

ELECTION FOR CONSOLIDATION OF THREE SCHOOL DISTRICTS WILL BE HELD SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK

PAVING BONDS CARRIED 118 TO 1 IN CITY ELECTION

CITY COUNCIL WILL CANVASS RETURNS AT REGULAR SESSION

Bids On Paving Will be Called For as Soon as City Bonds are Approved and City Has the Money.

The paving election Saturday went over strong for street improvement, the vote standing 118 in favor of paving with only one vote cast against the proposition.

It will be recalled that in the two previous elections only two votes were cast against the paving proposition.

Mayor J. D. Gamble stated Monday morning that it was necessary that the votes in the paving election be canvassed at a regular meeting of the city council, and therefore this work cannot be done until the first Monday night in April. Mayor Gamble states that there are a number of things to be done in connection with the paving that may be proceeded with and acted upon at the next meeting and that no time will be lost owing to the fact that the canvassing must be done at a regular meeting.

The mayor states that the council has definitely decided not to ask for bids on paving until the bonds have been approved by the attorney general, and that the council is certain that the money will be forthcoming.

The council recently decided to ask for bids upon two kinds of paving:

First—A five inch base, topped with one inch of concrete.

Second—A five inch base, topped with paving brick.

As recently stated in the News, the civil engineer employed by the city recommended that the council adopt the first kind of paving for various reasons: There is certain to be cracks show up in the base, and these cannot be mended after the paving brick has been put down. The one inch concrete top on the base will last for eight to ten years on streets where the traffic is no heavier than in Canyon. By the time this top is worn off, the base will have been fully settled, and if defective in any respect, may be put in excellent condition, and the brick paving placed on top. By that time paving brick is liable to be much cheaper than the present time, and in addition the city would have about ten more years' use of her paving with not a great additional cost.

As educational center of Northwest Texas, Canyon should have the greatest and best school possible, and this consolidation is one of the first steps that will further the fame of the city and county as being interested in the best and most progressive educational advantages offered by any city in this entire section.

The election will be held at the court house for the voters living in the independent districts, while the election in the two common school districts will be held at the school houses.

The polls will be held open during the legal hours Saturday, and all taxpayers interested in the good of the school should go to the polls and vote for the consolidation.

As educational center of Northwest Texas, Canyon should have the greatest and best school possible, and this consolidation is one of the first steps that will further the fame of the city and county as being interested in the best and most progressive educational advantages offered by any city in this entire section.

Vote for consolidation without fail!

Aunt Lou Foster, Aged 91, Died Early Wednesday Morning

Aunt Lou Foster died yesterday morning at the home of her son, R. E. Foster, with whom she has made her home since the death of her husband, T. A. Foster, nine years ago.

Aunt Lou was 90 years, five months and 6 days of age. She was born in South Carolina on October 9, 1831. She moved to Texas with her family 52 years ago, living in Hunt county. The family moved to Randall county 32 years ago.

Mrs. Foster leaves seven children, five boys and two girls. They are: Jim, Bob and Joe of this city, Stark of Medicine Mound, Geo. of Haskell, Mrs. Martha Jack of Lamesa and Mrs. Mary Bradley of this city. All will be present at the funeral excepting George who is in bad health. Another son, Will, died about five years ago.

Aunt Lou has been a member of the Methodist church for 75 years. She always took a very active part in the work of the church and it was her great joy to always attend when the weather was good.

She had been ill but a few days before death came. During the past year she had been kept at home most of the time, but always enjoyed visiting with friends and members of her family. She took a great interest in the affairs of her children and her grand children.

The funeral services will be held at the Methodist church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. H. Hicks, pastor of the church, and the body will be laid to rest by the side of her husband who preceded her only a few short years to the other world.

BIGGEST SNOW OF YEAR FELL LAST THURS.—7 INCHES

WEATHER VERY WARM AND THE SNOW MELTED RAPIDLY.

Big Rain Sunday Night, Starting at Ten O'Clock and Continuing Throughout the Night.

The News reported in our issue of last week that snow had started to fall early that morning.

The snow continued all day Thursday and until midnight Thursday night. The snow amounted to about seven inches in all, and was the biggest snow this country has experienced in a number of years. It was considerably heavier than the snow of two weeks ago, although it was not so long in falling.

This snow was exceptionally wet, and the moisture from it will be of great benefit. However, being accompanied by a very high wind, the snow badly drifted and on the bare fields where there was no vegetation or furrows, most of the snow was blown off. On the south sides of the building the snow was piled five feet high Friday morning.

The temperature remained warm throughout the storm, the snow next to the ground melting throughout Thursday night, and had very largely disappeared by Sunday morning.

Big Rain Falls.
Rain started to fall Sunday night at ten o'clock and continued throughout the night. The rain amounted to more than two inches in Canyon.

Reports from all directions indicate that the rain was general.

The farmers of Randall county are feeling much better since the moisture started in two weeks ago with the big storm and blizzard. The ground is now in fine shape for spring plowing and it is expected that there will be a large acreage of spring grains planted. Indications are that there is a fair acreage of wheat alive and that the wheat crop in Randall county will not be an entire failure this year.

The snow and rain assures early grain this spring, which is always most acceptable to the man with stock. Conditions generally are picking up in Randall county since the good moisture has come.

Radio Plant Will Be Established Here By Arnold and Potter

An order has been placed by A. J. Arnold and Earl Potter for a radio outfit large enough to receive messages from a distance of about 1500 to 1800 miles.

Mr. Arnold states that the plant will be installed in his building on West Houston street, now occupied by L. Wirt's garage. The windmill tower back of the Crystal Cafe will be utilized for the overhead work. Mr. Arnold bought this building last year, and intends moving the battery business to this building within a few weeks. The radio apparatus will be installed in the rear of the building.

Mr. Arnold states that he has ordered the radio outfit from several different houses before he was able to find a house which would promise delivery upon the large plant that he wanted. The radio is becoming so popular that the orders are coming in fast to the plants making this apparatus. It is very easy to find small outfits that will operate over a few miles but Mr. Arnold wanted one that would bring Canyon in touch with Denver, Dallas, Houston, Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago.

The radio is rather a complicated affair, but is being used extensively all over this country by amateurs. The small types of plants may be constructed at home. Mr. Arnold states that after the plant is installed and perfected it is his plan to install an amplifier that will bring Canyon in touch with the concerts and grand opera of Chicago. The operators must obtain a license, but this is only a mere form.

No sending device will be installed in Canyon at this time, as the receiving end is the only thing that seems to be of interest in the smaller towns. This business has not yet reached the commercial stage, although the radio is very popular in sending stock markets to the smaller communities.

It is not known just how long it will be until the apparatus will be received in Canyon.

CRIMINAL CASES IN DISTRICT COURT THE ENTIRE WEEK

J. W. TURNER GETS YEAR IN THE PEN UNDER BOOZE CHARGE

Suspended Sentence for Forgery—Colthorp and Hull Get Three Years Last Night.

This week has been taken up in district court with the criminal docket. The heavy snow and storm of Thursday prohibited many witnesses getting to Canyon, and nothing was done in court Thursday and Friday.

The murder case against Henry Burns, transferred here from Deaf Smith county had to be continued on account of the witnesses being unable to reach Canyon.

The grand jury resumed its sessions yesterday, after a recess of ten days. The murder case against Tex Thornton transferred here from Potter county was dismissed owing to insufficient evidence.

The case against J. W. Turner, the justice of the peace at Umberger, charged under indictment of the grand jury with transporting liquor, was called Saturday morning. Mr. Turner was not in court and Judge Bishop cancelled his bond and sent Deputy Sheriff John Fry out after him with a bench warrant. Mr. Turner was in custody of the Sheriff during the trial.

During the trial Saturday, Mr. Turner was charged by the court with "making threatening gestures and menacing facial expressions" while W. C. Leonard was testifying for the state. Judge Bishop fined Turner $100 and sentenced him to three days in jail.

The jury brought in a verdict of one year in the penitentiary for Turner. It will be remembered that J. W. Turner was arrested in Canyon a few weeks ago by Sheriff W. C. Black, his car searched, and found to have a jug of whiskey. Mr. Turner has lived in Randall county for about thirty years, and has been justice of the peace at Umberger for about fifteen years.

Fines were entered Saturday morning of $25 each against Newt Reeves, T. V. Reeves, E. Newman, Will Cage, A. J. Walker and W. R. Moody for being late in court. Another fine of $25 was entered Tuesday morning against Newt Reeves for being late in court.

The liquor cases against J. B. Weaver and A. F. Bohne were dismissed in court as they were charged only with possession, which is not against the law under a recent ruling of the higher courts.

Charles Fogerty was tried in court Monday charged with the theft of a load of wheat from Newt Reeves. The jury found him guilty and assessed the penalty as two years, but gave him a suspended sentence.

J. D. Colthorp and Charlie Hull, who were convicted and given three years each in the penitentiary by the jury last week, were given a new trial. The second trial was held yesterday, and the jury brought in a verdict at 11 o'clock last night giving them three years each. During the argument before the jury, Alex Mood, lawyer for the defendants, was fined $10 by the Judge.

When the verdict was brought in by the jury last night, Alex Mood fell to the floor unconscious and was in a serious condition during the night. He is thought to have been stricken with apoplexy. He seems to have recovered this morning.

W. J. Fleisher has been district attorney during this term of court and has secured a conviction in every criminal case tried.

GOVERNOR'S VISIT HAS BEEN POSTPONED UNTIL MAY FIRST

President J. A. Hill received a letter yesterday from Governor Pat Neff stating that the proposed visit of himself and members of the Board of Regent had been postponed from April 10 until May 1st.

The exact date of the visit will be announced during April.

COLD WEATHER STOPS PRACTICE

Snow and cold weather do not mix well with baseball practice, and consequently little has been accomplished on the baseball field this week by Coach Burton's squad.

A jam-up schedule is being arranged for the squad, which includes the biggest and best teams of this section. It is hoped that the kinks in the schedule will be ironed out so that it may be announced next week.

PROGRAM FOR CIVIC ATTRACTIVENESS PRESENTED TUESDAY AT LUNCHEON BY MEMBERS OF THE NEW CIVIC LEAGUE

CIVIC CLEANLINESS IS BIG STEP TOWARD THE GOAL—COMMITTEE WILL WORK ON THE VARIOUS PROBLEMS OF CANYON.

The Canyon Civic League was in charge of the luncheon program of the Randall County Commercial League Tuesday and under the direction of the president, Mrs. C. R. Burrow, a very interesting program was given.

L. G. Allen presented a report of the committee on constitution and by-laws, these being adopted by the League as read by the chairman.

G. G. Foster was called upon to discuss the vacant lots of Canyon. He stated that this question was about as big as the corporate limits of Canyon. After discussing a program with his committee, he wished to suggest that energies be directed this year only to the eight blocks around the public square. He had been able to find persons to take charge of six of these blocks, who had promised to see that the block assigned to him would be kept clean and in good condition this year. He hoped to find some one for the other two blocks. The committee felt that it would be too large a job to attempt to keep all of the vacant lots of town cleaned up.

D. A. Shirley talked upon the subject of mosquitoes and flies. Mr. Shirley stated that he had lived on the Plains for a number of years and had examined over a hundred mosquitoes but had found only the culex variety, which was the harmless variety, so far as carrying disease was concerned, although they made it rather uncomfortable for people, especially in passing through weed patches. Mr. Shirley stated that it ought to be impossible for a mosquito to hatch in a live town. Pouring oil on stagnant water would prevent all mosquitoes. Most of them hatched in Canyon come from the tin cans in the alleys in which water is allowed to stand.

Flies, Mr. Shirley described, as being like the poor—always with us. But a live, up-to-date town ought to be a flyless town. It ought not to be necessary to have fly traps setting around. If the town is cleaned up there will be no flies. The best breeding place for the fly is the stable. A fly will lay 120 eggs, and continue to do so for three days. It takes ten days for the eggs to hatch, and the fly is full grown when hatched. Thus by killing a fly when they first begin to show up in the spring, the community is saved several million flies by September. The fly spreads disease by carrying the germs on its feet. After the fly leaves the open closet or the manure pile, it may be on your food next. Sprinkling common borax on the manure pile or on the refuse will kill the breeding place.

There are many flyless towns in this country simply because breeding places are not allowed. Mr. Shirley believes (Continued on last page)

Southern Methodist U. Glee Club Coming To Canyon April 1st

The Southern Methodist University Glee Club of thirty voices will visit Canyon on the night of April first and give a recital at the Methodist church, under the auspices of the choir of the church.

This will be the first time in a number of years that Canyon has had the opportunity of hearing a university glee club. The program that this club puts on is exceptionally good and will please very highly.

MADE GOOD MILK RECORD.

J. C. Carver states that he has a 28-months old Jersey heifer which made a mighty fine record on milk production last week in spite of the bad weather. For six days Mr. Carver kept an accurate milk record, and the cow gave 152 pounds of milk, which tested 4.5.

SINKING WATER TEST WELLS.

Amarillo is planning to sink a series of test wells through Deaf Smith and Randall counties for the purpose of finding the best place from which they may draw the future water supply of the city. The first well will be sunk about fifteen miles northeast of Hereford, and wells will be put down at intervals through Randall county.

SHORT COURSE IS CRIPPLED BY THE BIG SNOW STORM

ATTENDANCE OVER 2600 IN SPITE OF BAD WEATHER.

More Unfavorable Weather Could Not Have Occurred—But Best Kind of Weather for the Farmer.

The weather was an almost knock-out blow to the Farmers' Short Course so far as the possibility of a large attendance from the farmers was concerned, but the Course was a great success so far as those able to attend was concerned.

The program put on by Mr. Mobley and Mrs. Lawes was one of the most practical ever staged in Canyon, and it is to be regretted that more people could not be in attendance.

The following letter was written to the International Harvester Extension Department by Fred H. Ives, executive chairman of the local committee:

I write to express our appreciation of the Short Course which closed here today, March 9-10.

Our committees had made every preparation for the success of this meeting, including a thorough advertising campaign, a well balanced program, the attendance of all public schools of the county, etc. On the night of March 8th, a terrible blizzard began which lasted through thirty hours. The blizzard made outdoor travel almost impossible. All country roads were closed by drifts. Even the public school children of the city were unable to come to the meeting. Because of the weather our attendance was limited almost entirely to the student body of the college.

The students gave a good attendance. Each speaker delivered an address before the entire student body in the auditorium, and many teachers brought all of their classes to hear the lectures through the day. I understand that the total attendance count by Mr. Olseng for the sessions was over 2600.

We wish to express our appreciation of the fine personality of each member of the Short Course crew, their excellent qualification for their work, the fine quality of their equipment and the great value of the messages which they brought to us. Mrs. Lawes and Mr. Mobley are doing an inestimable amount of good, especially in their inspiration of young people and progressive teachers. Though our farmers were prevented from attending the course, we feel that the work has not been wasted in any sense. The interest and appreciation shown by the students indicates that great value may result from this meeting in years to come.

You may be interested to know that one rural teacher, Mr. W. H. Platt of Hart, Texas, drove in fifty six miles the day before the storm began, and brought his wife and four students to attend the course. They came early to make arrangements for three other cars of students from their district, who, of course, were kept at home on account of the storm.

Hoping that we may have another opportunity to hold such a meeting when an attendance of farmers can be secured, I am,

FRED H. IVES,
Executive Chairman.

FARM BUREAU MEETS SATURDAY

A. B. Haynes has called a meeting of the members of the Randall County Farm Bureau for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Haynes would like to have all members present and invites all farmers who are interested.

The campaign planned to be carried on in this county during the past week was not possible owing to the bad weather.

Speakers will probably be sent into Randall county at a later date.

It looks now as if there could possibly be nothing left in the way of paving on the public square of Canyon. The attorney general's office wrote the orders for the election last Saturday, and will no doubt approve the bonds when presented to this department. The money is available for the bonds as soon as they are delivered. The first step toward paving has been a long and tedious one, but well worth while. The question naturally has arisen regarding paving on other streets than that around the court house. If no more paving is laid in Canyon this year, it will take a lot of work keeping the mud off the public square, as every vehicle will bring on to the paving a good sized load from the unpaved streets. The citizens of Houston and Evelyn streets should start a movement at once to see that paving is put on Houston street from the depot to the Normal, and on several blocks on Evelyn street. Labor will be the cheapest in the history of this town during the coming summer months; contractors are after jobs keener than they have been for years; material is still high, but possibly as low as it will be until freight rates are adjusted, and no one knows how many years that will take. Canyon now has a low bond issue and low tax rate. It looks to the News that now is the logical time for action in Canyon, and that there never will be a better time to put over a big paving program than during 1922.

In spite of the fact that the criminal lawyer knows that his client is guilty, and if he is a law abiding citizen, this lawyer ought to be interested in seeing the guilty man punished, but according to law; in spite of all this, too many criminal lawyers will stoop to trickery in getting by the court some innocent statement that will reverse a case, or cause a new trial, the some total of which will make his fee a little larger and cost his county and state several hundred dollars. The question naturally arises: who is the biggest law breaker, the man who goes out into the open and violates the laws of our state, or the man who stays within the laws and causes our criminals to have hope of not being punished for the laws which he openly breaks? The remedy of all this is to send men to the legislature who are not afraid to write laws with teeth in them, and which will meet the technical examination of the higher courts. There are now in the legislature too many lawyers who would rather see jokers left in bills than to see a law passed which will stand up under the most rigid court test.

Go to the polls Saturday and vote for consolidation of the Canyon Independent School District with Common School Districts Nos. 2 and 18. Consolidated schools are being established in all progressive sections of the United States. The people living in these two districts will derive a greater good from the benefits of the consolidation than it can possibly be measured in the little additional cost that it will be to them. The time will come within a few years when buses will bring children in to the Canyon schools from all directions just as is the case in the best educational sections of the north and east. Go to the polls Saturday and cast your vote for consolidation.

Did you ever stop to consider that the individual automobile owner is paying a higher price for the fearful condition of our streets than he would have to pay were the streets paved? Every time your car hits a chug hole, you leave a dollar's worth of your car on that spot whether you know it or not. Paving the principal streets of Canyon is the greatest automobile insurance you can carry. 1922 is a good time for a big paving program in Canyon.

No, it has not forgotten how to rain—there was a mere lapse of memory.

No man who fails to pay his honest debt can enjoy the fullest measure of self-respect to his fellow-men. It is not intended to reflect against the man in debt. The man who does not from time to time use his credit is a poor man indeed. Most good men use their credit both as a matter of convenience and as a matter of necessity. But no good man will swindle his creditors. He will either pay his debts when due or relieve his creditors of any ground for apprehension as to his honesty or his intention to pay. The man who pays or arranges to pay is the equal of any man. But the man who deliberately dodges his debts is no man at all. Everybody knows that fact and he knows it as well as anybody else. The man who does pay his honest debts, or is unable to pay, conducts himself so as to retain the confidence of his creditors and stands higher in the confidence of everybody in every way than the man who never had occasion to owe anything.—Exchange.

PANHANDLE HARDWARE MEN ARRANGE CONVENTION

Directors of the Panhandle Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association met in the Amarillo Hotel Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for the purpose of outlining a program for the Association's convention to be held in Amarillo May 8 and 9. The proceedings of the meeting were not announced for publication.

Among those present at the meeting were: E. P. Thompson, Memphis, president; C. L. Thompson, Canyon, secretary; S. E. Cole, Lubbock, vice president; E. W. Pipkin, Amarillo, J. R. Fox, Dalhart, and F. L. Crown of Plainview.

The meeting was in session several hours.

FARM CLASS WORKS IN ORCHARD

The class in farm management in the vocational agricultural department of the Normal College is doing work that many farmers in West Texas would be glad to pay them to accomplish. They are making over old orchards and pruning shade trees. The class was not satisfied to read about the work from their text books; they demanded more than "book learning," which learning is a record of the best experiences of the best farmers; they wanted to be able to go out and do actual orchard work. It was arranged to use the neighboring places for practice work. The boys have demonstrated their new skill on grape vines, pears, apples peaches and plums.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL

We are planning to have an Easter program, hence, if you have any suggestions, see Mr. Ives.

Mr. Ash's class, Mr. Flesher's class and George Terry's class of boys are going on a "Coon Hunt" Saturday night. If you are a member of one of these classes, be at the church at sundown. There will be five men in the party, so don't be scared, but just join in the fun.

Third Annual Tractor Service School, March 21-23

The Tractor Service School to be held at the Normal College next week is a valuable and growing institution. The Department of Agriculture at the college has been working on this annual series of meetings for three years. The plan was originated with the idea of giving service to present and prospective tractor owners in this territory, helping them to avoid and correct mistakes and to secure the greatest returns from their investment. The different tractor and lubrication companies have always sent their best qualified service men, men who give almost their entire time to tractor education work, to represent them in these schools. Every tractor in common use in this territory has been represented each year.

A large attendance is expected to attend the school here next week. Last year there was a total attendance of over nine hundred at the different meetings, coming from sixteen different towns all over the Panhandle.

Few new tractors will be bought this year because of crop and financial conditions. These same conditions, however, will secure a greater attendance from present tractor owners who must operate with the greatest economy through this year. Men who attend the school here will learn the best methods of lubrication, operation and repair of their tractors, methods which may be worth many dollars in saving working time and avoiding a breakdown during the working season.

The instructors will use films, slides, parts, charts and drawings to make their points clear to the students. The morning and afternoon meetings will be held in Room 105. There will be a full program of moving pictures every night in the auditorium. Each tractor is given a special place on the program. Every question on tractor work will be answered by experts. It is all free. Every farmer is invited to come to this school for information on the tractor he is most interested in, and stay through the three days if possible.

Often the bees go so far in their search for flowers that the round trip is as much as two miles, so that the making of a pound of honey requires journeys that may aggregate as much as 5 million miles.

THE PIKE'S PEAK ROAD

Lincoln Journal: Opposition to the building of more scenic toll roads in Colorado has developed the fact that the Pike's Peak road has been profitable from the year it was opened. The earnings were 9 per cent on the $200,000 of cost the first year. This was quadrupled in the boom year of 1920. The property will pay for itself in a very short time and will thereafter be a gold mine until the franchise expires some forty years in the future. The Government has the right to take the road over at any five-year period after fifteen years.

RURAL SCHOOLS ATTENDS THE SHORT COURSE

One car load of visitors who attended the Agricultural Short Course at the Canyon Normal on March 9-10, came from Hart, Texas. Hart is a little postoffice fifty-six miles from Canyon and twenty miles from a railroad. The school is a two-room, two-teacher, consolidated school having sixty-one pupils in eight grades. The teachers are Mr. W. H. Platt and his wife, Mrs. Lena Platt, both of whom are former students of the W. T. N. C. They are doing everything possible for the development of the school and benefit of the community.

When they heard of the Short Course at Canyon they decided that their pupils should attend. Mr. and Mrs. Platt and four boys drove here in a car a day early to make arrangements for three more car loads of pupils and farmers to come on Thursday. When Thursday dawned a genuine blizzard was in full and continuous operation, and the three other cars stayed at home. However, these teachers and their pupils attended every session of the Short Course, and went home well satisfied with the value of the trip, and boosters for the West Texas State Normal College.

This district has voted twelve thousand dollar bonds for the erection of a four room, brick building, to be ready for use next fall. More teachers like these are needed in Texas. Success to them.

WHERE TO LOCATE AN ORCHARD

Lloyd Stark in Farm Life: I suggest that, if possible, a slightly sloping piece of land be selected for the orchard. This insures a good water drainage and good air drainage. Generally speaking, any good average soil is all right for fruit growing. Avoid wet spots. Good, deep, well-drained soil is preferable.

Choose good soil in a well-drained spot, preferably on a ridge. Dig a two foot trench, throwing all dirt forward so as to make a sloping bank, on which lay the trees slanting, with roots in trench. Be sure to cut the bundle open shake out all the packing and lay the trees in thin layers. Then throw a layer of dirt on the roots and on the whole length of the trees to the very tips. Work the soil in well around the roots and tops, packing the dirt firmly. You secure dirt for this work from another trench parallel with the first one, which in turn is filled with trees and covered with dirt. Smooth the sides so as to turn off the water and dig a trench entirely around the mound to carry off the water. If they are to be left all winter it is very well to cover the top of the mound with dead leaves or brush to prevent alternate freezing and thawing.

In laying out your orchard take enough pride in it to get the rows absolutely straight and the correct distance apart. There are numerous methods recommended for laying out an orchard and different men have different plans. Start your first row about fifteen feet from the fence and leave plenty of room at the end of the rows for turning when plowing. It is well to lay off the rows with a plow, digging the holes in the furrow.

TEXAS

A BIT OF HISTORY

The ensuing paragraphs are not mere here-say. In 1880, and for the seven-teen years after that date, Mr. F. A. Scott of Canyon was with the J. A. Ranch, a part of which now has its headquarters near Clarendon, Texas; and the following is a short sketch of the material he furnished, on inquiry, to the writer.

According to Mr. Scott this part of the prairie which we call the Panhandle-Plains of Texas was then one of the great cattle raising districts of the country. The largest ranch on the plains was the J. A. & F., which extended north and south from Washburn to Motley county, and east and west from Memphis to Swisher county. Adjoining this range on the various sides were the Heart Ranch, the Mill runs, the Matador, the T-Anchor, and the Old Circle.

These bordering ranches were all much smaller than the J. A. & F.; yet they were a part of the great plains country. Their men ate from the same chuck wagon and joined in the general round-up together; their herds roamed over the same prairie and followed a common trail south during the course of a year.

In 1880 there were no visible divisions in lines between one ranch and another. In fact, at that time, one could look from Colorado City, Texas to Dodge City, Kansas, and never once catch sight of a fence. The ranch straddles were surveyed, but the boys knew how to take a wagon load of supplies from the canyon or a watering place in the prairie.

The ranch headquarters were usually located near the center of the range. The orders that might concern a majority of the boys were sent out from headquarters. From here also the boys obtained their chuck the year around. An extra hand was usually located at headquarters as horse rustler, odd-job man, and it was his business to take a wagon load of supplies from each of the camps off and on during each year.

From headquarters, and stationing around the border of the range, about thirty or forty miles apart, were the line camps. These camps, or dug-outs, were made in the mounds of the prairie. A room, usually 12 feet by 14 feet by 7 feet was dug in the mound, and a slanting doorway was drilled out on one side. For the roof a heavy cottonwood log was stretched across the opening, one end of the log being upon a post over the doorway and the other end upon the ground on the opposite side. From this center in the smaller posts (usually obtained from the china trees) were laid out to the edge of the ground on either side. To this was then filled in between the lines so that there would be no cracks in the roof when the covering of dry earth was thrown on.

The inside of a dug-out was scantily covered. The fireplace was a cavity in the dirt wall, and from the outside a hole was dug to serve the purpose of a chimney, was dug down to meet this our stov apparatus. Here over a heap in which the boys fried their bacon and to hot their potatoes when they were following the chuck wagon for the first time at a time or riding the lines by the dug-out (there was usually only one dug-out) was made from the round end of four short forked poles, two long poles and a number of short ones. The posts were put in the ground to the depth of a half a foot, and the longer poles, running the length of the bed, were laid across the forks parallel with each other. The shorter poles were then placed across the framework, and, after a quantity of grass had been pulled and strewn over them and a tarpaulin had been thrown over the grass, the bed was ready for occupancy.

In the dugout tables were unknown. When meal time came the boys threw themselves down in front of the fireplace with tin plates in hand and dished out the chuck from the skillets.

At this time, when no fences separated one ranch from another, the cattle were kept within their own range by the line boys. Every morning two boys started out from each camp, or dugout, and rode in opposite directions along the border of the ranch lands for fifteen or twenty miles, herding in the cattle that had wandered off from the range. Since the line camps were never more than forty miles apart, two boys always met about halfway between each camp sometime during the day. The meeting place completed each boy's part of the circuit, and he rode back to his dugout to prepare to travel over the same ground on the morrow. Thus, every twenty-four hours the cattle of the range were herded in by a complete fence—a human fence.

The big event of the year, for a few of the boys at least, was the general round-up in the spring. Preparations for the round-up began about the middle of April. Since, during the winter months, some of the cattle drifted with the storm and joined other herds farther south, this general work was for the purpose of hunting out these strays and bringing them back to their own range.

When spring opened, two or three dependable boys from each of the ranches farther north started south for the general round-up. Only one chuck wagon was sent from this part of the plains, it being generally understood that all of the boys from the neighboring ranches should join this wagon. Farther south, however, each of the ranches sent out its own wagon, together with ten or twelve men. Since the round-up took place so near these southern ranges and sometimes even on them, these ranches sent enough boys to take care of several hundred head of their own cattle that they were sure to find, while the boys from the north might take back to each range fewer than a dozen head.

Every year two or three men left the J. A. & F. ranch in April and, together with several boys from neighboring ranges, joined the chuck wagon sent out from the Matador. The wagon headed for Double Mountain Fork, near what is now the city of Lubbock, and here met a dozen or more wagons from other ranches near the round-up grounds. Sometimes the strip of land that was included in this general work stretched a hundred miles in length, north and south, and fully fifty miles in width.

A round-up manager was always chosen at the beginning of the work; and during the course of three, four, or five months the entire territory was scouted, and every man was given a chance to cut his own cattle out of the herd that belonged on that particular range, brand the calves, and start his bunch back toward their own range.

Usually the boys returned in July or August with the cattle from the spring round-up. They were given several days for rest, and then they started back to work the same country again. This fall work was for the purpose of getting those strays that had been overlooked in the spring.

After the fall round-up was over, the beef cattle were selected from the herd on the range and started for the market at Dodge City, Kansas. About 1000 or 1200 head were taken at one time, and a herd of this size required the services of eight men, beside the cook and rustlers. These beef cattle usually brought about $35 per head at the market, while the ordinary range head brought from $8 to $12.

Vacation time for the boys began in December and continued until the time for the general round-up in the spring. To be sure they could be found in the day time scouting alone the lines and out from the range, driving in the cattle that were straying off, and branding those calves that had not been branded; but during the long winter evening the boys stretched themselves out on the floor in front of the fireplace and read by the flickering light of the blaze. They often sent for all of the copies of some popular magazine that had been issued during the previous year, and, thus, when this opportunity for reading presented itself, the boys were not hampered by a scarcity of material.

The first fences in this part of the country were put up in 1885. There was none that displayed inferior workmanship. The fact that four and five strands of wire were used showed that these division lines were built for durability. There was one advantage, however, in winter in having no fences. When the snow storms of December and January drove the cattle south and when there were no fences to stop them, the constant movement kept them from being numbed stiff by the cold. But when the ranges were beginning to be fenced, the herd would drift only as far as the fence, and then bunch together and stand motionless in the blizzard until they froze to death.

In the winter of 1883 the L. X. Ranch near Amarillo tried out a scheme for the purpose of keeping the cattle away from the fences. The wires were charged with electricity by dynamos that were placed along the line about ten or fifteen miles apart. When the cows began drifting against the fence in a storm, the shock which they received turned them back, and thus caused the ceaseless moving around that probably kept them from freezing.

Antelopes, coyotes, buffaloes, and wild mustangs were frequently seen on the ranges. The coyotes scurried over the prairies by day and yelped their dismal tunes by night. Mustangs swept the plains by herds. Often there were as many as three hundred together. Sometimes they came up within a few yards of the boys, stopped for a moment in stupefied wonder, and then dashed back over the prairie.

Mr. Scott tells us that in 1882 he saw buffaloes for the first time. It was about this time that Mrs. Charles Goodnight was getting together the herd that we now look upon as the living landmark of the plains. In order to get this herd started she offered any of the boys $75 for every buffalo they brought in. This was a generous sum of money then, and a boy seldom left a bunch of buffaloes at peace on a range until he had tried his luck at roping one of them.

A word should be said concerning the type of men who rode the ranges in

Dr. Skelton was murdered on Feb. 17th, when starting out on his mission from Botong.

English Head At Normal is Also Writer

Horace W. Morelock, head of the department of English and dean of men in the West Texas State Normal College, was born in Cleveland, Bradley County, Tenn. He received his early education in the county high school and later through a competitive examination won a scholarship in Peabody Normal College. After spending two years in this institution, he returned to his native county where he was elected associate principal of Charleston High School.

In January of the next year he was elected county superintendent of schools, and he has the distinction of being the only democrat ever to hold this office in Bradley county. For three years he attended the University of Tennessee, in which institution he won Phi Beta Kappa honors and the last year did some graduate work and instructed in mathematics. For one year he was at the head of the English department in Greenville and Tusculum College, and in the summer of 1902 he was appointed by the State superintendent of public instruction as one of the faculty in the State Normal at Harriman, Tenn.

From 1903 to 1910 Mr. Morelock was superintendent of schools at Kerrville, Texas, and since 1910 he has held the position of head of the English department in the West Texas State Normal College. He is a graduate of Peabody Normal College, University of Tennessee, and he has his M. A. degree from Harvard, where he was "Austin Scholar."

In the summer of 1919 Mr. Morelock organized the teachers of the Plains country into a teachers' consolidated institute to be held at the West Texas State Normal College. This organization is still in force, and last September twenty-four counties were represented and more than eight hundred teachers were in attendance. This institute will convene in Canyon for the fourth year, September 4 to 8, 1922, and the teachers have elected Mr. Morelock as conductor of each institute. Last fall he was conductor of the consolidated institute at Quanah, and was instructor in the institute at Pecos. He has given lectures to book clubs, graduating classes, and to churches in practically every town of the Plains country. In this institution he is faculty adviser of the college newspaper, college annual and chairman of the committee on all publications. In addition to his many other duties, he teaches all the junior and senior work in the English department. He is author of "A Handbook for English Teachers in the High Schools of Texas," and the May, 1921 issue of the "English Journal," published his article on "Teaching Beginners to Write the Short Story."

PIE SUPPER AT NORMAL

The Practical Arts Club and the Home Economics girls staged a real old time country pie supper for the purpose of fattening the treasury just a bit. The price limit was put at seventy-five cents, and no one was allowed to bid higher. Twenty of the home economics girls brought pies and there being more boys than girls the pies sold well and $18 was cleared. R. A. Terrell was auctioneer and everyone will swear that he made a good one. The pie supper pleased everyone and proved to be an excellent way of making money, and amusement.

Order For Trees Must Be Sent out This Week

C. F. Walker wishes the News to state that he will be home from the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show this week—probably Sunday. He has worked up a considerable order of shade trees to be sent to the experiment station at Lubbock, and says that this order must go out the first of next week as the station will receive no orders which cannot be shipped by the first of April. The cost of these trees is about a third of the cost of those bought of commercial nurseries.

See Mr. Walker as soon as he returns home if you want some shade trees at a very low price.

THE HONEYMOON NOW AND WHAT IT USED TO BE

Gone are the good old days when John and Mary went bravely to the altar and plighted their troth in the face of the fact that their sole capital consisted of a few silver dollars, two strong bodies, four willing hands and two hearts that beat as one.

In the little cottage by the side of the road were a rude table, two chairs, a stove, a bed and a few stone china dishes.

That was all except the abounding joy of their young hearts, which made the cottage a palace and John and Mary king and queen of their sacred domain.

They expected to share each other's burdens, and they did. They expected success, and it came.

And with success came the looking back to the old days of mutual toil and sacrifice as the happiest days of their lives.

Now, all of this is changed, John must have a car and Mary must wear a solitaire. The cottage by the side of the road must be a modern bungalow with rugs and period furniture to match father's.

Then, too, the strain of keeping up with the procession often robs life of its simple joys. Mary's demands irritate John, and John's inability irritates Mary. Clashes become more and more frequent until by and by their love dream becomes a painful tragedy.

In this complete age it would be difficult to go back to the old ways of simplicity and honest content. But an emulation of the spirit of simplicity that characterized the old days would work wonders toward restoring life to a more normal plane.—Shreveport Times.

THE REAL MAN

He is never guilty of a single dishonest deed.

He does not cheat, lie, or act dishonestly.

He does not quit in the presence of hardship or hard work.

He does not shirk, stall, grumble, or put off today's work to some "tomorrow."

He is never discourtuous, ungentlemanly, unkind or mean.

He does not over-eat, over-drink or over-smoke or over indulge in anything which will make him less efficient, less valuable, less serviceable, either physically or mentally.

He never, for a single moment, in his work, in his study, or in his play, does anything which might ruin his future.

He meets difficulties bravely.

He learns from each failure and grows stronger day by day.

He is loyal to himself, his fellow men, his family, his employer and his country.

There are many men and women in this organization who fulfill every requirement in this description.

They are the ones who right now are preparing to graduate into higher positions with more pay.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. Athletics in The High School Seen By College Coach

In an interview with Coach Burton of the West Texas State Normal College regarding athletics in high schools he gave out the following information: "I have often been asked by teachers and parents whether or not pupils in the grammar grades, as well as in the high schools and colleges, should put their entire time on their books and leave out entirely the work in athletics and other competitive games. My answer has always been, and I believe it always will be, that of all the things with which we come in contact school athletics and other properly supervised games and plays will serve to prepare us for the great game of life better than any other thing. This is true of course only when athletics is held upon a high plane, and when we are taught that to be successful in play we must merge ourselves and our personalities into that of the team.

"Too often when we are graduated from school or college we are told that the progress of civilization has been waiting on us, and that all we have to do is go out and conquer the world. And 'conquer' is right, for the truth of the business is that the world is just waiting to take a swat at every one who enters the ring. But if every boy and girl learns those principles which are taught on the athletic field and in the gymnasium—to fight, fight fair, keep up courage, and above all to keep that self-confidence and self-respect that is so essential in all games, even in the game of life—the problems we meet after school will be much more easily solved. Then too a well-developed mind in a well-developed body will function more perfectly than will the well-developed mind in the poorly developed body.

"I believe that athletics has reached a stage of development where it no longer becomes necessary to go into details in its defense. Athletics needs no defense. It is a recognized fact everywhere that athletics has come into our schools to stay. We should encourage our boys and girls to take part in as many kinds of athletics as their school programs will permit. Teach them to win, but to win fairly, and the chances are that when they do enter life after their period of preparation they will win."

HENS AND MILK COWS HIGHEST PRICED THINGS ON FARM

A man who is interested in market poultry sent us the following paragraphs of a letter he had just received from a western correspondent which he thought would be interesting to readers:

You ask why farmers are not selling hens. Hens and milk cows are the highest priced things on the farms out here. There is a ready sale for them at any time and if it were not for the hens and cows out this way, half the farmers would have gone broke. There are quite a few eggs coming for the time of year and farmers are not going to sell their hens unless they are absolutely sure that there is not another egg in her system.

A farmer drove up to one of our stations the other day with a wagon load of oats, two coops of springers and a case of 29 dozen eggs. He left the chickens and eggs with us and went on with his oats. When he came back for his check for the former he showed the man the ticket he had received for the oats which was as follows: 1560 lbs. oats, 84 3/4 bu. at 20c...$ 9.75 His check for the eggs and springers covered:

Eggs—29 doz. at 38c.....$11.02
Springers—138 lbs., at 16c.....$29.28
Total.....$40.30

And that is why they are not selling their hens. They want the eggs.

Thirty-eight cents a dozen does not seem a large price to an Eastern poultryman, but with grain at the present prices, a farmer can well afford to feed a large flock of hens and sell the eggs. "The world do move," and the poultry industry is just coming into its own. If we were to predict the value of the poultry and egg crop of 1931, people would say we were crazy, as they did years ago when we said a 200 egg flock of hens was a possible achievement.—R. P. J. in Southern Poultry and Swine Breeder.

How an EXPECTANT MOTHER Prepared for Baby's Coming

Do YOU know that thousands of women never really suffer at child-birth? Perhaps you have thought with many others that this should always be the case. But how?

Let Mrs. Mattie Paul, of Ocilla, Ga., tell you. She is one of thousands who has demonstrated this fact:

"As I am a young mother of one baby, I am writing for free booklet to 'expectant mothers.' I used only two bottles of Mother's Friend before I was confined and had a quick and easy time through labor. I can recommend Mother's Friend to all expectant mothers. I will never go through pregnancy without it."

It goes into the features of maternity and gives, in a plain, interesting manner, information about what the mother needs in clothing before baby is born; what clothing will be necessary for the baby; an interesting table as to the probable date of delivery; simple but necessary and helpful rules of hygiene to follow, and much other worth-while information. This little booklet also tells about Mother's Friend and the wonderful good it is doing for expectant mothers.

Don't let false modesty keep you from performing this duty to yourself—your family—and your baby.

You, too, can have this booklet for expectant mothers by sending coupon below.

PROGRAM FOR CIVIC ATTRACTIVENESS PRESENTED TUESDAY

that Canyon can be made flyless by the proper cooperation.

Mrs. J. B. Gamble discussed the alleys of Canyon. She stated that her committee had decided to ask all of the citizens of Canyon to provide a closed container into which rubbish that will not burn may be placed, and await the city man to haul it away. The city council will be asked to see that the city man makes trips around in the alleys regularly on the first and fifteenth of the month in order to empty the cans and haul away the refuse which will not burn. Mrs. Gamble stressed the fact that the city cannot haul away trash that will burn and that the committee recommended that each family, or two or three neighbors go in together and buy an inexpensive trash burner in which to burn trash that the city cannot dispose of for them. If the family is not in possession of a trash burner, the rubbish should be kept out of sight and away from the wind by storing in the garage or coal house until ready to be burned.

Mrs. Gamble called attention to the fact that too many people make no effort to dispose of their ashes, and that the alleys behind their homes are very unsightly as a result of the big ash piles. Ashes had better be evenly distributed over the alley than piled up and allowed to remain there. They act as a disinfectant and will keep down the weeds.

Mrs. Gamble urged that all citizens keep the weeds cut in the alley adjoining their property, and urged that all of the citizens cooperate in keeping the alleys of the city cleaned up.

Ray Campbell told about keeping the soda fountain sanitary. He stated that the only way he knew was to wash it thoroughly and every day. He went over his fountain with washing powders. Mr. Campbell stated that some people thought the glasses ought to be scalded after being used, and perhaps they should be, but it seemed to him that this was impractical, but that he used soda on the glasses and shined them thoroughly. He believed that the syrup containers were the most important part to keep clean.

C. H. Jarrett also was called upon to discuss this subject. He stated that of course the better equipment the store had, the easier it was to keep it clean. It was easy enough to keep the outside clean, but that the important part syrups were kept. These could be kept clean only by constant effort.

Mrs. B. A. Stafford was called upon to discuss a woman's idea of how a grocery store should be kept. She stated that her idea could be expressed in just one word—CLEAN. By this she meant the sidewalk, the show windows, the show cases, the walls, the ceilings, the floors, and by all means the salesmen themselves. Vegetables and fruits should be under cover and away from flies. She did not like the idea of seeing fly traps and fly paper around. She liked to know that the warehouses were clean, and that the flour and meal was off from the floor and away from the dust and flies.

Making Canyon more attractive was discussed by F. P. Guenther. He stated that in order to handle this subject correctly, a survey of the town should be made, taking into consideration what we have and what we ought to have. He suggested that if we look after the vacant lots, that if we clean up the alleys, that if we do away with the hog pens and cow pens in the city, then we have made a step toward an attractive town. Attractive streets, alleys, churches, homes, all make toward an attractive town. Mr. Guenther likened a city to a beautiful girl. She might have all of the endowments of nature to be exceptionally attractive, but if she neglected to comb her hair and to tie her shoe laces, she was not attractive. All parts of a town must be clean and sanitary to be attractive. Unpleasant things must be done away with. Mr. Guenther asked those present to become strangers and argue with him at the depot. Canyon has the worst looking depot on the Santa Fe. All of the smaller towns have better depots. There is no lawn and no flowers as at many of the other depots. We start down the street toward town and the streets are not in good condition. We come to the public square and find a mud hole or full of rough holes. Canyon does not impress the stranger well. This Civic League should make it its business to get after the people who need to be gotten after. People who have not sense enough or pride enough to keep their places clean must be under the gun. Mr. Guenther suggested that if we can do no more this year, that we clean up, keep clean the square and in all directions that the stranger may see. Mr. Guenther stressed again that no town may be attractive until it is clean.

In the way of home attractiveness, Mr. Guenther suggested that blue glass made the most attractive lawn, as it was green all but one month in the year. Bermuda was good and took less water than blue grass, but did not stay green so long. Native grass given one-fourth the water put on blue grass will give a beautiful lawn. Every home ought to have an attractive lawn. It is contagious and spreads rapidly. Soon every one in the neighborhood starts to beautiful when one family starts.

Mr. Guenther states that there are half a dozen kinds of flowers which do well here and add much to the looks of a home.

Home beautification pays big. The man who won't set out trees and care for them if a poor patriot if he refuses simply because he is afraid he will not get to enjoy the trees.

HAS LETTER REGARDING THE DEATH HENRY SHINEBARGER

Mrs. L. G. Conner has a letter from J. A. Truitt of Noel, Mo., regarding the last days and death of Henry Shinebarger, whose death was reported in the News last week.

Mr. Shinebarger was living at the Truitt home, and had been in good health. He had been to the postoffice on Monday looking for a letter from Mrs. Conner regarding the sale of some lots in Canyon. He was in his usual good health. He retired at the usual time. Mrs. Truitt prepared breakfast Tuesday morning, and when Mr. Shinebarger did not appear at the usual time she went to his room and found him seated in his chair fully dressed, excepting his shoes which he seemed to have in the act of putting on when his heart failed. One hand was on the stove in which he had built a fire as usual that morning, but was not badly burned when Mrs. Truitt found the body.

The body was shipped to Upper Sandusky, Ohio, for burial.
Mr. Shinebarger had three nephews. According to a will he drew in Canyon a few years ago, he left all his property to the two younger nephews.

Parent-Teachers Ask Cigarette Law Strictly Enforced

At the two-days' session of the executive committee of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers Association held in Austin, resolutions were adopted urging a strict enforcement of the State law relative to the selling of tobacco to children and minors; and promising the co-operation of the Congress to the W. C. T. U. in its efforts along this line.

This action is necessary, so stated the resolutions, because of the widespread and deplorable habit of cigarette smoking which is fastening itself on the boys and girls of the country.

Are we doing enough as teachers and parents to combat the enormous growth of the tobacco habit among boys? We have all been so occupied in fighting the liquor traffic, and such splendid strides have been made in that direction, that perhaps the other habit has not received its due share of attention recently. That the cigarette, the pipe, and the cigar habit is growing, is only too evident when we look about us and watch the boys coming out of our high school, offices, stores, and factories. Our young college friends seem to think their pipes as much a part of their equipment as their tennis rackets or their pennants.

Cigarette smoking is also increasing crime, making criminals and sending more of our boys to the police and juvenile courts than all other habits combined. One city magistrate says: "Out of 300 boys brought before me charged with various crimes, 295 were cigarette smokers." The cigarette fiend is practically certain to become a young man who places a very low estimate on virtue.

Last year the Secretary of the Treasury announced that as a nation we spent on:

Chewing gum.....$ 50,000,000.00
Candy.....1,000,000,000.00
Cigarettes.....80,000,000.00
Perfumes and Cosmetics 750,000,000.00
Automobiles and parts 2,000,000,000.00
Tobacco, Cigars and Snuff.....1,000,000,000.00

Cigarette manufacturers are predicting that total sales of cigarettes to Americans will be nearly $2,000,000,000 this year. If so, they will break all records. That is why cigarette prices have not come down, though the average tobacco grower practically had to give his crop away. Supply and demand make the price.
