GEN. ROBERT EDWARD LEE

Born January 19, 1807. Died October 12, 1870---Lee The Soldier, The Man And Christian Gentleman

As a soldier General Lee ranks among the greatest of earth, past or present. This is saying a great deal, but it is the consensus of opinion of unbiased minds, not only of our own country, North as well as the South, but in England, France and wherever true worth and real greatness are appreciated.

Just after the close of the War Between the States, there was much bitterness in the North against General Lee, President Davis and all leaders of the South. This is shown from the following short extract from a speech of Charles Sumner's, shortly after the death of General Lee. Speaking upon the question of a return to Lee's family of the ancestral estate of Arlington, he used these words:

Eloquent Senators have already characterized the proposition and the traitor it seeks to commemorate. I am not disposed to speak of General Lee. It is enough that he stands high in the catalogue of those who have imbued their hands in their country's blood. I hand him over to the avenging pen of history.

Well, here is how the "Avenging Pen of History," even in Charles Sumner's own State, is writing the verdict of acquittal that this and other fanatics of the North expected to condemn General Lee.

It was only a generation later that Charles Francis Adams, another son of Massachusetts and grandson of John Quincy Adams, a typical bred-in-the-bone Yankee, as he called himself, delivered a notable address at the Lee Centennial, held at Lexington, Virginia, in 1907. Among other things he said:

One of a community which then looked upon Lee as a renegade from the flag he had sworn to serve and a traitor to the nation which had nurtured him, in my subordinate place I confronted Lee throughout the larger portion of the War of Secession. During all those years there was not a day in which my heart would not have been gladdened had I heard that his also had been the fate, which, at Chancellorsville, befell his great lieutenant, and yet more glad had it been the fortune of the command in which I served, to visit that fate upon him.

Forty more years have since then gone. Their close finds me here today, certainly a much older and, in my belief at least, a wiser man. The charge most commonly made against Lee in that section of the common country to which I belong and with which I sympathize, is that, in plain language, he was false to his flag. Educated at the National Academy, an officer of the United States Army, he abjured his allegiance and bore arms against the Government he had sworn to uphold. In other words, he was a military traitor. I state the charge in the tersest language possible. Having done so and admitting the facts to be technically true, I add, as the result of much patient study and mature reflection, that under similar conditions I would myself have done exactly what Lee did.

Coming directly to the point, I maintain that every man in the eleven States seceding from the Union had, in 1861, whether he would or no, to decide for himself whether to

BUY AND NAME PECAN TREE FOR C. H. LAWN

Clyde, 1-28-'25.

Some time ago Judge Victor B. Gilbert asked me about furnishing Pecan Trees to plant around the Court House of Callahan County, at Baird.

I have made him an exceptionally low price on the trees and, in addition to that, I will donate one tree to the County myself. The Judge said that the intention was to make up the amount necessary to pay for the trees by private subscription, or, in other words, to see how many would donate one tree.

Now, as one who feels an interest in seeing this program carried out, I make the following suggestion:

Let's set a day (Judge Gilbert to fix the time) and I will bring the trees to Baird and help set them out. Let each one who is interested and will pay for one tree, be present and set his tree and name it for some individual or institution of his or her own choosing. Now don't select Jim Hogg, for I want to name my tree for him.

The Pecan Trees are the Burkett variety, propagated at Clyde, and are recognized as being the best variety for this section. The price is $1.50 each. What say you?

W. W. Slater.

BAIRD JUNIOR BASKET BALL GIRLS CLEAN UP ON CLYDE

The Baird School Junior Basket Ball Team went to Clyde last Friday and their aggressive tackle of the Clyde Juniors resulted in a signal victory for Baird, the score being 46 to 6 in Baird's favor. This was Baird's lineup:

Goals: Lola Faye Perriman, Sena Belle Forrest, Kennard Wheeler. Centers: Doris Foy, Glenn McGowen.

Guards: Mildred Terry, Frances Cochran, Ruth Boren.

Doris Foy is the Captain of the Baird team, and she is a most capable and efficient executive. Her team mates declare they are going to do their best to win every game.

Baird Juniors expect to play Albany this evening on the home grounds, there is no admittance charge and everybody is invited to attend and yell for Baird.

BAPTIST REVIVAL MEETING

There is to be a revival next week at the Baptist Church. The pastor will do the preaching, and the song service will be conducted by Mr. Roy Camp of Fort Worth. You will like Roy and he will make you want to sing and be happy.

We need your presence and help. We want you to help us sing and pray and do all you can to make the meeting a success for the entire community.

Dick O'Brien.

RUSSELL ET AL STEPPING HIGH

These Days, For A Thirty Barrel Well Has Come In For Them---Other Oil News

The company of Russell et al, composed of Judge B. L. Russell, County Attorney B. F. Russell and County Judge Victor B. Gilbert are stepping high these days. The reason: A thirty barrel high grade oil well, that may reach a higher production, came in for them the other day in the Putnam field, on the Davis tract, offsetting Goodloe & Harris.

W. W. Webb has made a location for a test on the Water Finch Farm, in the Admiral Valley.

Andrew Urban is rigging up for a deep test on the Mrs. Fred Alvord ranch. Location on Survey 80, 6 miles east of Baird, on Bankhead Highway.

Ford Driskill et al have a good showing in their well on Mrs. Harve Jobe's land. Location for Well No. 2 has been made.

Blackwell et al are drilling a well on the Mrs. Ibbie Slaughter farm.

Russell Hart et al are drilling at 400 feet on the J. S. Hart ranch.

Oscar Harwell et al have brought in a 12 barrel well on the L. D. Harwell land, adjoining Putnam.

J. B. Morrison has three wells on the B. E. Rutherford farm.

Goodloe & Harris have 3 wells on the W. M. Isenhower land, southeast of Putnam, making 225 barrels per day.

Sirmans Oil Co., Miss Theresa H. Weddington Well No. 2 is in, making 117 barrels of high grade oil per day.

Moutray Oil Co. is rigging up on the B. E. Rutherford farm.

A. A. Hutton has a two million feet gasser on the Mrs. J. T. Davis farm.

L. A. Warren has a 150 barrel well on the Mrs. J. T. Davis land.

Moutray & Duffy have two good wells on the Mrs. J. T. Davis farm.

Seaboard Oil & Gas Co., Isenhower No. 5 is in, making 90 barrels.

Moody Petroleum Co. are rigging up on the Bud Lincecum farm, near Opiin.

Moody Petroleum Co. has made location for a deep test on the Al Irvin ranch.

Moody Petroleum Co. has been unable to complete the Geo. Chrane well on account of lost tools. The well appears to be good for 25 barrels at this time, and is expected to be good for 100 barrels when completed.

Leslie Kennedy has a 25 barrel well on the R. L. Buchanan farm.

C. A. McCarter has a 15 barrel well on the W. T. Crosby farm.

It has been reported that since the increase in the price of crude oil, several of the major companies have reentered the leasing game and are paying good prices for leases, especially on lands between Baird and Putnam.

BELL POST LEGIONAIRES AS BONUS MISSIONARIES

Commander J. A. Dubberly and Legionnaires R. Q. Evans and S. E. Settle, of Eugene Bell Post No. 82, American Legion, accompanied by George W. Symonds of The Star, journeyed to Cottonwood Wednesday night on a missionary expedition to the ex-service men of that section.

The party was received at the Baptist Church by the Cottonwood buddies, and while there were no formal proceedings, the visitors made informal talks, urging their hearers to not only make speedy application for their bonus, but to also have their discharges recorded at the County Clerk's office, and last, but not least, become members of Eugene Bell Post.

Four of the ex-service men filed their application for membership in Eugene Bell Post, three were assisted to make out their bonus applications, and several promised to have their discharges recorded.

Tuesday night next the missionaries will visit Dudley on the same benevolent quest, and they urgently request all ex-service men in the Dudley section to meet them Tuesday night.

Later the missionaries will visit every section of the County, and will give advance notice of their intention through the columns of The Star and otherwise.

WALTER VARNER IS TO MEET JAWBREAKER CELMARS AT WACO

Next Monday night Walter Varner, the Pride of Callahan County, will meet Jawbreaker Johnny Celmars at Waco. He has defeated the latter twice and feels confident of winning the third battle.

In last Saturday night's exhibition in Terrell Hall, Roy Edwards, Moran's champion, was badly beaten by Varner, although he managed to keep his feet till the final clang of Timekeeper Ira Pratt's bell, he was a badly battered man.

The preliminaries, Hal Ramsey vs. Harold Bray, Mexican John vs. Tommy Swenson, Albert Maner vs. Joe Davis and the Johnson kiddies, sons of Hackberry Slim Johnson, of rodeo fame, gave interesting exhibitions, particularly the latter, who are 7 1-2 and 5 1-2 years of age, the little fellow scoring two knock downs in the two-round bout.

There was a good attendance, Frank E. Stanley refereed the main bout with his usual fairness and strict adherence to the rules of the game, and Promoter George A. Chappell is busy arranging for another exhibition.

Editor E. F. Butler, of the Clyde Enterprise, was a pleasant caller at The Star office last Saturday. He reports things moving along fine at the fruit center of Callahan County. The Star wants to see every newspaper and every business and professional man and woman prosper in Callahan this year.

Double Stars

There are many stars that are double, says Nature Magazine. That is, they are made up of stars revolving around one another. Most of these pairs are of contrasting colors, one blue and the other gold, or one red and the other green. Albireo is considered to be one of the finest of the pairs that are visible in small telescopes.

IRRIGATION IS THE THING

And Callahan's Forward Looking Farmers And Ranchmen Are Strong For It

County Judge Victor B. Gilbert is an enthusiastic flood water control and water conservation for irrigation purposes sort of a fellow and he is working intelligently, systematically and continuously to march on to victory with his pet proposition.

At the second preliminary meeting held at his office last Saturday, what the ensemble lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasm and go-get-it-iveness.

There was discussions at length over possible dam sites by Messrs. Charles and Carlos McDermott, Bill McCoy, Felix Mitchell, Ernest Hill, Sam McLendon, Jno. Derryberry and others, and the suggestions made and topographical data dug up, finally resulted in the selection of the following dam sites, and it is certain that there are quite a number more that could be profitably located:

On Southern Pacific Railway Company's land, in Section 2, Block 2, Rough Creek and Pecan Bayou. Area of drainage, 15 or 20 sections; land possible of irrigation, 1,000 acres and upwards.

On Galveston-Houston & Henderson Railroad Company's land, Section 156, Clear Creek. Area of drainage, 3x8 miles; land possible of irrigation, indefinite, but almost unlimited.

On Galveston-Houston & Henderson Railroad Company's land, Section 114, Crooked Creek. Area of drainage, 3x8 miles; acreage possible of irrigation unlimited.

Texas & Pacific Railroad Company's land, Section 8, Block 3, South Pecan Bayou. Area of drainage, 6x10 miles; acreage possible of irrigation unlimited.

Southern Pacific Railroad Company's land, Section 17, Block 5, Deep Creek. Area of drainage, 6x7 miles; acres possible of irrigation, unlimited.

Judge Gilbert has been in correspondence with State officials anent this important matter, and in the near future one of the State Engineers will come to Callahan County, make a preliminary survey of the proposed dam sites, the drainage territory and the land below the dams susceptible of irrigation, and pass expert judgment on the profitable availability of each of the propositions.

In the meantime Temporary Secretary George W. Symonds has opened up a correspondence with Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, as to the present availability of the data gathered years ago, when a survey was made by a party of United States Engineers of Clear Creek and Pecan Bayou, on the Eubanks Survey in the southwestern part of the County, which territory these engineers predicted, according to J. Iley McWhorter, would one day bloom and blossom, a veritable garden of Eden.

CHINESE PIRATE KNIGHTLY ROGUE

Is Polite and Considerate of His Victims.

Foochow, China.—With consideration for their victims worthy of Robin Hood, pirates recently took possession of the Chinese steamer Ningshin, ran her into a harbor near Amoy, and proceeded to loot her most systematically, according to a report brought here by William Overholt and family, American missionaries, passengers and witnesses of the occurrence.

The quartermaster bravely refused to turn over his keys to the pirate chief and was killed, but the pirates made up a purse of $300 and intrusted it to another of the ship's officers to be given to the family of the murdered man.

The pirates boarded the ship in Shanghai in the guise of passengers. When nearing Amoy they overpowered the officers and crew, acting with precision and with practically no violence.

They politely warned the Chinese-speaking passengers not to get excited, informing them their object was primarily the seizing of 90,000 pounds of silver bars consigned to the American Oriental bank at Foochow. Nevertheless, it was explained somewhat apologetically, the pirates needed some clothing and would be obliged to accept some from the passengers.

Only the passengers in the private cabins were robbed, the less fortunate ones in the matter of comforts being unmolested. Toward the foreign travelers the pirates were extremely polite. From them they took nothing, evidently under orders from their chief.

Under compulsion the crew piloted the Ningshin into a harbor, where, in a concealed location, appeared a fort suggestive of medieval days. Boats put out from shore in great numbers to take off the treasure.

Many of the wild-looking boatmen attempted to board, but the pirate chief stood them off at the point of a revolver while his followers brought the loot to the ship's side. He explained to the passengers: "If these fellows get on board I can't control them, and they certainly will rob you of everything you have."

As soon as the silver was unloaded into the small boats the captain of the ship was ordered to put to sea, and as the boats dropped astern the pirates fired a salute with their small arms, the chief bowing low and swinging his hat in a wide theatrical gesture.

Lucky, Once Alley Pup, Guest of $5,000 Dog

New York.—A month ago Lucky was gleaming a precarious living snooping in garbage pails and sleeping in some darkened doorway.

Recently she sat at the right paw of Kiki, a princess in her own right, daughter of Bantam King, a $5,000 bundle of canine perfection. Lucky munched liver and lapped ice cream, the guest of honor at a feast of the social elect of New York's dogdom.

About three weeks ago, Mrs. E. A. Rundquist was walking in Madison avenue. With her was Kiki, dignified, aristocratic.

On the curb stood Lucky, miserable, despondent, shivering. On the other end of the cotton string that encircled her neck was Joey Girojo, six-year-old human fragment, also shivering.

Mrs. Rundquist, wife of a surgeon, has a soft spot for boys and dogs. Joey acquired a new sweater, and Lucky a warm blanket, harness and leash. When it came time for Kiki's annual Christmas party to her aristocratic friends, Lucky was included, and Joey.

Mrs. Rundquist's spacious apartment was thrown open for the occasion and the guests permitted the freedom of the luxurious Persian rugs and brocade furniture.

Aircraft Hook Up, Unhooked in Flight

Bellefonte, Pa.—The double feat of an airplane hooking itself to an airship while both were in full flight and then freeing itself to sail away again, was accomplished for the first time at Scott field, near here.

The ship used was the army dirigible TC-3, and the plane was a Sperry messenger, a small type. A metal hook attached to a frame over the motor of the plane was used to catch on to a small trapeze, swinging from cables slung under the bombing rails of the ship. The feat was accomplished at an elevation of 1,500 feet. Lieutenant Frank McKee had charge of the TC-3 and Lieutenant Fenner of McCook field, Dayton, piloted the Sperry.

Fire Razes Stately

Old Murdaugh Place

Suffolk, Va.—Murdaugh place, a stately old mansion of colonial days, located on the Suffolk-Portsmouth boulevard near here, was destroyed by fire recently.
The building, more recently known as the Savage home, was built more than 150 years ago.
It was on the lawn of this old colonial home that the American soldiers camped on the night before meeting the British in Norfolk in 1779, the day before Suffolk was burned.

During the Civil war it several times was a strategic point between the lines of the contending armies. On the lawn were magnificent old box trees more than a century old, and the mansion in days gone by was the center of social life in that part of Nansemond county.
The house was three stories,
with a brick basement.

of February, A. D. 1925, to contest, should they desire to do so, the application of Mrs. Mary E. Yarbro, filed in the said court, and which will then and there be acted on, for the probate of the last will and testament of said Edgar Yarbro, deceased, which cannot be produced in court, and which in said application is substantially stated to be as follows:

Your petitioner, Mrs. Mary E.
Yarbro, shows to the court that Edgar Yarbro departed this life on the 17th day of April, A. D. 1922, leaving real and personal property of the estimated value of One Thousand Dollars: Petitioners shows that said Edgar Yarbro, deceased resided in Callahan County, Texas at the time of his death, and the said deceased left a written will and testament, bearing date the 16th day of April, A. D. 1922, which so far as your petitioners is informed, is properly executed.

That your petitioner, who resides in Callahan County, Texas, was named executrix in said will and expressly exempted from giving bond as such executrix, and that she is not disqualified by law from receiving letters testamentary.

Your petitioner further states that said testator, being of sound and disposing mind and memory and more than twenty-one years of age did, on said 16th day of April, 1922, in the presence of W. L. Bowlius and J. F.
Browning, who were at the time credible witnesses, above the age of fourteen years, execute his last will and testament, and said subscribing witnesses did, at his request and in his presence, sign the said instrument.
That by the terms of said instrument he did devise and bequeath to this applicant, Mary E. Yarbro, wife of said Edgar Yarbro, all of his real and personal property of every kind and description and wheresoever situated, save and except one brown pony, which said testator willed and bequeathed to his daughter, Dora Yarbro. That said will has accidentally been lost or destroyed while the same was valid and has not been revoked by the testator.

That your petitioner was named independent executrix in said will, which has not been revoked, and she is not disqualified to receive letters testamentary. That the said Edgar Yarbro, the testator, left surviving him his wife, the said Mary E. Yarbro, and eight children, whose names and residences are as follows, to-wit: G.
I. Yarbro, now residing at Caddo,
Texas; Mrs. C. C. Sayre, wife of A.
M. Sayre, now residing at Breckenridge, Texas; Mrs. Alice Moore, wife of Harry Moore, now residing at Sierra Blanco, Texas; Tom D. Yarron, now residing at Sierra Blanco, Texas; Riggs Yarbro, now residing at Hearn, Texas; Lennox Yarbro, now residing at Fayetteville, Louisiana, and Mrs. Dora Allphin, wife of Everett Allphin, now residing at Baird, Texas.

That said Edgar Yarbro left surviving him no other child or children, and no descendant of any deceased child.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that notice of this application be given by citation as required by law, and that the above named heirs of said Edgar Yarbro be duly cited: That said will be admitted to probate and letters testamentary be issued to your petitioner, and that such other and further orders be made as to the court may see proper.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

The Texas Legislature, this week, overwhelmingly defeated the Federal Child Labor Amendment, Vote in the Senate, 2 for, 20 against; House, 16 for, 111 against. So far 16 States have voted on the measure, 2 for and 14 against. Twenty-five States can defeat the Amendment.

We really have no expectation of having our ideas in full carried out, either now or in the near future, but if any fair and just law can be passed to limit the cost of holding primary elections, it should be done.

As we see it, the double primary is a nuisance and should be abolished, because it is a useless expense and a bother to the people. Take our campaign last year that lasted for months and the second primary was the most bitter ever known in Texas.

A preferential primary, that allows a voter to express a second or even a third choice, would do away with the necessity for a second primary or, if that is deemed impracticable, let a plurality nominate, the same as a plurality elects in the general election, but do away with the second primary, by all means, is our idea.

We do not want the primary system destroyed, as a great many advocate, but we do want it simplified, to reduce expenses, to lessen the botheration, confusion and bitterness engendered by the present law. The runoff or second primary is responsible for more bitterness in Texas than ever devised by mortal man. Kill it!

State Government in Texas costs too much. Compare the tax values and the tax rate of thirty years ago with the tax rate and taxable property of today and one can see that while taxable values have increased over 300 per cent, the tax rate has increased about 90 per cent.

It costs more to run the State Government now than it did thirty years ago, that is all true, but the increased taxable values ought to meet the increased cost and would, if proper business methods and economy were used, now, as we did thirty years ago.

The writer served on the Committee of Revenue and Taxation of the Twenty-fourth Legislature—1895—and had to do with all tax matters. The taxable value then, as we recollect, was $865,000,000. We appropriated money enough to run the State and pay off a deficiency debt of $1,365,000 from previous administrations, at on a 45 cent rate.

We had no intangible tax, gasoline tax, inheritance tax, income tax,

All these new-fangled tax schemes only pull more taxes out of the taxpayer's pockets. Every tax laid on a corporation or private business is passed on to the people. Nothing but an ad valorem tax is fair and equitable, as a rule. The automobile tax and gasoline tax are exceptions.

People are taxed heavily to build roads, whether they own a vehicle or not. Automobiles, contrary to what we all believed years ago, wear out roads worse than ordinary vehicles and wagons, and the owners ought to help pay for the roads they use more than anyone else.

Instead of exploring new fields for more taxes the Legislature should attack and if possible cut out the extravagant expenditures of most of the State institutions, expenses unknown thirty years ago, at least so far as the State Treasury was concerned.

It is time to put a crimp in high taxes and high cost of State Government. The tax payers now have severe attacks of brain storm, every tax paying period and, they have about reached the limit.

THE TERRELL LAW A FAILURE

The present Primary Law should be wiped out and a new law enacted that will do away with the double primary.

The cost of holding primary elections has increased to such an extent that it costs more for a candidate to run for a county office now than it did to run for Governor fifty years ago. We still favor a primary election law, but want to see a great change in the law, so as to reduce expenses.

We believe that one primary election should be held for all parties and the counties should pay the expense, the same as other elections. Why not? The primary election in Texas has virtually taken the place of the General Election.

Our idea is that the county candidates should be assessed according to the salary the office for which they are candidates, but limit the amount to $10 each, candidates for precinct offices in proportion. State and District officers should not be assessed but one dollar each, to pay for having their name printed on the ballot.

Commissioner's Court should have the power to increase or decrease the number of election officers, according to the number of voters residing in each election precinct. No election box that polls less than fifty votes should be allowed more than three election officers.

All money collected from candidates should be turned over to the County Treasurer by the County Chairman and the county pay all expenses, the same as at any regular or special election.

The idea is to reduce cost, which has grown to unreasonable proportions. Require all counties to hold primary elections to nominate candidates, but should no county candidates appear before the primary, let the county hold the election anyway, but charge the State and District candidates $1 each to have their name printed on the primary ballots.

Possibly the Constitution may prohibit the counties paying the cost of a primary election, and no doubt it would for only one party, but if one primary by one set of officers is held for all political parties, none could plead unfairness or partiality to any political party. This is merely a rough outline of our plan.

YOUR INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1925.

WHERE? Collector of Internal Revenue for the District in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? Two per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemptions and credits.

Four per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Six per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

YOUR INCOME TAX—No. 3

If you are single and support in your home one or more persons closely related to you and over whom you exercise family control, you are the head of a family and entitled, under the Revenue Act of 1924, to the same personal exemption allowed a married person, $2,500.

In addition, a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each person dependent upon him for chief support, if such person is either under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. Such dependent need not be a member of the taxpayer's household.

For example, an unmarried son who supports in his home an aged mother, is entitled to an exemption of $2,500, plus the $400 credit for a dependent, a total of $2,900. If from choice the mother lived in another city, the son, although her chief support, would be entitled only to the $1,000 exemption, plus the $400 credit. The mother not living with him, he is not considered the head of a family.

An exemption as the head of a family can be claimed by only one member of a household.

The $400 credit does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

YOUR INCOME TAX—No. 4

The Revenue Act of 1924 provides that the status of a taxpayer relative to the amount of his personal exemptions shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family. Under the preceding act the amount of the exemption to which the taxpayer was entitled was determined by his status as a single person, a married person, or the head of a family on the last day of the taxable year, December 31, if the return was made on the calendar year basis, as most are.

For example, a taxpayer married on September 30, 1924, would be entitled to an exemption of $1,375.

For the first nine months of the year he is classified as a single man, entitling him to an exemption of $750—three-fourths of the $1,000 exemption allowed a single person—and for the last three months he is entitled to an exemption of $625—one-fourth of the $2,500 exemption allowed a married person.

If on June 30, 1924, a taxpayer ceased being the head of a family—the support in one household of a relative or relatives being discontinued—he is allowed an exemption of $1,750—one-half of the exemption of $1,000 granted a single person, plus one-half the exemption of $2,500 granted the head of a family.

With regard to the $400 credit for a dependent, the taxpayer's status is determined as of the last day of the taxable year, if, during the year, his support of such dependent ceased, he is not entitled to this credit.

Record of Lotteries

The earliest lottery of which an authoritative record exists was conducted in Bruges in 1446. In 1530 a lottery with money prizes is recorded in Florence. Long before this time lotteries were held in Rome as a form of amusement, Nero having given such prizes as houses and slaves.

Citizenship of Indians

The law that all children born in the United States become citizens by virtue of such birth does not include Indians. An Indian cannot become a citizen, with the right to vote, unless he severs tribal relations and lives as a white man, satisfying the authorities on Indian affairs that he is entitled to citizenship.

TRACES SOURCE OF 'AMERICAN BEAUTY'

Geography of Cosmetics Seen to Be Shifting.

Washington, D. C.—"The geography of cosmetics is shifting," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society. "Formerly the women of the United States drew upon the more sophisticated countries of Europe for the boxed and bottled substances that alter their appearance for better or for worse. Now they are coming more and more to use what might be called 'made in America' cosmetics," and the country is even exporting aids to beauty to the ends of the earth.

"The big three in the world of cosmetics are powder, rouge and cream; and of these stand-bys of the feminine toilet table the United States exports about $2,500,000 worth annually. This probably is close to the value of the imports of these specific substances, for the greater part of the $9,000,000 worth of 'perfumery and cosmetics' brought into the country each year is made up of perfumes and perfume materials. Many times the amount of the exports and imports of powders, creams and rouges are consumed in American boudoirs—and on American street corners—for the value of the products turned out annually by the perfumers and cosmetic manufacturers of the United States is between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

"For the best rouge the consumers of the United States must still look beyond the country's borders. The original coloring material was dried red corollas of the thistlelike safflower plant of the Near East. The plant is cultivated in France and still is the source of the bloom on millions of rosy cheeks. Much of the coloring matter of commercial rouges is carmine, the red obtained from the crushed, dried bodies of the cochineal insect, also a foreign substance.

Face Powders.

"Face powders are made of ground and boiled talc and chalk, rice powder and corn powder. Of the last named ingredient America possesses vast quantities, but unfortunately the grains of cornstarch are about three times the size of those of rice starch, and therefore do not make as high-grade face powders. Much rice is grown in the United States and home-produced as well as imported rice powder is metamorphosed into the Poudre de Riz of the cosmetic counter.

"Tremendous quantities of talc and chalk are used annually in the form of talcum powder and in combination with rice and corn powders. Low-grade powders are made from domestic talc mined in several eastern states, but for highest grade powders the manufacturers import their materials. Annual imports of talc and chalk amount to about 10,000,000 pounds from Italy and 5,000,000 pounds from France.

"Cold cream is the typical cream cosmetic and one of the oldest of the beauty aids used today. Savages started the cold cream habit millions of years ago with rancid butter and salt.

"Face powders and rouges are largely for application to the cheeks, but no other facial feature has been permitted to escape the cosmetic specialist. There are henna and other washes for the hair, eyebrow pencils, lipsticks, lash pastes, and 'shadow' coloring for eyelids. In addition the well appointed cosmetic shop offers hand lotions, and nail polishes and enamels, and such general cosmetics as skin foods, complexion clays and sunburn reinovers.

"Henna is extracted from the leaves of an Egyptian plant. The coloring matter of eyebrow pencils and lash pastes may be India ink or coal-tar dyes. Most lipsticks are made of greases stiffened with beeswax and colored with carmine or safflower. The majority of the hand lotions and vanishing creams contain glycerin, of which the United States produces ample quantities. Nail polishes usually contain tin oxide and nail varnishes and enamels consist of resinous gums, mostly imported. The ingredient par excellence for 'skin foods' is cocoa butter, the fat produced as a by-product in chocolate and cocoa manufacture. The cocoa butter imported as such comes chiefly from the Netherlands and Germany.

United States Helps World Keep Clean.
"Soap, the basic substance in the toilets of men and women alike, is made in vast quantities in the United States, and more than $3,000,000 worth is exported annually. Various oils, treated with alkalis, are used in soap manufacture, including our own cottonseed oil. Coconut, olive and palm oils are the standard fatty substances employed, however. Annually the Philippines contribute $16,000,000 worth of coconut oil, while $50,000,000 worth of olive oil comes from Italy and Spain, and $55,000,000 worth of palm oil is imported directly from British West Africa and via England from other tropical countries.

"The history of soap is closely intertwined with the history of modern civilization. It is believed that the Phoenicians were the first to make soap and that they taught the art to the Gauls. The Gauls in turn taught the Romans their rather crude method of treating tallow with wood ashes. The Romans improved the method somewhat. A complete soap factory whose product was doubtless highly prized by the beauties of ancient Rome, has been found among the ruins of Pompeii. From Rome the use of soap has continually spread farther and farther. One might say that civilization has slipped around the world on a film of soap."

INDIAN TAKES DYE SECRET TO GRAVE

Papagos Without Formula Used in Basket Weaving.

Tucson, Ariz.—Handed down from mother to daughter, a priceless possession, a portion of tribal tradition, the age-old secret of the colors used in the weaving of the basketwork of the Papagos, closely associated with the Pima Indians, is now a thing of the past.

An aged squaw, who lived for many years in the vicinity of Tucson, died at the age of ninety-odd years. Only a few, aside from her family, marked the passing of the daughter of the Papago race.

The last piece of woven work done by the wrinkled, skilled fingers, the result of six months' painstaking labor, was brought to a shop in Tucson shortly before the passing of the ancient weaver.

On its sides, encircling the basket, are the flying Thunderbirds, woven in four colors, red, green, black and white.

And now, since her death, it is said that the formula for making the red and green embodied in the Thunderbird design has passed with her, as the aged artisan did not impart her knowledge of their preparation, and the secret of applying them, to anyone. Whether science will rediscover what roots and herbs were used in the brewing of the nonfading colors in the Thunderbird pattern, or whether the art has become a lost one, is a question which time alone will prove.

While the Papagos, belonging to the group of village dwellers, have cultivated crops, using irrigation for many hundred years, they have also subsisted, to a large extent, upon the desert flora, not only employing the white, bleached leaves of the yucca plant in the manufacture of basketry, but have utilized the fruit of the giant cactus and the mesquite for drink and food.

Eskimo's Marriage Fixed in Infancy

New York.—Shortly after an Eskimo baby is born it is promised by its parents to the little child of some of their friends or neighbors held in high esteem. This pledge is mutually binding and hardly ever disregarded, so that an Eskimo's destiny as to wedded life is settled from the beginning, says Christian Leden. By sixteen or seventeen the Eskimo girl has reached maturity, and then she prepares for herself her first long-hooded coat, or amaut, the kind her mother wears. This is a sign to her affianced sweetheart she is ready to marry. Perhaps he is away at the time, but word reaches him of her step, so he starts forth to claim her.

As a matter of form he shows little impatience in getting to her. He does not tell his errand to anyone, and out of courtesy no one mentions it to him, but the purpose of his journey is thoroughly understood.

Guardian of the Estate of Neal Moore et al, Minors. 8-1t

Grip Left You a Bad Back?

Is winter time your backache time? Are you lame, stiff and achy; tortured with constant backache and sharp stabs of pain?

Look, then, to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills weaken the kidneys and prevent them from properly filtering the blood. Then follows nerve-racking backache, sudden stabs of pain, headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities. You feel weak, tired—all worn out.

Don't wait! Delay may prove serious. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Convincing Proof:

John Wahn, Prop. Shoe Repair Shop, 1904 1-2 Washington Ave., Houston, Texas, says: "My back was weak and when I sat down for awhile, sharp catches took me through my back and it was hard for me to get up. My kidneys acted too freely especially at night. After using Doan's Pills and my kidneys were regulated and the backaches disappeared."

Gen. Robert Edward Lee

Concluded from first page adhere to his State or to the Nation, and I finally assert that whichever way he decided, if only he decided honestly, putting self-interest behind him, he decided right.

He puts Lee in good company and further says:

But he stands awaiting sentence at the bar of history in very respectable company. Associated with him are, for instance, William of Orange, known as The Silent; John Hampden, the original Pater Patrie; Oliver Cromwell, the Protector of the English Commonwealth; Sir Henry Vane, once a Governor of Massachusetts, and George Washington, a Virginian of note.

As to Robert E. Lee, individually, I can only repeat what I have already said: If in all respects similarly circumstanced, I hope I should have been filial and unselfish enough to have done as Lee did.

At the time he uttered these words Charles Francis Adams was the head of the Historical Society of Massachusetts. And thus it happens that "the avenging pen of history," instead of denouncing Lee as a traitor, lauds him as a patriot and places him by the side of the immortal Washington.

About five years after Mr. Adams delivered his remarkable address Gamaliel Bradford, a noted writer of New England, published his book, "Lee the American." He took the same position as to Lee's decision at the beginning of the war and said if similarly circumstanced he would have done exactly as Lee did. Referring to Lee's death, as occurring only five years after the close of the war, he asks:

Was he not a loyal, a confident, a hopeful American, and one of the greatest?

About the time Mr. Bradford was publishing his book, "Lee the American," Thomas Nelson Page was writing his great book, "Robert E. Lee; Man and Soldier," in which occurs these prophetic words:

Some day there will stand in the Nation's Capital a great monument to Lee, erected not only by the Southern people, whose glory it is that he was the fruit of their civilization and the leader of their armies, but by the American people, whose pride it will be that he was their fellow citizen. Meantime he has a nobler monument than can be built of marble or of brass. His monument is the adoration of the South; his shrine is in every Southern heart.

HISTORY'S VERDICT CONCERNING LEE AS A SOLDIER

The London Times, referring to Lee's incomparable strategy, said:

No one, certainly since Napoleon, has conquered against such immense odds.

Colonel Henderson, an eminent English military authority, says:

The victory of Chancellorsville, in which Lee, with 62,000 men and 170 guns, completely routed Hooker on his own ground, with 130,000 men and 448 guns, was the most brilliant feat of arms of the century.

Colonel Swift, of the General Staff of the United States Army, says:

The odds of numbers were greater against Lee in the Wilderness campaign than against Napoleon in the Waterloo campaign, but Lee had his army at the end, and Napoleon's disaster was complete.

Theodore Roosevelt said:

Lee will undoubtedly rank as, without exception, the greatest of all great captains that the English-speaking people have brought forth.

General Meade had been an associate with Lee as an officer of Engineers in the old army. After the surrender Lee remarked to him:

"Meade, years are telling on you; your hair is getting quite gray."

"Ah, General Lee," was Meade's prompt reply, "it is not the work of years; you are responsible for my gray hairs!"

Lee was a most humane commander. Charles Francis Adams said:

As a leader, he conducted operations on the highest plane. Whether acting on the defensive upon the soil of his native State or leading his army into the enemy's country, he was humane, self-restrained and strictly observant of the most advanced rules of civilized warfare. He respected the non-combatant; nor did he ever permit the wanton destruction of private property.

HISTORY'S VERDICT CONCERNING LEE AS A MAN

"Essentially a man of character," is the terse way Charles Francis Adams puts it.

The New York Herald said:

Never had a mother a nobler son. In him the military genius of America was developed to a greater extent than ever before. In him all that was pure and lofty in mind and purpose found lodgment. He came nearer the ideal of a Christian general than any man we can think of, for he was a greater soldier than Havelock and equally as devout a Christian. Displaying neither bitterness nor regret over the irrevocable past, he conquers us in misfortune by the grand manner in which he sustained himself, even as he dazzled us by his genius when the tramp of his soldiers resounded through the valleys of Virginia.

Professor George Long, a distinguished scholar of England, wrote a friend in Virginia:

If I were not detained here by circumstances, I would cross the Atlantic to see the first and noblest man of the day.

Professor Walsley, of Oxford University, sent Lee his translation of "The Iliad" of Homer, and on the flyleaf wrote the following dedication:

"To Gen. R. E. Lee, the most stainless of living commanders and, except in fortune, the greatest, this volume is presented with the writer's earnest sympathy and respectful admiration."

The London Standard, announcing the death of Lee, said:

Truer greatness, a loftier nature, a spirit more unselfish, a character purer, more chivalrous the world has rarely, if ever, known. Of stainless hue and deep religious feeling, yet free from all taint of cant and fanaticism. A country which has given birth to men like him and those who followed him, may look the chivalry of Europe in the face without shame, for the fatherlands of Sidney and of Bayard never produced a nobler soldier, gentleman and Christian than General Robert E. Lee.

Editor's Note—The main part of this article is from the Nashville

Christian Advocate, and was prepared by Rev. H. M. Smith of Virginia.

The reason we give so much space to this article is that even the present generation of Southern people do not understand the position of President Davis, General Lee and other generals, statesmen and leaders of the South.

The right of Secession had never been questioned seriously up to the War Between the States. Daniel Webster, perhaps the greatest constitutional lawyer this country ever produced, admitted the right of secession, but said it was inexpedient.

The New England States threatened to secede during the War of 1812. A man's allegiance then was considered first to his State. General Lee was opposed to Secession, but when his State, Virginia, withdrew from the Union, he resigned his commission in the United States Army, notwithstanding the fact that he was offered a high command in the United States Army.

He sacrificed position—perhaps that of Commander-in-Chief of the Union Army—to cast his lot with his own people. That is why Charles Francis Adams said that, situated as General Lee was, he would have done the same thing.

After the war General Lee was offered all sorts of inducements to enter business life, promising wealth and ease in his old age, but he refused them all to accept the Presidency of Washington and Lee University, ruined by the war. His salary was to be $1,500 a year, and no assurance that he would receive that.

This is why the people of the South have always idolized Robert Edward Lee, a man whom his bitterest foe could not find a flaw in his stainless character, as a soldier or in his private life.
