

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL STARTS TODAY

AMERICAN LEGION BOYS WILL CANVASS RANDALL COUNTY FOR MEMBERS THIS AFTERNOON.

The Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross starts today in the United States. In Randall County Armistice Day will be the day for the greatest drive, and it is planned to try and cover the county in one day.

Henry C. Gamble, Post Commander of the Palo Duro Post, is chairman of the Roll Call in Randall County. When the members of the Post and ex-service men meet at the Club House he will distribute literature to the men and assign them districts to be canvassed during the afternoon. Men from practically every section of Randall county will work in the country districts during the afternoon.

The members of the Post wants to enroll every man, woman and child in Randall county in the Red Cross for the coming year. The annual fee is $1.00 for membership. One-half of this amount will stay in Randall county to be used in any way the executive committee of the Randall County Chapter sees fit.

CLARENDON TOOK GAME BY 28 TO 19 SCORE

Fumbles Gave Visitors Two Touchdowns in First Few Minutes—Normal Had Better Team.

The Normal football team almost handed out the game Saturday to the Clarendon College visitors on a silver platter. Two touchdowns within the first few minutes of play gave the visitors a lead of 14 points, which was more than the locals could overcome. After this first few minutes of stage fright, the Normal boys settled down to business, and with the exception of two or three minor slips, put up a good game which proved that the local team was superior to the visitors. Clarendon came with the expectation of getting badly trimmed; they accepted the gift of the game very graciously.

The visiting team was very superior in handling the forward pass, both as to long passes, and the short passes of five or ten yards. The third touchdown was made by the visitors came as the result of a 20 yard pass which gave the receiver a clear field for the goal.

The Normal boys were clearly superior both as to offensive and defensive when it came to straight football. Only three times during the game did the visitors make their downs by line smashes or end runs, while the locals carried the ball a distance of 120 yards by line smash route during the game. On defensive, the Normal was weak on the forward pass, but strong on holding the line. At one time the Clarendon team was held for three down within three yards of the Normal goal, the ball being fumbled on the last down, and recovered back of the line.

Fine Bradley Yams

B. T. Johnson brought to the News office Thursday evening some very fine Bradley Yams, which were whoppers in size and delicious in taste. Mr. Johnson states he raised a very fine crop this year in his garden in the west part of town, in addition to the other fine garden products.

Mr. Johnson's method of raising yams ought to suit most Canyon men. He states that too many gardeners cultivate sweet potatoes too much, injuring the growth of the plant. The less cultivation necessary, the better the yams, is the experience of Mr. Johnson covering a large number of years in this line. He would rather make his ridges in the fall, and then kill the weeds with a sharp hoe in the spring, than to rely upon the spring ridging.

HOWARD BROWN KILLED BY TRAIN SATURDAY

Hit by Passenger Train Saturday Saturday Morning and Dies at 1:30—Skull Badly Crushed.

Howard Brown was killed Saturday when the truck of the Thompson Hardware Company, which he was driving, was hit by the Mainview train as it was pulling into town. He was taken immediately to Amarillo where an operation was performed, his skull being found badly crushed and brain mangled. He died at 1:30 p. m. without having regained consciousness. The truck which he was driving was completely wrecked.

The accident occurred at the crossing north of the S. H. Heyser home. Mr. Brown was delivering some pipe in the truck. He had stopped at the corner south of the crossing to talk with two men. They conversed for a moment, and Brown started his truck. There is a small barn near the crossing which cuts off a view of the railroad, although an approaching train may be seen from the middle of the block. No doubt the rattle of the pipe in the truck was so great that the driver did not hear the approaching train. It is evident that he made a great effort to stop the machine and the tracks show that he had thrown on the brake and that the hind wheels had skidded for nine feet. The truck was hit near the driver's seat. Mr. Brown was thrown nearly twenty feet and down into the deep ditch. The truck was scattered along the track. Mr. Thompson states that the truck is beyond repair.

An ambulance was called from Amarillo, young Brown taken to the hospital where the operation was performed. The doctors pronounced the accident fatal as soon as they had examined the skull and brain.

Howard was 19 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Brown living northwest of the city. He had been employed by the Thompson Hardware Company for several months and was a faithful and efficient employee.

The body was brought to Canyon Sunday morning and taken to the family home west of Canyon.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Monday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, a large number of friends gathered to pay their respects to the memory of the young man and to offer comfort to the members of the bereaved family.

$50 RAISED FOR LEGION HOSPITAL AT KERRVILLE

The boys of the American Legion canvassed the business section Saturday afternoon for funds to be donated to the American Legion Hospital located at Kerrville, established to care for the boys of Texas who were wounded or taken sick during the war. At a previous time $150 was sent from the community for this hospital.

ORGANIZE FOR SWINE SALE IN JANUARY

Number of Breeders Will Contribute Best Animals to the Sale on January 15th.

A good number of breeders attended the meeting held at the court house Saturday afternoon held for the purpose of organizing the swine breeders of Randall county for the sale scheduled for January 15th. A cordial invitation is extended to all breeders of Randall county to enter registered hogs of any breed in the sale, which promises to be one of the best ever held in this section of the state. All who wish to enter hogs should see H. C. Roffey at once.

The breeders agreed upon price which shall be charged Pig Club boys as follows:

Pigs 2 to 4 months old—$30 to $40. Bred gilts to farrow at one year old—$100 to $125.

The breeders will get up a car of hogs to be shipped to the Ft. Worth Stock Show which is held in March. Registered fat barrows will be sent to the show.

CONDREY HEADS CHRISTMAS HEALTH SEAL DRIVE

C. L. Condrey has been appointed by the Texas Public Health Association to head the drive in Randall County for the sale of Christmas Health Seals. The quota of Randall County is $300.

These seals were formerly called Red Cross Christmas Seals, but since the organization has to do with tuberculosis and not with general Red Cross work, the name has been changed this year.

Ninety five percent of the money collected from the sale of seals is spent in Texas. The remainder of the money is used for the general work in the United States.

C. L. Sone will have charge of the sale in the public school and M. B. Johnson in the training school.

NORMAL TEAM WILL PLAY OKLA. NORMAL SATURDAY

A new football team will be brought to Canyon next Saturday when the Southwestern State Normal of Weatherford, Oklahoma, will play the West Texas State Normal College on the local grounds. Nothing is known of the Oklahoma bunch, but it is planned to form permanent athletic relations with the school.

Trade Excursion Fine

Four cars left Friday morning with Trade Excursionists boosting the Trades Day Monday. Those who were fortunate enough to be able to make the trip report a very fine time and that practically every home visited promised to send a representative to the Trades Day.

Had the day been good Monday, there would have been a very large delegation in Canyon from the south part of the county.

ARMISTICE DAY TO BE OBSERVED IN PROGRAM

PRESIDENT HILL, REVS. SHAW AND HOLIFIELD WILL SPEAK AT THE COURT HOUSE.

The Palo Duro Post of the American Legion will hold a program at the district court room this morning at 11 o'clock in memory of the ten men from Randall county who gave their lives to their country during the war.

The members of the Post and all ex-service men are to meet at the Club House at 10 o'clock. All men are requested to be in uniform. Those not having uniforms are asked to attend and join in the services.

The men will march to the court house a few minutes before 11 o'clock. Church Call will be sounded and the men will march to the district court room where the program will be held.

Rev. Simeon Shaw will deliver the address upon Armistice Day. President Hill and Rev. Ted P. Holifield will talk upon the various phases of the Red Cross.

Henry C. Gamble, former lieutenant in the air service and Commander of the Palo Duro Post, will have charge of the program and states that the meeting will close about 12 o'clock.

All business in Canyon will be suspended during the services, and most of the business houses will be closed throughout the day.

WEST ROAD WORK COMING TOWARD CANYON RAPIDLY

The contractors on the highway from Canyon to the Deaf Smith county line are working on the contract at the west end of the line, the work having progressed this way as far as Umbarger.

This highway will join the road running from Happy to Amarillo at the east end of Houston Street.

The contract was let a month ago and the contractors started work last week.

MAYOR GAMBLE HEADS RED CROSS FOR COMING YEAR

The Executive Committee of the Red Cross met Saturday night at the court house and elected the following officers for the coming year:

Chairman—Mayor J. D. Gamble. Vice Chairman—Mrs. F. M. Wilson. Secretary—E. Burroughs. Treasurer—C. D. Lester.

MORE THAN HUNDRED AT DAIRY MEETING

Milk Demonstration Postponed But Talks Made on Dairy Feeding and Milk as Food.

In spite of the bad weather Monday, there was a good crowd of more than one hundred at the court house Monday afternoon to hear the talks by Prof. Fred H. Ives and Miss Rambo.

Mr. Ives discussed the dairy cow feeding, pointing out especially that alfalfa hay was a better and cheaper feed than bran at the present price. He discussed the balanced rations for the dairy cow and asked that all farmers and dairymen who had feeding problems to submit them to his class for solution.

Miss Rambo went into the question of the place of milk in the diet of both children and grown people. She clearly pointed out that few people use as much milk as they should.

The demonstration which was planned by Miss Watkins was postponed early in the morning as the weather looked so bad and it was necessary to bring from the Normal a load of cooking utensils and stoves for the demonstration. This work will be put on at a later date.

The meeting of Monday was highly profitable and it was to be regretted that the weather prohibited no more from being present.

Will Entertain Rotary Club

President J. A. Hill has invited the Rotary Club of Amarillo to visit the Normal next week for their regular weekly meeting. The club will be entertained at luncheon at Cousins Hall.

The Rotary Club is the progressive spirit of Amarillo, and has always strongly backed every enterprise of the West Texas State Normal College. The members are invited by President Hill in order that they may become personally familiar with the great plant of the school, which they will be invited to inspect while in the city.

Doctors Attitude Toward a County Hospital

We, the undersigned Medical Doctors of Canyon, are in favor of a County Sanitarium, for the following reasons:

- (1) Since it is our duty to render efficient medical service to our community, we feel that we cannot afford to be handicapped by the lack of convenience and equipment.
- (2) In the light of modern medical science, the best service cannot be gotten from the medical profession without a well equipped Sanitarium and without the assistance of trained nurses.
- (3) We frequently encounter surgical cases that should not be moved over rough roads. For such cases it is better and safer to import a surgeon than to export a patient.

(4) There are numerous cases of illness, non-surgical in nature, that should have hospital care, for the double purpose of convenience to the family and safety to the patient.

(5) This being a school town, we are especially subject to epidemics. To isolate these patients in a Sanitarium might check the spread of serious epidemics.

(6) The students of the Normal College are away from parents. It is our duty in the future to be ready to render them more detailed attention in cases of illness, than they have had in the past.

(7) It is a necessary asset to our community. It will enhance the value of our property. It will make Canyon and Randall county a better place in which to live.

(8) The hospitals in the neighboring towns are inadequate in space. We know of instances in which we could not get hospital space for our patients.

If you want the best that there is in the medical profession of your community, give us the advantage of a small, but well equipped sanitarium.

"F. L. O. P."

The penetrating atmosphere of a late November evening added to my already dejected spirits as I stepped into the street on my way—nowhere in particular.

I must confess that I was bored. It was not a disappointment for there had been nothing to disappoint. The past few days had been full of excitement for me. The next few days would be no less interesting. As evidence of this, I fingered Hazel's ring in my pocket. Tomorrow night it would be delivered. But tonight, there appeared to be nothing of interest for me. I had refused to go to the club for initiation into some crazy organization suggested by Tad Mayer. The thought of a theatre got on my nerves. But stay in I could not. With no apparent destination, but with every inclination to str up some kind of action, I was now on the street.

At Thompson's I crashed into Tad Mayer. He was some relief for me. Tad was one of those fellows who can tell something interesting about everything from chop suey to the latest Mexican raid. It was with a near approach to enthusiasm that I hailed him.

"Hello, Tad, I'll match you to see who wears your gay necktie tomorrow."

One word was enough to show me that Tad was not in a joking mood.

"Jim, I thought you were staying in tonight."

"Just can't do it. I'm tired, bored, disgusted. For pity's sake do something for me."

For a moment a question came over Tad's face. Then he said:

"Jim, will you do something for me?"

"Sure, old boy, come on, anything within reason."

He wrote something on a small card, sealed it in a small envelope, and handed it to me.

"Please deliver this to Joe Winters; you know Joe. He is now at this address. Sorry to ask you to do this, but it is very important. Here is all the identification you need. Take a taxi and just mention the bill to Joe. If he tells you anything of interest, you can find me at the club until twelve o'clock. Good-night."

As Tad finished speaking, he placed a small pin in the lapel of my coat. Without another word he walked hastily out into the street and disappeared in the fog that was fast engulfing the city.

It seemed so strange for Tad Mayer to be serious. Well, I had the note, and it must be delivered whether I stood in peril of a huge joke or the hangman's noose.

When I gave the taxi driver the address, he glanced sharply at me, asked me to repeat it, and consulted his directory. At Forty-second street and Canal the car stopped, the driver again consulted his directory. He then drove two blocks west and stopped.

"Shall I wait?"

"Yes, please."

I verified the number with that on my envelope, and rang the bell at what appeared to be an old downtown residence. A young man with a decidedly foreign accent opened the door and questioned softly:

"Want someone?"

"Mr. Winters, please."

"Shall I give him your card?"

But he did not wait for an answer. His glance crossed the pin on my coat.

"Yes, Sir, step in, Sir. Mr. Winters will see you in this place."

He led the way into a dimly lighted room. It was poorly furnished, and might have served either for a reception room or for an office. I felt creepy. What was all this?

What could Joe Winters be doing here? One thing was clear. This pin was associated with something distasteful to me. The line of closest thought led me to think of Tad Mayer. Did I know him very well? He was on the staff of one of the big dailies. Surely Tad—but here was Winters. The door clicked, but strange it did not open. I waited, but not another sound came. I stepped over and tried the door. It was securely bolted. That pin! Identification! I scrutinized it. There were four letters grouped in the center, "F. L. O. P." I waited fifteen minutes. All the sound I could hear was the faint rumblings from the street. I gave the room a close examination. A small desk stood near one corner, and on it was a telephone, Poor Mortal Man! As if it were connected directly with police headquarters, I raised the receiver. Click, the lights were off. I heard a door open near me. Strong hands grappled me, and held me fast. Two other hands covered my clothes, my watch, purse, fountain pen, Hazel's ring, all were taken. The door closed, and I was alone.

Twenty years in New York had been sufficient to enlighten me as to the situation. I was not hurt in any way. But would I be allowed to leave the room now? I tried the door. There was a quiver, the floor seemed to leave me. With a crash I found myself lying in a foul smelling basement. My head roared and thumped, but I was not in pain. Fortunately—if the word was a part of my vocabulary—I fell on some old matting and papers.

This was too much! I remained quiet for about five minutes. Then I groped about until I found a door. It opened easily. Far down the corridor I could see a dim light. I preferred almost anything to the darkness I was in. As I neared the light, I could see that it came from a side door in the corridor. Ten feet before it I tripped over a small wire; a bell rang, and with utter amazement I heard a voice question, "Mr. James Brentwood?" Present, I answered with all the tone of a country school-boy.

A sealed envelope or bag was put through a network of steel bars. I questioned:

"For me?"

"For you, and get out of here at once."

A door opened to the street, I went out, and the door closed with an affirmative click. A cop rounded the corner, but I did not call him, Tad Mayer must come with this bunch was my decision. I examined the large envelope, I held, ripped the end, and looked at—my watch, purse Hazel's ring, my fountain pen—all were there. I walked around the square and found the taxi waiting.

"Park Club, please."

Fifteen minutes later I was at the club. Yes, Tad was there. Before I could say anything, he placed a small book in my hands. I glanced at it. On the back was "F. L. O. P."; across the front was "For Lovers of Pleasure."

Tad said drily:

"Welcome, Jim, to the new club, and thanks for going over alone for the initiation. I really didn't have time to take you over."

Tad Mayer has my respect for knowing how to pick men. As proof of this ability, I decided to spare him from a trip to the station. At twelve o'clock I turned off the lights in my apartment.

An Important Duty.

The schools throughout the country have opened for another year's work and the children are once more applying themselves more or less assiduously to the accumulation of knowledge. To some of them school days are a pleasure and they go to work with enthusiasm. To others, learning from books is a punishment or at best, an unmitigated bore.

In millions of cases where pupils find the school work dull and uninteresting, the fault, which is too often set down against the teacher for not making the school work more attractive, lies in the physical condition of the child.

In all of the larger cities of this country, physical examination of the pupils at the beginning of every school year is compulsory and a doctor and trained nurse for doing this work are part of the school force. There can be no doubt that, in time, this will be done in every school for it has resulted in the astounding discovery that about four-fifths of the pupils are below par physically.

Children suffering from adenoids, enlarged tonsils, bad teeth, defective hearing or improper vision cannot do their work as they should and are frequently regarded as dull and backward then, if these slight defects, were remedied, they would prove as bright and studious as any of their mates.

Another condition that makes for backwardness in children is underweight and, less frequently, overweight. It has been found that when a child is as much as seven per cent under the proper weight for his height, his condition is serious and yet about nine-tenths of the parents dismiss this condition carelessly with the explanation that "Johnnie is growing too fast" or "Mary is delicate."

Usually underweight is attributable to minor defects which are easily remedied but which neither the child nor the parents can discover without the assistance of a trained expert. It must not be forgotten that a child has no way to judge as to whether his various organs are functioning as they should or not. He has never had any other eyes so if his are defective he does not know that he does not see as others do. The same is true of his hearing. Adenoids and enlarged tonsils are often the cause of "skinny," "run down," "always tired," "easily upset," children.

Many parents think that underweight is not a cause for worry because the child does not seem to be really ill. However, any child that is as much as seven per cent underweight is in a serious condition and it is up to the parents to correct it—for it can be corrected and will mean more to the success and happiness of the boy or girl than any fortune that they might inherit. For instance, a child that is four feet tall should weigh fifty-three and one-half pounds and if he or she weighs only fifty, a physical examination should be made at once and remedial measures inaugurated. Sometimes it is merely a matter of more rest. Children have little regard for the mechanism known as their bodies. Sometimes it means a change of diet and more firmness on the part of parents in the matter of candy and "knick-nacks."

Parents who do not hesitate to buy expensive toys for their children and are liberal—too liberal—with the oft-requested "nickel" are yet often penurious in the much more vital matter of consulting a physician except in case of absolute necessity. Physicians themselves, are greatly to blame, however, since they all too frequently give the child but a superficial examination and recommend a "tonic" whose benefit is but temporary.

It is time that parents awoke to the necessity for better and more intelligent care of their children's bodies because it has been found that the physical condition of a child has a very great influence on his mental and moral character and therefore, on his happiness and the happiness of those about him and ultimately, upon his success later life.

No Pessimists.

Any thoughts that may be harbored in the minds of Hereford breeders a month or so ago as to a seriousness in the trend of the business is gradually if not rapidly losing ground, and only occasionally are there any signs of pessimism to be found. There is no panicky feeling, no rush to cover, none of the dire forebodings that some of the weak-hearted ones had felt concerning the market.

Fewer public sales are scheduled now than there were a year ago at this time. In the Sept. 1, Hereford Journal, a year ago a total of 65 sale dates was announced for September and October. In the Sept. 1, issue this year the total was only 51. The country is not being flooded with cattle by breeders determined to get out of the business. It would seem that there is a greater disposition to keep the farms stocked nearer to full capacity.

The general feeling among the breeders—not speculators—is that the business is on a good footing if the breeders will hold their step steady. Any number of new breeders are starting herds, and why should they not? Never have we had better crop prospects throughout the entire country than we have this year, and certainly we lack many, many good cattle yet before we will have enough to go around.

There is just one condition to which every breeder must reconcile himself, and that is a better and more uniform price level. That means lower prices than we have been accustomed to of late years and a more general cash system of operation. The inflated false sale averages have been a serious menace to the good of the business. They have been pernicious from start to finish and the practice has no doubt come to its row's end, though the sting will be felt for some months to come. Fortunately, but few of the substantial breeders of the Nation will have regret at seeing this menace to the cause pass at this time. Fortune would have been more in our favor had the present rejuvenation come two years ago.

With the opening of the fall and winter shows the breeders everywhere seem to have come to a clearer understanding of the situation and to realize the folly of any imaginary disaster that might befall the business. We know where we stand and may expect to see decidedly more vim to the purebred Hereford market within the next few months than the faint-hearted predicted a few months ago. There will be no panic, no crash. The Hereford business is on too-solid a foundation. There is too great a need for the improving beef blood of the Hereford.—American Hereford Journal.

THE COUNTY HOSPITAL

One week from Saturday the voters of Randall county will be called upon to pass upon the question of a county hospital for Randall county. As the News sees the proposition, it will be a decision as to whether Randall county is going forward with a step of progress, or remain as we have been in the past and are today.

Naturally the voters will look to the practicing physicians of the community for information as to the needs of the hospital. This whole-hearted endorsement of all of the physicians of Canyon is to be found in this issue of the News. The physicians give eight reasons for favoring the hospital, any of which seems to the News to be sufficient for the voters to favor the proposition with a vote on November 20th.

During the past ten years the News has noticed the passing events of this community pretty closely. Every year the community has been visited by tent shows and money grabbing schemes which take most from the pockets of the tax payers than would the erection and maintenance of a first class hospital. Is the passing of a pleasant moment in a tent show of more importance to Randall county than the lives of the citizens of this community?

The objection has been raised that it would not be self sustaining. Those in position to know are firmly convinced that enough money has been paid by Canyon citizens during the past year to the Amarillo hospital to maintain a first class hospital in this county. Furthermore the Amarillo hospital is usually full and the patient would be much better off in a good hospital nearer home. And simply because Amarillo has a hospital is the least excuse in the world why Canyon should not have one. Perhaps the greatest reason why Canyon has not developed faster is because we have been prone to wait for Amarillo to grab every good thing that comes along rather than get it for Canyon and Randall county.

The greatest reason, as the News sees it, why Canyon should have the hospital is on account of the Normal. Those who waited upon the sick during that terrible epidemic of flu will testify to the great need of more facilities in Canyon to care for the sick. If one of those who passed away during that epidemic might have been saved, the expenditure would have been justified. No voter in Randall county would hesitate for a single moment to spend his last cent were the life of his boy or girl at stake. Is it not important then that the voters tax themselves for the little amount necessary to build a $30,000 hospital to protect the lives of the boys and girls who come here from homes where they are loved as dearly and tenderly as the boys and girls who live in Randall County?

If the experience of other towns count for anything, Canyon and Randall county are more than able to support a hospital. Dalhart, Canadian, Clarendon, all have hospitals, with two at each Plainview and Lubbock. The little town of Spur with 600 less population than Canyon has had a very successful hospital for years.

It seems to the News that everything is in favor of voting for the bond issue on Nov. 20. The tax paying voters of Randall county will be given the opportunity to express their opinions.

The very great majority accorded the republican party at the polls last week should not turn the heads of the leaders. The next year or two is certain to be a very critical period in the history of America. The people have not so expressed confidence in the republican party as they have desired a definite and pronounced desire for a change in the policies of government. The republican leaders have it in their power to make or forever break the party. Every act of Woodrow Wilson for the past eight years was the subject of bitter attack in the campaign. Even the Federal Reserve Bank was questioned. With its great majority in congress, the republican party can turn down all of the helpful legislature Wilson and his party enacted. If this is the program, there will be another cry of "Turn the rascals out" four years hence.

Randall county made a phenomenal record during the war in Red Cross work. The peace program of the Red Cross is as important as was the war work, but very much less spectacular. Every person in Randall county who was interested in the Red Cross during the war should be as greatly interested in the Red Cross now. Take a membership in the Red Cross for the coming year. That is an appeal to every man, woman and child in Randall county.

The rains of the past few weeks have been very fine for the wheat raisers of the Panhandle. An increase in the price of wheat and cattle would be the best news that the farmers would like to hear.

Every fellow connected with the A. E. F. has vivid recollections of the happenings two years ago, this morning. Two years is not enough to blot out the memory of the hell that reigned on earth which suddenly ceased, followed by the unbelievable calm.

Special Election
THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Randall.

To the resident property tax paying voters of Randall County, Texas. Take notice that an election will be held on the 20th day of November, A. D. 1920, within Randall County, Texas, to determine if said county shall issue bonds and if a tax shall be levied in payment thereof, in obedience to an election order entered by the Commissioners Court on the 11th day of October A. D. 1920, which is as follows:

On this the 11th day of October, A. D. 1920, the Commissioners Court of Randall County, Texas, convened in regular session, at the regular meeting place thereof in the Court House at Canyon City, Texas, all members of the court, to-wit:

- C. R. Flesher, County Judge.
- W. C. Baird, Commissioner of Precinct No. 1.
- Parker D. Hanna, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2.
- J. J. Bauer, Commissioner of Precinct No. 3.
- E. E. Adams, Commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

Being present, came on to be considered the petition of E. W. Reid and one Hundred Forty-five other tax paying persons, praying that bonds be issued in said Randall County, Texas, in the sum of Thirty Thousand ($30,000.00) Dollars, bearing five and one half per cent rate of interest, maturing at such time as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court, serially or otherwise not to exceed thirty years from date thereof for the purpose of constructing and equipping a County Hospital, whether or not a tax shall be levied upon the property of said county subject to taxation for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds, and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity; and

It appearing to the court that said petition is signed by more than ten percent of the property tax paying voters of said Randall County, Texas; and

It is therefore ordered by the Court that an election be held in said county of Randall on the 20th day of November A. D. 1920, which is not less than thirty days from the date of the making of this order, to determine whether or not the bonds of said county shall be issued in the amount of $30,000.00 bearing five and one half per cent rate of interest and maturing at such time as may be fixed by the commissioners court, serially or otherwise, not to exceed thirty years from the date thereof; and whether or not a tax shall be levied upon the property of the county subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity.

Said election shall be held under the provisions of Article 1498, Title 29-A of the Revised Statutes of Texas. Acts of the Legislature 1913, page 71, Section 1 et seq.

All persons who are legally qualified voters of the State and of this county, and who are resident property taxpayers in this county shall be entitled to vote at said election and all voters desiring to support the proposition to issue the bonds shall have written or printed on their ballot the words:

"FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF THE TAX IN PAYMENT THEREOF."

And those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballot the words:

"AGAINST THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF THE TAX IN PAYMENT THEREOF."

The polling places and presiding officers of said election shall be respectively as follows:

Precinct No. 1 at Court House in Canyon, S. V. Wirt, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 2, Jowell School House, I. W. Scott, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 3, Ralph School House, Alfred Bellah, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 4, Rowan School House, C. W. Bryan, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 5, Connley School House, W. E. Bennett, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 6, Trigg School House, Andy Costley, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 7, Highland School House, Geo. E. Mason, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 8, Umbarger School House, B. J. Hess, Presiding Officer.

Precinct No. 9, Edmonds School House, W. L. Deeke, Presiding Officer.

The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the general laws of the State of Texas, regulating general elections, when not in conflict with this statute herein above referred to.

Notice of said election shall be given by publication of a copy of this order in the Randall County News, a newspaper published in the county for four successive weeks before the date of said election and in addition thereto, there shall be posted other copies of this order at three public places in the county one of which shall be at the court house door for three weeks prior to said election.

The County Judge is hereby directed to cause said notices to be published and posted, as herein above directed, and further orders are reserved until the returns of said election are made by the duly authorized election officers and received by the Court.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 12th day of October, A. D. 1920.

(Seal) C. R. FLESHER,
County Judge, Randall County, Texas. 29t4

A Fat Chance

Wonder what the West Texas people now think about their West Texas A. & M. College. The matter was up before the recent democratic convention and was defeated by strictly a partisan vote. West Texas has about as much chance to get an A. & M. College as a snow ball in Hades. We are doubtful if the next legislature will respect the wishes of the party as expressed at the Ft. Worth convention in reference to redistricting. If East, Central, South Texas politicians can figure out an advantage over this section in keeping the district boundaries where they are we will not get any redistricting. Back to the original subject, the West Texas A. & M. College will never be built with the consent of the sections of Texas which is opposed to the growth and development of the West. Perhaps you will state that it was created one time. Well, sure it was, but how was that brought about? It was accomplished through trades with East Texas, who received a number of new educational institutions in return for her support of the West Texas A. & M. project. East Texas got their institutions and West Texas got what the little boy shot at. One of the first acts of Will Hobby's administration was to kill the West Texas A. & M. law, or repeal the law creating it. Was that a square deal for West Texas? Did East Texas carry out her Legislative promises to West Texas? Nix, West Texas was betrayed in this transaction, like she will be in every other transaction for the good of West Texas. We have but one course left us, and that is to continue to agitate a division of Texas, and some day carve us a state of our own out of Texas. We know this division of Texas is an unpopular issue as far as State politics is concerned. Lynch Davidson defeated Lieutenant Governor Johnson because he advocated a division of Texas. Regardless of the results let us continue to agitate a division of the State. We will never get a square deal any other way.—Lockney Beacon.

Using the By-Products

"Livestock simply furnishes a market for the by-products of the farm when things are going right," says H. C. Lookabaugh, "and since good livestock eats comparatively no more than poor ones, the better the animals the higher priced market for the by-products. The sum and total of the production of the farm in one year when you add the produce of the good stock that a man can keep on the average place makes the farmer's annual income nearly treble what it used to be because it helps to utilize all that he produces to the best possible advantage and gives him the opportunity of employment the year round. The wheat pastures that used to go to waste are utilized to the very best advantage, for one acre of good wheat will pasture one good Shorthorn through the winter. If the Shorthorn does not put on at least fifty pounds he is no good. Five months of the winter pasture means 250 pounds of beef, worth at least 10 cents a pound or $25, which is nearly the price of the grain from an acre of wheat. By the use of the straw in bad weather the by-products of the wheat are pretty well utilized. This is just one illustration of the numerous combined profits that can be realized from the ranch when the proper kind of livestock is employed.

Still Wild and Woolly

The incident before the Democratic state convention when the West Texas A. & M. proposition was disposed of disclosed two or three interesting things. One East Texan said that it was his information that West Texas was in much need of conservation, for "hoot owls, prairie dogs and rattlesnakes hibernate in the same hole." Another speaker declared that "a granite hill is, no place for the location of an agricultural college." Another East Texan charged bad faith on the part of the West Texans, in that they would call for a division of the state if they did not receive proper recognition.

Out of which we deduce two pertinent facts.

One is the adverse opinion about the West and particularly the Panhandle tableland, which one speaker termed "a granite rock," in the minds of East Texans. They cannot get into their heads the idea that the Panhandle is a prosperous agricultural country. They will not accept anything but the picture of a desert. They cannot accept the West Texan as anything but a long-haired gun-totin' illiterate character. They will not accept the Panhandler for what he is—the highest type of citizenship in the world.

The other fact is the growing strength of the West, and the nightmare that this causes in the East Texan's mind whenever words about a division of the state are spoken. He knows now that West Texas is waking up, that her citizens are no longer content to be the tax-payers, who also knows now that the question of a division of the state is becoming a live one in the minds of Texans.

East Texas has cracked the slave-driver's whip over West Texas long enough, and West Texas is beginning to demand its own.—Canadian Record.

The Down Trodden (?)

A socialist paper spills a lot of tears over "the condition of the down-trodden wage-worker."

All piffle. There is no such thing as "the down-trodden wage worker" in these United States. The wage-worker is enjoying prosperity and happiness, and works less than most anybody.

The wage-worker works only seven, eight or nine hours, at high wages. When the day's work is done he goes home with the sun high in the sky, and has several hours of time at his disposal without a worry about his work. He gets a good night's rest, hence he should be happy, healthy and with the wages most of them get should be exercising economy and thrift soon be in good financial circumstances if not wealthy.

It is the employer and owner who needs the sympathy of the kind-hearted these days. The employer "stays on the job" for several hours after the wage earner is gone, and maybe works twelve to sixteen hours a day. He has to worry over making the business go, spends sleepless nights, and possibly never has a minute he can call his own. He must meet the increased cost of materials, labor, etc., and must buck the game or go down into bankruptcy. Many employers would like to change places with the wage-earner, for they would not have to work half as hard or long, get more pleasure out of life, live longer and as the bankruptcy courts show would gain financially.—Plainview News.

Build for Love

"Much has been said and written about the present high cost of building. It is true that a house of a given size today often costs twice as much as one of the same size would have cost 25 years ago; but this advance is due not alone to the increased cost of labor and material, but also to the fact that we are not comparing similar types of dwellings. We are comparing a house equipped with heat, running water, hardwood floors and many closets, and frequently with electric lights and built-in furniture, with a mere weather-proof structure built with single floors, no closets, and few or no modern improvements. Many more trades and much more equipment than formerly now go into the building of a comfortable house. It is the amount and the kind of equipment that increases the cost; a house 30 by 40 feet may be made to cost $3,000 or $10,000, according to the beauty and finish of interior wood-work, floors, and walls, the amount of plumbing, the number and kind of fixtures selected, or the kind of heating plant installed. The interest on this increased investment must be reckoned in distinctly human terms. Increased joy of living, greater comfort, finer health and simpler house-work for the women, should be suf-

Every Drop of Your Blood Should Be Absolutely Pure

Any slight disorder or impurities is a source of danger, as every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions. Many painful and dangerous diseases are the direct result of a bad condition of the blood. Among the most serious are Rheumatism, with its torturing pain; Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas and other disfiguring skin diseases; general debility, which makes the strongest men helpless, and many other diseases are the direct result of impure blood. You can in a large measure avoid liability to disease by the use of S. S. S., the wonderful blood remedy that has been in constant use for more than fifty years. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly. It is sold by druggists everywhere. For valuable literature and medical advice absolutely free, write today to Chief Medical Adviser, 159 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

YOU ARE ALMOST CERTAIN

To need drugs or drug sundries at any time. For that reason we take extreme care to be prepared to meet your needs. Full lines of the best. Your custom solicited.

BIG REDUCTION SALE

{ WE ARE TAKING OUR OWN MEDICINE }

Next Friday morning at six o'clock the biggest reduction sale that has ever been held in Randall County will start at THE CANYON CITY SUPPLY COMPANY. We, like all other merchants, are over-stocked. For the several seasons past there has been such a scarcity of merchandise, the merchants have only been getting deliveries on about two-thirds of our purchases, but this season they got deliveries on every item they bought. Therefore, all are over-stocked to the extent of about thirty-three and one-third per cent, but just as soon as this surplus is disposed of the merchants will at least get their usual margin of profit based on today's wholesale cost, which will be considerably higher than the prices we are making in this Sale.

The Hope and Advertiser domestic we are offering you on this sale for 22½ cents per yard, we would on today's market sell for at least 27½ cents. The Overalls we offer you at $3.25 in this sale would have to sell for at least $2.50 on today's market. The Outing on sale at 17½ cents would have to sell for at least 25 cents. We are taking the loss ourselves in order to reduce our stock and raise the cash. The Wholesale people must be paid. By this time the people in this section are well posted on prices as the stores in most towns throughout the Panhandle have been sending out circulars announcing sales, and you will find as has always been our policy, we are cutting under the prices made by any of them.

We expect this to be our biggest sale, the sale of all sales, the prices we are putting on our merchandise will surely clear our shelves. We expect to sell lots of merchandise during this sale to people from Amarillo, Hereford, Tulia and Plainview, in fact every special Sale we have put on this season has brought us a lot of Amarillo customers, and they all agree that we have saved them from ten to thirty per cent on every purchase. Amarillo merchants CANNOT pay a 25 per cent operating expense and compete with us in price.

Read over these prices and judge for yourselves. This SALE STARTS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12th, and continues to SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20th. Plan an early visit to our store. First come first served. Our stock will move rapidly at these prices. SALE PRICES ARE STRICTLY CASH. Everything charged will be at the regular price.

The League of Nations

It is now nine months since the League of Nations, provided for in the peace treaty, was officially constituted. During all that time the Council of the League has been in existence and ready to perform its functions. The assembly of the League has been called to meet in November at Geneva. Some forty nations have given in their adherence to the organization; China and the United States are the only nations of importance that are eligible for membership and that still remain outside. It is interesting to consider what the League has actually accomplished so far, and what are the prospects for the future.

In the field of international politics and as an agency for preventing war, the league has disappointed those who expected it to exercise real authority from the very beginning. Persia appealed to the Council to protect it against the Bolshevik invasion from Russia, but it does not appear that the Council was able to take any action that relieved the situation. Poland and Russia have been fighting for several months, and the League has done nothing to put an end to that war or to the other conflicts that are going on in the Near East.

But it must be remembered that Russia and Turkey are not members of the League, and that the present Russian government in particular condemns and defies it. No action that the League could take would be binding on Russia, and no influence it could exert would have any effect at Moscow. The only way it could assert itself would be by force of arms, and the constitution of the League makes the use of force a last resort, by no means easy of application. Great Britain was in no position to take up arms, for the Labor party, determined that England should not fight openly against the soviet government, threatened a general strike if anything of the kind were attempted. With Great Britain's help out of the question, and with the United States not even a member, the League has neither the prestige nor the available strength to take extreme measures. Unless the two great English-speaking nations become full and dependable members of the League it cannot hope for a long or a useful life; while they hold aloof or are prevented by any cause from active support of the League that institution must be a rather dubious experiment.

But though the League has done little to settle the pressing political and military issues of the time, it has not been idle. It has organized a secretarial staff of about a hundred trained men, which is hard at work collecting and arranging material that will be needed when the League is ready to take up the definition of new international relationships. It has appointed a very remarkable committee that has drawn up complete plans for a High Court of International Justice, and it has also selected committees to draw up plans for disarmament, for international organization of health work and for the government of transit on railways and rivers that traverse various countries. It has distributed a number of mandates—with what degree of wisdom the future will discover—and it has constituted a conference that has under consideration the difficult problems of present-day international finance.

On the whole, the League as an instrument of politics, as a council of world government, has so far been of little value; and its future success in that role will depend on the willingness of the United States to come in, and on the restoration of a decent degree of mutual confidence between France and Great Britain on the one hand and Germany and Russia on the other. As an institution for investigating and considering the conditions that the nations of the world face today and for making useful recommendations toward improving those conditions the League has already done much to justify itself.

Fact and Comment

Among the many new kinds of money that have come as a result of the war light, clean inexpensive porcelain coins, if experiments in making them are as successful as to warrant a large issue, will be perhaps the most convenient. A porcelain factory in Dresden, at the suggestion of the Ministry of Finance is investigating methods of making large quantities of two-mark and five-mark "chinas."

For a long time a quiet attempt has been making to raise money for the purchase of Monticello, the beautiful estate of Thomas Jefferson, as a national monument. It is now announced that the fund will probably be complete within two or three months, when the nation will come into possession of a memorial that will keep alive the memory of the author of the Declaration of Independence.

It is a good suggestion that the highway between Boston and Provincetown be named the Pilgrim Highway, and that markers be placed along the road to point places of historic interest. What a relief it would be, and what a benefit, to young people especially, if bill-boards on all our country roads could be replaced by informing historical signboards that should preserve the memory of incidents of local interest!

It was a happy thought to clear spaces in the national forests for camping grounds and to build fire-places and garbage pits. How much they have been appreciated can be judged from the fact that the three hundred and fifty camping places so established in Washington and Oregon were used this year by almost 350,000 people, who have thus become better acquainted with the beauties of their region and have learned to respect the forest rights and to leave things as they find them.

The fact that in the United States of America there are on an average five fires in schools every day indicates that a great many people need to be taught so forcefully that they will never forget it that certain kinds of carelessness actually are criminal. But, besides striving to lower the number of such fires, every community should be absolutely sure that its own schoolhouses are so designed and protected that no fire, if a fire does occur, can convert any one of them into a death trap.

The Dutch wine merchant, Henri Naundorff, who represents himself to be a descendant of Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette's son, is the latest of a long line of historical pretenders who have furnished plots for innumerable historical romances. He has submitted to President Wilson his claims to the "throne of France" and has demanded an immediate reply. Royal pretenders are a fascinating theme for story-tellers. In years to come what tales will be written about descendants of the royal families that the great war has overthrown! In the fall of the Hapsburgs and the Hohenzollerns, the mysterious and tragic doom of the Romanoffs, the extraordinary careers of political meteors like Kerensky, recent years have stored up such a treasure of political romance as few periods in the history of the world can equal.

When the thirteen colonies became a republic, national seals were impressed on two sides of pieces of wax in a form similar to that of coins and hung from state papers by ribbons. Regarding that as clumsy, we soon abandoned the pendant seal and stamped the obverse directly upon the document. Most people have forgotten that our seal had ever had two faces. Now, more than a hundred and twenty-five years later, the National Community Board, which is establishing clubs to train Americans for better citizenship, has adopted the reverse of the old national seal as its coat of arms. It bears an unfinished pyramid as an emblem of the republic and the motto, "Annuit cœptis novus ordo seclorum."

Bill Slow And Henry Dash

Bill Slow's Stock is all out of date, his business in an awful state—no trade comes to his store. His ribbons, dress goods, coats and hats would scare a belfry full of bats, and cobwebs frame his door. Bill thinks to advertise would cost just twice as much as he has lost in waiting for a buyer. But Henry Dash across the way, knows advertising's sure to pay—it draws crowds like a fire. So to our office he comes down, for cuts and ads by Bonnett Brown, announcing special offers. He gives his trade a chance to save; his profits he can closely shave—the volume fills his coffers.

TOPS OF BIG HERD LOANED TO COLLEGE

The Agricultural Department of the West Texas State Normal College has just secured from Tom Cochran the loan of eighteen thoroughbred Aberdeen Angus steers to be used by this department for purposes of stock judging. These steers are the tops of a large herd, and they will be stall fed during the winter months.

In the spring Professor Ives expects to enter these steers in the stock show at Ft. Worth and perhaps Kansas City. The Agricultural department is rapidly equipping itself with concrete material for class study.

Among live stock may be mentioned eight thoroughbred Jersey cows, more than one hundred chickens, and several high bred hogs. The large agricultural barn has ample accommodations for all kinds of live stock, and it is being made good use of for this purpose.

Wayside Items

A few days of sunshine and farmers began to try to see when they could begin work in the fields. Alas, the saying "Three successive frosts and a rain" came true. Ground is again soaked. Quite a lot of rain has fallen within the last few days.

Three rainy Sundays in succession makes the times rather monotonous for some of the young folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McGehee returned Thursday from their Oklahoma trip. They were accompanied by Miss Beulah Rogers of Guymon, Ok., who is visiting relatives around Wayside.

The belated Hallowe'en party at Wayside school house came off Saturday night. Those attending report pretty good attendance and a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mayo and daughter, Miss Toy, of Goodnight, formerly of Wayside, have gone to Mineral Wells to spend the winter.

J. C. Mayo has moved to the Schee place formerly owned by Woodward.

M. A. Butler left Friday morning for Shamrock on a pleasure trip.

Misses Birdie Lou Lane and Bernice McGehee came from Canyon to attend the Hallowe'en party Saturday night.

The Non-Partisan League in the State of Washington has nominated a complete state ticket and as in other states, will make an active campaign to extend its program of state ownership of industries.

By combining with radical elements of various political groups, the league hopes to secure sufficient votes to put its candidates in office.

It is a mistake to belittle the power and influence of this organization. While the chances for its success in various western states where it is operating seem small, still there is an undercurrent of unrest throughout the nation which is hard to define and which no man can control. Various causes might unite this restless element to support a radical program and over night give the league control of a state as was the case with North Dakota.

A good general does not trust to luck, and from a political standpoint this is no time for the people of this nation to trust to luck in the way of political experiments such as the Non-Partisan League advocates.

In the next few years we must meet the competition of the world and we cannot do it successfully if our industries are disrupted by socialistic experiments which the league would put into effect if it had the power.—Lovington (N. M.) Leader.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL W. S. AMEND CAR FRIDAY NIGHT

An attempt was made to steal the car belonging to W. S. Amend at the family home in the north part of town Friday night.

While the party was trying to crank the car, Mr. Amend heard the noise and went out to investigate. Officers were called, but evidently the would be thieves became alarmed, as they made their get away minus the car very soon after being discovered.

Burning the Barn

The president of a large manufacturing industry in the South, who feels that it cannot afford to permit its name to be published for fear of the effect on its banking connections writes in regard to the work of the Federal Reserve Board as follows:

"It is a pity that the Government, through the Federal Reserve Bank, should use its powers to depress business, as those of us who only ask for legitimate profits almost face bankruptcy, although thoroughly solvent. While this campaign was directed primarily as they say against profiteers, it seems at the present time to have affected practically every one, not only the merchant and the manufacturer, but the farmer as well.

"I fail to see how reserves are going to be increased and our capital increased without increasing farm and factory products, but with the banks all scared and business paralyzed and the wheels of commerce locked, production is being decreased instead of increased. I wish I knew what might be done to help the situation—possibly you can do something."

This is only one illustration of the culmination of the work which the Reserve Board undertook early last winter and which the Manufacturers Record vigorously attacked at that time and which we have been fighting ever since. In breaking down business in order to deflate wages and commodity prices the board has carried on a policy as wise as that of a man who would set fire to his barn, with all of his livestock and crops in it merely for the purpose of getting rid of a few undesirable rats. The board has started a conflagration which has already cost this country some billions of dollars and will cost it many more billions unless the conflagration can be stopped. It is time for every intelligent man in the country who recognizes the danger of the present situation to enter his protest and keep on protesting against a work which has frightened all the bankers in the country and caused a halt in all business operations.—Manufacturers Record.

Birds Coming Back

In some localities quail have multiplied their beneficial numbers. Today there are fields where Bob White's cheerful whistle may be heard. This is encouraging. It means less insect depredation; less expensive spraying and poisoning; fewer enemies of the field, orchard and garden. It means that pleasant memories will be recalled when the fields were blessed with birds and men had few worries about insect enemies.

Fields that once contained no quail owing to the pot hunters, now protect and nourish these birds, friends of farmers. Posting fields and rigid laws against trespassing have called back the birds in many localities. In one neighborhood where no birds were seen a few years ago, there are numbers, and the birds seem to feel at home in the fields, fearing no evil.

This shows what protection can do for the birds. It should remind us of other species and other friends that need our protecting care. It should warn us against laws that give hunters the privileges of the fields. It should convince the skeptical that conservation of wild life is feasible and highly desirable from an economic point of view.—Farm and Ranch.

Over Half of Your Membership Dollar Works at Home

See how large a percentage of your Red Cross membership dollar stays right here in your own community.

Fifty cents of every dollar received from annual membership dues is retained by your local Red Cross chapter—

- to fight disease and make your own community a healthier, safer place for you and your family
- to teach emergency aid in case of accident
- to save the babies and guard the family health by teaching home hygiene, care of the sick, and home dietetics.
- to give immediate relief to victims of epidemics, explosions, floods, fires or similar calamities
- to aid in the care of crippled children, deserted mothers, financial stress, etc.

What Is Done With the Rest

The balance of all membership dues is forwarded to the Red Cross national headquarters at Washington. National funds are composed principally of voluntary contributions. These include amounts still on hand for uncompleted war projects. There is also included the amounts received from membership dues—these National funds are used partly for relief work in foreign lands and partly for national relief work in the United States, including

- assistance to soldiers, sailors and marines in camps and hospitals
- assistance to families of service men
- assistance in sudden disasters
- public health and nursing service
- development of Red Cross service program in the United States.

The management cost at National Headquarters and the 14 Divisions is less than 4 per cent of the total expenditures.

When your Red Cross spends, it spends patriotically, conservatively, wisely. In joining the Red Cross you can join without misgiving, armed with the knowledge of just where and how your membership dollar will be spent. Join the Red Cross or renew your membership during the

PLANNING FOOTBALL SEASON THE NEXT SCHOOL YEAR

President J. A. Hill is making arrangements now for the football season of next fall.

The games for next season are being scheduled at this time. Only the best colleges available will be played next year, including those of this section of the state. Some big teams will be brought into this section if possible.

The team got a bad start this year by not having a coach until some time after school started. This will be avoided next fall by having a coach on the ground in order to keep in correspondence with members of the team and getting them to Canyon and in uniform the first possible moment.

Athletics will be given a more prominent place in the Normal hereafter than in the past.

The Methodist Sunday School On November 7, 1920, regardless of very hard rain early in the day, there was an attendance of 108 persons at the Methodist Sunday School; 9 present in the Young Men's Class, 18 in the Young Women's Class, and only two teachers of the entire school were absent.

A big Christmas program has been planned. Come and take part in it; you are needed.

Do you want to join a "live-wire" Sunday School? Then come to the Methodist church next Sunday, November 14, and join our big membership contest, beginning between the "Reds" and "Blues."

The Soil Robber

Is the renter a criminal? There are plenty of people who will tell you he is. They'll say he's a blight, a national menace, a land-looting lubber who is ruining the country. On the other hand, there are folk like William Johnson, whose searching article on tenantry is coming in an early issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

He says it's time we were getting a correct view of this important question—and then he carefully outlines that correct view.

He shows how tenantry has become almost the only way to land ownership in these days when land is high. He shows that the tenant, on the average, is a farmer of ability, who is enriching the farm he hopes some day to own, not a soil robber who sees no further than immediate cash returns. You'll be interested in this splendid story—if not as a landlord or tenant then as a friend of good farming practices. And you'll be interested, too, in the many other articles on tenantry that will come to you in the next 52 weeks, along with sound guidance on every other farm problem and entertainment for the whole family—if you send me $1.00 today.
