Boutwell Applauds Race Unit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Mayor Albert Boutwell welcomed today the appointment of a presidential commission seeking racial peace in troubled Birmingham.

But he disagreed sharply with Negro leaders who urged President Kennedy to send troops to maintain order in Birmingham, where the Sunday bombing of a church killed four Negro girls.

Kennedy talked to the Negro leaders at the White House Thursday. Five Birmingham community leaders will meet with Kennedy in Washington Monday.

Boutwell applauded the selection of the former Army football coach, Earl Blaik and former Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall for the mission to Birmingham, praising them as distinguished and able men devoid of "any stigma of politics or partiality."

COOPERATION

"We welcome, as a city and a people, the cooperation of any who are willing to understand our difficulties and be genuinely helpful in their solution," the mayor said.

Royall, 69, an attorney, once was a state senator in North Carolina.

Blaik, 66, is chairman of the executive committee of Avco Corp. He was the coach who built Army into a national football power during World War II.

Shortly before Kennedy announced the appointments, Boutwell told newsmen much of Birmingham's troubles were caused by "outsiders both white and colored" who "have come in here and agitated to the point where they have made our people more tense."

URGES RESTRAINT

After talking with the Negro leaders, Kennedy urged cooperation and restraint by all Birmingham citizens and announced appointment of the two-man commission.

He said the FBI and city authorities are making "massive efforts to bring to justice the persons responsible for the bombing on Sunday and previous incidents."

Boutwell said he asked for the meeting Monday in hope of portraying to Kennedy what he called the true story of Birmingham. He picked his executive secretary, William C. Hamilton, for the White House trip along with City Councilman Don Hawkins, businessmen Caldwell Marks and Frank Newton, and the Rev. Dr. W. Landon Miller, president of the Council of Birmingham Ministers.

FOUR CITIES

As white and Negroes continued to study peacefully in desegregated schools in four Alabama cities, a relatively quiet day produced these other developments.

A student boycott at one newly integrated Birmingham school began to fade as enrollment approached normal.

TRUCK COMES TO MAN'S BED

Sleeping Man Narrowly Missed By Runaway Truck

"I thought an airplane had crashed into the building," Matt Crawford described his first impression of a narrow brush with death about midnight Thursday.

"All sorts of things ran through my mind, like the hot water heater exploding or a tornado striking," he said.

The near tragedy occurred when a semi-trailer truck loaded with pipe smashed into the used clothing store operated by Crawford at 509 Lamesa Drive. Crawford was sleeping in the building on a cot and the truck ripped into the building, passing within a foot of Crawford's bed and destroying the building.

The big truck, owned by Fort Worth Pipe and Supply, Fort Worth, had been parked on the east side of Lamesa Drive, about a block north of the store. It was unattended when the air pressure unexpectedly leaked off the brakes, allowing the vehicle to roll backward across the highway at the intersection of Northwest Sixth and into the building.

Franklin Tatum, Fort Worth, was driver of the truck.

Crawford's wife and children were sleeping in a small trailer house south of the small store and were not in danger.

"All the gas, water, and electrical lines were broken and we had no lights to see what had actually happened," Crawford said this morning.

"I didn't get shaken up at first," he explained, "but about an hour afterward the seriousness of it got hold of me and I got shaky. I still am. I guess the Good Lord was with me because there wasn't much else to keep that truck from striking me too. It had to jack-knife a little to miss me."

The building, estimated to be beyond repair, is owned by Sam Fisherman, 1400 Runnels. He was out of the city last night and this morning.

Crawford, who had been operating the store for only a short time, said a good portion of the used clothing could possibly be salvaged, although some was heavily damaged.

The hot water heater, bath tub, lavatory, commode, cook stove, and cabinets were all knocked out, he said. "We had been cooking and eating in the store, and my wife and two sons were sleeping in the trailer house. It was too small for all of us so I was sleeping by the back door on a cot. I'm glad I was the one on the cot instead of one of the boys."

Police estimated damage to the truck at about $200, and to the building, at around $4,500.

President Sees Pause For Cold War In U.N. Speech

Indonesians Seek To Patch Britain Split

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesians strove today to mend frayed relations with Britain, checking further demonstrations and announcing that it will protect foreign properties from seizure.

Government-controlled news and radio agencies said President Sukarno specifically barred the takeover of British companies without his approval.

The assurance appeared to meet a British demand that Sukarno spell out what he intends to do about British properties seized by Indonesian workers in the wave of anti-British sentiment following the creation of Malaysia.

This was climaxed Wednesday when 10,000 Indonesians protesting against the British-protected Malaysia burned the $400,000 British Embassy in Jakarta.

Britons who sent their wives and children out of the country remained uneasy despite Indonesian guarantees that it would tolerate no further demonstrations.

A total of 28 homes owned by various companies were pillaged Wednesday, but no office premises were damaged, the embassy spokesman said.

The Indonesian government reported the arrest of several persons in the burning of the British Embassy.

There was uneasiness about reports by some Britons that the core of Wednesday's rioters was highly organized and mob leaders carried lists pinpointing the residences of British Embassy personnel.

British officials were not prepared to wipe the slate clean of earlier Sukarno statements that Britain is trying to retain its colonial influence in Southeast Asia through Malaysia, the five-day-old federation of Malaya, Singapore and the British Borneo territories of Sarawak and North Borneo.

Britain has defense agreements with Malaysia and maintains troops in Sarawak and North Borneo bordering Indonesia.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

President Kennedy today noted the apparent pause in the cold war and called for new U.S.-Soviet cooperation, including a joint expedition to the moon.

He also urged new efforts to ban weapons of mass destruction from outer space.

The President addressed the U.N. General Assembly which Thursday heard a policy declaration from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Kennedy matched the moderate, conciliatory tone set by Gromyko and hailed by U.N. delegates as a welcome change in the international atmosphere.

The one jarring note was a boycott by the Cuban delegation, whose seats were conspicuously vacant in the crowded chamber.

The President made no specific mention of Gromyko's proposal for an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament in 1964, but he laid heavy stress on continuing arms negotiations. He cautiously followed his reference to "a pause in the cold war" by a reminder that this is not a lasting peace.

The public was excluded from the galleries for security reasons, but the seats were packed with spectators—including members of the U.N. diplomatic missions and U.S. staff personnel.

In a major foreign policy pronouncement before the United Nations, Kennedy said the negotiation of a limited nuclear test ban was a top priority. He called for a summit conference on disarmament next year, Kennedy said.

"We must continue to seek agreement, encouraged by yesterday's affirmative response to this proposal, by the Soviet foreign minister, on an arrangement to keep weapons of mass destruction out of outer space."

The proposal to keep nuclear weapons from outer space was first made by Mexico at the disarmament conference in Geneva last June.

With the reference to Gromyko's speech, which also called for a summit conference on disarmament next year, Kennedy said that they will make no territorial claims in space.

Having prepared this backdrop, Kennedy said:

"Why, therefore, should man's first flight to the moon be a matter of national competition? Why should the United States and the Soviet Union, in preparing for such expeditions, become involved in immense duplications of research, construction and expenditure?"

"Surely we should explore whether the scientists and astronauts of our two countries—indeed of all the world—cannot work together in the conquest of space, sending some day in this decade to the moon, not the representatives of a single nation, but the representatives of all humanity."

In his address prepared for delivery to the 18th General Assembly, Kennedy also called for steps toward disarmament and a broader test ban, abolition of racial and religious discrimination everywhere, and new efforts to strengthen the United Nations as an instrument of international cooperation.

Even though Kennedy said this might become a worldwide project he emphasized the "special capacity" of the United States and the Soviet Union and used the term "a joint expedition to the moon."

There was no doubt that he regarded this as a possible avenue of dramatic cooperation between the principal cold war adversaries. But he also stressed that such a step, and others he suggested, "will require on our part full consultation with our allies."

While holding out an olive branch, Kennedy indirectly belabored the Soviet Union for its record in Germany, Cuba, the Congo, the United Nations and elsewhere.

More than 100 persons were shouting slogans when the mounted policemen went into action and herded them away from the U.N. building.

The pickets had ignored orders to return to Hammerskjold Plaza, where they had been demonstrating, and showed back when foot patrolmen pushed against the front ranks of their march.

President Kennedy saw pickets for various causes waving placards as he drove to the United Nations for his address.

Saturday Vote To Decide Assumption, Rate For Tax

Polls open at 8 a.m. Saturday in an election to set a maximum school maintenance tax and to assume bonded indebtedness of annexed areas for the Big Spring Independent School District.

Voting will be at the Gay Hill Elementary School, where O. R. Crow will be presiding judge.

Kennedy-Wagner Split Is Denied

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a possibility for the Democratic senatorial nomination next year, called on President Kennedy today and then denied reports of a rift between them.

The mayor had caused widespread comment by not showing up Thursday night at Idlewild Airport to greet the President on his arrival here to address the United Nations.

Wagner told newsmen the President was surprised at rift reports published in the newspapers.

The mayor, who visited Kennedy at the latter's hotel suite shortly before the President left for the United Nations, said: "When I arrived here, we were friends, we departed as friends, and our relationship is just as warm as ever."

Each part of the district is currently operating under this legal maximum, but the election is required to set it for the altered Big Spring district which survives the annexation.

At present, no part of the district has a tax rate set at this maximum. Of the total tax rate, the former BSISD area has $1.44 on each $100 with assessment on 60 per cent of the valuation. The Gay Hill district has $1.29 of its tax on 20 per cent set for maintenance and the Center Point area has $1.50 on 20 per cent of valuation.

These rates will continue until a uniform rate is set for the district next year regardless of the outcome of this election.

The second proposition for which trustees of the school system seek approval is to authorize the BSISD to assume bonded indebtedness of the annexed areas. This would add a total of $86,205.25 to the existing indebtedness of $3,168,000.

The addition would include $40,000 owed on bonds by the Gay Hill area, $42,600 owed by Center Point school, and $3,605.25 from the Farsan County Line Independent School District. The latter is 2.53 per cent of that district's bonded indebtedness, which goes along with annexation of that proportion of the Farsan district to the local system.

Any resident of the Big Spring district who owns property which has been rendered for taxes is eligible to vote.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale University has firmly shut its gate to segregationist George Wallace, governor of Alabama.

Wallace had accepted an invitation to speak before the Political Union, a student debating society, Nov. 4. The society withdrew the invitation Thursday after Yale's acting president, Kingman Brewster Jr., argued against it.

Brewster, university provost, said in a statement he asked the students to consider the impact the invitation would have on relations between Yale and the city of New Haven and its Negro population. He said he was grateful for the cancellation.

Wallace had no comment.

Sailor Held For Murders

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—An AWOL sailor, wanted in the slayings of his mother and younger brother, was held today for extradition today and was turned over to Bay State authorities.

Except for an occasional half smile, Stanley N. Garfield, 18, showed no emotion while talking to newsmen before his arraignment during the brief Municipal Court session.

Garfield's mother, Ruth, 40, a school teacher, and her younger son, John, 10, were found slain Thursday night — the mother strangled with a nylon stocking and venetian blind cord, the boy suffocated with a pillow.

The father, Robert, 43, was shot through the chest with a 22 caliber rifle bullet. The Polaroid Corp. personnel executive is in critical condition.

Garfield, driving a family station wagon, was captured at a roadblock in South Portland Thursday night. Police said he admitted the slayings and called them the result of "something that has been reaching the boiling point for years."

The youth told newsmen today that what he said to police was just "conjectures," and "I don't have any reason."

Police said Garfield is AWOL from a U.S. Navy base at Port Huron, Calif.

Richard Boone Seriously Hurt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Richard Boone was hospitalized with serious injuries today after his expensive sports roadster struck a parked car, police reported.

Investigating officer E. T. Loftus said Boone's head hit the windshield of his Maserati and his chest broke the steering wheel.

Boone, star of television's "Have Gun, Will Travel" show, then walked two blocks to his home in the suburb of Pacific Palisades and his wife, Claire, called a doctor.

FLOODS SUBSIDE

'Cindy' May Be Rebuilding For Another Blow Off Coast

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Weather Bureau office at Houston said today that 'Cindy' may be forming another storm or hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico or sweeping pushing 8-foot tides before it, hit Texas between Galveston and Beaumont Tuesday.

Then it hung over Southeast Texas for a time, dumping a fraction less than two feet of water on that area.

Late Thursday the barely discernible air movement had moved between Victoria and Corpus Christi and limped on during the night to the area where Texas and Mexico meet at the coast.

"I think just the edge of it is at sea and forming a storm like we had here," said E. A. Farrell, head of the Houston Weather Bureau office.

He said no hurricane or storm eye had yet formed but that it might do so.

The Weather Bureau at Brownsville said another possibility was that the remnants of the storm would die out over Mexico. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said it could not at this time see any signs of Cindy forming into a storm again.

Hurricanes and tropical storms lose strength over land but gain power over the sea.

The Weather Bureau warned of rain and occasional squalls along the coast with wind gusts up to 30 knots. Small craft warnings went up between Port Arthur and Brownsville.

The heavy rains in the Orange-Beaumont-Port Arthur area Tuesday and Wednesday sent 8,000 persons from their homes to shelters, the Red Cross reported. The Red Cross said 3,000 homes suffered some water damage.

In Jefferson County alone, said the Civil Defense Council, damage amounted to $9,228,823.

The heavy overnight rains in the far South Texas area drew blame for the traffic death of Roy Stone, 16, of Pharr.

Meanwhile, a threatened levee at Port Acres in far Southeast Texas appeared secure after two days of efforts to save it with sandbags.

H. R. Longjohn at Disaster Relief headquarters said the water level declined.

About 60 volunteer workers remained in the levee area but no longer added sandbags to the dike.

The high water came from cloudbursts which followed Hurricane Cindy. The hurricane struck the Texas-Louisiana coast Tuesday morning.

Cindy made a gigantic circle over land and was blamed for 5 inches of rain during the night at McAllen—hundreds of miles southwest from this Southeast Texas area.

GETTING READY TO OPEN Holiday Inn Manager is on the job

R. H. Ruden To Manage New Holiday Inn Here

"The response has been terrific," said Ronnie H. Ruden, in-keeper of the new $1 million Holiday Inn now in construction here. The New Yorker Wednesday interviewed a steady stream of applicants for jobs at the new motel which is expected to open at its US 80 East location next month. "We are looking for people who come to work with a smile on their face," Ruden said. "We'll start with about 53 employees and 76 rooms, hoping eventually to expand to 140 rooms; naturally, new employees will be hired as they are needed," Ruden said. "The convention hall or Patio Room will seat between 50 and 150 and will be available for banquets, weddings and dinners. The Sirlon Restaurant and Coffee Shop will have a seating capacity of 100; and we have a cocktail bar and free teletype service," he added.

Holiday Inns of America, Inc. was organized in 1952. Since then, 450 Inns have been added in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. Two new ones come into existence each week. Seventy of the Inns are operated by the parent company and the remainder are franchise owned and operated. Owner of his own carpet company, Ruden first became associated with Holiday Inns at its inception in 1952, supplying carpets and furnishings for new Inns over the country. One of his functions was to assure a smooth opening for new Inns. The 54-year-old executive continued in this capacity until 1960, when he was appointed manager of a Holiday Inn at Florence, Ala. Although he arrived in town only four days ago, Ruden bustles with plans for the Big Spring Holiday Inn. "We'll have a big official opening program about a month after we open the doors. This is to acquaint people with our operation; we want Big Spring people to take an interest in the motel and to use it." The local Inn will be closely associated with Inns at El Dorado, Ark., Bowling Green, Ky., and Kankakee, Ill. Owners of the three out-of-state motels are associated with Leon Bell, part-owner and manager of Holiday Inns are recruited from men already in the organization. Each new manager attends a five-week school in Memphis, Tenn. Ruden said personality counts as much as education in selecting motel managers. "A successful motel manager no longer spends most of his time behind a desk—he must get out and meet people." The Big Spring Motel, as all Holiday Inns, will issue a $5,000 insurance policy against accidental death to every paid registered guest at the Inn. Coverage includes a 12-hour period after guests check out. "Our books are now open for reservations for rooms, conventions, parties, banquets, business meetings and conferences. We are now pushing for an opening on Oct. 15; with the assistance of the Big Spring Employment Service, we are now in the process of hiring personnel. All of us are happy to be here in Big Spring and to become a concrete part in all activities here."

Schoolboys Become Symbol Of Resistance In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The satchel-swinging schoolboy has emerged in South Viet Nam as a symbol of resistance against the authoritarian regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Never before has he been much of a force in his nation's destiny. But this month he scuffled with troops and combat police. DAILY GUIDE—Some further talk and news about the week's news, but now a little more aggressive note creeps in. Today and tomorrow we might be looking for any hidden motives. It is true there could be some suggestion that the charm of the enemy could be a cover for selfish purposes. Some of this week's agreements may have to be changed a little next month, so keep alert for the mistakes or details that might have to be revised.

NOT PERFECT

The churches of Christ in your community are not perfect. We would be the first to admit it. The church in Ephesus was not perfect. The Lord said to it, "I have somewhat against thee" (Rev. 2:4). Yet it was the church of Christ in that city. The church is made up of human beings (which are never perfect); but it has a divine pattern. Its pattern is clearly marked out in the New Testament (Heb. 1:1, 2; I Tim. 3:16, 17, etc.). The pattern is perfect, because it is divine. Men must accept that pattern before they can move on toward perfection, as they are required (Matt. 5:48).

We do not claim perfection; but cannot be content without imperfections. Therefore, we have accepted the Lord's pattern for the church. We are making a studied and prayerful effort to live up to it. We are ready to correct our failures. We invite you to come and help us.

By T. H. Tarnel, preacher, church of Christ, 3002 Highway 86, where you are always welcome. —Advt.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: How about that perfectly good clean and soapy laundry water that most of us who have semi-automatic washing machines let go down the drain?

I put the plug in our wash tub and always wash my favorite articles which have to be done separately. After they are washed, pull the plug. When the rinse water comes out of the machine, rinse them the same way.

I have so many other ways to use these nice suds. Like that pair of new overalls or dungarees which usually fade... put them in the tub and use the plunger. When I bleach something out occasionally, I take a bucket and hold it under that nice, bleached, sudsy water as it comes out of my washing machine hose and I have a wonderful solution to wash the steps and sidewalks.

I also use these suds to put my mops and brooms in. Swish them around and they come out fresh and clean. I save a lot of work time and soap powder.

Dear Heloise: There seems to be a perfect rash of women who have discovered that cornstarch, or cornstarch mixed with water, will remove grease from paper or painted walls. Tell them to try cleaning fluid, (be sure to read caution labels on cleaning fluids... Heloise) rather than water, with the starch and see how much quicker and better it works.

Put a ball of crocheted cotton into a plastic bag and slip a rubber band over the neck of the bag, drawing the yarn through the hole. This keeps the ball from rolling all over the place and the thread clean.

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN
Dear Heloise: Are you aware that you can use unseasoned meat tenderizer on chicken? Yes, you can!

If you've got it, test it yourself! Buy a chicken, cut it in half, put meat tenderizer on one half and leave at least 30 minutes to an hour. Fry both halves of the chicken (this also applies when broiling or baking a chicken) being sure to stick a toothpick in the tenderized half, so that when it is all cooked you can test it. This is especially good when baking in the oven or using a barbecue grill.

The reason I suggest using unseasoned tenderizer is because sometimes the seasoned tenderizer changes the taste of certain items. Read "Joe Blows" instructions! Seasoned tenderizer contains seasonings!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: When ironing huge pieces of linen such as tablecloths, sheets, etc., I get out my card table and place it flat on the floor under the ironing board. Do not unfold the legs. This way all of the clean linen hits the card table. If one really wanted to... and the ironing board is high enough... they could put the card table legs up and set it under the board. However... I find that if it is placed flat on the floor, the cloth I am ironing dries before hitting the card table... thus avoiding more wrinkles.

Another hot hint I found when ironing huge tablecloths was to open two legs of the card table and leave the other two folded up (and put paper on the floor). This makes a "slide" for long tablecloths and sheets to go down and they automatically fold themselves by the time they hit the floor.

Peace Corps Is Topic At Hyperion Meeting

Noting that one third of Peace Corps volunteers are women, Mrs. W. A. Hunt, gave the history of the organization Thursday afternoon at the first fall meeting of the 1963 Hyperion Club. Hostess was Mrs. W. Earl Ezell at her home.

Mrs. Hunt explained the purpose and policies of the Peace Corps and read an evaluation of its work as observed by Richard Deats while he was abroad. Personal glimpses into the training, living conditions and work being done by the corps were given by a guest, Mrs. S. A. McComb, whose daughter, Miss Sammy Sue McComb, is a volunteer serving in Peru. Miss McComb is one of two HJC graduates in the Peace Corps, the other being Billy R. Montgomery of Rose Hill, Va. It was pointed out that junior college graduates are particularly valuable to community development projects.

Mrs. W. T. Barber, president, conducted the business session. She named Mrs. R. W. Currie and Mrs. Clyde Angel to the Life Membership Committee. A contribution of $10 was made to the state hospital Christmas fund, and $10 was given to the high school Bible fund. Members were reminded of the Hyperion Council luncheon to be held Sept. 26 at Big Spring Country Club.

Heading the club this year are Mrs. W. T. Barber, president; Mrs. J. C. Pickle, vice president; Mrs. R. J. Ream, secretary; Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Coffey, corresponding secretary and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, parliamentarian. The tea table, covered with a cutwork linen cloth, featured a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. A guest was Mrs. C. E. Neal.

Miss Hodnett is Wayland Student

Mrs. Jim Hodnett has returned from Lubbock where she and her daughter, Jeninne, visited with Mrs. Hodnett's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Norman. Miss Hodnett registered at Wayland College at Plainview. Her brother, Tom, was registered Saturday at Texas Western College in El Paso.

Meeting Is Preceded By Coffee

A coffee was held preceding the Wednesday meeting of the Oasis Garden Club at the home of Mrs. Paul Kionka. Fourteen members attended, and Mrs. Boone Horne was the cohostess.

The club project, garden therapy at the Special Education School, was outlined by Mrs. Carl South and Mrs. Joe Johnson. The group planned to work each Thursday and to contribute money for the state hospital Christmas party. Also, a contribution will be sent to the state headquarters' maintenance fund.

Mrs. W. T. Taylor presented the constitution and by-laws and discussed club ethics.

P-TA Workshops Are Planned At Board Meeting

Eleven counties were represented by the 19 persons attending the District 16 Parent-Teacher Association's fall board meeting Tuesday in Sterling City.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Chesley McDonald, who received a district past president's pin presented by Mrs. Hollis Puckett, president. Mrs. Puckett represented the board in awarding the pin as a gift of appreciation.

The board will charter a bus to carry district P-TA members to the state convention in San Antonio Nov. 20-22. The bus will leave Big Spring the 19th and return the 22nd.

Following lunch, the meeting resumed to plan the fall workshop scheduled Oct. 3 in Colorado City at the First Methodist Church. All P-TA members in the district are invited to attend the workshop, where the theme will be "Focus on the Family."

A Devotional For The Day

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. (Romans 8:1)

PRAYER: O God, with hearts full of gratitude we praise Thy name for delivering us from our sins, guilt, and fear. We give Thee such thanks as only those can who are new creatures in Christ. In His name we pray.

Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Terms Of Advisability

President Kennedy, addressing some 200 of the nation's leading industrialists and businessmen, urged them to strive more diligently for export trade. He suggested a 10 per cent increase as a goal for next year, pointing out that this would help considerably toward balancing our trade.

For several years we have been spending more abroad (about $2 billion a year) than we have been selling or collecting. Part of this has been due to our commitments in foreign aid, perhaps a greater part in costs of maintaining a military establishment around the world, and part due to a declining percentage of world trade.

The President singled out agriculture as one industry which could increase its export volume. Ten per cent here would boost from $5 billion to $5.5 billion. This could be done if prices are brought to a competitive level. The elimination of subsidies seems a simple solution, but it is not all that simple because agriculture is by no means the only phase of our industrial picture being helped directly or indirectly.

One of the reasons for anguish by the President over the drastic slash in foreign aid is that it will dull our export volume. The reason is simply this: Many of our industries have been selling abroad because the United States has been furnishing the funds with which other countries have been buying our goods. Thus, foreign aid, in a sense, has become a subsidy because much of our industrial output is based on labor and material costs considerably higher than paid by foreign competitors. This has constricted our markets to specialized areas where we have no peer or to those areas where our productive wizardry has kept unit costs down despite rising production costs. If we make any net headway in exports, it will have to be largely on this same basis, and this can't be done if cost pressures continue to increase.

Balance Of Trade

Practically everyone will agree that a tax reduction would be welcome, probably desirable, but not all of us agree upon the terms under which a tax cut would prove advisable.

In a special message to the nation, President Kennedy sought to stir sentiment that will secure passage of the proposed $11 billion tax cut. He has clung largely to the philosophy that a tax cut now would increase economic activity to the point that subsequent tax receipts would wipe out the deficit created by the cut.

That has just enough of a germ of logic to put a frosting on the cake, but the hard fact remains that you still can't have your cake and eat it, too.

It seems to us that tax cutting could be accompanied by reduction in spending, otherwise a cut is not real but a postponement. Under emergency circumstances this would have some justification. In a time of comparative prosperity, we do not face that emergency.

Yes, a substantial tax cut is a delightful thing to contemplate, but let it be a real cut, not one that merely postpones the day of reckoning.

David Lawrence Certain Invitation To Inflation

WASHINGTON — If any large corporation announced that it was going to borrow several billion dollars to give its customers a big reduction in prices, though the business itself had been running in the red for several years, most people would consider such a financial operation a certain forerunner of bankruptcy.

But the United States government is about to borrow $11 billion to give the people a tax reduction at a time when the Treasury is running deeply in the red and there's no prospect of deficits being removed for several years.

A BILL PROVIDING such a tax reduction over the next two years has just been reported to the House of Representatives by the Democratic majority of the Ways and Means Committee. The Republican minority on the committee, however, has issued a lengthy statement contending that prosperity cannot be bought by borrowed money.

President Kennedy presented over national television and radio facilities this week his argument for the passage of the tax bill. The minority, on the other hand, have no such opportunity to give their viewpoint to the same audiences.

The argument on the Democratic side is that the reduction in taxes will stimulate business. The Republicans' answer is that this cannot be done if the deficits continue indefinitely and if the dollar is reduced in purchasing power by inflation.

That is also why this tax cut program is morally wrong.

Quoted in the minority report is the testimony of Dr. Arthur F. Burns, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, who declared that "the danger of inflation and the risk of devaluation of the dollar are being understated these days." He predicted that the public debt might increase by an additional $75 billion by fiscal 1972.

THE MINORITY report says that, the bill increases the need for additional deficit financing at the very time when the financing of existing deficits presents a major problem.

The minority report of the House Committee asserts that the tax burden is excessive and that steeply progressive rates should be reduced, but argues that "tax reduction should be accompanied by a reduction, and not an increase, in the level of government expenditures." The report adds:

"In 1954, the Eisenhower administration made a concentrated effort to reduce government spending. This enabled the Republicans to reduce taxes by $7.4 billion, $5.6 billion of which went directly to individuals. . . . This remarkable reduction of $9.7 billion in the level of government spending made possible the largest tax reduction in any single year in the history of our country. The 1964 tax reduction was followed by budget surpluses for fiscal 1956 and 1957.

SEVERAL FISCAL experts, including a former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and a former director of the budget, have testified that inflation is a certainty if the deficits keep up.

The House Ways and Means Committee minority report says:

"As of June 30, 1963, the Kennedy Administration had already added $19.8 billion to the public debt, and now proposes a program of tax reduction coupled with increased expenditures which will add at least another $50 billion to the debt, and with no plans of reducing or paying off these additions to the debt at any time. Not only is this morally wrong; it is a fraud.

BY CONTINUING to spend and borrow, and through tax reduction to avoid our responsibility to pay our bills, we will pass on to our children an unbearable burden of public debt. Repudiation may be the only course open to them. The ever-increasing public debt places in jeopardy the savings of the American people, their life insurance, and their expectations for pensions and old-age security.

"IN CONTRAST with the fiscal policy of the Republican's tax reduction programs, the Kennedy administration proposes tax reduction of $11 billion in the face of a $9 billion deficit, and planned increases in expenditures of at least $3 billion, and more likely $5 billion, per year thereafter."

The entire argument of the administration is based upon the theory that business will be stimulated by increased consumer spending as a result of the tax cut, that this will mean higher tax receipts, and that, though the increased revenue will not be enough to balance the budget, it will help to decrease, if not eliminate, deficits, saying that consumer spending resists inevitable price increases.

Billy Graham

I know it is wrong but I have fallen in love with a married man. How can I overcome this situation? L. E.

Since true love is based on respect, I'm afraid you have confused lust with love. There is a difference between animal magnetism and true love. The one is on the earthly, beastly plane, and the other is on a high, transcendent plane, akin to the heavenly. Lust is always pursued against one's best judgment and conscience, and can bring nothing but guilt and remorse.

You ask how you can overcome this situation? Since two parties are always involved in a clandestine relationship such as you describe, I suggest that you begin with yourself. Since you obviously still have some conscience in this matter, it is apparent that there is still hope. If you are really sincere in wanting to set your life right, begin by breaking off with this person immediately. True repentance always involves turning from wrong. The Bible says: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and let him return unto the Lord. . . . and he will abundantly pardon." You are not the first to err, and God is holding an abundant pardon for all who show evidence of truly desiring to do right.

Second, employ the will that you used to do wrong in doing right. God has given you the gift of choice. Up to now, you have willed to do wrong. Now, you must will, with God's Grace, to do right. I'm sure with God's help your life can be changed.

'CAN'T SEE ANYTHING BETTER AT THE MOMENT'

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country has spent over $500 billion on defense since the war but year after year the outcome of disarmament talks with Russia could be predicted by a child: Nothing.

President Kennedy, who had watched those fruitless and expensive years go by, finally said on Jan. 11, 1962:

"This nation has the will and the faith to make a supreme effort to break the logjam on disarmament and nuclear tests, and we will persist until we prevail, until the rule of law has replaced the ever dangerous use of force."

Premier Khrushchev followed this up Feb. 7, 1962 with a letter to Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan, proposing that the heads of 18 nations have a summit meeting to start off the 1962 disarmament talks.

KENNEDY and Macmillan turned him down. Kennedy didn't close out the idea of such a summit altogether. He just said he didn't think it worthwhile until there had been some progress in disarmament talks on a lower level.

So there was no summit meeting but representatives of 17 nations—France would take no part—met on and off during the year at Geneva to discuss disarmament. And the result was the same as in all the years before.

A ban on nuclear tests would be the sensible first point in any agreement on disarmament but the United States and Russia gaged on how to achieve that much accord. So everything broke down on that.

James Marlow

Years Of Disarmament Talk Produces Nil

While the two nations might be able to agree on banning tests in the atmosphere, outer space and underwater, since they had instruments to check cheating in those regions, they got stuck on how to ban underground tests.

FOR THIS the United States wanted an inspection system. The Russians said inspection was spying. Even early in 1963 Kennedy was doubtful there could be any agreement on a test ban. Yet by midsummer of 1963 agreement was reached.

It was done by compromise. All tests would be banned except underground. This was the most important single agreement between the United States and Russia since the war.

THE KENNEDY administration considered it a possible first step toward even broader settlements. But there is a point here which may have real significance for the future if there is ever to be agreement on disarmament.

The nuclear test ban agreement was achieved in a British-American-Russian meeting in Moscow, not at the Geneva conference of 18 nations.

Then Thursday in the United Nations in New York, one day before Kennedy was to address the organization, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko repeated the 1962 Khrushchev proposal which Kennedy had rejected.

He suggested an 18-nation summit meeting before next June 30 to discuss disarmament.

IT MIGHT seem now Kennedy would be more responsive to the idea of a summit on disarmament than he was early in 1962 when he said that before there was a summit there had to be progress. The test ban since then was progress.

But, while the ban can be considered a big advance in American-Soviet relations, what has happened in this country over that agreement chills any hope for a general disarmament agreement for a long time.

It revealed a deep, perhaps in some people a pathological, suspicion of Russian intentions.

Looking Back Down The Road

NEW YORK (AP)—The farther you travel in life the less you look forward to where you're going, and the more you like to stop and look back down the road you came along.

This is the pause that refreshes, the pause when the present fades and memory takes over.

You may be bodily old, but you're still young in heart if you can remember when—

Every little girl with golden hair and a dimple took tap dancing lessons in hopes she'd become another Shirley Temple.

Any fellow was thought to have a cushy job if he worked only half a day on Saturdays.

The only people who got pensions were the widows of Civil War veterans and those who'd been on a government or railroad payroll.

The local grocery store kept both peanut butter and lard in large tins, and sold them to you in small wooden trays wrapped in tissue paper.

You could drop a quarter in the church collection plate on Sunday for two hours, he had a poor chance of being elected.

Irritants Can Cause Nasal Drip

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes nasal drip? Why does it sometimes produce infection? What is the relation, if any, to spastic colitis?—E. H. W.

I presume you mean forward through the nose, not into the back of the throat, in which case it is "post-nasal drip."

An irritant (an allergy, a sensitivity to fumes, possibly excessive smoking) is a likely cause. Or there may be some obstruction of the upper nasal passages due to deviated septum, polyps or other factors preventing normal nasal drainage into the throat.

The probable connection between the drip and infection of the nose would merely be irritation of the membranes making them more vulnerable to such transient germs as may be present.

If the spastic colon is a result of allergy (as may sometimes be the case) then there might be a relation between the nasal drip and the spasticity. Otherwise, there's no connection.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does reducing the bust? I have read that in England a very simple operation is performed for this.—MRS. H. L.

It is also being performed in the United States, but it is not as simple as you make it sound.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can pneumonia develop from a cold? If so, how can a person avoid it?—D. J.

Yes, there are many kinds of colds and various kinds of pneumonia. Lung infection (pneumonia) is shown by X-rays rather frequently in people who have "colds." Respect a severe cold, especially if there is fever and a cough, rest in bed for a day or so. This can shorten the cold and help prevent involving the lungs.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does a person's system need to keep mosquito bites from being so poisonous? I love the outdoors, but my ankle or elbow will swell up so tight as result of a bite it seems as though the skin might break. Would the suction cup of a snakebite kit help?—B. B.

Some people are unusually sensitive to the toxin of a mosquito bite, in people who have a weak ammonia solution.

However, repellents probably are the best answer. Some can be used on clothing, while others are applied directly to the skin.

NOTE TO L. A.: Yes, both alcohol and overweight are well-known factors in reducing sexual activity.

"Don't Quit Because Of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim For Every Rose, A Thorn

For every person compelled to create, another exists to destroy.

This reality was impressed upon me recently during a visit to Cole Park in Midland. The park proper was laid out thoughtfully. Other careful planning wages a continuous campaign to wrest from the public the benefit of that planning.

ANIMALS AND BIRDS were obtained, probably at great expense, to fill the cages and fenced areas of a small zoo. Someone came almost on the heels of those who brought the animals and tossed poison into the pens. The animal population is now cut drastically and many pens and cages are vacant, or almost so.

"We lost so many animals that we had to forbid any feeding of the animals," the caretaker said. This pleasant pastime for children at a zoo was formerly allowed, but investigators found that it was also the way in which the animals were given the poison.

"EVEN BY WATCHING carefully we cannot keep it from happening," he added sadly.

Coin-operated drink and food machines were maintained on the park premises and the machines still stand, but no one uses them. On most of them the coin slots have been twisted out of shape by persons trying to cheat the machines or steal from them. Most of them will not even accept a coin; the others will take a coin without delivering food or beverage.

DESPITE THE handicap of being located three miles out in the country and adjacent to the city's dump grounds, the park is well attended. Except when the wind is from the southwest, visitors can enjoy the taste of a burnt hamburger or frankfurter without the added aroma of burning garbage.

On favorable days the park is a refreshing place to spend an evening with the kids and a barbecue pit. Playground equipment and friendly squirrels keep the youngsters busy and except for a few barren places, the well-watered grounds are luxuriously green. It is an oasis where there are few. Would that everyone else viewed it as such.

ONE NEED NOT stray far from home to see the same desire to destroy at Big Spring's State Park atop scenic Mountain is another example, although it has far less to recommend it than Cole Park. Only a few pieces of usable property remained, yet two years ago vandals so badly damaged them that the park was closed at dusk. The roads and buildings had been constructed to last a thousand years; dynamite used up those years in seconds.

Although there is little to view on the mountain, the view from it is magnificent. It should be enjoyed at sunset, without the need to cast a wary eye at the caretaker who stands patiently at the gate for the last visitor to come down the winding road so that he can close up for the evening.

SCENIC MOUNTAIN is always an important stop on the agenda whenever I have occasion to show a relative or visiting friend about the city. It offers an excellent view of the city, strung out on three sides, and red squares of cultivated land stretching for miles to the north.

"I wish you could see it at night. It is even more beautiful then," I always say.

Then I always have to explain why they can't see it at night.

In Behalf Of Pedestrians

There's no use pretending that I am one of those persons who feels impelled to put an oxygen tank on his back and spikes on his shoes to climb Mount Everest "just because it's there."

Oh, I've had my share of ambitions. But I've never wanted to climb the Empire State Building just because it, too, "is there." Neither it nor the Chrysler Building nor any of the other "topless towers of Illum" in New York.

HOWEVER, to be forewarned is to be forearmed, and I have been out scouting the New York market for spikes, ropes and whatever else is needed in the kit of The Compleat Climber. (In the local market Sherpas are in short supply.) It is only a matter of time until I shall be going up the side of the Empire State, not because it is there but because I am and I shall be climbing not for fun or glory, but for my life.

As it must come to all pedestrians sooner or later, we in New York have been declared a nuisance. We are an expendable because we use the sidewalks. The sidewalks are a waste because they take up valuable space that could and should be used by motorized man. The machine, as automation is rapidly teaching the nation, takes precedence over man.

SO, IN NEW YORK, the city's imported traffic expert, Henry Barnes, proposes to narrow the sidewalks, to cut the sidewalks and pedestrians down to size. Barnes will provide more space for Detroit's machines. Pedestrians must go, and in the only direction left: them. Our backs are now to the wall; soon we shall be scrambling up it.

As conditions now prevail in New York City, with the sidewalks of regulation width, even a man from Mars could spot the pedestrian without any trouble. He—the pedestrian—is that frightened, trembling wretch hugging the building line, his lips moving in silent prayer that power-maddened drivers will not pursue him across the sidewalk and smear him against the bricks.

ONCE THE sidewalks are whittled down to mere footpaths, the nearer to Barnes' heart's desire, the pedestrian will have no place to go but up up up the wall, hoping for a window through which he can climb to safety or an embrasure in which he can seek safety. It'll be a great day for cat burglars only.

Why is it that great cities are always hiring experts in traffic to straighten out motor problems? Why doesn't some metropolis show the same loving care for pedestrians? Why doesn't some cosmopolitan hire an expert on people, their care, feeding and preservation on the crosswalks?

WHAT'S THE matter with taking a bit of the right-of-way and adding it to the sidewalks for the safety and convenience of human beings?

There is only one city in the world with which I am acquainted that loves its pedestrians and tries to preserve them. That humanitarian metropolis is Vienna. To other tourists it may be famous for its waltzes, pastry, woods, opera and Ringstrasse. But it is forever enshrined in my heart as the city that has built marvelous underground passages, with escalators leading up and down, where pedestrians can cross the city's main thoroughfares without danger of instant death.

VIENNA BELIEVES that man is at least as important and worthy of preservation as the machine.

On the other hand, in New York man must soon be an Alpinist to survive. I am already taking a correspondence course from Sir Edmund P. Hillary.

Lobby Against The Test Ban

WASHINGTON — "In the councils of government we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist.

"We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals so that security and liberty may prosper together."

THE WORDS spoken by General Eisenhower in his farewell address might well have been emblazoned on the wall of the Senate chamber in the test-ban treaty debate. And no more striking instance of what the former President was talking about could be imagined than the effort of the Air Force Association to sway that debate.

The council of the association, which is a tight interlocking directorate of the highest officers in the Air Force and the aircraft industry, worked up an emotionally worded resolution denouncing the test-ban treaty. It was introduced at the start of the association's meeting here last week with no doubt whatsoever of its adoption.

EITHER DIRECTLY or by implication the resolution made a number of statements highly dubious as to fact. Underlying a plea for the manned bomber was the theme that with more and more weapons communism could be made to fold up and go away. The strong intimation was that the treaty would stand in the way of victory by air power.

UNDERSTANDABLY, the resolution set off an uproar in the Pentagon where Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara has been a prime target of the Air Force. One result was that Secretary for Air Eugene M. Zuckert abruptly cancelled a previous acceptance to attend an association reception in his honor with a letter denouncing the resolution in strong terms. Since the Secretary has customarily been a member in good standing of the di-

Shorthorns To Meet Snyder 11 Saturday

Head coach Don Robbins and his Big Spring "B" team still seeking victory number one in the still young 1963 grid campaign, open the home season Saturday night with a 7:30 encounter against the visiting Snyder "B" team at Memorial Stadium.

The Shorthorns will go into the game with practically no pre-game information on the invading Tigers. The Big Springers opened their season last Saturday night, also with no information, and lost to the San Angelo Junior Varsity, 12-6.

Considering that none of the boys on the squad went through spring drills, Robbins is happy with early results. At the annual barbecue preceding the first Steer game Robbins predicted that if takes so they're cautious and a little bit slow but they'll come out of that as the season progresses.

"Their enthusiasm has been tremendous and they've got so much desire and hustle that they're hitting exceptionally hard. Of course, so far as that they're not quite sure of all their assignments, yet. They don't want to make any mistakes so they're cautious and a little bit slow but they'll come out of that as the season progresses."

"We've shuffled a few boys around in the last couple of days which seems to have strengthened us offensively. Our two punters—Bobby Griffin and Greg Pate—have been doing us a good job."

The first and second teams offensively are quick end, Tony Saracho and Bobby Baker, quick tackle, Mike Carey and Roy Rauchman, quick guard, Gary Phillips and Ruben Martinez, center, Ronnie Dale Smith and Eddie Crittenden, strong guard, Ronnie Caldwell and Bobby Kerrell, strong tackle, Freddy Stiehl and Troy Hooser, strong end, Wayne Nail and Juan Williams.

The backfield offensively will show Van Tom Whalley and Berry King, quarterback; Rey Navarrete and Terry Smith fullback; Bobby Griffin and Gary Farhart, halfback; and Joe Jaure and Danny Kirby, wingback.

Defensively the first and second teams will show these boys: right tackle, Wayne Nail and Eddie Crittenden; right linebacker, Ronnie Caldwell and Ruben Martinez; right guard, Freddy Stiehl and Mike Carey; middle linebacker, Ronnie Smith and Terry Smith; left guard, Teddy Dietz and Troy Hooser; left linebacker, Rey Navarrete and Gary Phillips; left tackle, Mel Daves and Roy Baughman; left halfback, Bobby Griffin and Sam Mims; right halfback, Danny Kirby and Van Tom Whalley; safety, Joe Jaure and Greg Pate; and rover, Tony Saracho and Berry King.

Tulane Tacklers
Center David McWilliams (50) and fullback Ernie Koy (23) will be two of Texas University's starters tonight against Tulane in New Orleans. Koy has good reason to remember last year's 35-8 win—he returned a Green Wave punt 66 yards for a touchdown, the Longhorns' longest scoring play of their undefeated (9-0-1) regular season. Tulane had a 0-10 season. (AP Wirephoto).

Packers, Lions Meet In NFL Headliner

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The game that the Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers have been waiting for since last Thanksgiving Day will be played Sunday at Milwaukee in the top pro football game of the weekend.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle's schedule calls for the defending National Football League champions to face the Chicago Bears, Detroit and Baltimore on the first three weeks of the season. Already beaten by the Bears, Coach Vince Lombardi needs no pep talk to whip up his Packers for their date with the Lions.

It is the feeling here that Green Bay will respond to the challenge and turn back Detroit in another grind it out effort.

Here's the way the weekend schedule looks from here: (All Sunday unless otherwise noted)

NATIONAL LEAGUE
 Green Bay 13, Detroit 7—Lombardi may have a surprise for the Lions in this bitter battle of two top defensive units. The field goal should win again for the Packers just as it did in their first meeting last year.

Three Games Are Carded This Evening

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The grand old custom of opening with a breather has long since been discarded, with the result that a number of college football teams may have their seasons wrecked this weekend before autumn even dawns officially.

The first full week of the season has some tough scrapes scheduled, three of them tonight.

Then on Saturday, nine of the 11 teams in the AP's pre-season big ten—there was a tie for the last spot—get under way. There will be some shattered dreams by midnight. And fall doesn't even start officially until Monday.

UCLA and Pitt are on the Friday night slate, with Pitt favored and UCLA upset-minded. The Panthers have Fred Mazurek at quarterback plus a team that UCLA Coach Bill Barnes says may be "the best we'll face"—and the Bruins have Penn State, Notre Dame and Southern California ahead.

PAT WASHBURN'S Sports Round Table

DON HUTSON with a football was like a greased pig at a county fair. He was fast, incredibly fast. As a slim, lightweight all-American end for Alabama's Crimson Tide and later an all-pro choice with Green Bay he earned the reputation with the experts of being the finest pass-catching end to ever step on a gridiron.

"Don Hutson was the most deceptive pass receiver I have ever seen." That's how Harold (Red) Drew, former Alabama coach, rated him. "When I first set eyes on him, Don looked like anything but a football lineman."

"He was so tall and thin that the football staff wasn't much interested in him—until we watched him come in first in wind sprints one day without even appearing to be running at top speed. He ate up distance with his deceptively slow stride. This characteristic, plus his sense of timing, made him one of the greatest ends ever."

"Throughout his college career, Don's weight never topped 175 pounds and some of his lackadaisical movements suggested the last stages of exhaustion. Actually, he was pacing himself expertly to get the most out of his lanky, durable body."

DON HUTSON

ED CHERRY, one of Big Spring's former pro performers, played against Hutson four times as a guard and linebacker. Ed sums him up by calling his "poison when he took off with the ball." And all because of a certain 12 seconds it took to run one 1938 football play, Ed will never forget Hutson.

To hear Ed tell this story it sounds like something from the dark, smoky recesses of a tavern or even a pool hall. But it's all true and it's one of Ed's outstanding moments on the pro football gridiron.

In a popular football cigarette TV commercial last fall Don Hutson relived a famous moment in his career as a film showed him making a 90-yard touchdown on a short pass over the line. That was't too unusual in itself but that run was against the Chicago Cardinals and Cherry was the middle linebacker on defense in the play. Seeing yourself suddenly on TV can prove rather shocking, if not unnerving, and Cherry was no exception. Here's the way he tells it:

"I was backing up the line and we had them down on their two-yard stripe. We had driven all the way down there and then lost the ball when one of our backs fumbled on first down. We went into a defensive huddle and our captain thought that they would try some running plays before they'd throw a pass. It was a logical guess since they were so close of the goal line.

"I got the defensive signal at the line and I was to red-dog over guard—the captain figured if I crashed the line I might catch the fullback just as he took the handoff at the goal line or maybe a little bit behind it. I went through that line after the quarterback was fading back and just as I was half way to him he ripped a pass two yards over the line to Hutson and he was gone for a 90-yard touchdown."

But that isn't the whole story.

"The first time I saw that play on TV I knew exactly what it was—it really shocked me. I was running around the house trying to think of some way to get them to run it again. They ran it again later in the program and I tried to look and find where I was. I didn't see a damned bit more. They always ran it so fast that I never could spot my number—I never could find myself in the play and I know I was there."

"They always started the film at the moment the quarterback took the ball and he threw it in just one or two seconds and then the rest of the play showed Hutson running for the TD. I never had time to find myself but I know I was there somewhere. An outstanding moment like that you just never forget."

SWC Squads Hit Gridiron Trail

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference hits the football trail this week with the top-rated teams—Texas and Arkansas—figuring in opening games.

Texas, the defending champion, plays the first one. The Longhorns clash with long-time rival Tulane at New Orleans tonight. The Greenies will be putting an 11-game losing streak on the line with little hope of changing the trend.

Four conference members play Saturday night with Texas Christian mixing in the big one. The Horned Frogs, wondering if the quarterback situation will work out but experience-deep at all other positions, tackle Kansas at Fort Worth.

Arkansas meets Oklahoma State at Little Rock, protecting a six-game winning streak over the Cowboys. Oklahoma State throws a sophomore-studded squad at the Razorbacks, who have the most lettermen in Frank Broyles' tenure—28.

More than 190,000 are expected to see the five openers, with the biggest turnout at Baton Rouge where 67,500 will jam the stadium. Arkansas looks for 41,000 at Little Rock while Texas Tech-Washington State and Texas-Tulane each expect 30,000 and 25,000 should be on hand at Fort Worth.

Baylor, Rice and Southern Methodist, the other conference members, wait until next week to start the campaign.

The first go-round: Texas-Tulane—Texas 27, Tulane 7
Texas Tech-Washington State—a close decision for Washington State.
Arkansas-Oklahoma State — Arkansas 34, Oklahoma State 13
Texas A&M-Louisiana State — A weak vote for the Aggies, say 14-7.

Runnels Loses By 22-16 Tab

SNYDER — Snyder Lamar's eighth grade team came away with a victory before the home town fans Thursday night as they amassed a 22-0 lead and then held on to win 22-16 in a game that saw two Runnels touchdowns in the last three minutes.

The first Big Spring score was set up on a pass from quarterback Junior Mendoza to left halfback Mike Gartman, good for 40 yards to the Snyder 6-yard line. Fullback Lonnie Clanton went in for the six points on the first down attempt. Gartman scored two points on the try for extra point.

On the last play of the game Mendoza again found the hand with Gartman on a pass-play that covered 55 yards for the TD. Clanton ran in the extra points to end the night's scoring.

Lamar scored twice in the first four minutes of the game to take what proved to be an insurmountable lead.

The first touchdown came on a 10-yard run that capped off a 60-yard drive in five plays. Minutes later Runnels passed on third down and Lamar intercepted for a neat 40-yard runback and another six points.

Bihl Leading Ball Luggers

Jimmy Bihl of San Angelo emerged as District 2-AAAA's top ground gainer after the first week of play, with 115 yards net pickup in 18 carries for a 6.4 average.

Three players within the circuit each gained more than 100 yards carrying the ball. They were San Angelo's Buddy Rich, who raced for 108 paces in 19 carries, and Billy Parks of Odessa High, who sped for 102 yards in 17 luges.

Odessa's Sidney Robins had the best average among the ball carriers. In eight attempts last week, his average gain amounted to 8.2 yards.

Stanton To Host Coahoma Tonight

STANTON — Stanton's home folks get their first chance to watch a Bill Milam-coached team in action tonight when the Bulldogs challenge the Coahoma Bulldogs in an 8 o'clock game.

The Bulldogs played Merkel, which is in Coahoma's same district, in a scoreless tie in their opening game two weeks ago. They were idle last week.

Coahoma opened with an impressive 34-0 victory over hapless Hermiech but last week was humbled by upstart Rankin, 31-14.

Fourth Down Play Upeuds Runnels Yearlings, 14-8

The Runnels ninth grade Yearlings appeared to have the game won Thursday night in the old stadium against Snyder Lamar as they held an 8-6 lead with only four minutes remaining on the clock but a razzle-dazzle fourth down play proved their undoing and Snyder came out with a 14-8 victory.

With a fourth down and 14 situation on the Runnels 35, Snyder ran a double reverse that sucked in the halfbacks and then tossed a goal line pass that was caught easily for the decisive TD. The two point conversion was good.

An earlier Snyder score had come in the second quarter on a six-yard pass play that had capped off a 60-yard drive.

Runnels went ahead on the first offensive play of the night as Ronnie Anderson went over tackle on a routine dive play and crossed the goal line 60 yards later for a 6-0 lead. The two point conversion was good.

"We didn't want to win bad enough," head coach Dan Lewis said Friday. "We were on defense ninety per cent of the time."

Lewis had praise after the game for Frankie Fierro, an offensive guard and defensive linebacker.

"He wanted to win real bad," Lewis said. "In fact, I feel he was the only one who felt that way."

Runnels Yearlings seventh grade found the Coahoma Bulldogs defense too stout Thursday afternoon at the old stadium as the visiting Coahomans left with a decisive 12-0 victory.

Chuck Perigo, a fullback, was all the visitors needed as he ripped off touchdown runs of 60 and 70 yards in the first half to wrap up all the scoring and the game.

The Runnels offense threatened only once moving the ball in within inches of the goal line on a desperation fourth down attempt but the ball went over on downs.

This was the Bullpups second victory of the season.

Goliad Mavericks Lose To Snyder

SNYDER — Snyder Lamar walked away with an easy victory Thursday afternoon as they ran over a visiting Goliad seventh grade team, 40-14.

The game was never in doubt by half time as Lamar was leading 20-0.

The first Goliad touchdown came in the third period as Kyle McAlister went over the goal line from five yards out. McAlister's run was set up by a 20-yard pass from Ford Farris to John Waggoner. Jim Wilson scored the extra two points.

Coahoma Bullpups Win Over Runnels

The Runnels Yearlings seventh grade found the Coahoma Bullpups defense too stout Thursday afternoon at the old stadium as the visiting Coahomans left with a decisive 12-0 victory.

Chuck Perigo, a fullback, was all the visitors needed as he ripped off touchdown runs of 60 and 70 yards in the first half to wrap up all the scoring and the game.

Natural Gas Booms In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Until now, if the United States runs out of gas, no end to the growth of the natural gas business—a dramatic chapter in the nation's industrial history—appears in sight.

When oil producers started harnessing the gas that blew out of wells drilled for oil, a big new industry was born. Some wells had been drilled mainly for gas but it wasn't until oil operators started capturing the gas from their wells, instead of letting it go to waste, that the natural gas industry really got going. Many wells now are sunk for gas alone.

New highs for natural gas production and consumption were set again in 1962, the Bureau of Mines reports. The story has been the same for every year since World War II.

1962 RECORD

The report shows that marketed production in 1962 set a record of 13.87 billion cubic feet, a 5 per cent increase over 1961.

U.S. consumption of natural gas in 1962 reached a new high of 13.89 billion cubic feet. This was 6 per cent above that for the preceding year and, it will be noted, more than the market production of U.S. gas for 1962.

Residential consumption of natural gas in 1962 was estimated at 3.47 billion cubic feet, compared with 3.88 billion feet in 1961.

The report gives these other figures:

—Residential consumption in 1962 was up 7 per cent over 1961. Commercial consumption was 12 per cent higher. Industrial consumption, excluding field use and use of carbon black, was up 3 per cent. Field use includes gas for fuel at natural gas-processing plants.

—Industrial users took the lion's share in 1962—7,078 billion cubic feet of the 13,890 billion total consumption.

IMPORT TOTALS

—Imports from Canada provided 350,430 million cubic feet of gas in 1962 for U.S. consumption. This figure compared with 167,104 million in 1961. Imports from Mexico totaled 51,096 million in 1962.

—The United States exported 15,814 million feet in 1962.

—Texas led the nation in marketed production of gas last year with 6,080 million cubic feet and also in consumption with 3,209 million.

—In second place was Louisiana with marketed production of 3,325 million cubic feet and consumption of 1,907 million. Oklahoma marketed 1,960 million feet and consumed 485.7 million.

—Will the United States ever run out of natural gas?

NEW RESERVES

One answer is that discovery of new reserves has not kept pace with the tremendous increase in production and consumption. The current level of production is about three times what it was in 1945 but proved reserves have been increased by only 80 per cent in the same period.

Another answer comes in two parts: (1) Discovery of new reserves has ebbed because of rising costs of exploration, but (2) restoration of incentive, in the form of slightly higher prices for gas, will turn up enough additional supplies to meet the nation's demands for years to come.

Oil Legal Panel Set

HOUSTON (AP)—A committee of legal experts have been appointed by Gov. John Connally to assist in a broad study of efficiency and effectiveness in oil operations and conservation.

The Houston Post said Thursday night the nine-member committee is headed by Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon, former chief justice of the state Appellate Court at El Paso.

Other members are Harry Dupel of Houston and Continental Oil Co.; John Sutton Jr., professor of the University of Texas Law School; Charles Wallace of Dallas and Mobil Oil Co.; Robert McGinnis, Austin; Avery Rush Jr. of Amarillo and the Shamrock Oil Corp.; Robert Harwick Sr. of Fort Worth; F. H. Pannill, Midland; and Fred Young, Austin, Railroad Commission lawyer.

Proposal Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston to take into its pipeline system natural gas purchased "in place" from four offshore Louisiana producers has been rejected by the Power Commission.

Contented Quints Ignore Adult Fuss

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—The Fischer quintuplets lay contented and healthy in their special incubators today, not knowing or caring about all the fuss they are creating outside the glass wall of the nursery.

Authorities at St. Luke's Hospital reported the four girls and a boy doing splendidly as they complete their first week of life.

Their feeding steadily increasing in amount, the famous babies now are receiving about two teaspoonsful of artificial milk formula and sterile water every two hours.

James Andrew, the only male of the five born early last Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, continued the most active and eats more than his tiny sisters—Mary, Margaret, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catherine and Mary Ann.

Mrs. Fischer will leave the hospital Saturday or Sunday, said Dr. James Berbos, the family physician, who delivered the quintuplets.

Dr. Berbos also revealed the quantities of artificial milk formula being fed the infants every two hours.

James Andrew gets 11 cubic centimeters of the formula and his sister, Mary Margaret, the last delivered, 9 cc. Mary Magdalene and Mary Catherine, who came second and third, receive 8 cc and Mary Ann first of the five born, 7 cc.

Each of the five gets 1 cc of water after the feeding to clear the plastic pipes into their stomachs.

Two Aberdeen architects who volunteered their free services in designing a new home for the Fischers, Clarence Herges and John Kirchgasser, said the house will require at least half a block of land to contain a building which would include living quarters, study, office space, public reception area and other facilities.

Officials of the local Chamber of Commerce are willing to spend up to $100,000 for the dwelling.

The architects admitted they also must keep in mind that the red-haired Mrs. Fischer is only 30—and could have still more children.

The babies' 80-year-old great-grandmother, Mary Schroeder of Lincoln, Neb. and her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Brady of Hecla, S.D., visited the quintuplets and their mother Thursday.

Asked if she had seen the quintuplets, Mrs. Schroeder said: "Yes, and I can't wait to cuddle those babies in my arms."

Asked about the babies' appearance, the maternal great-grandmother said they "look like all babies."

DEAR ABBY

Keep Your Mouth Shut

DEAR ABBY: I told a friend that I had heard mind you, I did not say I KNEW only that I had HEARD that a woman we both know was divorcing her husband because of a woman who works for him. Well it turned out there wasn't any truth in it. Now the husband of this woman called up MY husband and asked him to put a muzzle on me! My husband says I should call up this woman and apologize to her. I say the husband ought to call ME up and apologize. What do you say?

TALKS TOO MUCH

DEAR TALKS: I say, leave bad enough alone. And in the future, remember, one pays through the nose for what comes out of the mouth.

DEAR ABBY: Saturday is the only day I can shop without the kids because my husband babysits. My problem is a neighbor woman who comes over to drink with him the whole time I'm gone. When I get home they are half-laden, the house is a mess, and the kids are running wild. How can I tell my neighbor that proper women do not visit married men while their wives are away without hurting her? ROANOKE

DEAR ROANOKE: Hurting her? Forget it—she's feeling no pain. Besides, she knows how proper women should behave, but she isn't having any of it. Your husband is the one who needs to be told.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago you have a letter in your column from a teen-age girl who was hired by a Mrs. Smith to look after her children. The girl complained that MR. Smith kept trying to get her in a corner and kiss her. She wanted to quit but she needed the money she was earning for school clothes and she didn't know what to do. Your advice was good, incidentally. You told the girl to quit, and to tell MRS. Smith why she was quitting so MR. Smith would not pull the same stunt with the next girl.

But Abby, as a member of SPUNSPH I must protest. SPUNSPH is The Society for the Prevention of the Use of the Name Smith for Purposes of Hypothetical Illustration. Won't you please respect our society and refrain from using the time-honored name of SMITH in this way?

C. BRIDGEFORD SMITH
DEAR MR. SMITH: My apologies to you and to all the SMITHS whose time-honored name was used to provide anonymity for a scoundrel whose name was anything but Smith.

Foreman Attacks JFK's 'Deception' On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., has strongly attacked President Kennedy's tax appeal.

Foreman said the President's speech was "artful, cunning and contained the customary deceptions which have characterized his relations with the American people."

He said the President "unveiled a remarkable theory" in claiming that the 166,000 new federal workers he has added to the payroll actually represented a decrease on the grounds there are fewer per 1,000 population than in the past.

"Since when do we have to have so many government shepherds per thousand for the American public?"

"The taxpayers are being shorn like sheep to pay for the shepherding of the administration, but he was unaware that Census Bureau figures prescribed an automatic increase in bureaucracy."

"This slick argument is a shabby attempt to make it appear that the Kennedy high water mark of a $15 billion federal payroll is somehow a saving to the taxpayer. It is a blatant, flagrant waste, payroll padding, proliferation of bureaucratic duplication and a burden to the taxpayers."

Declarer's faulty technique in today's hand presented West with an opportunity he was quick to seize. With one quick thrust he completely disorganized his opponent's attack by severing the latter's line of communications.
When West's opening bid of one spade was passed around to him, South naturally chose to reopen with a take-out double inasmuch as he held 19 high card points. North responded with two hearts and South rebid two no trump. Some forward going bid on his part was clearly indicated, and with only three trumps it would not be proper to give a direct raise to a suit which partner may have bid under slight pressure. Holding seven high card points, North proceeded to game in no trump.
West opened the king of spades which was taken by declarer's ace. South played the ace and jack of hearts and West was in with the king. The latter cashed the queen and jack of spades but, when his partner showed out on the third round, South was revealed to have a second stopper in the suit.

West could have routinely established his long card in spades at this point by driving out the ten, but his prospects for regaining the lead with a reasonable degree of dispatch were rather dim. Furthermore North's heart suit was close to becoming established even if East held the heart queen which was by no means indicated. To West, it appeared that the best chance for the defense was to attack the dummy's line of communications before declarer could clear the heart suit.
West shifted to the king of diamonds, and South permitted him to hold the trick, for he did not want the ace dislodged while he retained the blocking queen of hearts in his hand. The queen of diamonds was continued and, since the defensive book was now completed, declarer was obliged to play North's ace. The dummy was now dead and, when the diamond suit did not split, South wound up a trick short of his goal.
Declarer's error came early. Before he starts the hearts, he should clear the ace and king of clubs from his hand. This will disarm the defense no matter how they proceed. When West is in with the king of hearts and shifts to a diamond driving out the ace, South will be in position to cash North's queen of clubs and discard his queen of hearts. This will unsmear the traffic block and permit dummy to pick up East's nine of hearts with the ten and run the remainder of the suit.

Cosden Winning A Firm Place In Plastics

Although it is small in size measured against such industrial giants as Dow and Monsanto, Cosden is rapidly winning a firm place in the world of plastics, Les Beauvis, polystyrene superintendent, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

The amazing development of plastics, particularly polystyrene products since World War II, was outlined by the speaker. He said that the original application of the basic product from which most of the plastics come was the government's development of synthetic rubber in the years of the war.

Cosden's plant has a production capacity of 30,000,000 pounds a year and is running at full speed. The cost of plastics has dwindled almost half in the years since the war due to increased production potentials and to improved methods in manufacture.

Beauvis displayed a number of products made from Cosden plastics including a television receiver cabinet.

Beauvis was presented to the club by Jack Alexander. Alexander said the plastics expert was a graduate of Colorado University School of Chemistry and has been with Cosden four years.

Herald Turtle Race Scheduled Saturday

Saturday is race day for the Herald's route carriers — turtle race, that is.
Dozens of entries are expected to be ready for the competition that will result in prize money for the winners.

The races will begin at 10 a.m. Parents and other interested residents have been invited to join in the fun on the Herald parking lot, Eighth and Gregg. Some 70 Herald carrier-salesmen are expected to have entries in the event.

Prize money of $5, $3 and $2 will be awarded to first, second and third place winners of the city's three carrier districts.

The top three winners in each of the three district races will compete in the finals for prize money of $15, $10 and $5, with the finals to be held immediately following the preliminaries.

Route boys will be allowed one turtle for each two new subscriptions brought in over the past two weeks. Depending on their industry, some boys will have several turtles in the race.

Idea for the race came from Jack Kimbell, circulation manager. He said the turtles will be placed in the center of a circle 50 feet in diameter. The turtle reaching the outer ring of the circle first will be declared the winner. The turtles will be identified by the route numbers of the boys entering them with the numbers to be painted on the backs of the critters.

Man Is Sought In Assault Case

Police Thursday were looking for a man who assaulted a young woman at the L. E. Rose Construction Co. parking lot at 7:35 p.m. Mrs. R. C. Jones, 1203 Wood, mother of the victim, told officers her daughter was struck on the head.

Police, who are checking out leads, said charges will be filed if the assailant is located.

VA Job Held Up By Walkout

Eleven sheet metal workers on the air conditioning project at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital were still off the job shortly before noon.

The men left the job about 9 a.m. Thursday. Spokesmen for the craft and Fred Bell, the contractor, refused to comment on the point at issue. However, rumors are that the controversy arose because installation of ceilings at the hospital is being done by carpenters. The work was done previously by sheet metal workers.

There was no picketing of the location by the men, who waited near their automobiles at the corner of Ryan and Lancaster streets. They are of Local 188. Arbitrator for the men is Lea Carney.

Speaking of CONTACT LENSES

Everyday, more and more people are expressing an interest in wearing contact lenses. If you are interested in wearing them, you'll want to know the following facts about TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses—unsurpassed in technical excellence, yet reasonable in cost. ■ TSO Doctors of Optometry, through their vast experience in fitting more than 35,000 contact lens patients during the past 13 years, are highly skilled in this field. Their knowledge and experience acquired through these fittings have given them great insight for determining the variable optical and physical factors which affect the successful fitting of the individual. ■ TSO contact lenses are made with an exclusive, highly-polished edge bevel. This is most important to adaptation, as well as to continued wearing comfort. In fact, until a short time ago, the edges of most contact lenses were not properly beveled. Under a powerful microscope, they appeared distinctly blunt. In TSO's laboratory, precise edge-beveling, polishing and curve-blending on both sides of every contact lens eliminates this edge bluntness. Thus, adaptation time is reduced and maximum possible wearing comfort is achieved. ■ Only the finest quality optical-grade plastic and highly skilled workmanship go into the making of TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses. And, the TSO standard of quality is consistently maintained throughout processing by eight distinct, precision inspections. ■ If you are considering contact lenses, join the more than 35,000 patients who have been successfully fitted with Micro-Sight Contact Lenses from TSO. ■ Single vision contact lenses are $65, complete with professional eye examination, prescription and fitting. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra charge.

THE HAPPY HEART

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Only from the carefree heart of a child could come such joy. Or could it? Is it necessary to lose childhood's happy laughter? Must we feel depressed and burdened with the yoke of adult cares?

Certainly not! The God-given gifts of joy and happiness are possessions we can and must retain throughout all our years. But how can we keep this wonderful spirit?

Here is a formula that is very simple: attend the church of your choice regularly. In God's house you will learn to accept life's burdens — and soon they will be ever so much lighter. His Peace will fill your heart. Here, in fellowship with others, you will receive the needed peace and understanding to reclaim and sustain the merry heart.

Fifth Anniversary To Be Celebrated

The Grace Baptist Church, 109 Wright, Sunday commemorates a dual anniversary with special morning services.

On that day the church begins its sixth year in the city and the Rev. Roy E. Honea begins his third year as its pastor. For the occasion, Rev. Honea will speak on "What God Hath Wrought." Among special guests that day will be J. C. Walker, Weatherford, who will have charge of the musical program.

The Grace Baptist Church was organized Sept. 11, 1958, with 46 charter members. It originated from the Trinity Baptist Mission, which was sponsored by the Trinity Baptist Church.

From that time the church has had steady growth in membership, which now stands at 312, with about 300 enrolled in Sunday school. To care for the large membership, the church has an air-conditioned auditorium capable of accommodating about 400 persons, and Sunday school facilities to match.

The church has enjoyed almost phenomenal growth during the past two months, Rev. Honea said. A Sunday school enlargement campaign has resulted in a 125 percent increase in attendance. The campaign ends Sunday.

"We invite everyone to be with us for the anniversary service," Rev. Honea said. "After the service, the congregation will go to the City Park for a picnic lunch and fellowship."

Evangelism To Be Taught

Baptist Temple will launch a crusade in personal soul winning Sunday morning at 10:50 a.m. when Gene Edwards begins a week of training in the art of personal soul winning.

Edwards' ministry of evangelism has brought a new dimension to the field. He has held city-wide and associational campaigns on personal evangelism, as well as training schools on soul winning in churches and retreats across America.

His campaigns have had outstanding results. Churches which have applied this program have greatly improved their evangelistic results.

LOVE DOES NOT CHANGE FACE

The unchangeable face of love and, likewise, the indelible stain of guilt, is succinctly shown by the example of Joseph and his treatment of his brothers in this week's International Sunday school lesson.

Even after 18 years had elapsed between Joseph's reunion with his family, his brothers feared that upon Jacob's death Joseph might seek reprisal. But, hatred and vengeance were not in Joseph. In his love for his brethren, as in his life, Joseph seems very much like Jesus Christ.

The unburied purpose of God is also shown in the story from Genesis 50:15-24. Long before the famine struck Egypt, God foresaw it and sent Joseph there to "save much people alive."

Recital Set In Midland

C. Allison Sailey, organist-choirmaster of the First Presbyterian Church in Midland will play a recital in that church sanctuary, 800 West Texas Avenue, Sunday at 4 p.m. The public is invited.

Sailey holds a bachelor of music degree from Northeast Louisiana State College and studied three years in New York with Ernest White and Walter Baker. He was the 1955 Southwest winner in the national Federation of Music Clubs organ contest and has been much in demand for concert appearances.

Church Members Attend Meetings

WESTBROOK (S.C.)—The Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Jackson and Mrs. Leroy Gressett attended a seminar on Christian Social Relations at the First Methodist Church in Sweetwater, Tuesday.

Monday, the annual meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry Association held in Colorado City, was attended by the Rev. S. L. Yelding, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barber, Mrs. Charles Ranne, Mrs. Hoyt Roberts and Mrs. Norman McMahan.

Missions Grow

WASHINGTON (D.C.)—The Roman Catholic Mission Secretariat reports that 553 additional missionaries have left for overseas posts in the past year, bringing to more than 7,000 the number of Catholic priests and lay missionaries serving abroad.

Jewish Observe Yom Kippur

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, will be observed by members of the Jewish Faith in special services Saturday and Sunday evening, Sept. 27-28 at Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

The Day of Atonement falls on the 10th day of Tishri, the first month in the Jewish calendar, and is observed as a solemn fast day according to rites described in Leviticus XVI.

Yom Kippur is the climax of 10 Days of Penitence. The period is a time for reflection upon one's life, and a period of prayer for forgiveness of transgressions. Rosh Hashana, which occurs on the first and second days of Tishri, ushers in the Jewish-new year and the holy season for Jewish faithful.

Observances of Rosh Hashana were held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Settles and continued at 10 a.m. Thursday. Most stores owned by those of the Jewish faith were closed Thursday for the beginning of the year 5724 on the Jewish calendar.

Other Jewish observances during the month of Tishri include: Sukkot, Feast of the Tabernacles, 15-22 day; and Simhath Torah, Rejoicing over the Law, 23rd day.

FALSE TEACHERS

"Receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed." Whatever may be the number or the variety of applications of II Jn verse 10 against false doctrines and false teachers. The outstanding truth is that Christianity demands this of the individual Christian that he STAND, and that he stand AGAINST, that he REFUSE EVEN some people. Bible teaching when really seen are so different from the implication of some people. The teachings of the New Testament are not mush, nor flattery nor gush. When people come to you with some doctrine other than that which is written receive them not, neither bid them God speed; for to do so is to become partaker with their evil deeds. Some may be surprised that false doctrine is called evil deeds; more people seem to think that anything taught is "ok" just be sincere; this itself is wrong to so believe and teach. Latter day books claiming to be God's word are Satan's lie to be refused. Man's modes of worship and teaching the church of his own choice and purposes and ways of baptism not taught in the Bible are a part of Satan's deception and must be refused.

Elbert R. Garretson, minister

Plainview Evangelist Due Here For Baptist Revival

The Harvest Time Crusade, a week of revival connected with a nine-week Harvest Time Sunday School campaign being conducted at the Trinity Baptist Church begins Sunday.

The evangelist, Rev. Roy Johnson, Plainview, will conduct his first service Monday. Rev. Johnson is not only an outstanding preacher in the World Baptist Fellowship, but he is also pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Plainview.

He organized that church in September of 1955, beginning with six charter members and no property. Today the church has an active membership of more than 300 persons and has property valued at more than $100,000.

Rev. Johnson is also president of the Alumni Association of the Bible Baptist Seminary, which is owned and operated by the Institution of the World Baptist Fellowship.

The public is invited to attend.

REV. ROY JOHNSON

Catholic Critic Becoming Lenient

By GEO. W. CORNELL, Associated Press Religion Writer

Paul Blanshard, long-time hurler of thunderbolts against Roman Catholic policies, today finds cause for tempering his criticisms with commendations.

He sees harbingers of change on the horizon.

"There are signs that the Roman Catholic Church is shifting toward a belief in real religious liberty," he said. "It seems to be moving toward a commitment to freedom."

This contrasts considerably with past appraisals in which Blanshard has pictured the church's traditional positions as contrary to democratic principles.

"There are hopeful elements of a progressive trend in the church," he said. "There is a new attitude of personal cordiality which is much better than the petty, old hostilities."

In Blanshard's view, the church still needs to make many readjustments, to implement specifically the newly developing outlook, and he foresees harmful tensions in Catholic demands for tax aid to parochial schools.

Blanshard, a lawyer, author and one-time public official, was on his way to Rome this week, to take in the second session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, opening Sept. 29. The first session last year loosed new currents in the church.

A new book by Blanshard, "Religion and the Schools," is being published by Beacon Press Oct. 2, and compared to some of his previous works, such as the controversial "American Freedom and Catholic Power," he says:

"I've tried harder to be objective. It's fully as critical of Protestants as Catholics. If there is any hero of the book, it is the U.S. Supreme Court."

He traces a history of glaring discrimination against Catholics through Protestant-oriented public school observances, of anti-Roman history books, and of Catholic children sometimes expelled, even flogged, in the last century.

In the past approach to separation of church and state, he told this interviewer, Protestants have been "more frequent violators" than Catholics in using the schools — an arm of the state — to promote their religion.

On the other hand, Blanshard, with characteristic bluntness, assails efforts of Catholic leaders to secure government funds for church schools. "They want to change the whole tax system," he asserted.

"Such tax aid, he said, would 'splitter American education,' result in a half-dozen sectarian school systems, and tear American society into intolerant, insular fragments.

Massachusetts Finally Bans Defendants' Cages

BOSTON (AP) — It has been some 270 years since the witchcraft trials of Salem, Mass., but only this month did Massachusetts outlaw the courtroom prisoners' cages which dated back at least to that era.

The Massachusetts Legislature passed a bill banning the cages after a four-year fight by former Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. and an even longer campaign by the Boston press.

MEDIAEVAL PRACTICE

"Massachusetts is one of the few states—if not the only state—which sanctions the medieval practice of placing prisoners in cages."

"I am sure that the officers responsible for the security of criminal defendants, like their colleagues in the federal courtrooms, can discharge their duties without the help of cages."

There was no law in Massachusetts that said prisoners had to be kept in cages while on trial, but, nevertheless, legal authorities say, the practice began in colonial times and continued until passage of the 1963 legislative act.

One of the last of the courtroom cages to be dismantled was the one in the Norfolk County Court at Dedham, Mass., in which sat the state's most famous murder defendants—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti—in 1927.

DISCRIMINATION

McCormack said: "I think what finally brought passage of the measure was the argument that prisoner cages were such outstanding examples of discrimination."

"A defendant who could raise bail," he said, "could lounge in the ease of a chair in open court, but the indigent person charged with a crime had to sit entirely encompassed by a cage of heavy wire mesh or bars."

Lawyers, particularly, found glee in a newspaper cartoon showing a courtroom scene with defense counsel pointing to his caged client while asking the jury: "Look at my client; does he look like a criminal to you?"

Oil Well Blaze Fatal To Worker

PERRYTON (AP)—An oil well fire in the Texas Panhandle killed one man and injured two others Thursday.

Perry Garypey, 27, of Borger died in the flames. He was an employee of the Daco Lease and Well Service Co.

The injured are Jim Blackwell, 30, and Clifford Pitts, 33, also of Borger. They were treated at a Perryton hospital and dismissed.

Fire broke out while the workers were trying to blow paraffin from the well, about 9 miles south of Farnsworth in Ochiltree County.

Negroes Paying Little Attention To Barriers In College Societies

By The Associated Press

Negroes, who have tumbled educational racial barriers in a massive national drive, so far have paid little attention to one aspect of college life — the fraternity and sorority.

In some colleges and universities across the country, the Negro already is included on the rolls of such campus organizations.

In other schools there exist all-Negro fraternities and fraternities. In most other institutions where fraternities and sororities have no nonwhite members, the Negro so far has done little to indicate he wants to join.

BIG ENOUGH

Several regional officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the Negro feels being admitted to previously all-white schools was a big enough step for the present.

Chester Lewis, president of the Wichita, Kan., chapter of the NAACP, said he believed the breaking of any racial barriers that might exist in fraternities and sororities "is the farthest thing from the Negro thinking right now, what with other problems they face."

However, Lapios Ashford, national director of the youth and college division of the NAACP, said his group was "planning some type of activities through which we eventually hope to integrate these fraternities and sororities."

PLANNING STAGE

"It is true that the Negro has a lot on his mind right now and it might be a little while before we can begin on this problem in full force, but it is in the planning stage," he said.

He said that when such a program is put into effect, "the drive will be made on the campuses of northern, midwestern and western schools first."

A nationwide sampling by The Associated Press showed that very few of those colleges checked had fraternities or sororities which had racial clauses written into the charters or bylaws.

However, such clauses do appear in the constitutions and charters of some national fraternities and sororities.

In most such cases, college officials said, the individual fraternities contend they do not abide by the regulations. In some instances, local groups have broken away from the parent organization rather than live up to the discrimination clause.

ABSENCE

Despite all that, educators said there was a conspicuous absence of Negroes in most of the nation's fraternities and sororities.

If any racial discrimination is practiced in the groups, school officials can point only to the feelings of the individual students when they meet behind closed doors in their houses to vote on the rejection or acceptance of each pledge.

Noting the absence of Negro participation in fraternity and sorority life, many school officials have spelled out formally and officially the institution's disapproval of discrimination.

Some have required that officers of the individual houses sign pledges not to choose members on a racial basis.

Some observers believe there is a reluctance on the part of the Negro to demand that he be allowed to associate with the whites on such an intimate basis as would be the case in a sorority or a fraternity. The members often eat and sleep in the same house, sometimes sharing dormitory quarters.

THIS MONTH

The traditionally fraternal and social campus organizations won't actually begin screening membership candidates until late this month or later.

One of the few reported incidents involving Negroes and a campus organization took place recently at Long Beach State College, Calif., when three Negro students attended off-campus sorority rushing parties and reported others present were "sort of shocked."

"Because there is no Negro sorority," said one of the girls, "we have to go to the rush."

Shortly after, the three said they were giving up their attempt because "it just isn't worth all the trouble and expense."

"Sororities are social organiza-
