

APRIL TRADES DAY IN CANYON NEXT MONDAY

MASS MEETING TONIGHT DISCUSS GAS QUESTION

EDWARD R. MAYER OF AMARILLO WILL MEET
CANYON CITIZENS AT COURT-HOUSE
REGARDING SITUATION

Edward R. Mayer and associates want to bring natural gas to Canyon. Mr. Mayer has a proposition to present to the people of Canyon, which he believes to be very interesting. He wants to take the matter up with all of the citizens in one body, and has therefore asked the Commercial League to invite those people of Canyon interested in seeing natural gas brought to Canyon to attend a mass meeting at the district court room tonight at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Mayer has not asked for a franchise from the city officials, but desires to take the matter up with the citizens before filing this request with the city officials. Every city official is expected to attend the meeting tonight in order to gain an idea of what Mr. Mayer will ask when he presents his application for a franchise.

534 Scholastics in Canyon District

Mrs. M. C. DeGraffenreid has completed taking the scholastic census of the Canyon Independent School District and finds that there are now 534 children of scholastic age in the district. The total number last year was 463.

The increase of scholastics will work a hardship on the school's finances in that the state will give no aid for the coming year as under the law those districts which have 500 or more scholastics are cut off from the state aid. The district received from the state aid $1725 for this year's work. The trustees were hopeful of receiving even a larger amount for the coming year, but this source of revenue has been cut off, and will add so much more to the local taxes of the district.

The veto by Governor Noff of the $4,000,000 for the school fund will have an effect upon the Canyon schools, but so far no one has been able to hazard a guess as to what effect.

Thirty-Nine at Tuesday Luncheon

Tuesday at noon the regular monthly luncheon of the Randall County Commercial League was held at the Ideal Cafe dining room. Thirty-nine attended.

The following were at the luncheon and business session: J. G. Allen, A. N. Henson, E. E. Foy, C. L. Condrey, C. F. Walker, Lee Foster, R. B. Davis, A. B. Haynes, H. C. Roffey, H. O. Price, C. W. Warwick, S. B. McClure, A. W. Blough, G. M. Goode, T. C. Thompson, B. B. Cluck, W. W. Kuehn, P. V. Winstead, C. M. Ackerman, B. M. Johnson, Dewey Foster, Baxter Jordan, Alton Abbott, C. L. Sone, W. B. Estes, Mrs. Estes, A. N. Ansley, W. J. Flesher, J. M. Vetesk, E. H. Powell, J. W. Reid, L. F. Sheffy, M. S. Bishir, F. R. Phillips, Fred H. Ives, C. D. Lester, O. N. Gamble, S. B. Orton, J. A. Hill.

Internormal Debates On Friday Night

The Internormal Debates will be held Friday night, in which the West Texas State Normal College will have two teams.

Mody Boatright and Lester Hill with Virgil Dodson, alternate, left yesterday for Huntsville where they will meet the Huntsville team. Miss Mary Morgan Brown accompanied the team. D. T. Tarlton and I. C. Baucom with Lewis Hill, alternate, will meet the Commerce team in Canyon.

The subject for debate is the open shop. Both teams are said to be in excellent condition, and have the subject matter well in hand.

County Fair is Drawing Attention

The Randall County Fair on September 28, 29, 30, is gaining the attention of the big associations of the county, as witnessed by the fact that C. F. Walker has received the offer of three prizes from the American Hereford Breeders' Association. $10 will be given to the Champion Hereford Bull, $10 on the Champion Hereford female, and $25 on the Champion Hereford Calf of the Randall County Calf Club. There are about fifteen boys in the Calf Club at this time.

Mr. Walker has received three donations from farmers which will be sold at the Trades Day sales to create a fund to finance the County Fair. Gust Leseberg has donated an O. I. C. barrow; Bob Stratton a Hereford bull and John Knight a Duroc gilt. Donations of merchandise, machinery, poultry, hogs, cattle—anything of value will be received in order that the Fair may be properly financed.

The finance committee recently appointed for the Fair Association will be called to meet within a short time in order that plans for the Fair may be perfected.

ROOMS STILL IN GREAT DEMAND BY COMMITTEE

Frank R. Phillips reported at the luncheon of the Commercial League Tuesday that he was still needing a large number of rooms to accommodate the 600 boys and girls who are coming here next week for the District Interscholastic meet. The city was taxed to the limit last year to take care of these young people, and every available room will be needed next week.

There is also a great need for more rooms to care for the summer normal students.

"The Creation" April 14

Haydn's "The Creation" will be presented at the Normal Auditorium next Thursday night, April 14 at 8 o'clock. The final rehearsal of the entire production by the soloists, chorus and orchestra will be held at the auditorium Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department of the Normal, will direct the production.

"The Creation" is being given for the benefit of the Gregg Cousins Memorial Fund, and tickets will be sold throughout the city. More than two hundred visitors from outside Canyon are expected to attend this musical affair.

Miss O'Connell in Recital

Miss Sadie O'Connell of the Public Speaking Department of the Normal gave a very pleasing entertainment at the Auditorium Friday night, presenting "The Prince Chap." Miss O'Connell was at her best in the production and her presentation of the different characters evoked very high praise from the large audience.

Come to Canyon to live.

SPRING MEETING PRESBYTERY HERE ON NEXT WEEK

THIRTY DELEGATES TO

ing the Meeting.

The address will be a popular lecture to which the public is most cordially invited by Rev. Hollifield. Mr. Burma is one of the recognized leaders of education in Texas and his address will be highly entertaining and instructive.

Dr. B. Wrenn Webb, of Dallas, Synodical Home Missionary, will deliver another strong address Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Dr. Webb is one of the most forceful speakers of his church.

About thirty delegates are expected from the surrounding towns to attend this meeting of the Presbytery. Mr. Hollifield most cordially invites the people of the town and community to attend all of the program.

The regular business starts on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The retiring Moderator, Dr. M. W. Cunningham of Amarillo will address the Presbytery at that time.

The ladies of the church have issued a cordial invitation to the adult members of the church to meet the guests at a luncheon to be served at the Palace Hotel, Tuesday at 12:30.

Baseball Team Suffers Defeat

The Normal baseball team is back from the first trip, having lost four of the five games played. The team suffered hard luck in the way of sickness, sending home several of the best men. When time came for the last game, there remained with the team only nine men.

The team was defeated by Wayland in the first game 13 to 15; the Normal took the second game from Wayland by a score of 7 to 8; two games were lost to Abilene Christian College by the score of 2 to 3 and 3 to 0; Simmons won game by the score of 7 to 0.

Clarendon will be here Monday and Tuesday, for two games.

Estes Urges the Abo Pass Route

W. B. Estes, secretary of the Amarillo Board of Development, was in Canyon Tuesday to attend the luncheon of the Commercial League. Mr. Estes made the trip to Canyon primarily for the purpose of boosting the meeting in Stratford Friday of the Abo Pass representatives, which is for the purpose of bringing the Transcontinental traffic through this part of the Panhandle.

Mr. Estes has statistics showing that the average spent by a car spending the night in a town is $23, and that every car stopping in the town leaves over $3. This money is not spent exclusively with the automobile and accessory dealers, as is generally supposed, but goes to all lines of business. Mr. Estes urged that a strong representation go from Canyon to the Stratford meeting.

Mr. Estes spoke of the veto of the West Texas A. & M. College bill by the Governor. He wished to bring to the people of Canyon the message that Amarillo had pledged itself to the fullest development of the West Texas State Normal College, and felt that the addition of Industrial Arts courses and the expansion of the Agricultural department was something to be desired and worked for by all of the Panhandle country.

The League voted to send Pres. J. A. Hill, T. C. Thompson, E. H. Powell, C. W. Warwick and S. B. McClure as the official representatives.

GOV. NEFF'S VETOS

Governor Neff won almost unanimous approval from the people of Texas when he entered office and started in on his program of retrenchment and reorganization of the state's business.

He won the approval of his latest enemies upon the good judgment he used. A little later it became evident that the legislature would not stand too much dictation from the chief executive, and a breach was caused between Neff and the legislature over the program Neff had adopted.

Now comes the veto of the West Texas A. & M. College bill and that of the $1,000,000 for the common schools of Texas.

The veto of the first bill is not a surprise to those who have closely watched the Governor, and knew what was passing in his mind regarding the expenses of the state government. No matter the motive of the veto, or the justice of the veto, as the Governor may seem himself justified in the act, he has brought down upon his head the wrath of all West Texas. If the Governor does not use his authority upon the special session of the legislature and demand re-districting of the state, West Texas will have suffered another great injustice, and one which will cause the most conservative to believe the time ripe for severing relations from the old section of the state.

The Governor may be right in his veto of the four million for the common schools. No doubt some of this money has been wasted. The school question is the biggest question confronting the people of Texas. It is absurd to appropriate large sums of money for schools and at the same time issue certificates to just any person who wants to make a livelihood by teaching. If the teacher is not up to standard in her educational requirements, the state might spend hundreds of millions and never benefit the schools of the state.

The correspondents at Austin suggested several weeks ago that the Governor might use the blue pencil when the educational bill was laid before him, which bill carries the appropriations for the different state educational institutions now in existence. This bill has already been pared to the core by the Board of Control and every item passing the appropriations committees will be closely scrutinized.

The News sees danger ahead for Governor Neff. If he uses the veto power as freely upon other educational bills as he does upon those passed by the regular session of the legislature, he will find himself opposing a candidate in the next election whose platform will demand the establishment of the West Texas A. & M., the proper support of the rural schools, and a liberal educational policy for the educational institutions of Texas. Such a platform would appeal to all sections of the state, and Governor Neff might find himself without a job in January 1923. The News trusts that the friends of Governor Neff will realize this danger and use their influence that he may not cripple the schools of Texas which are in so much need of more money to increase their usefulness to the state.

Some years ago a chap went into North Dakota and told the farmers they were being robbed and discriminated against, and that he had concocted a solvent or socialistic pill that would renovate their systems and cure them of their ill p. d. q. They tried it out, and now they have kicked the political doctor out of the State and are trying to remedy the ill his visionary system caused. Banks are failing and credit is badly impaired. It is always just that way whenever socialistic dreams are indulged in and put into practice, as witness Russia today. They are all wondrously beautiful and appealing in print or on paper, but they never pan out, because of the inherent selfishness of human nature.—Pampa News.

Our Uncle Sam is held in respect and awe by the Germany officials, even though there is a deep seated disdain and hatred among this class of people for America. The two soldiers who went after Bergdoll have been released from the German prisons. There was no legal reason why this should have been done. There was a moral reason, and a still greater one—fear—which prompted the act. The next act is to get that traitor Bergdoll.

The Chillicothe News remarks sagely, "If some of our people who complain about hard times would only take their money out of the bank and pay their debts, times would be a whole lot better in Chillicothe." The same thing might be said about some Quannah folks, of our acquaintance. Usually the man who does the most kicking should be kicked instead for the good of the whole community.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

When business is poor, the merchant should reach out for it. Instead of it, the majority advertise only for more business when they have already all they can handle.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

Let George Do It

Letting George do it will never make a city of Canyon. Letting George do the work and pay all the expenses is a sign of smallness which will always keep a small town small. Join the Randall County Commercial League. Pay your one dollar per month and go to work making Canyon a better town.—Randall County News.

It is the policy of some people to let George do the work. This is not only the practice in town building, but it has become the custom in church work. There are some in all churches, as well as in other matters, who want to sit back and let the others bear the financial burdens of the church and community. A man's religion, if measured by his contributions, would be found very small. In fact some people imagine that salvation is free, and act accordingly. There are too many church members accordingly. We once heard of the boys who sing "Salvation is Free," and men who testified in meetings in this wise: "I thank God that salvation is free. I have been a member 30 years and it has only cost me a quarter." Some men are carboles on the backs of cities and churches. They are so stingy that they allow their neighbors to carry all the load. In the opinion of the Beacon one of these never-contributors at church, and never-givers to town enterprises have about as much chance of going to heaven as an avowed infidel.—Lockney Beacon.

From "Our School"

A good paper coming to our exchange list is "The Prairie" published semi-monthly by the students of the West Texas State Normal College at Canyon. They are studying journalism at first hand and publishing an excellent sheet. Their special edition of March 7th, was unusually interesting.—Quannah Observer.

That the West Texas State Normal College is "our school" to all this vast territory is evidenced in many ways, constantly. This is one institution against which there is no jealousy evidenced, and the spread of its influence for good is large. We too, enjoyed "The Prairie," for it's worth the money.—Amarillo Daily News.

Grain and Freight

Randall County News: The wheat fields are very pretty now, and it is a great inspiration to view the prosperity that is abounding upon every hand. There is about as much grass right now as there was in May of last year. The fine fall and winter moisture is making the Panhandle section a most delightful place to live.

Stato Press, Dallas News: There is nothing lovelier, of the same size, than a spreading field of greening wheat. It is cooling to the eye, inspiring to the mind and encouraging to the esophagus of man. By the way, the wheat farmers have been as grumble some as the proverbial army in Flanders, but it appears that they have a good deal of the advantage of the cotton farmers. Wheat, in the final capitulation, is still in style. Flour bread is still fashionable and the ladies, bless them, still are eating it in larger proportion than they are wearing cotton. Wheat is of some use at home when it cannot be sold at the market in town. You can't starve a person as long as he owns wheat. The price of wheat today is twice as high, to the farmer, as it was in 1913. The price of cotton, to the farmer is lower than it was in 1913. Yet there are cotton farmers within the sound of S. P.'s influenza who expect to raise a cotton crop with which to buy their wheat bread. Also, their mules' bread. Corn is far cheaper to the Western grower than it was a year ago, but to the Southern farmer it is still as high as a cat's cap-sheaf. The freight rate from the Western grain fields to the Southern cotton fields adds about sixty cents a bushel to the price of corn. This one item alone makes it impossible that cotton farmers can ever buy cheap Western corn again. Western meat is in the same category. Never, in simple truth, was the time so propitious for home-raised bread and meat.

Concept

American Legion Weekly: "State why you believe the prisoner is insane," directed the learned Judge. "He always bets heavily on two pair in a poker game." "Is a man insane when he bets on two pair?" "In my opinion he is." The judge's face grew purple. "Ten dollars," he roared, "for contempt of court."

Moral Tonic

George H. Hubbard: "Nothing that comes out of a bottle will do you any good. What you need is a moral tonic." These words were spoken by a regular physician to a business man, overworked, nervous, weary, irritable, who had called for treatment. His doctor was a man of broad mind and sterling common sense. After a thorough examination and skillful questioning he had given his conclusion. The physician assured him that he had no disease, physical or mental, but had fallen into the grip of morbid emotions, had permitted hatreds to develop within him. He had feelings that he could and health and his position in the business world. The physician insisted he must recognize his responsibility personally and use the strong moral forces within himself to correct them. Moral tonic is what the individual needs and is what the whole Nation needs so much now.

HERE IS OUR COST MARK

The cost system we use is in plain figures only. The middle figures being the actual cost. In other words the first and last figure are blinds. Here are a few examples:

If an article cost $6.50 It would be marked like this 26504	If an article cost $17.50 It would be marked like this 317502
The first figure—2 and the last figure—4—being blinds—leaving $6.50.	Here the first 3 and the last 2 don't count—leaving $17.50.

Every article in our house has the wholesale cost and the retail selling price marked on it. Pay no attention to the retail price. Just read the wholesale cost yourself and that's the selling price.

If It's a Battery Be Sure It's New

It isn't good business to buy a battery that may be months old when you get it.

The only safe thing to do is to buy a Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation that has been shipped and stored bone dry, and consequently is brand new when it begins to work for you.

Drop in some time and let us explain this process to you and tell you why it is only possible with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Boy Beats Dad Feeding Cow

Leland Cayton is a member of Mr. Phillips Agricultural Class at the Normal. Leland has for his project a milk cow. His record started the first of January. During the first month Leland fed the regular ration that his father had taught him to give to a milk cow. His feed cost him fifteen dollars. The milk flow was sixty gallons for the month. Leland decided that fifteen dollars was too much for a cow to eat when milk was selling for thirty-five cents per bushel, so he worked out a "Book Ration." He cut the ration to twenty-eight cents per day and averaged his two gallons of milk during February. During March he gave his cow 124 pounds of cotton seed meal, 196 of Maize Chops, 496 of sorghum hay and 248 of alfalfa. His total feed cost for March was $7.68. He paid himself ten cents per hour for his time and had a profit on his milk at 40¢ gallon, $24.80. His total milk for March was 62 gallons or two gallons more than his fifteen dollars worth of feed produced during January. Mr. Cayton has not raised any serious objection to the new ration.

Habit as to Teeth

Habit is simply cultivated instinct. It is just as easy to cultivate good habits as it is to cultivate bad ones, if you start right. The habit of cleanliness is one that stays for life, because it is comfortable and gives a feeling of respectability.

Every child that has been taught to take care of its wonderful little body, to wash hands and face and ears and teeth and take baths and to know the happiness of clean clothes, will carry that habit through life.

The personal habits that we form in our first twelve years are the ones that mold our personalities for beginning good habits early, particularly with the teeth. Children's mouths should be examined every three to six months. All cavities should be filled and every strain removed.

If temporary teeth are allowed to decay, food will pack in between them and make the gums sore.

Then the food will be chewed upon one side of the mouth until the other side becomes tender and the poor little fellows try to mince their food with their front teeth. It is impossible for anyone to masticate—that is, to chew his food properly, with his front teeth alone.

If the food is not chewed well and mixed with saliva, digestion is very difficult. A great deal of energy is wasted in trying to digest food that is sent to the stomach in chunks.

Nature tries to develop every child into a healthy adult. Every ounce of food that goes into a child's stomach should be converted into energy, but instead of making energy, unchewed food only makes more work.

Aside from all the pain and poison from pus and the long list of diseases that follow decayed and abscessed teeth good digestion would be worth every effort that we could make to keep the mouth healthy.

Children with good teeth will grow up into men and women with good teeth because the good tooth habit grows. Did you ever know a healthy happy person with a poor digestion.

Fact and Comment

"Your name, Sir?" asked the doorknocker of the new ambassador from China. "Sze," sezee.

If you have subdued a pair of skis this winter, you have rosier cheeks and a greater respect for the law of parallels.

The terrific, smashing ocean waves that demolish much property during storms along the coasts seems to be successfully combated by the new "air breakwater." It is a line of perforated pipes placed under water parallel to the shore line some two hundred feet from the property to be protected. It is fed by a supply pipe connecting with an air compressor on shore. When the air is turned on the ascending and expanding air bubbles break up the waves and create an area of comparatively calm water.

Motor fuel with an alcohol base may be the kind that will drive our automobiles in the not distant future. Men of science are working hopefully on the problem of producing cheaper alcohol both from plant growth and from mineral sources. The fuel is said to deliver more power to the gallon than gasoline. It does not carbonize, and it requires less lubricating oil. A small amount of benzol and either added to the alcohol makes an efficient mixture but the price of eighty cents a gallon still leaves much to be desired.

"An unfair decision by the umpire is usually enough to win the crowd's favor, at least temporarily, for its victim," says the world-champion tennis player. "Such decisions ought not to be protested, but the man who gets the benefit of one of them should promptly equalize matters by unostentatiously losing a point. He should not hit the ball into the net with a jaunty air of 'here you are,'—a bit of playing for effect that the crowd resents,—but should contrive to miss by a bare margin." That is the attitude of a gentleman and therefore of a good sportsman.

"Sadly in need of paint," is the verdict that anyone must pass upon the houses that in an automobile trip he will see along town and country roads while the trees are still bare. The "paint-up and clean-up" weeks that we had before the war we dropped for much-urgent business and because of the high price of paint and labor. Now when prices are a little easier, we should make up for the years of neglect. A house that is bare of pigment and dry of oil is all the time going backward a little by reason of the assaults of the weather; and the still high cost of building a new house makes it well worth while to preserve an old one.

Recent experiments on simple-minded patients to determine the mental effect of suggestion shed light on the stimulating power of praise. It was found that repeating to a patient often enough that he is sick or unfit or dull will almost certainly convince him that he is, whether he is or not. On the other hand, insisting that he is able, competent, excellent, is almost certain to stimulate him up to that level. It is almost the same with healthy and normal persons. The old theory of driving workmen or soldiers or pupils is giving away to the better plan of leading them. Happy the teacher who can hit upon that quality in his pupil which deserves approval and by encouragement and constructive advice can lead him to a more difficult task.

After you have paid the waiter your restaurant bill and a satisfactory tip you realize the truth of that comforting old saying, all things come to him who waits.—Philadelphia North American.

Detecting Picture Frauds

The day of the forger of old masters seems to have come to an end. An infallible test of genuineness is said to have been discovered. It is to have pictures photographed with X-rays. Recently at the Academy of Sciences the report of Dr. Andre Cheron on his experiments was presented and photographs were submitted showing results.

One picture by Van Ostade of men drinking at a table, when submitted to the X-ray test showed that it had been painted over a study of dead birds. Another, of a royal child of France of the fifteenth century, now in the Louvre, when photographed, showed that a black surface had been painted about 100 years ago over a picture of yet earlier date.

A third example was of a crucifixion by Engelbrechtsen, which was believed to be genuine. Unfortunately the X-ray showed that below the figure of a woman had been painted the figure of a monk by an earlier artist. The proof in the test lies in the fact that the X-rays can show what kind of paint has been used, and to what period it belongs. The old masters used metallic paints, which hold the rays much more visibly than the vegetable paints of nowadays.

Also there is a difference in the glaze used, which immediately dates the picture. The old glaze was much more transparent than the modern, and tells at once the date of the picture when submitted to the test.—Paris Cable to Victoria Colonist.

My back was sore and stiff a great deal of the time and mornings when I first got up it was especially so. My kidneys were very weak and acted entirely too often. TRADE MARK

More and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood, feed, grinding feed, churning, washing, furnishing water in the house, making electric light possible in the house and around the barns, so that as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is the ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on down the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work, or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer but is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Our allotment is limited to so many each month. Let's have your order now.

Watch for the announcement of the date of the Fordson Demonstration at our garage. A free school on the operation of Tractors will be conducted.

Y. W. C. A. Hike

Ho! All ye members of the Y. W. C. A. Don your picnic garb and with carefree stride, let's hike to a place where the water nymphs dwell.

Bring a cup to be sure and fruit or cakes, and meet, be prompt, at the Western gate, at four-thirty o'clock on March twenty-ninth.

Surely only dire necessity could keep one from accepting such an alluring invitation.

The fifty members of the Y. W. C. A. who gathered, as specified, at the west gate Tuesday afternoon will always remember that hike as one of the jolliest and best ever. Clad in comfortable outing clothes, and burdened only with tin cups and interesting looking packages, they set out.

The picnic ground was reached without mishap, and the business of making way with the contents of said packages was promptly begun. Exact statistics are not available, but it is estimated that enough bacon, onions, bread, pickles, cake, fruit, and coffee was consumed to feed the inmates of Huntleigh Hall for several days. The studious ones had to "eat and run" but a little group stayed to tell "thrillers" around the camp fire till only the embers remained.

Altogether it was a most enjoyable affair, and those who were compelled to miss it are very unfortunate individuals.

Treatment for Bores

Mrs. I. N. Hicks, Early Settler, Interviewed

Mrs. Hicks Tells of Early Days in Canyon and Surrounding Country.

The reporter for the "Prairie" spent a pleasant hour with Mrs. I. N. Hicks, listening to reminiscences of early life in Canyon and on a nearby ranch. Mrs. Hicks and her husband came here in 1890, just one year after the town was founded. They arrived in town in time to witness the first celebration of the founding of Canyon. There was a barbecue with plenty of meat, cooked as only people of that time could cook it. There were probably eight families living here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks lived in town at first because they could not get possession of the four sections on which he had filed, until the cattlemen gave up their leases of the good land. Mrs. Hicks built the first house east of the square; Mr. Conner, the founder of Canyon, had given her two lots provided that she build.

Near the forks of the Terra Blanco and Palo Duro, now the home of J. L. Prichard, is a log house which was built before 1890. This was the ranch house of the T-Anchor ranch, owned by an English syndicate, represented here by Mr. John Hudson. Mr. Will Beard was foreman of this ranch.

The present American Hotel was first built as a court house. Its services were so varied that we might call it a real community center. There were no churches, therefore the court house was used by various denominations. Then when the needs or desires of the time called for a dance, the court house of course must be secured. Sometimes the church people objected to having to clean the court house after a dance, for this was necessary before religious services could be held. Mrs. Hicks thinks a majority of the citizens were opposed to the dances.

In the first year there was the inevitable saloon, and later practically every other door was a saloon. All this happened, though Mr. Conner opposed the establishment of the first saloon and continued to do so until saloons were abolished.

The little calaboose, of which we heard a great deal recently, was built in the first year, but Mrs. Hicks does not think it was often used—probably because summary justice was meted out to offenders by cowboys without resort to legal forms.

The wagon house and yard must have been an interesting place. Here freighters could leave their wagons and teams for the night and could find a bed in a nearby house. Some very interesting stories must have been told as these travelers sat together before going to bed. Mrs. Hicks remembers a Mr. Warwick who freighted through here coming from the south usually, though sometimes he got his supplies in Wichita Falls. He drove perhaps thirty head of oxen hitched to a wagon and there were probably twelve wagons, one fastened to the other. Mr. Warwick always took his wife along with him. A small house was built on the running gears of a wagon. There were windows and, though it was not very commodious, it was arranged with shelves so that there was a place for everything. A cow was led along to furnish them with milk. Mrs. Warwick seemed to be well satisfied with this life.

Canyon, too, had its Indian scare. A stage driver from Amarillo reported that a band of five hundred Indians were on the war path and were sweeping up the canyon with the intention of destroying this town. Earthen breastworks were hurriedly thrown up around the court house. Women brought their guns intending to help defend the place. Some of the people, especially women, hurried to Amarillo as a place affording better protection. However, the Indians did not come. They had quarreled with some whites, killed a few, and burned a hotel, but they did not go on the war path.

The loneliest and hardest time, especially for the women, was that spent on the ranch. A woman might be alone with her children for days. She had nothing to fear, however, because every cowboy on the plains treated the women with the greatest respect. There were times when the men on the small ranches, "nesters," found it difficult to make a living. Mrs. Hicks says they made the mistake of trying to farm instead of devoting all their land to cattle grazing. One year the grasshoppers took everything, even eating big holes in a coat when left lying on the ground. This year was followed by two droughts. It was a discouraging time for the "nesters." Then sheep raising was tried but proved a failure. At last the lesson was learned, that cattle grazing was the surest and best.

Mrs. Hicks remembers the cowboys as the best people in the world. Now and then they fought among themselves, but they did not hurt each other much, though of course, sometimes a man was killed. They were honest, much more than the people of today. There was no petty thieving, though cattle were stolen at times. Mrs. Hicks remembers the county treasurer, "Uncle George," bringing her a bag containing several thousand dollars. He threw it down on the trunk and asked her to take care of it, for he was going away for a few days.—The Prairie.

What Do You Know?

A Wichita Falls cafe owner was fined $25 for serving blue-jean to his customers instead of cream. His plea was that "first come first served" policy had taken all the cream off the milk and left the late-comers with nothing but skimmed milk. He was fined $25 on general principles.

How a prospective mother prepared for baby's coming

Of all the vital adventures in life, the birth of a baby is the climax of nature's most wonderful evolution.

During this period, nature is supposed to be preparing the internal organism of a woman for a safe and speedy delivery; but it is more the exception than the rule when nature, unaided, performs her part at the crisis in a manner to relieve pain and contribute to comfort.

"I was afraid," writes a prospective mother, "until an experienced mother told me about MOTHER'S FRIEND,"—but now I cannot recommend MOTHER'S FRIEND too highly for I know it helped me wonderfully, and I can almost say my baby was born without pain. At the present time I am using it again, as I do not want to go thru the ordeal without it."

Three generations of prospective mothers have used MOTHER'S FRIEND. When gently applied, during the period of expectancy, it soothes the fine network of nerves, lubricates the broad, flat, abdominal muscles and prepares the way for an easier, quicker and practical delivery.

Panhandle-Plains Historical Society

Enthusiasm and Breadth of Vision Characterize Purpose, Scope and Plans of Members.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society was formerly organized Feb. 5, 1921, though for three or four weeks previous the plans were being formulated by a small group of students and faculty members. The following officers were elected:

President—Mr. L. F. Sheffy.
First Vice-President—Mr. T. M. Clark.

Second Vice-President—Mr. Robert Hill.

Recording Secretary—Miss Amy Daniel.

Corresponding Secretary—Mr. Mody C. Boatright.

Treasurer—Miss Lizzie Kate Smith.
Custodian—Miss Malone.

The Society was organized to collect data concerning the life of the first settlers in the Panhandle-Plains region, while some of these people are still living, that first-hand information might be obtained. Thus there will also be some opportunity for receiving corrections. Those interested were convinced that the longer the matter was delayed the more difficult it would be to secure reliable information. This organization hopes to secure material which may be incorporated later into a book or books giving a vivid description of the early life here which will be an example of the dangers, the hardships, the sorrows and the simple pleasures of the pioneer in all similar regions in the United States. To give local color and vividness to such work, access must be had to full descriptions of the every day life of the pioneer. No one can give these so well as the pioneer himself. Therefore this Society will spend its energies for some time in collecting material with little or no attempt to classify or verify it, for this work can be done later. Just now an attempt is being made to persuade the remaining early settlers to write memoirs. Many of them are unwilling, usually through diffidence, and cannot be persuaded that their experiences are unique and should be preserved for future generations. However, not all have this false modesty; so gradually information is being collected. Mr. Sam Goldston, Quay, New Mexico, has promised to write his memoirs and thinks he can do it in two or three months. Others are willing to be interviewed. Valuable aid has been offered by Judge Browning and Judge Turner, of Amarillo, and by Miss Hammer, of Claude, in collecting this data. Thus slowly the desired information is being collected. The amount collected does not seem so small when one considers the fact that the officers are all busy people who can give only a minimum of time to the work of the Society.

Through the intelligent efforts of Mr. Baker and others who have volunteered their services, the Society expects to collect a specimen of every animal now on the Plains. The first efforts will be made to procure those that are in most danger of disappearing. The Society will have these mounted and carefully preserved. Mr. Baker will welcome aid in procuring these, and wants everything from the tiniest animal to the largest, from the most common to the most rare. A like effort will be made to collect the flora of the Panhandle-Plains region. This work is also under the direction of Mr. Baker. As material is collected, both fauna and flora, Mr. Baker will carefully classify it, and see that this classification is recorded.

From time to time we read of groups of men going to European countries, but especially to the Near East, where they expect through the science of archaeology to learn more of the history in the dim past—thousands of years ago. We, too, hope to do the same thing though we grant it is on a smaller scale. Later students may not be amused with "squeezes," but something equally interesting and valuable will be secured. Archaeologists of repute have stated that the Panhandle offers the best known field in the United States for archaeological investigation. These men offer their services if only the money can be found for absolutely necessary expenses. Moreover, all archaeological specimens thus discovered will be turned over to the person or organization furnishing the money for expenses. While it still seems visionary, the officers hope sometime to have this work done and secure fruits for the Historical Society which, in other words, means its preservation within and for the Panhandle, where it should be retained. Miss Olive Dixon, of Miami, is interested in this phase of the Society's work and will doubtless be able to accomplish something.

Miss Walker will take care of the geographical and geological division of the Society's work. She will need help in securing this collection but when the nature and scope of the Society's work become better known we are confident that a valuable collection will be secured to supplement the nucleus we now have.

The Society is trying to arouse the interest and secure the co-operation of all holders of relics and curios in the preservation of this very valuable material, which will go far to interpret the life of the people. If left in the hands of private individuals such material will soon be destroyed or lost. If it is placed with the Society thru gift or loan, it will be carefully preserved, it will be open to students who are doing research work, to mere visitors, the curious, and thus it will be where it will give the most pleasure and will be of most benefit.

This Society expects to be a permanent organization, though the personnel will change. It will not only collect material of the past which seems valuable but will try to select that of today which may become valuable in the future. Thus its work should continue through the years, growing more valuable as its officers become more experienced. When the funds become sufficient to warrant such an outlay, the Society will publish a journal, to be distributed among its members. The membership fee is now $2.50 per year or $25.00 for a life membership. Thus being a member, though not active, will help in furthering a worthy cause.

A number of mistakes will be made since the membership is composed of amateurs, but these errors will be corrected from time to time as they are detected. The Society welcomes suggestions, from non-members as well as members, and will adopt such as seem feasible. The Society's roll of the earliest settlers, now living, is incomplete. Help is needed to make this complete.

Delicate Question

The goose had been carved and everybody had tasted it. It was excellent. The negro minister, who was the guest of honor, could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"Dat's as fine a goose as I ever see. Brudder Williams, whar did you get such a fine goose?"

"Well, now, pahson," replied the carver of the goose, exhibiting great dignity and reluctance, "when you preach a special good sermon I never axes you whar you got it. I hopes you will show de same consideration."
—From the Prairie.

The Last of The T-Ancor's

The T-Ancor Ranch was composed of over a hundred sections. It extended from the Palo Duro to Terra Blanca creeks. Headquarters were about one mile north of where the West Texas State Normal College now stands. In 1885 Mr. Munson of Denison, Texas, the owner, sold the ranch together with twenty-five thousand head of cattle to an English syndicate for one and a half million dollars.

Over on Dixon creek near Panhandle, three thousand head of steers were kept in a large pasture. About fifteen punchers, among those who still live in Randall County are Bill Baird, Ed Baird, and Isa Jenkins, were sent over to get them. Just as the last steer was driven out of the gate, Tom Sanders tied a buffalo head to the end of his rope and threw the loop over the head of the largest steer. The maddened animal struck out thru the whole herd with the buffalo head flying behind him. The cattle became excited, and the herd stampeded. The lead men did not try to stop them, but turned them toward camp. The leaders reached Chalk Hollow, which is about fourteen miles east of Canyon, about noon, but it was dark before the last of the stragglers were brought in. The next day the entire herd was turned loose at the fork of the two creeks, about one mile north-east of Canyon.

One man was sent to Greer County, Oklahoma, another to the Pecos River, New Mexico, and another to Big Springs, Texas, to work the ranches this way.

The wagon-boss, Charley Clark, was so anxious to have every head rounded up that he had the boys rope and lead out of the canyons the cattle that they could get in no other way.

By fall the manager had turned over the twenty-five thousand head of cattle and was ready to give possession of the ranch. The owner was so well pleased with his manager's work that he presented him with five thousand dollars and the best two horses on the ranch.

The Panhandle Twenty Years Ago

In an old settled section of country changes are made very slowly. The population remains largely the same from decade to decade and in conditions in the country in general change very slowly. In a sparsely settled section of country, especially after settlement begins, changes are made very rapidly both in population and occupation of the people. The Panhandle Plains section of the country is a splendid example of the latter.

Twenty years ago the Panhandle was a sparsely settled country and was almost unknown, except as a cattle country and was generally regarded as a part of "The Wild West." Twenty years goes back almost to the early days in the history of the settlement of this section. At that time there were several large ranches, here and others had been broken up just a few years before and the cowman had moved further West. However, the whole country was practically an open plain and there was very little wire fence which today forms a net work over the whole country, especially from Amarillo to the south. No man had less than a section of land he did not think he could make a living with less and the average man held from two to four sections. As mentioned above stock raising was the principal industry. Previous to 1900 what crop was made consisted principally of sorghum, milo maize and millet.

At that time Amarillo, which was but a small town as shown in the cut in this issue, was the chief center of trade for a very large section of country reaching to the south below the Lubbock country, Canyon, Tulla, Plainview, Hale Center, and Lubbock were but mere villages and the towns of Happy, Kress, Abernathy, Stator, Post and many other towns in the section were not in existence. The post office at Happy was located about two or three miles Southeast of the present town and was one of the rendezvous of the freighters of that day. The present town of Kress was called Wright and consisted of a post office and general merchandise store combined. Hale Center which was then a rival of Plainview was the chief center of the Abernathy section as Lubbock was for the country surrounding it.

The people who were living in this country at that time did not dream that within two decades the places which they are today and that this whole country would be changed so rapidly from a stock raising country to an agricultural section which produces an almost unlimited supply of small grain crops, and one of the leading wheat producing sections of the nation.

The people who were living here years ago were made up largely of the old pioneer type of families which played such an important part in the early development of the West in every part of the United States. They saw very little of each other in those days except on Sunday, which was the day for visiting for the country folk, provided there was no preaching to attend. People did not wait for an invitation to visit a neighbor, but "loaded" the family into a wagon or buck in the early morning and drove over to the neighbors (sometimes ten or twelve miles) and stayed until late in the afternoon. Any travelers who chanced to pass through the country, whether a coffee agent or what not, were always welcome to spend the night and longer if they desired to do so. These visitors were never charged for their lodging.

The occupation of hauling supplies from Amarillo first, and later from Canyon, furnished a means of livelihood for quite a number of people. As a lad, the writer was for several years, a member of that group and was almost a weekly visitor either to Canyon or to Amarillo. It usually took six full days to make the trip from Plainview and three or four days longer from Lubbock. The "freighters" were paid from twenty-five to thirty cents per hundred weight for hauling and one wagon and team could haul about thirty-five hundred at a trip. However, one wagon and team was a rare thing in this business. As a rule each man had four horses and two wagons. It was no uncommon thing to see ten and twelve horses strung out in pairs drawing four wagons. The whole outfit was driven with a single line attached to the lead horse. This was known as the "jerk" line because by a few rapid jerks on the line the lead horse would swing rapidly around to the right and the other teams would follow. By a slow pull on the line the teams could be turned to the left. Enough food supply both for the driver and the teams was taken on each trip with the exception of a few canned goods. Those freighters did not follow a section line as people are forced to do today, but after they got a few miles south of Canyon they would make a straight cut to Happy and to Tulla. About the only thing which broke the monotony for these freighters was the fast mail backs which whizzed by each day, one going north the other south. These backs were always heavily loaded with express and passengers. They were drawn by two little mules which were driven in a half run for fifteen miles, then they were exchanged for a fresh team which was driven at the same rate for another fifteen miles and so on until Lubbock, the destination, was reached.

About 1907 and 1908 this occupation was made a thing of the past by the completion of the railroad to Plainview and on to the south. Prospectors were brought in by the hundreds on special trains from every section of the United States. The towns began to grow; farm houses began to be built on every section and later on every section and within a few years the Panhandle was made a completely changed country. An old settler said to the writer just a few days ago, "Those were hard days but they were good days and we enjoyed living them in spite of the hardships." It is with equal pride that we have witnessed the rapid progress and development of this country in many fields of endeavor.

In our progress the people have not neglected to provide the education of its future citizens. Schools all over this country have made much progress during recent years, and within the past decade the West Texas State Normal College has been made the "Educational Home of the Plains." The chief desire of this institution is to serve the people of this section in every way possible. The Panhandle Historical Society which is enthusiastically supported by the whole faculty and the entire student body of this institution now offers its services to the Panhandle, not only for the purpose of collecting relics native to this country, but it also earnestly solicits the sympathy and co-operation of every old settler in this country, and all others who are interested, in the collection of the material for a true history of the early Panhandle. The society would be glad to get in touch with every old settler who reads or hears about this article.

English Club Meets

On Saturday, March 19, the English Club held its first regular meeting at the home of Mr. Morelock. Final examinations and grades were entirely forgotten while the following program was rendered by the Journalism department:

Evolution of Printing Machinery—Frank Hill.
Organization of the Staff—Lizzie Kate Smith.

The Reporter and the News Story—Mody C. Beatright.

After the program a social hour was enjoyed. Delicious candies and apples were served. The Club admitted several new members. The next meeting of the Club will be at the home of Miss Ritchie on April 4.

Big Prairie Fire of 1908

March the fifth, nineteen hundred and eight, is a day that will long be remembered by pioneer plainsmen of the Panhandle community, as the day of the big prairie fire.

The fire started from a steam tractor that was plowing sod; a spark escaping from the smoke stack ignited the dry grass. The wind was blowing a gale from the southwest which spread the fire quite rapidly.

Farmers could see the smoke for miles around, and began to plough fire guards around their farms and farm buildings. The fire burned all night with a high wind sweeping it on.

About nine o'clock the next morning it reached territory that had been burned two weeks before, and as the wind changed to the north, the fire headed in the opposite direction, but it was soon under control.

The fire had burned over sixty thousand acres, the two together comprised about eighty thousand acres.

Several farm homes were destroyed, feed and livestock were burned, and miles and miles of fences ruined; but no lives were lost.

That Boy Was Real Stuff

Industrial Student (Camp Hill, Ala.): A one-legged man brought a crippled boy over to our school in a buggy and left him. It was a sharp trick. He had no money to pay railroad fare back, and there was nothing to do but to take him. The boy soon developed into a very capable worker. There was nothing that he could not do. For several winters he was boss of the wood crew, and only last year he had charge of the school farm. I know of no braver spirit that has ever entered the school than this boy. Well, he has now gone to work in a cotton mill. Last Sunday he came over here to visit me, and just before he left he handed me $10 and said that it was to go toward our million dollar endowment fund.

At Last—A Tube That Closes Punctures

You Pull the Nail and
Keep Moving

It Adds 20 to 50 per cent to the Casing's Life

With the Compression Inner Tube there are no long waits on the road—no dirty back-breaking tire changing—nothing to do but pull out the nail and keep moving. Here's why: Compression tubes are about three times as thick as ordinary tubes. Their circumference is greater than the inside circumference of the casing. They are moulded with corrugations which conform to the smooth surface of the casing when deflated. The air pressure, instead of stretching the tube, COMPRESSES it. Thus when the nail is removed the hole closes up automatically. No air is lost!

Compression Tubes—once inflated—are always firm—the proper air pressure is constantly maintained. They add many miles to the life of the casing practically eliminates pinching and rim-cuts—makes the car ride easier. You are not only able to say—GOODBYE PUNCTURES—when your car is equipped with Compression Tubes—but you save money on tires, gasoline, etc. You owe it to your sense of motoring economy to investigate Compression Tubes. Come in and let us SHOW you this puncture-closing tube today.

DIGEST OF THE NEW CERTIFICATE LAW

Important changes are made in the manner of the certification of teachers for the Texas Schools in the new certificate law just passed by the Texas Legislature. The nomenclature is entirely new, and the manner of obtaining them makes the chief distinction as to class. Recognition is made of the difference in obtaining certificates by examination and by work done in college, and provision is made for the gradual raising of the standards of the certification of teachers.

The law is now in effect. It does not invalidate any certificates previously issued, and allows those working toward certificates this year time in which to complete them under the old law, but this must be done prior to September 1, 1923.

Kinds of Certificates as to Where Used
There are three kinds of certificates as to the grades in which they are used. They are as follows:

1. Elementary Certificates: Elementary Certificates are valid only in grades one to seven inclusive.
2. High School Certificates: High School Certificates are valid in grades one to seven inclusive, and in certain class high schools, depending upon the class of the high school certificate one holds.
3. Special Certificates: Special Certificates are valid only for the special subject in which the certificate is issued.

Kinds of Certificates as to the Manner of Obtaining

Certificates obtained under the new law are secured in one of two ways, as follows:

1. Certificates may be obtained by examination. All such certificates are designated under the new law as second class certificates.
2. Certificates may be obtained on the basis of credits earned in a Texas State Normal College, any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Such certificates are of the First Class.

Elementary Certificates

1. Elementary Certificate of the Second Class: This certificate may be obtained by passing examinations on thirteen subjects, as follows:

Eleven prescribed subjects: spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, English grammar, elementary physiology and hygiene, school management and methods of teaching, descriptive geography, Texas history, United States history, and Texas school laws relating to teachers and pupils, and

Any two of the following: agriculture, elementary composition, drawing and music.

2. Elementary Certificate of the First Class: Elementary certificates of this class are obtained only on the basis of credits earned in a Texas State Normal College, any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A two-year Elementary Certificate of the First Class may be earned by completing the first year work of a Texas State Normal School.

A three-year Elementary Certificate of the First Class may be earned by completing the second year work of a Texas State Normal School.

A four-year Elementary Certificate of the First Class may be obtained by completing five full courses of any Texas State Normal College, any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction; provided that the five courses shall include at least one course in English, one course in education dealing especially with elementary education, not more than two courses shall be in the same subject, and all five courses shall be such only as the college accepts as credit toward its diploma or degree.

A six-year Elementary Certificate of the First Class may be earned by completing ten full courses in any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, other than a Texas State Normal College, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction; provided that the ten courses shall include at least two courses in professional training.

This certificate may be made an Elementary Permanent Certificate after five years of successful experience in teaching in the elementary grades; provided that an additional year of work in a Texas Normal College, or other institution as ranked by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction as first class, may be substituted for one year of experience in teaching.

A Permanent Elementary Certificate may be earned by completing the second year of work in a Texas State Normal College; provided the applicant has specialized in the "materials of elementary education," including not less than thirty-six recitation hours in practice teaching in the elementary grades, under the supervision of a critic teacher.

High School Certificates

High School Certificates may be obtained in two ways: by examination and by credits done in an approved college.

1. High School Certificate of the Second Class: These certificates are obtained by examination only. An applicant must be examined in the subjects for an Elementary Certificate, as before enumerated, and in addition thereto seven subjects as follows:

Three specified subjects: civil government, higher English composition, and elementary psychology applied to teaching; and

Any four of the following subjects: ancient history, modern history, botany, American literature, physical geography, algebra, and the elements of plane geometry. Valid for two years in the elementary schools, third class high schools and unclassified high schools; but not in first class and second class accredited high schools.

2. High School Certificate of the First Class: These certificates may be obtained on credits from a Texas State Normal College, any University, senior college, junior college, normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A two-year High School Certificate of the First Class may be earned by the completion of five full college courses; provided at least one course must be in English, at least one course must be in education, not more than two courses in one subject, and each of the five courses shall be such only as the college accepts as credit toward its diploma or degree.

A four-year High School Certificate of the First Class may be earned by completing two year's work in a college as enumerated in paragraph two of this section; provided at least two of the ten courses shall be in education, one of which shall bear upon training for high school teaching.

A six-year High School Certificate of the First Class may be earned upon the completion of three years in a Texas college, as hereinbefore set forth; provided that at least three of these fifteen courses must be in education, one of which must bear upon training for high school teaching, and one of which courses must include a minimum of thirty-six recitation hours of practice teaching.

A Permanent High School Certificate may be earned by satisfactorily completing four year's work, leading to a degree, in a Texas State Normal College, any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction; provided that this work shall include four courses in education, one of which shall bear upon high school teaching, one of which shall consist of the study of methods and practice teaching.

Any person who holds a diploma conferring upon him the degree of Bachelor of Arts, or any equivalent Bachelor's degree, or any higher degree, from a college as ranked in the preceding paragraph, who has not had four full courses in education, but who can furnish satisfactory evidence of having had two courses in education, one of which bears on high school teaching, and having three year's experience in teaching, aggregating twenty-seven months, subsequent to taking his degree, may receive a Permanent High School Certificate from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Provided that a person receiving such a diploma or degree from a Texas State Normal College, University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and who has not had three year's experience in teaching may receive a Temporary High School Certificate valid for four years.

Special Certificates

The law authorizes the issuance of certificates to teach kindergarten and special subjects. These certificates require that college admission be met and that the certificates be issued upon the work done in colleges approved as herein before set forth.

1. Kindergarten Certificates: A person who has met the admission requirements of a Texas Normal College, any university, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and who has satisfactorily completed one year's training in a kindergarten training school of the first class, shall be entitled to receive a Kindergarten Certificate, valid for two years. This certificate may be extended for one year; provided the holder shall complete the equivalent of three courses of additional work in a kindergarten training school ranked as first class.

A person who has met the college entrance requirements of any Texas State Normal College, University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and who has satisfactorily completed a one year college course in a kindergarten training school of the first class, shall be entitled to receive a Kindergarten Certificate valid for four years. The holder of this certificate is entitled to have this certificate made permanent upon satisfactory teaching experience of three years in kindergarten work.

The law provides that it shall be illegal for a kindergarten teacher to teach in a kindergarten school without a kindergarten certificate.

2. Special Certificates in Special Subjects: Certificate authorizing the holder to teach the special subjects of agriculture, domestic art, domestic science, commercial subjects, public school drawing, expression, manual training, physical training, public school music, vocal music, instrumental music, industrial training, or foreign languages, may be granted to applicants as follows:

An applicant who has met the entrance requirements of any Texas State Normal College, University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and in addition thereto, has satisfactorily completed ten college courses, at least one of which shall be in English, at least one of which shall be in education, and at least one of which shall be in the special subject on which the certificate is issued, these courses to be taken in any Texas State Normal College, or any University, senior college, junior college, or normal college, which is ranked as first class by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall be entitled to receive a Special Certificate to teach the special subject upon which the certificate is issued; provided that one of these courses shall include special methods in the special subject on which the certificate is granted, valid for three years. Provided further that fifteen college courses completed in a like manner as heretofore set forth in the preceding two-year course shall entitle the applicant to receive a four-year certificate. Twenty college courses satisfactorily completed as before set forth leads to a Permanent Special Certificate.

It is specially provided that the holder of a Special Kindergarten Certificate, or a Special Certificate in commercial subjects, public school music, public school drawing, or physical training, on the completion of three years of teaching the special subject during the validity of his certificate, or certificates, shall be entitled to receive a Permanent Special Certificate, valid in the public schools.

After September 1, 1925, supervisors and teachers of special subjects shall be required to hold a High School Certificate or a Special Certificate.

The term course as relating to college work, wherever it occurs in this act is to be taken as designating not less than the equivalent of 108 recitation hours of work.

Ignorance

An old country couple came up to Lannon town, to see the place where the roses on the cheeks of the maidens outshone the roses round the door.

They saw many things that they had never seen "down on the farm," and then along the road came rolling an electric trolley.

They saw one or two other people get on the trolley when it stopped quite near where they were standing, so they thought that they, too, would like a ride.

As they were proceeding on the journey they noticed the conductor stop the car every now and then. Once he called out, "St. Mark's Church," and a man got out; a little later, when the car stopped, it was James street, and then Victoria Bridge.

"Don't see think us ort ter be gettin' art?" the farmer's wife whispered to her spouse.

"Shish!" replied the man. "Don't show your ignorance! We've got to wait till our names are called!"

One thing that you cannot repair if you once wear it out is your welcome.

ELIASVILLE LOOKS

LIKE A GOOD TOWN

Eliasville with the coming of its first railroad and the activity in its surrounding proven oil fields looks like the best town in the country at the present time to make money.

The activity of the city and the prosperity of its business men are beginning to attract men with capital from all parts of the country. The opportunity to make money in Eliasville are many even for the man who arrives with only a modest capital.

In view of the spring rush and the added business that the new railroad is going to bring, it is easily understood why Eliasville people are often heard to say that they are doubling their money on 60 day investments.

The new railroad town of the Texas fields has a period of healthy growth to look forward to. It looks plain that her business men are in a position to make good money.—Adv.
