

Fact and Comment

By all means show that you are alive; but do it not by kicking but by pulling.

The man who has the first word in a quarrel usually has to fight for the last one.

Landladies will hear with sorrow the news from California that prunes will be scarce and high this year, but their boarders will probably bear it with cheerful fortitude.

Spanish women certainly cannot be regarded as the "weaker sex" for in many of the Spanish ports they coal the ships. Bringing the coal along-side in barges, they load it into buckets that hold one hundred and twenty pounds apiece and, walking bare-footed up the gangplank, carry the buckets on their heads. A man bosses the job, but the women do all the physical work.

A bill introduced in the National Assembly at Budapest, which provides for punishing male profiteers by as many as twenty-five strokes on the soles of their bare feet, puts the ancient bastinado to a modern use, and serves as a happy compromise between those who believe in new and humane theories of punishment and those who think that nothing is too bad for a profiteer.

For those who have decided to leave their boys on the field of honor in France where they fell, a small gold emblem is proposed: an insignium of golden lilies, bearing the inscription, "He sleeps in France." The suggestion seems to have met with instant and cordial approval on both sides of the water. Prominent designers are at work on the emblem, which in years to come, may be to a family what the wreath and eagle of the Cincinnati is now.

Since it costs about two dollars a year to feed a hen, every hen that is to be an asset rather than a liability must produce more than two dollars worth of eggs a year. According to the Department of Agriculture, forty per cent of the hens in the ordinary farm flock do not do so well and therefore are unprofitable and should be sold or eaten. Acting under the direction of agricultural agents, the poultry keepers of Missouri by removing 93,765 unprofitable hens from their flocks saved last year approximately $50,161.

Basing the judgment on the testimony of the Grand Duchess Xenia Alexandrovna, the British High Court of Justice has declared that Nicholas, Czar of all the Russias, died on July 16, 1918, at Ekaterinburg, and that he died intestate, leaving no widow or child. The court has appointed the Czar's sister as administrator of his property in the United Kingdom, but it is a pathetic little estate that she inherits from the ruler who once was one of the richest men in the world. The entire property is worth only about five hundred pounds—less than twenty-five hundred dollars.

Every year many young doctors in our large cities suffer actual privation while waiting for their first patients; some are forced sooner or later to abandon their profession entirely. Yet in country districts the need for doctors is sometimes so great that communities offer to buy instruments, office furniture and automobiles for young physicians who will settle there permanently. No one has much use for a man who is afraid of competition, but it is deplorable that any community should suffer because it cannot get a good doctor; and although the city pays larger fees, the country gives the doctor a place in the community that few city doctors ever attain.

The number of men conspicuous in European politics who at one time or another have lived in New York City is an indication of the truly cosmopolitan character of its population. Among them are former Premiers Clemenceau and Paderewski, President Masaryk, Dr. Kapp and Leon Trotsky. In trying to avoid the reproach of having harbored Trotsky New York takes what comfort it can from his having come there not entirely of his own will. It is reported that the Spanish authorities quietly "shanghaied" him to get rid of him, and that from Cuba, whither he was summarily shipped, he came to New York on his way back to Europe.

Are We Very Law Abiding?

The following article by Mrs. Joe B. Smith, read before the recent Woman's Missionary Conference held at Hereford, is reproduced here by special request:

Our Texas State Laws assess a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00 for the selling of tobacco, in any form, to boys under sixteen years of age.

Boys, eight, ten, twelve, and some younger and some older may be seen any day smoking on the streets and in the back of our towns. Where do they get these cigarettes or tobacco to fill their pipes? Do parents consent to them buying, or do they give it to them, do they steal it, lie for it, or does some dealer violate the law?

Fifteen hundred boys every day of the year previous to our entering the late war began the cigarette habit. The number each year since has increased alarmingly. Speakers before the Southern Sociological Congress Houston, several years ago, said, "Tobacco is the greatest enemy with which the public schools have to combat." Boys who begin smoking even after they enter high school become unruly and less efficient in their work. Tobacco lessens mental as well as physical efficiency.

Fifty per cent of all high school boys smoke. Ninety per cent of all boys who fail in grammar and high school are smokers. Do the above figures help to answer the "why dowe see the girls in a family make good in the world while boys in the same family are failures?"

China, heathen China, has a law saying, "No boys or girls under eighteen years of age shall be allowed to smoke cigars or cigarettes. Any military or naval man using it shall be punished. The use of cigars and cigarettes in all government schools shall be strictly prohibited." The Japanese laws forbid the use of tobacco by boys and girls under age.

Tobacco causes deafness, blindness, cancer, tuberculosis, insanity, apoplexy, heart disease, and gives to babies whose fathers are addicted to its use weakened hearts.

Would boys ever have wanted to smoke had they not seen men smoking?

Think these things over.
Mrs. J. B. Smith,
Conf. Supt. of Social Service N. W. Texas Woman's Missionary Society.

Something New From Labor

In World's Work Samuel Crowther tells of a constructive agreement which has been entered upon in a Cleveland concern by employers and wage earners on the basis of the following conclusions:

In view of their primary responsibility to the consuming public (workers and owners are jointly and separately responsible for the cost and quality of the service rendered) it is agreed that co-operation and mutual helpfulness are the basis of right and progressive industrial relations and that intimidation and coercion have no proper place in American industry. To provide a means whereby the parties may cooperate, both to preserve peace in the industry and to further their mutual interests in the common enterprise, this agreement is entered into.

The Russian Peace Cry

John A. Gade in World's Work: Peace! Peace! Is the great cry. I have heard it from commissars, Communist leaders, soldiers, and escaped bourgeoisie alike. Through it alone is there a future for Russia. For the sake of it, Bolshevist Russia is today, whether in good or bad faith—probably in the latter—willing to agree to any not too humiliating terms, made by the great powers. She needs America most of all, whether American locomotives, tools, machinery, money or brains be procured either directly or indirectly, via the British Isles.

The Art of Forgetting

James J. Hill, who possessed a phenomenal memory, said it is easy to remember things you are interested in.

What to do therefore, is to discern what things are useful, what things one ought to be interested in, and then forget the others.

That sounds easy, but it isn't easy, as we all know. However, if we try, we may accomplish something. If we don't, we won't.

Let's see, therefore, what are some of the things we ought to forget.

First and most important of all, forget the brilliant record you made at school or that wonderful sale you made which caused all the boys to talk or that remarkably piece of work you did which won your raise of pay and promotion.

Forget the big things you did yesterday or last year.

Forget all about the time you topped the list and was made a fuss over.

Forget that you are (in your own eyes) a wonder, a world beater.

The Argument Failed

N. Y. Evening Globe: A temperance lecturer displayed to his audience two geraniums. The first, watered in the usual way, was a beautiful and vigorous plant. The other had been dosed with alcohol and its foliage was shriveled and sparse, its stem twisted, and its vitality decayed. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," cried the lecturer, "what can you say to a demonstration like that?" "It's alright, and if I were a geranium," said a shabby man in the gallery, "I'd stick to water, but I'm not a geranium."

Birmingham Age-Herald: The American dollar looks as big as a cartwheel to a German, a Frenchman or even an Englishman, but it looks to be about the size of a pre-war dime to the average American.

Child Burned To Death

The small son of W. H. White, section foreman of the Rock Island lines at Vega, was burned to death late yesterday when his fourteen-year-old sister tried to light a fire with what she thought was kerosene but which proved to be gasoline. The child, whose age was two and one-half years, was playing near and was covered with the burning liquid. Every effort was made to save his life but to no avail.—Amarillo Tribune.

SATURDAY'S PRIMARY

When the first few thousand votes were reported Saturday night, it was very evident that none of the candidates would receive a majority of the votes. Furthermore, it was more than evident that Bailey would lead in the number of votes cast, with Neff a close second. Thomason failed to poll the strength that friends anticipated, while Looney was in the race a little stronger than was anticipated, but took enough of the Thomason strength to put the El Paso man out of the second primary.

No sooner had it become evident that the primary of August 28 would be between Bailey and Neff than the Bailey camp began to manufacture war materials in huge proportions. In fact, their campaign dope was manufactured by the Neff and Thomason forces, aided no doubt by Looney, all three of whom heaped deluges of personal abuses upon each other. The Bailey followers made careful note of all these personal attacks, and now have put them into the foreground for the benefit of the former senator. They hope that the followers of Thomason and Looney will not swallow the bunch of bunk that the Neff camp shot at the Waco candidate's opponents during the campaign. Word comes that Thomason and Looney managers over the state are offering their support to Neff for the next campaign.

Nearly 600,000 votes were cast in the primary Saturday. The history of second primaries is that only a small percent of those participating in the first primary go to the polls for the second vote. Bailey received about one third of the total vote Saturday. He will receive practically the full support which cast for him Saturday, unless his followers become over confident, which is not likely to be the case. The question naturally arises just how many of the Thomason and Looney men will stay away from the polls, or will vote for Bailey if they do go to the polls. Both of the defeated candidates have come out for Neff. Supposing that only 400,000 voters participate in the primary August 28, Bailey will have to draw about 17 percent of the votes he did not receive in the Saturday contest in order to be elected. Under circumstances of a light vote, Bailey has a very good chance to be winner.

On May first the contest was fought in Texas as to whether the people of Texas would allow Bailey to come from Washington, blaspheme the name of the administration and all of its acts during the war. Bailey lost overwhelmingly. The people of Texas participated almost as a unit in the conventions of that day. It is said by men who are well acquainted with Texas politics that no other man than Joe Bailey could have brought out the votes which buried him in his attempt to send a delegation to San Francisco opposed to the administration. These same men believe that the name of Joe Bailey running for governor in a two man race will bring out a bigger vote than was registered last Saturday. If this is the case, Bailey does not have the ghost of a show to win.

The next month promises to be the hottest in Texas politics. It is going to be a fight to the finish between the friends of Bailey who will stick to him through thick and thin, and the forces in Texas politics who have always fought Bailey under all conditions. The personality of Neff is not going to enter the race very strongly with thousands and thousands of voters. It will not be a case of loving Neff more, but an intense hatred of Bailey for what he has been in the past and may be in the future in Texas.

To My Friends
 I take this method of thanking you who supported me so loyally in my recent campaign:
 Very sincerely yours,
 MRS. MYRA SMITH.

To the Voters of Randall County
 I wish to thank the voters of Randall county for the confidence they have shown in me by my election to the office of sheriff and tax collector in the primary last Saturday, and I will do my very best to fulfill the duties and obligations of the office.
 W. C. BLACK.

To My Friends in Randall County
 As I may not have the opportunity soon to see you personally, I extend to you through the columns of the Randall County News, my sincere thanks for your loyal support in the recent primary.
 Faithfully yours,
 WORTH A. JENNINGS.

After the Ring
 Chanslor Weymouth, of Amarillo, and Sam Braswell, of Clarendon, are among the candidates for the Khiva Shrine ring which will be given to the most popular novice at the ceremonial to be held in August.

Both of these novices are making a strenuous campaign and Mr. Weymouth has promised the members a big barbecue if he should be the fortunate winner.
 Braswell, being a mere newspaper man, hasn't any "fatted calf" to offer up but we understand that his wife is a good gardener and perhaps that good lady will come to his assistance with that good old southern delicacy, okra gumbo. Several hogs-heads of that appetizing compound judiciously distributed ought to make Braswell hard to catch.

Senator Johnson, on his long, weary ride homeward from Chicago, doubtless recalled the persistent individual of whom it was said he took nothing from the pie counter but his elbows.—New Haven Journal-Courier.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coffee were Amarillo visitors Friday.

Gas in Tractor Exploded

A. M. Shook was painfully injured first of the week. The accident was caused by the gas in a tractor catching fire, blowing out a cam and setting his clothing on fire. Other workmen in the field not far away from him succeeded in getting the clothing off him, but he was severely burned and has suffered great pain.

His friends are glad to know that he is doing as well as circumstances permit.—Hale Center Record.

The Songs of War
From the American Legion Weekly:
When those bells go ting-a-long-aling
We'll all join round
And, oh, how we will sing:
There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

If you were old enough to remember the Spanish-American War you remember "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" as the popular song at that period. More than likely it recalls that historic space of time with even more vividness than does the battle of Manila Bay or the charging of San Juan Hill.

With few exceptions, all of America's wars have handed down to posterity stirring music of the time. The war with Germany probably is the most noted exception. No really popular song or music was developed during the war which was destined to enjoy latter day fame.

"A Hot Time in the Old Town" had nothing to do with the Spanish-American War. It was a song in vogue and being whistled from one end of the country to the other when the war broke out.

"Tipperary" comes near to paralleling "A Hot Time." It was a music hall hit at the height of its popularity when Kitchener's hundred thousand Tommies were crossing the Channel and winning the Mons medal. The Britishers whistled it all the way to Antwerp and back to the Somme. Adopted vociferously in America, it served finely for British propaganda when Britain needed it most. By the time America entered the war it had been placed in the discard.

Probably the greatest tune that has come out of the war is the stirring French marching song "Madelon." This song, about a bar-maid, who was serving the soldiers tells them that she can't see the use of falling in love with just one soldier when she can "love a regiment," was sung first a couple of years before the war, but was revived when France mobilized, and became popular with all the allies.

But what will the bands play in 1940 when the long-whiskered veterans march down Main street to attend the annual Great War convention?

How the Army Makes Americans

Foreigners outstrip uneducated Americans in acquiring the knowledge the army has to offer in its recruit educational centers, asserts H. H. Railey, writing in the American Legion weekly. The foreigner can, as a rule, read and write two or three languages, while the American illiterate can not even read or write his own. Of the center at Camp Upton, Long Island, N. Y., Mr. Railey says:

"Of the 1,500 students, only 50 per cent are native-born Americans and the majority of these are, or were, illiterates. Among the balance are representatives of forty-six nations from Iceland to Argentina, and every religion from Mohammedans to Holy Rollers. Men who in Europe today would be fighting each other sleep side by side in the old barracks of the national army.

"When the recruit arrives at the center he is quarantined for fifteen days, instructed in practical hygiene, fitted out, drilled and taught elementary physical exercises. As soon as possible he takes a psychological test and is classified on the basis of his intelligence rating.

"A shrewd and successful attempt has been made, in the construction of the course of study, to take account of human nature. There is, for instance, a letter home in the man's own hand writing and composition at the end of two weeks. The man is urged to do his best, because of 'the nobility of his work.' He learns good habits under camouflage and becomes the teacher of those duties and ideals which it is desired he shall get."

"To illustrate the point, an instructor took me into one of the advanced classrooms. Here sat men of 45 years or more with boys of 18, all writing letters. 'Instead of telling these men,' said the Captain, 'that they should brush their teeth, sleep with their windows open, keep their uniforms clean and neat, and so on, we have them write letters to their chums at home, describing such duties as part of their daily life here. Thus they are the teachers as well as the pupils, and they take an immense pride in their work.'

"Aside from disseminating a broader mastery of English, a wider familiarity with the ideals and traditions of America, the army hopes to eliminate Bolshevism and hyphenated Americanism, for each student who enters its schools leaves with a more genuine and effectual feeling of devotion for the land of his new freedom. And the joy he takes in it is pathetic, but wonderful to behold."

Hanging Out the Smile

Philadelphia Ledger: When it is not a palpable insincerity, a theatrical artificiality, turned on to create a fleeting impression of a geniality that is not there, a smile is an asset of business, a lubricant in social life, the outward index of a welcome mood and a happy mind. It cheers the air, relieves a tension, proclaims a cheerful and serene philosophy.

The man who keeps on smiling—not with the inane and constant grin that never wears off, but with the habitual expression of good nature within—has won victories. He has had his share of trials and temptations. Life has not laid a lighter hand on him than on his neighbor. He enjoyed no special privilege and Fate did not accord him preferential treatment. But the expression of his face shows that he has come through tribulation and not yielded to bitterness. A light that shines there is the reflection of the refiner's fire. If that smile were the sign of mirthful irrepressibility it would not mean so much. The meaning of it is that, he who wears the look has toiled and suffered, known the anxieties, been foiled and frustrated, drunk deep the cup and eaten the bread of sorrow—and still he holds his head on high, and the enthusiasm is unquestioned. This attitude of cheerfulness resolutely maintained bespeaks in him who keeps it an essential greatness. The man who smiles has not lost hope and he still keeps faith with his ideals. You can not take from him the fortune that he carries in that brave, bright aspect which invigorates as soon as it is seen.

FORDSON TRACTORS

TO WORK FOR YOU

We insist that every farmer in Randall county needs a FORDSON in order to get the wheat crop planted in time this fall. We are going to do our very best to see that every farmer gets one of these wonderful machines in order to reduce the expense of putting in the crop.

The best index to what the FORDSON owners think of them is what they say of them. A good test of a man's judgment of the machine comes when he buys a second machine or a former Fordson owner places the order for another machine. Randall county farmers are doing this.

Fortunately we can make immediately delivery from our stock. Next week they may all be gone. We hope to get all the tractors that the farmers want, but last summer this was impossible, and it may be the case again this year.

Get that machine while we have some in stock.

Relating to Taxation by School Districts.
Senate Joint Resolution No. 17.
 Proposing an amendment to Section 3 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas by exempting independent and common school districts from the limitation of a total tax of one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation for any one year, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:
 Section 1. That Section 3 of Article VII of the Constitution be so amended as hereafter to read as follows: (Creating a new section 3.)
 Section 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of one ($1.00) dollar on every inhabitant of this state, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem state tax of such amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollars valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set aside a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this State; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient the deficit may be met by appropriation from the general funds of the state and the legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation; and all such school districts, whether created by general or special law may embrace parts of two or more counties. And the legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such districts, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax not to exceed in any one year one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts, nor to independent or common school districts created by general or special law.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1920, at which election all voters favoring said amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the Amendment to Section 3 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing that the limitation upon the amount of school district tax of one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation shall not apply to independent or common school districts created by general or special law."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the state.

Sec. 4. That the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

Authorizing One and One-half Per Cent Ad Valorem Tax by Cities and Towns of Five Thousand or Less Population.
Senate Joint Resolution No. 12.
 Proposing an amendment to Section 4 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, by increasing the total tax rate that may be levied by cities and towns having a population of five thousand or less than one-fourth of one per cent to not exceeding one and one-half per cent, and making appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:
 Section 1. That Section 4, Article XI of the Constitution be so amended as hereafter to read as follows:
 Section 4. Cities and towns having a population of five thousand or less may be chartered alone by general law. They may levy, assess and collect such taxes as may be authorized by law, but no tax for any purpose shall ever be lawful for any one year which shall exceed one and one-half per cent of the taxable property of such city; and all taxes shall be collectible only in current money, and all licenses and occupation taxes levied, and all fines, forfeitures and penalties accruing to said cities and towns shall be collectible only in current money.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1920, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the Amendment of Section 4, Article XI of the Constitution increasing the total tax rate that may be levied by towns and cities having a population of five thousand or less from one-fourth of one per cent to not exceeding one and one-half per cent of any one year," and all voters opposed to said amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment of Section 4, Article XI of the Constitution increasing the total tax rate that may be levied by towns and cities having a population of five thousand or less from one-fourth of one per cent to not exceeding one and one-half per cent of any one year."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and to have the same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Sec. 4. That the sum of Five Thousand Dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

Relating to the Matter of Compensation of Public Officials.
House Joint Resolution No. 7.
 A joint resolution of the Legislature of the State of Texas, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State by adding to Article 16 thereof a new Section, to be known as Section 60; providing for the compensation of public officials.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:
 Section 1. That there is hereby added to Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, a new section to be known as Section 60 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, which shall read as follows:
 Section 60. Compensation of Public Officials: All State, district, county and precinct officers within this State shall receive as compensation for their services a salary, the amount of which, the terms and methods of payment and the fund out of which such payments shall be made, shall be ascertained, declared and fixed by the Legislature from time to time; provided that the Legislature may make such exceptions as it may deem advisable.

This section shall supercede all other provisions of this constitution fixing and declaring the compensation of officers by salaries, fees or otherwise and all provisions for salaries or other compensation for public officials, executive, legislative or judicial.

Sec. 2. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to cause to be issued his necessary proclamation for an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1920, at which election the qualified electors of this State for adoption or rejection and shall make the publication required by the constitution and laws of the State. Said election shall be held under and in accordance with the General Election Laws of the State, and the ballots for said election shall have printed or written thereon in plain letters the following words:
 "Official ballot." "For the amendment to Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, adding thereto Section 60, providing for compensation of public officials."
 "Against the Amendment to Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, adding thereto Section 60, providing for compensation of public officials."

Those voters who favor such amendment shall erase by marking a line through the words "Against the amendment of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing compensation for public officials." Those who oppose such amendment shall erase by marking a line through the words "For the amendment to Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, adding thereto Section 60, providing for compensation of public officials."

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:
 Section 1. That there is hereby added to Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, a new section to be known as Section 60 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, which shall read as follows:
 Section 60. Sheriff's Notice of Election
 The State of Texas, County of Randall.
 Notice is hereby given that an election will be held on the 7th day of August A. D. 1920, at the Pleasant view School house in Common School District No. Two of this County as established by order of the Commissioners Court on the 12th day of February, A. D. 1903, which is recorded in Volume One Page 585 of the Minutes of said Court to determine whether or not a majority of the legally qualified taxpaying voters of that district desires to tax themselves for the purpose of supplementing the State School Fund apportioned to said district, and to determine whether the Commissioners' Court of this County shall be authorized to levy, assess, and collect annually a tax of and at the rate not exceeding Fifty Cents on the $100 valuation of taxable property in said District for said purposes.
 All persons who are legally qualified voters of this state and of this county, and who are resident taxpayers of said district, shall be entitled to vote at said election.
 Said election was ordered by the County Judge of this County, by Order made the 7th day of July, A. D. 1920, and this notice is given in pursuance of this order.
 Dated this the 13th day of July, A. D. 1920.

WARNING

BUY YOUR COAL EARLY

Last winter you suffered some inconvenience—perhaps discomfort—thru inability to secure coal.

All the elements contributing to this which existed last year still exist, only more so:

Decreased—and decreasing—labor supply, irregularity and unsteadiness of labor, certain and unescapable car shortage.
