

Giant Paper Mill, Pioneer In Newsprint, Hits Shortage

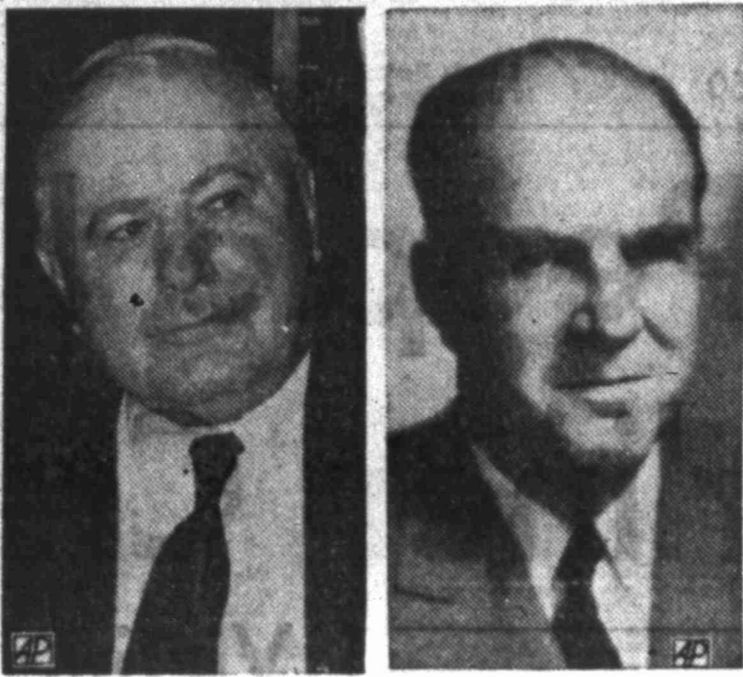

LUFKIN (AP) — Texas' giant newsprint mill, the pioneer which led the way in the South, is suffering a decrease of newsprint orders and earnings.

Southland Paper Mills Inc., which gambled and broke trail for the whole Southern newsprint industry, is hungering for business. It feels it should have from newspapers in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

In many cases, publishers have not taken their contracted tonnage because the present state of business is not all they hoped it would be.

So severe is the situation that Southland this month converted one of its four newsprint machines to the production of kraft paper, a development founder Ernest L. Kurth never dreamed would come about.

All of the other three machines have been idle at various times and are being operated at the slowest possible economical speed. They are the slowest running newsprint machines in the South, because of the lack of business. Earnings have declined in the past five years, and for 1959 were one-third less than in 1955, though

Firm's Leaders

Ernest L. Kurth, left, was chairman of the Board of Southland Paper Mills, Inc., and its founder. He died Oct. 26. R. W. Wortham, Jr., right, is president of the firm. The paper producing company is located at Lufkin.

Southland produces very high quality newsprint.

Ernest Kurth, board chairman of Southland, died Oct. 26 after a long illness. In a last interview, just a few days before his death, Kurth talked of the hard competition in the newsprint industry which cut deeply into Southland's newsprint orders.

Kurth, an honored and mighty figure in East Texas, sat at his old-fashioned roll to top desk and said: "Right here is the only independently controlled newsprint mill in the South. If Southland sold out, the Canadians practically would have control of the whole Southern newsprint industry."

"We have saved the publishers of the United States at least an average of $10 a ton for 20 years," said Kurth. "Time after time, the foreign mills wanted to raise the price, but then they would say... well, there's Lufkin."

Kurth moved up to chairman in March and the presidency went to R. W. Wortham Jr., a native of Paris, Tex. He has long experience in the newsprint business.

Interviewed in Dallas, Wortham said "Either publishers must take the newsprint tonnage that the mill is capable of producing or we will be forced to convert a second machine to kraft or some other pulp-paper product."

"The last two newsprint machines cost Southland a total of $36 million and it was necessary for us to acquire additional timberlands to assure adequate supply of pulpwood. This cost additional millions. No company can afford to go for long without a proper return on such a tremendous investment."

The first newsprint ever made commercially from Southern pine was produced at the Southland mills Jan. 17, 1940. Until then, Southern pine had been considered unsuitable and newspapers obtained newsprint primarily from Canada and Scandinavia, where spruce and fir are used.

The first run of newsprint culminated a long and risky investment and fight by Kurth, Louis Calder of Perkins-Goodwin and their associates to produce newsprint from Southern pine.

Prominent publishers in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas fought for and loyally backed the experiment. Today there are other Southern pine newsprint mills in Alabama, Tennessee and Arkansas.

These mills are owned by Bowater Co. (British controlled), International Paper Co. (one of the majors and with tremendous production of newsprint in Canada) and Coosa River Co. (majority stock control is with Kimberly Clark Co., one of the majors in the paper and pulp field, who also have Canadian production). News-paper publishers own part of the stock in the Coosa River Co.

School Taxes Past Midpoint

Collections for the Big Spring Independent School moved past the 50 per cent mark Saturday, J. O. Hagood, assessor-collector, reported.

Total collections stood at $511,131.57, including $507,434.25 on an aggregate current roll of $1,013,246.16. There was $3,367.32 in delinquent collections and $30 in miscellaneous fees.

Of the current tax collections, $407,858.81 went to local maintenance (operation) and $99,529.30 went to interest and sinking fund (debt service). The payments made in October earned the three per cent discount which amounted to $10,149.14.

Hagood reminded the district's taxpayers that they have until Monday midnight to qualify for the 3 per cent discount. Payments must be in the office Monday or be postmarked prior to midnight.

Odd Plans Should Wait Until Election Smoke Clears Away

By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you plan to fight a duel, beat your wife, or go to the poorhouse, you'd better wait until after the Nov. 8 elections. Otherwise you may lose the right to vote in some states.

These are some of the odd-ball restrictions turned up in a nationwide Associated Press survey of voting qualifications — some of them hotly controversial — imposed by various states.

In Alabama, for example, the state constitution bars wife beaters from voting. It doesn't say what happens to the little lady who clobbers her husband, the brute.

Duels have long since gone out of fashion, but at least 10 states — Arkansas, California, Florida, Maryland, Mississippi, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, Virginia and Wisconsin — still have laws barring duellists either from voting or holding public office, or both.

A Buddhist monk in Mississippi actually lost his voting rights two years ago for challenging an editor to a duel.

Seven states specifically outlaw the ballot to paupers or those who reside in an "almshouse." They are California, Maine, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

Twenty-eight states forbid lunatics or "idiots" to vote, while one state, Michigan, has no sanity test and thus makes it theoretically possible for a mental hospital patient to ballot. In 1950 a man named T. Edward Aho was nominated for the office of Marquette County treasurer a few weeks after being declared insane by the county probate judge. He was not elected.

Two states, Florida and Wisconsin, lower the voting boom on those who make an election bet. Florida even bars anyone who is "interested in any wager depending on the result of any election." It doesn't define what it means by "interested."

For the first time this year, all away-from-home U.S. military personnel may vote in a presidential election by absentee ballot. Pennsylvania and South Carolina recently changed their laws to permit such absentee votes, as the other 48 had already.

The Army voting office in Washington says however that persons stationed at stateside U.S. military reservations cannot vote in that state unless they qualify as legal residents there.

Residency requirements vary widely, generally ranging from six months to two years. In California, a new law will permit new residents to vote in the presidential election if they have lived in the state just 54 days. They'll get a special ballot, listing only the presidential tickets.

You Said It

BOSTON (AP)—A supporter of Edward W. Brooke, Republican candidate for secretary of state of Massachusetts, handed a campaign pamphlet to a passerby Friday and said: "Your vote for secretary of state is very important."

The passerby replied: "I hope so. I'm Kevin White." White is Brooke's Democratic opponent.

Texas Farmers Still Awaiting Dry Weather

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farmers still await dry weather. Heavy rains, especially in south, south central and upper coastal sections, kept farmers out of their fields, reported director John Hutchinson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Ranchmen generally welcomed the moisture. It means improved ranges and winter feed prospects and gave small grain pastures a boost, the director said.

Army worms are still causing trouble in many areas and some small grains were being replanted because of the worm damage.

Farmers in all sections of West and Northwest Texas have been kept from harvesting and the continuing wet, cool weather is causing much concern.

Showers delayed harvesting in the Rolling Plains (Vernon) but ranges and livestock are in good condition. Army worms are still causing trouble in some counties.

North Texas fields are too wet to work. Early rains will provide some grazing as soon as fields dry. Some small grains have been destroyed by army worms and replanting will be necessary.

Moisture is adequate in Northeast Texas. The sweet potato harvest is moving along with yields average. Other vegetables are going to market and yields on early planted corn were good.

Rains delayed harvests in Central Texas. The cotton harvest was down to the scrapping stage and the peanut harvest has been delayed. Prospects for a fair crop still hold.

Surface moisture is adequate but subsoil moisture ranges from adequate to short in Central West Texas. Cotton harvest is about over. Small grains are coming up.

Moisture is generally adequate in far West Texas and ranges are improving. The cotton harvest was slowed in some areas.

In deep East Texas showers are still holding up harvests. About 80 per cent of the winter oats and legumes are planted. Early oats are making good growth but army worms are causing damage.

Most field work is at a standstill but pastures are good in the upper coastal counties. The harvest is nearing completion. Early oats and rye grass are coming up.

Moisture is adequate to excessive in South Central Texas. Conditions are poor for oats and flax planting. Some damage to peanuts was reported.

Rains have been general over most areas in far South Texas and have been excessive in some counties. Due to heavy rains and soil washing, some vegetables have been lost. The vegetable crop in general is late. The cucumber and citrus harvests are at peaks.

DEAR ABBY

FACE FACTS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who is 23, has fallen in love with a married man almost as old as her father. He told me he would get a divorce and marry her as soon as he could get the money together. I offered to lend him the money to hurry things along, but he said he couldn't accept it, as it is against his principles. He is very polite and dresses nice. My husband doesn't know anything about this and I'm afraid to tell him for fear he'll break this man's neck. My daughter is a good girl and never runs around. Should I tell my husband and try to get this man free? Our daughter says if she can't have him she'll never look at another man.

healthy, normal woman would do. I went haywire.

I had to have shock treatments to get over my depression. I came out of it all right but since I had those shock treatments everyone says I am crazy. Tell me, if a person has had shock treatments does that mean they are crazy for life? I feel fine.

DEAR MRS.: This "very polite" man who "dresses nice" and is too high principled to borrow money is a no-good bum! Tell her to get out of this married man's life, and tell him to stay away from your daughter. And by all means, tell your husband. He probably won't break the man's neck; maybe he'll just wring it.

DEAR ABBY: A couple of years ago I fell in with the wrong crowd. They were very wild and had bad reputations. After I realized what kind of girls I was involved with, I stopped going with them. Then I tried to make new friends and found out nice girls didn't want anything to do with me. That was over a year ago and they still won't accept me. What can I do to get my name off the "bad girl" list? I tried being the "wholesome type" (I went without make-up for a whole week) and I tried being the witty, life-of-the-party type. I've tried being the quiet, polite type, but nothing has changed. I am desperate for friends.

Revolutionary Fervor Of 1910 Lives On In Modern Mexico

By J. A. LIVINGSTON
MEXICO CITY — Prior to the election of 1910, Gen. Porfirio Diaz, who had ruled Mexico for nearly a generation, lamented to a U. S. newspaperman that he lacked opposition in the presidential campaign. Francisco I. Madero, a scholarly reformer, took him up, and Diaz jailed him for his impertinence.

When released, Madero was a popular hero. He subsequently became president, and advocated widespread political and economic reforms, including division of large estates and no re-election of presidents. Today, Mexican presidents serve one six-year term — no more.

LIVES ON
The 1910 revolution lives on in a modernized reform movement, embracing:

1. Pursuit of a higher standard of living and literacy. 2. Greater industrialization of the country under Mexican director. 3. Development of a middle class—Mexico is a society of the very rich and the very poor. 4. Political independence of the United States.

Mexican governments have pursued these goals with an inflationary fervor. In 10 years, prices have doubled. The government was forced to devalue the peso by seven per cent in 1953, and by 31 per cent in 1964. Today, the rate of exchange is 12½ pesos to the dollar.

For a while last year, it looked as if the inflationary spiral had been checked. Prices advanced only one per cent. However, this year, they jumped again — about six per cent.

DILEMMAS
The "revolutionary policies" create dilemmas for Mexican presidents:

In order to keep down the cost of living, prices of major products and services—electricity, gasoline and railroad transport—have been held down. This has prevented private and government enterprises from generating the internal profits necessary for the rapid economic expansion the government seeks.

The effort to induce foreign entrepreneurs to take in Mexican partners and Mexican managers often discourages foreign investment. Business men from abroad want to run their own companies. They don't want partners.

From time to time the government makes special tax, tariff, and licensing concessions to new industries. Also, subsidiaries have been paid to agriculture and other industries. The first reduces revenues, the second increases expenses, and the consequence is continuing government deficits which put pressure on the peso.

QUICK CHANGES
Since the government makes rules and regulations for business by decree, the foreigner is often discommodated by unexpected changes. This discourages investment and expansion. Recently, to curb luxury spending, the government set a limit on the price at which new passenger cars can sell. This required American manufacturers to alter their assembly plans. Similarly, sudden changes in tariff and license regulations derange plans of foreign exporters to Mexico.

This is evolutionary, rather than revolutionary, confusion. President Lopez Mateos, following the two non-military Presidents before him, is working out, case by case, problem by problem, precedents which eventually will have the force and continuity of law. It is not too different from, say, the confusion which reigned in the U. S. during the New Deal of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

QUESTION

Inevitably, in any discussion of Mexico, this question arises: Will it go the way of Cuba and Castro? I'd say no. Mexico has had its revolution. Officials are just beginning to feel a sense of security and confidence in their power and pursuits. They want stability—not chaos—as do the people, now enjoying slowly rising living standards. Moreover, Mexico needs the U. S. to carry forward the spirit of 1910.

About three-quarters of Mexico's foreign trade — both imports and exports — is with this country. Many of our largest corporations — General Motors, Ford, General Electric, Procter & Gamble, International Business Machines, Continental Can, Eastman Kodak, Colgate-Palmolive, Firestone, National Cash Register—do business in Mexico. Without American tourists, Mexico would quickly run short of the foreign exchange to carry forward economic expansion. Without the production and employment of American-owned plants, the Mexican economy would rapidly deteriorate.

INDEPENDENCE
Mexico's economic dependence on the U. S. is set against a back-

Victoria To Get Linkage To Canal

VICTORIA (AP)—Victoria, a moving force in the construction of the Intercoastal Canal more than a half a century ago, is finally going to obtain its waterway to the Gulf of Mexico.

If work continues at the present rate, the 34.3-mile-long barge channel connecting Victoria with the Gulf Intercoastal Waterway will be completed by 1962, two years ahead of schedule.

It is ironic that Victoria is one of the last major cities along the route of the Intercoastal Waterway to be linked with the busy ditch stretching 1,600 miles from Brownsville to Saint Marks, Fla.

It was in Victoria in 1905 that the Intercoastal Canal Assn. of Louisiana and Texas was formed to work for the development of a protected waterway along the Gulf Coast. At that time the coastal regions of the two states were little more than a wilderness—a far cry from the industrial empire along the Gulf today.

Victorians played an important part in the formation of the canal association. One of them Joe M. Pickering, is among the few organizers of the ICALT still living. Another is former Vice President John Nance Garner, Pickering's son. J. E. Pickering, is now chairman of the Victoria County Navigation District, one of the organizations which has spearheaded the work for a channel to Victoria.

The first 14 miles of the new channel, from the Intercoastal Canal to the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Co. plant in western Calhoun County, was completed in 1955.

The final 20.6 miles of the channel was begun two years ago as a 15 million dollar federal project under the Army Corps of Engineers.

The 100-foot wide, 9-foot deep canal will run east the roughly parallel to the meandering Guadalupe River which flows through Victoria and empties into San Antonio Bay. The canal will terminate in the turning basin 7 miles south of Victoria.

Of the total cost, the federal government is paying 8 million dollars and local navigation districts 7 million. The State Highway Department is constructing a $240,000 bridge across the channel on State Highway 35, about 25 miles south of Victoria. There will be no traffic impeding draw bridges along the waterway.

Victoria has already benefited from the influx of industry along the Gulf Coast—the Aluminum Co. of America's works at Port Lavaca and the Carbide and Du Pont plants in Calhoun and Victoria counties.

The channel, which will give Victoria direct water access to Corpus Christi, Houston, New Orleans and other Gulf ports, is expected to help attract new industries to the city as well as provide low cost transportation for manufacturing plants already established.

Texas Retail Trade Grows

AUSTIN (AP)—Retail trade in Texas grew faster than the national increase from 1954 through 1958, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The University of Texas agency said that the 1958 Texas retail volume was 19 per cent above 1954 while the national rise was only 17 per cent.

The retail trade figures for Texas, just released by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, shows that Texas had a total of 99,983 retail establishments at the end of 1958 with an annual sales volume of $10,792,599,000. The retail establishments provided jobs for 435,029 full time employees.

The bureau's report showed a total of $1,189,200,000 for September of this year, a 3 per cent decrease from August. The January to September total was $10,631,800,000, or 2 per cent below 1958.

Pontiac announces the Trophy V-8 Engine

NEW PRECISION AND ECONOMY IN THE ENGINE ROOM OF THE '61 PONTIAC!

A completely new fuel induction system gives this new free-breathing V-8 more air... to save you gas. Closer calibration of this big 389-cubic-inch engine gives you maximum thrust at half-throttle without over-carbureting.

We made the engine lighter; mounted it lower for better balance. An oil refill now takes only 4 quarts. Tailor your Pontiac power plant to your needs. There are 11 versions to choose from. Horsepowers range from 215 to 348. (For best economy, specify the Trophy Economy V-8. Its lower compression lets you use regular gas.)

If this sounds a bit technical, just try a new Trophy engine soon. It's in all four Pontiac series. In one block, it will become clear why we called this '61... all Pontiac!

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR! Pontiac has the widest track of any car. Body width trimmed to reduce side swaying. More weight balanced between the wheels for more-looked driving stability.

Democrats Lashed On Texas Issues

John Tower, Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, told nearly a hundred Big Spring and Howard County Republicans Saturday morning that in his entire career, John Kennedy, Democratic candidate for president, had never "cast a vote for Texas." He was rapping Kennedy and his running partner, Lyndon B. Johnson, for their stand on oil depletion allowance and other highly pertinent Texas issues.

Stock Market In Hectic Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market this week jolted down sharply, recovered vigorously and ended about even with a slight upside edge.

As it skidded early in the week, both The Associated Press overall average and the Dow Jones industrial average broke through the previous 1960 lows reached in September and set new lows for the year.

Political uncertainties combined with a rising debate among economists as to whether the country was in a "recession" and, if so, how long it would last, accompanied the market's gyrations.

Fatal Accident

SAVONA, Italy (AP)—A train crowded with workmen crashed into a broken cable car at nearby Albisola Saturday, killing the engineer and injuring a passenger seriously. Eight other passengers were given first aid for minor injuries.

tend a fund raising breakfast at the Settles Hotel. He came here from Austin, where he spoke on Friday night. Plans to fly had to be cancelled due to the weather, so Tower and his party drove from midnight to 8:15 a.m. to reach Big Spring.

At the breakfast, Paul Meek, Howard County Republican chairman, presided. Representing the city was Paul Kasch, city commissioner. Also at the speaker's table was Dan Krausse, Big Spring school board member; Marvin Miller, Cosden Petroleum Corp.; and Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Tower attacked the Democratic platform vigorously, calling the ticket the "Kennedy, Johnson and Johnson" combine. He was referring to Johnson's position as a candidate for vice president as his present post as U. S. Senator from Texas. He also spoke firmly against federal support for schools.

He left Big Spring to go to Midland, where he appeared on television; from there he went to Uvalde and then to Del Rio. He was back in Odessa on Saturday night.

He voiced strong admiration for Bruce Alger and Senator Barry Goldwater.

Visit To U. S.

LONDON (AP)—Adm. Sir Caspar John, first sea lord and chief of the naval staff, left Saturday for New York and a two-week visit to U. S. naval installations.

Tower Honored By Local GOP

John Tower, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator from Texas, was honored at a breakfast here on Saturday morning at the Settles Hotel. A hundred loyal Republicans were out to welcome the man they want to replace Lyndon Johnson. Shown with Tower is Paul Meek, Howard County Republican chairman.

Meek expressed his deep appreciation for the interest shown by local Republicans and others who

W. Texas Isn't Flat Under Surface; Caves Are Numerous

LUBBOCK (AP)—West Texas, to many persons seemingly a land of wide flat plains stretching in unbroken miles, may have more caves than the rocks and hills of the state's eastern section.

And a continuing search for bats that may be infected with rabies is the cause of the West Texas caves' discovery.

A Texas Tech scientist and a crew of biology students in the college's graduate school have been searching West Texas for the hibernation places of Mexican Brown Bats.

One of the results: Cave discoveries. Key man in the discoveries is Dan McGregor, a geology graduate student who lives in Lubbock.

McGregor is a member of the crew working under Dr. Donald W. Tinkle, assistant biology professor at Texas Tech. Others are Jerry Gerald of Midland and Irvin Patterson of Elk City, Okla.

McGregor, a zoology minor, spots geologic formations, mostly gypsum beds, that may contain caves and the search is under way.

first on their stomachs. Most are a quarter mile long and about 40 to 50 feet below the surface. Lighted, they reflect the white gypsum and red clay of the region in weird patterns. Many have been found around Quanah, Childress, Aspermont, Guthrie and Paducah.

Often, the caves are found when a sunken place in the ground is spotted where a tree or heavy brush grows. It's an unusual feature in the big prairie country. But when found, a small opening usually is near.

That's where the bats enter—and it's also where the exploring Texas Tech students enter. It's no work for the faint-hearted. As they crawl or walk through the passages, bats swarm over them.

Chief purpose of the overall research is to procure public health data about the bats. It is needed in help determine methods of controlling them should the incidence of rabies among the bats reach a point that is dangerous.

Only a few bats were picked up this summer that previously were banded in the Childress area. So the biologists now theorize that the bats are splitting into small groups when they disperse for a summer.

bear out this theory, Tinkle notes. In the Lake Buchanan area, in Central Texas, they found a cave filled with 5,000 to 6,000 Brown Bats. But none were from a Panhandle colony, and the cave also contained Mexican Free-tail Bats, rabies.

Summer habits of the same species studied in Kansas did not look with favor on the candidate's own program. The address Friday morning was broadcast over Radio KBST.

Big Spring's 'Private' Rain Dumps Inch In 25 Minutes

Big Spring had its own "private" rain Friday afternoon and early evening.

A terrific downpour which crashed into the town shortly before 6 p.m. dumped an inch of water over most of the city in a span of 25 minutes. Some parts of town measured more than an inch; across the whole area, there were few sections where less than half an inch fell.

The rain, from reports, was largely concentrated in the town proper. It was confined on a reduced scale to the east but to the north, south and west, it failed to develop. Even in Big Spring, the storm failed to go beyond the northern edge. The U.S. Experiment Station had only .30 inch in its gauge Saturday morning.

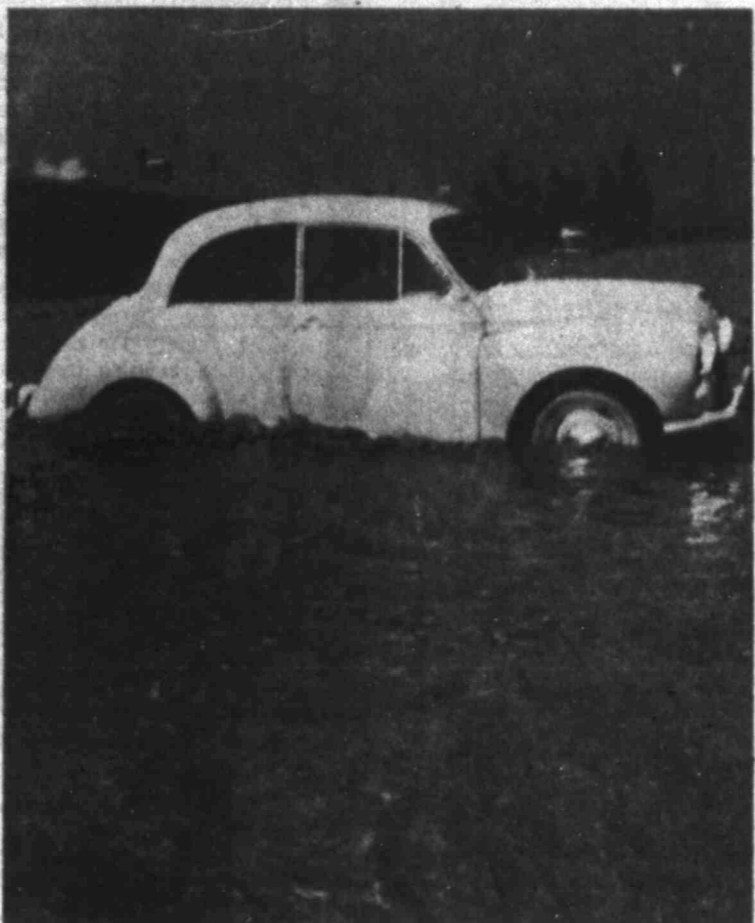

The sudden deluge flooded low places and some cars were stalled as the water poured along the streets. The rain was accompanied by a vicious electric storm which broke down electric service over much of the town. One section, including the LaLoma Addition and extending east to 25th and Scurry, was in darkness from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Service was restored to the rest of the town after a brief interruption.

Farmers over the county were not sad they were slighted by the rain. The light showers and sprinkles which fell in the agricultural areas were more welcome than would have been the generous portion allotted to the town. Cotton picking was briefly delayed Saturday morning but most fields were teeming with pickers by noon. Gins were humming at their usual pace.

There was one report of a heavy rain south of Fossil but this was not definitely confirmed. The report said 1.50 inch fell there.

Rain reports showed the following results:

YESCO switch plant 1.03; Chalk 31; Coahoma 40; Wilkinson ranch (west) 25; Fairview, Gayhill, Lomax, Vealmoor, Vincent, Ackerly,

High Water On Auburn Avenue

The sudden rain of late Saturday afternoon, which dumped an inch of water on the town in a span of 25 minutes, played havoc with traffic in low places in the city. Here M. R. Box, 3301 11th Place, and his son, Ray, trapped in their car, wait for the flood to run down. They were flooded out of action at Auburn Ave. and Monmouth St.

and Knott, sprinkles and very light showers.

A sprinkle fell at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Texas Electric Service Co. reported Eskota had .03; Sweetwater .04; Colorado City .18; Morgan Creek .85.

The rains were generated by the

First Week Festivities

FIRST OF THE EVENTS in the week's festivities for opening of the new Big Spring Country Club was the dance, Oct. 22, when a capacity crowd danced to the music of Claude Thornhill's orchestra. Here are some of the dancers who initiated facilities at the spacious club.

See Story, Page 2-C

A PAUSE BETWEEN DANCES is enjoyed by Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, at left, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hensley at the opening event of the festivities at the new Big Spring Country Club. He is president of the club. The trio made up part of the merrymakers who attended the Oct. 22 dance, which was the initial event in a round of gatherings that marked the club's opening.

THEY'RE DECEIVING—those "carved" dividers in the entertaining rooms of the new Big Spring Country Club; concrete blocks, painted, they give just the right amount of privacy for the card room and for the cocktail room, both of which open off the main lounge. Activities during the initial week included informal bridge games as well as the session of duplicate bridge on Friday afternoon. In picture at left, players engrossed in the game are Mrs. G. H. Wood, facing camera, Mrs. E. V. Spence, at right, Mrs. Harvey Williamson, with back to camera, and, in fourth place, Mrs. Gordon Lewis of Corpus Christi, sister of Mrs. Spence.

GUESS WHO are behind those masks of Frankenstein and his bride, snapped as they attended the costume dance Saturday evening at the Big Spring Country Club. A director of the club, Dr. Carl Marcum, and Mrs. Marcum. In the background, in picture at left, is the lovely fountain, in three elevators, where fireflies of different colors perch on the stones.

IT WAS GOOD—the food and the gathering at the Big Spring Country Club when a buffet luncheon was served Sunday. In the background are the doors which may be opened to make the ballroom or closed for smaller private parties.

WOMEN'S NEWS

The Big Spring Herald

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1960

FUN AND FOOD—what better combination? Both were available during the initial week of the Big Spring Country Club's opening. Shown here is a part of the diners who thronged into the attractive green and acacia room at the club. Blossoms in the baskets are acacias, so natural-looking that you must touch them to realize they are make-believe.

Real Cowboys

Helping brother Joey with his boot shine is Tim Edens, while their parents, Lt. and Mrs. Melvin U. Edens, 1587 A Wood, look on. Also getting into the act is the family pet, Coca, a Siamese kitten. The family recently moved here from Mission, La. Edens will continue his pilot training at Webb Air Force Base.

Newcomers' Sons Are Becoming Real Cowboys

Becoming real Texas cowboys are three-year-old Joey and two-year-old Tim Edens, sons of Lt. and Mrs. Melvin U. Edens, 1587 A Wood.

The newcomers came to Big Spring from Moore Air Force Base in Mission but their hometown is Dillon, S. C., where they attended rival high schools.

The Edens were introduced by a friend of his and were married in Dillon after his freshman year in Clemson A&M College in Clemson, S. C., where they made their home until moving to Mission.

Mrs. Edens attended Carolina Business College in Florence, S. C. The family pet, Coca, a Siamese kitten, was obtained while the family was living in Mission.

Lt. Edens joined the Air Force on March 18, 1960. He is in pilot training in the 61 G Class at Webb, and hopes to make the Air Force his career.

Mrs. Edens' hobbies are arts and crafts. She became interested in this field while living in Mission. She attended ceramics classes there which were functions of the Officers' Wives Club, and since her arrival in Big Spring she has been asked to teach a class in ceramics in one of the local elementary schools. Mrs. Edens also does mosaic tile art and has designed several tile tables and pictures.

Lt. Edens is looking forward to the quail and dove season, since his main hobbies are hunting and fishing.

The Edens family will attend the First Baptist Church.

Lana Lloyd Queen Of Knott School

Lana Lloyd was crowned queen of the Knott Elementary School Friday evening climaxing the annual school harvest carnival.

Miss Lloyd was escorted to the throne by Johnny McGregor. The king and queen are fourth grade students.

The stage was decorated with a background of silver stars and silver moon. The queen's throne was draped by a purple coronation robe. Also decorating the stage were arrangements of fall flowers, pumpkins and cushaws.

John McGregor led the invocation. Music was furnished for the program by Mrs. R. L. Stevenson.

Preceding the royal procession were Sherry Riddle and Chere Shaw, flower girls who strewed fall leaves from decorated baskets of plenty.

Crown bearer was Keith Nichols, and Randy Cheatham served as flower bearer.

Attending the queen and king were Jannette Nichols and Jimmy Kemper of the first grade; Pamela Jones, Johnny Peugh, second grade; Marilyn Free, Stevie Reed, third grade; Vicki Grantham, Gary Romine, fifth grade; Sheila Fryer, George West, sixth grade; Judy Stevenson, Wendell, Lloyd, seventh grade.

The audience joined Mrs. Porter Motley in singing "Shine On Harvest Moon."

Lyndia Shaw closed the program by singing "Sail Along, Silvery Moon."

Climaxing the month's study on Spanish and Portuguese-speaking countries the Junior G. A.'s of First Baptist Church had as their guests the G. A.'s of the Latin American Baptist Church Wednesday evening.

The prayer calendar was read by Pam Nance who also led the prayer.

Guests were welcomed by Carole Hollingshead, community missions chairman.

Sherry Bradbury gave the stewardship study.

The interest featured an open Bible placed on a green velvet cloth and accented with yellow flowers and lighted tapers with stars placed above the scene representing star ideals.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle announced that the Junior G. A. will subscribe to several copies of Tell Magazine to aid their guests in organizing their group.

Mrs. Roger Cook was director of the fellowship period.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a yellow cloth holding lighted tapers in a double-branched candelabrum; Mrs. Billy Joe Reynolds was hostess.

Approximately 30 attended.

New C-Club Quite A Change From Old One

By ANNE LEFEVER
There hangs in the spacious foyer of the new Big Spring Country Club a plaque bearing the names of men who have served as its president since 1928.

Some of the early presidents have died; those old-timers who are left must find it hard to believe when they look at the beautiful, rambling clubhouse situated southeast of town, which has been opened with festive occasions during the past week. Decorating was done by Mrs. E. H. Bouliouin of Lucille's.

Highlight of the initial week was the dance given Oct. 22, when a capacity crowd danced to the music of Claude Thornhill's orchestra in the large ballroom decorated in antique green and acacia yellow.

At one end of the room is a dining area adjoining the stainless steel kitchen. A divider sets off this section as does its twin at the far end of the room. Smaller compartments are thus made to be used for private dinner parties or bridge games.

Foursomes or impromptu games will be happily ensconced in the card room which connects with the lounge and cocktail room. All are carpeted with a random pattern of beige, black and scarlet, from which prints in the cocktail room take their colors.

Oversize fireflies in various colors cling to native stones which make a fountain of three elevations in a corner of the latter room; a realistic mesquite tree bends its branches above the trickling water.

Red and brass accents predominate in the entertaining rooms and are continued into the ladies' lounge, where a scarlet carpet seems almost too pretty to walk on. A large mirror, gold-framed, reflects the glamour of formals or the practical casual dress of women guests; three oval mirrors hang in gold frames above the generous-sized dressing table.

A wide expanse of glass opens the grill for a view of the 18th hole; in this room will be served snacks and lunches for couples or women. Off limits to the feminine members of the club is the men's game room, the door of which is attractively marked with designs from cards and other game accessories.

Just as the new club was opened with dancing, the week's festivities closed with a dance—this time a costume party Saturday evening with prizes awarded for the spookiest ensembles.

During the week, members gathered for a buffet luncheon on Sunday; a buffet dinner and BIG-DO games on Thursday evening and on Friday afternoon, duplicate bridge games.

Circle Entertained By Mrs. B. Porter

Mrs. Bennie Porter was hostess Friday evening to 10 members of the Douglas Circle of the Baptist Temple.

Secret pal names were revealed during the evening, and plans were made for the group to meet at the church Tuesday morning before going to visit Dixon Rest Home.

Mrs. Porter served refreshments from a table decorated with the Halloween theme.

To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Baker Willis, 1710 E. 15th Street, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ann, to Gary Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Jackson, 3686 Calvin. Vows will be exchanged in the chapel of the First Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Dec. 23.

Chocolate Pudding

Your youngsters will like chocolate pudding topped with banana. For a pretty effect run the sharp times of a fork lengthwise down the peeled banana and then slice. Dip the banana slices in orange or other citrus juice so they won't discolor.

A&M Mothers To Organize Club

Mothers of A&M students and mothers of the college exes are invited to join in a gathering planned for Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Buel Fox, 107 Jefferson.

Further information may be gained from Mrs. Fox, AM 4-8505, or Mrs. Lee Porter, AM 4-8801.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Sands Restaurant, Nov. 14.

Mrs. Thieme Gives Demonstration

Mrs. Thieme gave a demonstration on arranging dried flowers.

Other guests were Mrs. D. L. Knight and Mrs. Kenneth Duffer of Coahoma.

Mrs. L. T. Shoups was hostess for the meeting. The next meeting will be on Nov. 8 at 2 p.m.

The church extends a warm invitation to all the residents of Big Spring and vicinity, to come and hear this able gospel preacher. The meetings will begin tomorrow evening at 7:30. (Adv.)

Make Blackboard For Youngster

The back of a chest of drawers can be the place for a handy, low-cost blackboard that will provide hours of enjoyment for children. By attaching to the back a panel of plywood, you establish a first-rate base for chalkboard paint. Simply follow the directions on the can. The special paint comes in either black or green.

Putting casters or rollers on the unit will permit the child to turn it easily.

Sandwich Fillings

Don't leave sandwich fillings at room temperature! Bacteria grows rapidly in many of these spreads; refrigerate them promptly.

Potatoes In Salad

Don't use "baking" potatoes in salads because this variety tends to get soft.

Floors, Walls, Fabric, Color Highlight Decorator Designs

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Floors, walls, fabrics and color highlight the "Decorator and Design 1961" show. More than 100 exhibits reflect the efforts of members of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Decorators.

The furniture is elegant and perhaps a little precious for the average homemaker, but ideas are unlimited for a talented amateur decorator.

A Provincial Spanish family room with built-in hibachi has sheet flooring of pink vinyl with an elaborate black inset, resembling Spanish grillwork.

A Portuguese family room is done in colors taken from floor tiles decorated with fruits in amber, bitter green and Portuguese blue.

A room keyed to black, white and red has a floor of parquet walnut, combined with black Grouille in which black mosaic vinyl is set. A floor of Scotch plaid vinyl is also shown.

One floor has planks of varying widths painted gray with half inch strips of carpeting inserted between each board. Leona Kahn paints the wide wood floors of her country house a bright coral, a charming effect with her color scheme of yellow, pink and white.

Everett Brown's country kitchen has a floor and dado in Delft design vinyl, handsomely offset by walls of black and white checked gingham, and shelves of American pottery and pewter.

Many walls are dark — black, brown, red, deep blue — and treated with unusual effects. Lloyd Bell uses small strips of green wood, crossed and recrossed to form a mural trellis decoration.

Jens Risom has a wall of tree bark cork. Stuart Blaine and Robert Booth paneled two walls of their "country salon" in cane with walnut frames. The third wall is entirely covered in antique French paneled cabinets.

Patricia Harvey shows a wall covering of black on black vinyl, another of white on white vinyl. Another setting was highlighted by a brown and black toile covering walls and furniture.

John Wisner uses deep blue grasscloth as a background for an antique console table, Hector Grant's 18th century foyer is draped in a wall covering of elegant striped gray satin.

Melanie Kahane uses leather on the walls and a unique floor covering of real rosewood laminated over cork with a vinyl surface. Newly developed adhesives make it possible to use the fabric wall coverings seen throughout the show.

Brilliant reds, blues, greens, purples and pale yellows and pinks are predominant in all exhibits.

MRS. MIKE HAZARD

Home Ritual Unites Pair

A double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening united in marriage Opal Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ward of Colorado City and Mike Hazard, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Hazard of Grand Prairie.

Rev. B. W. Goodson, pastor of the Vealmoor Baptist Church, read the vows in his home at 1805 Main.

The bride was attired in a princess dress of light blue taffeta and wore accessories of white.

Attending the couple were Ivy Probus of Bradfordville, Ky. and Larry Smith of Big Spring.

The couple will make their home at 1602 Johnson.

The bride is a graduate of Colorado City High School, where she was a member of the FHA for two years. She is now employed at the Western Restaurant, Big Spring.

The bridegroom is employed as an apprentice pressman for The Herald.

Sewing Club Will Change Meeting For This Week

Members of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club will meet on Wednesday instead of their regular day during the coming week, it was decided at their session Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John Freeman was hostess for the group when plans were made to meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Dick Hooper. The club will then journey to Midland and Odessa for an all-day outing.

Seven members and a guest, Mrs. Alvin Vierregge, were present for the meeting.

For the gathering on Nov. 11, Mrs. Gabe Hammack, 1901 Mitchell, will be the hostess.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

MISS ANNE MARTIN left late Thursday for a brief visit in Terminal with MR. AND MRS. FRANK MARTIN and in Odessa with MR. AND MRS. FRED MARTIN before continuing to her home in Santa Barbara, Calif. Miss Martin was former county superintendent of schools here and had taught previous to that. She was the guest of her sister, MRS. SHIRLEY FAYAR, and a brother, DEWEY MARTIN. She had spent several days in Fort Worth with another sister, Mrs. Raymond Bull, the former CORA MARTIN, who is seriously ill.

One nice thing about working for the United Fund is getting to meet new people and renewing old acquaintances. Also many times your faith in your fellow man is restored. . . . sometimes that same faith takes a beating. But, thank goodness, more times than not, more people want to help than don't, so it makes it worth while to leave things undone at home for a day or so.

Two of the people I called on were the T. W. ALDERSONS whom I had not met before, although I believe they have been here some time. We had a fine visit and she showed me a pitcher of pressed glass that was originally from England. This was made before the era of cut glass and is not so beautiful but it is an interesting piece with the sterling silver band about the lip and spout.

Are You This Variety Of Secretary?

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Self-pity is one of women's most serious faults in the business world.

At least that's what some bosses say.

They made their comments in a survey made public at a recent meeting of the New Orleans Secretaries Assn.

Among other faults are: undependability, clannishness and moodiness.

Dr. Henry J. Engler, dean of Loyola University of the South's College of Business, says the survey was made here among 100 supervisors employing between 5 and 20 women.

The survey lists other faults as: Unwillingness to accept responsibility, proneness to be hurt, excessive attention to details, and laziness.

Lack of time consciousness, exaggeration and misstatement, and excessive artiness.

Citing an example of "undependability," Engler reports women would rather quit than break dates to work overtime.

Other bosses say they "are pretty morbid about minor illnesses, going to pieces and unable to concentrate on their work."

Pamper Your Pelts For Longer Life

AP Newfeatures Writer

Here are rules to follow to make your furs look better and last longer:

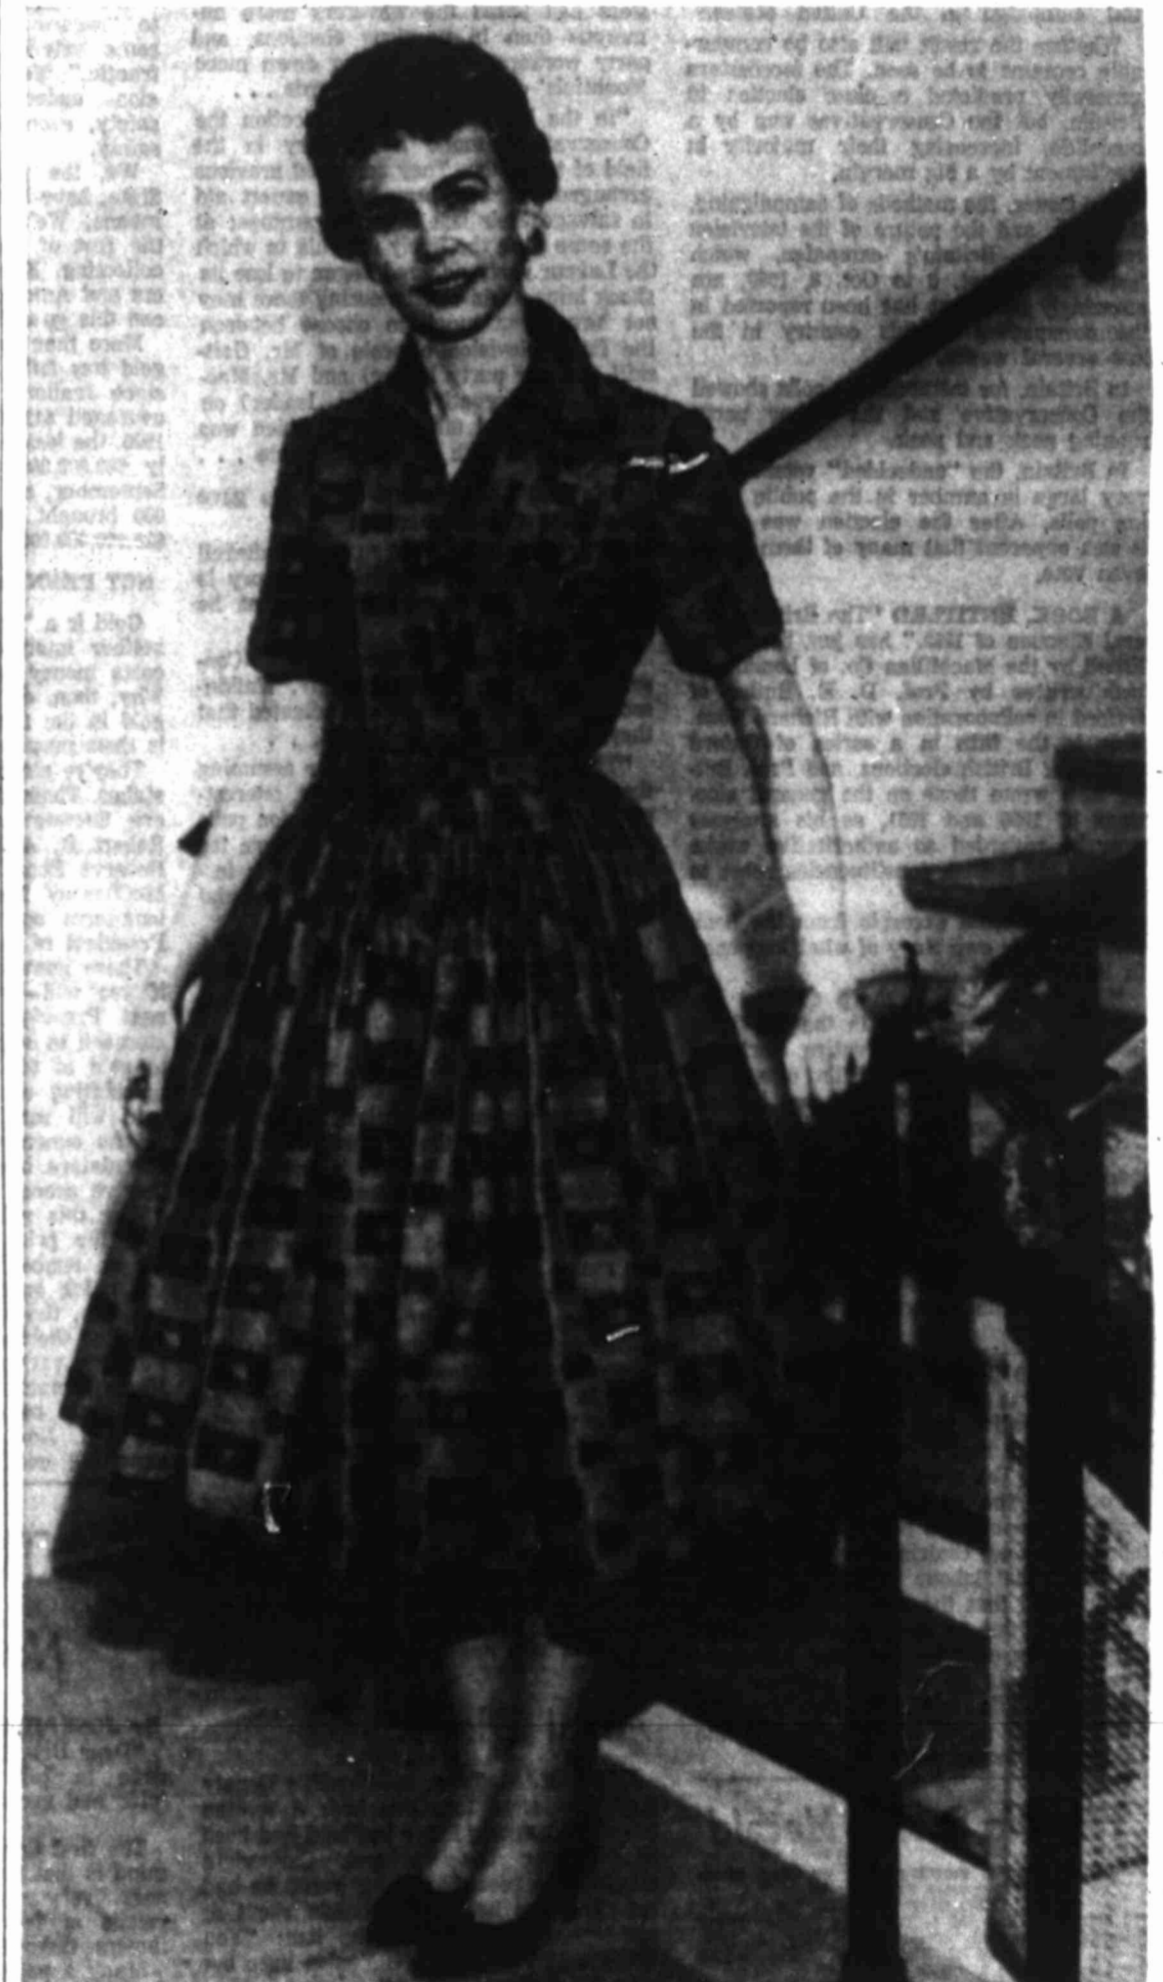

1. Don't comb or brush furs; shake them out.
2. Don't hang damp furs in closet. Hang in cool place with circulating air. If thoroughly

- soaked, take to furrier for treatment.
3. Don't put fur near heat. Both fur and leather will become brittle.
4. Don't put perfume directly on furs. It's drying.
5. Don't store fur in plastic bag. Without air circulation, leather will dry out.
6. Don't mothproof with chemical sprays. Put in modern storage vaults in summer.
7. Don't pin flowers or jewelry where it will rub against fur.
8. Do have furs cleaned regularly by fur specialist.

Views Fashion Wisely

Lucille Ball, co-star of United Artists' "Facts of Life," discusses her beauty ideas with columnist Lydia Lane in today's Hollywood Beauty.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Believes Fashion Not To Be Master

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD—There is no one in Hollywood with a larger fan following than Lucille Ball, but when she first came to the coast, she was concerned that no one would remember her because she was not an outstanding beauty. Now she can laugh over this fear, because she is one of the best known personalities in the entertainment world.

"It was a bid for attention that made me dye my hair this crazy red," she confessed. "Now it has become a trademark and I shall always keep it this way."

"I love the way you are wearing it," I remarked. "It is very becoming."

"I like it, too," Lucy agreed. "Much more than all those curls I used to wear, and it solves my problem." She was referring to her low forehead and the bangs she was wearing.

"Have you ever considered having your hairline raised?"

"That's a great big project, and I have no intentions of becoming a slave to it," she said with a smile. "Coloring my hair takes enough time."

We talked about fashion and Lucy said that it was too expensive to follow.

"They dream up style changes to sell dresses and fashion magazines. I bend myself to the other way—perhaps too much—for when I find a dress I think looks good on me I have it copied in different colors. I used to do this a lot, but I'm getting over it."

"And as for pointed toes on shoes," she exclaimed. "I wouldn't tolerate a shoe that hurt my foot. For two and a half years I was crippled, and ever since I have great respect for my feet. I stay with what is comfortable, and that is the open toe and heel. You can always tell if a woman's shoes are hurting her by the grim expression on her face."

Lucille seemed much thinner and I asked if she had been dieting.

"No, but I don't have to worry about my weight when I'm working because when I'm tired, I don't eat. And my normal weight fluctuates because I have a water retention problem. Some people think the way to lick this is not to drink water, but my doctor says that I should drink lots of water in between meals—that everyone should. I give my children a bottle of spring water so that when they are by the pool or out playing baseball they'll stop and drink when they get thirsty. If you drink between meals, then you won't be inclined to drink at the table."

"I think you have to find a way of reducing that is right for you," Lucy continued. "I could never succeed with the counting calories routine. The minute I say I must deny myself something it creates desire. But I've found if I order 1, and take only one bite or two, I can satisfy the craving by having the taste in my mouth. I just pretend that it's the last bit, and it works."

"If you plan nutritional meals, you won't be hungry," Lucy declared. "And the children will grow up having good eating habits, and they won't be troubled with a weight problem."

Miss Ball has just finished filming "Facts of Life" with Bob Hope and she will soon be off to Broadway to star in a musical—and she confessed she was nervous about it.

"I am getting in training for strenuous dancing and singing. I won't sing well but I'll sing loud," she said candidly.

She once told me her biggest battle was with lack of confidence, and I was surprised to hear her say that she still hadn't licked it.

"But I'm not sure that I want to be without some lack of confidence," she admitted. "If you are too sure of yourself, you don't grow. You may feel confident in some things, but other fields come up as a challenge. And if you don't anticipate trouble, you will be in trouble."

In parting I asked Lucy how she kept such a lovely complexion.

"I don't bake in the sun. I steam my face before I cleanse it, and I use an ointment that has been a favorite of mine for many years—one that I would never be without."

"It took me a long time to discover that the sun was bad for me. It always enervated me and it was the cause of many headaches. Moderation is the word. A little sun is healthful, but exercising or baking in it is not for me," Lucille concluded.

Autumn Spraying Steps Up War On Bark Beetles

Chemical warfare is reaching behind the green curtain to help curb Dutch elm disease.

Dormant spraying of elms, once confined to the spring period before leafing, now extends to autumn after leaf fall.

The important point is that a single DDT spraying on bare trees has yearlong lethal power against invading elm bark beetles. These insects are the carriers of the Dutch elm malady.

E. T. Bowen, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., says fall often offers definite spraying advantages. Instead of the wet, cold and windy weather sometimes typical of spring, often autumn and early winter frequently bring many mild and relatively windless days that are ideal for effective spraying operations.

Too often dormant spraying planned for early spring or late winter may never get done because of weather conditions that are completely unsuitable.

Bird lovers, too, usually encourage fall and winter elm spraying because it comes at a time when it interferes the least with normal bird activity.

According to government researchers DDT's residual effectiveness is remarkable. For this reason, sprays can be applied any time trees are bare and still be potent during the growing season. Only when trees are "de-frosted" can best chemical coverage be assured.

 1/4 cup butter or shortening
 1/4 cup flour
 Salt
 White pepper
 1 tsp. paprika

RED RUFFLES

Three Rose Varieties For 1961 Feature Red

Red is the key color of three new roses to be introduced for the 1961 season by Peterson & Dering, rose growers of Scappoose, Ore. All three, a hybrid tea, a grandiflora and a floribunda are the originations of Gordon J. Von Abrams, director of research for the company.

Coronado is the new hybrid tea rose, a brilliant bi-color glowing with the warm red of a desert sunset. Large, full pointed buds, flushed with copper and orange, appear on long erect stems, opening into large, high-centered flowers of 40 to 50 petals each. The inside of the bloom is rose-red to spectrum red, with golden yellow beneath, very bright and attractive in full bloom.

Coronado is the result of twice crossing Multnomah X Peace. The tall, full, vigorous bush rises to some six feet, covered with large, glossy deep green foliage which provides a shining background for the abundance of flowers.

Ebony is a new, deep dark red grandiflora rose, dusky and come-

Chestnuts Add Crunch To Casserole

Chinese water chestnuts can add an exotic note to many an American dish. Their crisp crunchiness and delicate flavor often yield the very texture and taste a simple homespun dish needs to make it agreeably different.

With water chestnuts now readily available in convenient size cans at most food stores, it is no problem at all to use this interesting vegetable in salads, cooked vegetables and casseroles.

One company now puts up water chestnuts in handy five-ounce cans. It is just the size needed to prepare this pork chop scallop for dinner.

PORK CHOP CASSEROLE (Six servings)

5 tbsps. butter
6 pork chops
4 medium potatoes
1 small onion, chopped
2 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
1 tsp. soy sauce
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, sliced

Brown pork chops in 3 tablespoons of butter; cook for an additional 15 minutes. Drain thoroughly.

Parboil and slice potatoes; cook for 5 minutes. Drain.

Cook onion in remaining butter until tender. Blend in flour and pepper.

Gradually stir in milk and soy sauce, cooking until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly.

Alternate layers of potatoes and water chestnuts in a buttered 2-quart casserole. Pour white sauce over all. Place pork chops on top.

Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes.

Blueberry Pie

This blueberry pie idea is excellent.

BLUEBERRY PIE
Pie shell
3 cups blueberries, washed and dried on paper toweling
1/2 cup sugar
3 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup heavy cream

Put berries in pie shell. Stir together thoroughly the sugar, flour and salt; add lemon rind and cream; whisk lightly to get out any lumps. Pour over berries.

Bake on lowest shelf of hot (400 degrees) oven 45 minutes; filling should set as pie cools. Serve just warm or reheat.

PIE SHELL
Mix 1 cup sifted flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt; cut in 1-3 cup lard to size of small peas. Sprinkle gradually with 2 tablespoons milk, tossing with fork; shape into ball.

Roll out to 11-inch circle, fit into 8-inch pie plate; pat out air pockets; fold edge under to form high standing rim; flute. Fill and bake as directed. This crust should not get soggy.

Hot Spiced Fruit

The family will love fruit prepared this way.

HOT SPICED FRUIT
1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1 cup orange juice
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup syrup drained from canned fruit
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1 tbsps. butter or margarine
6 ripe bananas
1 cup seedless grapes.

Heat sugar, orange juice, lemon juice, fruit syrup, cinnamon and nutmeg in a large skillet; stir until sugar dissolves; boil gently 3 minutes. Stir in butter. Add peeled bananas; cook several minutes, turning once and basting, until bananas are hot through. Add grapes. Makes 6 servings. If desired top with whipped cream and freshly-ground nutmeg.

Founders Day for the Girl Scouts of America will be observed today at 3 p.m. by Neighborhood 1 in the Girl Scout Hut on Lancaster Street.

Among those to be honored at the occasion are Mrs. Imogene Lloyd, Lawrence Robinson, Mrs. Eva Pyeatt, Mrs. Morris Patterson, Mrs. Maurice Koger, Mrs. Lee O. Rogers and Mrs. Carlson Hamilton, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, all long time workers in the movement.

Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Koger were once members of a group led by Mrs. Pyeatt, and Mrs. Hamilton was in one led by Mrs. Rogers.

Following a brief program in which there will be a flag ceremony, remarks by the honored guests, songs by each troop, and finally the singing of Taps, there will be a tea.

Mrs. C. M. Wozencraft, neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Lee Boyer, chairman of organization; Mrs. Dale McCombs, committee member, will be assisted in the serving by all unit leaders and their assistants.

Electric Blankets

The question of "Is an electric blanket weakening in any way?" is often asked but the reply is "definitely not." By this time the usual misconceptions that come with every new device should be out of the way. Some people rave about the electric blanket; others are lukewarm. The blankets are safe or they couldn't be sold.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1960 SEC. D

Howard, Glasscock Lead In Percentage, Dawson In Total

Howard and Glasscock counties continue to lead the Big Spring area in the percentage of 1960 cotton crop ginned. Howard County's crop is estimated by the Texas Employment Commission as being 67 per cent completed and Glasscock County 68 per cent.

Check of ginning activities in the past week shows that gins are getting back into full swing again after being handicapped for some days by the recent rains. Howard County gins have processed 20,500 bales of an estimated 30,620 bale crop. Glasscock has ginned 6,870 bales of its estimated 10,205 bale total.

MARTIN LAGS

Martin County has only 27 per cent of its crop picked. The crop estimated for the county is 72,575 bales, with 29,900 bales processed. Dawson County has 77,270 bales ginned representing 80 per cent of its estimated 180,000 bale crop. Borden County has ginned 6,000 bales. This is about half of its total crop.

Rancher's Set For Life, Death

JUNTURA, Ore. (AP)—An eastern Oregon rancher has his tomb ready but until he needs it for his burial, Tom Goodwin, 65, says he will use the concrete structure as a hunting and fishing cabin.

Goodwin says the built the crypt because he has no relatives and wanted to make his own burial arrangements. He recently sold his 6,240-acre ranch 33 miles northwest of Juntura, but said the sales agreement gives him the right to be buried in the tomb and hunt and fish on the ranch as long as he lives.

Stripper are operating in the county. Only 45 per cent of the crop is ready for harvesting. Much acreage in the area is planted to late cotton.

OTHER RESULTS

Scurry County has ginned 6,989 bales. It's week's turnout was 1,866. This is 35 per cent of its crop which is about half ready for picking. There are 32 strippers working in the county.

Fisher ginned 2,748 bales last week for a season total of 13,452. This is about 38 per cent of the crop. The cotton is 85 per cent open. Nolan County has 44 per cent of its crop harvested. It reported 1,244 bales ginned last week for a total of 7,166 bales. There are 17 strippers in the fields. Eighty-five per cent of the cotton is ready for picking.

Dog Licks Car

PAGELAND, S. C. (AP)—Miss Mickey Yount of Charlotte, N. C., and three girl friends were headed east in her small foreign car when a black and white hound walked into the highway. The little car hit the dog, flipped over into a ditch and came to rest with windows broken, windshield out and chassis buckled beyond repair. The girls crawled out, unhurt. The dog? "I think his tail was broken," said Miss Yount. "It seemed a little bent as he trotted away."

Just No Justice

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Johnny McDonald told police thieves took advantage of him in stealing a pistol and watch. The thieves took the goods from McDonald's home while he was serving a sentence in the city jail.

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—John Vonetes told his wife she could have all the silver dollars they took in at their restaurant. Pickings were slim for a while—until the 21st North - South muzzle-loading shoot at Fort Lee. Mrs. Vonetes said she quit counting after 300 of the cartwheels had rolled in.

Billings said Kennedy painted five pictures in 1955 while recuperating at the family home in Palm Beach, Fla., from a spinal operation.

Local Student Wins Honor

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech President R. C. Goodwin formally designated 13 Army and six Air Force ROTC cadets as Distinguished Military Students Thursday. Dennis H. Jones, electrical engineering major, was among the honored students. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Jones, Big Spring. The Tech students were cited at a combined Army - Air Force cadet parade and review. The cadets being honored have consistently maintained outstanding grades in their academic, military and air science subjects, and leadership training throughout their college careers. Halloween Is Becoming More Expensive

Halloween, like Christmas, comes only once a year—thank goodness!

October brings the season when witches are supposed to abound. It is also the time of ogres, ghosts,imps, and other various sundry spirits.

Halloween is a one night affair. However, most parents begin preparing for the event a week or so ahead of time. Usually Junior or Sis reminds them of it. They've outgrown last year's costume. The parents keep looking for the time they'll outgrow Halloween.

After buying the costume, most prudent homeowners stock up on goodies. The goodies go to the swarm of "monsters" who descend the night before Halloween, Halloween night, and the night after Halloween.

Some residents just invest in a strong lock, turn off the lights and pretend they aren't at home. Some, with a turn-about streak in them — after all, it's Halloween, isn't it?—have been known to short out their doorbells and chortle at the shocked, ghosts.

Usually the kiddies get out and make a few practice runs before the big day. However, most of the cleaning is done by the elders. Picking up turned over trash cans, scrubbing soap and other things off of car windshields, windows and so on.

The advent of the compact car should give rise to some real dilemmas in the way of pranks. Some thing has to take the place of the old buggy which invariably ended up somewhere around the vicinity of the church steeple.

No one is really immune to the cost factor, for residents are obliged to lay in stores of fruits and candies, cookies, and other goodies to keep the evil spirits away when young goblins ring the doorbell with chants of "Trick or Treat!"

When it's all totaled up, Halloween is just about as hard on the pocketbook as Christmas. And it can be more expensive if people start decorating for it like they do Christmas.

Oh well, it only comes once a year.

Former C-City Resident Dies

COLORADO CITY — Louis L. Chaplin, 78, retired cotton buyer, died in Pampa Oct. 27, after a long illness.

He was born in Maine June 4, 1882 and came to Colorado City in 1893. He was a member of the Baptist Church here. Mr. Chaplin married Myrtle Ann Jackson in Colorado City on Dec. 24, 1903. She died June 2, 1951. He married Mrs. Gertrude Rice in 1954, and since that time they had lived in Pampa.

The funeral was to be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. John Blue, Pampa, officiating. Burial was to be in the Colorado City Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Survivors include his widow of Pampa; three stepsons, Robert L. Rice, Pampa; D. R. Rice, Amarillo; and J. W. Rice, Perryton; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Artie Abernathy, Perryton; Mrs. Lorene Beck, Pampa; and Mrs. Coy Revious, Wheeler; and one brother, George Chaplin, Highland Park, Calif.

Progress But...

NEWTON, Iowa (AP)—Progress is important but a firm sometimes has to live a bit in the past. George Umbreit, a washing machine company executive, points out.

In 1959 his company sold five cranks for the wringer assembly of a washer it introduced in 1919. And last year, Umbreit adds, was the first in which the firm has not received an order for a piston ring for the engine of a washer first brought out in 1914.

March Of Dimes Chairman

Carlisle (Frosty) Robison examines one of the posters which will be used next January in the traditional March of Dimes drive, which he will direct. With him is Rad Ware, chairman of the Howard-Glascock Counties chapter of the National Foundation. The Foundation concerns itself with research and attack on the crippling ailments such as birth defects, arthritis, polio, viruses, and disorders of the central nervous system. A fourth of the MOD returns go to medical and scientific research and the balance is divided between the chapter and Foundation. Local funds are used to aid victims of the disorders, up to now principally polio. Part of the national funds are available for local use in emergencies.

Tobacco, Seals, Tanks, TV Take Lead In Science News

By The Associated Press
Tobacco and seals, tanks and TV, these are topics this week from science at work:

HAVE A CHAW
A scientist of the San Diego, Calif., Natural History museum swears he saw two elephant seals chewing leaves of the "Indian tobacco" plant on the shores of Guadalupe Island.

STAR-EYED
Within three years the United States plans to have an unmanned 2,200-pound telescope satellite so accurate it will be able to pin its glance on individual stars. That's roughly like sighting and watching a basketball 500 miles away.

The satellite will report back to earth by television and radio. Its telescopes, using 36-inch reflecting mirrors, will give man a clear

TV FOR TANKS
An Army engineer says possibilities look good for using television to enable drivers of tanks and other tracked vehicles to drive in safety across battlefields hot with radiation from exploded nuclear weapons.

DEADLY TIDBIT
A small, two-winged fly named Acrocerid spells doom to the spider. Somehow the fly's larvae or eggs get into the spider, perhaps swallowed innocently. Once inside the larva feeds on the spider, sometimes devouring almost all the tissue inside the spider's shell, reports the Smithsonian Institution. More remarkable: There is not much obvious awareness by the spider of his plight.

ISLAND OF IGNORANCE?
In what is now Arizona, scientists find evidence of a pre-historic Indian tribe that lived without pottery and probably without agriculture in the midst of more advanced neighbors.

For almost 2,000 years these people apparently resisted advancement in their fortress-like village of sheer cliffs and boulder walls. Just 70 miles away their contemporaries built better homes, made pottery and grew corn. What made the more primitive tribe resist change is not known.

WORLD OF PLENTY
Research may be moving man into a society of plenty where income may make little difference between individuals, a University of Michigan economist suggests.

We may be in the first stages of this "post-civilization" says Prof. Kenneth Boulding. But in the transition we face two dangers:

Population explosion—a world of 200 billion people in some 200 years would live in an endless world slum-city on a diet of yeast and algae, decimated by famine.

Nuclear annihilation—no nation, no matter how large, can defend its heartland from destruction.

HELP MAKE HIS DREAMS COME TRUE...

He wants to be an architect, perhaps a scientist, but will he get the chance?

Many of our colleges are already overcrowded and applications are expected to double in the next ten years. Will there be room for him? Talented teachers are being lured away by high salaries in business and industry. Will there be a qualified person to guide him?

Spiritually, culturally and materially, we as a nation cannot afford to be second-rate. The college of your choice needs financial aid now. Give generously.

Dow Chemists Working On Weed Killers

FREERPORT (AP)—Dow Chemical Co. agricultural chemists are currently developing deterrents of water weeds—a general nuisance to water sports enthusiasts.

Finding suitable methods of controlling the unwanted aquatic vegetation has been the goal of agricultural chemists, conservationists, and sportsmen for years.

A team headed by Dr. R. W. Colby is conducting tests at the company's Texas Division Agricultural Research Station at Lake Jackson near here.

Submerged vegetation can jam boat propellers, trip water skiers or spoil swimming spots. Anglers know that in addition to snaring lines, excessive vegetation can destroy fish spawning beds and unbalance fish populations. And to industry, an excessive aquatic growth in cooling ponds, for instance, can interfere with cooling water.

To qualify for aquatic use, any herbicide chemical must meet rigid specifications. It must do a good job of controlling unwanted weeds, have a wide margin of toxicity safety to birds, animals, fish and humans, and must meet manufacturing cost demands.

The first step in the evaluating program is done inside the greenhouse in small tanks. Minimum dosage rates that are effective in killing the weeds are sought out. If the result of these tests remain promising, the chemical is tested on a small fish, usually perch, for toxicity reaction.

When a compound is found that meets all the requirements, development of the product is begun. If the compound fails to meet specifications, another is tested.

Blue Star House Opens Door Today

Pioneer Natural Gas will open the doors of another demonstration home, the Blue Star House, Sunday between 1:30-6 p.m. in the Marshall Fields Estate in southeast Big Spring.

Big Spring building contractor Ray Parker built the three-bedroom home which is to sell for $20,500. Mrs. Parker decorated the home which is located at 2311 Lynn Drive.

All appliances in the house are gas, including the refrigerator, washer-dryer combination, central heating unit and water heater. The stove and oven in the wood-paneled kitchen are built in. Built on the patio is a gas charcoal broiler. The incinerator is also gas operated, and a gas lawn lamp stands in front of the house.

The house is fully carpeted in the living room and bedrooms, with Vinyl tile in the family room or den and kitchen. Two full bathrooms are tiled.

A unique closet feature designed by Parker utilizes otherwise dead space between the entrance and rest of the house, with three large closets, and closet-space throughout the house is expansive.

Tractor Flags

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Safety experts at Iowa State University in Ames have designed flags and poles which would be flown by tractors on the highways in hilly areas. State safety officials will try to get the legislature to require their use.

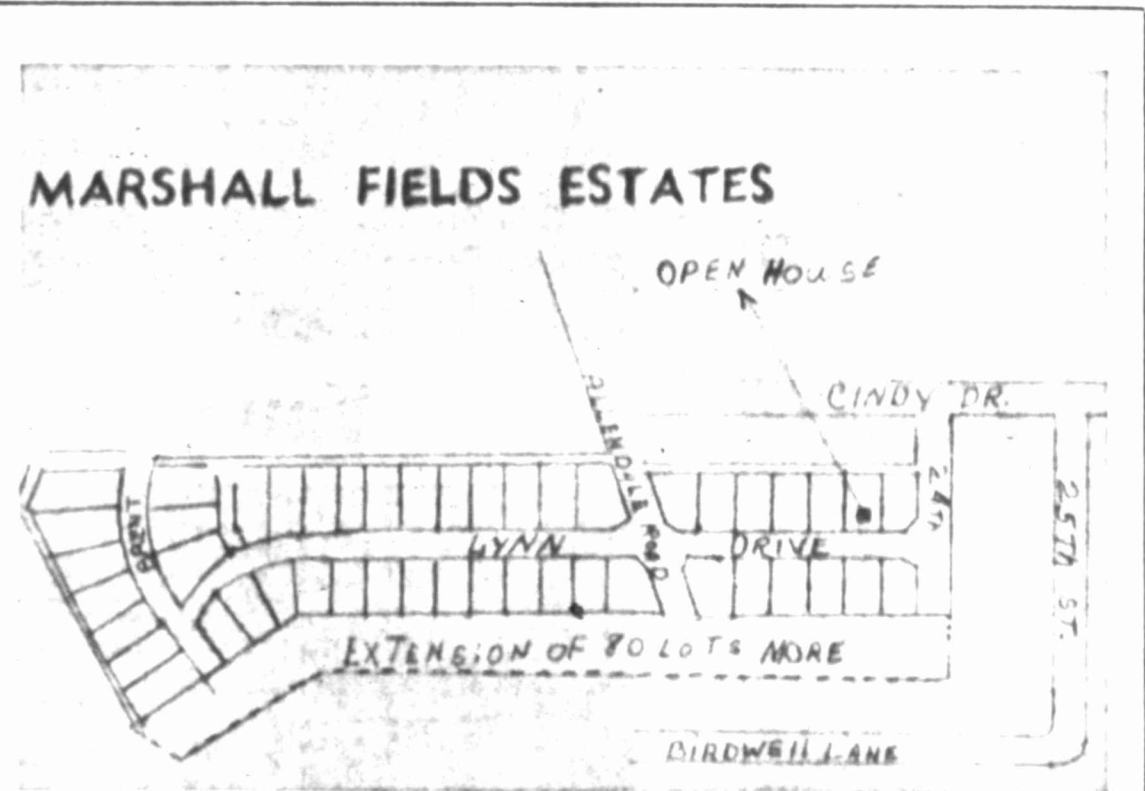

They say the flags would give motorists a chance to see slow moving farm vehicles before they were right upon them.

Bad Checks Are Biggest Headache For Wayne Burns

By SAM BLACKBURN

If someone gives you a worthless check and you turn it in to the county attorney's office, you have just about a 50-50 chance of getting your money back.

Provided, of course, that you have properly made your own effort to recover the money and that the writer of the check has not foiled you with the use of an entirely fictitious name and address.

Check of the year's work in the hot check collecting field of the office of Wayne Burns, county attorney, indicated that the office has been able, so far this year, to collect about 50 per cent of the worthless checks turned into the office by Big Spring and Howard County business establishments.

Face amount of hot checks turned in to the county attorney for the first 10 months of 1960 is $9,927.

Silent Phone

ELIZABETH N. J. P. — Louis T. Mackessy is listed in the telephone directory again this year. But no one has answered his phone since 1935.

Mackessy, a young lawyer, vanished without trace 25 years ago during a Bermuda cruise. He was declared legally dead nine years ago.

But his brother, Noel, keeps the phone intact, just in case.

The office has been able to collect $4,959.

Worthless checks comprise the biggest headache in the county attorney's office. It is a dull day when from six to 20 such checks are not brought to the office by harried business men.

Mrs. Doris Owens, secretary to the county attorney, is probably the best informed person in the county on the individuals who are prone to write checks which bounce. She is called upon again and again to encounter checks bearing signatures which are painfully familiar to her.

The office would have been able to collect a considerably larger percentage of the bad checks laid before it if the business establishment where the check was presented had exercised more caution in identifying the individual presenting them, Mrs. Owens believes.

FICTITIOUS

The bulk of the checks which are not collected are signed with fictitious names and, if any address is given, such addresses do not exist.

She and Burns voiced the opinion if business establishments would be firmer by demanding that strangers presenting checks establish their identity there would be a vast decrease in the number of bad checks.

There is one business establishment in Big Spring Mrs. Owens said, which makes a stern requirement the person asking to cash a check prove thoroughly his or her right to write such a check.

"I do not know if this establishment just doesn't get any bad checks or whether they never file complaints against offenders. All I know is — this store has never brought a bad check to our office for collection," she said.

COMPLICATED

The procedure, once the check has been rejected by the bank as worthless, is rather complicated if collection is desired. However, Burns explained, the routine has to be followed.

The person cashing the check must make an effort to collect the check. A certified letter to the signer of the check, at the address given on it, must be dispatched. If the letter is accepted, the receipt will be returned to the sender. If the addressee refuses to accept the certified letter, it will be returned to the sender.

Persons who habitually write hot checks recognize such letters and refuse, as common practice, to sign for them.

Assuming the letter is delivered, accepted and the receipt returned to the sender, the later must wait 10 days for the checkwriter to pay off. At the end of 10 days, he brings the receipt and the check to the county attorney's office.

COMPLAINT

A complaint has to be signed. Then the county attorney's office sets about trying to contact the writer. If he cannot be located, a letter from the county attorney is sent to the address. Ten days later, the matter is turned over to the sheriff's office and an arrest is made if the checkwriter is located.

Generally, where this procedure is followed, the writer of the check makes restitution. During this month, Burns has received $730.04 repayment from worthless check writers. This is a little larger than usual. September hot check col-

Young Plane Fan Finally Gets Her Pilot's License

TAYLOR (AP) — For Gail Holmes it was something like living beside a swimming pool and never being allowed to swim. She lives in a converted plane hangar at the Taylor airport but couldn't receive a pilot's license.

The reason, however, was not restraint by her parents. She received her private flying license recently shortly after she reached 17—the minimum age for obtaining federal permission to pilot a plane.

Her father, Stuart Holmes, operates the airport.

Gail did receive a student license about a year ago. She got it on her 16th birthday, again the minimum age for such a license. She received most of her instructions from her father. He has been flying since 1928, when he was 21.

To prepare for her pilot's license, she flew at least an hour every day, practicing landings and maneuvers. She received special instrument training from an instructor at Killeen.

"It was hard work and I never did think I would make it," said Gail.

Gail, a senior in Taylor High School, says she loves to fly just like "some people like to bowl." She plans to attend business college and then work around an airport.

Her father now is directing his attention to his son, Kenneth. Now 14, he is receiving his first lessons and hopes to be ready for a student's solo license when he reaches 16.

Checking On 'Hot' Checks

Mrs. Doris Owens, secretary to the Howard County Attorney, looks over the file of worthless checks which have been turned in to the office. Each envelope in the file contains from one to a dozen bad checks accepted by Big Spring business establishments and rejected by the banks as worthless.

Biggest month's collection for 1960 was August with $777.58; the smallest, January with $229.23.

Burns deposits all these payments on bad checks in a special account and then writes checks against this account to repay the holders of the worthless checks.

INTO COURT

Each month a dozen or more worthless check writers are hauled before the county court.

In recent weeks, Burns and County Judge Ed Carpenter have been setting more severe penalties against offenders who are brought in and plead guilty. Early last week, a check writer was given 10 days in jail for a $10 bad check. The county attorney plans to continue this policy.

When an offender who has a number of checks in Mrs. Owens' files is arrested and brought to court there is usually a stipulation in the sentence assessed that he repay the holders of the checks. This is in addition to the fine and the jail time which may be assessed.

Burns emphasized that worthless check writing is both annoying and expensive to the stores which are victimized. The total worthless checks cashed in the county each year Burns feels is considerably more than the total indicated by checks turned into his office. It is even possible the total could run two or more times that figure.

MORE STRINGENT

He repeated the urgent suggestion that stores adopt more stringent regulations relative to ac-

It Takes Time

CRITIQUE
By Glenn Coates

Enthusiasm has swept into the Big Spring Civic Theatre, promising a new surge of theater activity for Big Spring and the area.

Popping out almost overnight, this enthusiasm has swelled the membership appreciably, particularly with those who would set the group on an ambitious course of productivity. And apparently, they are willing to pitch in and see the job through.

First, a workshop program has been initiated. Marge Brown and James Marlin have edged the workshop out into the open and it has won immediate acceptance.

Second, play production has been stepped up. Although discussed at length in other times, the group has decided to produce several plays for Christmas. And more, these short plays will be offered to various organizations throughout the area as program material.

Third, advance planning for the Easter Pageant has already started. This difficult production has usually been put together in a few short weeks, bringing problems of time and manpower. But the group has begun to plan now, while there is plenty of time to make an even better production of it.

A BSCT committee met last week with a committee of the Big Spring Pastors Association to work out details of a combined Easter program. Apparently, the pageant will be produced on the Saturday night prior to Easter morning, and the Pastors group will hold the traditional morning service.

Both groups plan to combine facilities and planning in order to give a better Easter weekend program. All publicity and planning will be done together. And this is as it should be.

Fourth, there is already some talk of producing a three-act play before Easter. In times past, this would have been difficult. But with the renewed enthusiasm and large number of active members, it may be accomplished.

Fifth, work on the playhouse may soon get a shot in the arm. Despite welcome help from many quarters, the organization has been plagued by a lack of materials to complete this work. Plans are now developing to provide these materials so work crews can complete the theatre construction.

All of these things have been considered before in some degree by the group. Many of them have enjoyed some success. But now the directors are pushing to fire the entire theatre program ahead under a full head of steam. New members are being encouraged to take active part in the business, production and building part of the organization. Old-timers are being urged to pitch in to guide the various activities.

In a nutshell, the organization has been spurred on to provide the area with an increasingly active theatre group.

Probably the excellence of the recent production, "The Warrior's Husband," has much to do with this revitalization. Particularly when it was proven that the group could best a bunch of professionals who passed through.

But whatever the reason, the theatre-goer in Big Spring stands to gain.

Winter Ills Catch Residents

Winter illis are increasing now that the weather has a coolish snap to it.

During the past week, the Big Spring Howard County Health Unit reports 101 cases of tonsillitis, 50 upper respiratory cases, four cases of virus pneumonia, five cases of bronchial pneumonia, 47 cases of flu and two cases of pneumonia.

Also reported were 15 cases of diarrhea, 39 cases of gastroenteritis, one case of gonorrhoea, one case of trench mouth, eight cases of chicken pox, 19 cases of strep throat, one case of measles and seven cases of impetigo.

If it's Revenescence Cream, the answer is the younger the better. True, age does rob the skin of its natural moisturizing agents...but so does wind, cold, heat, steam and just general living. Revenescence is a delightful way to insure the youthful look of your skin for the future... as well as helping to impart that same fresh appearance to the older complexion. Wear it at what age should a woman use a moisturizer?

all day long, under make-up if you like, and see your skin reflect the luminous, fresh aura of dewy beauty. Revenescence Cream; $3.50, $6, $10, $17.50, $27.50. Liquid Revenescence (younger skins sometimes prefer this type) $6, $10, $17.50. All prices plus tax.
