MAJ. LOGAN KILLED

Shot While Leading His Battalion in Action.

SON OF THE LATE JOHN A. LOGAN

Thirty-third Infantry Had a Fierce Battle With Insurgents Near San Fabian—Insurgents Lost Heavily.

Washington, Nov. 15.—A cable dispatch received at the war department announced that Maj. John A. Logan, thirty-third volunteer infantry, has been leading his battalion in action. He was killed in a fight in Luzon. He was a son of the late Gen. John A. Logan of Illinois and Mrs. Mary Logan, now a resident of Washington.

He leaves a widow and two children, who are at present residing at Youngstown, O.

Manila, Nov. 2.—The thirty-third infantry in one of the sharpest two-day engagements of the war with an equal force of insurgents, five miles from San Fabian Saturday lost one officer and six men killed and 100 wounded. The American captured fifty six Philippine and 100 rifles and found eighty-one insurgents dead lying in the trenches and in the fields. Many more Filipino doubtless were killed.

Gen. Wheaton was informed that the enemy was gathering at San Jacinto for the purpose of preventing the capture of Zamboanga. There was a succession from Daqupan north, whereby Aguinaldo might retreat. The thirty-third, Col. Howe commanding, and a detachment of the thirty-third, Gen. Wood commanding, were sent to disperse them. The troops encountered the worst road ever found in the island. There was a succession of creeks whose bridges the Americans had to stop and repair and ditched and at certain places men and mules were knee deep in mud. The American sharpshooters hid in the trees, bushes and a small trench across the road held their fire until the Americans were knee deep in mud. When they began firing other Filipino opened fire with thickets right and left.

The insurgent sharpshooters picked off the officers. Five Americans who fell were straps. But the thirty-third never wavered. Its crack marksmen knocked the Filipinos from the trees like squirrels and the Americans rushed the trench, leaving four dead insurgents there. The regiment followed under fire for two miles. Major Cronin's on the right and Maj. March's on the left. The insurgent force was a mile long, advanced rapidly, and were within twenty feet of them. Maj. March's men were within ten feet of the insurgents, surprising them and killing nearly all before entering the trench.

Two British killed five of the force being the lowest and swept the country beyond the town. The British killed 120 Filipinos in the field. March's battalion followed and captured a flag which was flying over a convent.

AGUINALDO IS NOW

Completely Surrounded by the American Forces.

INSURGENTS SUFFERING FROM

Disease, Owing to Poor Food, Lack of Medicines and Filthy Hospitals—Great Loss of Life Result.

Manila, Nov. 14.—Gen. Young is supposed to have reached San Nicolas, about thirty miles east of Taguay, but his wagons are far behind.

Col. Hayes has captured Aguinaldo's secretary, and Maj. Coleman is in Caranigan with an escort of 175 bold troops on his way to the province of Nueva Vizcaya.

The son of Gen. Linnere and his family are prisoners. The general barely escapes.

A correspondent with Gen. Young telegraphs from San Jose that Aguinaldo did not escape to the northeast. He and his army, the correspondent adds, are surrounded. His last orders to the Filipino commanders at San Jose were to hold San Jose and Caranigan.

The recent encounters were too one-sided to be called fights. The insurgents are mortally ailing of the Americans, whenever they meet.

The moral effect of the news that 60,000 troops are on their way here to Manila is great.

The insurgents are suffering more from disease than are American, owing to the poor food, lack of medicines and filthy hospitals.

Gen. Lawton has intercepted a telegram from an insurgent captain to a Filipino general, reading:

"How can you blame me for retreating when only twelve of my company here were able to fight?"

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14.—Thirty thousand dollars worth of diamonds were stolen yesterday afternoon from the store of Sigis Bous, at 224 Broadway avenue. Three men entered the store, which is on the second floor. One of the trio stood at the elevator cage and the other two entered the office of Mr. Sigler.

The attention of one of the clerks and the other talked to Mr. Sigler, at whose side was a black box 4x10 inches, containing the diamonds. Mr. Sigler says his attention was distracted for a moment and upon turning to his supposed customer both had fled and the box of jewels was gone.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 14.—A Yazoo Miss. dispatch says: Ed Grandison, a notorious negro murderer, thief and all-around crook, was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Life Stonecraft and Everett in this county in July of last year. Grandison's neck was broken by the drop and death was instantaneous.

Yellow fever has been reported at Port Tampa City, Fla.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 14.—The British steamer Volta, from the German Cameroons, west Africa, which arrived here yesterday, reports that a German public expedition in the Cameroons recently chastised a tribe of rebellious cannibals who had besieged several trading stations and near Kribi. The Germans chased the natives into the bush, killing 200. It was supposed, according to the captain of the Volta, that numbers of the slain were decapitated.

A great deal of what is being sown around Denison.

Insurgents Defeated.

New York, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Santa Columbia, says official dispatches from Buenos Ayres, state that there have been several engagements in the interior of the province of Buenos Ayres, and revolutionary forces, in which the insurgents were defeated. Battles were fought in Luján and Tucuman. It is reported that in the latter place Gen. Zúñiga Turado was killed and several prisoners were taken.

Money is a good friend to the soldier and Ohio Rail Road has placed several orders for new freight equipment to be used for the Baltimore & Ohio building 1200 Baltimore and Ohio cars, and making a general attack on Ladsymith by Gen. Joubert very hazardous.

If the cavalry and artillery belonging to Gen. Methuen's division will not be arrived by then, the advance from Retoum must be delayed. But if it is deemed essential to open communication with the beleaguered town of the earliest possible moment, Gen. Methuen, it is believed, may decide to replace the regular cavalry and artillery by the Natal and Outlander mounted forces and naval gunboats, in which case, it is believed, it ought to be possible to occupy Colombo and stretch out a hand to Gen. White by Monday. It is added, however, that the course to be followed by Gen. Methuen must necessarily be dictated entirely by official knowledge of Gen. White's position and resources and the experts here. Gen. Methuen is able to avail the concentration of the whole division and thus have a better chance of dealing a telling blow to Gen. Joubert's main army, which, it is asserted, will be compelled either to fight a general action or retire to their strongholds.

The Drakenburg dispatch by way of Durban, which was brought in by a Kaffir, reports a severe defeat of the Boers at Ladsymith, Thursday, may turn out to be correct, but in view of previous experience it must be received with caution. It appears, however, certain that heavy fighting occurred.

Puerto Cabello Surrendered.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Both the state and navy departments have received reports that the surrender of Puerto Cabello, Venezuela. The state department dispatch is from Minister Loomis, at Caracas, and is as follows: "The Boers' fighting Castro's army took Puerto Cabello yesterday morning. Killed and wounded aggregate 200. Surgeons and hospital corps were sent. The Boers attacked Castro's ed. Castro holds every port and place of consequence in Venezuela. The navy department's dispatch comes from the commander of the fleet, which is now at Puerto Cabello. It is dated Sunday night at 9:35 and reads as follows: "Reversing fighting on the 14th morning. About 2000 killed on both sides. Parades surrendered his final position to Castro's forces Sunday morning."

GENERAL PARADES

Surrenders at Puerto Balcés After a Desperate Battle.

650 WERE REPORTED KILLED.

The Aspect of the City is One of Ruin and Devastation—Surgeons Ministering to the Wounded.

Gen. Parades, a former commander in the army of ex-President Andrade, who had refused the demand made upon him by Gen. Cipriano Castro and the de facto authorities to surrender the town, even when it was reinforced by the regiments of the British, French, American, German and Dutch commanders, surrendered yesterday morning at 10 o'clock after a terrible battle.

The aspect of the city is one of ruin and devastation, and it is estimated that upwards of 650 persons were killed or wounded during the fighting.

Dr. Braisted of the United States cruiser Detroit and the other surgeons of the various warships in the harbor were ministering to the wants of the wounded.

Gen. Ramon Guerra began a land attack upon the town and the position of Gen. Parades on Friday night. Desperate fighting continued until Saturday morning about 4, the fierce struggle ensuing later. Gen. Parades made a stubborn defense, but Gen. Guerra forced an entrance into the town at 4 o'clock Saturday.

An early as 8 o'clock Sunday morning the fleet arrived and began a bombardment, but the rains were so great and the firing proved ineffective.

Gen. Parades held the fort on the hill and Fort Libertador until Saturday morning.

Flight With Indians.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Nov. 13.—One white and five Navajo Indians killed, two whites and one Navajo wounded, was the result of an attempt of a deputy sheriff to arrest a Navajo Saturday ten miles south of Walnut station, news of which has just reached here.

On Nov. 12 a band of six native Navajos were at Canyon Deep below Alderson rim in this county, held up by Montgomery, a cowboy in the employ of Mr. Roden, a ranchman. The band refused him of stealing horses and threatened to kill him. He came to Flagstaff and obtained a warrant for their arrest, and with Deputy Hogan set out to make the arrest.

At Roden's camp they were joined by Wm. Roden and Walter Durham, who went along in the deputy's party when the Navajos were camped.

Arriving at the camp the party dismounted, anticipating no trouble. Hogan attempted to execute the warrant and entered a brush where the deputy and Navajos were when the Indians made a resistance and a shot was fired at Hogan, striking him in the back. He at the same time being shot in the arm, the Navajo who was trying to shoot him. Hogan drew his pistol and killed his antagonist.

The fight became general and ended when the ammunition of the whites was exhausted. The result is that five Navajos are dead and one wounded. Montgomery was shot through the chest. Hogan was wounded three times, but not seriously.

Flood Dead.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 13.—John Armstrong, son of ex-Police Sgt. Armstrong, a check clerk at Cupples station, was found dead in the dining room of his home yesterday. His face was stained with blood, and close to his right hand lay a revolver with an empty shell and four cartridges. The man's wound showed that he had been shot through the heart from the rear.

Mrs. Rose Lovier, aged 30, who had been cooking meals and taking care of the rooms occupied by Armstrong, was arrested, together with her husband. The woman stated that Armstrong had been boarding at her house with the consent of her husband for about a year, that he had removed from there because her husband objected to him, and that later he took up his abode in three blocks away from her home, with as his household expenses being $12.00 a week for her services. Neighbors heard a shot fired late Saturday night, but paid no attention to it.

Male Murderer Capt.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13.—Capt. McCarthy of the British steamer Trunkley, who had refused the demand made upon him by Gen. Cipriano Castro and the de facto authorities to surrender the town, even when it was reinforced by the regiments of the British, French, American, German and Dutch commanders, surrendered yesterday morning at 10 o'clock after a terrible battle.

The aspect of the city is one of ruin and devastation, and it is estimated that upwards of 650 persons were killed or wounded during the fighting.

Dr. Braisted of the United States cruiser Detroit and the other surgeons of the various warships in the harbor were ministering to the wants of the wounded.

Gen. Ramon Guerra began a land attack upon the town and the position of Gen. Parades on Friday night. Desperate fighting continued until Saturday morning about 4, the fierce struggle ensuing later. Gen. Parades made a stubborn defense, but Gen. Guerra forced an entrance into the town at 4 o'clock Saturday.

An early as 8 o'clock Sunday morning the fleet arrived and began a bombardment, but the rains were so great and the firing proved ineffective.

Gen. Parades held the fort on the hill and Fort Libertador until Saturday morning.

About Public Lands.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 13.—Land Commissioner Ingram yesterday addressed a letter to the governor calling his attention to an indorsed letter bearing date of Aug. 29, addressed to the attorney general, requesting an opinion concerning the validity of certain alleged Spanish and Mexican land grants.

The health officer advised that the master who there were but fifteen persons on board, when the article named seventeen as having been killed. The captain said the others died from yellow fever. When the vessel was released from quarantine and provisions one of the crew stated to one of the customs guard that the man in charge was not the master of the ship, but the mate, and that the mate had murdered the master and his wife on the voyage.

The authorities sent a boat's crew from a small Spanish man-of-war in the harbor to bring the mate and crew ashore. The mate, who was a Swede, had suspected something and was armed himself with a revolver and defied the whole of the five boats.

The Spanish man-of-war failed to take him. The sailors frustrated the mate and the vessel for five hours, during which time it is said 800 shots were fired.

The mate was killed at last, having been shot several times. During the firing the crew jumped overboard and were rescued by the Spanish boats.

Their excitement the Spaniards set fire to the bark, but as soon as they found the Swede dead they extinguished the fire. Before the Trunkley sailed the mate was buried at sea.

He also called attention to two patented grants aggregating 31,000 acres, which for some inexplicable reason were patented in December, 1875, though the grants were void. "Both of which have long since been covered by alternate locations and suits should be instituted to cancel the patents last mentioned."

He calls the governor's attention to the fact that in the event the school fund is more than 20,000 acre school steps can be instituted to recover.

Another paragraph was addressed to the attorney-general Mr. Rogan says that neither the governments of the republic or state of Texas ever denied the validity of the patents in question, which he says are at one time aggregated 25,000,000 acres, over which it seems the state never exercised jurisdiction.

Of the total number, forty-three claims, aggregating 1,128,727 acres, have never been established.

There is no evidence whatever of their validity on file in the general land office. The presumption is, if there were any valid claim in fact as a basis for these supposed grants, the alleged owners would have established their right thereto and procured their patents long since, as contemplated by law.

Message Congressman's Statement.

Denison, Tex., Nov. 14.—The following message has been received at Denison from Express Messenger W. S. Concanon, who is now in the Sealtia hospital:

"My father informs me that many different stories have been printed and told as to what I know about the robbery and assault that was committed upon me on the 10th inst. I have no objection as to what I say it is my father's desire, as my own, to have the exact facts published in the Denison Herald, a Sherman paper, also the Dallas Herald, to just what I do know and all that I know. This is the substance of my story:

"When the train stopped at Armstrong station I heard some one talking out on the front steps, but as men and boys frequently jump on at this station and ride to the depot, I paid but little if any attention to their conversation. Between this avenue and the viaduct Mr. Romer, our conductor, came and said:

"Here's some mail, Con. Guess I'll be in a minute."

"I asked: 'Won't you be with us tomorrow, Mr. Romer?'"

"He replied: 'No'.

"I then said: 'I hope to see you soon again,' and bid him good night. Mr. Romer then leaving the car, going into the coach.

"I tied up my railroad mail and then proceeded to take my harness out of the ash, as I was always in the habit of doing just at this point, which was not very far from either side of the car. I was then making a habit, as to have everything in readiness when I reached the depot. Just as I was stepping over to reach my run, the door opened and I saw a man who I could raise up a heavy blow was struck, which landed just a little above my left temple. This knocked me partially unconscious, but I could hear what the robbers and would-be-murderers were saying.

"The first thing they said, one told the other, was: 'I wish you were dead, d—n the front door. Be quick, be quick, that catch the hind end and ride into the coach.'

"I then said: 'I had begun to step a little and did not know enough to keep quiet, but spoke out and told them I wanted to see my folks before I died.'

"One of them said: 'To h—l with your folks.'

"At this time I suppose I tried to spring to my feet and resent this remark, when I received another lick on the head, which knocked me down.

"Hit him again," was another yell, and at one of them remarked: 'We don't want to kill him; Con is a good friend of ours.'

"After hearing this it seems I remembered very distinctly about dying, but at my great joy I was mistaken, and was only dead to the world for a few moments. Fortunately I was able to my own knowing or even having the least idea as to who committed this deed I cannot and never will be able to state, but I do not know, although I could hear them say: 'I am at this improving night, and unless by a basket will be able to be with my friends again soon, but hardly this time, as I wish to return to my home in several weeks. I am so very grateful to my Maker that I am living, to say the very least. I feel really good about it.' W. S. CONCANON.
