Council Hears Need For New Library

Request by members of Friona's Municipal Library board for a possible new library building was a highlight of the monthly meeting of the Friona City Council Monday evening.

"We're reaching a standstill. We're running out of room to grow," a spokesman for the library board told members of the city council.

The library representatives told the city council that the local library, which is only ten years old, has served a total of 6,466 patrons this calendar year.

Some activities, such as Story Hour for certain pre-school age youngsters, have had to be curtailed simply because of lack of space, the board spokesman stated. "And the sad part was that we had volunteers who would have done the work," it was pointed out.

PRIZES ADDED

Big Drawing Set For December 1

The big drawing sponsored by Friona's Business Activities Committee has been scheduled for Saturday, December 1, it was announced this week.

Friona merchants will begin giving tickets on purchases starting Wednesday, November 14.

Grand prize in the December 1 drawing will be $500.00 in cash certificates. This will be won by a lucky Friona shopper, who will be required to be present to win the prize. If the first ticket drawn does not produce a winner, those conducting the drawing will continue to draw until a winner is found.

In addition to the grand prize, various individual merchants plan to add gifts or gift certificates of their own to the drawing, so that there will be more than one winner at the affair.

Over 30 merchants had been signed up as of Friday noon, and more were expected to take part in the BAC project. "We encourage the participating merchants to display their 'Friona First' decal or insignia, which will indicate to shoppers that they are participating in the drawing," stated Carrol Gatlin, chairman of the BAC executive committee.

Gatlin said his group was hoping to attain 100 per cent financial support of the Friona businesses in the Business Activities Committee, plus as many as possible who would become active participants.

The BAC was created slightly over a week ago, as an outgrowth of the Board of City Development's survey as to shopping habits of residents of Friona and the trade territory.

It was thought that through an active Business Association, merchants can be encouraged to offer specials, as well as combining to give free gifts, such as the giant gift drawing slated for December 1.

The free drawing idea was hit upon as one way of showing area shoppers that the local merchants appreciate their business.

Those who have not joined the BAC are encouraged to do so. Dues of $25.00 per business have been established. Members of the executive committee are Gatlin, Leland Hutson, Kenneth Williams, Ralph Roden and Marc Houser. Dues may be left at the Chamber of Commerce office, which also will dispense tickets for the merchants to give away.

Sherman Deplores Voter Dis-interest

Speaking to the Friona Evening Lions Club here Thursday night, state senator Max Sherman deplored the low voter turnout in Tuesday's constitutional amendment election.

"The greatest tragedy was not how people voted, but the fact that so few bothered to vote at all," said the senator.

Sherman said he was personally disappointed about the failure of the legislative pay raises. "We will definitely lose some fine young legislators, who were seeking a mandate from the people as to whether or not they would get a full-time salary," the senator said.

"People of Texas have indicated that they want a part-time legislature, but this doesn't necessarily work. Even when the legislature isn't in session, you need to be working."

When there is something going on in Friona, you're (the legislator) expected to be there. When there's something in Follett, Levelland or Muleshoe, you're expected to be there. It's hard to justify on the present salary, but somehow it must be done," Sherman told the Friona Lions.

Because of the Sharpstown scandal, and the Watergate episode, Sherman said he had not picked a "good time to be in politics," but stated that he was determined to stick with it, convinced that there are important jobs that need to be done.

The Amarillo legislator, who has been rated as one of the state's "Top ten legislators," referred to the current energy crisis.

"This is a real problem in an area such as this, when you can't get gas, diesel and fertilizer," Sherman commented.

He thought the president's plan for combatting the problem was good, but pointed out that he (the president) currently was at a low ebb of power with the congress, and that this might hurt his efforts.

FIRST COTTON....Charles Bass, right, marketed the first bale of cotton for Friona, 1973, when he brought a bale to Friona Farmers Co-op Gin on Friday, November 2. The gin had ginned another handful of bales on Thursday, before wet conditions moved into the area Friday morning. Gin manager Tom Byars is shown with Bass.

United Fund Inches Upward--77% Given

Friona's United Fund drive continued to inch its way toward the 1973 goal this week, with reports from two of the area's six rural chairmen boosting the total.

As of Thursday, a total of $5,702.86 had been deposited. This represented 77.02 per cent of the 1973 goal of $7,404.00. The drive still lacks approximately $1,700 reaching the established goal.

Besides still lacking the big portion of the rural drive, chairman Byron Hardgrove stated that there were still some "clean-up" operations to be done in the city of Friona. Also, there were hopefully still some large contributions to come from the large companies, who are contacted separately.

Hardgrove urged all workers to canvass their areas, and to complete their reports. He still felt that there was a good possibility that the 1973 goal, which included a substantial increase from the 1972 figure, could be met.

BELINDA RHODES

First-Time Entry Wins Weekly Prize

It may sound strange, but the ninth week of the contest proved not to be too late to send in a first entry this week, as Mrs. Howard (Belinda) Rhodes proved by winning the weekly first prize in her first contest entry.

Mrs. Rhodes was one of five contestants to correctly pick 14 of the 16 contest games. Actually, one of the games (Oklahoma State vs Kansas) ended in a tie, so the best possible score would have been 15 correct.

The first-place winner missed the Friona-Dimmitt tie-breaker score by ten points to earn the weekly prize money. Mrs. H.A. Seright took second place, also with a 14. Her tie-breaker score was 11 points off the pace.

Tying for third place were Nita Powell and S.D. Baize, who had scores of 14 and both had picked the Friona-Dimmitt score at 14-21, missing by 12.

Mary Priest was the other contestant to pick 14 games. She also had picked Friona over Dimmitt, 8-7, but her score was 16 points away from the actual score, which was 18-13 favoring the Chieftains.

Hank Outland, Jr. remained in first place for the fourth week. He maintained a one-point lead over the field.

getting 13 games right for an over-all score of 106.

Mary Priest's score of 14 pulled her into a tie for second with Jeff Peak, who also had 13 correct games. Mrs. Priest and young Peak each have scores of 105.

These leaders have a four-point lead over the next contestants, F.G. Crofford and Mary Pryor, who are tied at 101. Only three other contestants have scores of 100 or over. They are Cindy Carthel of Portales, Keith Pryor and Frank Truitt.

Scores of all of the leading contestants are listed on Page 7.

SIX DEFEATED

Low Turnout Marks Amendment Choices

With less than ten per cent of the eligible voters casting ballots in Parmer County, a dribbling of voters expressed their opposition to amendments in general, opposing six of the nine proposals.

Like the vote tally statewide, Parmer County voters nixed the legislative pay raises and annual sessions, 232-122. Only one box voted in favor of the raises, Lakeview, where the vote was 4-2. It was close at Black, with five favoring and six opposed.

County voters went against five other amendments. Statewide, seven of the nine amendments were passed.

Besides objecting to the legislative pay raises, county voters were heavy against number 8 (broadening the ad valorem tax), 227-124. This amendment failed in all eight county polling places.

Also not favored in Parmer County were numbers four (conservation districts), 190-147; six (district court jurisdiction), 256-86; seven (increasing veteran's land fund), 179-177 and nine (water tax exemptions), 193-153.

County voters went in favor of amendment number two (homestead protection), 258-96; three (homestead exemption), 243-116; and five (coastal seawall construction), 181-159.

Friona voters favored all except proposals number one, six and eight. Number nine drew a tie vote locally, 61-61.

Only 362 people voted in the county, out of an estimated 4,000 eligible voters.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE that America, the world's richest nation, has suddenly reached the point where we are dangerously short on so many vital raw materials—just about any basic material you care to mention.

We have said for at least six months that there were more important problems facing America than who the new Watergate prosecutor will be—or whether there were four tapes, or six tapes—or any tapes.

Wednesday night, President Nixon reminded Congress—which has been so interested in getting his neck in a noose that it hadn't noticed the noose being tightened on the country as a whole—that he had asked Congress more than eight months ago for bills dealing with the energy shortage, but has received absolutely nothing.

WE THOUGHT THE president had some good points in his Wednesday speech, and some recommendations that Congress should take seriously.

His suggestion that the nation return to Daylight Savings Time on a year-around basis sounds silly at first blush, until you think it out and realize that this actually could result in a saving of one hour of fuel and power during night-time, or at least cut down considerably on the amount of energy being used.

President Nixon's other suggestion, to relax the regulations being imposed from an environmental standpoint, almost all of which results in expending more fuel and energy in the long run—might have been the most sane suggestion of the entire speech.

The anti-smog devices which automobile manufacturers have been required to have on their products for the last few years have cut down tremendously on the efficiency of the motors—and caused an immediate and automatic need for more fuel.

To our way of thinking, they could scrap this requirement for all time and everyone would be ahead. If any congressman with an ounce of influence happens to read this bit—that's our recommendation.

THE PRESIDENT also indicated that he would ask the various state officials to take steps toward creating a nationwide speed limit of 50 miles per hour. Research has shown that you use almost as much gasoline increasing the speed from 50 to 70 as you do by staying at 50.

If this could be accomplished, the president stated that this one act alone would save the nation over 200,000 barrels of oil per day—quite a little "gusher" right there!

WE AGREE THAT America should be self-sufficient. We should not become so dependent upon ANY country for any item that could jeopardize the country's future—and particularly in an area so vital as the nation's energy supply.

We're probably no different from any of the rest of you in that it would take some getting used to, going on a long trip and having to be satisfied with 50 miles per hour.

INVASION ?

Sincerely Yours

By Rev. Albert Lindley

PROBABLY NOT MANY of you have been on the side of the fence that I occupy but still I think you will be able to understand my thought.

When a pastor has finished his sermon on a Sunday morning and stands at the back of the church to shake hands—especially if he has agonized all week and worked diligently on the presentation and has really made an effort to share a truth for people to accept—then to have some dear person to come out and say, "I just love your tie," or "Boy, I really enjoyed your message today." WOW! (Have I mentioned this before?)

Messages might be appreciated but not enjoyed—unless of course it was the kind that one does enjoy and really doesn't offer much of a challenge...We could be told that, too....

Well, all of this to say I had to tell a lady at the conclusion of her devotional at a meeting this week, "I must tell you, I didn't like that at all."

I then went on to explain why it bothered me—it was too close to where I live—it was about something that I do and it is poor stewardship of my time with what God has given me and I didn't like to have to see myself so vividly...it hurt...in fact, her thought had to do with the way we use our time.

She had used an example from Kohn's book, REFLECTIONS, in which it was noted that the early pioneers who forged across our country knew and appreciated patience and deliberate slowness....

They couldn't move very fast so no use to get into a hurry and then, because of the type of gun they had, they had to learn to be still, wait and make sure of the one shot they had. They didn't have the automatics to correct a "miss" and the foe or game would be upon them or long gone before another loading.

So they moved with deliberate dispatch and were patient in what they sought.

Hey, don't quit me now, I'm just now getting to where it can do us some good—unless of course, we have missed the point....

This isn't a plea for procrastination. (That means putting it off til just a little later—and later—and later.)

It is a plea for being more careful with the time we have. I don't care what your occupation may be, you still have 168 hours in a week—Billionaire, Banker, or Bum....

We are entering what I think of as the "zip season." Zip here, zip there—we'll be so busy zipping that we can really pass up the beauty of it all.

What a shame to finish this life and have to acknowledge that we were just so busy we really missed a lot of it. We didn't have time to smell the flowers, learn with the child, or meditate with the Master....

Oh, for shame, for shame...As I said, it was too close to my experience to be enjoyable...it hurt.

I really kinda hope this hurts you enough to cause you to make some decisions about the way you spend your time, like I did. Why should I hurt alone?

And—setting the thermostat back a few degrees at home and office is perhaps not in keeping with our "affluent society."

However, we have always been one for conserving wherever possible, and we don't think it will hurt Americans to practice just a little economizing. For some, it may merely be a matter of not being wasteful. Who knows. If some people are forced to be thrifty, this might start them on the road to becoming rich.

In the meantime, we all need to do our part to assist in the battle against the energy crisis.

It should be a good test of the nation's moral fibre. And if our country is as strong as we think it is, we should be able to pitch in and lick the problem.

The Truth Will Make You Free

Terry Brown, Minister Sixth Street Church of Christ

When Paul compares the church in Ephesians 5:22-33 to a human marriage relationship, he says something about the bride, Christ's church.

"As the church is subject to Christ, so let wives also be subject in everything to their husbands" [Eph. 5:24]. When Paul uses church in this verse, he is talking about the individuals who make up the church. As a bride takes the name of her husband and lives under his authority, so does each individual member of Christ's church. A church member calls himself a Christian, because he belongs to the church of Christ and is under Christ's authority.

"Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her, that he might sanctify her, having cleansed her by the washing of water with the word, that he might present the church to himself in splendor, without spot or wrinkle or any such thing, that she might be holy and without blemish" [Eph. 5:25-27]. Thus, the church [meaning its individual members] are sanctified through Christ's death for the church. But this is only available to church members. They are the ones who have been "cleansed by the washing of water [baptism] with the word [one's confession of faith in Christ]."

Thus, the bride of Christ [the individual members of the church] becomes a respecting and loving partner to Christ. The individual member resists evil, because he wears the precious name of Christ. As this places a great responsibility upon the individual Christian, he also receives a great blessing. He has become one with Christ, and is saved by Him.

Charles Bass Harvests First Friona Cotton

The first bale of cotton to be ginned in Friona for 1973 was harvested by Charles Bass, from a farm a mile and one-half north of Black.

Bass brought the bale to Friona Farmers Co-op Gin last Friday, November 2. It was Paymaster 54-B, yielding a 550 pound bale and 800 pounds of seed from 1710 pounds of raw cotton.

Bass harvested the bale from a 31-acre field north of Black that required no irrigation or pre-watering for the 1973 crop.

With the cotton crop maturing, and with nature's defoliation continuing, harvest of this last of the area's crops should get into full swing within a few days.

Corn and maize harvest has been virtually complete for more than a week. Sugar beet harvest, meanwhile, was considered "over the hump," with many beet farmers hoping to finish by Thanksgiving.

FOOTBALL FINALE

Chiefs, Indians
Play For Record

The potent Morton Indians will be Friona's opponents in their season football finale Friday at Chieftain Field.

All the momentum from the District 3-AA race will be missing from the contest, although Friona will be gunning for second place in district, a league record of 3-1, and a 6-4 mark for the season.

Morton has a reputation of being a spoiler. Last season, with Friona shooting for a 7-3 season mark, the Indians arose for a 14-6 win, to cause the Chieftains to lose a few percentage points on their yearly record.

The Indians, 4-4-1, also will be shooting for a winning record. Pacing Morton is halfback Larry Thompson, a three-sport star for the Indians, hb Jerry Silhan, Billy Joyce and linebacker Tony Soliz.

Pete Soliz (150) and David Palmer (200) are returning players at tackle for the Indians. Rex Coffman (160) and Price Standmire (150) are the ends. Johnny Rozell (170) and Monty Smith (185) are the guards.

The Indians have improved from last season's 3-6-1 season record.

Friona, meanwhile, has had two weeks to recover from its district bouts with Olton, Littlefield and Dimmitt, and undoubtedly will be in the best condition the team has been all season.

Playing their final game for the Red and White will be seniors Ted King, Dale Parsons, Ricky London, Ricky Johnson, Sammy McNeely and Bill Fallwell. James Perea, another senior, won't likely play, but is the other graduating member of the team.

Martinez Sparkles In Bovina Win

The revitalized Bovina Mustangs, losers of their first six games this season, raced to their third straight win Friday, a 36-13 decision over Springlake-Earth in a District 3-A encounter.

"Doc" Shelby added a pair of TDs.

The first half was a see-saw affair, with Bovina holding a narrow 14-13 lead at the half. But a three-touchdown surge by Bovina in the last half, and some good defense by the Mustangs brought their record to 3-6 for the year and 3-2 in district play.

In addition to their TDs, Shelby and Martinez each scored on PAT runs. Bovina closes its season at home next Friday against the potent Hart Longhorns.

Quarantine Lifted In Parmer County

Federal quarantines for psoroptic cattle scabies were lifted Friday from Curry and Roosevelt counties in N. Mex., and Parmer and Potter counties by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The action by USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Station (APHIS) removes all scabies quarantines in New Mexico. However, two Texas panhandle counties—Castro and Deaf Smith—are still under quarantine for the infectious skin disease of cattle.

All cattle herds in the counties released from quarantine have been inspected for scabies and with no intention found, according to Dr. Paul Becton, south central regional director of Veterinary Services for APHIS.

Scabies is caused by tiny parasitic mites that puncture the skin of cattle and feed on the body fluids released through the wounds. Heavy infestations result in the formation of large, crusty "scabs" on the skin. Cattle with scabies lick, rub and scratch to relieve the intense itching, Becton explained.

Although scabies does not affect the animal's meat, the skin irritation can cause loss of weight and decreased feed efficiency in infested animals and thus is very costly to cattlemen.

During the period from Oct. 1971 to April 1973, the worst outbreak of cattle scabies in 30 years hit ranchers in the Texas panhandle, western Oklahoma and New Mexico. Since then USDA and the states have been working to halt the outbreak and eliminate the disease. Disease eradication measures include area quarantines and inspection and treatment of all herds and lots within the quarantine areas.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By R. MACK HEALD
County Agent

THE BEST WAY to reduce greenbug infestation in wheat is to put cattle in the field.

Cattle will graze or clip the foliage down to a point where the food supply and habitat of the greenbug are severely limited. This keeps the population down and prevents a build-up while the wheat is short. The grazed wheat also is less attractive to these aphids.

This rather simple solution to the wheat farmer's gravest insect problem is backed by 20 years of data collected in Deaf Smith, Castro and Swisher counties during February, March and April.

Greenbug populations averaged up to 1,000 per foot of row in non-grazed wheat in 1961, '67, '69 and '70. In other years, populations were not so great, but still were far more numerous than those found in grazed wheat.

Greenbugs usually reach their population peak in the three-county area by March 20. Farther north in the Texas Panhandle, the peak occurs in April.

During their population peak, these insect pests were found to be at least 20 times lower on the forage crops than on non-grazed wheat.

In observations of two adjacent dryland fields (one grazed and one non-grazed) during one year few greenbugs appeared on grazed wheat, while the non-grazed wheat was completely destroyed by April 1.

The researcher concludes that if grazing is continued into April, grain yields may be reduced in proportion to the lateness of grazing and the earliness of the wheat variety.

According to the research where small grain fields over a wide area are heavily infested, or where a general outbreak occurs, greenbug populations may re-infest a nearby grazed field after livestock are removed.

In such cases chemical control may become necessary a few days after the cattle are taken out. If the weather is warm, however, and good predator populations are present, insecticidal treatment may not be necessary.

THE APPLICATION of fertilizer this fall, or as soon as possible after harvest, is a matter worthy of immediate consideration and decision.

All reports clearly indicate shortages of nitrogen and phosphate will be with us throughout 1974 and for an undetermined period thereafter. Contributing to shortages at the dealer level are insufficient supplies of natural gas, fertilizer exports, release of reserve acreage back into production, higher sale prices of crops, and transportation difficulties.

The effectiveness of fall fertilizer application on the heavier soils of the High Plains is well established. On sandy soils, phosphate may be applied in the fall but nitrogen application should perhaps be delayed until spring to prevent possible leaching loss. Advantages of fall application include getting the fertilizer while it is available and incorporating it into the soil in the initial tillage operation so as to avoid weather problems likely to occur in the early months of 1974. Here are some suggestions on fertilizer use for the next crop:

Find out what your soil really needs by having a soil test made on each field. Information on sampling and mailing is available in the Extension office in Farwell.

Soil test data from the High Plains clearly show that less than half of the soils will respond profitably to applications of phosphate. Applying available material only to deficient areas will stretch the supply without reducing the yield potential.

An appreciable nitrogen carryover may be detected. If this is the case, nitrogen rate can be reduced or in some instances omitted.

Consider using feedlot waste. There is much evidence to indicate that a 10-ton application of "average" manure is sufficient to produce near maximum grain sorghum yields without additional commercial fertilizers.

Plan your fertilizer needs as soon as possible and finalize an agreement with your supplier.

Fertilizers have become a major contributor to profitable yields. By keeping the above facts in mind, maximum profits from limited supplies can be realized.

SWCD Reps. Attend Meet

Leroy Johnson and Dick Rockey, Directors of the Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District, and Herb Evans, Soil Conservation Service, attended the state meeting of the Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The conference last week in Fort Worth was the Association's Annual Meeting. The entire program was built around the theme "Where Do We Go From Here." State Association President Doyle Hutcheron presided.

Some of the principal speakers were Reagan Brown, Special Assistant for Rural Development, Governor's office; Honorable Bill Clayton, State Representative, and Honorable Jack Hightower, State Senator. It is interesting to note the two legislators speaking on conservation were our legislators.

Christ Can Change Lives To Follow His Pattern

Read Acts 4:5-13

When they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated, common men, they wondered; and they recognized that they had been with Jesus. (Acts 4:13)

The first grade church school class had been talking about the first men Jesus called to be His followers--the disciples. Reviewing the lesson the following Sunday, I asked the children what these first helpers of Jesus were called. There was a long pause, then one child eagerly raised his hand. "The Recycles!" he exclaimed.

As I thought for a moment about the disciples and the lives of others through the ages who have been touched and transformed by Christ, the term seemed applicable. Uneducated fishermen, hated tax collectors, feared persecutors of the Christian community were recycled into dedicated, useful servants of God because "they had been with Jesus."

What will Christ do with our lives if we give Him a chance?

PRAYER: Dear Father God, cleanse our lives and help us to change whatever needs changing so that we may become useful disciples of Christ. In His name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Some of Jesus rubbed off on Peter and John. Has that happened to me?

BREAKFAST DOESN'T have to be a hassle.

Advanced planning and cooking, convenience foods and refreshing new ideas add to a quick breakfast the family won't want to pass up.

One way to save time in the morning is preparing part of the breakfast the night before. For example, prepare juice or fruit, boil eggs and get the coffee pot ready to plug in.

For quick and easy pancakes or waffles, mix them up and bake them the night before. Then freeze. At breakfast time, simply pop the frozen item into the toaster or brown it for a few minutes in the broiler.

Serve with a glass of milk for a nutritious breakfast the next morning.

When preparing rolls, coffee cake or muffins, double the recipe. Freeze the extras for breakfast treats.

Convenience foods come in handy for families shorter on time than money.

For example, top an English muffin with a slice of cheese and toast it under the broiler.

Or use cocoa mixes, instant hot cereals, pancake, muffin and coffee cake mixes, frozen waffles and hash browns, instant tea and coffee and refrigerator biscuit and roll dough.

To get out of a "same old breakfast routine," perk up the meal with a taste teaser. Try stacked pancakes layered with cheese or fruit filling. Or, top cottage cheese with fresh fruit.

Prepare a cereal sundae by mixing fruit with ready-to-eat cereal and topping it with a scoop of ice cream.

LIBRARY CORNER

Parents want to choose good books for their children and are faced with the question, "What is a good book for my child at this age?" Magazines and newspaper articles offer suggestions and McCall's magazine issued a pamphlet listing books children like and which are considered "good." For the next few columns of the Library Corner, various aspects of the pamphlet, "Books for Children" will be mentioned and books suggested listed.

Many books listed are books that have stood the test of time and others are books which have outstanding merit. All of the books listed are very attractively designed and illustrated, since design and illustrations have their importance in the development of taste. Good books, read from early childhood, can stimulate the imagination, enrich sensibility, sharpen reasoning powers, and enlarge the understanding and control of language.

Some books should be in your child's personal library. Children are individuals; what interests one child may bore another. So pick a book to buy that your child has liked and that can be read and reread. The important thing when choosing a book for a child is for the child to be enthusiastic about the book. Books that belong to "him" will become treasured possessions.

One of the earliest ways to introduce a child to good books is to read them to him daily. Happy recollections of bedtime stories usually inspire a youngster to want to learn to read for himself. Let the child select the story he wants, turn the pages, ask questions and discuss the story with you. Acquaint the child with your local library, so he can see the many books and if your child is between four and six, take him to the Thursday Morning Story Hour! Let him browse around in the Children's Room, so he can pick up books to his liking. The best of all ways to interest a child in good books is to read aloud to your family. Many of the books listed today are books that read aloud well. Babies do not care what is read to them. They delight in the attention they get. But what is read first will stay in his memory and shape later inclinations. Listed below are suggested books to start with that will be remembered, reread, and liked even in later years.

THE ABC BUNNY by Gag is an alphabet picture book showing a little rabbit's adventures in the world around him. The story has been set to song and the music is in the end pages.

ANIMAL BABIES by Ylla and Gregor show beautiful photographs of animals and their young.

THE FIRST BIBLE by Sewell and Waick is thirteen full page drawings to a text which is taken from the King James version of the Bible.

THE HEY DIDDLE DIDDLE PICTURE BOOK by Caldecott presents 16 favorite nursery rhymes with humor. There are four other books in the series.

JUST SO STORIES by Kipling are animal stories at their best when read aloud while the children look at the illustrations.

WINNIE THE POOH by Milne show animals with rhymes. These are loved by all children everywhere.

If these books are not available at the Friona Public Library, and you do not wish to buy, remember that Billie Fairchild can get the books you want through the Inter-Library Loan System. It takes about two days and all you have to pay is the postage.

Modern Study Club Hosts Guest Speaker

Modern Study Club had a special guest speaker for Tuesday night's regular meeting. Mr. Roy Alexander, staff member of Central Plains Comprehensive Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center at Plainview, spoke on the program of the Center.

Mr. Alexander is with the division of outreach centers; such as those at Dimmitt, Tulia, Littlefield and Muleshoe. These are local branches of the Center which serves Parmer County and eight other counties.

Mr. Alexander said, "The thrust is toward community help for mental health and mental retardation problems. This emphasizes family therapy, so that the patient has a better chance for normal return to society."

"Funded by state and federal grants, the Center's specific areas and programs include emergency treatment; inpatient unit; day hospital program; and the outpatient work, plus the Outreach Centers in the local communities."

"More family and community involvement in these programs is quite necessary for best results," the speaker stressed. The Center is staffed and equipped to treat many types of patients: drug users, emotionally disturbed children and adults, those who are having marital problems. All types of referrals come from probation officers, ministers, school officials and state institutions.

"The whole program is based on education and consultation," the staff member said. In five years the staff has grown from four to 63 including the Outreach offices. Mr. Alexander said, "We would be very interested in opening up an Outreach Center in Friona. However, this is only done when the community requests such, and meets the requirements."

In the educational part of the program, the Center will help staff study groups such as Transactional Analysis and Mature Marriage Seminars and workshops are included, too.

Mrs. J.T. Gee gave a brief history of the Central Plains Comprehensive MH/MR Center at Plainview.

Mr. Alexander's speech concluded with a question and answer session.

Ilene Osborn gave the opening prayer for the "Love is—concern for others" meeting.

John Carson, accompanied by Eva Miller, sang "My God and I" and "What the World Needs Now."

Hostesses were Estelle Caffey and Jane Williams. Special guests were Mesdames Rita Stephenson, Iris Dorch, Frankie Carson, Mary Johnston, Wanda White, Floyd Reeves, Rob Osborn, Misses Jamie Washington and Juannah Nance, John Carson, Mr. J.T. Gee and Mr. Alexander.

FHS Forensics Team Wins Muleshoe Meet

Friona High School's forensics team won the sweepstakes trophy in the Muleshoe Forensics Tournament last Saturday.

Eight schools were entered: Muleshoe, Meadow, Levelland, Denver City, Dalhart, Hereford, Olton and Friona.

DETAILS GIVEN

Special Education Program Instituted For Friona, County

Plan A Comprehensive Program for Special Education in Texas is providing schools in Farmer County a new approach to teaching children with learning problems. Elementary and Junior High Schools in Bovina, Farwell, Friona and Lazbuddie are cooperating in the Plan A Program.

The staff for the county-wide program presently includes a supervisor, who administers the program, a counselor, who also serves as a psychometrist and educational diagnostician, eleven teachers and seven aides. There are plans for further staff development. Children throughout the county in grades one through eight will be served this year. Plans are being made to serve grades Kindergarten through twelve in the future.

Plan A in Friona includes three distinct and separate units. Two of the units are self-contained classrooms for those children who require small group or individual attention for most of the day. The other unit is a Language-Learning Disabilities Resource Room, into which children will filter from regular classrooms for short periods of the day. Here they will receive attention to specific learning deficits.

The child with a language or learning disability has near-average, average, or above-average intelligence. His sight and hearing are usually normal. He rarely has physical handicaps. He is not emotionally disturbed. And yet he fails to learn through regular classroom methods. Many estimates have been made concerning the number of learning disabled children. They range from six to seven percent to thirty percent of the school population. There are likely such children in every classroom.

The L/LD Resource Teacher does not teach curriculum. Social studies, science, even arithmetic, reading, and language arts are left to the classroom teacher. The resource teacher works as a consultant with the teachers of regular classes, helping them to provide methods and materials suitable to the child's needs.

This is the way the program works. A child who is having learning difficulties in the classroom is referred to a team of Plan A specialists. This team, which includes the counselor, diagnostician and the resource teacher determines through observation of the child and his work, through conferences with the child's teacher and parents, through evaluation of the child's work and the indicated testing procedures whether the child had a learning disability. When the child's disability is identified a committee composed of the child's principal, the Plan A teacher and the Plan A counselor review the findings and admit the child to the resource class or recommend other placement.

If the child is considered eligible for the special class he is then assigned time in his school day to attend that class. During this time, which may vary from twenty minutes to an hour or more, a child will work to erase a deficit in a learning channel or will learn to by-pass the channel thus compensating for a problem which is too severe to remediate.

A child's disability may be the results of a visual, auditory or conceptual disorder. He may have visual-motor or motor coordination disorders. He may have receptive or expressive language disorders. Whatever his specific needs, special exercises will train the child to use his eyes, his ears, his hands, his body to see, to hear, and to move in patterns that will foster learning by opening learning channels which have been blocked.

Plan A Supervisor for the county program is Miss Harriet Nichols of Friona. Charles Turner, formerly counselor for the schools of Bovina, Farwell and Lazbuddie, is now counselor for the Plan A Program. The staff for Friona includes Mrs. Mary Bavousett and Mrs. Rita Stephenson, who teach the self-contained units and Miss Juannah Nance and Miss Jamie Washington who teach the L/LD Resource Room.
