the past week to buy sugar. It has been selling at 20 to 22 cents per pound, although it is as high as 31 cents in Amarillo. The grocers say the supply looks to be about gone as little is offered for sale.

PRESS DISCUSSING EXPANSION OF THE WEST TEXAS STATE NORMAL

THAT A. & M. COLLEGE

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has undertaken to push the proposition of an Agricultural and Mechanical College for West Texas at the next session of the State legislature. "West Texas" is a broad and indeterminate term and Panhandle folks are not disposed to think that they are any more likely to receive a "square deal" now than they were two years ago.

For that reason they should be in direct accord with the campaign recently launched to add an agricultural and mechanical department to the State Normal at Canyon. Such a school there would be of value to the Plains folks whereas neither the present institution nor that one proposed to be erected at Abilene, are of benefit to this section.

The Panhandle-Plains country has received little recognition at the hands of the law-makers of the State and whenever a favor (?) is granted this section, it is only secured by granting several like favors to east Texas—a system of financing which keeps the balance of cash as well as the balance of power, over in East Texas.

If real merit is to have any consideration, the proposition to enlarge the Canyon school should receive the unqualified endorsement of the legislature. It will not cost more than one-fifth the amount that would be required for the establishment of an entirely new school and it will serve the section of the country that cannot be served by the present college. The Canyon school is the only state school that West Texas has ever made out to secure from the powers at Austin and the addition of a four-years course in agriculture, domestic science and manual training will solve the problem for years to come if not for all time.

There is plenty of land adjacent to the Normal grounds which may be secured at a nominal price—exceedingly "nominal" in comparison with prices asked for land around Abilene for instance.

Panhandle folks should get together and push this proposition for all there is in it—and there is a lot in it for this section. Let's go after it!—Southwest Plainsman.

The most sensible idea yet advanced in regard to the locating of the West Texas A. & M. is that all of the towns which the candidates for the college to go into a convention to select a location and then when one town is selected as the one to receive the college let all the other towns get out of the contest and then get behind a concerted effort to have the West Texas A. & M. College established by the state. It should first be determined what counties are in that part of the state termed "West Texas", and then determine the voting strength of the counties that go into the convention by the number of poll taxes paid in 1920. But we would want it understood that this section does not consider Abilene, the geographical center of the state, in West Texas. West means West, in West Texas. The demand for an A. & M. college could not be met by placing it away from the West and over in the Central part of the state.—Canadian Record.

The proposition of the Record sounds well, but the people of the Panhandle-Plains are very much afraid that it will not work. To begin with Fort Worth, Waco and Abilene believe themselves to be in "West Texas." Of course the people of the Panhandle-Plains country scoff at this idea. If there was a division of votes according to population, the Panhandle-Plains country would get nothing. At any rate the people of this section would not be satisfied with anything less than the actual establishment of the school for this section, and any one who knows anything about politics knows that the Panhandle-Plains country stands no chance of getting the proposed new school. The only feasible settlement of the situation is for the Panhandle-Plains country to work for the expansion of the West Texas State Normal College. It is the only means by which the Panhandle-Plains will get justice.

Appropriations for A. & M. college are entirely inadequate, and that institution is losing valuable instructors because unable to pay them what outsiders are willing to consider them worth. Under these circumstances we believe it preposterous to demand A. & M. colleges for different parts of the state. If Texas be unable to support one first-class A. & M. college, she certainly won't improve matters by building two or more institutions of that kind. Let common sense and love of the whole state guide our actions instead of arraying the western part of the state against the east.—Quinn Tribune Chief.

Members of the legislature are pretty apt to take the same view of the matter as Editor Koch does in the above statement, and there is small chance of a new school being established at the present time in the west. However, Editor Koch must feel like all of the other people of the Panhandle-Plains country that there is a distinct need for an agricultural college in our section of the state. The News does not believe that viewing the need that exists the Tribune-Chief would stand in the way of the development of this section by demanding that no steps be taken to care for those thousands of boys and girls of the Panhandle-Plains section who want to study agricultural and economic conditions of this section where they hope to make their home. Furthermore the Tribune-Chief will agree that spending one-fifth the money necessary for a new school and accomplishing the same results, is not an expense to the state even at this time of high and increasing taxes, but simply a loan from the state of Texas to the Panhandle-Plains country in which the state will be repaid a thousand fold in increased taxes with the development of this section which will be the result of the expansion of the agricultural, domestic science and manual training departments of the West Texas State Normal College.

Cities and towns in West Texas are beginning to mobilize their forces and deploy their skirmishers in their demands for the West Texas A. & M. College. Some believe that it would be better to simply ask the legislature for additional funds to add the A. & M. courses to the State Normal school at Canyon. It appears to the News that it would be much better for the A. & M. college to be a separate unit, unless the chances are so slim for getting the separate school that it is thought expedient to ask for the addition at Canyon. We believe the legislature will recognize the justice of the claims of this section for a strong A. & M. school. We believe it can do its best work as a separate institution.—Clarendon News

No doubt the separate school idea would be good were it possible to lay the premises of an ideal condition under which they were to operate. The Clarendon News expresses a fear of the chances being slim for a new school, which is an absolute certainty so far as the Panhandle-Plains country is concerned. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will not stand for the school to be placed on the Plains, and the people of the Plains do not want the new school if it goes below the cap rock. Politics will absolutely block the chances of any town on the Plains from getting a new state school for many years to come. Clarendon could not get the West Texas A. & M. College, nor has Amarillo, Canadian, Hereford, Tulla, Plainview, Floydada, Lockney, Lubbock or any of the Panhandle-Plains towns a look-in on the school. There is not a citizen of this vast empire who is not anxious to see the Panhandle-Plains country developed. To do this we must have agricultural advantages. This advantage is offered through the expansion of the West Texas State Normal College at a cost of one-fifth that of the establishment of a new school. There is no guess work about this proposition. The Panhandle-Plains country has an opportunity to get what we have for a long time desired, and this method is the only one presenting itself for distinct benefit to this section. If there is need for a school in the Abilene territory, let it be established, but by all means the Panhandle-Plains must look after its own problems first.

The Brand believes that Editor Warwick's argument is sound in the main, and that there is no chance to secure a second A. & M. College in the State of the same rank as he one at College Station. In fact we do not believe that it is for the best interest of the State to have two such institutions. But instead of trying to teach agriculture and engineering for four years at all the Normals, why not have a three years course at each one, with a senior year at the parent school at College Station? For the simple reason that an engineer, needs actual machinery in operation to learn his trade, and it will cost too much to install such equipment all over Texas; and a student in Animal Husbandry needs actual herds of cattle to judge to become proficient; and it would cost too much to keep several such herds scattered over Texas at all the educational centers, etc., etc. We have a fine start in such equipment and herds at the present A. & M. Let's make this equipment and these herds the best in the business and push off our students with their senior year at that point. Next—Hereford Brand.

There is no plan on foot to expand the other Normals of the State. The West Texas State Normal College is located under such distinctive conditions that it would be the only one to attempt the program of caring for the agricultural, domestic science and manual training needs of the section by a four year course in these departments. The other Normal Schools are not located in sections having the distinct needs as the school at Canyon. Other sections of the state can be served by the big school at College Station. The proposed expansion of the school at Canyon is for the purpose of meeting a need that cannot be met unless there is established an A. & M. College on the Plains. This is beyond question in the minds of those who know political conditions. The expansion of the school is for the purpose of making it a better servant to the vast territory of the Panhandle-Plains country where conditions are vastly different from any other section of the state and whose conditions can only be solved by studying them scientifically in a properly equipped school in the midst of the problems.

This is the viewpoint of the Abilene Daily Reporter and it is worth while:

"There are mutterings of a move originating in the Panhandle to head off the West Texas A. & M. by asking for an appropriation from the legislature to erect and equip a building at the West Texas Normal at Canyon City to be used as an agricultural department. Such a move have but one reason for existence, and that is to serve some towns which knowing they cannot get the location of the proposed new West Texas A. & M. College, are willing to play the dog in the manger and prevent some other town more favorably situated from getting it. We do not believe the Panhandle towns are so narrow, and we believe when it comes to a showdown they will work together for the establishment of a real A. & M. College somewhere in West Texas. West Texas will not be satisfied with any makeshift in the way of an agricultural and mechanical college. It must not be a branch of any existing institution, but a separate, distinct and wholly adequate college. It is incumbent on the towns of West Texas to stand behind the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in this battle and work for the common good, laying aside all petty jealousies and leaving the matter of picking a location on a basis of merit only. Abilene is willing to leave her own claims up to whatever locating process is employed, and to work meantime for the necessary legislative enactment for a first-class institution. The Record reminds the people of West Texas and this includes the Panhandle and the Plains section, that West Texans should band together, stand together fight together and win together. Why a division of forces? Speaking for the West, an agricultural and mechanical college is demanded senatorial redistricting is demanded, and a fair division of the congressional districts at an appropriate time. Why shouldn't the West demand its own? Why shouldn't it vote for its own. Why shouldn't it get its own? There is a way to go about it.—Ft. Worth Record.

Who said the move to look after the Panhandle-Plains country was a move to head off the West Texas A. & M. Abilene is certain that the proposed school will be located below the cap rock. Every citizen in the Panhandle-Plains country realizes that if the school is not located on the Plains it will be little or no value to our section. Every citizen of the Plains country who knows anything about politics realizes that not a single town in the Panhandle-Plains country has a ghost of a show for the school. Therefore, the citizenship of this section demands the expansion of the only state school in the region of thirty eight counties so that it can look after the interest of this empire section. After this section is cared for, if there is a need for a new school in the Abilene section, well and good; let it be located. The move was not to head off the new school; no town in this section is willing to play the dog in the manger, but the citizens do have a memory of the location of the last proposed school at Abilene. The Panhandle-Plains only desires justice done to the hundreds of boys and girls who want to study

WANT A REAL FAIR IN COUNTY

Next Monday Night Meeting to be Held at News Office—All Boosters Urged to Assist in Fair

County Agent C. F. Walker is developing plans for a County Fair in Canyon, this fall. He is anxious to have the full cooperation of all of the business men, the stock raisers, and the farmers in making the Fair a success.

Randall County has put on some creditable exhibits in the past, but not enough time was spent to make the fair the success that it should have been. It takes a great deal of time and thought to make a fair worth while.

Mr. Walker wants to begin now to arrange for the fair. He wants to arrange the premium list right away so that it may be placed in the hands of the farmers, pig club boys and stock raisers.

Next Monday night will be the regular meeting of the members of the Randall County Commercial League and the Fair proposition will be taken up at this meeting.

agriculture, as it has to do with conditions on the Plains, but who are forbidden or forced to go to Oklahoma or Kansas whose schools present subjects nearer, in keeping with Panhandle conditions, yet which are very different. People of this section would not be benefitted with the school placed at Abilene; conditions of that section are vastly different from those of the Panhandle-Plains section. There is a distinct need for scientific agricultural study on the Plains and under the conditions the only method presenting itself is in the development of the departments of the West Texas State Normal College which has to do with these conditions. The law school at Austin could hardly be called a makeshift because it is connected with the university. Why should an agricultural department in the second largest Normal College in the state be called a makeshift under the best agricultural teachers in the state and with an equipment second to none?

COLQUITT SAYS BAILEY WILL WIN IN JULY PRIMARY

(Star-Telegram)
Denton, Texas, April 24.—The nomination of Joseph Weldon Bailey by a majority of 100,000 votes in the July primaries was predicted by former Gov. Oscar B. Colquitt in a speech here Saturday afternoon.

The courtroom was filled during the speech and Colquitt was frequently applauded.

His defense of Bailey, who he said, "has never supported me, always supporting my opponent, and to whom I owe no political debts," was spirited. Colquitt praised Bailey's record in Congress and extolled him for having the courage to "fight the battles of constitutional government."

The former Governor said he "regretted that the time had come in the United States when it was wrong for a man to criticize a public official." Response for this, he said, he has found a "hero worship" in all of human history. He declared:

"I can find but one man who was worthy of worship, and he was the Nazarene who dared to criticize the mighty Caesar and drive the money changers from the temple. When we become so weak that we are afraid to criticize, we will wear the clothes of political slavery."

Somebody in the crowd said that Colquitt and Bailey were in the liquor crowd.

"Why, Joe Bailey was making speeches without pay for prohibition," replied Colquitt, while the crowd applauded, "when Barry Miller was making speeches for saloons for $10 a speech."

"Who is it that vetoed wartime prohibition? Woodrow Wilson. Who is the man who said he believed there ought to be light wines and beer? Woodrow Wilson. Who was the man who, in the Nebraska primaries, ran on the liquor ticket? Senator Hitchcock, Wilson's personal friend and floor leader of the Senate, endorsed by Woodrow Wilson as the man to oppose William Jennings Bryan, the peerless leader of the prohibitionists."

Colquitt charged that the passage of constitutional prohibition placed in Congress the right to impose upon the several states beer and wines of any alcohol percentage it desired, even in contravention of extending State prohibition laws.

EBELING AND SON GET FINE HOG FROM HAPPY BREERER

C. S. Ebeling and son, Ernest, went to Happy yesterday to purchase some fine hogs to add to their already large herd of Duroc-Jerseys. They purchased a spring gilt and a spring boar from R. E. Prewitt, proprietor of the Happy Herd of Duroc Jerseys, at $150 each.

Mr. Ebeling and son are going more extensively into registered hog raising and their purchase yesterday is one of their first steps in building up a fine herd.

Mr. Prewitt, from whom the hogs were purchased, is one of the best known swine breeders in the Panhandle. He paid $875.00 for a sow under one year of age at a recent sale near Childress. He is extensively advertised and he is one of the strong boosters for the Plainview publication, the Southwest Poultry and Swine Breeder. He stated while on a recent visit to Plainview that he hoped to see a good district fair here this fall, so that he would have an opportunity to show his stock here.—Plainview Herald.

Buys Shafer Printing Co.
Walter Thatcher has bought Tom Shafer's job printing place and will continue the business. He is an industrious young man, an experienced printer, and will succeed in the business.—Plainview News.

Mr. Thatcher has many friends in Canyon who will be glad to hear of this trade. He had charge of the News for eight months during the war.

P. T. Barnum bought Jumbo, the great elephant, for fifteen thousand dollars. Jumbo was only two inches taller than other elephants, but Jumbo's advertising was colossal. He brought Mr. Barnum over $2,000,000. The elephant, stuffed in a New York museum, is an illustration of the possibilities of the genius of advertising.

A Plains Organization

Secretary Jamison and Traffic Manager Palmer, of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, have recently visited a number of the north Panhandle counties in the interest of the organization and have everywhere met with excellent results in securing the affiliation of those counties which had not heretofore, allied themselves with this guardian of the Panhandle-Plains interests.

There could, in fact, be little doubt that all Panhandle counties would come into the association, once the matter was put before them. The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce has proved its worth many times over and has shown itself watchful of the best interests of this section. It has done much for the Panhandle but perhaps one of the biggest things, was securing the hearing by the Government authorities in regard to the urgent need of cars for the transportation of Panhandle crops, last winter. Another matter that means a great deal to the people of all West Texas, is the freight rate hearing to which the organization sent Mr. Palmer to use his influence in seeing that the present common point rates remained in effect. Mr. Palmer was an able advocate, having represented this part of the state at so many resurrections of the old Shreveport Rate Case "ghost" that freight rates have become second nature to him. He returned from the recent hearing with their assurance that our rates would remain as they are for the present, at least.

If the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce had nothing more than these two paramount accomplishments to its credit, it would still merit the support of every citizen of this section. But its activities have extended along many other lines and its influence is as much greater than that of the commercial body of any one town or county as the entire Panhandle is greater than one of its constituent counties. There are many matters, particularly in the development of a country like ours, in which "having a friend at court" means securing recognition and favorable consideration where without it, we should be completely ignored.

—From Southwest Plainsman.

Law vs. Common Sense

Amarillo seems to be up against a peculiar proposition in the matter of its cemetery. Its location across the line in Randall County appears to be an insurmountable obstacle to securing additional land which has become necessary and to building decent roads to our City of the Dead.

There are times when the Law and common sense seem to conflict and this is certainly one of them. Amarillo owes it to her own self respect to say nothing of the respect for her dead, to build a good road to the cemetery. It is safe to say that Randall County isn't going to blow it up with dynamite nor offer any serious objections to the construction of such a road. It has never exercised nor claimed, so far as we know, any authority over that plot of ground and it belongs entirely and exclusively to Amarillo and Potter county. Quibbling over the law in the case will never build the road and it must be evident to anyone with average intelligence that it is up to Amarillo to do it. The road is already there and if Randall County sues us for improving it, we can retaliate by moving our cemetery over into our own county.

At least, let us cease to offer "The Law" as a n excuse for the inexcusable.

—From Southwest Plainsman.

"Five per cent of the school children of the United States have spinal-curvature, flat foot or other deformities.

"Five per cent have defective hearing.

"Twenty-five per cent have defective vision.

"Twenty-five per cent suffer from malnutrition.

"Thirty per cent suffer from enlarged tonsils.

"Fifty per cent suffer from defective teeth."

These are a few of the things that are in the way of the mental and physical growth of our public school children. And most of these troubles might have been remedied had the parents recognized them in infancy or early childhood, and used every effort to have made their children perfect physically. The trouble with the public school today is not all due to the low salaries of the teachers. Half the children are not learning half they might because their poor little noses and throats, ears and eyes and every pathway that leads to the mind is all clogged up with disease and its results. The State University of Texas has discovered this fact, and realizes unless the next generation of Texas school children can enter school in a healthier condition physically than any of the past or present generations, Texas is bound to suffer as a state. Every educational institution in the state will suffer untold losses and the few women who do get through college, graduate and go out into the world to do its greatest work will many of them die prematurely because of their neglect the first seven years of their lives. For this reason the University of Texas is conducting a statewide campaign under the head of "Child Welfare". This work is being done in co-operation with the Red Cross workers of each county. Your county is entitled to this free examination of the children under school age if you have made arrangements for it. By this plan every mother has a chance without financial cost to her to find out what ails the child; to discover whether it is a normal or abnormal child of its age, and if necessary what to do to correct any defects that exist. This is not a baby show, to find out who has the prettiest baby. There will be no prizes, except to discover your child is strong and well if it is. That is prize enough for any mother.—Phebe K. Warner, in Amarillo Tribune.

American farmers number more than 30 millions and constitute the largest business element in the country. They are the procurers upon whom all depend for food and, should they be so unpatriotic as to follow the advice of agitators, they would limit the production so as to increase prices and all classes would pay an exorbitant amount for food. The problems which confront us are unparalleled in our history and can only be met by the patriotism, intelligence, industry, and economy of the American people.

The American farmer patriotically does his work. He does not strike. In him lies that stability which will prove the salvation of our country. We challenge capital and labor to stand together, shoulder to shoulder, with agriculture, upon the platform of Americanism.—Kansas State Board of Agriculture.

Should Be Hung For Murder

Because they thought it was a hold up and they did not stop their car on orders, customs officers, Milan, Wright, Gholsen and Jas. D. Bean fired on the car of C. M. Crawford and Harold G. Halstead, and killed the later, a young San Francisco oil man 27 years old, about 25 miles west of Sierra Blanca, Texas, as the two were driving back to their work from Toyah from El Paso last Monday night "Its a hold up, give her gas, Chet." were the last words of Halstead.

Crawford said they saw five men along side of the road. They said something he did not understand and as their car passed them the fatal shot was fired. Halstead was shot through the heart by the customs officers, and they explained they were after bootleggers. The officers were held by Justice of the Peace C. B. Sheridan of Sierra Blanca in bonds of $500 each.

Halstead and Crawford own some oil land in the Toyah field. Both had been in the A. E. F. in Siberia. Halstead leaves a wife, who is reported prostrated in an El Paso hospital.

According to frequent reports, customs officers make a practice of stopping automobiles coming east from El Paso, alleging that it is done to try to catch contraband liquor smugglers. So far as known publicly, this practice is done without duly issued warrants.—Toyah Valley Herald.

The Japanese Question

The Colorado State Grange has brought to the attention of the public the serious question of Japanese farm tenantry and ownership in Colorado. People of this race have come into the state in increasing numbers during the last five years. At first only men came, but lately the women have followed and now there are Japanese children in considerable numbers being added to our school population in certain districts. There is here no question of racial animosity, but one of economics, one of competition between a farmer living according to the meager standards of the Orient, and the American farmer whose standards are high and whose ideals differ from those of the oriental as does the day from the night. There can be no fair competition between two races that live on different planes. They should not be forced to live side by side.

California has attempted to deal with the question of Japanese land tracked somewhere in a diplomatic pigeonhole. Land ownership is, more question is still in abeyance; side-ownership, in a forceful way, but the over, not the whole question. In Colorado the Japanese is a tenant. His methods are declared to be ruthless and regardless of soil fertility. He is not readily assimilable, in fact, seems to evince no desire for citizenship, or anything else save to make as much money out of rented land as possible.

This nation is passing through a bitter experience as a result of leaving the doors wide open to the undesirable immigrants from European countries; the illiterate, the unfit, the ungovernable. While we are wasting words at Washington about the closing of the eastern gateway, are we to leave our western shores open to the continued influx of the oriental, whose civilization has far less fellowship with American ideals than that of the southern European? The question demands the broadest vision of statesmanship, a clear view of what the America today is and what we desire to be as a nation in the future.

We cannot live elbow to elbow with all the races and people of the earth. We realize now the folly of expecting the melting pot to level all distinctions and standards. We know now that democracy means one thing to the Anglo-Saxon, and another to the Teuton or the Slav, and that it has no meaning at all to the average Mongol. What are we going to do about it? That is the question raised by the Colorado State Grange which we dare not dodge.—Western Life.

Some of the big bankers of the country believe there is to be a break within the next six months. They are hinting at a panic the like of which this country has never seen. Whether panic or not, there is due to be a change within a short number of months. Prices cannot keep on forever increasing. A halt will come even though to all intent and purpose it has been a long while coming. The wise man or woman is not going to be caught with a big lot of high priced things on their hands which they do not need. Business as usual, of course, must be the slogan, but economy in business rather than wild and careless buying.

Amarillo is having a squabble over her cemetery. It is located in Randall county. The plot of ground is now too small for the needs of the town, and there seems to be no constituted authority to buy more land. The road leading to the cemetery needs paving, yet Potter county, under the law cannot pave Randall county roads. About the only thing to do under the circumstances is to use common sense instead of the law.

Al-fa-ifa tea, the new beverage with a kick, invented and manufactured in the private still of Editor Jess Adams of Plainview, was introduced to the members of the press at Amarillo, Saturday. Fortunately Jess saved the two cases until last or there would have been more pen pushers inside the jail looking out than the four unfortunates who were pinched on a very serious charge.

Get behind the movement for a big county fair in Canyon this fall. Now is the time to be working. The fair will be no better and no larger than usual if all work is put off until the last minute. All in favor of the Fair meet County Agent C. F. Walker at the News office Monday night.

Whenever a fellows ties into a luxury he cannot afford, it always is with the thought that he is smart enough to unload it upon the other fellow before the present high prices and good times blow up.

The only regret we have about the rain is the shame we feel for the deplorable condition of Canyon's streets in comparison with the public roads of Randall county.

The fellow who won't go to the precinct convention Saturday will have no kick coming should his faction does not put over their principles. It is a question of votes.

A Pessimist gets sore if a letter does not contain a check. An optimist is glad that it does not contain a bill.

The fellow who likes to spend much money for a little of nothing ought to be in the newspaper game and have to buy news print paper.

Come to Canyon—the educational center of the Panhandle-Plains country. It is the town of good homes.

Canadian Record: It seems there is something wrong with the Inter-Scholastic districts of this section of the state. People from all over the Panhandle have to go to Canyon and this makes a long and expensive trip. It almost prohibits teams from this section competing in the meet. A new district should be created for the Northeastern Panhandle so that the travel expense is not so heavy, and the Inter-scholastic spirit can be encouraged.

The Record has no doubt been misinformed as to the facts regarding the District Interscholastic meet which is held in Canyon. Under the arrangement, the pupils of the Higgins and Lipscomb, and other schools in the northeastern part of the Panhandle are coming to Canyon for the meet as cheaply as they could go to Canadian, which no doubt the Record has in mind as the meeting place of the proposed district. All cups, all medals, all local expenses for the meet are paid by the Normal and the business firms of Canyon. Every cent which is taken in at the meet goes back to the contestants for railroad fare, and those coming from a distance are paid first and always given a large percent of the railroad fare. The Hereford, Amarillo, Tulia and Panhandle contestants do not draw any of this rebate of railroad fare, until those from a distance are paid sufficient to make their fare equal, as their expense amounts to a very little. Those contestants coming from Higgins, Canadian, Dalhart, Hedley and Clarendon are out no more railroad fare than those coming from the nearby towns, or about $1.50 each. This year $661.50 was paid on railroad fare from the proceeds of the meet. Furthermore, it is better to have one big representative meet than to have two small ones. The contestants going to the state meet will have a better chance of winning than were they chosen from less keen competition. Furthermore, the Normal is prepared to handle such a meet better than any town in the Panhandle. Amarillo tried to handle the meet when the district was first organized, after one attempt was glad to transfer the meet to Canyon. No rebates were paid to the contestants that year. Last year $417.59 was returned to the contestants in railroad fare. Canadian sent 16 contestants who were refunded $84, or all but $2.25 of their total railroad fare.

PRESS ASSOCIATION HOLDS VERY PROFITABLE MEETING

The members of the Panhandle Press Association enjoyed the best meeting in the history of the association at Amarillo Friday and Saturday. The entertainment extended by the city was far beyond the wildest dream of the most expectant—which consisted of a free pass given by the City Board of Development to free meals and free room at the Amarillo Hotel, and Friday night a very delightful banquet given by the publishers of the Daily Tribune. Saturday morning the bunch was taken to the gas wells north of Amarillo where the big gassers were turned loose for the several minutes. The program under the arrangement of President B. O. Brown of Vernon and Secretary Sam Braswell of Clarendon, was practical and covered the wide field of newspaper problems and difficulties.

President J. A. Hill explained to the members Saturday afternoon the program for expanding the West Texas State Normal College. A resolution was introduced by Representative Lee Satterwhite of Panhandle and Editor Ben F. Smith of Lockney endorsing the expansion of the school. It created the only discussion of the entire convention, and carried with only a small percent of the members voting.

The association voted unanimously to return to Amarillo next year, and elected the following officers:

Sam Braswell, Clarendon, President
Seth B. Holeman, Hereford, Vice President
F. R. Jameson, Amarillo, Secretary-Treasurer.

The women writers of the Panhandle met Saturday afternoon and organized a club which will meet each year with the Panhandle Press Association.

Texhoma Has $30,000 Fire
What is known to be one of the worst fires in Texhoma's history occurred last Sunday beginning at about the hour of 3 a. m., and burning until about 7 o'clock. The total damage of the fire is estimated at approximately $30,000. The wind was raging for several hours and had it not calmed to some extent, more of the town would likely have burned.

Following is an estimate of the individual loss and the amount of insurance carried:

O. M. Langford, between $15,000 and $18,000 loss, with $3500 insurance. A Ruffin about $8000 loss, with $5,000 insurance. A Nield and H. Brokaw, about $5,000 loss, with $1500 insurance. This, of course, does not include the big loss of business to these firms which cannot be estimated.—Texhoma (Okla.) Times.

Methodist Church
The Union Revival closed Sunday, April 18, just when it was going good. Dr. Brooks charmed all with his sermons, and everybody joined in to help win souls to Christ. The Personal Workers Conference under Fred Ives did splendid work and were very successful. The Methodist church had taken a survey of the whole town and had a list of several hundred prospective members. These names were written on cards and distributed to the workers and many of these were interviewed and saved. More than 100 members joined the different churches.

So next Sunday, May 2, these persons are expected to be present and be received in proper form. Let those who have not been baptized, those who wish to be immersed notify the Pastor before hand. Those who join by certificate will be received also.

The entire membership of the church is expected to be present to welcome this large class and give them the right hand of Fellowship. The church is the Bride of Christ, and as such must mother the children born into the Kingdom. Lets make our church a homelike church into which the new members feel welcome. It rests with the older members what these members are to become.

After the reception and Baptism of the new members all will celebrate the Lords Supper.

Sunday night, good music, Mrs. Shaw will resume her chalk pictures. The Pastor will preach a revival sermon. Invitation will be given to accept Christ.

Epworth League has an interesting program immediately after preaching Sunday night.

A Modern Instance (By Uncle Walt.)

My neighbor, Swatson, passing wise believed in lots of exercise. He took long tramps through dales and dells, and swung huge clubs and iron bells, and all his frame was hard as nails; he was a model for all males. And he would come to me and say: "Why do you loaf the living long day? You are too fat for any use; for such a waist there's no excuse. Why don't you walk twelve miles or nine, and have a shapely form like mine?" And he is dead and in his grave, while I sit here and sing and rave. He was so blithe three weeks ago. Then came the flu and laid him low. The disease mixed things with me, and lost its pep and had to flee. The rules of health are tiresome stuff; they make life's sledding doubly rough, and I have always let them slide, and I hang on, where health fans died. I do not sit in distress, to count the symptoms I possess. A dozen scouts and more than that, have told me I'm too beastly fat; I ought to follow where they led—and I hang on, and they are dead. I eat too much, and I despise all modern forms of exercise, and still I live and write my verse, while wiser men engage the hearse.

Asphyxiated by Gas in Artesian Well
Ernest Best, who formerly lived on Cottonwood and worked on the Dr. Bailey ranch, was asphyxiated at his home near Dexter, April 12. While in the well pit fixing his pump he was overcome with gas and was dead when found by his man who was working with him.

The deceased was quite well known here at Artesia. He was a steady industrious young man about 30 years of age, married and leaves a wife and two small children. His untimely death is deplored and should be a warning to those who descend into wells or mines not recently used. A simple method to detect the presence of the deadly gas is to lower a lighted lantern into the well. If it goes out it is dangerous to descend.—Artesia (N. M.) Advocate.

Received Registered Hogs
Thursday morning Mr. L. E. Smith, one of our energetic young stock-farmers, received four registered hogs from his father, B. F. Smith, of Ruston, Louisiana. There were three sows and a boar in this shipment, and they are Duroc Jersey stock. With these three sows Mr. Smith now has seven registered sows in his herd. This boar, A Lady's Orion Pathmuer, is a magnificent animal to head his herd. Mr. Smith states that as the farmers of the country are rapidly coming to the idea of raising registered stock, he believed the movement was for the best, therefore he bought these registered animals.—Tulia Herald.

Lost Child Sleeps in Canyon
Last Friday the little four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Atencio, of Roy, was left for a visit with her God-Father, and family, Severino Garcia, who live on a ranch near Montoya Pocket School House. The child, true to the town-girl instinct, became homesick and ran away trying to come back to her home in the section house in Roy. She was missed in the evening and search made for her but darkness prevented searching with any chance of success. The alarm was brought to town early Monday morning by A. J. Hern, section foreman, who went out and aided in the search. Al. S. Hanson drove out with his car and a party and two more cars were starting from town with citizens and Boy Scouts to aid in the hunt when Mr. Smith, who lives in the community drove in with the news that the child had been found at 8 o'clock in the morning, asleep in a cave in the canyons about three miles from. She was uninjured by her from. She was uninjured by her night out and her friends are rejoiced to have her safe home again.—Roy (N. M.) Spanish-American.

Lost in the Storm

Post-War "Post Mortems"

After every war investigations are inevitably undertaken with a view to placing responsibility for disasters and shortcomings. Such inquiries are not peculiar to this country. In the war of 1870 the French wreaked their vengeance upon Marshal Bazaine for his surrender to Metz. Great Britain has already had a thorough investigation of the Dardanelles campaign—who instigated it and how it was mismanaged. Germany is at least pretending to try to ascertain whom it should blame for the catastrophe to the empire.

With us there is always too much partisan spirit in the sifting of evidence for and against those who have been directing affairs. It is so today. The people have been told, and have believed, that what the United States did in the war was an achievement of which they should be altogether proud. Money poured out like water; extraordinary power conferred on the President, which though his agents he exercised almost without limitation; an army unprecedented in size raised as in a moment and sent abroad, where it covered itself with glory; the navy, powerful, well-manned, under competent officers, gladly placed under the orders of foreign admirals and then taking its full share in making the sea safe—that is what they have told us and what we have believed.

Was it not so? As we have stated it, yes! but there never was an army or a navy so ably managed in war that it gave no ground for criticism. The best-intentioned, even the most skillful, men make mistakes. What seems wise at the moment of making an instant decision often turns out to be disastrous. And, after all, what shall we gain if we prove that this department chief or that head of a bureau did not appreciate the seriousness of the situation that confronted him, or that this or that general or admiral misjudged some of reputations by removing them from their positions? Nothing but party capital.

The real trouble is that an inquiry into the conduct of officers is rarely so decisive as to be universally accepted. During the inquiry men of the different parties range themselves on the side of attack or on the side of defense, and when the smoke of the conflict blows away each party maintains that it has won. The Sampson-Schley controversy after the Spanish War is a good example of the kind of insoluble questions that war leaves for future men to dispute about.

Not one of the investigations now going on or proposed accuses anyone of evil intent or lack of loyalty. It will not help us generally to learn that certain officers are not all-wise, or that they showed less energy and "hustle" than they might have shown. We knew that before.—Youth's Companion.

Ouija Board Mania

The fact that four Los Angeles women were sent to an asylum recently following an all night session with ouija boards may logically inspire the opinion that they didn't have far to go, but it will not dispose of the fact that thousands of people in all parts of the country are afflicted with a similar obsession, thinking or seeming to think, that they may, with a device intended as a toy for children, communicate with the spirits of the departed. So wide spread has become the mania for the ouija board that the New York World offers the suggestion that if the government desires to get out of debt it may convert its shipyards into ouija board factories. There is more truth than jest in this as shown by the fact that boards has just completed a $150,000 addition to its plant and is still the Baltimore factory making these far behind with its orders.—Honey Grove Signal.

Fact and Comment

Do not despise theory, but test it; for theory is always the foundation of practice.

The Stars and all the Flowers that sleep below them
Are his who learns to Name them and to Know them.

You cannot hope to solve mathematical problems with the emotions; the same is true of problems in economics.

Boots and shoes now cost more than ever, yet this year the people of the United States are importing two and a half times as much leather as last year.

There is a golden future for whoever can find a use for the hair that is swept up in barber shops. Although there is a steady demand for long human hair, the short clippings from men's heads have no commercial value.

Although in the last few years the prices of coffee, sugar and precious stones have increased tremendously, the people of the United States, not a whit deterred by the advancing prices, have imported more of all three of them than they have ever imported before.

The United States Department of Commerce estimates that the unreclaimed waste material in the country is worth $500,000,000. Any man woman or child can share in that fortune by collecting and selling whatever old paper, rags, rubber, metals or other odds and ends he has on hand.

Unquestionably, there are others who feel exactly like the writer of this advertisement, taken from the London Times; but not often is anyone so frank:

The Department of Agriculture is sending a man to Japan to study and procure some of the natural enemies of the Japanese beetle, and undesirable alien that eluded the immigration authorities. Thus far the insect has flourished almost unmolested in this country, but it is likely to be disagreeably surprised some fine day to encounter old acquaintances of which it thinks itself rid.

It is interesting to observe that prohibition has lessened materially the demand for certain delicacies that used to be much esteemed. Only about one fourth as many terrapins are sold now, and keepers of restaurants are buying fewer chickens than ever before. It is predicted, too, that the demand for crabs this summer will be much lessened. Unimportant to the lessened demand is to the great majority, who will save their money and be the better for it, to those who make their living by marketing terrapins and crabs it is a serious matter.

Theoretically, it is possible in the course of a short trip to France, Switzerland and Italy to increase the money you take with you a thousand per cent by changing it repeatedly from the currency of one country into that of another. An English ten-pound note in France will buy 420 silver francs. In Switzerland the francs will buy 2100 Italian paper lire. In Italy the paper lire should buy silver of their face value. Go back to Switzerland and exchange the silver lire for 2100 Swiss francs. With them you can buy 4200 French paper francs. Take them to France and with them buy English notes for 100 pounds. If you should start from America and buy your first English notes at a low rate of exchange, your profit will be even greater. The theory is amusing, but practically the scheme will not work, for silver is so scarce on the Continent that the amount of specie that travelers may carry from one country to another is limited.

They Had Their Doubts

When gas was suggested as a means of illumination, instead of candles, there were doctors who objected. They claimed that the new light was so bright that the next generation of people would be born blind.

Time was when Ford stocks were not considered worth more than the price of a breakfast. Once, Henry Ford needed legal service, he offered a law firm in Detroit some of his stock in payment. The senior member refused; two junior members withdrew from the firm and accepted his business and his shares. Their holdings are now worth $25,000,000.

When Samuel Morse perfected the telegraph, an effort was made in Congress to have it suppressed. The reason given was that if the new method of communication went into effect, everyone would telegraph instead of using the mails; that, thereby, the Government would lose its income from the sale of postage stamps and the letter carriers and postal clerks would be thrown out of employment.

Precipitation Due In May

In last October there was a moisture period from the 5th to the 10th. In November the 8th and 9th another moisture period, also and the following thirty-day intervals: Dec. 5; Jan. 7 to 11; Feb. 10 to 14; March 6 to 9; April 8 to 10. If nature doesn't take a potion to reverse itself, then on or about May 5 to 9 a good rain season should come and continue over the crop growing months.

The winter just passed has been one of the mildest and also one of the driest on record, but the moisture demonstrations have appeared at every thirty-day period when they were due according to schedule. By moisture demonstration we mean cloudy, damp weather, mists, fogs, snow, sprinkles of rain or a genuine precipitation itself.—Farwell State Line Tribune.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and tends to remove the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. For free medical advice write to Medical Director, 104 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

On Losing One's Grip
A great weakness of people everywhere is the lack of power to stick to a thing. They lose their grip. How energetically they often go into a thing, only to let it drop, after working vigorously for a short while! If success does not come immediately, it is their tendency to quit, discouraged. They do not follow the trite, but true old saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

One will never accomplish anything if he cannot "stick." Through strictest perseverance, thought all things seem to oppose, a man is made. After all, the things for which one must struggle, the greatest are the things obtain without any effort on his part which are thrust upon and which he casts aside, considering them of no value. Therefore, if one "sticks" through thick or thin, he will surely be rewarded, and his enjoyment of that reward will be trebled, because he really earned it.

All about us we see typical examples of people who lose their grip.

A Scientific Development

Your eyes alone will tell you that our new "Glenbrook" is one of the handsomest five-passenger cars that has ever been designed. But in order to really appreciate this model, you must take an actual demonstration on the road.

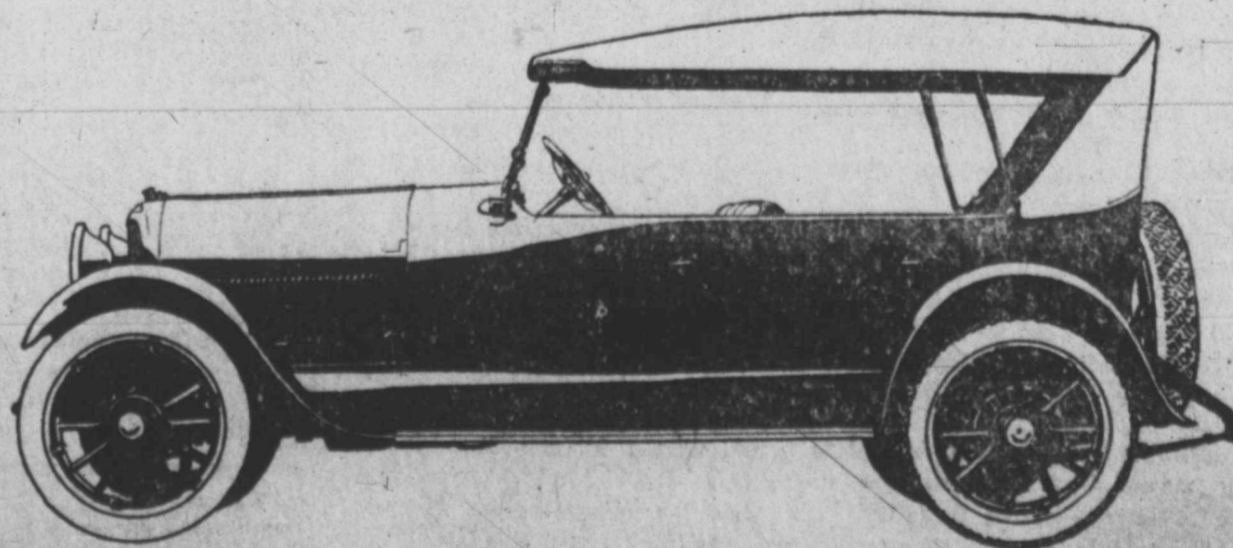

Then—and then only—will you understand what our engineers have accomplished in three years of patient experiment work and testing. Then—and then only—will you realize what giant strides have been made in motor and chassis development.

The "Glenbrook," you must remember, is a strictly modern car. It was developed during a period of world wide mechanical research and represents the last word in automotive science. It is actually and literally a motor car developed by the war.

Just what these new standards of engineering have accomplished will be quite evident in a single demonstration. It will prove a liberal education, we believe, if you will permit our dealer to arrange for an appointment.

Miss Rambo recently received a letter from Mrs. Hillery, nee Miss Olive Denman, of Aurora, Missouri, who was for several years the head of the art department in this institution. We remember Mrs. Hillery as an unusual enthusiast on the subject of art. She writes, "I am putting my art work into the development of pagentry, and I find this combination with the human element most interesting."

The Antlers and Cousins are arranging for a joint program to be given some time next week.

Miss Ritchie returned to school Tuesday after a week's illness due to removal of her tonsils. Miss Ritchie has been teaching in this institution since it was organized ten years ago, and this is the first time she has been too sick to meet her classes.

The fifth and sixth year students with Misses Haines and O'Connell as chaperones spent last Monday picnicking on the canyons.

Miss Helen Butterfield has gone to Childress to visit her father.

REBATES WILL BE GIVEN ON LOSSES OF WHEAT

On April 7, 1920 Mr. Tincher, Representative from Western Kansas, introduced into Congress H. R. 13481, a bill to provide relief to persons who owned wheat of the crop of 1917 before the announcement of the Food Administration price-fixing policy with respect thereto, and who sold such wheat after August 11, 1917.

There is scarcely a doubt that this bill will pass within the next thirty days whereupon a meeting will be held in Amarillo under the auspices of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce with reference to the interests of this section of the country in his particular measure.

The bill quotes "The measure of such actual loss shall be 60 cents per bushel." Accordingly the owner of 1000 bushels of wheat at the time of the price-fixing policy would be entitled to a refund of $600.

We are watching the movement of this affair with the greatest possible vigilance. Please indicate your interest in this matter and let us have response from you at the earliest possible moment.

Notify your banker if you are entitled to a rebate.

Wayside Items

Frost and some ice the 27th of April. Verily, "Winter lingers in the lap of spring."

Rains in different parts, very little has fallen around Wayside.

The infant daughter of James and Bertha Holland was buried on the 27th of April. Mrs. E. J. Fisher conducted the funeral services. The sorrowing family have the sympathy of the entire community.

J. C. Payne returned Tuesday from a trip through the different parts of New Mexico. He says he likes the country very well.

Miss Grace Sluder of Wayside and Mr. Dan Graham of Plemons, Texas, were married at the parsonage of Rev. Henry F. Brooks, of the Polk St. Methodist church, in Amarillo, on April 24. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few of the brides family, after which they returned to Wayside with Wm. Payne and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Graham made a short visit in Wayside, returning Tuesday with M. C. Sluder who took them in his car to their new home 20 miles north of Plemons, Texas. M. A. Butler accompanied the crowd.

A goodly number of friends gathered at the home of W. J. Sluder Monday to celebrate the home coming of Miss Grace Sluder, lately wedded to Dan Graham. They received a number of nice presents.

Pleasant View Items

We had a fine rain last Saturday. Everyone is rejoicing over it as it came just in time to save the crops.

On account of the cold weather there was no preaching here Sunday.

In Memoriam

The recent death of Miss Henri Earl Jackson of Canyon, has occasioned much sorrow among her relatives and her many friends here and elsewhere. To those who knew her intimately there is much sympathy extended them in their bereavement.

In association with her they had learned much of her sterling traits of personality and great indeed is their loss. While she died in youth many are the beautiful encomiums ascribed to her as she had gained the admiration and esteem of all who knew her. They knew her as a girl of gentle kindness and sweet sincerity, unselfish and considerate of fellowman and filled with regard for the sentiment of all.

By these tokens of genuine worth was she known and more, by her charms of gentle tolerance and her unaffected manner, by her sweet simplicity of behavior and her noble purity. Her's was the power to amend and chasten all who knew her and add higher resolve of righteousness to their lives.

She reposes in Jesus, never to know again mortal pain or earthly travail. In this there is a solace until such time as Eternity shall beckon us to join her, she who—

Like a flower that has shed its earthly raiment, there lingers absent her memory a sweet and lasting fragrance of blessed goodness and eternal love, Henri Earl.

A Remarkable Milk Record
Admirers of the great "Black-and-White" breed and those who are interested in pure-bred dairy cattle will read with much satisfaction the announcement that Sadie Gerben Hengerveld De Kol, a pure-bred, registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by R. M. Harriman of Appleton, Wisl consin, has added her name to the honor roll of milk and butterfat producers of remarkable achievement.

This superb cow, according to the preliminary report sent out from the office of the Superintendent of Advanced Registry for The Holstein-Friesian Association of America, has been reported to have given under official A. R. O. test in 7 days 782 pounds of milk of an average butter-fat test of 4.09%. This expressed in terms of butter would equal 40.04 pounds. She was continued on test and reports show her to have produced 3,247.5 pounds of milk which if converted into butter would make 157.54 pounds.

At the time of freshening, January 23, Sadie Gerben Hengerveld De Kol was 8 years, 2 months and 22 days old. This official test began February 5 and was supervised by five different supervisors in addition to Mr. Harris, the Superintendent of official testing for the Holstein Association in Wisconsin, who was present part of the time.

Sadie Gerben Hengerveld De Kol is, according to Mr. Harriman, breeder and owner, a large, strong animal, weighing 1,750 pounds and the only four-generation cow in the world, each of which four generations have milked 103 pounds or more of milk in one day and averaged 106.8 pounds of milk in one day, and 744.3 pounds of milk and 32.43 pounds of butter, in 7 days.

This new 40-pound cow, now in the limelight of public interest, was fed a grain mixture of bran, oats, oil meal, unicorn, cottonseed meal and distillers' grain. Besides this she was fed 3 pounds of molasses, 5 pounds of dried beet pulp (previously soaked in water), and about 30 to 40 pounds mangles. Her roughage consisted of timothy, there being no ensilage, alfalfa or clover hay available. Salt and drinking water were within her reach at all times.

She was started on 14 pounds of the grain mixture daily, fed in four parts, one-quarter of the amount at each feed, and this was gradually increased until she was receiving a daily grain ration of 28 pounds. This was gradually reduced to 26 pounds daily.

The performance of this remarkable purebred Holstein-Friesian cow, noteworthy in itself, still further emphasizes the uniform high production of purebred Holstein-Friesian cows everywhere.

A Record Yield of Millet
W. E. Taack has threshed perhaps the largest crop of millet ever grown in this or any other section of Texas. He threshed last week his 1919 crop of millet which made 43 bushels to the acre.
