ABILENE'S ANTI-LIQUOR PROTEST IS KNOCKED DOWN

State Supreme Court Rules Impact Legal

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court held today that Impact, a tiny wet oasis in dry Taylor County, is a legal town and can continue to sell liquor.

The high court, in a 7-2 decision, reversed the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals and held that Impact was legally incorporated and any later elections to approve the sale of liquor should be upheld.

The majority opinion by Associate Justice Clyde Smith said that the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland reversed the trial court and held Impact illegal because the residents did not incorporate a full area, but only "an arbitrary slice." Smith went on to say that the Eastland court ruled against the tiny town saying that two validating laws passed by the legislature did not affect Impact because it was not legally incorporated.

In noting that the sale of liquor in dry Taylor County has been approved by Impact voters, Smith said:

"This situation is highly displeasing and all but intolerable to a number of the individual respondents and, no doubt, to a large number of other citizens in the area. But whether the attempted incorporation of Impact should be validated was and is a legislative question, and whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold in Impact, if validated, was and is a political question.

"The courts have neither the duty nor the right to deny effect to a validating act because it is displeasing to those living in the surrounding dry areas that the inhabitants of a town have authorized the sale of intoxicants therein.

"We hold that even if the attempted incorporation of Impact in the first instance was void, the incorporation of the town has been validated by an act of the legislature."

In the dissenting opinion, Associate Justice Ruel Walker, with Justice Zollic Steakley, said "the original incorporation proceedings were invalid for the reasons pointed out by the Court of Civil Appeals in its opinion."

Pointing out two validating laws passed by the legislature, the dissenting opinion said:

"The court evidently regards each of these statutes as a rather weak crutch, because it is unwilling to venture forth without aid of both."

The majority opinion said the two prerequisites, functioning as a city and incorporation, have been met by Impact.

About 200 people live in Impact, which was incorporated just north of Abilene on Feb. 13, 1960, by a 27-0 vote.

Two days before the election a Taylor County judge sought to call it off, but Impact residents voted anyway. When a district court upheld the incorporation election, Abilene appealed and the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals reversed the district court decision.

Two liquor stores opened Dec. 22 at Impact. Groups in the Abilene area had attempted for two years to keep Taylor County free of alcoholic beverages.

Abilene, with 125,000 population, is home of three church colleges and many churches.

At the hearing before the Supreme Court, Tom K. Epien of Abilene said the incorporation of Impact "was void from the very beginning."

He argued that nearly 100 homes north of the 47 acres of Impact were "arbitrarily excluded" from voting on the incorporation measure. Epien represented 36 Abilene residents fighting the incorporation.

Impact attorney Dan Sorrels said Impact fits every description required to incorporate a town.

Another Impact lawyer, John D. Cofer from Austin, said any alleged monopoly at Impact would not exist if Abilene voters wanted to approve the sale of liquor at a local option election.

Cofer also said that because of pressure in Abilene, he was surprised when a district court jury upheld the Impact incorporation.

"The opponents had their cheering section filling the court, and they had 15 or 20 ministers in the courtroom. I did not know liquor was involved (in the case) until . . . Epien called the town 'Six Pack,'" Cofer said.

Coahoma Excited; To Get New Post Office Building

By SAM BLACKBURN
COAHOMA—Coahoma is excited today. It is to have a brand new modern post office building, equal to that in any town of this community's size.

Official approval of the post office building project has been made in Washington—climaxing a campaign which has been under way for three years. A telegram from Senator Ralph Yarborough confirmed the approval of the project arrived Tuesday afternoon.

Bill Read, president of the Coahoma State Bank, which is to build the new post office, said that he has also been advised by the post office service that the job has been given the official nod.

The new post office is to occupy a tract of land 103 feet by 120 feet. The lot is immediately south of the bank building on land acquired by the bank at the time it was established. The official address of the new post office will be 102 First Street.

Read said that plans have been drawn which are approved by the post office and that the building, to be constructed of masonry, steel and brick, will be 65.4 feet by 26 feet in size. It will be a one floor edifice, harmonizing in general design with the bank building. The cost will be about $25,000.

Preliminary bids for the building are to be sought at once. Read said the post office department does not want occupancy of the building for six months. Read said that the bank will time construction so that it will be completed by Oct. 1.

The post office has signed a 10-year lease with the bank for the building and has four five-year options.

The building, Read said, will be refrigerated air conditioned, lighted with fluorescent fixtures. The post office will install all fixtures and working equipment with exception of certain shelving in the work area. The tiers of post office boxes will be installed by the post office department.

The interior space of the new building is 1,614 square feet, the loading platform at the rear, 45 square feet, and 10,701 square feet about the building will be paved.

Laos Neutralists In Tight Squeeze

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Outnumbered neutralist troops driven from their last jungle road outposts held only the strategic Plaine des Jarres and one other garrison today. Both were surrounded by pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces.

Pathet Lao troops routed trapped neutralists Tuesday from Dong Danh and Ban Kosi; their last outposts on the road linking the provincial capital of Xieng Khouang and the Plaine.

About 100 of Gen. Kong Le's retreating neutralists and three tanks made their way through the jungle to the Plaine, sources returning from the crisis area said. One of Kong Le's aides reported three neutralists were killed, two were wounded and six were missing.

knowledgeable a request for help from Kong Le, but said he would comply only if Souvanna Phouma approved.

Red China also called on the Soviet Union and Britain to help stabilize the Laotian crisis. Radio Peiping blamed the United States for the renewed fighting.

In Moscow the newspaper Soviet Russia accused the United States of bribing neutralist officers to stir up trouble in Laos "and to make Laos another Congo."

New Post Office Site

This building has housed the Coahoma post office for the past 30 years. It will be replaced in October by a new post office building of modern design.

Building Needed For A Long Time

COAHOMA — "Looks like we might be getting in a hurry to get into our new building," observed J. S. (Smith) Cochran, Coahoma postmaster, as he indicated a broken glass in the front of the building now housing the office. "That got broke out last night," he added. "I guess a bicycle fell against it."

Cochran has been postmaster of Coahoma for nearly 34 years. He took over the job in October, 1929. "We were using a little room at the rear of the old bank building at that time," he recalled.

The post office is located now about 100 yards north of the location selected for the town's new $25,000 post office. It has been located here 30 years, Cochran said. The present building is owned by Luke West.

"We've been trying to get a post office for three years," the postmaster observed. "Our problem in the past has been to find a location that the Post Office Department would approve. We've needed a new building a long time."

The present office has 300 mail boxes, all of which are rented. The

Cuban Exiles Near Point Of Major Split

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two years ago Fidel Castro's army routed the U.S.-endorsed Bay of Pigs invasion. Today, Cuban exiles commemorate the event amid developments that threaten to split and possibly shatter the Cuban Revolutionary Council—the body through which the luckless raid was sponsored.

While exiles hung black crepe on their doors, six of 12 revolutionary groups comprising the council reportedly were ready to accept the resignation of Jose Miro Cardona, council president. The others planned to reject it.

Miro remained silent and apparently bent on submitting his controversial resignation letter Thursday. The letter reportedly lambasts U.S. policy toward Communist Cuba and charges the Kennedy administration renege on anti-Castro action offers.

The State Department, which has a copy of the document, called it inaccurate and sharply rebuked Miro.

REQUESTS MADE

The Miami News, in a report attributed to close associates of the council president said Miro in a Washington visit requested:

- 1 Collective action against the Castro regime
- 2 The same type of military and financial assistance for the Cuban exiles as the Soviet Union provides for Castro.
- 3 A $50-million loan for the purpose of arming an anti-Castro force.

All three points were rejected by Robert Hurwitch, deputy chief of the State Department's Cuban task force, the News said.

After Miro returned to Miami Hurwitch telephoned him April 7 asking him to withhold his resignation, or wait 30 days before resigning and consult Washington first before issuing a statement.

Miro declined the requests and Hurwitch flew to Miami where a copy of the letter was given to him. The News said also that Miro would tell release of his document would result in exiles being banned from entering any U.S. government office.

DENIES THREAT

John H. Crummins, chief of the State Department's Cuban affairs office in Miami, denied that any such threat was made.

Miro told newsmen "The State Department has made public only a fragment of my document." The entire text would put the picture into focus, he said.

The meeting Thursday night promises to be a tense, lively session. Its outcome could end Miro's support among Cuban exiles or result in the council disbanding.

An aide to Dr. Manuel Antonio de Varona, second in command of the council, told newsmen De Varona had no aspirations of becoming council president.

Council members and Bay of Pigs veterans planned to attend Mass at Corpus Christi Roman Catholic Church tonight as part of the invasion anniversary commemoration.

In other developments, Felipe Vidal Santiago, 37, allegedly caught in an armed boat in the Florida Keys, planned to meet today with his attorney, Charles Ashmann.

FIRST REPORT

Vidal's arrest Tuesday was the first reported case of an alleged violation of a U.S. clampdown on anti-Castro raids and restriction of certain Cubans to the Dade (Miami) County area.

At Fort Lauderdale, Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., was scheduled to meet with underground spokesmen to get a first-hand report on anti-Castro activities in the Caribbean.

A Cuban exile in Los Angeles said he had received word that a resistance government will be formed in Cuba May 1, followed by a national uprising later.

Murray Gas Profit Quoted At $200,000

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald quoted former Texas Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray Jr. today as saying he made a profit "in the neighborhood of $200,000 on a gas lease in Wharton County."

The Times Herald said in a copyright story that Murray declared "it was a perfectly open and above-board deal. We found gas where others said there was none."

"But the numbers crucify me," he added.

Murray resigned a week ago from the railroad commission, which regulates the oil and gas industry, after reports which he confirmed that he at one time owned a profitable oil lease in Throckmorton County.

He said he resigned the post because the revelations would reduce his effectiveness as a commissioner.

A search in Wharton County deed records show a conveyance by Murray and his wife in April 1956, of production payments on an undivided 25.7 per cent interest in the Hudgins lease in Wharton County.

Documents on file indicated payment for the conveyance of $400,000.

Murray said the total dollars are misleading. He said he made a profit "in excess of $200,000." The total profit, he said, is still to be determined by future production.

Murray said, "They won't listen to the risk you took, the dry holes you drilled. They just condemned you for making a profit."

Murray, in an interview with Margaret Mayer, Austin correspondent of the Times Herald, discussed the BBM Drilling Co. from which he withdrew as a shareholder two years ago and said it.

Made a million-dollar profit from oil production on an abandoned lease in the Old Ocean Field on the Gulf Coast.

As of 1959 had spent $4.4 million and received $5.4 million on various oil ventures.

Just about broke even in the Spraberry field in West Texas.

Lost several hundred thousand dollars on wildcats in other West Texas areas.

Drilled in Louisiana and lost several hundred thousand dollars in a "dismal failure."

Lost $200,000 in Arizona.

"We were lucky and smart in some cases, dumb in other," said Murray.

The former commissioner emphasized that his interests in oil projects have always been of record.

A grand jury investigation is under way to determine if any wrongdoing occurred.

First Press Parley Held By Satellite

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP)—Five New Jersey newspapermen held the first press conference through outer space early today, using the communications satellite Relay 1 in a 25-minute hookup between here and Rio de Janeiro in Brazil.

While the press conference was being held, an Associated Press photo—a Satellitephoto—showing the five men seated around a table was sent to Rio through the satellite.

The hookup was between the ground station at the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. laboratories here and a portable ground station operated by IT&T at its subsidiary in Rio.

In Rio, officials said the picture quality was good, though slightly dark and with barely visible white dots.

It was transmitted from The Associated Press general office in New York to the American Cable & Radio Corp., in lower Manhattan and thence to IT&T's station.

Predict Prices To Stand Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The Iron Age, metalworking weekly, predicted today that higher steel prices will stand up under present market conditions.

The Iron Age sees it as unlikely that President Kennedy will "move strongly unless the increases spread across the board."

That Jury Wheel Slipped Up Again

The Howard County Jury wheel, which has displayed whimsical characteristics on other occasions, has outdone itself this time.

It has resulted in an official summons for jury duty to a little 11-year-old sixth grader in Coahoma Elementary School.

Nancy Ann Tatum, a solemn-faced little lady, was a little puzzled when the mail man left her an official letter from the office of Sheriff Miller Harris. It informed her that she was to report to the 118th District Court to serve as a member of a special venire called to try three capital cases.

Nancy Ann did not think she was quite old enough for jury duty and besides it would interfere with her school work. So the word was passed to Sheriff Harris. He informed the court that one of its venemen probably wouldn't be available when the panel assembles. The court agreed.

So Nancy Ann will go right ahead with her classwork and wait about 10 more years before she reports for jury duty.

It all came about because Nancy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Tatum, 10 miles northwest of Coahoma, happens to be a land owner. And on the records of Mrs. Zarah LeFever, tax assessor-collector, you find it duly stated that Nancy Ann Tatum is the sole owner of one acre of land located in the southeast quarter of Section 6, Block 31, township 1 north.

That's how her name got into the jury wheel in the first place. In typing up the cards, the tax lists are used as a guide and no one expected a little 11-year-old tike to be a duly qualified land owner.

Nancy Ann said that she has owned the acre of land for a long time. Her grandfather, E. E. Edens, who lives close to Nancy Ann, gave her the acre as a present.

"Our house is on that acre," she explained.

Nancy Ann is the oldest member of her family—excepting her mother and father. She has three younger brothers and one younger sister.

French Premier Not Likely To Be Tossed Out Of His Job

PARIS (AP)—If Georges Pompidou should be tossed out of his job as French premier, he says, he would be happy to go back to his white house and cultivate roses. That's not likely to happen. This week he is rounding out a year as premier, and it looks as if this is the start of a long term. For one thing, he deals with a National Assembly that has been named by President Charles de Gaulle's political magnetism. The white house that Pompidou talks about is in the village of Orville, west of Paris. He bought an old cafe there as a country home, whitewashed the walls of the billiard room and ball room and named it the White House. He uses it as a weekend retreat and his favorite pastime is growing roses.

both disproportionately large. His girth is going through a middle-aged expansion. There was no public demand for Pompidou. He was almost unknown to most Frenchmen a year ago. He has never been a member of a political party, never run for elective office. He detests large gatherings and his oratorical style is plodding. The choice was solely up to De Gaulle. The president liked and trusted Pompidou. Pompidou started to work for De Gaulle in 1944 when the general was ahead of the provisional government after the liberation. He was then a 33-year-old Latin professor in a Paris high school.

TOOK JOB An old schoolmate who had joined De Gaulle in London called Pompidou about an opening for someone who could write Pompidou took the job. At the time when De Gaulle's attention was drawn to Pompidou's concise summaries of complicated subjects. De Gaulle retired to his country home in 1946, and Pompidou moved into a new field. He was appointed to the State Council, a sort of supreme court for administrative matters, although he had no legal training. In 1956 he went to the Rothschild bank and quickly worked his way to the top, with no previous experience in this field. Pompidou performed many services for De Gaulle during the 12 years the general was out of office. When De Gaulle returned as premier in 1958, Pompidou became director of the Cabinet. After De Gaulle was elected president and Michel Debre was appointed premier, Pompidou went back to the bank.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight companies which produce more than half of the nation's steel have pulled into line with selective steel price increases. The spreading wave of boosts picked up momentum Tuesday when the giant of the industry, U.S. Steel Corp., joined. Also raising prices were Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Armco Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Corp. A year ago Inland refused to go along with an attempted increase which collapsed.

prices would stand at about the same level as at the end of 1958. "Big Steel" and the other companies cited five rises in labor costs since 1958, when the last general steel price increase came. "Earnings have dropped substantially, dividends have been reduced and employment has declined," Worthington said. Sixth-ranking Armco, which a year ago failed to fall in line with price-raising companies, boosted its prices $4.50 to $7 a ton on plates, sheets and galvanized products. It was the only firm to cut prices, knocking $5 a ton from quotations on assorted wire items, which have been getting tough competition from imports. Inland, the eighth-ranking producer, raised its prices $4 to $7 a ton. Companies raising prices have said that the increases applied to less than half of sales. U.S. Steel put its figure at 29 per cent. Items affected were mainly those in strong demand as steel buying boomed. Users are buying heavily not only to meet current needs but to build up inventories as a hedge against a possible strike this summer. The Steelworkers Union will be free to reopen its wage contract May 1 and could strike 90 days later if agreement is not reached. If the price increases stick, the union's demands are expected to be stronger.

NO 'GLIB SOLUTIONS'

Goldwater Warns GOP On Race-Creed Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., advised Republicans today to avoid "any sort of special appeal based on race or creed" in seeking voter support in next year's elections. Goldwater, a spokesman for party conservatives, said the GOP ought to leave "emotional gimmicks and fantastic promises" to the Democrats. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York regarded as a front runner for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., have been booked as speakers for a Young Republican National Federation rally opening in New York City Friday. Invited to speak on the program, Goldwater said in a letter to Leonard J. Nadassy, federation president, that he couldn't attend. But he offered some advice. "It seems to me," he said, "that the whole subject of ethnic and minority groups and their relationships within our society have been talked to death. "Cynical politicians are continually harping on the problems of minorities and offering glib solutions to them. The words they use refer to ending the divisions between our people. But, I'm convinced that the net effect of this talk is to divide the American people and to inflame, rather than solve, the very real problems of our racial and religious groups. "The Republican party must seek the minority group vote in the only sensible and honorable way open to us. We must appeal to all racial and religious groupings with well-reasoned arguments that do not insult them or their intelligence. We should avoid making any sort of special appeal based upon race or creed." Goldwater, who once said that Republicans couldn't enlist the support of Negroes and other minority blocs and ought to give up trying to get them, got an indirect blow Tuesday from a Republican senatorial colleague who doesn't agree with him on that and other matters. Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey told an informal news conference he thinks Rockefeller is the only serious contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. "I would have no difficulty supporting him," he said. Goldwater has said he is not seeking the nomination but that he has given up trying to kill off draft movements which have developed for him.

YMCA Camp Info Ready

Information on summer camps sponsored by the YMCA organization is available now at the Big Spring Y, according to Joe Leach, physical director.

Two encampments are available for local citizens, he said. Camp Flaming Arrow is located in the hill country near Kerrville and Skyline Ranch is in the mountainous area of New Mexico just north of El Paso, in the Sacramento Mountain Range.

Camps last two weeks each and five sessions will be held beginning June 16. A person may attend as many as he wishes. Registration should be completed at least two weeks in advance, Leach said.

The camp near Kerrville features all types of water and outdoor sports. A large swimming pool has been completed there recently. The camp near El Paso is strictly a "Western" camp, stressing such sports as camping, horsemanship, etc. There are no swimming facilities.

Keep Shoppers At Home Drive Being Planned

A campaign to keep dollars spent by Big Springers in Big Spring is the next big program planned by the advertising and promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Labeled "Try Big Spring First," the program will be aimed at both local purchasers and shoppers from outlying areas. It will be patterned after a similar campaign currently being instituted in San Diego, Calif. Reports from that city indicate it is working out well.

Information about the campaign has been obtained from San Diego and a subcommittee was appointed at a meeting Tuesday to adapt methods used there for local use. On the subcommittee are Doug Clemens, Leslie Grisham, Oliver Cofer, Bill Edgar and Winston Wrinkle.

Mrs. Nailey Named To Red Cross Post

Mrs. C. O. Nailey was named secretary of the advisory board of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter at a board meeting Tuesday.

She will fill a vacancy which has existed since the death of Mrs. Anne LeFever, who had served in the post for some 10 years.

Various reports, covering the wide range of Red Cross services, were given by service chairman. A new program for teenagers, to be called Red Cross Volunteers, will be undertaken this summer, and the young volunteers will be aides in hospitals. Mrs. Renee Smith is to head up the activity.

Reports showing record participation by Gray Ladies at both the Webb and VA hospitals were given. Mrs. A. W. Moody directed the activity at the VA, while chairman at Webb are Mrs. Mary Lou Davis and Mrs. Jean Heasley.

Paul Soldan reported that first aid classes continue on a regular basis, and Mrs. H. L. Derrick gave an account of Junior Red Cross activities.

Enrollment Trend Down

The downward trend in enrollment in Big Spring public schools continued last week with another drop of 25 students bringing the student population to 7,336. During the past four weeks enrollment has fallen by 77 students, an average of almost 20 pupils a week.

Elementary grades Friday had a total of 4,358 students, down 13, and secondary schools had a population of 2,815 pupils, down 12. There was no change in the 163 figure for special education.

By school the enrollments and changes were: Airport 457, down four; Bauer 505, up one; Boydston 519, down six; Cedar Crest 300, up six; College Heights 321, up two; Kate Morrison 256, down three; Lakeview 207, no change; Marcy 335, down three; Park Hill 278, down two; Washington 780, down four.

Golard 892, down five; Lakeview Junior High 68, no change; Runnels 735, down two; and Senior High 1,120, down five.

Signing In

Vendors' Day visitors at Webb AFB Wednesday sign as the landing activities begin. Signing up is Bill McDonald, Abilene. Looking on (from left) are Roy Harris, Dallas; Eugene Thomas, Big Spring, and Wayne Chandler of Odessa. Activities began at 9 a.m. and ended with a tour of the base and a luncheon at the officers' club.

Air Show Plans About Complete

Plans for the Howard County Air Show, to be held here May 26, are virtually complete. Work appointments were made Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring agency.

Included in the show will be static displays, flyovers by aircraft dealers and a 90-minute tour by national air acrobatics group. Flyovers by T-37 aircraft from Webb Air Force Base have also been requested.

Principal attraction will be the performances of Harold Krier and Charles Hillard, nationally known air acrobats stars. A parachute act will also be included. The group recently appeared on the nationally televised Sports Spectacular.

An intensive advertising campaign will be instituted during the first week of May with posters to be distributed in Big Spring and all area cities. Service station dealers will be asked to help spread word of the show by distributing bumper stickers to intensify the effect of previous advertising, skywriting will be used on the day before the show to bring it to the attention of citizens in Big Spring and outlying communities and cities.

Advance tickets will be sold from the time the advertising campaign is kicked off. Tickets will also be available at the entrance to the Howard County Airport before showtime. Costs are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 years of age. Pre-school children will be admitted free.

The main purpose of the show is to point up the importance of general aviation to the local area and to generate interest in facilities available at Howard County Airport. Any profits from the show will be used by the aviation committee to improve the airport.

Dr. F. W. Luring, chairman of the committee, appointed chairman for the various phases of work on the show at the planning session Tuesday. Al Eldridge will be in charge of ticket sales. Gene Nabers and Harold Jones will be responsible for the publicity and Ted McClung and C. A. Ross will have charge of parking and operation of the field during the show.

Bad Try At Making Money

Someone apparently had an idea of making a little money. The idea failed badly though, if the evidence he left is to be accepted.

Sheriff Miller Harris has a photostat reproduction of a $100 U.S. bill which someone apparently produced with a copying machine. The bill, which lacks a lot of being realistic looking, has but one surface. The obverse side is blank.

Aubrey Standard, chief deputy, said that Mrs. John Tebbitts 2401 Scuddy, turned the fake bill in to the sheriff's office. She found it on the street. Standard said it apparently had been sent through a washer in a nearby automatic laundry—the bill was soggy and wrinkled.

"It wouldn't fool anyone," said Harris, "but it is worthwhile pointing out that Uncle Sam does not approve of experiments with his money. It is against the law to copy a bill, even for the fun of it. Whoever made this copy could get into a lot of trouble if he is identified and the matter reported to federal authorities."

A sixth pay for the Harper (multiple) field in Ector County has been indicated at Cities Service No. 1-E Moss.

On drillstem test of the Fusselman, between 10,800-985 feet, logs were open two hours with recovery of 538 feet of 39.9-gravity oil and 385 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. Gas surfaced in eight minutes at the rate of 182,000 cubic feet daily.

Little Trouble Seen Replacing Baylor Drama Unit

HOUSTON (AP)—Baylor President Abner McCall doesn't believe he will have difficulty staffing the school's drama department following Chairman Paul Baker's exodus.

McCall told the Baylor Board of Trustees Tuesday the school has about 40 applications from prospective drama teachers and he feels "there will be no difficulty in finding competent people who are in agreement with the policies of the university."

The reorganization follows the resignation of Baker and a dozen staff members in a policy dispute over McCall's closing last December of the Eugene O'Neill play, "Long Day's Journey into Night."

Looking down upon the dog that had trusted and respected for its master and lay at his feet, the master reached over to pat the dog on the head and with the other hand the master unheated his hunting knife. He then snipped off the dog's tail. The dog jumped up with a howl. Turning, he looked at his trusted friend and master and thought, "Why have you done this to me?"

The hunter, ignoring the dog, began roasting the dog's tail, then he gulped down the meat from the tail. He then threw the bones

NEWS BRIEFS

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The California Teachers Association was victorious Tuesday night in a school board election of national importance.

Voters in the 12-school, 7,600-student Little Lake School District selected two new members.

The California Teachers Association—CTA—had applied "sanctions" to the district. The CTA wouldn't refer teachers there through its placement service.

And it told teacher placement agencies throughout the country that the Little Lake district was a bad place to work.

The CTA parent group, the National Education Association, was watching the sanctions. It wanted to know if the device would be a good one to recommend to all its state chapters.

Arsiaga Found Guilty Tuesday

Trinidad Arsiaga, charged with unlawful possession of barbiturates, was found guilty by a Howard County court jury late Tuesday afternoon. The jury assessed his punishment at 60 days in county jail and a fine of $100.

Notice was given the case would be appealed.

The jury pondered about an hour before reaching its decision. The case was the first to come to trial on this week's criminal docket. No trial is in progress today but two cases are slated for trial Thursday.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that insofar as he had been informed, both of the cases set for Thursday will be ready.

Joseph T. Mattingly is the first defendant scheduled for trial Thursday. He is charged with DWI. Second case set for the day is an aggravated assault complaint against William Roberts.

The jury panel which Judge Lee Porter had called for duty this week will be back Thursday morning.

The hunter and his dog had gone into the mountains hunting for game, but without success. During the afternoon an unseasonal snow storm came, catching them unprepared for such weather. Night came and having no choice the dog and his master went to bed cold and hungry.

Morning came, and with aroused hope the dog and his master struck out into the storm in the direction they had come. By nightfall they had become lost, again they went to bed cold and hungry. The new day came with vanishing hope.

All day the dog and his master trudged through snow and over mountains with no more success than before. Nightfall found the dog and his master completely exhausted. The hunter wearily built a campfire. While sitting near the fire the hunter's thoughts were of warm food.

Looking down upon the dog that had trusted and respected for its master and lay at his feet, the master reached over to pat the dog on the head and with the other hand the master unheated his hunting knife. He then snipped off the dog's tail. The dog jumped up with a howl. Turning, he looked at his trusted friend and master and thought, "Why have you done this to me?"

The hunter, ignoring the dog, began roasting the dog's tail, then he gulped down the meat from the tail. He then threw the bones

Blair and French No. 1 Parker, in the central part of Ector County, has been completed as a Devonian discovery about 2 1/4 miles northwest of production in the Harper (multiple) field which has the Devonian as one of its pay horizons.

Operator had drilled to the Ellenburger, bottoming the well at 12,640 feet, and plugged back to the Devonian after finding the deep zone barren.

The Devonian flowed 283 barrels of 42.5-gravity oil, with eight per cent water and a gas-oil ratio of 960-1, through a 16-64 inch choke on initial potential. Perforations are between 10,380-390 feet. They were acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Elevation is 3,155 feet and the well was plugged back to 10,410 feet. Pay was topped at 10,253 feet and the operator set 5 1/2-inch casing at 10,450 feet.

The discovery spots 467 feet from the south and 2,173 feet from the east lines of section 20-44-2s, T&P survey.

Sub Escort Skipper Cited

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry has cited Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker, skipper of the submarine escort vessel Skylark, for what it called his failure to report the last messages from the ill-fated submarine Thresher "for an unreasonable length of time."

The court on Tuesday named Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a party to its investigation of the loss of the Thresher with 129 men aboard. The five-member court then recessed and announced it would resume hearings after Hecker has obtained counsel and examined evidence given thus far.

The Skylark was accompanying the nuclear submarine when it made its fatal dive. The court said Hecker's conduct as the Skylark's commanding officer "appears to be subject to inquiry," but emphasized he is not blamed for the loss of the Thresher.

The submarine sank in 8,400 feet of water about 220 miles east of Cape Cod during a deep sea test dive last Wednesday.

DELATED DATA
Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force and the initial commander of the search effort, testified Tuesday that he did not learn for a few days that Thresher had indicated the possibility of trouble.

Lt. (j.g.) James C. Watson, 43, Hecker's navigator on Skylark, testified before the inquiry board last Saturday that the last distinguishable message from Thresher to Skylark was: "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive up angle. Trying to blow."

The court said "trying to blow" meant Thresher was trying to clear its ballast tanks for surfacing.

Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, president of the inquiry board, emphasized that no charges had been placed against Hecker and that he is in no way held responsible for the loss of the Thresher.

Watson's testimony was considered by the court the most revealing thus far. He testified that the last sound heard over the underwater telephone from the

Thresher was "the sound of a ship breaking up."

FEW HAVE HEARD
In a taped radio interview in Washington, Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, commenting on the testimony said:

"Very, very few people who are now manning our sonar equipment have ever heard the sound of a submarine breaking up."

Anderson also said, "The reason we have the court of inquiry is to develop all facts and all circumstances, many of which at the time might not have been considered of importance to the individuals concerned down the line."

The Navy reported Tuesday that no additional debris has been found by search vessels and that the Atomic Energy Commission has found no trace of radioactivity in the air above the wreck scene.

MEMORIAL RITES
Separate Catholic and Protestant memorial services were scheduled today for the men of the Thresher.

The gymnasium at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard was converted for the religious ceremonies scheduled four hours apart with two prominent prelates officiating.

The Roman Catholic Mass was to be sung by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York and spiritual leader of all Catholic servicemen, and a Protestant service presided over by the Rev. Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, retired presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America.

Rabbi Aryeh Lev of the Jewish Welfare Board called on the Jewish community throughout the United States to remember in Passover memorial prayers those of the Jewish faith who lost their lives on the Thresher.

The committee also sent to subcommittee a bill which sets minimum allowances for gas wells in various categories of depth and potential. The sponsor, Rep. George Hinson of Minnesota, said the bill would aid the Railroad Commission in setting up a form of ratable take of gas.

Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity, the sponsor, said the measure would combat the present policy of some major companies of buying great quantities of oil from other states and little from Texas. He said about 20 per cent of the oil refined in Texas is from Texas wells.

The committee also sent to subcommittee a bill which sets minimum allowances for gas wells in various categories of depth and potential. The sponsor, Rep. George Hinson of Minnesota, said the bill would aid the Railroad Commission in setting up a form of ratable take of gas.

Exiles' Weakness: Too Much Splitting

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Lock five Cubans in a room, give them a political problem to solve and they will emerge with five organizations to do the job.

At least, that's how it seems to the outsider wandering about Little Havana, Miami's city with a city.

It is doubtful that anyone in Miami can say how many Cuban exile organizations exist. Estimates run as high as 200 or more. They come and go in bewildering confusion. Only about 30 deserve to be called organizations at all.

Each proclaims itself dedicated to the overthrow of Fidel Castro. There the unity ends and there seems not the vaguest chance they ever will be unified.

MANY KINDS
There are military, paramilitary, political, economic, social, professional and conspiratorial organizations. There are organizations within organizations. There are splits, and splits within splits.

Today, Miami's Cuban exiles are up against a crisis which compounds their confusion, and leaves far as can be determined. The United States, apparently fearing a new and dangerous confrontation with the Russians, has taken firm steps to prevent hit-and-run forays against Cuba by the militant exile groups.

In turn, this brought about a crisis of relations between Washington and the ten organizations loosely banded together in the Cuban Revolutionary Council. This is the group formed in March 1961—with U.S. sponsorship—to mount the Bay of Pigs invasion which ended in fiasco just two years ago this week.

ONLY FIVE
The organizations of militants which do the raiding and train for fighting number only five, as far as can be determined. Their total membership in the Miami area may be no more than a few hundred.

Alpha 66 is headed by Antonio Veciana. It is a small group claiming direct contact with underground fighters inside Cuba. It has been involved in four actions, either by itself or working with other groups.

Actions were launched from bases in uninhabited Bahama islands. Exile leaders say their men killed 15, including both Russians and Cuban militiamen, in one attack. In another they shelled a Soviet cargo vessel March 18.

Alpha 66 recently joined with the Second Front of Escambray for operational purposes. The Miami leader of the Escambray group is Andres Nazario Sargent. But one element of Alpha 66 split away from it for independent operations. It now calls itself Comandos L—for libre, or free.

ONCE ANTI-YANKEE
The military leader of Escambray Front is Commandante Major Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, about 30, a Spaniard who once was a trusted Castro lieutenant. Gutierrez Menoyo was a loudly vocal anti-Yankee while he served Castro, long after the Castro revolution succeeded.

Working with the Alpha 66 group also is an organization called "The Escambray Front of the Anti-Communist Cuban Army." It is headed by Evelin Duque, 36, a veteran of Castro's revolution and later of guerrilla fighting against Castro.

The Revolutionary Student Directorate (DRE) is considered one of the most effective groups. Its Miami leader is Luis Fernandez Rocha. The DRE has branches in

Hundreds Flee Smoky Tunnel

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of persons, some on the verge of panic, were evacuated from a Brooklyn subway tunnel Tuesday when a fire sent dense smoke billowing through two passenger trains.

An estimated 600 persons were trapped on the stalled trains between stations. At least 100 were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation. Nearly 100 others were sent to hospitals for treatment. A dozen were kept in hospitals.

Police said the fire started about 3 p.m. in the motors of a work train near a station in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn. The work train stopped immediately following two four-car passenger trains. They stalled and their lights went out.

Acrid smoke reached the passengers. Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said, "Thank God this didn't happen at the height of the rush hour."

Samuel Marco, 38, motorman on one of the stalled trains, said, "I spoke to the passengers. I said that if they would follow me, I would lead them out to a station along the tracks."

"Many women were hysterical. Many people began to cough. I took three groups out."

A conductor, Harold Johnson, 37, related: "When the train filled with smoke, women passengers became nervous. One woman cried out, 'I'll be burned to death.' I tried to assure her by saying 'There is no fire, just smoke.'"

"I took a flashlight and had about 20 people follow me along the tracks. I made several trips and took three groups out."

The Transit Authority shut off power on the line at 3:05 p.m. Service was resumed at 6:41 p.m.

MISSIONARY SAYS HE MAKES TRIPS INTO SOVIET UNION
MIDLAND, Mich. (AP)—A non-denominational missionary on a U.S.-owned island near the Soviet Union in the Bering Straits says that he frequently makes trips into Soviet territory "to spread the word of God."

The Rev. James A. Flynn, who lives on Little Domed Island, told newsmen that he visits Russia's Big Diomed Island, 2 1/2 miles away. He added that he has visited Siberian coastal areas 20 miles beyond Big Diomed.

The Rev. Mr. Flynn said he avoided meeting Soviet military personnel as he distributed Bibles printed in Russian, and religious pamphlets among the Eskimo natives.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he was in Midland to accept a gift of building material from the Dow Chemical Co. for use in erecting a storage house for preserving meat in summertime on Little Diomed Island.

The only white residents on the island are the missionary and a schoolteacher. There are 86 Eskimos.

The Rev. Mr. Flynn says he plans to spend the rest of his life on the island, helping the natives. He was ordained in 1954 at the Seattle, Wash., Revival Center.

42 of the United States, 13 Latin-American countries and inside Cuba itself. Its members range in age from 16 to 29.

DRE leaders are intelligent, resourceful and courageous, but tend to lack the responsibilities which might cause older men to consider international consequences. The DRE was first to make an armed attack on Castro's Cuba. It lost one boat last August, confiscated by U.S. authorities when raiders returned after shooting up a Havana hotel where they believed Soviet technicians were staying.

UNDERGROUND
Another group believed to be involved in active support of the underground in Cuba is the Junta Revolucionaria Cubana (JURE), whose Miami chief is Rogelio Cisneros, its headquarters is in Puerto Rico. Its over-all chief is Manolo Ray, once a Castro lieutenant and a Castro Cabinet minister.

Alpha 66, the Escambray Second Front, Commandos L and the DRE were operating out of tiny Bahama islands until they were flushed out by U.S. and British authorities. They claim they now will move their operations elsewhere. But attack boats still can hide in the Bahamas.

Most of the militant organizations, small in themselves, have assistance from others for fund collection and other chores. The DRE, for example, probably has 800 non-combat members in the Miami area as support in depth.

It takes money to buy boats and weapons, mount raiding attacks and supply guerrillas inside Cuba with equipment and funds. Weapons are easy to come by in Miami itself, for the price.

The DRE appears to have been well headed. Its leaders say the money comes from contributions in the United States and Latin America. Other sources say the origin of the money is more mysterious.

HALT MONEY
Jose Lanuza, DRE American affairs chief, told me he feared the United States would also place "economic pressure" on his organization to halt its flow of money. This seems to indicate that U.S. authorities are in a position to cut off sources of DRE funds.

Alpha 66 is noted for its fund-raising ability. Its leaders claim it is done by door-to-door canvasses. There are reports that it gets considerable financial support from Puerto Rico.

Apart from the concern with the United States seems now to be viewing activities of these organizations, some sources in a position to know say it is unquestionable that many exile organizations have been infiltrated by Castro agents.

No Incidents As Latins Take Over Crystal City

CRYSTAL CITY (AP)—Business went on as usual today in this South Texas town of 10,000, where trouble had been feared as its first all Mexican-American city council took office.

For that reason the new councilmen, elected April 2, were sworn in without notice at 1 p.m. Tuesday instead of 7:30 p.m. as scheduled.

City Manager James Dill administered the oaths. Fellow council members then elected Juan Cornejo, 33, mayor. They voted to retain Dill.

Tuesday night the councilmen appeared at a boisterous victory party in a plaza on the east side of town. Most of those attending were Mexican extraction.

The five Mexican-Americans were elected by a record vote after the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations and the Teamster's Union joined to conduct a poll tax and a voter education campaign.

The five men losing city council seats in the election had held office for several years, two of them for more than 30 years each.

Four Texas Rangers were in Crystal City to make sure there was no violence. They stood on the edges of the victory party with nothing to do.

Cornejo said the early swearing in ceremony was held to forestall any possibility of violence.

Other new councilmen are Mario Hernandez, 24, a real estate salesman; Antonio Cardenas, a truck driver; Reynaldo Mendoza, a photographer; and Manuel Maldonado, who said he lost his job in a hardware store because his boss accused him of campaigning on company time.

DEAR ABBY

He Didn't Even Look!

DEAR ABBY: The husband with the perfume on his shoulder reminded me of something funny. A few years ago I was standing in the rear of an elevator when three men got in. One man in a light gray suit was standing directly in front of me when his friend, in a playful gesture (not seeing me), shoved him back. He left with a perfect imprint of my lips right between his shoulder blades. I wonder what his wife thought when he got home?

MRS. G.
DEAR MRS. G.: What better proof could a wife want that her husband wouldn't even turn around to LOOK at another woman?

DEAR ABBY: We don't mean to interfere in anyone else's business, but we have a neighbor who has a little girl two-and-a-half years old. We don't think she treats this little girl right. She doesn't walk or talk, and the mother keeps her strapped in a chair all day long. The poor angel is so bitter and frustrated she sometimes bites herself until she bleeds. The mother says the little girl is "bad." But how can she be "bad" when is strapped in a chair all day long? What do you suggest?

NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: The mother should be reported to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. If you have no local society, ask your law enforcement officer where to report this.

DEAR ABBY: That man at the stamp window who told the "citizen" who complained that postage rates were too high either to deliver the letter himself, or call long distance, should keep this in mind:

Long distance phone rates have recently been reduced for the 33rd time since 1934. A record of consistently improved service has been established. Meanwhile, the postage rates have doubled. Tax dollars are still needed to subsidize mail service.

JUST FOR THE RECORD
P. S. If you don't receive this, I'll call you long distance.

DEAR JUST: Don't call. Write. Your message reached me for only five cents. And it traveled 2,000 miles, and I'm not complaining.

Moody In Again

DALLAS (AP) — City Councilman Joe Moody was re-elected by 97 votes on the basis of complete unofficial returns from a runoff election Tuesday.

Personal Income Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income rose last month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $42.7 billion, about $1.6 billion greater than in February, the Commerce Department reports.

As used by the department's economists, the term personal income means all types of payments to individuals—wages, salaries, dividends, interest, rents, etc. Disposable income in terms of 1954 prices stood at a record of almost $1,850 per person, the department calculated. Disposable income is determined after making allowance for tax and price increases.

Hospitality Days Open Thursday

Hospitality Days are scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Big Spring Hardware, in the appliance, furniture, tire and hardware departments.

Leon Farris and Rubin Trantham are inviting residents to the appliance and hardware departments; Jack Jernigan and Jim Matheny issued invitations from the furniture and tire store. The firm has been a Goodrich tire dealer two years.

Severe Drought

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP) — The newspaper El Manana says the State of Tamaulipas, which borders Texas, faces severe losses from drought unless general rains fall in the next ten days.

Personal income for the first three months of this year equalled the combined increase of the third and fourth quarters of 1962 and were largest since last year's second quarter advance.

Vows Pledged At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The W. H. McCulloch home near Lamesa was the scene Tuesday evening for an exchange of nuptial vows between Miss Viola Virginia Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Logan of Lamesa, and Benson Edgar McCulloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCulloch.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Milo B. Arbuttle, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The couple stood before an archway entwined with fern and roses.

Sylvia Polk, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Bill McCulloch, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Lon Logan of Graham. She wore a street length dress of satin-backed taffeta over organdy. It was fashioned with a scalloped neckline outlined in lace medallions. The fitted bodice had short sleeves with three-quarter length lace mitts which ended in petal points, outlined in seed pearls, over the hands. The bou-

LAS ARTISTAS Discusses Final Plans For Fine Arts Show

Final arrangements for the April 26-27-28 Texas Fine Arts Association show were made at the monthly meeting of Las Artistas Art Club Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Don Bohannon, Chairman of the approaching exhibit, Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, appointed a committee to assist with the registering of paintings Friday, April 26, between 1 and 5:30 p.m. Others were assigned to host duties Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Bismarck Schafer, regional director of TFAA, has received from Laguna Gloria Museum in Austin, the citations to be awarded winning painters in the exhibition. Other awards will be a $100 purchase prize from Cosden Petroleum Corp., trophies and ribbons.

SAC REGIONAL SHOW Several members have taken paintings to the San Angelo College regional show, April 21 to May 12 in San Angelo. Among those sending work were Mrs. Wilbur Brown, Mrs. Charles Burks, Mrs. Roland Howard, Mrs. W. L. Patton, Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, Mrs. Frank Hartley, Mrs. D. R. Hale, Mrs. J. R. Howard and Mrs. Bill Unger. This exhibition will be judged by Wilfred Higgins of North Texas State University.

Mrs. Parker gave the review on the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art book on abstract painting. She showed prints of famous painters, comparing Picasso's "The Studio" with a similar subject matter painted by Vermeer 300 years earlier, pointing out similarities of design and explaining why each is a complete work of art. Several prints of works by Mondrian, painted several years apart, showed his progress from designed realism to "pure" abstraction of straight lines and color blocks.

ABSTRACT PROGRESSIVE Mrs. Parker showed prints of various other painters, such as Turner, Kandinsky, Cezanne, Durand and Gauguin, pointing out the social pressures and the emotional effects of their personalities which affected their work.

Progression of her own painting career has led Mrs. Parker into abstract painting from her beginning as a realistic painter. She showed the growth of abstract work from several hundred years ago up to now, proving so-called "modern" painting is not so new after all, and is progressing rather than declining.

Next month's Metropolitan Art Seminar book deals with realism in painting and its evolution through the centuries. Sgt. John Horey, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, is in charge of this review.

Las Artistas Club members received an invitation from Midland, read at the club meeting, to submit entries for an exhibition in the Delwood Plaza to open May 1 to 13, at $2.00 per entry.

Selective Approach

Last week the steel industry sent out its patrols on a price raise. Now that they appear to have escaped the scathing official cross-fire of a year ago, it is a question of time—short time—until the entire industry ventures into the field.
 Perhaps Big Steel and the President both learned something from last year's explosive episode. Certainly steel has its problems in achieving ample profit, and in some respects it is in need of something wider margins than ordinary industry because it requires such tremendous capital expenditures for improvement or replacement.
 Steel also is basic, and any fundamental change in its structure eventually trickles down into every capillary of our economic community. Conceivably there is a point at which steel can price itself out of the market, but the time for easy substitution for steel is not yet at hand. Although competitive within itself, steel does move within something of a practical captive market.

 This, however, does not alter the hard facts of business life, namely that output cannot long exceed income without dire consequences. Even at a break-even point an industry can be feeding upon itself. Unless costs can be cut, income must be increased. Because it is basic, steel cannot stand wholly apart from the economic stream.
 Perhaps the selective approach is the prudent one. This will lessen the impact upon other heavy users of the basic product. It can provide time and a cushion,

Reaping The Whirlwind

The saga of Billie Sol Estes is fast drawing to an end. While there are other cases pending, the imposition of 15 years in prison on the one-time agricultural operator and fertilizer promoter naturally takes the edge off what is left.
 Estes previously had been convicted of a fraud charge in a state court, a case now on appeal, but it remained for the tougher federal trial to put in the clincher. Thus, like the state case, likely will be appealed, but then the odds are no longer even for Billie Sol.
 They never really were. They never are for those who begin to take short cuts to satisfy personal vanity or to embark on a quest for status and power. When getting becomes more important than how you get, the way is opened first for fudging, then to whipping the devil around the stump, and finally to outright fraud.

 When the Estes' house of cards came fluttering down, there was first disbelief at the chicanery, then a clamor to tar him and everyone who had known of him. Then skepticism crept in—"they'll never pin anything on him"—and ultimately some sympathy when he became almost an underdog.
 All of this lost sight of the central issue. The federal court in El Paso refocused upon it in reaching a conclusion that what Estes did in his manipulations was not only wrong but clearly in defiance of the law. The court has underlined this with some withering words, none of which are more sobering than "15 years in prison." It is possible to feel sorry for Billie Sol Estes, but he made his own bed.

Holmes Alexander Who Promotes Disarmament?

WASHINGTON—Do Federal agencies promote themselves? The question has always been a favorite topic among cynical newspaper boys in the back room, but the other day it jumped out in the highly respectable purview of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which was hearing the pleas of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency for (a) more money and (b) less security clearance for its contractors.
CHAIRMAN FULLBRIG (D), staring owlishly over his horn-rimmed spectacles, said he'd just received ten telegrams of similar composition, all from the Santa Barbara (Calif.) area, and all urging the Agency's case. Senator Hickenlooper (R) said he'd received numerous messages of the same kind—all before the date of the hearing had been announced. Both Senators strongly hinted their suspicions that the Disarmament Agency, with its 165 employees, might have a built-in lobby for self-promotion.
WILLIAM C. FOSTER, the Disarmament Director, innocently denied any knowledge of such a thing. Adrian Fisher, his Deputy Director and a prolific author of letters-to-the-editor in favor of the Agency's Nuclear Test Ban proposals, said nothing. But some hustling around town by this reporter has revealed that:

1. Only Director Foster had been notified of the date of the hearing when people began contacting the Committee and indicating backing for the Agency's request. How did the word get around unless unknown persons in the Agency notified their backers?
 2. THERE ARE periodic deluges of demands by phone and letter that the Foreign Relations Committee release a confidential report which has to do with the study made about three years ago. It gives the location and capacity of America's armament plants.
TWO MEMBERS of Foreign Relations, one a Republican and one a Democrat, are chiefly responsible for keeping the report unpublished. One of them simply reasons—why tell the Russians about our plants? The other Senator felt that the study showed how much the American economy is based on Defense contracts—and why give this to the Communist propaganda mills? There is a feeling on Capitol Hill that the demand for release of the Committee report has been stimulated by persons in or near the Disarmament Agency who know of the report's existence.
ADMITTEDLY, these two points are no more than circumstantial evidence, but the circumstances will seem suspicious to any denizen of this Federal city. Some

Billy Graham

I recently read in the Bible the story of the potter and the clay. I believe it is in the book of Jeremiah. It disturbed me when I read this verse: "I cannot do with you as this potter," said the Lord. "I can't explain it, but I feel frightened of God since I read that verse. I love God and want to please Him, but I feel a panic creeping over me when I realize what power He has over me."
 It is very true that God has this power over each one of us as individuals. If God were sinful and not holy as He is, then we would have abundant reason for being frightened. But God is a God whose loving kindness endures forever. Read Psalm 136, for example, and you will discover that in every verse throughout the entire Psalm the loving kindness of God is declared.
 It is true that God can do with us what He will, but we should rejoice in this because the Bible says: "He is not willing that any should perish." You have no cause for fear if you have trusted Him, but rather you have made a great discovery: Yield yourself to Christ and ask Him to do with you whatever He will. You can be sure that what He does will be good for you—He has your best interest at heart.

Score On Shoppers

CHICAGO (AP)—Next time you walk into a supermarket, chances are you'll spend $13.10, buy 22 items at an average price of 59.5 cents, and be a woman.
 That's the report from the A.C. Nielsen Co. here which uses some 2,700 persons, including 300 field auditors, and a computer to follow the purchasing preferences of the nation's shoppers.
 Fewer than one-third of the shoppers visit the store once a week, and the remainder of the customers are split between those who shop twice a week and those who shop three or more times. And only 18 out of 100 supermarket patrons are men, Nielsen says.
 The answers, however, are the same. There are three things that can be done:
 1. De-sensitization shots. (For real hay fever, these are injections to help the persons tolerate various pollens in the air. For other allergies, different desensitizing materials must be added.)
 2. Taking anti-histamines to ease the symptoms while an attack is in progress.
 3. Going to some other climate when the attacks occur. This isn't always practical, of course. In addition, you have to find a place where the offending pollens or other such materials are not present. There are two main methods of

Doubles On The Fourth

TOMPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It's not unusual for Alex Hanco to buy a handful of birthday cards on Feb. 4.
 His twin brothers were born on that day in 1906. His twin daughters were born the same day in 1943, and his wife's twin nephews were born Feb. 4, 1950.

James Marlow What Has Khrushchev Accomplished?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev is 69 today. He doesn't exactly mellow with age.
 But if he died tomorrow the West would have to say—but for the opposite reason—what Sir Winston Churchill said of Stalin's death in 1953: that it was a "milestone in Russian history."
 Khrushchev is no Santa Claus. But he's a vast improvement over Stalin, a homicidal maniac in short, there could be worse than Khrushchev as the West will realize with regret if his successor tries to turn the clock back.
STALIN, with his bad judgment, risked world war with the Korean conflict and the Berlin blockade. Khrushchev took chances, but not like Stalin, with the Berlin wall and slipping missiles into Cuba.
 Khrushchev has done four things above all since Stalin's death 10 years ago:
 1. He has given the Russian people a far better life than they have had since the Bolshevik revolution in 1917. They have more freedom, although far from full freedom. The terroristic secret police system has been subordinated.
 2. He has destroyed the Stalin myth by his 1956 denunciation of the old dictator. This not only had a liberating effect on Russian thinking but on communism in the satellites and around the world.

 3. By showing more reasonableness than Stalin he has eased East-West tensions and made war less likely, not necessarily because he wouldn't try it if he thought he could win but because he realizes he might not.
 4. By trying to avoid war, through a policy less risky aggressive than Stalin's, Khrushchev has precipitated a split with the Red Chinese allies. Such a split seemed inevitable eventually. He hastened it.
WHILE THE freedom of the Russian people is not complete—a good recent example is Khrushchev's quarrels with writers and artists—they are becoming better educated every day. With the education comes thinking.
 With that comes critical examination of the Russian Communist party's leadership policies at home and abroad. Because in time this will affect the policies, it will make the leadership more responsive to the people's will.
 This could be reversed for a while—another Stalin would set it back—but the higher the intellectual level of the Russian people the more inevitable it seems the dictatorship in time must melt away.
 This doesn't mean a sudden burgeoning of the free enterprise system in Russia. But it does mean that in time the Russian people will have some form of democratic socialism.

AS FOR DESTROYING the Stalin myth Khrushchev has done well. He had to do it for some obvious reasons.
 Continuation of the myth would have strangled the initiative of Stalin's successors if they sought to meet new situations in new ways. In short, so long as the myth remained the Communist ideal, they would have had to follow in the Stalin footsteps.
 A continuation of the Stalinist system of fear and repression would have had an equally stifling effect on the development of the Russian people, depriving the government of their full energies and talents.
 Stalin belonged to the past, which seemed long past about the time he died, a period of rigid discipline over ignorant masses to make them conform and serve at any price to them.
WHAT STALIN wanted, Khrushchev wants a Communist world. Their big difference is not in goals but in tactics. Stalin might have risked total destruction for total communism.
 Khrushchev simply recognizes the reality of his nuclear age and is willing to take his time to get what Stalin wanted in a hurry. So he shifts, turns and thrusts but always, so far, short of war.
 Stalin knew a powerful Red China would be a Russian rival some time. It explains his meager help to the Red Chinese for so long. But, because the rivalry was inevitable, so was a break between the two.
 In both countries the force of nationalism was stronger than communism.
 The Red Chinese have split with Khrushchev because they complain, and out of a desire to restore Russian Communist supremacy—may some day feel impelled to risk his better judgment tells him not to try.

Today In Washington Anti-Radiation Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:
ARM MISSILE: The Defense Department has disclosed a new missile developed to seek out and destroy enemy radiation devices—such as radar and communications equipment.
 Dr. John L. McClucas, deputy director of defense research and engineering for tactical warfare programs, said whether the ARM—anti-radiation missile—is worth using "should be apparent when we get enough test missiles tested to see if they really do the job."
 But, he told the National Rocket Club Tuesday night, the Pentagon feels that "right now we have a missile which is worth deploying."
DRAFT CALL: The Army's June draft quota has been set at 4,000—lowest since February. The Defense Department estimates the quota, announced Tuesday, plus volunteers, will make the Army's June requirement of 17,000 men.
DEATH PENALTY: Forty-seven convicted criminals were executed by civil authorities in the United States last year. The Justice Department reported today. Of the executions, 15 were carried out in the gas chamber, 29 by electrocution and 3 by hanging.
 The report by the Bureau of Prisons, including tables and statistics, said 41 were executed for murder, 4 for rape, 1 for assault by a life prisoner and 1 for armed robbery.
 The report noted that in 1961 only 42 persons were executed, that, it said, was the second lowest number since the national records were started in 1930.

To Your Good Health De-Sensitization Shots Help Combat Allergies

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: What will stop hay fever? My son, now 24, sometimes nearly smother to death in damp weather. If he has a cold, his head seems to close completely. Even when he is normal, he coughs and sneezes and his eyes water and swell.
 He won't go to a specialist. Can you suggest something that will help him?—MRS. R. B.
 I'm not sure from the letter whether this condition is only hay fever, or whether it is an allergy which occurs other than in the autumn.
 The answers, however, are the same. There are three things that can be done:
 1. De-sensitization shots. (For real hay fever, these are injections to help the persons tolerate various pollens in the air. For other allergies, different desensitizing materials must be added.)
 2. Taking anti-histamines to ease the symptoms while an attack is in progress.
 3. Going to some other climate when the attacks occur. This isn't always practical, of course. In addition, you have to find a place where the offending pollens or other such materials are not present. There are two main methods of stopping these severe hay fever and allergy conditions: insurance for future good health. Indeed, the importance of this often is not recognized until after a great deal of harm has been done. Safety lies in starting early and keeping at treatment.

 Dear Dr. Molner: We like to eat dried fruit, uncooked, especially apples prepared with sulphur dioxide. Can this be harmful?—Mrs. W. D.
 Washing the dried fruit before eating should remove any risk from the chemical.
 Shingles can be a painful disease. To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.
 Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim The Sure Sign Of Spring

When looking for evidences of spring, the hardened skeptics who surround me at the office never regard the mesquites, hackberry or walnuts as safe sentinels. No, they say that the only sure sign of spring is when I write about wildflowers.
SINCE I FEEL that spring is truly here, even if we should have a cool spell or so, I might as well not disappoint these mundane scoffers. I will therefore devote today's piece to wildflowers, and to my colleagues I give a bouquet of wild onions and crow poison. The beauty will remind them of the loveliness of the season; the bulbs will provide a pungent fragrance to express my disdain for their crude remarks.
 The shower of a fortnight ago, coupled with an unusually warm and calm spring week, has combined to bring out an array of native flora. It would be impossible to list all plants in bloom now. In the first place I couldn't begin to name them. In the second place, it all depends on where you are what you see, but wherever you are, you can see plenty if you only look.
FOR INSTANCE, yesterday I got a paper sack and walked less than a quarter of a mile from our front door, merely plucking samples at the side of the road. (Had this been a sandy territory, or one with loamy soil instead of rocky terrain, doubtless there would have been scores more.) Within minutes I was back with over three dozen flowers.
 Then I got down my trusty copy of "Roadside Flowers of Texas" that price-less book put out by the University of Texas Press with color plates by Mary Motz Wills and text by Howard S. Irwin. Since I picked up a couple of blooming shrubs, I also trailed out the equally excellent UT Press "Trees, Shrubs & Woody Vines of the Southwest," by Robert A. Vines.

AMONG THE PROSaic things I found Virginia pepper grass, the weed that takes almost any place, together with the Trompillo, that sticky gray plant which puts on pale orchid flowers and later crusty round berries. There was a crop of filaree, too. For the abundant lavender hue, there was the ubiquitous tansy aster. One of the most impressive was the vivid prairie verbenae, and one of the most exotic the deep purple of blue-eyed grass.
 Buttercups always signal spring, and with them were the akin fluttermill, plus a pink evening primrose, lending a touch of white and pink. I also found yellow daisies, thealsperma filifolium and yellow simplicifolium, threadleaf groundsel, wild mustard, puccion, bladder pod, golden wave and bitterweed among the yellows. Besides these, there were at least eight yellow blossoms I could not identify.
IN ADDITION, my short excursion yielded a variety of daisies, among them a rock daisy and three others I couldn't pinpoint. I also found the ever-so-pale yellow of umbrellawort, the delicate salmon of the mallows, the vivid plaids of the firewheel or gallardia. There also were the blossoms on the acacia and on the catclaw, the lovely Blue Gila, and of course, an abundance of Guara (wild honeysuckle) weed. The ground cherry was about ready to bloom, here and there dandelion were venturing a blossom and feathery ball, the bull thistles were loosening their clutch on the soil, and horse mint was beginning to grow. Who could argue but that spring was indeed here.

Inez Robb Property Over Mankind

Irony achieved a dizzy height on the day Pope John XXIII signed his noble encyclical on world peace and it was simultaneously announced in Washington, D. C. that U. S. scientists have made "significant strides" toward perfection of a pure fusion or neutron bomb.
 The irony was compounded or even confirmed by the fact that the announcement of the near breakthrough on the neutron bomb was made by a U. S. disarmament agency official. Or have semantics gone berserk?
WHETHER I AM frapped by an atomic, a hydrogen or a neutron bomb is probably of no great moment, since in any case I shall be equally dead. But there is something unspeakably monstrous about the pure fusion or neutron bomb which, when "perfected," will annihilate people but preserve real estate.
 This future weapon will have a minimum blast and heat effect, thus doing the least damage to the landscape and all contained therein. Its charming advantage over the old-fashioned atom and hydrogen bombs is that it "would emit enormous radiation of deadly neutrons that would kill people while preserving structures."

great and civilized age, it is man that is expendable, not property.
 For what consolation there is in it, when the last man crawls out of his underground shelter, he will not have taken refuge in a cave, as has been predicted in case of nuclear war. He will have his choice of Versailles or Buckingham Palace or the Kremlin.
IF MY GOVERNMENT believes that a neutron bomb is necessary to preserve liberty—since it certainly will not preserve life—then I must accede to its wisdom, even if there is no one left for whom to preserve liberty. But the world has reached the ultimate in cynicism when its genius and its treasure are devoted to the destruction of man and the preservation of property.
 "Universal peace is a good that interests all men without distinction," said the Pope when he signed the encyclical, in which he expresses the hope that the light of Christ will "illuminate the minds of those who lead people so that, together with just prosperity, they preserve for all citizens the magnificent present of peace."
SPEAKING OF "the rewards of peace," John XXIII added, "Let us say it with apostolic fervor: 'Bring peace, spread it and its benefits.'"
 If the Pope can once more make peace respectable, he will have conferred a great blessing on the world.
 A generation that can jay hare the mystery of the atom surely has the genius to control it for man's good, to work for peace with honor and secure both life and liberty for mankind. Life without liberty is intolerable, but liberty without life is futile.
THE WAY of the peacemaker is hard, as we Americans have discovered at the endless disarmament parleys in Geneva. It isn't going to be any easier in the future. But we dare not quit trying.

TO THE VICTOR in such a war would indeed belong the spoils. Once his burial squads had done their job, he could walk into a city or countryside to find it undisturbed—its factories ready to go, its farms waiting the plow, its office buildings eager for new white-collar operators. Men, women and children would be dead. But the Empire State Building or Moscow University would still stand. Long live real estate! Finally, in the last half of the 20th Century in the ages-old battle between man vs. property, we know which is the higher good. It is property.
THOSE WHO have thought that humanity was ultimate good, and that man represented God's highest creation can now see the error of their reasoning. In this agree to a treaty. It seems to be assumed that a test ban at any price is better than no test ban. But here a staunch Democrat, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, who has made a special study of the whole problem, points out that the Russians cannot be trusted to adhere to any treaty. He said in a speech to the Senate recently.

"AS EARLY as 1961, we were willing to sign a treaty banning tests in space, despite the opinion of competent scientists that such tests could be conducted without serious possibility of detection."
 "In our proposal of Aug. 27, 1962, we have agreed in advance that, on the day a treaty is signed, tests of all sizes, in all media, whether detectable or not, would be forbidden. Needless to say, we would honor such an agreement—but would the Soviets?"
 Sen. Dodd said that he could not understand how any administration could risk our security as a nation on the chance that "a government which has violated more than a thousand treaties and agreements over the past 40 years would for some strange reason decide to honor an agreement whose violation would go both unproven and unpunished."
THE CONNECTICUT senator put his finger on the real barrier to any test ban or any other treaty between the Soviet Union and the United States when he said:
 "The quest for disarmament is in essence a quest for mutual security based on mutual confidence. Such confidence cannot exist so long as a significant portion of the world is governed by closed societies—so long as we must ask ourselves what the Communists are hiding, what evil intention may lie concealed behind their will of secrecy."
NOW MORE THAN ever it becomes apparent that the dictatorship in Moscow will cheat and conceal and do everything it can to catch up with and pass the United States in experimentation with nuclear weapons. To sum up, The Soviets know they are behind and the American government officially concedes that this is true. No dictatorship in its right senses would ever agree to a nuclear test ban, and similarly no democracy can afford to make such a treaty as long as mutual confidence is lacking.

David Lawrence Soviets Will Keep Testing

WASHINGTON—Millions of words have been written and countless hours of conversation have gone on during the last five years between the diplomatic representatives of the United States and the Soviet Union about a treaty to ban nuclear tests. But not until a few days ago was it made crystal clear why the Russians will never stop nuclear testing, whether secretly or otherwise.
FOR THE SIMPLE truth is that the Soviets know authoritatively they are behind the United States. They will never rest until they catch up and even pass this country in nuclear science.
 The United States government says openly now that the Soviets are second in the nuclear race. Just why American officials make such statements is a mystery, for it would seem that this is the very kind of news the Pentagon should keep within the bounds of managed secrecy. Secretary of Defense McNamara, in testimony before a Senate committee which has just been released, says:
 "... I BELIEVE that it is fairly generally recognized among the technical groups that we were much further ahead of the Soviets in the past than we are today, and that by testing they have over come to some degree our lead. This is, I think, what you might expect from tests. And in particular, I think that is true of their last series, and I perhaps should say the last 18 months rather than the last year when I make the statement I do."
 "We are weaker today than we were 18 months ago because each of us tested in the atmosphere in the interim period, and because the Soviets had so much more to learn than we did, they did learn that during the period, and therefore this differential of U. S. superiority has narrowed as a result of the tests of the Soviets, and this country, in the atmosphere in the last 18 months."
SENATOR HENRY M. JACKSON, Democrat of the state of Washington, at one point during the testimony commented that "we did make the mistake of our unilateral test ban" and that "if we had extended it long enough we would have been in real trouble."
 During the last few weeks the United States has indicated a willingness to cut down the number of "on site" inspections as a means of inducing the Soviets to agree to a treaty. It seems to be assumed that a test ban at any price is better than no test ban. But here a staunch Democrat, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, who has made a special study of the whole problem, points out that the Russians cannot be trusted to adhere to any treaty. He said in a speech to the Senate recently.

SAN ANGELO—San Angelo, behind the effective three-hit pitching of Scotty Chastain, blanked the Big Spring Steers, 2-0, in a District 2-AAAA baseball game here Tuesday afternoon.

The victory was the sixth in seven league starts for the Bobcats and kept them at the top of the heap. Big Spring is now 1-6.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Obie Bristow's June 8-9 golf party at the Country Club, which will be referred to as the Big Spring Open, looks like it's going to be a smashing success.

Eighty-six players had registered for the two-day tournament last week and Bristow gets a few new entries every time he opens his mail.

Obie has no argument with the promoters of the $15,000 Odessa Pro-Am. They put on a fine show with big-name talent, he points out.

Someone killed a rattlesnake measuring nearly six feet at the Country Club and left it near the clubhouse as a trophy.

That occasioned Bristow to recall the time many years ago at the Munny he and a golfing partner banged the life out of a rattler which was barring their way.

They cut up the serpent and stuffed some of its remains in one of the holes at the course. Imagine how the next golfer who came along felt when he sunk a putt and reached down to retrieve his ball. Like taking up tennis, perhaps.

Jimmy Patterson, the local linkster attending Odessa College on a golf scholarship, accompanied the Wranglers to Miami last week to compete in a collegiate tournament there.

Owner of a motor car company in Odessa loaned the team a new station wagon in which to make the trip.

They say heavyweight champion Sonny Liston is 50 pounds overweight and boozing as he never has before.

Perhaps he doesn't have to worry, however, since his knee injury will keep him out of action for a year, he says.

Burl Shipley, the basketball coach at Southwestern Louisiana, came here personally to sign HCJ's Walter Carter to an athletic scholarship.

Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers refers to Candlestick Park in San Francisco as Waterstick.

Groundkeepers of the San Francisco baseball plant use generous amounts of liquids on the basepaths when the Dodgers come to town, in order to slow down the good thief, Maury Wills.

Golf Bonanza To Reap More Gold In 1964

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mothers, do you want your son to become a financial success? Forget stocks and bonds. Steer clear of oil and big steel. Don't bother with the diamond mines in Johannesburg.

Give the boy a set of golf clubs, teach him to swing and put him on the professional tour.

This is the newest shortcut to the U.S. mint.

A Cleveland brewing concern announced plans Tuesday for a new tournament to be inaugurated in August 1964. It will have a total purse of $200,000—the richest in golf history—with $35,000 going to the winner and $17,000 to the runnerup.

The event, with full sanction of the Professional Golfers Association, is aimed at putting tournament golf on a worldwide scale—open as the announcement put it, to amateurs and professionals regardless of race, creed or color.

Qualifying tests will be held on every continent—probably in remote places like Nairobi and the Fiji Islands—to pick selected foreign players who will test their skills against the highly publicized American stars such as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead.

The most intriguing figure of the PGA's newest tournament is not the format, however. It is the dough—the potfuls of it.

A race apparently has developed among sponsors to see which can establish the fattest purses. The result is that dollars are cascading like small rivers into the pockets of the touring pros. The boys never had it so good.

The recent Masters tournament at Augusta had a record purse of $112,500, of which winner Nicklaus got $20,000. A $125,000 tournament has been set Oct. 3-6 for Philadelphia. There's a $110,000 event at Cleveland and a $100,000 one at the Westchester Country Club. A $50,000 first prize goes to the winner of television's World Series of Golf.

It's getting so the pros turn up their noses at a $20,000 tournament. They have only faint interest in one of $50,000. It takes $100,000 to get their adrenalin churning.

Pro-Am Could Attract 100

If the weather is good and the wind stays down, more than 100 linksters from all over West Texas are due to take part in Thursday's pro-am at the Big Spring Country Club.

This will be the first of two such meets the Country Club stages this year. The other is scheduled for August—shortly before the big Labor Day Invitational.

Entry fee for Thursday's 18 holes of play will be $6 for pros and $4 for simon pures.

The pros will be shooting for cash prizes while the amateurs will bid for merchandise awards.

Wherever possible, a pro will be named to lead a foursome and will have players of A, B and C handicap classification grouped with him.

Top amateurs will be asked to lead foursomes on occasions, however.

Medalists of the day will also come in for their share of awards, too.

Play will get under way shortly after 8 a.m. The last foursome is due to leave the first tee around 2 p.m.

Pros Jerry and Wendy Green will accept registrations at the pro shop.

The Steerette A team prevailed, 15-9, 14-12, after the B teamers had finished on the long end of the score, 15-1, 15-2.

In the B team game, Lucy Thornton led Big Spring in serving with 11 points.

Tracksters Meet Snyder Thursday

The Big Spring High School track and field team will remain active at least through this week.

The Steers test Snyder's sophomores in a dual meet in Memorial Stadium, starting at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Practically all of the boys who are out for track now at the local school are either sophomores or juniors.

Merchants Win Two Decisions

Cotton Mize and Billy Paul Thomas pitched the Big Spring Merchants to two softball victories over Webb AFB at Webb Tuesday night. Scores were 5-4 and 6-4.

Mize toiled in the opener, parcelling out six hits to Webb. Marion Tredaway helped Cotton's cause with a first inning home run and two other hits.

In the second game, Thomas also yielded six hits to Webb.

Abilene Cooper Defeats Eagles

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper raked three Abilene High pitchers for a total of 11 hits on its way to an 11-1 District 2-AAAA baseball victory here Tuesday afternoon.

Ebbie Venable, on the mound for Cooper, stopped the Eagles with three hits.

Venable helped his own cause by collecting three safeties and driving in three runs.

Cooper struck for two runs in the first and all but looted down the verdict with four in the second.

Slow League Sets Meeting At YMCA

The Big Spring Slow Softball league will hold a meeting at the YMCA at 6 p.m. Thursday, at which time organizational plans will be completed and officers elected.

A league commissioner will also be named. As many as eight teams could qualify for the circuit, although it more likely will start with six.

Present plans call for the circuit to begin the season around May 15.

Aguirre Hits At Right Time For Detroiters

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even for a pitcher, Hank Aguirre of the Detroit Tigers is a lousy hitter. Most of the time he might as well leave his bat in the rack.

Last year was typical. Aguirre hit .027. He was up 75 times and struck out 46. Once he grounded into a doubleplay, which is pretty good for him.

He got two hits. One came off Hal Reniff of the New York Yankees, who was promptly sent to the minors.

Against the Yankees Tuesday, Aguirre got his first hit of the new season, and his ninth in nine years in the majors.

It went about 10 feet down the third base line, but it came with the bases loaded. Yankee third baseman Clete Boyer, apparently startled by this offensive display, picked the ball up and threw it away. Before the dust had settled three runs were home.

The Tigers went on to whip the Yankees 7-2 and move into a three-way tie for first place in the American League.

The Kansas City Athletics gained a share of the lead with the Tigers and Yankees by winning their fourth straight, 7-4 over the Chicago White Sox. All three teams have 4-2 records.

In other American League games, Cleveland shut out the Washington Senators 3-0 on Sam McDowell's two-hitter, the Boston Red Sox set back the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 and the Minnesota Twins won a weird one from the Los Angeles Angels, 11-10 in 13 innings.

Whitey Ford was the victim of Aguirre's blast, and took his second defeat of the year without a victory. He is the only Yankee pitcher to lose so far.

After two unearned runs in the first inning, the Tigers loaded the bases in the third with two out on singles by Rocky Colavito and Bubba Phillips, plus a walk. When Boyer threw Aguirre's lopped roller away three runs scored, although the Tiger pitcher, unaccustomed to the mysteries of base running, clutched first base throughout. Doubles by Jake Wood and Billy Bruton completed a five-run inning.

The injured Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle were both missing from the Yankee line-up.

Gino Cimoli carried the big bat for the Athletics, with three RBI, and lefty Ted Bousfield scored his first victory, with ninth-inning relief from John Wyatt.

McDowell, another of the bright young men on the Cleveland roster, pitched his first complete game in the majors, striking out 13. McDowell, a 20-year-old left-hander, was matched by Claude Osteen for the Senators until Woodie Held hit a leadoff homer in the seventh.

Dick Stuart made his Boston debut, and immediately made friends with the cozy left field wall. His three-run homer off Robb in Roberts in the sixth inning was the big blow behind Bill Mouboutquette, who spun a five-hitter.

There were some strange goings-on at Minnesota, where the Angels and the Twins struggled for 4 hours and 47 minutes. The Angels used nine pitchers, the Twins eight, for a major league record of 17. There were nine errors, six by the Angels, and 33 hits.

Five times the Twins overcame Angel leads. Eli Grba, the ninth Angel hurler, walked home the winning run with the bases full in the 13th.

'Balk' Over-Worked Word In National

Can you visualize a stopwatch hanging in Baseball's Hall of Fame?

If it could happen, National League umpires are following "balk" with such startling rapidity, they're advancing base runners quicker than the batters.

Seven balks were called in the National League Tuesday, bringing the overall total for less than two weeks of the season to 30 balks called in 32 games. For the same period of the 1962 season, there were only four. Not one balk has been called in the American League.

The scoreboard showed five balk calls at San Francisco, where the Giants whipped Houston 7-0 behind Billy Pierce's six-hitter. Two were called at Pittsburgh as St. Louis edged the Pirates 4-3. The other teams escaped.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Los Angeles Dodgers their fourth setback in the last five games, 2-1 in 12 innings, Warren Spahn's four-hitter gave Milwaukee a 3-0 decision over Philadelphia and Cincinnati made it seven straight losses for the New York Mets, 7-4.

Houston Manager Harry Craft and pitching coach Coz Deal suggested that Augie Donatelli make a stopwatch part of his standard umpiring equipment when they questioned the third balk call against Colt pitchers. The suggestion was not well taken, and Craft and Deal were thrown out in less time than it takes to call a balk.

Pierce, called for two balks, had no complaints. He remained unbeaten at Candlestick Park with his 14th straight regular season victory. The 37-year-old left-hander struck out six while walking three before 40,782 attending the home opener of the National League champs. The Giants put it out of reach with four runs in the first inning, two coming home on a double by Felipe Alou.

The Cardinals came up with two runs in the last of the ninth to give rookie Harry Fanok his first major league victory. Duke Carmel's first major league homer, a pinch-hit job off loser Elroy Face, tied the score before the clincher came across on a double by Curt Flood and a throwing error by Julio Gotay on Dick Groat's grounder.

Stan Musial, the major league record-holder in the department, accounted for his 6,000th total base with an eighth-inning single.

The Cubs pushed across the tie breaker against Ed Roebuck on a two-base error by Willie Davis on Billy Williams' fly, an infield hit by Ron Santo and a sacrifice fly by Ernie Banks. Banks accounted for Chicago's first run with a fifth-inning homer. Andy McDaniel was the winner in relief of Bob Buhl, who had a five-hit shutout working until the eighth when Willie Davis singled in a run.

Long Supports Red River Plan

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—In the space age it is not inconceivable that the Red River can be harnessed for navigation. Sen. Russell Long, D-La., said Tuesday at the final session of the 88th annual convention of the Red River Valley Association.

Long told delegates from Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma he hopes to see the Senate pass a bill by 1963 to authorize a navigation project on the river.

Stabilization of the banks and construction of about eight locks were mentioned as primary steps.

Maj. Gen. Ellisworth Davis, Army engineer for the Lower Mississippi Valley Division, said the modern concept of such projects includes navigation, flood control, water supply, hydroelectric power, irrigation, fish and wild life, recreation, and land resource improvement.

Rep. Oren Harris, D Ark., said "All we have to do is to remind ourselves that we have a job to do, that it is justified, and that it is feasible."

The association re-elected all officers including president C. A. Fairbanks of Pineville.

I Said, No Peanuts!

A newly-arrived baby elephant found for the Six Flags Over Texas park tries to make friends with an unidentified little girl at Dallas Love Field Airport. The tiny pachyderm was flown from India to Dallas to replace a similar elephant that burned to death in a fire at the park several weeks ago. As yet unnamed, the elephant is a year old, 38-inches tall and weighs 325 pounds. LeRoy Armstrong, a keeper at the park, holds the rope around the baby's neck.

Russia's Top Pianist, Wife Hiding Somewhere In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Vladimir Ashkenazy, the Soviet Union's leading young concert pianist, and his wife were hiding somewhere in England today after announcing they had left the U.S.S.R. indefinitely to live in Britain.

The 25-year-old pianist insisted he was not seeking political asylum, saying, "I am a Russian and I love my country." But the impression here was that he had defected, as Leningrad Ballet star Rudolf Nureyev did in Paris in 1961.

Ashkenazy came to Britain on a concert tour last month and brought his wife and year-old son, Vladimir. He said the Soviet government had given him permission for an indefinite stay but he "turned to British authorities because we did not know when the Russian permission allowing us to stay in England might be revoked."

The Home Office said Ashkenazy's wife, Dodie, a native of Iceland, was a resident of Britain for 17 years before she married and had asked to be allowed to take up residence in Britain again. A Home Office spokesman said this was granted and, in accordance with normal custom, the same privilege was extended to her husband.

Mrs. Ashkenazy told a correspondent of the Icelandic newspaper Morgunbladit she had "never liked Russia, Russian habits or their way of life."

"I have hoped from the beginning to be able to leave Russia and take my husband and child to England," she said.

Mrs. Ashkenazy said she is expecting another child. Her father, Johann Tryggvason, is an orchestral conductor who lives in London.

The pianist and his family were reported traveling incognito in northern England. The Morgunbladit correspondent said they told him they wanted to escape newsmen and Ashkenazy wanted to practice.

Ashkenazy's position among young Soviet pianists was underlined last year when the Soviet government picked him to enter the second Tchaikovsky competition. The first Tchaikovsky prize was won in 1958 by an American, Van Cliburn, and the Russians wanted a Russian to get it.

Popular Singers Solve Their Booking Problems

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Steve Lawrence is a popular singer, much in demand for television guest shots. Eydie Gorme is a popular singer, much in demand for television guest shots.

Steve and Eydie also are a married couple with two young children, a state of affairs which presents real problems in logistics and bookings for two young people who want to pursue two separate careers.

"Neither one of us wants to be identified just as half of a team," said Steve. "But there are problems when we play the night clubs."

The Lawrences have solved their career and family conflicts by a simple device: they appear as soloists on television, they sign as a team for night club appearances.

"Works out pretty well," said Steve with satisfaction. "We're away from home—New York City—about half the time, and then we take the children with us. We've found people in night clubs are happy to see us together because we don't very often appear together on television. When we go, it's like moving a small army—a nurse and all the paraphernalia for two small boys, aged 3 and 11 months."

Lawrence will be appearing solo next Tuesday on the Garry Moore Show. He'll also turn up a month hence on the Ed Sullivan Show.

"Playing the clubs is great—Florida in the season, Las Vegas, the Copa in New York and a few other places—but actually it's a dying business," Lawrence said, adding that his current ambition is to gather more acting experience.

A good saloon singer—a cabaret performer, if you prefer—can go in just about any performing direction he wants. He has had to contend with everything—bad acoustics, a boozey atmosphere, an inattentive audience. If he has learned to hold those audiences, he can go anywhere.

Lawrence, with income from night clubs, television and records says that television provides more than half of his annual income.

A few years ago, Steve and Eydie were interested in doing a television series together. But unless something splendid and irresistible comes along, they think their double life is just fine.
