NUMBER 35

County To Vote On Local Option On August 26, 1933

The Commissioners Court of Callahan county in a regular session of the court which met Monday ordered a county-wide election on Local Option to be held on Saturday, August 26. A petition bearing several hundred names was presented to the court asking that the local election be held at this time, which is the date of the state-wide election on beer.

The county-wide local option election was ordered to be held on this date to avoid the expense of another election which would have certainly been petitioned for if the State goes wet, which will save the county some four hundred dollars.

The court appointed election officers for this election, a list of which will be given in The Star next week.

A GREAT SIGH OF RELIEF

There has really been little change in prohibition sentiment. The majority of the people never wanted it, and they are getting their first opportunity to squarely express themselves at the polls. Heretofore, ecclesiastical domination and the Anti-Saloon League "by hook or by crook", have prevented this.

Prohibition is a political question of the rankest kind, because it excites so much bitterness. It has disrupted communities and churches and divided families without compensating benefits. It has brought about nothing it's advocates promised. The jails are not empty, crime has not diminished and the laboring man has no wages to spend in beer, "which he would otherwise carry home to his family". In other words, they have been completely mistaken as to its ultimate effect.

Stripped, the naked question is, whether such a law ought to exist or be enforced among a free people, not whether it can be, or is being enforced.

We all know that the law is not being enforced, and, here, some wise-acre, never having heard of mala in se and mala prohibita, a distinction that is recognized in the laws of every civilized people, will rise up and ask the question, "how about the law of murder", and an air of supreme satisfaction will overspread his countenance not realizing his dense ignorance.

Prohibition is dead along with other foolish puritanical laws, ecclesiastical domination is passing, the Anti-Saloon League is "busted" and lost its power, henceforth soberness and temperance will be the result of force of character, and not rammed down our throats, as a matter of law. The clergy will pursue their sacred calling unhampered by the bitterness of politics, and all of us, acting together as citizens, not as churchmen, will conduct our political and secular affairs.

Getting rid of this disturbing and vexing question will cause a great sigh of relief to go up from thousands, clergy as well as laity. It was only a question of time when the churches would have met the same fate that has befallen them in Russia.

The reaction that will follow the puritanical laws of the last twenty years is the danger to be apprehended in the immediate future.

Mrs. J. Y. Gilliland Honored On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilliland entertained with a birthday dinner in honor of their mother, Mrs. J. Y. Gilliland at their ranch home near Belle Plaine on Friday of last week.

The party was a complete surprise to Mrs. Gilliland. Mr. and Mrs. John Asbury had invited her to go out with them on a fishing trip and the route led by the old ranch home where she found a group of relatives and close friends who had gathered there at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilliland to share in the pleasures of the day. Those waiting to greet Mrs. Gilliland were, Mrs. Martha Gilliland, Mrs. J. E. Gilliland, Mrs. Jasper McCoy, Mrs. W. E. Gilliland, Mrs. Henry Lambert, Mrs. Mary Warren, Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Mrs. J. F. Dyer, Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mrs. W. P. West, Mrs. Sarah Barclay, Mrs. Jimmie Hastings, of Lamesa, Mrs. Livingston, Miss John Gilliland, Catherine James, Mrs. Carl West.

At the dinner hour the guests were seated at a long table beautifully arranged with the birthday cake in the center.

Most of the guests present were pioneers of this section, having lived here for the past half century and during the afternoon many memories of the years gone by were recalled. Some were happy memories and some were sad.

Mrs. Gilliland was the recipient of many beautiful gifts on this occasion and those present will remember the day as a most pleasant one.

Mass Meeting

There will be a meeting on Main Street of Baird Saturday, August 19, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Speakers will explain the necessity of voting for the Relief Bonds on August 26th, 1933.

The Federal Government has just allotted Texas $2,377,000.00 to be used for relief purposes for this month. This will give Callahan County about $4,000.00 of these funds to be used for relief purposes.

Everyone is invited to attend this meeting and inform themselves in reference to this issue before the election.

There is great need among our people and we must do our part to help.

The Mayor of the City of Baird and the County Judge of Callahan County are co-operating in this movement and urge your attendance for this meeting.

W. S. HAMLETT,
Chairman, Callahan Co.
Board of Welfare and Employment.

County Home Loan Committee

B. F. Russell as attorney and J. Rupert Jackson as appraiser have been appointed by Congressman Thos. L. Blanton as a local committee to serve Callahan county in the work of the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

The Messenger

This week sees the second edition of The Messenger, a combination news-trade journal, which is edited by Bob Price.

The Messenger is a newsy little paper and carries a nice line of ads from Baird merchants. The Messenger is printed in The Star office.

Bob Price, who is a nephew of the editor of The Star began his career as a printer in The Star office some years ago when as a small boy he went to work as a printers devil. He got himself all smeared up with printers ink then and had visions of some day being a full-fledged newspaperman, and notwithstanding the fact that he has been trailing cattle over the mountain ranges around Van Horn for the past several years he can't get away from his dream of a newspaper career and we trust that his venture will prove successful and that some day he will occupy a place in the newspaper field of Texas equal to that held by his maternal grandfather, the late W. E. Gilliland, founder of The Baird Star.

Mrs. Ode Berry and little daughter Elouise left Sunday for Arp to visit her sister Mrs. L. E. White.

WITH BAIRD BAPTIST

My how I enjoyed being at home last Sunday and our service was splendid. After dinner I went to Dudley and baptized a fine young woman who had joined the church there during the meeting. Bro. Tatum of Clyde went with me and preached to us and all were delighted with his sermon.

Sunday night we started the Belle Plaine meeting and it is starting out mighty well. I am teaching a singing school in connection with the meeting with a good prospect there.

I will preach at Midway next Sunday afternoon, let all out that way take notice and be on hand.

I will preach at home next Sunday morning and my subject will be "An Open Door." All are urged to be there. We were so glad to see some in the congregation last Sunday who have formerly been kept away but who were permitted to come because of the new order of things. Now we hope they will be back and others with them. Come on folks lets work, pray and pay until the victory is won or the Lord calls us home.

Federal Representative Visits County In Interest Of Organization

Mr. Tom Woods of Texas A. & M. College and representing the Federal government concerning cotton and wheat was in Baird Wednesday afternoon trying to get a line on the opinion of the farmers as to whether they wanted organization into the government unit on marketing wheat. Those counties who organize will get 30 cents per bushel more for wheat than those who are not in the organization. If we use the government figure of 114,000 bushels, which was Callahan's figure for 1932, then 30 cents more per bushel would amount to about $34,200.

Mr. Woods said if the wheat program was to be carried on in Callahan it would be necessary for the county to help maintain the agent, as the government had borne? all the expense of the cotton program and that the wheat program would run some six months in organization, but with out help the government would withdraw from Callahan.

Quite a large number of farmers and stockmen of Callahan county express themselves as being in favor of retaining Mr. Ross B. Jenkins, who is here now in charge of the cotton plow-up campaign, as county agent. The county would be required to pay only $800, per year to retain a county agent.

We understand petitions are being circulated now asking the court to retain Mr. Jenkins as county agent.

If the county does not make some steps to cooperate with the government, we will lose their help.

West Texans To Visit A Century of Progress

Fort Worth, Aug. 3—The West Texas exhibit at A Century of Progress will be in place when West Texans arrive on the official West Texas World Fair Tour to spend "Texas Day" and three other days in Chicago.

The exhibit has been prepared under the direction of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The tour is being sponsored by the Fort Worth Junior Chamber of Commerce and is endorsed by the West Texas Chamber.

The West Texas group will be joined here by a Fort Worth delegation which is now being organized. The train will leave here at 2:25 p. m. August 19, and will arrive here on the return trip August 26th.

Besides being permitted to stay in their Pullman berths while in Chicago members of the party will be entertained with sightseeing tours, a night boat ride and other affairs now being arranged.

August 19 is the only date on which World Fair special trains may be run on the low rates current during the early part of the Summer, the railroads having been ordered to increase their round-trip rates effective Aug. 1. Warren Day, chairman of the Junior Chamber committee has announced.

Proportionate rates have been made for West Texas cities along the Texas and Pacific lines and along the Fort Worth and Denver City line between Childress and Fort Worth. Those rates are based on the Fort Worth rates of $25.35 for Coach ticket; $29.05 with two persons in upper berth; $32.70 with one in upper berth; $31.85 with two in lower berth, and $38.35 for one in lower berth.

Reservations may be made through West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors, local Chambers of Commerce, the Fort Worth Junior Chamber and agents of the T. and P. and the Fort Worth and D. C. Railways.

So-Called "Fresh"

MANY comparisons have been made in print of the nutritional value of canned foods which are harvested at high speed and eloped into their containers at the very moment of prime ripeness and the "fresh" foods that are offered in our city markets, but it remained for J. C. Richendrier of Emerson, Wash., to bring the real facts into bold relief.

He stated recently that so-called fresh fruits and vegetables are giving canned fruits and vegetables the hardest competition, not because they are any better or any cheaper, but because of the simple fact that they are allowed to parade under the false banner of fresh.

operate and sell a young carrot that was pulled in Mexico a month ago as fresh?

"What do you think of a racket that is allowed to pick green fruit, place it in an air chamber until it turns a characteristic ripe color, and then offer it to the consumer as fresh?"

"What do you think of a racket that is allowed to operate on apples, peeling them the same as a canner does, slicing and quartering them the same, then instead of sterilizing them with heat, treat them with a sulphur dioxide gas and still be permitted to offer them to the consumer as fresh apples?"

"Fruits and vegetables that are weeks away from the vine, tree and plant, should not be allowed to be offered as fresh!"

Real "Rackets"

"What do you think," he asked, "of a racket that is allowed to"

The settlers were from Scotland and they named the place Perth, in honor of James, earl of Perth. Soon after the Indian name "Amboy" was added. It was the capital of the province nearly all the time it was held as a colony of Great Britain.

THE PRICE OF BUSINESS SPEED

Banking Institute Speaker Says That Bank Failures Followed Business Failures

CHICAGO, Ill.—Many appear to think that failures occur only to banks, but the complete story of business shows that failures of American banks have followed the failure of business enterprises, and have not been a cause of those failures, Dr. Harold Stonier, National Educational Director of the American Bankers Association, declared in a recent address here before the American Institute of Banking.

"It is true that we have had more failures in our banks than in the banks of a number of other countries," he said. "It is also true that we have had more failures in drug stores, grocery stores, railroads, and in every other type of business enterprise. At the same time, it must be said that we still have left after all our failures, more drug stores, more grocery stores, more railroads, and more banks than any other country."

People do not realize, he said, that we have in excess of 108 banks which have been in existence over a century and we have more than 2,600 banks which have been in existence over 50 years.

"In other words, we have more banks over 100 years of age than any other country—we have more banks over 50 years of age than any country in the world," he declared. "The American banking system has not fallen down—it is not in danger of decay. Such failures as it has experienced are due to the price we pay for too rapid development of business enterprises, but that is the American spirit."

U. S. GOVERNMENT GREATEST BANKER

Runs Fifty-two Financing Institutions With Investment of Two Billion Dollars—Thirty-nine Agricultural

AMERICA'S biggest banker today is the Federal Government, which is now operating fifty-two financing institutions, says Professor John Hanna of Columbia University in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"Forty of these are owned entirely by the Government," he says. "In twelve more the Government has already a two-thirds interest. Thirty-seven are intended to be permanent. Twenty-five of the permanent ones and fourteen of the temporary ones are agricultural."

"The capital stock held by the United States in these banks has a par value of $1,380,000,000. The Government's total investment is nearly $2,000,000,000. Resources of these institutions exceed $3,000,000,000. In addition the Government has detailed supervision over fifty-one mortgage banks, operating under Federal charter."

"The Government also supervises 4,600 local agricultural loan associations with Federal charters. All this takes no account of the relations of the Government to the twelve Federal Reserve banks, nor of the authority recently given to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to buy preferred stock in national and state commercial banks."

The President has ordered the consolidation of the agricultural credit agencies into the new Farm Credit Administration, says Professor Hanna. He expresses the opinion that before the consolidation of the agricultural financing agencies too much machinery had been created to administer the financing institutions which the Government either owns or supervises.

"Existing institutions represent a considerable differentiation of function and any consolidations should be preceded by a careful survey of the actual activities of the various institutions," he continues. "The only consolidation the Administration has announced is that of the agricultural credit agencies in the Farm Credit Administration. As a permanent solution this arrangement is too closely bound up with politics."

"A better scheme would be to create a finance corporation under Federal charter to take over either the agricultural finance activities of the Government or all its lending agencies."

"The Government's financing and banking activities should be kept severely apart from subsidy and other schemes for raising the prices of farm products. One is business, the other is major political policy. The advantages of the corporation over bureau control for the business functions are real and significant."

Railroad Legislation

A RECENT state legislative bill provided that a track man carrying a bell by day and a lantern by night should lead all railroad trains across grade crossings; that conductors must smile when answering questions; that it would be a misdemeanor to serve eggs more than one day old on pullman cars; that trains be required to stop at any time when flagged by hitch-hikers, and that trains crossing rivers wider than twenty-five feet be equipped with lifeboats and life preservers. This one did not pass.

Better Breakfasts

WHAT sort of a breakfast do you want tomorrow morning? A balanced breakfast, of course, and one that will make you continue to feel "bouncy" up till lunch. How would a breakfast which includes two fruits, a baked cereal, savory bacon, scrambled eggs and rolls and coffee appeal to you? Sounds a bit like the same old breakfast? Not at all. This is one of the secrets of these better breakfasts combining old foods in new ways. Here's the menu:

Raspberries with Cream
Baked Cereal
Bacon Curls, Sautéed Pineapple and Scrambled Eggs
Toasted Rolls Coffee

Here's the way to make the main dish of this better breakfast. It has a combination of tastes all its own.

Bacon Curls, Sautéed Pineapple and Scrambled Eggs: Pantry eight slices of bacon, remove from skillet and keep hot. Sauté four slices canned pineapple in the bacon fat. Mix together six eggs, six tablespoons milk, salt and pepper, and scramble as usual. Pile scrambled eggs in center of a hot platter, surround with the bacon curls and the pineapple slices.

To give the last touch of goodness to this better breakfast be sure that the coffee is fresh. That's easy. It simply means using the kind of vacuum packed coffee you prefer. There are many brands to choose from and they all keep fresher than those packed in any other way.

Your Lowest Priced Domestic Servant

PRICES are going up. So say the newspapers and business experts . . . so say the price tags in the stores. Food, clothing, commodities in general, are moving steadily to higher levels to meet changing conditions.

But Natural Gas Service, always your lowest priced domestic servant considering the value received, remains at its same modest price level. Instead of advancing to keep pace with other costs, it now becomes by comparison an even greater value than before.

Yes, you can still cook a dinner for three people, make 33 cups of coffee, or operate a gas refrigerator from 8 to 10 hours for a gas cost of only ONE CENT for each of these operations, because Natural Gas Service remains your lowest priced domestic servant!

Back of the blue flame at your gas burner are 4,000 miles of interconnected pipe line, 31 gas fields, and a trained organization . . . to enable you to have hot water for ten baths for only 5 cents.

Electric Cookery Gives You Freedom from Tiresome Kitchen Duties

Does the thought of spending more futile hours in "pecking and testing" cooking foods weaken you? Wouldn't you like to delegate the routine part of your kitchen obligations to some one else?

If—like thousands of progressive West Texas home-managers—you answer to these questions is an emphatic "Yes!"—then you NEED a modern Electric Range.

Ask one of our Trained Representatives to tell you the interesting story of modern Electric Cookery. He will explain in detail how this modern "Electrical Servant" gives you a clean, cool kitchen... better and more healthful meals... substantial savings in food and fuel... surprising economy of operation. Then he'll tell you about new LOW PRICES... and the Call us for an individual investigation of your use of electric service, to determine the cost of cooking by electricity in your home. You may be surprised to know that there are many cases where electric cookery actually decreases the total of electric and gas bills.

Insurance is Bought for One Purpose--Protection

And surely it is the ambition of every man to leave adequate protection for his family after he is gone. Life insurance can help him do that. It will pay the doctor bill and funeral expenses and leave his family ready cash at time when it is most needed. But lapsed insurance does not pay bills. Be sure and keep your policies in force. The Abilene Mutual Life Insurance Association pays death and accident claims. As evidence of this, we are giving below the names of a few people on whom we have paid claims recently and also extracts from some of the letters we have received from beneficiaries.

In Favor Of Bond Issue

I have opposed all the big bond issues that have been voted on in Callahan County, but I favor the constitutional amendment allowing the legislature to issue relief bonds up to twenty million dollars.

There is more than one million people on relief in Texas now and if the amendment don't carry the Federal Government will hold further relief and the burden will fall back to the Counties and I can speak for Callahan County which cannot finance the relief.

It is well known that I am not in favor of more Taxes but when it comes to relief for suffering humanity I am willing to go as far as he who goes further to keep people from suffering and if something isn't done people will suffer for food. This bond only amounts to about three dollars per capita, so let's vote the relief so that no children will be dwarfed from the lack of food; so when this terrible depression is passed no one will be so weakened that they can't recover.

I cannot any more fail to help in this than I could keep a pile of lumber on the bank of a river and people drowning.

I understand there is no law by which the state could appropriate relief if the treasurer had the money, and if it could, it would be no better than the relief bond and more dangerous as this twenty million is all that could be issued under this amendment.

The annual cost to take up this bond will be fifty cents and the information I have is that the Federal government's relief was 36 cents per capita for July alone.

I do not consider this a bond but an absolute necessary relief, and we will have to meet this in some way. If we don't pay one way we will another as we will have to help to keep the helpless from starving, at any cost.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change.

We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable. Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

New Sights At the Fair

An impression of one of the dioramas showing how luscious olives grow in old Spain.

THINGS you have never seen before are being shown at the Century of Progress International Exposition this year. One of the principal food exhibits is that of Libby, McNeill & Libby, where you will be able actually to see some of the places where the foods canned by this company come from and some of the many spotlessly clean canneries where they are so carefully prepared.

From Far-Flung Places

This is accomplished by means of "dioramas." A diorama is not merely a picture but much more than that. Whereas a picture is just painted on a flat surface with only the tricks of foreshortening to indicate depth, a diorama has three dimensions and blends into a pictorial background in so realistic a fashion that you could almost swear that you can see the leaves stir in it and the figures move!

One of these dioramas will take you to far-off Hawaii where the succulent pineapple is canned. Another will make your mouth water with its vivid representation of one of California's famous peach orchards. A third will show a place in the far north where Alaskan salmon is canned, and a fourth a peaceful pastoral scene whence evaporated milk travels to all parts of the world. Others will show canned meat and vegetable scenes, and still another just where and how the luscious olives grow in the new republic which has sprung from old Spain.

The products themselves will be shown, too, alongside the dioramas, in large transparent glass jars in their finished forms.

A BANK REFLECTS THE LIFE ABOUT IT

Loans and Investments on Which Condition of a Bank Depends Determined by The Kind of Business Surrounding It

POLITICAL and popular misapprehensions toward banking are due to little else than failure to realize that it is what the people themselves do that the condition of banking reflects, and that banking cannot of itself reflect events and conditions other than those that actually originate from surrounding circumstances. Francis H. Sisson, President of the American Bankers Association, says in an article in Forum Magazine.

The character of an institution's notes and investments indicates whether it is in the farm regions, a manufacturing center, a mercantile neighborhood or a great financial district, he says, and furthermore, besides identifying the institution as to its locality, a study of its notes will equally clearly indicate the economic conditions surrounding it.

"If a farm district bank's note history shows that its loans rise and fall with the normal cycle of production and marketing of the products of the region, it may be taken as an index of economic good health for the locality," he says. "But if, over a period, the loan volume shows a dwindling trend it may mean a region that is losing ground,—becoming exhausted or being robbed of business by another community. Or if a large proportion of the loans are not paid at maturity but are chronically renewed, or if stocks or bonds or real estate have to be taken as additional security, these too have economic significances, reflecting perhaps crop failures, over-production or inefficient, high cost farming methods in a highly competitive national or world market, such as wheat. Inevitably all these facts are reflected in the condition of the local banks.

City Banks, Too

"If the loans of a bank in a manufacturing or merchandising field show a smoothly running coordination with production and distribution they, too, mirror a healthy economic situation. Or there may be here also signs that reflect growing unfavorable conditions, such as excessive loan renewals, over-enthusiasm and therefore over-expansion of credit extended to makers or dealers in particular products, and similar circumstances. Similar conditions apply to banks engaged in financing the activities of the securities markets.

"The foregoing is merely suggestive of the infinite aspects of the life outwardly surrounding the banks which form and control their internal conditions. Although these facts seem obvious enough, the discussions and criticisms that have been waged about the banks often appear to set them apart as somehow separate from the lives of our people, casting forth a malignant influence upon agriculture, industry and trade from forces generated wholly within themselves.

"The truth of the matter is that the fate of the banks is inseparably interwoven with the fate of the rest of the people and of the nation. What happened to the country happened to the banks and what happened to the banks is in no way different or detached from what happened to the people. They are all part of the same pattern, of the same continuous stream of events. No one element in that stream can be called the cause of business depression.

"If the banks caused trouble to some of our people it was because they were irresistibly forced to pass on troubles that came to them from other people. These troubles impaired the values of their securities and customers' notes—and rendered some unable, in turn, to pay back to other customers their deposits that had been properly used to create these loans and investments. Unless these truths are kept continually in mind there is no such thing as approaching an understanding of the banking problem or of properly safeguarding the very heavy stake of the public in that problem."

The Bank as a Rebuilder

In place of a 3 per cent loss on an investment of $40,000 a large New York savings bank is now getting 6 per cent profit on an investment of $80,000, because it had the good business judgment to spend $40,000 in modernizing a group of 40-year-old tenement houses on the lower East Side which it was forced to take over on mortgage foreclosure, says an article in the American Bankers Association Journal. A year or two ago the owner, who had always kept up his mortgage payments, began to neglect the property, it became run down and the tenants began to leave.

The bank remodeled the buildings completely, putting in an oil-burning heating plant, incinerators and other modern changes, with the result the buildings are now entirely rented, and there is $14,000 a year coming in instead of several thousand going out. At that rate the improvements will pay for themselves in three years.

This same bank has done 15 other renovation jobs similar to this, and all have proved profitable. The bank has its own architects and is employing seven painters who are kept busy continuously.

Food At The Fair

ONE of the most interesting food exhibits at the Century of Progress International Exposition in Chicago is that of Standard Brands Incorporated. The large and impressive circular building erected by this Corporation is modernistic in design, to conform with the architectural plan of the entire exposition, and is housed in a central location in the Agricultural Building.

The keynote of this striking exhibit is the fast and efficient delivery system of this Corporation which insured the delivery of its products to the consumer. This is shown in a relief frieze, encircling the lower part of the building. It depicts the various modes of transportation. A circular road is shown showing the rapid delivery of the Corporation's products and goods in its trucks, and the rapidity of its delivery to the consumer by the modern methods of delivery.

The history of baking is portrayed on the upper half of the interior wall space. This is done by means of exceptionally well executed mural paintings directly on gold leaf, tracing the art of baking from primitive man to present practices.

The Corporation also has another exhibit, located in the Hall of Science. This is scientific in nature, dealing with such subjects as yeast growth, vitamin D research, and other contributions of science to the making of better foods.

to feature its products. These displays called "dioramas," consist of pictures in three dimensions, with the foreground modeled in perspective, so that it blends in unity with a painted background, thus giving an illusion of distance. Some of the subjects treated this way are Pastry at work in his laboratory, a tea plantation, the Corporation's Peekskill factory, modern coffee delivery and others.

Advertising Aids Business Revival

NEW YORK.—Aggressive concerns are expanding business by effective advertising despite depressed business conditions, declared A. W. Diller, advertising counsel, at a bankers' conference here recently.

"Is 1933 a good year in which to advertise?" Mr. Diller asked. "Yes, if 1933 is a good year to stay in business, to reinforce the public's confidence in you, to put more business on the books. There is new business to be had today and aggressive companies are getting it. But new business will come in only if you go out for it. Advertising certainly goes out for it."

"Will people read newspaper advertisements these days? They will read anything that interests them. There are plenty of present-day arguments for business."

Advertising Mistakes

A QUESTION before many of us is what change of advertising policy, if any, should be made in view of present financial and business conditions. It is perfectly natural for us to give consideration to some degree of retrenchment, but it is dangerous to be reduction in expenditure be such a to bring about a real gap in the continuity of the advertising. It is a common mistake for some advertisers to think that they can turn advertising on and off like water from a faucet and expect it to become immediately effective whenever they are prepared to resume operations. Advertising does not work that way. Temporary conditions should not influence us to make too serious inroads on the program of advertising, which can be wisely conceived only on a long term basis.—Francis H. Sisson, President, American Bankers Association.
