Street Parade Monday Will Open Annual Clean-Up Week

Midlanders Monday will start giving their city its 1950 face lifting.

Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week, sponsored annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, opens Monday and by Saturday night the Jaycees hope they can strengthen their claim that Midland is West Texas' neatest and most attractive city.

A full week of cleaning-up, painting-up, and generally fixing-up, interspersed with a little fun for all.

Additional Clean-Up Week information may be found in Section three of this issue of The Reporter-Telegram.

has been outlined by the Jaycee Clean-Up Committee. Emphasis will be placed on sewage outlets, cleaning up alleys, trimming trees, proper garbage disposal, and an all-around paint-up, fix-up program.

A downtown parade, scheduled at 4 p.m. Monday, will touch off the annual drive. It is designed to get every citizen ready to do his share in the city-wide campaign.

Week-Long Program Dr. George Ulvestad, co-chairman of the Jaycee project, have outlined a week-long program. Tuesday will be balloon day, when thousands of balloons bearing prizes and carrying the inscription, Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up, will be given all adult-accompanied children on the courthouse square. Just to give the balloon day added emphasis, hundreds of the balloons will be unleashed from atop one of the city's taller buildings.

Annual water fight, with Jaycee members challenging any other civic organization in a clean-up fight with water on a downtown street, will highlight Wednesday's activities.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday have been labeled as the days to apply the elbow grease and help retain Midland's claim as the "best in West Texas."

McCarty Lending Aid To Enemies Of U. S., Says Marshall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall asserted Saturday night that Senator McCarthy's charges of communism-in-the-government "lend assistance to powers that would destroy us."

Marshall, former secretary of state, joined with two men who preceded him—Cordell Hull and James F. Byrnes—and with Secretary of State Dean Acheson in denying sharply McCarthy's charge that Owen Lattimore is "the principal architect of our Far Eastern policy," McCarthy says that policy betrayed China to Russia.

Contempt Charges Ordered Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate committee investigating McCarthy's charges ordered contempt citations prepared against two witnesses who refused to answer questions.

The witnesses were Earl Browder, former Communist Party leader, and wealthy Frederick Vanderbil, who would not say whether he is a Communist.

Marshall said McCarthy's assertion regarding Lattimore "is completely without basis in fact."

Belgian Voters To Ballot Once More On Leopold Issue

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM (AP)—Belgian voters are to register their views on the King Leopold question for the third time in a year by electing a new Parliament June 4.

The old Parliament was dissolved Saturday by Regent Prince Charles. Seven weeks of fruitless negotiations had followed the March 12 referendum on whether the people wanted the return of the exiled monarch who surrendered Belgium to the Germans in 1940.

In the new election, the pro-Leopold Social Christians and anti-Leopold Socialists and small Liberal Party will be the main contenders.

The new Parliament will sit on June 20. Until a new government is formed, there can be no solution of the Leopold question. The king and his 19-year-old heir apparent, Prince Baudouin, will remain in exile in Switzerland.

Premier Gaston Eyskens, whose Social Christian-Liberal cabinet collapsed last March, remains head of a caretaker regime.

Amarillo Gives 'Go' Signal To Rain-Maker

AMARILLO (AP)—Officials of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce have told a "rain-maker" to go ahead and see what he could do over the immediate Texas Panhandle area and surrounding New Mexico and Oklahoma territory.

The rain-maker, Jack B. Corn of Fort Worth, allows as how he can produce rain by planting silver iodide in promising cloud formation. He flies a light plane into the formation of clouds, then fires a flare into them. The flare contains the silver iodide.

Building Permits For Year Rocket Past $3,000,000

Permits of the week totaled $3,000,000 to bring the 1950 mark to $3,082,971, almost double the figure at this time last year when it was $1,631,810.

The 1950 total got a substantial boost with a permit for $150,000 issued to Magnolia Petroleum Company for a three-floor addition to the present two-story structure of the company, located at 309 West Wall Street.

The addition, to be constructed by J. W. Bateson, Inc., is to be 58 by 100 feet. The structure has a basement.

Storms Bring Death To 15; Cold Moves In

Tornadoes and violent rainstorms caused 15 deaths in Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana Friday night and Saturday. Eleven were victims of tornadoes.

And the turbulent, shifting winds carried a threat of more tornadoes to the Southwest this weekend.

"It's impossible to predict tornadoes," a Weather Bureau spokesman said Saturday. "All we can say is that the condition which produced Friday's tornadoes is continuing — and moving eastward."

The unsettled weather that spotted tornadoes in West Texas and Oklahoma Friday night moved over to Louisiana, causing three deaths. The pilot of a jet plane that crashed in a storm near Pitkin, La., Friday night was killed. He was First Lt. Basil C. May of Albany, Calif. Ten-year-old Gilbert Lawrence was killed when lightning struck him three miles east of Crowley, La.

In Baton Rouge, 28 traffic accidents were counted in a heavy rainstorm Saturday. John A. Bolton, 59, was the only death reported.

Blinding Rainstorm In Dallas, during a blinding rainstorm Saturday, Nathan Clay Evans, 42, was killed in a head-on car collision.

Air Force Hints At New Global Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has dropped a hint that progress is being made toward a new intercontinental weapon—a plane which will stay outside an enemy's defenses and send a guided missile hundreds of miles to the target.

Such a combination is regarded by the Air Force as one answer to improvements being made in fighter and anti-aircraft defenses against bombing planes.

The Air Force now counts on darkness and bad weather to help its intercontinental bombers reach targets without being downed by fighter planes. However, it is buying radar-loaded jet fighters to track down bombers at night and in bad weather—and the Russians presumably are developing similar all-weather interceptors.

In addition to this threat, bombers will face improved anti-aircraft weapons in the future.

The hint that progress is being made toward a long range missile-carrying plane to overcome such improved defenses was tucked away in a paragraph of the Air Force's semi-annual report, forwarded recently to President Truman.

It wasn't much of a job for judges at Miami Beach, Fla., to select Dolores Medlin as "Miss Good Posture." Dolores just "postured" and was picked, simple as that.

Allies Ready For German Reds' March

BERLIN (AP)—Allied protective measures akin to those of a shooting war will go into effect for West Berlin Monday.

Throughout May, a month in which the Communists once threatened crucial pressure, nearly 8,000 United States, British and French troops will stay on the alert.

Three thousand other troops, stationed in West Germany, are under orders to be ready to fly to this divided city in the Soviet zone if the need arises. They could make the trip in two hours.

Defense preparations were touched up by the arrival of two U. S. Air Force helicopters at the Tempelhof Air Base Saturday. An official announcement said they will engage in "orientation flying" prior to participation in ceremonies on National Defense Day, May 20.

Moscow, Idaho, Will Compete With Soviet Moscow On May Day

Moscow will have competition for the spotlighting of labor's traditional international holiday.

The Soviet capital was draped with banners and slogans in readiness for the huge May 1 celebration and parade across Red Square. Hundreds of thousands of workers and military might.

But in another Moscow—Moscow, Idaho—Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls will set up booths and pass out badges saying the wearer believes in democracy and likes being an American.

Mosinee, Wis., will stage a mock Communist revolution. American Legion members, garbed as pistol-packing secret police, will arrest city officials, nail paper locks on the church doors and turn the weekly Mosinee Times into a "Red Star."

The purpose is to teach by example and actual living the contrast between life in America and totalitarian states. Mosinee's concentration camps will last but a day.

To take the edge off any May Day demonstrations by radicals, New York and Chicago held Loyalty Day parades Saturday.

New York will have its regular May Day parade up Eighth Avenue. Usually between 15,000 and 25,000 persons take part.

The biggest touch-and-go spot is Berlin, where Communists and anti-Communists will stage rival demonstrations within a mile of each other Monday.

Prisoner Digs Out Of Jail At Snyder

SNYDER (AP)—James Euell Amos, 34, held in the Scurry County jail on charges of transporting liquor and driving while drunk, broke out Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff Homer Whelan said Amos dug a hole through the jail wall.

Strikers To Form Picket Lines Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking telephone installation workers Saturday night decided to set up picket lines Monday that could tie up the nation's telephone service.

The 10,000 installation workers, who struck last Monday, previously had refrained from picketing while talks continued here.

A majority of the nation's remaining telephone workers, whose strike was postponed indefinitely last Wednesday, have indicated they would not cross the installation workers' picket lines.

An attorney for Installation Division 6 of the CIO Communications Workers of America announced the plan for picketing.

He said the lines would be placed a foot and a half apart and spaced throughout the nation at 6 a. m. Monday.

The attorney, Henry Mayer, said Federal Mediator Thomas R. Steutel had contacted Cyrus Ching, chief of the government's Mediation and Conciliation Service in Washington, to inform him of the latest development.

First Agreement Reached Almost simultaneously, representatives of 13,000 telephone workers in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas announced they had reached agreement with the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

It was the first break in the overall fight for wage increases.

A union spokesman said the agreement did not include a general wage increase but "was the best contract we could obtain."

The company said the agreement cleared up "certain wage inequities."

Among the provisions, the company said, were higher wage rates for some towns, and shortening "the period for certain employees to reach top rates."

The settlement must be approved by the CWA International Executive Board and then by union members in the five-state area.

Further Rate Increases The company indicated further rate increases would be necessary because of the settlement.

The CIO installation workers struck last Monday in a dispute with the Western Electric Company, manufacturing subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Wages and other contract conditions were involved.

Caso March Files Complaint On Radio Time Given Shivers

DALLAS (AP)—Caso March said Saturday he is filing a complaint with the Federal Communications Commission because of free radio time given Gov. Allan Shivers.

March asserted Shivers' weekly speeches over the Texas State Network "are simply campaign speeches for reelection."

The former Baylor professor asked the FCC to issue a "show cause order" to the radio network as to why free time should not also be made available to him as a candidate for governor.

Shivers' weekly broadcasts began April 17 over 17 stations scattered over most of Texas. When the network announced its plans for the series, March asked for similar free time. He was turned down.

March sent copies of his complaint to the FCC, dated Saturday, his April 15 request for free time, the network's reply, and a final letter from March to the network, also dated Saturday.

The complaint named the radio network stations as KRBC, Abilene; WRR, Dallas; KCOM, Texarkana; KFJZ, Fort Worth; KFRO, Longview; KGKL, San Angelo; KBST, Big Spring; KGVJ, Greenville; KCRS, Midland; KMAC, San Antonio; KBWD, Brownwood; KTRH, Houston; KRIO, McAllen; KRRV, Sherman; and WACO, Waco.

Rifle Bullet Crashes Into Residence Near Baby Asleep In Bed

A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle Saturday afternoon crashed through a window of a residence at 1900 North Marfield Street and narrowly missed a baby who was asleep in a bed near the window.

Midland police investigated the incident. Officer Clyde Allison recovered the slug which was embedded in a wall.

Police Chief Jack Ellington issued a stern warning to all Midlanders about shooting firearms in the city limits. He said offenders will be prosecuted under ordinances which provide a heavy fine for violation.

He urged all marksmen and hunters who might be firing arms outside the city to be extremely careful.

MADE FOR POSITIVE ACHIEVEMENT

You and I are made in our inmost being for positive achievement—to be outgoing, to master our circumstances, to create. If we are not positively creating and producing, the machinery of life will get out of gear; for we are geared to creation. Negativism, therefore, not only keeps us from achieving; it also keeps us from being. The personality breaks down under negative attitudes. We are not made for them. I know a person whose first attitude toward everything that is presented is "No!" She lives in the objective mood. And hence her life is frustrated, when, with her powers, it might be fruitful. A more dramatic illustration is that of a woman of intellectual ability

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

By DALMON McNAIR

Eight hundred cattle were received and sold at Midland's weekly livestock sale Thursday. The auction run included all classes, but very few choice kinds were offered.

The market was steady with the week before and fairly active. Fat calves and yearlings went to $27.50, but most sold for $23 to $25. Common and medium calves and yearlings were $19.50 to $23. Medium cows brought $16.50 to $18.50. Canners and cutters moved at $12.50 to $16.50 and bad-eyes and shells were lower.

Good bulls were bid from $19 to $21.50; common and mediums $17.50 to $19. Stocker steer calves auctioned at $26 to $28.50 and stocker heifer calves at $24 to $27.50.

Billy Bryant of Midland got $28.50 for 22 mixed calves that weighed an average of 368 pounds. El Long of Monahans sold 15 cows with 10 baby calves at side for $180 a head. Joe Moulton of San Angelo received $194.50 for 13 cows with 13 calves. Apparently not superstitious, Moulton then offered 13 cows alone and got $153 a head for them.

A group of 35 steer yearlings brought $25.10 and another package of 36 were bid to $25.80. Both were in the 500 pound class. One cow and calf pair sold for $300.

The new government regulations on cotton acreage should give poultry, livestock, dairy and hog production more importance, County Agent Charles Green believes.

Last year a total of more than 48,000 acres was planted in cotton in Midland County. The 1950 government allotment for the county is approximately 21,000 acres. A change from the days when cotton was the big money crop, other crops and projects now will require more attention.

Green doesn't think the cotton restrictions will necessarily affect the farmers' income. Farm operators will be forced to do better planning and closer management, but other projects which heretofore have been overshadowed by cotton may come to the front and do their share to bring income to the farmstead.

The 1950 outlook for poultry, dairying, livestock and hogs appears brighter than for crops, generally, according to Tyrus Timm, extension specialist for the Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas A&M College. And Green believes these projects can go over in this area.

Under normal conditions, a farmer can raise virtually all the feed he needs for any type of animal project. A farm operator now can plant grain and sweet sorghums in

New Peach Study May Revolutionize Market Methods

COLLEGE STATION —(AP)— Results of new studies by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station may revolutionize the way in which Texas' multi-million-dollar peach crop is marketed. This is because the persons making the experiments found out a great deal about what kind of peaches the housewife will buy.

The experiments and surveys mainly involve time of picking, method of shipment and method of sales. Results were released by the station recently.

Main point of the tests was whether the fruit should be picked "green-mature" or "firm-ripe." The term green-mature refers to fruit that is hard when picked. Scientifically green-mature fruit requires a pressure of more than 35 pounds to be punctured when the fruit is peeled.

Here in brief is what the survey found:

1. Firm-ripe fruit is overwhelmingly preferred by housewives.
2. Loss in shipping of firm-ripe fruit can be cut as low as two per cent.
3. Firm-ripe peaches will bring a much higher price.
4. Loss of fruit in stores came from shriveled, slow moving green-mature peaches rather than from bruising of over-ripes.
5. The best containers for shipping firm-ripe fruit are cell-type boxes and spartan boxes. Bushel and half-bushel baskets were found not suited to shipping ripe peaches.
6. The public apparently doesn't like peaches "consumer packaged"—that is, put up in cellophane-covered boxes as is now a common practice with tomatoes and other vegetables.

place of cotton and market them through livestock and dairy products.

Tad Lucas of Fort Worth, well-known rodeo personality, who for years has entertained and thrilled countless thousands with her trick and fancy riding in rodeo arenas over the nation, now is ready to embark upon an even more hazardous venture—rodeo clowning. This of course includes the somewhat ticklish business of inviting possible entanglements with hot-toothed Brahman bulls in the arena.

She has obtained the barrel used by the late Jasbo Pulkerson in his "bull fighting" act, which was a popular feature of many of the nation's largest and best shows. Tad, twice a grandmother, who says she certainly is not ready for a rocking chair, will work with George Mills and John Lindsey, veteran rodeo clowns, in breaking into the new game.

Berry Duff of Denver, Colo., former Glascock County agent, was a West Texas visitor last week. He became ill while visiting in San Angelo and was forced to return to Denver immediately.

Long-staple, Pima cotton may be grown without regard for government quotas, two Texas Tech professors say, but there are several drawbacks to growing it.

The Pima produces a high-grade lint which is sought by large Eastern mills, and the premiums from Pima run much higher than for ordinary cotton. But, the Pima requires a much longer growing period and hot, dry land with irrigation facilities are best suited for the new cotton. There also is a shortage of Pima seed. One firm has quoted a price of $600 a ton for the seed. Another drawback is the required change of ginning procedure which would cost the producer more. It also must be hand picked.

Nevertheless, the farmers around Pecos have the Pima bug and plans are underway for a big Pima festival in September. The Chamber of Commerce there is picking up the check and boosting Pima acreage in Reeves County. The new cotton already has been grown in limited amounts in West Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

First annual Texas Technological College Intercollegiate rodeo will be staged next Thursday, Friday and Saturday and invitations have been sent to 31 colleges and universities in the West and Southwest to send participants.

Jack Buchanan, Big Spring senior studying agriculture, is "riding herd" on the show. Polly Cook, graduate student from Post, will reign as queen.

The Tech rodeo will follow the Hardin-Simmons show by one week. The fourth annual H-SU rodeo was staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the school's new Carl Myers Memorial arena.

Incorporation of Mason, Llano and Hill County Hereford Associations was decided last week at a meeting of the Hill Country Hereford Association.

Consolidation of the three groups will mean addition of a second Hereford sale each year. The Mason organization has 36 members, Llano 18 and Hill County 39.

The consolidation movement and an officer election climaxed the annual banquet of the Hill Country association, held at Mason. The association is comprised of breeders of registered Hereford cattle in Llano, San Saba, McCullough, Menard, Kimble, Gillespie, and Mason counties. All 1949 officers were re-elected. They are: J. W. Winkel of Llano, president; Hilma H. Henke, Gillespie, vice president; Ed S. Hyman, Mason county agent, secretary, and J. D. Jordan, Mason, treasurer. Two new directors elected were Herman J. Weinheimer, Gillespie, and Irby McWilliams, Menard.

Rains continued to fall last week in the east and coastal sections of the state but rainfall in West Texas was at a standstill. The El Paso district continued to face drought conditions with only a trace reported in that area. In East and South Texas the precipitation measured amounted to more than two inches on some gauges. Austin, Galveston and Cuero areas reported more than two inches had fallen in the week ending April 24. In Midland's district no rain was recorded for the period.

Rain was holding up field work in several areas. Range and pasture feed was making renewed growth over the eastern half of the state and was greening up over some western, northwestern and extreme southern counties. Supplemental feeding continued in the west, however, where green feed still was short. Big steers were beginning to move to Osage and Flint Hill pastures. Marketings of both cattle and sheep were curtailed because of the much improved Spring feed prospects and the demand for stocker cattle increased sharply.

Midland area stockmen have been invited to attend a Feeder's Day May 9 at the Texas A&M College Experiment Station in Big Spring. The Feeder's Day activities will include instruction and demonstration of several types of feeding methods, and profits obtained through careful use of proper feed.

County Agent Charlie Green says that if enough stockmen from this area wish to attend, arrangements can be made for the Midlanders to go in a group to the Feeder's Day.

Cross-breeding of European breeds of beef cattle with Brahman, which has become popular in certain areas of Texas during recent years, is beginning to shape itself into a pattern, according to John K. Riggs of Texas A&M College.

Breeders who now have Brahman blood in their cow herds, Riggs says, are turning to European type bulls to produce better carcasses.

The wide use of Brahman bulls the last several years, according to Riggs, is an indication that cattle raisers know a certain amount of Brahman blood in their herds is worth while. He believes there is a definite place for Brahman blood in cow herds in East Texas and along the Gulf Coast to give resistance to heat and insects.

However, Riggs believes it is foolish to introduce Brahman blood into good herds in West Texas and other areas where there is no particular need for it.

"When you cross with Brahmans, you take yourself out of the feeder cattle business and go into the slaughter cattle business," he says. For the person going into the beef cattle business now, Riggs urges them to get good breeding stock because the buyers are placing more and more stress on quality.

Results of an experiment at Texas Tech to determine the value of cottonseed hulls and sorghum silage in fattening yearling steers indicate the 100 per cent hull ration would be cheaper but would not return a higher average daily gain.

Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel reported that in two communities near Waco last season, early treatment against insects hiked net profits by $54.42 an acre. Control measures there cost about $3 an acre.

Many farmers in the lower Rio Grande Valley, where early cotton already is well up, found out the value of early control. The fields were heavily infested with thrips, but control measures prevented much of the expected stunting of plants.

Reasons for early war against the insects is explained like this by various experts of the extension service and USDA:

1. Insures early fruiting.
2. Insures earlier maturity and better grade.

Entomologist Asks Quick Action Against Bollworm

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff

Whip the bollworm? Sure. But you'll have to get up mighty early to do it.

That's the situation as seen by farm committeemen, county agents, the Texas A&M Extension Service and the USDA.

This also applies to all the insects which each year cut great gaps in Texas' biggest cash crop—cotton.

"This year the farmer is in a two-way squeeze. (1) It looks like this may be Texas' worst year for insects. (2) Cotton farmers in many places have been hard hit by the stiff acreage allotments.

As the cotton planting season opens in Central Texas, great stress is being laid this year on early slaughtering of insects.

In some cases, notably in the Waco-Temple section, the early light is being done on a community-wide and county-wide basis wherever possible.

Allen C. Gunter, associate extension entomologist of Texas A&M College, is an advocate of community or county cooperation. But he says the individual farmer can expect considerable benefit if he carries out a good program.

Other extension service experts reported that in two communities near Waco last season, early treatment against insects hiked net profits by $54.42 an acre. Control measures there cost about $3 an acre.

Many farmers in the lower Rio Grande Valley, where early cotton already is well up, found out the value of early control. The fields were heavily infested with thrips, but control measures prevented much of the expected stunting of plants.

Reasons for early war against the insects is explained like this by various experts of the extension service and USDA:

1. Insures early fruiting.
2. Insures earlier maturity and better grade.

3. Reduces boll weevil hazards.

4. Makes possible earlier harvesting.

5. Under favorable conditions yields will be increased.

6. Makes possible earlier destruction of stalks, which will help in controlling next year's insect crop.

The entomologists advocate early treatment against cutworms and army worms, boll weevils, thrips, aphids and fleahoppers. Cutworms and army worms should be sprayed or dusted when needed.

Chopping Time
And for the others, spraying or dusting should be done when the cotton is about the four-leaf stage, or about the usual chopping time.

Spraying and dusting should continue at about seven-day intervals. But an important point is to stop spraying before blooming time or about 30 days before bollworms usually appear. This time varies and your county agent should be consulted.

The spraying and dusting must be stopped at the proper time to allow beneficial insects to develop as protection against bollworms.

Gunter points out that in the case of bollworms, the early maturity date made possible by early season control of other insects has in many cases matured the crop before normal bollworm time and no control was necessary. Bollworms are not attracted to mature cotton plants.

Your county agent also should be consulted about sprays or dusts to use—entomologists say both methods are equally effective. The usual dust against weevils, thrips, aphids and fleahoppers is 20 per cent toxaphene and 40 per cent sulphur or the 3-5-40 preparation used at a rate of 7-10 pounds per acre. The generally recommended spray is toxaphene or 2-1 mixture at the rate of 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre.

Later in the season, more spraying and dusting may be needed as inspection of the plants reveals insects in damaging number.

Green Pasture Can Grow In Dry Year, Test Shows

AMARILLO —(AP)— The Amarillo Conservation Experiment Station near here has proved that West Texas can produce all-year green pasture even in years of little rainfall. But it takes some good management, and in years of real drought, the number of cattle may need to be sharply reduced.

These facts were brought out in a recently issued extension service pamphlet on grazing studies at the station made between 1943 and 1949.

This year happens to be one of those when drought has hit all the pastures in the Southern Great Plains. Cattle and sheep have been marketed early in many cases because of the lack of forage. And much of the forage still available is dusty and unpalatable from the Spring storms.

The station's report was written before this season's drought. But it forecast such conditions when it pointed out that in such times, the number of cattle being grazed must be reduced.

Here are the recommended pastures for the area when there is favorable rainfall:

- Fall and Winter: Winter wheat, crested wheatgrass, western wheatgrass and Canada wild rye.
- Spring: Crested and western wheat grasses, Canada wild rye, little barley and early weeds.
- Summer: Blue grama, buffalo grass, sudan grass and weeds when available.

The station, for the experiments, purchased feeder steer calves. Keeping careful weight records, the researchers found that the calves gained roughly from 1.5 pounds per day up to 2.5 pounds.

Gains appeared to be greatest on seeded pastures, including the wheat grasses and wild rye and sudan.

Under ideal conditions, says the report, the cool season grasses—crested and western wheat grass—bridge the gap between wheat pasture and the Summer grasses in both Spring and Fall. The cool season grasses are able to use late Fall moisture which the Summer grasses cannot use because of cold weather.

It is desirable, the report continues, to have a green pasture to keep steer gaining after they are scarcities of wheat. Then, if Summer feed is not in sight, the numbers are sharply reduced by sale. In addition, steers are not held over the Winter and calves are not bought unless there is ample pasture in sight. Under semi-arid conditions, native and seeded pastures which are heavily grazed lose their vigor and fail to respond to rain, the researchers found. On the other hand, an accumulation of carry-over grass beyond the need for soil protection and emergency use results in scant growth of new forage and the forage of low food value.

It's Up To You!

The traditional observance of "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week" opens here Monday under the sponsorship of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The week-long project, one of the most important and most worthwhile staged here each year, is community-wide in scope, its complete success being dependent largely upon the wholehearted cooperation of individuals, organizations and business firms.

The many and varied benefits of the all-out drive to clean-up and beautify the community will be much in evidence in the days, weeks and months ahead.

Last year's JayCee-sponsored campaign was most effective, but the 1950 drive, well-planned and highly organized, likely will break all previous records in interest, participation and results.

The beautification and fire prevention angles of the campaign of course are most significant, but JayCees this year are stressing the "Clean-Up" phase as a means of improving health and sanitation conditions to eliminate possible sources of disease and infection.

Everyone is anxious for "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week" to be a huge success, and it surely can be just that. But the important thing to remember is that the success of the campaign depends upon YOU.

YOU can make the observance a most momentous occasion or YOU can make it just another Clean-Up campaign. YOU can clean-up and beautify your own property, residential or commercial, including the alley and perhaps an adjoining vacant lot, which the owner neglects to touch.

And perhaps YOU will discover that this "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" business is more contagious even than polio and other diseases which the current campaign is designed to eliminate.

Let's make this the outstanding "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week" in Midland's history.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Larceny Lou is a hard man to play against. In a business deal his word is all the contract you need, but not at the bridge table.

It was clear to East, of course, that if South really had no more clubs, it would be fatal to continue the suit. If East led the ace of clubs, South would (he feared) ruff it. This would set up dummy's ten.

So East shifted to the nine of hearts. And that was the end of that hand.

Lou won with the ace of hearts and drew trumps. Then he knocked out the ace of diamonds. If East wanted his ace of clubs, he could take it. Otherwise, he could get out with a heart and allow South to discard a club on dummy's extra diamond. Either way the defense could take only two top clubs and the ace of diamonds.

Of course, you've noticed what would have happened if East had continued the clubs. His partner would have shown out on the second round of the suit. Then East would lead a third round and give his partner a club ruff. Eventually the ace of diamonds would set the contract.

Maybe you've noticed that East would surely keep on with the clubs. Lou had dropped a small club at the first trick. It would be the natural line of play.

If you're really fast, you've also seen that East should have been able to see through this little plot. Lou was telling the truth, West had the rest of the clubs. This meant that he had led the jack from an original holding of jack-five-four.

A good player doesn't lead high from such a holding in his partner's hand. He leads the lowest card.

Hence East should have known that his partner could not have had the two low clubs left in his hand. In other words, Larceny Lou was trying to pull a fast one.

Phillips To Build New Catalytic Unit

BORGER—K. S. Adams, president of Phillips Petroleum Company, speaking at a dinner here on Friday night, stated that Phillips soon will begin construction of a 30,000 barrel-per-day catalytic cracking unit at this Phillips, Texas, refinery.

Adams said this new catalytic cracking unit, which should be in operation in August, 1951, will produce additional quantities of high quality gasoline and distillates and reduce the production of residual fuel oil.

Adams stated that a contract for the preliminary phases of construction would be let within a few days and that actual construction work would be started within a few months.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Lobby Blasts 'Socialism' Of Public Power Projects

WASHINGTON—National Association of Electric Companies has thrown the switch for its second annual shock attack against public power. The high voltage charge is—in a flash—that "the public trust" is "leading the country into socialism."

The transmission line for the public power companies' current illuminating remarks was a press breakfast held in Washington. It was presided over by Purcell L. Smith, president of NAEIC, who admitted frankly right at the start that he was its registered lobbyist.

Less than a score of reports showed up for the ham and eggs. But there were 200 power company executives present to see, hear and applaud the sparks flying from industry spokesmen representing half a dozen regions of the U. S.

J. E. Corlette, Jr., vice president of Montana Power Company, spoke for the five-state Rocky Mountain area. He said the four major power companies there already were servicing electricity to 99 per cent of the population—including 95 per cent of the farms.

But now, charged Corlette, the federal government had a seven-year, $2,000,000,000 program which would duplicate all the existing private power resources, with 63 generating plants and 8,000 miles of transmission line.

What the private power companies in the area wanted was only the right to buy this power on long-term contracts, and sell it without competition from public power.

Public Power Invasion

Albert A. Cress, president of Central Vermont Public Service Corporation, said "True New Englanders want nothing to do with this threatened public power invasion."

Public power advocates, he said, were trying to force 300,000 kilowatts peak load hydro-electric power capacity on New England, although private business interests had estimated there were only 420,000 kw capacity now undeveloped in New England.

Robert H. Gerdes, general counsel for Pacific Gas and Electric Company, spoke on California's Central Valley development. He charged that the government's Bureau of Reclamation was building an $80,000,000 system to go into the power business in competition with PG&E.

John Dierdorff, vice president of Pacific Power and Light, serving the Northwest, said a somewhat different story to tell. This area has a power shortage, though it has available all the power developed at Bonneville and Grand Coulee government dams.

It is obvious that this region must have more power to support its growth," said Dierdorff. "That is why we of the private electric companies of Oregon and Washington have been coming back here to Washington to urge the Appropriations Committee to keep the government's power plant program on the Columbia going forward on schedule."

Something like a partnership basis. It has been a little difficult for some of our associates in the electric industry to understand our position."

Louis V. Sutton, president of Carolina Power and Light, and president-designate of Edison Electric Institute, spoke for the Southeast. "I've charged government expansion in the electric utility field with a campaign of deception over a long period of years."

Nationalization is Goal

His example was the Santee-Cooper River project. Originally it was to be a conservation and navigation project, said Sutton. Yet in 1942, when the project was seeking to buy the Columbia, S. C. electric company, government attorneys stated in a court petition that, "One of these (New Deal) policies was and is the bringing of the business,

License Plate Sales Bring County Funds

Midland County is almost $112,000 richer as a result of 1950 motor vehicle license plate sales, J. M. Speed, tax assessor-collector, said Saturday.

A total of 10,177 license plates for trucks and passenger cars were sold between March 1 and April 22, Speed said. The county's share of the revenue amounts to $111,944.18. This figure represents sales of 1950 tags only, Speed said, and does not include 1949 tags sold between January 1 and March 1.

The county receives all of the first $50,000 and after that it splits the proceeds with the state, Speed said. This would give the state almost $62,000 through April 22.

Speed estimates that approximately 3,000 more vehicles will be registered in the county during 1950. This will include new automobiles and trucks purchased and registrations for out-of-state cars whose owners will move to this county.

Clean-Up Poster Winners Announced

All school students entering posters in the JayCee-sponsored Clean-Up poster contest were awarded prizes, Lee Woods, chairman of the JayCee Schools Clean-Up Committee, announced Saturday.

Three Midland High School students who entered tied for the first place award and received $5 each. They are June Hildip and Cynthia Parker, both seniors, and James Johnson, freshman student.

Former Captain In Hungarian Guard Would Be Midland Citizen; Is Noted Tennis Star

By BOB PRENTISS

A young man who knows his way around, Paul Decleva, former Captain in the Hungarian guard, plans to settle down in Midland. And if he shows as much know-how once he's settled as he has in escaping from Hungary and getting to Midland, he'll be a ball of fire.

Already, Decleva, a clean-cut 26-year-old, has pulled the neatest trick of the year.

His permanent entry into the United States was sponsored by no less a foe of Displaced Persons than Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, the man who has, almost single-handed, held up the passage of the liberalized DP bill.

Details of the maneuver still are under-the-hat secret, but as Decleva says in his fluent English, "I happened to have the right connection."

Following four years of grammar school, and eight years in a "gymnasium" (the Hungarian name for junior and senior high school), Decleva attended the Hungarian West Point, and became an officer in the army. He fought against the Russians, and was wounded in a patrol action.

Following the war, he became a member of the Hungarian Guard, and was detailed as adjutant to the speaker of the Parliament—where he watched the Russians move in their tanks over. Finally, when his militant anti-communistic views became too widely-known for comfort, he pulled some strings and bought a passport.

By Way Of Sweden
However, even with a passport, he could not travel without a visa. The only available visa was to Sweden. He took it, and finally left the country. After months of delay, he finally was given a visitors visa to the United States, and arrived in New York in February of 1949.

While awaiting his passport from Sweden, Decleva, a noted tennis player in Hungary, designed a carrying case for tennis, badminton or squash equipment. In New York, he interested several sporting goods companies in the case, and is dickering with them for rights. Meantime, Vogue and Better Homes and Gardens among them—have run pictures of his case in their shopping hint columns. He expects to have the details of the agreement worked out soon.

Another complication of life in the United States was a complete lack of knowledge of English. But by dint of much reading, reference to a Hungarian-English dictionary, and talking to Americans, he learned to speak English.

No one is likely to mistake him for a native West Texan, but he can and does speak creditable English.

Decleva did considerable traveling while living in New York, making several trips to Detroit, a trip to the West Coast, and numerous short trips in New England.

It was not until late August that his "connection" came to light, with the subsequent result of his being granted a permanent residence in the United States. A special bill, introduced by Senator McCarran, did the trick.

While in New York, he became acquainted with the agent for a Swedish manufacturer of hand-finished silverware. He now has the agency for the beautiful ware, and is toying with plans to distribute it in Texas.

Lead Him To Midland
A friendship begun in Hungary led to his decision to investigate Midland as a home in America. In his position with the Parliament, Decleva became acquainted with General Key, head of the occupation forces in Hungary. He decided to look up General Key's son in the United States, and located him in Midland. He is William Key, proprietor of the Western Motel here, on West Highway 80.

Arriving in Midland, he was struck by the resemblance of the country to his native Hungarian lowlands—an area of barren ground, where cattle are the principle crop. Climate, terrain, and a friendly reception combined to cause him to decide on Midland as a permanent location.

Not yet ready to decide what his place here is, Decleva said he planned to look over the field before deciding.

"After all," he said, "being the adjutant to the speaker of the Hungarian Parliament, a tennis player, and a soldier isn't the best training for a career—but I'll work hard at whatever I can get to do."

But any man who can talk his way into a special bill in Congress, by the arch-foe of the DP's, seems to need no one to worry about him. Paul Decleva will get along.

Carnegie Heroism Medal Is Awarded Sherman Resident

PITTSBURGH —(P)— Fred A. Ryle of Sherman, Texas, has won the Carnegie Hero Commission's bronze medal for heroism.

Ryle, 38-year-old rail clerk, rescued John M. Bayless, 49, a baggage man, from burning wreckage after two passenger trains collided head-on near Comal, Texas, Dec. 10, 1947.

Four persons were killed and 50 injured in the crash.

Boilers of both locomotives exploded and the locomotives and seven of the cars piled up in a mass of twisted wreckage. Fuel oil from the tenders covered the wreckage and ignited in places.

Bayless, thrown from a baggage car and suffering a broken leg, lay directly under the precariously balanced baggage car, up-ended-over him. He called for help and attracted Ryle, who was trying to put out a fire nearby.

Despite his own shoulder injury, the danger the baggage car would topple, and the flames only four feet away, Ryle climbed over the wreckage to reach Bayless. He suffered cuts reaching Bayless, and then guided the injured man to safety—again crossing under the baggage car, climbing the roof of another car, and sliding down the side. Shortly afterward flames engulfed the wreckage.

Bayless was in a hospital 14 months, during which time his broken leg was amputated. Ryle recovered from his injuries.

The first recorded quarantine was set up in Venice during a 15th Century plague epidemic.

A-PCO Contracts Eight Andrews-Ector Wildcats

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation has contracted to start drilling on eight wildcats to test the San Andres-Permian lime, within the next 12 months, on Midland Farms property in Southeast Andrews and in Northeast Ector Counties.

The prospectors are to be drilled on eight different blocks of leases which Anderson-Prichard has acquired from David Easton and his mother, Mrs. Inez Fasken, both of Marin County, California, owners of the Midland Farms acreage. Each of the wildcats are slated to drill to around 5,000 feet. The eight blocks aggregate 21,578 acres, located in 49 1/2 sections.

Total area in the 49 1/2 sections exceeds 31,700 acres. The Faskens retained the leases on the acreage in those sections which are not included in the Anderson-Prichard deal.

In acquiring the eight blocks and assuming the obligation to drill the wildcats—one on each of the blocks—Anderson-Prichard exercised an option in a contract made six months ago.

At that time the concern secured a "shooting" option on certain acreage in the Midland Farms. Under that option Anderson-Prichard had the right to "shoot" the property, then pick certain amounts of acreage, with the understanding that the San Andres wildcats were to be drilled.

It is understood, that in the event Anderson-Prichard fails to start drilling during the next 12 months on any of the eight blocks that the lease on such blocks will revert to the Faskens.

No information is available regarding any cash bonus which may have been paid in the trade.

The complete list of the acreage secured by Anderson-Prichard has not been released.

New Discovery Is Assured In Kent

Barnsdall Oil Company and Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware are assured of flowing discovery at their No. 1 Spires, Central-South Kent County wildcat.

That development flowed a total of 200 barrels of 42-gravity oil to tanks in 12 hours, through a one-half inch choke. It filled all storage on the lease at the end of the 12 hours and is now shuttin to await the erection of more tanks.

There was a shakeout of four-tenths of one per cent basic sediment and acid water. Gas-oil ratio was 584-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 200 pounds. There was no formation water.

This production is from perforated section at 6,355-11 feet, in the top of the first Pennsylvanian lime encountered by the prospector.

Some geologists, who have examined the samples from the pay horizon think it is lower Canyon reef.

The perforated zone had been treated with 1,500 gallons of acid. Operators probably will take a potential gauge and complete the discovery early in the week.

Location is 3,300 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 22, block 4, H&GN survey. The new producer is six and one-half miles north of the Cogdell-Canyon field and 12 miles southwest of Clairmont.

It drilled to a total depth of 7,564 feet in barren Ellenburger. Operators plugged back to 6,864 feet and cemented 5 1/2-inch casing there to test the Pennsylvanian pay.

NE Garza Wildcat Is Drilling Sand

Ted Weiner, Sohio Petroleum Company, and associates, No. 1 Swenson, Northeast Garza County wildcat, had reached 6,505 feet in sand with a trace of glauconite and was drilling ahead.

This venture topped a Pennsylvanian lime at 6,262 feet, on a datum of minus 3,937 feet. It drilled to 6,232-71 feet and at 6,275-91 feet. Only drilling mud, with no signs of oil, gas or water, were recovered. It went out of the lime and into shale at 6,301 feet. It has logged only slight streaks of lime since penetrating below that level.

Location is at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 17, block 2, H&T survey. It is 12 miles northwest of Caroline Hunt trust estate No. 1 Young, flowing Canyon reef discovery in West-Central Kent County.

Clairmont Townsite Gets Four Ventures

Four different operators have filed applications with the Railroad Commission of Texas for permission to drill four semi-wildcats in the Clairmont townsite of Central Kent County.

All four ventures will be in section 10, block 58, H&T survey.

W. G. Payne of Midland No. 1 Joe Vogler will be 1,495.5 feet from south and 2,067.5 feet from west lines of the section, and on townlots 10, block 6.

Charles H. Poter of San Angelo No. 1 L. J. C. Beadle and others will be 1,907 feet from north and 2,347.5 feet from west lines of the section.

The Poter lease is on townsite 9, 10, 11, block 53.

Midlander Stakes One Charles R. Campbell of Midland No. 1 L. J. C. Beadle and others will be 1,907 feet from north and 2,572.2 feet from west lines of the section. The Campbell lease is on townsite 1, 2, and 3, block 53.

hours through a five-eight inch choke, from that zone.

There is a possibility, that if it fails to develop production in the Devonian, it will be plugged back and completed from the Pennsylvanian pay.

No Shows Logged By SE Nolan Test Ryan, Hays and Burke No. 1 Moore, Southeast Nolan County wildcat to 5,800 feet to test the Ellenburger failed to develop any signs of production in a drillstem test in the Marble Falls lime of the lower Pennsylvanian at 5,671-82 feet.

The tool was open for two hours. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil gas or water. The project is drilling deeper. It is due to find the Ellenburger soon.

Up to now, it has not found any possibilities of production. Location is 600 feet from south and east lines of section 181, block 84, H&T survey. That makes it one and one-half miles northeast of Hylton.

That exploration, located at the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 29-205-38 was finished for a daily initial production of 840 barrels of oil, flowing through a three-quarter inch choke on tubing, naturally.

There was no water. Gas-oil ratio was 539-1. The gas volume was at the rate of 452,000 cubic feet per day. Flowing casing pressure was 300 pounds.

The production came through perforations between 9,110 feet and 9,176 feet. The project drilled to total depth of 9,325 feet in the lower Simpson. It plugged back and cemented casing at 9,192 feet for the completion of the well.

Deep Wildcat Staked McAlester Fuel Company No. 1-A Brownfield is to be an 11,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Lea County, 12 miles east and slightly north of Tatum. It is located 850 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 24-125-37e. It was due to get rotary tools rigged up and start drilling at once.

Cubertson & Irwin, Inc., of Midland No. 1 Gilmore is to be a 5,000-foot prospector to explore into the lower Permian in South - Central Lea County.

It will be 15 miles south and west of the Lynch field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24-125-37e. Operations are to begin in the near future.

Allan Hargrave of Midland No. 1 Mascho is to be another South-Central Lea County wildcat. It is to be 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 24-225-33e. It is also contracted to drill to 5,000 feet. Actual work is to start in a short time.

No. 1 Kye Gauges Union Oil Company of California No. 1 Kye, wildcat in Central-East Lea County, 10 miles southeast of Hobbs, and 1,980 feet from south and 320 feet from west lines of section 5-205-39e, had swabbed and flowed an average of three barrels of oil per hour from open hole in the San Andres at 4,350-4,410 feet.

That zone had been shot with nitro glycerin and treated with two injections of acid. Operator has now re-treated with a 10,000-gallon acid shot, and is now swabbing to clean out, test, and complete. It probably will be completed as a small pumping discovery.

It drilled into the lower Permian and tested there. It made a little oil and considerable water and then plugged back to make an oil well in the San Andres.

Olen Featherstone No. 1 State is scheduled as a 3,700-foot wildcat in Northeast Eddy County, about two miles east of the Shugart shallow field.

The drillsite of the new exploration will be 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 36-185-31e. Work is to start soon.

Dry Hole Deepened DeKaib Agricultural Association, Inc., is to deepen No. 1 Compton-State, an old shallow dry hole in Central-Southeast Chaves County, from its present bottom of 2,126 feet to 2,500 feet to test into the San Andres-Permian.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 26-115-27e. It is two miles southwest of Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 State, recently completed Siluro-Devonian discovery. The DeKaib project is about 18 miles southeast of Roswell.

Union Oil Company of California No. 1 State-Fairbairn, Southeast Chaves County prospector, had reached 9,833 feet in a dry, hard, unidentified lime, and was making more hole. It has not reported having logged any possibilities of production.

The prospector is 10 miles south of the shallow Caprock field, and 2,080 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 24-145-31e.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Lightcap, in the panhandle of East-Central Chaves County, and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 6-35-30e, had progressed below 7,887 feet in a dry lime and shale and was drilling deeper.

Amerada Completes Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-BTE State, in the Hightower field of Northwest Lea County, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 23-125-33e, has been completed for a daily potential of 2,516 barrels of 59.2 gravity oil, flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke, from the Devonian.

The production is from open hole at 10,148-165 feet. That zone had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 481-1. Gas volume was at the rate of 1,210,000 cubic feet per day. Top of the Devonian is at 9,982 feet. Elevation is 4,254 feet.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Hobbs, Northwest Eddy County wildcat, 20 miles southwest of Artesia, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 24-205-24e, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 11,580 feet in Ellenburger dolomite.

This prospector did not log any signs of oil or gas in commercial quantities.

Champlin Changes Midland Offices The Midland district offices of Champlin Refining Company have been moved to the second floor of the West Texas Gas Company Building on North Colorado Street.

The concern formerly was located in the Crawford Hotel.

R. L. (Bobby) Walker is Champlin's district landman for the Permian Basin. J. K. Hartman is district geologist.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Imports Put Squeeze On Domestic Industry

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON—(AP)—Foreign oil has the domestic petroleum industry in a tight squeeze from two fronts.

Domestic independent operators still are voicing strong opposition to importation of foreign oil. American firms operating overseas are feeling a sharp pinch from Britain's new petroleum restrictions.

A House small business subcommittee last week toured five Southern and Southwestern states and heard testimony that the economy of the states is being threatened seriously because of curtailed crude production resulting from a flood of foreign oil.

Meanwhile, a major importer, Standard Oil (New Jersey), was advising its stockholders just how Britain's actions affected its operations.

The company's annual report said, in part: "Jersey's loss of sales in 1949, because of British trade and exchange restrictions, amounted to almost 16 million barrels of crude and products. This loss will increase in 1950 if the present restrictions continue."

The report then added: "The British measures include bilateral trade agreements and currency restrictions."

After the Jersey report a State Department official said the United States government is somewhat worried about displacement of American oil.

Robert Eakens, chief of the department's petroleum policy staff, said British oil in the past year had displaced about nine per cent of production of American companies operating overseas.

He indicated Britain has offered some concessions which might lead to a solution.

Meanwhile, the congressional subcommittee was hearing much anti-imports talk from Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas operators.

Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas said independent operators of his state are being frozen out of their home markets by foreign oil.

He said cutbacks in Arkansas crude production have reduced income of producers and royalty owners around $3,500,000.

Cause Curtailment Mississippi Gov. Fielding Wright said imports cost that state's production to be curtailed 1,743,000 barrels last year, with a state tax revenue loss of $1,021,889.

Texas state officials already had reported a crude oil tax revenue drop of $19,000,000 since December, 1948.

Witnesses before the subcommittee wanted immediate relief. But from Washington came indication Congress or the Administration will take no action at least for several months.

Various governmental agencies have released reports on petroleum demand during 1950.

The statistics included: Bureau of Mines—February crude and refined imports were 18.6 per cent below January. Exports in January-February were off 25.2 per cent.

Federal Power Commission—Operating revenues of natural gas companies in January was 13.6 per cent above the same month last year.

Bureau of Mines—Total demand for all petroleum products in January and February was 4.3 per cent above 1949; total demand for aviation gasoline was 26.1 per cent below the same two months last year, with 100 octane and above gasoline off 40 per cent.

Bureau of Internal Revenue—Federal gasoline tax receipts the first three months of the year were 23.2 per cent above 1949.

Levelland Gasoline Plant Formally Opened Saturday

LEVELLAND—The Levelland gasoline plant, operated by Stanolind Oil and Gas Company as a gas conservation project, formally was opened just before noon Saturday in dedication ceremonies held at the plant site.

Designed and built to help conserve the natural resources of Texas, the plant will extract many valuable products from casinghead gas which could not be recovered in any other way.

Butane, propane and natural gasoline are extracted from the gas, then these products and the residue gas are sold for residential and commercial use. At the Levelland plant the residue will be sold to the El Paso Natural Gas Company for transportation to metropolitan areas. The Levelland plant employs more than 65 men whose annual payroll is more than $280,000 per year.

Hundreds attended the dedication ceremonies and barbecue at the plant site, three miles west of Levelland. Thousands more heard the broadcast of the ceremonies over the combined facilities of radio stations KLVV, Levelland, and Lubbock stations KSEL, KCOBD and KFYO. Guests at the plant included employees and executives of oil companies operating in the Levelland field, state officials, and civic leaders in the area.

William J. Murray, Jr., chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, was principal speaker at the ceremonies marking the opening of this newest plant in the South Plains area of Texas. Also present was Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad Commission. James E. Pew, manager of the gas division of Sun Oil Company, served as master of ceremonies.

Following the dedication the plant was open for public inspection from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Plant employees served as guides in showing visitors through the plant area.

Participating Owners
Stanolind Oil and Gas Company operates the plant for the 11 participating owners. Owners include Stanolind, The Texas Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Bid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, Tide Water Associated Oil Company, Superior Oil Company, Sun Oil Company, Kewanee Oil Company, Skelly Oil Company, Maracabo Oil Exploration Corporation, and Cobb and Watson.

The plant is situated near the middle of the Levelland field in the center of Hockley County. Gas for processing is taken from some 890 wells in the field.

The Levelland plant is designed with a capacity of 40 million cubic feet and a recovery of 130,000 gallons daily. This includes 60,000 gallons of 12-pound natural gasoline, 40,000 gallons of butane, and 30,000 gallons of propane.

Plant officials include Mitt Dowling, plant superintendent; J. A. Ayling, plant foreman; R. N. Hall, plant engineer; and R. A. Sawyer, plant clerk.

Contractor Preparing To Start On Addition To Magnolia Building

J. W. Bateson, Inc., general contractor for the erection of three new floors for the Magnolia Petroleum Company Building in Midland, is preparing to start work on that job.

Material is being moved in and actual construction will begin shortly.

The three new floors will double the floor space in the building, which now has a full basement and two floors above ground.

To Enlarge Staffs
The building houses the offices of the Western division of Magnolia Petroleum Company and of Magnolia Petroleum Company's West Texas division production and drilling department, and the same concern's West Texas district land and geological departments.

The additional space will be used to enlarge the staffs of the various departments, that is being made necessary by the expansion of the company's operations in this territory.

The original building, erected several years ago represented an investment of around $200,000. The three new floors likely will cost that much or more.

RRC Sets Policy On Special Well Permits In Scurry, Kent Areas

The Railroad Commission of Texas has issued a statement regarding its policy on applications for drilling petroleum explorations in Scurry and Kent Counties, which are on special spacing patterns.

That statement, signed by William J. Murray, Jr., chairman, and Ernest O. Thompson and Olin Culbertson, the two other members of the commission, is:

"The commission, in conference, agreed that our policy on Rule 37 permits to drill wells as exceptions to spacing rules in the various Scurry and Kent County fields will be as follows:

"(1) We will grant an exception to drill a well on each separate tract regardless of size which was not subdivided in violation of Rule 37.

"(2) If an operator has room on a lease to drill a regular location and there are no surface or geological reasons justifying a deviation from the spacing rules for the field, then an exception will not be granted simply to locate a well as an equivalent offset to a well which has been drilled in the center of a small tract.

"(3) A second well will not be granted on a tract unless the tract contains more than 60 productive acres. This is for the reason that the applicable field rules grant 20-acre tolerance and an operator can gain credit for all of his acreage up to 60 acres with one well. The same rule will apply for larger tracts. A fourth well will not be granted unless there are more than 100 acres; a fourth well unless there are more than 140 acres etc.

"(4) Right-of-way will be treated the same as any other tract; that is, a first well will be granted regardless of the right-of-way concerns in excess of 60 productive acres.

"There may be existing circumstances which will justify, in the opinion of the commission, exceptions to these rules but this represents the general policy which it is our intention to follow."

Weyel Is Named Manager Of SAEC

E. G. Weyel, former district engineer for the Railroad Commission of Texas, has been named manager of the Scurry Area Engineering Committee.

Weyel will collect and correlate reports on production operations in Scurry area oil fields and make such information available to members of the committee, announced W. N. (Bill) Little of Midland, temporary chairman of the location, personnel, and facilities committee.

SAEC offices are located in room 209 in the Crawford Hotel, Midland. Little announced that an office secretary will be employed in the near future.

The majority of the 68 Scurry area oil operators are members of this conservation group.

Change Of Rule On Dual Completions To Be Considered

The question of allowing oil operators to dually complete wells in various oil fields of Texas without having to secure a special permit for each well, will be considered by the Railroad Commission of Texas at a hearing in Austin on May 16.

At present a special hearing must be held on each application for a dual completion—that is completing an oil well to produce from two separate and distinct pay horizons. Operators will be allowed to present evidence either for or against the proposal that a general order be issued by the commission which would automatically allow dual completions.

Midland And PBE Are Featured In Oil, Gas Journal

Midland and Midlanders are featured prominently in the annual West Texas (April 27) issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, which devotes page after page to stories, pictures, statistics, charts and maps in telling the story of oil in the Permian Basin Empire.

James C. Watson, oil editor of The Reporter-Telegram, is the author of the editor's principal story on West Texas petroleum. In his feature article, Watson reviews the history of oil in the Permian Basin from the time of the discovery of the Westbrook Field in 1891 to the latest 1950 discoveries. Production figures, producing horizons, known reserves, drilling operations and future possibilities of the vast Permian Basin are mentioned in the story.

"Meet Midland, West Texas Oil Headquarters" is the title of another feature story appearing in the special edition. An aerial view of Midland, showing the numerous oil Midlanders' pictures downtown section, accompanies the article.

"Third Largest State" Another story terms the Permian Basin Empire as the "third largest oil state."

Murray and W. H. Crenshaw of Midland are co-authors of an illustrated article, "Developments in Corrosion Prevention in West Texas." Murray and Crenshaw are co-owners of the Crenshaw Plastic Products Company of Midland.

Still another article by two Midlanders, J. H. Bartley and R. T. Cox, appears in the magazine. Cox, Johnson, Sundown, district engineer, T-NMPLC; W. E. Erwin, Mabee Ranch, field clerk-warehouse man, Mabee field; J. O. Coffey, Crane, production foreman; J. H. Massey, Mabee Ranch, district well shooter; and B. A. Kelly, Midland, assistant district warehouse man, A. E. (Bert) Warner of Midland, district warehouse man, and a 37-year Texaco employee was chairman of arrangements for the banquet and presided at the meeting. All persons shown in the pictures are with The Texas Company, except those designated as T-NMPLC employees.

The lower row shows the 25-year men. They are, from left to right, C. F. Johnson, Sundown, district engineer, T-NMPLC; W. E. Erwin, Mabee Ranch, field clerk-warehouse man, Mabee field; J. O. Coffey, Crane, production foreman; J. H. Massey, Mabee Ranch, district well shooter; and B. A. Kelly, Midland, assistant district warehouse man, A. E. (Bert) Warner of Midland, district warehouse man, and a 37-year Texaco employee was chairman of arrangements for the banquet and presided at the meeting. All persons shown in the pictures are with The Texas Company, except those designated as T-NMPLC employees.

John Emery Adams, vice president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, and E. Russell Lloyd, who recently was named an honorary member of the AAPG, are featured in the special issue. Both are Midland geologists. Harry C. Trimble, who moved here recently to establish a new headquarters for the A-1 Bit and Tool Company, also is pictured.

The Permian Meadows fields come in for considerable discussion in an article, "Midland and Upton Counties, West Texas," site of most intensive deep drilling projects in Midland Basin. Frederick Shepherd and Malcolm E. Wilson, Jr., of the General American Oil Company, Dallas, are the authors. And of course amazing Scurry County comes in for a big story, "The Permian Play in the Journal's current issue."

Carr Resigns As TXL Field Man

Robert G. Carr of San Angelo has resigned as field representative of the Texas Pacific Land Trust, which owns more than 2,000,000 acres in West Texas. His resignation will be effective July 1.

Carr will continue to reside in San Angelo and maintain his office to look after personal interests, principally in the Permian Basin.

Future plans of Texas Pacific Land Trust for handling its holdings, usually designated as TXL, will be announced later. The concern with offices in Dallas and New York has oil production on its lands in Stephens, Mitchell, Howard, Glasscock, Reagan, Upton, Crane, Ernt, Loving, Reeves and Pecos Counties.

Carr and Preston G. Northrup went to San Angelo from Houston 24 years ago as Texas Pacific Land Trust representatives. Carr continued in that capacity when Northrup moved to San Antonio in 1934.

Carr is a trustee of both Texas Christian University and San Angelo College.

Reef Study Group Begins Two-Year Program In Area

D. H. Eargle, reef study project chief of the United States Geological Survey, has outlined at least a two-year study program of oil-bearing reef formations in the Permian Basin.

At present, Eargle and two assistants are extensively collecting cores from the Scurry County reef area, analyzing these samples, then comparing them with samples from other known reef formations in the state.

Cores, electric logs and well logs made in the immediate area of the producing reefs are being evaluated by skilled paleontologists.

Also surface geology affecting the Pennsylvanian formations will be studied minutely.

From the outcrop of the Pennsylvanian section in Brown County, the USGS group hopes to plot more accurately than ever before, by means of core samples, the contour of the Permian reef area.

The group not only hopes to be able to trace formations, but also faunal and lithologic zones from one area to another and to conclude with a complete picture of environmental conditions under which reefs began and continued to grow.

The reef study project is a cooperative study by USGS and Bureau of Economic Geology. Temporary West Texas headquarters of the group is in the old Midland airport. Almost 10 tons of samples are being stored there preparatory to shipment to Austin for further study.

The reef study group in the area at present is comprised of Eargle, group chief; Bill Heck, geologist; and Keith Yenne, paleontologist. Heck and Yenne work out of Midland.

Tech Students Find Ancient Mammals

LUBBOCK—Fossil remains believed to be 500,000 years old were discovered by a group of Texas Technological college students on a field trip near Lubbock.

Working under the direction of Dr. G. E. Meade, associate professor of geology, the students found fossils of a prehistoric elephant, horses, camels and a wolf.

Meade said that discovery of the ancient mammals had been found on the South Plains previously, but he pointed out that discovery of fossils has become a rare occurrence in the area.

Basin API Learns Research Is Key To Rapid Progress

By JACK BENEFIELD
Reporter-Telegram Oil Writer

"Few good inventions are due to brainstorming alone," stated Dr. William B. Mathers, chairman of Mineral Technology division of the Southwest Research Institute, of San Antonio Friday night at a meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute in Odessa.

Mathers attributes the unprecedented number of useful inventions in recent years to research, which he defines as an organized way of finding out how to do something you cannot do now.

There are 3,000 scientific research laboratories in the United States, in which work more than 150,000 men are employed in the United States that over two billion dollars are spent on research yearly.

Relating research to the petroleum industry, Mathers pointed out that 5.7 million barrels of petroleum are used daily in the United States. Government statisticians estimate that this need will grow to 9.1 million barrels in 1975. But in 1975, he stated, the United States will be unable to produce 4.7 billion barrels daily.

It will be research that will furnish some substitute for petroleum within the next 25 years.

Already, he pointed out, gasoline is being produced from coal and shale.

To Help Industries
The Southwest Research Institute, along with the Foundation of Applied Research and Inventive Engineering, is organized to develop new industries and expand old ones. Southwest, but it has grown out of geographic boundaries.

Mathers stated that 35 per cent of the mineral production in the United States is in the Southwest, yet it has very small portion of the industries.

The inventive research department of the institute aids men with prospective ideas who do not have the research facilities to perfect the ideas into realities.

Since 1946, this department has received 37,518 ideas for inventions. However, said Mathers, only 200 are in various stages of development. Non-Profits Service.

The aid which the institute furnishes the inventor is non-profit. If the invention is manufactured, the institute charges only enough to pay expenses of its part of the research.

Some of the inventions received by the institute are: cocktail table and baby crib; triangular bucket (to be manufactured soon); canned sand; typewriter ribbons that will last nine months; and an anti-discourager.

Approximately 400 Basin API members attended the meeting held in the Ector County Park in Odessa, Texas. Chuck Wagner, General served barbecue after the program.

C. R. Smith, section chairman, announced June 2 as the last meeting until next fall. Featured on June program will be Robert Stripling, Scurry county reef area for the U. S. - American Activities Committee of the United States Congress.

IPAA Will Consider Basic Problems Of Oil Industry At Los Angeles Meeting

LOS ANGELES—Leaders of the domestic petroleum industry will be concerned with "three economic factors" when the Independent Petroleum Association of America meets here May 7-9.

Russell B. Brown, IPAA general counsel, said Saturday that the three factors which make up the "economic climate" necessary to the health of the domestic oil producing industry are 1) adequate price, 2) stability of the oil tax base, and 3) a fair tax base.

"Each of these factors is as important as another and all are interrelated," Brown said. "Without a price which takes into account the costs of discovering, developing and producing, the oil industry would soon become a liquidating business regardless of volume sold."

Cover Basic Problems
"But it would not matter what the price was unless enough oil could be sold to return a profit," he added, "and neither price nor market outlet would matter if too great a part of the income went for taxes."

"As simple as these principles are, they encompass the basic problems of oil industry operations and more time should be given to these basic questions instead of being drawn away by details."

Brown said the nation's independent oil producers have shown the ability from "the beginning of their history" to devise plans "for common attack on their common problems."

"Our mid-year meeting in Los Angeles offers an opportunity for decisions which will be of great importance in the serious times that are upon us," he said.

Standing committees of IPAA will meet here May 7, with general sessions to be held May 8 and 9. The meeting will be headquartered in the Biltmore hotel.

Flood To Conduct Short Course For Engineers At Tech

A short course of four days will be conducted for the petroleum engineering department of Texas Technological College at Lubbock on May 8 through 12, by Lee Flood, Midland consulting petroleum engineer.

The course will deal with the use of dynamometers and the interpretation of dynamometer cards in connection with the operation of pumping oil wells.

The dynamometer is an instrument for measuring the efficiency of pumping equipment in oil wells.

The short course will combine the actual use of the dynamometer in oil wells in the Lee Harrison field, a few miles east of Lubbock, with showing of pictorial slides, and lectures by Flood.

The dynamometers, and the slides and projector will be provided by Johnson & Fagg Engineering Company of Tulsa, oil field specialties manufacturing concern.

Primary purpose of the short course is to instruct the 90 men who are enrolled in the class in pumping unit design at the Lubbock college, in the use and application of dynamometers.

However arrangements have been made to include a limited number of engineers and production men from oil companies in the Lubbock area, as guests for the course.

Other Courses Held
Similar short courses have recently been held in Midland and Odessa for oil company employees.

Dynamometers have recently been put in operation in the Permian Basin by Gulf Oil Corporation, Amerada Petroleum Corporation, Sunray Oil Corporation and Cities Service Oil Company, according to Flood.

Buchanan Opens Downtown Office

Permian Basin division offices of Al Buchanan Drilling Company have been established in room 3 in the McClintock Building in Midland.

The concern established its headquarters in Midland several months ago. Until recently the offices were at the residence of J. B. (Joe) Buchanan, division manager for the company.

Bob Franklin of Midland is division drilling superintendent. The Buchanan organization now has several rotary rigs operating in this region.

Midland Country Club Preps For PGA

Byron Nelson, Raymond Gafford To Head Field

The Midland Country Club, a favorite golfing spot of West Texas, is preparing for the biggest links event ever to come to Midland. It's the Texas PGA Tournament, running May 29 through June 4, which will bring the top professional and amateur golfers of the state here.

Byron Nelson, the famous Lord Byron, heads a list of more than 50 nationally-known pros. He has a golfing history which has been unmatched down through the years. Nelson has won tournament titles all over the United States and more recently won the Texas PGA title in 1948.

Byron Nelson

Raymond Gafford, defending champion who annexed the championship in 1940, will be on hand to battle for the crown again. He is a prominent Dallas pro.

Jimmy Demaret, who won the title consecutively from 1934 through 1938 and who is cutting a wide circle in the national picture now, is another probable entry. He came back to take the crown again in 1945.

More than 70 professionals are assured for the tournament and the total may run upward of 100, bringing many from other parts of the state and all of those in West Texas.

The amateur field also will be studied with stars whose names currently are in the news. Billy Maxwell, Don Cherry, Tony Penna, Tony Butler and Marion Pfleger are just a few of those who will make the meet.

Although the stars will be favored, it is highly possible that an unknown will boom into the picture and take high honors. The field will be one filled with capable golfers from start to finish.

Qualifying will be held May 29 at the same time the Qualifying Round for the National Open is held.

Top 50 Amateurs
The top 50 qualifying amateurs and an expected 70 professionals will battle in the tournament proper. An elaborate program of festivities has been planned for the visiting golfers. Several of them, including Nelson and Gafford, have engagements to appear before service clubs while here.

Pro J. C. Hardwicke said Nelson also will stage his golf clinic during the tournament.

Reservations have been coming in several weeks and the daily number is increasing. The event no doubt will draw more than twice as many to Midland as any other in history.

Professionals who already have entered include: Byron Nelson; Raymond Gafford, Dallas; Art Colver, Dallas; Harvey Penick, Austin; Ralph Morgan, Tyler; Shorty Hornbuckle, Odessa; Warren Smith, San Antonio; Jack Harden, El Paso; Wally Harden, El Paso; C. Rain, Cold Protect Records In Annual Drake Cinder Event
Qualifying will be held May 29 at the same time the Qualifying Round for the National Open is held.

DES MOINES—(P)—Mud-splattered broke one in the finals of the Drake Relays.

The record smasher was Don Cooper, Nebraska pole vaulter. He cleared 14 feet, one inch.

The previous mark of 14 feet 1 1/8 inch was by Beetus Bryan of Texas ten years ago.

Oklahoma A&M won three of the university relays—the two mile in 7:51.9, the half mile in 1:26.7 and the mile in 3:15.2.

The Aggies, surprising Rice in the mile relay, bettered last year's time of 3:16.4.

North Texas State Teachers and Michigan Normal duelled in a very close finish in the college 440-yard relay. The judges ruled that Jerome Zabolnik of North Texas edged Garion Campbell of Michigan Normal by the narrowest margin. The winning time was 42.5.

Parker Runs Third
Paul Bienz, Tulane, defended his championship in the 100 yard dash in .097, a tenth-second faster than a year ago. Texas' Charles Parker, finishing third, lost his first century of the season.

The 220-yard high hurdles race won by Texas A&M's Paul Leming in 24.2.

Tobin Rote, Rice Institute, won the javelin throw with a toss of 185 feet, 3 1/2 inches.

Oilers Bop Tribe 14-4

The Midland Indians try the Odessa Oilers again at 3 p. m. Sunday in Indian Park. The Indians had no luck against Ray Knoblauch Saturday night and will be trying for their first victory over the Oilers when they face Frank Dugger.

Veteran Eric Nelson is the probable starter for Midland. He has a 2-0 record to put on the line.

Ray Knoblauch, a pitcher with only a mediocre record last season, handcuffed the Midland Indians on six hits Saturday night as he hurled the Odessa Oilers to a 14 to 4 victory in Indian Park.

The Oilers were off like race horses from the first inning. The fingers all turned to thumbs in the Midland infield and Odessa counted three runs on one hit.

Ralph Blair, the starting hurler for Midland, had control trouble in the second and was yanked with the bases loaded. Manager Harlod Webb dug up Nick Balfe, a Berger castoff, who finished.

Balfe looked good in spots but had his troubles at other odd times. Odessa added five in the second when Balfe gave up a bases loaded double to Leo Eastham. One more in the third on a single by Barney Palmer and a triple by Les Palmer put the "sin town" boys well on the road.

Midland notched one in the fourth on Balfe's single after Windy Eldridge had walked. Eldridge stopped the Women's Cross Country Weather-vane Open golf tournament.

Power hitting Mrs. George (Babe Didriksen) Zaharias and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, shooting 79's, led the professional entries in the rich, $17,000 event, a 144-hole test which will be played in 36-hole stages across the continent.

Tall Beverly Hanson of India, who bagged the California state amateur crown Friday in San Francisco, came home in brilliant fashion to tie her pro rivals with a 79.

Alice Shoots Big 90
The second eighteen will be played Sunday, after which the entries in the long distance links race will move on to Prairie View, then to Cleveland and finally the wind-up in White Plains, N. Y.

The professional debut of 18-year-old Marlene Bauer, one of the sensational sisters duo from Midland, Texas, was postponed when the youngster was kept from starting because of an infected throat.

A doctor ordered her confined to bed. Marlene's sister, Alice, 22, made her professional start, however, and turned in a 45-45-90.

The younger of the Bauer girls will swing into action next weekend when the field plays at Prairie View, near Chicago.

As the result of her illness, Marlene will not be eligible for the grand prize of $5,000 to go to the low scorer for the total 144 holes. She will have a go at the lesser purses, however. The professional winner of each 36 holes in the four tournaments will receive $3,000.

Comanches, Junior Versions Of Indians, Rip Terminal, 19-10
The Midland Comanches, a junior size version of the Midland Indians, lashed a team of juniors from Midland Air Terminal by a 19 to 10 score Saturday morning on the Junior High School diamond.

Rennie Dyer, aided by good hitting from Gary Howard, Bill Dillard and Arthur Mayhew, notched the victory. He struck out seven. Dillard and Mayhew clouted home runs and Howard had a perfect day at the plate, hitting five for five.

Phils Nip Late Boston Rally In Winning 2-1

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—Rookie Pitcher Bob Miller choked off a ninth-inning Boston rally Saturday to win 2-1 for the Philadelphia Phillies. Miller singled in the third to help the Phillies make their winning run.

The 24-year-old Miller limited the Braves to six hits while striking out seven and walking five. He was particularly tough in the clutch.

In the ninth the Braves loaded the bases after two were out, but Miller got Earl Torgeson on a liner to Del Ennis in rightfield. Sam Jethroe, fleet Boston outfielder, was the only man who caused the youngster trouble. Jethroe had two hits, including a ninth-inning double and was nipped at home by a step on an attempted double steal in the seventh.

The score:

Boston..... 100 000 000—1 6 1
Philadelphia 002 000 000—2 12 3

Midland Colts Play Sunday In Odessa

The Midland Colts, crack Latin American baseball team, will seek their fourth victory of the season Sunday afternoon when they meet the Odessa Stars in Odessa.

The Colts boast a heavy hitting attack and good pitching but will be up against a strong club.

Odessa added five in the second when Balfe gave up a bases loaded double to Leo Eastham. One more in the third on a single by Barney Palmer and a triple by Les Palmer put the "sin town" boys well on the road.

Midland notched one in the fourth on Balfe's single after Windy Eldridge had walked. Eldridge stopped the Women's Cross Country Weather-vane Open golf tournament.

Longhorn-Bear Tie In 1941 Voted Top Texas Sports Upset

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS—(P)—It was Nov. 9, 1941, and the greatest University of Texas football team of all time was thinking about the Rose Bowl.

Ranked No. 1 in the nation, called a certainty for the Pasadena classic, the Longhorns swaggered into Waco to play a Baylor team that had been crushed 48-0 by Texas A&M and was in the midst of one of its worst seasons in history.

The top sports writers skipped this game and went down to College Station, where A&M was playing Southern Methodist. They couldn't see any point in watching Texas manhandle Baylor.

But the singing wires that night carried the story of the greatest upset in Southwest Conference football history—Baylor had tied Texas 7-7. The Rose Bowl Express had been derailed.

The memorable game will stand out forever in the annals of Southwestern football. Fifteen seconds to go, Texas leading 7-0, Kit Kittler passed like a bullet into the end zone. There on his knees was little Bill Coleman. He gathered the ball into his arms and it was a Baylor touchdown. Jack Wilson kicked the extra point and the "greatest team in Southwest Conference history" became a bitter memory.

Aggie Upset Second
Texas sports writers Saturday selected that as the greatest upset in this state's sports history. They gave it 144 points to beat out another game in which Texas played—this one more on the shining side—for the honor. The 7-0 upset of Texas A&M by Texas in 1940 was voted second place with 90 points.

A&M had won 19 straight games until that day.

Third place in the poll went to Southern Methodist's great battle against Notre Dame in 1949 when Notre Dame, favored to win by 40 points, had to call on every ounce of strength to beat the Methodists 27-20.

Tied for fourth were Texas Christian's 14-7 defeat of Texas in 1941 and Texas' 7-6 win over Texas A&M in 1938.

Other upsets receiving votes were Texas A&M's 14-14 tie with Texas in 1948, Stanford's 7-0 defeat of Southern Methodist in the 1936 Rose Bowl, Texas A&M's 13-0 win over Texas in 1915 and Almarillo High School's 48-0 victory over Corpus Christi in the Texas school football finals of 1934.

King Ranch Entry Plows Mud To Win Big Jamaica Event

NEW YORK (AP)—Better Self Texas owned, trained and hidden—won Jamaica's richest race, the $60,900 Gallant Fox Handicap Saturday by showing utter disregard for light rain and a muddy track.

Robert J. Kieberg's veteran, earning his first success in three 1950 starts, sped to a front-running length and a quarter victory over the mile and three-sixteenths route.

Chicle 2nd, an Argentine five-year-old representing the Palatine Stable of Philadelphia's Frank Loosen, stayed off Alfred Vanderbilt's sluggish Loser Weeper by a head to finish second.

Flying Missile, an entry with the winner, finished fourth.

The crowd of 34,578 established the Kieberg pair favorite at $6.50 for two.

The victory was worth $42,800 to Kieberg.

Cotton
NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were strong in active dealings Saturday. Final prices were 15 cents to $1.20 a bale higher. May 32.78, July 32.83 and October 31.77.

Browns Hold Tribe To Six Hits, Win 5-1
CLEVELAND (AP)—The St. Louis Browns out down Cleveland 5-1 Saturday, knocking Bob Lemon out of the box. Joe Ostrowski held the Tribe to six hits. Ray Coleman's home run in the sixth started a three-run blast which retired Lemon and stopped the Browns' losing streak at five games.

After Coleman's homer, Ken Woods followed with a double and Hank Artt walked. When Sherman Lollar started to leave in Wood, Marino Pieretti replaced Lemon on the mound. Before he could put out the fire, Leo Thomas, the third baseman St. Louis bought from Cleveland, singled in another run.

St. Louis already had scored in the second. Off Rookie Dick Rosek in the eighth, they added another run.

Cleveland's run came in the seventh.

Champion's Swing

Gloria Ezell displays the swing of a champion—the swing that brought her the Midland Country Club Women's Golf Tournament title Saturday. Mrs. Ezell took medalist honors the first day of the tourney and swept straight through to the crown, beating a former champion, Mrs. Essie Stafford, in the finals.

Bulldogs Go Into Second Week Of Training Monday

The Midland Bulldogs go into their second week of Spring training Monday at Memorial Stadium and Coach Tugboat Jones has plans for business to pick up.

Three stiff drills were held last week after training got underway on Wednesday. The Bulldogs showed enthusiasm galore and got in some good licks.

The linemen, led by Let-terman Dalton Byerley, Pete English, Bob Wood, Stan Coker, Jerry Culp and Jimmy O'Neal, were introduced to the blocking dummy. The sound of popping leather was evidence of the goody amount of weight the Purple forward wall will throw at 10 opponents next season.

Coach Red Rutledge sent his end candidates through both offensive and defensive maneuvers. Dwane Bush, Jimmy Lineberger, W. H. Black, Bill Medart and Graham Mackey head the group of more than 20 hopefuls now working out.

Backfield Combinations
The backfield got its individual tutoring from Head Coach Jones. The emphasis is on speed in handling the ball and in getting into motion.

Coach Jones is experimenting with several backfield combinations each of which features a passer.

Ralph Brooks, Reed Gilmore, L. C. Thomas, Jack Burris, Charles Crowley and Roy Kinsey are battling for the starting assignments.

New plays are being introduced along which are designed to give the Bulldog offensive more variety. The single and double wing formations still will be basic.

Drills will continue until May 27, when an intra-squad game under the lights will be held to end the Spring season.

The Philadelphia Athletics this season have five men who were with other big league teams last Fall—Bob Dillinger, Ed Killeman, Joe Tippin, Billy Hitchcock and Paul Lehner.

Cats Nip Indians

BALLINGER—The Ballinger Cats took the final game of their three-game series with the Midland Indians here Friday night, outlasting the Harpid Webb's Tribe 13 to 12 in an 11-inning tussle.

George Firnbach and Kenny Jones homered for the Indians and Jones, Lou Dawson and John Singleton chipped in with doubles but the Cats wouldn't be stopped.

The score was tied 9-9 at the end of the third. Midland went ahead on a four-run uprising in the sixth, but Ballinger tied it up again in the last of the ninth.

Calvin Braden's grounder with one out in the eleventh scored Lyle Christian with the winning run.

Ellana Eastham Is Garden Tea Honoree

Miss Eastham's marriage to Frederick D. O'Connor of Bronville, N. Y., is planned for May 20 and she is being entertained with a series of pre-nuptial parties.

She and her mother, Mrs. Harris Eastham, received guests with the hostesses. The honoree was wearing a formal dress of electric blue lace over blue organdy, in bouffant style, with lily-of-the-valley corsage.

Callers registered at a table in the den where Mrs. Evans Dunn presided. A bouquet of yellow snapdragons decorated the table. Others in the house party were Shirley Culbertson, Ann Porterfield, Mrs. John Dorn, Mrs. Paul Jordan, Mrs. Dayton Bliven, Mrs. Frank Paup and Mrs. Dub Tillitt.

A formal tea table in the dining room was appointed in bridal white. It was covered with a Venice lace cloth and centered with white flowers. From the centerpiece, white satin streamers extended across the table, holding clusters of lilies-of-the-valley. White flowers and candles were arranged on the buffet. The green and white color theme was repeated in the living room.

Red roses were used on the punch table and elsewhere in the outdoor living room and court. The table was set under a garden umbrella. Garden flowers in bloom and in baskets added color to the setting.

An earlier courtesy for Miss Eastham was a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Paul Oles and Mrs. H. C. Wheeler in Mrs. Oles' home. An arrangement of pastel Spring flowers with a small umbrella shading them was the centerpiece for the serving table. Mrs. Harvey Hardison poured. About 45 guests attended.

Earlier parties included a luncheon in the Midland Country Club given by Mrs. Albert Kelley and Mrs. Hugh Munn. Small satin streamers with small daisies attached extended from the centerpiece of pastel Spring flowers to each place card. The honoree was presented with a corsage of iris and a gift of china. Sixteen persons attended.

Lady Golfers Plan Parties For Tourney

Entertainment of the out-of-city guests who will be here this week for the annual Women's Invitation Golf Tournament at the Midland Country Club was the chief topic of discussion for members of the Ladies Golf Association at their luncheon in the clubhouse Friday.

There will be no luncheon next Friday because of the tournament, but a continental dinner is scheduled at 7 p. m. instead. Working Mothers Needn't Feel Guilty Of Neglecting Children

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A working mother who is holding down a job through necessity, not from choice, tells me that she often feels guilty because she can't give more time to her children.

She shouldn't feel guilty at all, but proud that she can earn the pay check that is necessary to the family's welfare.

With a little help from her husband she can even see to it that the children take pride in her job, too, instead of feeling that they are being cheated because their mother doesn't stay at home every day.

And there is this for the working mother to remember: It isn't so much the quantity of time and attention you spend on your children as the quality.

Some mothers who stay home all day long and think they are doing everything for their children actually don't do much to make them happy and secure because the quality of their companionship isn't high.

Can Be Poor Company
A mother who nags constantly, or who ruins the fun she tries to give her children by being cross and irritable, or who is always complaining because the children tie her down, doesn't do much for her children just by staying home.

But if a working mother sees to it that her children know she enjoys being with them, and if she makes the time she can give them pleasant and profitable, then she has no need to feel guilty because she can't give them more of her time.

With children it's the quality of companionship that is remembered through the years. A good mother can give her children more of herself in two or three hours than a poor mother gives in a whole day. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Let Beauty Go To Your Head

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

For years, doctors have been advocating that women relax with their feet up. As a beauty aid, this position can be used to good advantage. Nature did not intend that your blood should rush to your feet all of the time.

Whenever you have the time, get out your ironing board, prop one end up on the seat of a divan or sturdy upholstered chair, and let the other end of the board rest on the floor. Then lie down on the board, feet up, for 10 or 15 minutes. Stay there longer if you can afford the time.

The blood will rush out of your feet and back to your head, acting as a beauty stimulant. If your ironing board is not detachable, lie down on the floor with pillows placed under you so that you achieve a nearly straight line from shoulders to feet. Your feet, of course, will be propped on a chair seat.

You'll find that after practicing this daily, your hair and skin will look and feel better.

COOK THE JUICE IN

Modern cooking experts suggest that you do not prick the skin when roasting a duck. Pricking allows some of the meat juices to run out during roasting and does not increase the amount of fat that cooks out.

Care Required To Keep Hands Lovely

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Your hands will show lack of care more quickly than any other part of your body. Therefore, as you do your housework, take precautions—gloves, soap, hand lotion and hand cream—to keep your hands from going rough and red.

When you wash dishes, don't put your hands in hot dishwasher without first slipping on rubber gloves. Use rubber gloves for any household task involving the use of water.

For all other cleaning, use fabric gloves. Before you put them on, coat your hands thoroughly with a good hand cream. The combination of cream and the exercise your hands get will act as a beauty treatment. When you take off the gloves, massage your hands, working from the tips to the palms. This will absorb any remaining hand cream.

Keep a bottle of hand lotion near the kitchen sink. It's quicker than hand cream so you'll use it more often. Remember to dig your nails into a cake of soap before you begin any cleaning job, even though you're wearing gloves. The soap will keep dirt from caking under your nails. Dirt can penetrate gloves at times.

Use a nail brush frequently during the day, particularly after eating in the kitchen. The soap will be used on any outdoor chores. Wear gloves for outdoor tasks, of course, and see that they are washable white cotton. Keep several pairs so that you always have a clean pair on hand.

The program will be the last on the Woman's Club schedule for this season, although a final business session has been called May 18 by Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, president.

Sherrills At Home Here After Wedding In Seminole Church

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sherrill, Jr. are at home at 405 North Pecos Street after their wedding last Sunday and a short trip.

Mrs. Sherrill is the former Jean Fay Alger of Midland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Singleton of Seminole. Sherrill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sherrill of San Angelo. The wedding was performed by the Rev. Sam Malone, pastor in the Seminole Baptist Church.

Mrs. Bill Roach of Canyon was matron of honor and Dolores Walden of Odessa was the bridesmaid. Thurmon H. Smith of Morton served as best man and Bill Roach of Canyon and Harold Elder of Seagraves were ushers. Ethel Marie Johnson of Canyon was the flower girl and Mickey Fay Story and Ann Pirtle of Seminole were the candle-lighters.

Wears Slipper Satin
Jerry Malone, Wayland Baptist College student, played the pre-nuptial music and Jeanine Blank of Midland and Margaret Wade of Denver City sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a white slipper satin dress fashioned with a deep marquisette yoke accented with Chantilly lace, a fitted bodice and long sleeves which came to points over the hands. The full skirt extended into a formal train. Her two-tiered veil fell from a crown of pearlized orange blossoms which formed a cluster at one temple. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white gladiolus and stephanotis.

The church was decorated with candelabra and temple baskets of yellow and white gladiolus. The arch over the altar was appointed with white wedding bells. Satin streamers marked the pews.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlor. In the house party were Joy Lightfoot and Norma Jean Weatherall of Midland.

Mrs. Sherrill is a teacher in the North Elementary School and Sherrill is employed by the Western Company in Midland.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans For Program

Plans for a welcoming program on the opening day of the Midland Memorial Hospital were begun at a meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary Friday morning the KCRS Studio.
Hospital Day is May 12, but the group decided that since the hospital is not yet in operation it will not observe this day but will be in charge of a program the day the hospital opens.
It was voted to use a major portion of the auxiliary funds to furnish a room in the hospital.
Mrs. W. C. Kimball was appointed chairman of a telephone committee with Mrs. L. G. Boynton, Mrs. K. S. Boone, Mrs. W. C. Madison, Mrs. B. M. Crotty and Cordelia Taylor as members.
Mrs. Kate Black was named chairman of the sewing committee. This group's first project will be to make sterilizing bags from material which was used in the recent fashion show sponsored by the auxiliary.
Members voted to continue the auxiliary meetings through the Summer months this year because these will come so soon after the hospital opens. Mrs. L. W. Sager, auxiliary president, announced gift subscriptions for magazines for the hospital may be obtained through the group.
A report was made on the talk by Robert E. Stripling which the auxiliary sponsored Monday. The Kiwanis and Lions Clubs paid the expense for the use of the high school auditorium, leaving the money from the silver offering that was taken for the auxiliary.

The membership committee, of which Mrs. Ralph Barron is chairman, was commended on its work. It was decided to close charter memberships with the May meeting. All who have paid their dues by the close of this meeting on May 26 will be charter members.
New members welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. Roger Sidwell, Mrs. Ray Gwyn, Mrs. F. N. Shriver, Mrs. W. J. Brady, Mrs. A. C. Castle and Mrs. Coy L. Watson.

DAR Year To Close At Meeting Tuesday

The Lieut. William Brewer Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which usually meets in the homes of members, will meet this week in the parlor of the First Presbyterian Church. As regularly scheduled, the group will meet at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday. Mrs. Waldo Leggett and Mrs. Ed Alstrin will be the hostesses.
This will be the last meeting of the year and members will be asked to answer roll call with the origin of some flower or vegetable in America. "National Museum" will be the program topic.
Tomato aspic uses
Tomato aspic teams well with many foods: shrimp, tuna fish, avocado, cottage cheese. Use escarole, chicory of watercress around the salad for a pretty green base.

Plaids Turn To Warm Weather

NEW YORK—Sprightly plaids make news in sheer cotton weaves for warm weather dresses.
Textile designer Hope Skillman sets the pace with plaids borrowed from such varied sources as men's handkerchiefs and Scottish tartans. The bold satin-plaided handkerchief sheer shows off to fine advantage the harem-draped skirt and soft shirt top of the patio dress (left). This design is the creation of Tina Lester.
An authentic clan plaid makes an eye-catching pattern for the simply-styled sheer cotton afternoon dress (right). A permanent finish protects the crisp texture of the fabric through repeated launderings. This dress of Peggy Thayer design has a scoop neckline banded in washable black nylon velvet.—KAY SHERWOOD, NEA Staff Writer.

Spray Protects Costume Jewelry

Costume jewelry stays bright when it is sprayed with a protective plastic coating. The coating should be used only on new pieces.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Costume jewelry bright and shining on the day you buy it, has a way of going dull and spotty after a few wearings unless you take preventive measures. A quick, simple method is with a clear plastic coating sprayed from a dispenser.

A quick press of the thumb on the dispenser will coat inexpensive bracelets, necklaces, brooches, clips and earrings, protecting indefinitely from discoloration or dullness. Jewelry sprayed should be new, since the color of some costume jewelry is affected immediately by the wearer's skin.

Use it, too, for glove guards, metal trimming on handbags, metal buttons, buckles or for any inexpensive metal which usually starts out shiny and ends up dull. It will act as a gauge-stretcher, making frequent replacements of inexpensive jewelry and gadgets unnecessary.

Rankin Civics Class Honored At Dinner

RANKIN — The Rankin High School civics class and families of the members were guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club for a covered dish dinner Thursday in the Park Building.

Tables were centered with bowls of Spring flowers. Ann Clark, Alma Adams and Zona Boggs were hostesses. G. C. Fitzgerald and Mr. Stewart, instructors, and the civics class were recognized by Lelia Work, B&PW president, for cooperation with the club in its sanitation project.

Officers for 1950-51 will be elected at a luncheon, May 11.

Friendly Builders Club Is Newest Of HD Units In County

Newest of the home demonstration clubs in Midland County is the Friendly Builders, organized Sept. 21, 1949. The original officers, who still are serving, are Mrs. T. F. Lineberry, president; Mrs. Charles Bush, vice president; Mrs. W. F. Maxwell, secretary and reporter; and Mrs. Theo Ferguson, Home Demonstration Council delegate.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. L. B. Berry, exhibit; Mrs. Pope Stearns, education; Mrs. L. P. Moore, market; Mrs. H. R. Solomon, yearbook; and Dr. Velma Scott, radio.

The club's first program was on making dress forms. Six of the forms were made to aid members in sewing for themselves. Later they learned to make corsages, lamp shades, garden hats and shell earrings. They also learned methods of upholstering.

Mrs. Maxwell demonstrated steps in tailoring wool suits for one club program. Mrs. Stearns upholstered a divan and chair as the result of club programs, while Mrs. Lineberry redecorated her home and Mrs. L. B. Berry redecorated a bedroom for her daughter.

Mrs. Bush, as an outside project to be displayed in the Midland County Fair, made birch and copper lamps with raffia shades and a coffee table of birch and copper.

Other members of the club are Mrs. M. G. Baker, Mrs. Floyd Bell, Mrs. R. R. O'Neil, Mrs. J. G. Whitmore, Mrs. Jim Prince and Mrs. R. L. Grubbs.

BRILLIANT VEGETABLES

When you are broiling steak or chops for dinner choose vegetables that can be broiled along with the meat. This saves time, dish washing and fuel.

Model Garments Made In HD Clubs

Women of Midland County home demonstration clubs who tailored the coats or suits they are wearing are among the members who have learned tailoring methods in club programs of the last year. Left to right are Mrs. O. R. Phillips, Mrs. H. A. Palmer, Mrs. L. H. Moncrief, Mrs. Roy Long, Mrs. J. C. Stevens, Mrs. Joe Davis and Mrs. P. L. Crawley. Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Moncrief and Mrs. Guy Creighton represented Midland County at a district tailoring school held in Stanton, and taught the methods they learned to members of all the clubs. As a result, approximately 30 garments were made by members in this county.

Westside Club Has Members Active In County HD Work

The Westside Home Demonstration Club is one of the older clubs in the county and its members are active in the Midland County Home Demonstration Council and in events sponsored by the council including the annual observance of National Home Demonstration Week.

Mrs. O. R. Phillips, now the president, Mrs. J. D. Webb and Mrs. L. H. Moncrief have held membership the longest. Mrs. Moncrief is vice president of the county council and Mrs. A. L. Repecka is the council treasurer.

Mrs. O. R. Phillips

The other club officers are Mrs. J. C. Hudman, vice president, and Mrs. Guy Creighton, secretary-treasurer. There are 12 active members.

The club featured tailoring in its booth at the Midland County Fair, which won second place. Mrs. Moncrief and Mrs. Creighton attended a tailoring school at Stanton and then taught tailoring methods to seven of the members.

The radio programs, one on tailoring and the other on leather tooling, were presented by members. Demonstrations at club meetings were on corsage making, kitchen improvement, lamp making, baking, textile painting, ceramics and poultry raising as well as tailoring and leather tooling.

President Will Be Hostess For P. E. O.

Mrs. John Casselman, president of the BS chapter of P. E. O., will be hostess to the chapter at 7 p.m. Friday in her home, 602 North Big Spring Street. The business meeting at 7 p.m. will be followed by a pot-luck supper at 7:45 p.m. This meeting is the chapter's birthday observance.

Valley View Club Members Improve Homes In Program

Seven members of the Valley View Home Demonstration Club plan to add storage space in their kitchens and three will remodel their entire kitchens, reports of plans for the remainder of this year show. Mrs. Bennie Bizzell has applied principles learned in the club in remodeling her home recently. The club has an impressive report of accomplishments for the last year. Other work in home improvement includes a remodeled kitchen and bathroom in Mrs. T. O. Midkiff's home, repapering of Mrs. D. M. Bizzell's home and landscaping the yard of Mrs. J. C. Stevens' home.

Mrs. D. M. Bizzell

Four community parties were sponsored by the club in its recreational program. Members made three coats, three suits and three tailored dresses, added tailoring equipment and purchased electrical equipment for their kitchens and sewing rooms. They are starting a project of making aluminum trays, coasters and ashtrays.

Mrs. D. M. Bizzell is president of the club; Mrs. Bennie Bizzell, vice president; Mrs. J. D. Bartlett, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. B. L. Mason, reporter; Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Jess Davidson, representatives to the Home Demonstration Council. Mrs. Bartlett is one of the original members of a home demonstration club in Midland county. Mrs. Mason is president of the county council this year, serving a second term. Mrs. I. J. Howard, another member, is the Midland County representative of the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Other Valley View members are Mrs. Will Long, Mrs. Herd Midkiff, Mrs. Earl Fain, Mrs. M. E. Huff, Mrs. Glenn Drake, Mrs. Joe Heidelberg, Mrs. O. C. Collins, Mrs. W. T. Parker, Mrs. L. H. Dennis, Mrs. D. W. McDonald, Mrs. Sherwood O'Neal, Mrs. Bill Shipp, Mrs. O. C. Carpenter, Mrs. Tyson Midkiff, Mrs. T. E. Flowers, Mrs. T. E. Bizzell, Jr., Mrs. Preston Vest, Mrs. Lewis Smith, Mrs. O. O. Reid, Mrs. Royce Howard, Mrs. Eugene Jones, Mrs. Jack Merritt and Mrs. L. J. Swenden.

O. H. Jones Home Is Meeting Place For Lucky 13 Members

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jones were hosts to the Lucky 13 Club Friday night for progressive 42.

Spring flowers decorated the playing room. Mrs. T. A. Golladay, a guest, won ladies' high score and Brice Hays won men's high. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Golladay and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Mitchell.

Members attending were Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hall, Mrs. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hudman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Conner, Mrs. Jack McClurg and Mr. and Mrs. Houston Sikes of Odessa.

Party To Highlight HD Week In County

Observance of National Home Demonstration Week in Midland County will be centered this week around an "apron and bonnet round-up" Thursday in the home of Mrs. T. O. Midkiff, 1002 South Marienfield Street.

Members of all home demonstration clubs in the county, former members and prospective members are invited for the informal party. Its purpose is implied in the name, to "round up" club members, help new members get acquainted and inform prospective members of the organization's work. Members who have made sunbonnets and sun hats in their clubs will wear them in a contest.

Invitations are being sent to spectators.

School Yard Work Is Community Gift Of Prairie Lee Club

Mrs. Vern Dawkins

Landscaping the school yard in their community was the major club achievement of the year for the Prairie Lee Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Vern Dawkins is president of this club, whose members did most of their individual work on improving their homes.

Officers also include Mrs. N. C. Benton, vice president; Mrs. Neal Stator, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Brooks, reporter, and Mrs. Sherman North, delegate to the County Home Demonstration Council.

Community entertainment at a picnic and game party has been part of the club's program. Reports from its members showed that one built a new house, one remodeled and redecorated her home, one redecorated a bedroom and added a bath, one added new kitchen cabinets and repapered and painted the house.

In addition to these major improvements, other members made accessories and linens for their homes and one upholstered a divan and chair.

On the club roll are Mrs. L. L. Newsum, Mrs. L. C. Jones, Mrs. Johnnie Morgan, Mrs. J. F. Franks, Mrs. H. E. Benton, Mrs. L. Scott and Mrs. Guy Branch.

decorations; Mrs. Guy Creighton and Mrs. O. E. Sherman of refreshments.

The program committee for the week includes Mrs. R. F. Lineberry and Mrs. Neal Stator, and publicity is in charge of Mrs. O. R. Phillips and Mrs. J. D. Bartlett. A radio broadcast scheduled at 2:45 p.m. Monday is being arranged by Mrs. Truman Whitaker and Mrs. Jess Davidson.

Plans for the week are made each year in the County Home Demonstration Council, from which the committees were appointed. The council includes representatives from all the county clubs and serves as a center for countywide activities. Mrs. Mason is its chairman.

Other council officers are Mrs. L. H. Moncrief, vice chairman; Mrs. Stevens, secretary; and Mrs. A. L. Repecka, treasurer. In addition to the national week, events planned annually in the council are a club encampment in August and club exhibits for the Midland County Fair in the Fall. Officers are installed in December at a Christmas party and program.

A program for council and clubs is drafted each year by a yearbook committee. Present members are Mrs. D. M. Bizzell, Mrs. Whitaker and Mrs. Vern Dawkins. All clubs make suggestions for the programs and the most-wanted subjects are chosen for demonstrations by the county agent.

Clubs Choose Topics In addition to the programs presented by the agent, which are the same in all clubs, each club selects subjects for study of craft work at one meeting a month. A part of each meeting time is given to recreation and time is allotted also to business of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, with which the clubs are affiliated.

Two main demonstrations which were chosen for presentation by the agent last year and continued this year, are kitchen improvement and adjusting working heights. Still on program are demonstrations on correct lighting for the kitchen and arrangement of kitchen furniture to save steps.

Sponsoring 4-H Girls' Clubs Is Major Phase Of Home Demonstration Club Work

A parallel program to that of home demonstration clubs in Midland County is conducted in the girls' 4-H Club organization, which is sponsored by the women's clubs and directed by the county home demonstration agent.

Girls follow a program, suited to their age, stressing personal health, home and community betterment, subjects which are outstanding in the women's program. Adult leadership is provided by sponsors named from home demonstration clubs. Mrs. Bennie Bizzell is chairman of the Midland County sponsors.

Three girls' clubs are active in the county now. During the early months of this year when there was no home demonstration agent on duty in Midland County, some of the clubs did not meet but most conducted some work in the interval. Since Pauline McWilliams came here last month as agent, she has met with each group and assisted members in resuming their programs.

Reports from the club members show that almost all have worked on clothing projects, 16 have planted gardens, 14 have improved their bedrooms and some have done home landscaping. There will be a county dress revue for club girls in May to select a girl who will enter a state contest.

The Greenwood 4-H Club will have its own preliminary dress revue on May 12 in the Greenwood Community Building and will sponsor a pie supper at the same time. Mrs. J. G. Bennett is sponsor of this group. Officers are Marjorie Wise, president; Betty Jean Hughes, vice president; Sandra Jean Roberts, reporter; and Ruth Bennett, song leader.

Other members are Jaunelle Newsum, Essie Raggett, Paula King, Pat Thrasher, Ada Jane Meissner, Neithyla Branham, Flora Oles, Edith Eggleston, Georgia Gateley, Joyce Graham, Thelma Scoggins and Aleta Russell.

The Sunshine Makers Club has Barbara King as president; Betty Acker, vice president; Leila Norwood, secretary-treasurer; Betty O'Neal, reporter; Kyline Kindley, song leader; and Mrs. Bizzell as sponsor.

Its other members are Jerry Faye Bizzell, Donna Howard, Wanda Fain, Yvon Jones, Sandra Norwood, Florence Ann Taylor and Frances Bond.

Anita Wilson is president of the Junior High 4-H Club; Carol Landwermyer is secretary-treasurer, and Wanda Tovey is reporter.

Goals Are Set Members include Shirley Brooks, Betty Thurman, Juanelle Culbert, Darlene Culp, Patricia Malton, Margie Gunter, Betty Roberson, Audrey Young, Beulah Collier, Thelma Sage, Clara Bryan, Judith Roberts, Martha Nelle Chastain, Linda Breith, Duane Wilson, Patricia Settles, Annie Stonor, Ruth McCain, Joyce Pope and Clara Bryan.

Goals for the two main demonstrations being conducted in the clubs this year, in clothing and food preparation, show the type of training given girls in 4-H Clubs. Girls who are enrolled for their first year of work are expected to make a plain gathered skirt, plain blouse, pair of embroidered pillow slips and two pot holders; prepare vegetable salad 10 times, bake simple cookies five times, cook cereal 10 times, plan 10 breakfast menus, and can four containers of fruit, four of vegetables and two of jelly or preserves.

The goals grow in difficulty each year, until a girl in her fifth, or last year of club work is expected to make a two-piece cotton dress, a slack suit or bathing suit, pajamas, a party dress, a shoe rack and some article for home improvement; to prepare luncheon for her family five times, prepare yeast bread six times and yeast bread variations four times, plan menus for dinner and supper for one week using the Texas Food Standard as a guide, prepare layer cake five times, can 20 jars of fruit, 20 of vegetables, two of meat and 10 of jelly, jam or preserves.

Other council standing committees this year are as follows: Finance, Mrs. Repecka, Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Newman; marketing, Mrs. William Maxwell, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Pearl Gardwell; recreation, Mrs. Bennie Bizzell; exhibit, expansion and education, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Moncrief, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Joe Davis.

New Agent Directs Home Demonstration Program In County

Leadership of a new county home demonstration agent has revived interest of Midland County members in home demonstration clubs as an added incentive to the observance of National Home Demonstration Week Sunday through Saturday.

The county was without the services of an agent from the time Nettie B. Messick resigned in December to marry Clay Miller of Gresham, Ore., until Pauline McWilliams arrived to begin her duties late in March.

Pauline McWilliams

Miss McWilliams is experienced as a home demonstration agent in West Texas, having worked in Hudspeth and Pecos Counties. She had been employed recently as a home economist with the Rural Electrification Administration at San Antonio.

She is one of the home demonstration agents who are conducting programs with homemakers in approximately 2,500 counties, in the United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska. These agents are employed cooperatively by the county government, state agricultural college and the United States Department of Agriculture.

While no agent was employed, the clubs in Midland County carried on their own programs with a curtailed schedule of meetings in most groups. Since Miss McWilliams arrived, they have returned to regular meetings and have taken up the full program which had been outlined for this year.

The National Geographic Society says 22,000,000 of Indochina's 27,000,000 population live in Viet Nam.

Little House Ready For Guests With Gay Color, Homey Rooms

Green and yellow, the Girl Scout colors which are emblematic of growing plants and sunshine and thus of Girl Scouts' outdoor activities, set the decorative theme for the new Midland Girl Scout Little House which will be dedicated and shown to the public in ceremonies at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Outside, the asbestos siding is colored a leaf green while the window trim and the shady porch which stretches across the north front of the building are in a cheerful yellow. Inside, all the walls are in a soft light green and the woodwork in deeper green; the floors are of a mottled green asphalt tile and curtains at the numerous windows are of yellow sailcloth.

Touches of other colors are supplied in furniture upholstery, lamps and accessories for the rooms. Ceiling lights all have modernistic circular glass fixtures and circular ceiling vents where heated air will come from the central heating plant at the back of the building.

Takes On Park Look
The building stands on one corner of the park block it occupies at the intersection of West Front and D Streets. The block already is assuming the look of a park and playground in spite of a ditch that bisects it now while a sewer line is being laid.

Sizable Chinese elm trees have been set out, with a row of Lombardy poplars backing the building, shrubs around it and grass on the lawn. The flagpole is in place and construction of the permanent place, spots for outdoor cooking and for various games is under way.

All rooms in the building are entered from the long front porch. Nearest the street is the office to be occupied by the Permian Basin area field director, Mrs. I. A. Searles, and the president of the Midland Girl Scout Association, Mrs. R. E. Morgan. Desks, filing cabinets and a storage closet furnish it.

Behind it is the leaders' library and reading room, with shelves and cabinets built in. Three large rooms to be used for troop meetings have lockers for material for crafts and other troop activities as well as tables, benches and chairs.

Makes Assembly Room
The troop meeting room which adjoins the reception room opens into it with folding doors so that a large assembly room can be formed. The reception room itself resembles a big, comfortable living room, with easy chairs, couches, a drop-leaf table which may be used for serving re-

Top Award In Fair Is Garden Addition Club's Achievement

First prize for its educational exhibit in the Midland County Fair was won last Fall by the Garden Addition Home Demonstration Club, one of the five clubs now active in the county. The subject of the exhibit was "Consumer Buying," and it showed comparative prices and quality of varied articles.

The fair exhibit was one of the major club projects of the year. Members have presented three radio programs in the series given by home demonstration clubs of the county, have entertained their family members at a tea or party, and occasional tables.

On the other side of the reception room is the kitchen, which is roomy enough for an entire troop to work together to prepare party refreshments or earn cookery badges. It has spacious built-in cabinets, a large refrigerator, range, serving cart and tables.

The powder room, with built-in dressing table, huge mirror and a first-aid cabinet, is on the west end of the building. Behind it are storage rooms, one for equipment that will be used in outdoor cookery and the other for game and day camp equipment.

In addition to the money which financed the building, numerous gifts of furnishings, equipment and labor were made by Midland residents to enable Girl Scouts of the city to have an adequate meeting place and activity center. Mrs. R. M. Payne, building chairman, reported.

More Gifts Received
Some of the recent gifts include 20 folding cots from W. W. West, library shelves from the Midland City Park and recreation department, bulletins for the meetings from Robert Payne, Jr., window valances from the J. C. Vellin Lumber Company and curtain rods from Midland Hardware, and dishes from the Red Cross Grey Ladies.

Couches were given by Mr. and Mrs. John Scobey and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wood, a table and serving cart by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Payne, chair by Mr. and Mrs. Cal Glass, a table and chair by Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Collier. Repair and re-upholstery of several pieces of furniture were done by Mrs. J. C. Rinker and Mrs. E. J. Murphy. Moving and storage was done by the Rocky Ford Company.

Workmen of the City of Midland set the trees in the park area. The Kiwanis Club contributed playground equipment valued at $250; the McDonald Greenhouse gave some of the shrubs, the American Legion a flagpole and flag. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stripling gave a portrait of Juliette Lowe, founder of the Girl Scouts in America, for the reception room. Girls of Troop 5 supplied the tea towels and dish cloths for the kitchen.

CALLED TO MEXIA
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cox left Saturday for Mexia where they were called by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. J. L. Ward.

'Today's Home' Is Theme For U. S. Home Demonstration Week

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme of National Home Demonstration Week for 1950, which the Midland County clubs will join in celebrating from April 30 to May 6. The week is observed annually and this year more than 3,000,000 women in the United States, of whom approximately 43,000 are in Texas, will participate.

Gladys Martin, acting vice director and state home demonstration agent of the Texas A&M College, points out that the home demonstration program has grown from a small beginning in 1913 and that Texas had 2,122 clubs at work last year.

"In Texas, as in other states, the rural homemakers are working to improve their own homes and to keep their families well and at the same time are joining with their neighbors to make their communities more desirable places to live. They are broadening their horizons and developing a better understanding of national and international affairs by participating in activities and programs that know no boundary lines," Miss Martin added. During National Home Demonstration Week, members of the clubs tell and show their communities just what they have done and what they expect to do. Each county plans its own special programs, publicity and exhibits to bring club work to the attention of all residents.

Notice of the week is taken by high government officials, and President Harry Truman has addressed a greeting to home demonstration club members in which he says of the week's theme: "Our homes are as important to the country as they are dear to each of us. Our homes are the basis of our democratic freedom. Home is where we turn the modern wonders of science into better, healthier, happier living. Home is where we develop future citizens and where we lay the foundation for community and worldwide understanding."

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barco concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help become slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 40 POUNDS
"Before taking Barcoconate, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better than I have ever felt before." Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

A large crowd was entertained at the "fun frolic" sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club in the American Legion Hall Friday night, the second in a series of monthly square dances which the club is giving to benefit the Midland Woman's Club Building Fund. Plumage From Paris

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS—Parisian designers highlight the air of carefree elegance in the mid-century fashion collections. This is expressed in diverse silhouettes ranging from the short-skirted slim line reminiscent of the 1920's to the voluminous costume that makes lavish use of fabric. Typical nostalgic reminder of the 20's is Pierre Balmain's sleeveless dress (left) of pale beige lightweight wool satin cloth. A tortoise-shell print scarf attached to a modern version of the cloche hat winds around the neck and ties on one shoulder. Marking the waistline is a tortoise-shell belt. Brief gloves emphasize the lack of sleeves. At the other extreme in silhouettes is the dramatic "brigand" coat (center) designed by Schiaparelli and shown here in gray and red plaid. Elbow-high red suede gloves meet the short loose sleeves. Straw lace, which takes a bow in every leading collection, is used by Jean Dessès to point up the casual elegance of an evening gown (right). The moderately full skirt has an uneven hemline which dips to trail on the floor in back. Over a strapless black bodice, a trim-waisted bolero is casually knotted at the neckline.

Familiar Scenes From 'Tom Sawyer' Are Included In Children's Theater Play

The midnight visit to the graveyard, the pirate adventure on Jackson's Island and the days in MacDougal's Cave are among the familiar scenes from the Mark Twain classic "Tom Sawyer" to be given in play form Friday and Saturday in the City-County Auditorium by the Children's Theater.

Each of the play's four acts is divided into three short scenes. In the first act, the three scenes are in Tom's bedroom, the village street and the schoolroom. The action takes Tom from his waking up and looking for an excuse to stay home from school, through his walk to school when he fights with another boy and has a conversation with Huckleberry Finn, to the schoolroom.

The schoolroom scene is the longest in the act and in it Tom becomes engaged in various projects to annoy the teacher and first becomes interested in Becky Thatcher.

Graveyard Scene

In the graveyard scene, the first of Act Two, Tom and Huck are at the grave of a slain horse thief, attempting to get rid of their warts by saying a chant over the grave with a dead cat.

It is in this scene that they see a half-breed Indian kill a local doctor and blame Muff Potter for it. They become frightened.

The next scene is on the village street, when Tom is whitewashing his aunt's fence. Joe Harper, Huck and several other of Tom's friends come along. Joe, Huck and Tom decide to become pirates and run away to Jackson's Island.

The last scene in this act is on the island, where the boys are rapidly becoming experienced pirates. As they hear a cannon shot over the water, it occurs to them that the people of the village are undoubtedly out looking for their bodies, thinking they have drowned.

The third act opens on the island, four days later, and by this time the boys are rather worn out with pirating. They become even less excited about their adventure when the funny murderer comes and takes away several bags of money, saying that he is going to take them to his hideout in MacDougal's Cave. Tom has been absent for some time, but returns, admitting that he swam to the mainland and discovered that if they are not found in two days a funeral service will be held for them.

Village Church

In the village church, the setting for Scene Three of this act, the funeral service is in progress when the boys suddenly walk in. After many greetings, Becky comes forward with the idea of a picnic near MacDougal's Cave to celebrate their return.

Scene Three is in the courtroom where Muff Potter is being tried for the doctor's murder. Tom tells the truth and the Indian runs away. Tom and Huck know he has gone to the living room furniture that had to be moved in order to make room for the instrument, but she was as proud of it as Jimmy is.

small TALK

By SUE COLEMAN

Rooms newly redecorated were the meeting place for the Midland Woman's Club Thursday, in the W. B. Yarbrough home, and Mrs. Y. was being complimented for her good taste while she was expressing relief that the job was done.

Living room and dining room walls are covered with a textured paper in sage green, silver grey and pale yellow and the woodwork is painted in the deeper green tone. The playroom that opens into the dining room has its walls and ceiling painted in the soft yellow and the windows that fill one wall are curtained with a flower printed material with sage green background.

Mrs. Yarbrough was dressed for the meeting in a cool pastel yellow sheer printed frock. Tess Latham, presiding because Helen Goldsmith wasn't feeling well enough to be at her post, wore a green straw hat with brim upturned in front and a gay ribbon band. Blonnie Roberta Bain sported an orchid printed high on the bodice of her deep purple dress.

Compliments are still coming in from garden club members over Northwest Texas, on the hospitality they enjoyed here during the District One convention. A note last week from Zella Mae Morrow of Morton, the district conciliator, expressed appreciation for the publicity—and how we do love publicity!—she added—and repeated her thanks to the garden club members here for the entertainment to the Chamber of Commerce and business firms of the city for their courtesies.

At the age of seven, Jimmy Jones played his first solo piano recital last week and he also got a new grand piano to do his home practice on. His mama, Mrs. James H. Jones, was still trying at the last account to decide what to do with all the living room furniture that had to be moved in order to make room for the instrument, but she was as proud of it as Jimmy is.

Members of the Woman's Club Student Loan Fund Committee are beginning to wonder whether there are no girls in Midland who need financial assistance in continuing their education after graduation from high school. So far, no applications have been made for the loan that is offered this year. It may be used for study in college, business school or school of nursing.

A piece of news was deliberately withheld from Bill Franklin by his parents last weekend while he was playing with a Midland High School golf team in a tournament at Lubbock. He didn't learn until the matches were over that his cocker, the family pet, had died after he left for Lubbock. The dog, a long-time friend of Bill's, was sick when he left, but he finished his games without knowing that it had died.

Blackheads Are Easily Removed

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The girl who is plagued by blackheads is likely to feel that hers is a major beauty problem. Blackheads are blemishes, true, but they are not disfiguring and they need not be permanent.

Since blackheads are simply collections of dried hard oily material in the oil glands, they should be removed as soon as they appear. But they should not be removed with your fingertips, by squeezing.

Instead, get a blackhead extractor, a tiny metal instrument with a hole in one end. Wash your face thoroughly and steam it. Be sure to sterilize the extractor by boiling it. Then fit the hole over the blackheads, one by one. Press down, not too hard, and the blackheads will come away.

Now wash your face again and dab alcohol on the spots where the blackheads were.

There is no need to try to do all blackheads at one sitting. Take out only those which are most noticeable. For the most part, the less you touch your face the better off you are.

Babies Have Tender Skin

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Baby should think it is a pleasure to have a mother. But how many mothers aggravate their poor little types because they dote, fuss and pamper them to exhaustion? Is it any wonder that sometimes when Mom tries to be affectionate with baby she gets the cold shoulder?

The fashion-plate mother who insists on putting little starched dresses on her small child may be contributing to her baby's irritability. These freshly starched slips and dresses can cause chafing and soreness of baby skin. Of course she looks pretty as a picture in them, but is she happy?

You'll notice that baby will start a bath boycott and wail to emphasize his anti-bath campaign. Actually he probably has a fear of the tub or the way Mom washes him.

If he clings and seems afraid of the tub, try covering its slippery bottom with a Turkish towel to keep him from sliding about. If he gets soapy in his eyes during a shampoo, get one of those rubber cartwheel shields which can slip down to his ears and keep suds on top of his head.

End the bath session in a beauty session. After careful towel-drying, smooth velvety baby lotion all over the youngster's body, paying special attention to little folds and creases of his skin. One new lotion combines oil, water, lanolin and an antiseptic to help prevent impetigo, diaper rash and other uncomfortable chafes and prickles.

Few children like to have water roll down their faces. So make a bath mit of the washcloth by folding it around your hand diagonally, with one tip folded down over finger tips, and two ends folded in from the sides.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Timid Progressives attend GOP cocktail party; Agriculture Secretary Brannan can't forget his St. Paul speech; Are colleges smuggling surplus planes?

WASHINGTON — A private Republican cocktail party, called to chart a new liberal policy, got all messed up when some non-liberals were invited by mistake.

Charming Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, widow of the late congressman from New York, and the Perle Mesta of the Republican Party, had invited a few Republicans to her home to discuss a new progressive policy of the Teddy Roosevelt variety. Though she is the daughter-in-law of a J. P. Morgan partner—former secretary of State Robert Bacon—the represents a group of Republicans who believe the Democrats should not have a monopoly on liberalism.

When her guests started arriving, however, they included such senators as Karl Mundt of South Dakota, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Alex Smith of New Jersey and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts—charming cocktail companions, but not crusading Liberals.

This disturbed the real Liberals who suggested—in whispers—that they call off the meeting. Ignorant of this dissension, Mrs. Bacon blissfully herded her guests in a room where folding chairs had been set up and bade them listen to Russell Davenport, editor of Fortune Magazine, spearhead of the GOP Liberal movement.

A bit hesitantly, Davenport explained the Liberal policy statement he had drafted. The suspicion of New Jersey's Senator Smith, the ex-Princeton professor, immediately was aroused.

"I want to know whether there's anything to the report that this is to be an anti-Taft meeting," he demanded. "If it's going to be anti-Taft, I want to withdraw. I haven't made up my mind, but I may be for Taft."

"We can't build up the party," said Smith solemnly, "by undermining the party leaders."

Harold Stassen listens

In the discussion that followed, Minnesota's Senator Ed Thye complained that the Republicans weren't paying enough attention to the farm vote, while Saltonstall was "concerned" about factionalism inside the Republican Party and agreed with Smith that "we should be working for unity, not division."

New York's Senator Irving Ives started to leave, but was stopped before he could get out the door. Asked for his comments, he replied bluntly that he liked Davenport's policy statement but that it "must be put into action."

"That means it must be put into action at the polls," he explained. Oregon's Senator Wayne Morse protested that he didn't have much to say because it "might be interpreted as a funeral sermon, and I didn't come to bury the GOP."

However, he agreed with Ives that a Liberal policy statement would be "meaningless unless it is related to a candidate for office."

"We must support those who support it and oppose those who oppose it," he declared.

Probably the most cautious guest was a presidential aspirant Harold Stassen who insisted he only "came to listen." He admitted, however, that such "discussions" of GOP policy were helpful and should be conducted throughout the country. He also made an appeal for recruiting more young people into the Republican Party.

A few other guests also made cautious remarks, then rather nervously the meeting adjourned. It appeared that most of Mrs. Bacon's GOP guests were a little timid about Teddy Roosevelt progressivism.

Capital News Capsules
Brannan headache—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan hasn't heard the end of his famous St. Paul speech. The general accounting office now is investigating the Agriculture Department for paying 5,000 county committeemen to listen to him. The committeemen were paid travel expenses to St. Paul, plus eight dollars per diem in order to drum up an audience for their boss. Unfortunately for Brannan, the investigators found that radio station WCCO in Minneapolis made a wire recording of the speech—and every word of it was political.

Influence behind Budenz — One almost unnoticed key to Louis Budenz' comparatively recent accusations against Lattimore may be the article by Father James F. Kearney in the Knight of Columbus Magazine.

Both in the FBI and at his Senate committee appearance, Budenz emphasized that this article was "proof" of Lattimore's Communist affiliation. Actually, the article gave no proof, only said: "There are those who believe that no Americans deserve more credit for the Sino-American disaster than Owen Lattimore and a small group of his followers."

In talking to the FBI, Budenz emphasized this article repeatedly, and it had carried great influence with him.

Are colleges smuggling—Dozens of surplus warplanes, sold for a song to U. S. colleges, have been disappearing from the campuses and showing up in South America. Altogether, more than 1,000 military planes were sold to schools at prices ranging from $100 to $200. The contracts stipulated that these planes should not be flown, must be used for education purposes only and could not be resold except as scrap. A few exceptions were made with the permission of the War Assets Administration. However, dozens of planes mysteriously have disappeared and have been smuggled to Latin America.

Merry-Go-Round
Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, snorted like a Texas longhorn when he heard President Truman had made peace with GOP Senator Bridges of New Hampshire. Off-the-record, Connally called the President's action a "blunder" and an "affront."

"Cotton Elmer" Thomas, the speculating senator, now is sending out a weekly farm letter to attract farm votes. The catch is, it's being ghost written by a Senate Agriculture Committee clerk—Rollis Nelson—whose salary is paid by the taxpayers.

Senators' names are being used in a letter to name a certain high-up official governing the nation's capital whom he thinks is in league with the underworld. . . . Senator McCarran's nomination bill is full of camouflaged clauses aimed at undoing the displaced persons bill. . . . Chiang Kai-Shek is chartering a special airplane next month to fly American newsmen to Formosa. All expenses are paid by Nationalists, who consider it a good investment in publicity. The idea was cooked up by Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and Madame H. H. Kung, real powers behind the throne, and among the wealthiest people residing in the U. S. A. . . . Two Franco agents are trying to swing a loan of between $700,000 and $1,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank to build a nitrogen plant in Spain. They claim the nitrogen is to be used for fertilizer, though nitrogen also can be used in explosives.

Behind Phone Strike
Story behind the sudden calling off of the nation-wide telephone strike is that wise old Federal Mediation boss Cy Ching used a psychological "big stick" with effective results on both the union and American Telephone and Telegraph.

Here's how he whipped both sides into line to protect the public from a crippling communications tieup: Knowing that the AT and T was dead set against a fact-finding board which could recommend terms for settling the threatened strike, Ching spread the word through his mediators that he was ready to propose fact-finding—or even arbitration—as a last resort against tieup.

Ching meant what he said. However, he hoped that it would not be necessary to carry out the ultimatum. It wasn't.

Father than fact-finding, which they considered too great a gamble, AT and T officials suddenly agreed to negotiate on the 15 cent-an-hour (package) wage demand of the union, though they previously had refused to grant any wage boost whatever.

Meantime, the CIO Communications Workers of America, led by Joseph A. Heine, welcomed the idea of a fact-finding board which would relieve the union of the burden of further negotiating.

Also, it would have given the union chiefs an opportunity to call off the strike—which they didn't want—without losing face with their rank-and-file.

Ching fooled both sides by keeping his powder dry until the last minute—then passing the word through his mediators that he would not invoke fact-finding. By this time, the AT and T and the union were so close to a settlement through the regular bargaining channels that a strike was out of the question.

Ching vigorously denied playing both sides against the middle when the happy news was announced. With a twinkle in his eye, the rangy, plain-talking mediation chief told intimates:

"I told my boys that they weren't to pull anybody's chestnuts out of the fire—except maybe the public's."

Ten Tons Daily Not Unusual For Typists

LONDON—(AP)—Move 10 tons a day? It's easy, men. A slip of a typist can do it any day with her fingertips.

Statisticians for British typewriter manufacturers worked it out this way:

The average typewriter key requires a pressure of 14 ounces. The length of a line of typing averages six inches. That means 60 impressions for one line or 840 ounces.

If the average letter runs 15 lines, that's 12,600 ounces. Thirty letters are regarded as a good day's work for a typist. That means 378,000 ounces a day—23,625 pounds or 10 1/2 long tons.

Good use for an old barrel is to paint it gassy, add a round top from an old dining room table and use it for an outdoor dining table.

B. Bain; lower row, Mrs. A. R. Ayles, Mrs. Travis Lary, Alma Heard and Elizabeth Knox. Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Jr., not pictured, also became an exemplar. Exemplar members are those who have completed the first part of work required by membership in Beta Sigma Phi.

The couple left for a short wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., and will be at home in Midland on their return.
The bride came to Midland from Beaumont at the first of this school year. She is a graduate of Texas State College for Women, Denton, and is a member of the Iota Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Carden is a graduate of Midland High School and served two years in the Navy during World War II. He is employed by C. A. Stroud, public accountant.

The Rev. and Mrs. Earl Rice returned Saturday from Amarillo, where they have been attending the District Council of the Assembly of God Churches. He is pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in Midland.

Stanton Seniors Are Honored At Banquet

STANTON—A Southern theme was carried out at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet of Stanton High School held recently in the Hotel Scharbauer ballroom, Midland.
A. E. Johnson, junior sponsor, was in charge of the arrangements. Place cards in the form of Southern belles and a centerpiece of iris, the class flower, appointed the table. Leroy Gibson was the toastmaster. Frank Monroe, superintendent of the Midland public schools, was the principal speaker.
Earl Koonce gave the welcome address and Anita Shankle, Spencer Blocker and Billie Jean Carlile took part on the program. Bobby McClain, Gearl Koonce, Earl Koonce, Miss Carlile, Betty Bennett, Miss Shankle, Peggy Ross and Becky Bentley sang.

Beta Sigma Phi, Grown To Three Chapters, Celebrates Birthday

In 1937, 10 Midland girls were organized into a sorority—the Beta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Beta Sigma Phi in Midland now has three chapters, Beta Delta, Xi Theta and Iota Beta, and over 100 members as well as a "little sister" sorority, Nu Phi Mu, with 25 members.
Sunday, Midland Beta Sigma Phi is observing Founders' Day, the birthday of their sorority. A banquet Wednesday night was the actual celebration and especially honored the nine members who are becoming exemplars. The new exemplars are Mrs. A. R. Ayles, Mrs. Travis Lary, Mrs. Jack Stackpole, Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Jr., Reta Beights, Elizabeth Knox, Mrs. J. B. Bain, Lee Ida Pinkston and Alma Heard. They have completed a prescribed study course to attain exemplar status.
The seven original members were Marguerite Bivens (now Mrs. J. H. Fine), Lucille Johnson, Maedee Roberts, Norene Kirby, the first president of the group and now active in Dallas chapters; Willette Duncan (now Mrs. Riley Parr); Ruth Pratt (now Mrs. Roy Johnson of McCamey); and Mary V. Miller (now of Eldorado, Okla.). The three pledges invited immediately to make up the charter group were Mrs. John Sherrod, Mrs. Tom Potter and Ellen Potter (now Mrs. L. T. Sledge, Jr.).
Of this original group Mrs. Fine, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Roberts, Mrs. Parr, Mrs. Sherrod and Mrs. Potter still are active in Beta Sigma Phi in Midland.

The original chapter's first educational advisor was Mrs. R. Steele Johnson who now lives in Odessa. Mrs. Foy Proctor, Mrs. Louis Link and Mrs. Alma Thomas were educational advisors and sponsors during the first year.
The following is taken from a history of Beta Sigma Phi in Midland, prepared by a group from the three chapters.
"Four members attended the state convention held in Dallas in 1938 and came home with a plaque in reward for tying for first place in the skit contest.
"March 12, 1939, brought a milestone—the first West Texas Area Council meeting was held in Midland. Only one member was able to attend the state convention in Houston.
"The war came in 1941, slowing down our activities in some respects, but speeding us up in others. There was still just one chapter in Midland but between 5,000 and 10,000 bombardier cadets and allied personnel in the Army Air Force. We began having dances for officers, cadets and enlisted men—all separate, of course—and did our best!
"In 1943, we ventured to be friendly and organized the Stanton chapter, which is still very active, having contributed to the Martin County Hospital several times.
"In 1945, we participated in the Seventh War Loan Drive. Chapter sales amounted to $180,162.50—something over our quota of $12,225. Juanita Sherrod sold $62,500 in bonds for 'high score'.
"In 1946, the West Texas Area Council meetings, which had been discontinued during war years, were revived in Midland and in this year 11 Beta Delta members took the exemplar degree and former Xi Theta Chapter. The Valentine dance and the Mother's Day tea given by the exemplars were first held and have become traditional events.
"The first style show was held Oct. 4, 1947, when Beta Sigma Phi began looking forward to more and more civic service. It was to raise money for assisting the Odd Fellows in establishing a playground. Anne Roberts was chairman of the project, which we decided to make an annual affair.
"Also in 1947, Lucille Johnson became county clerk of Midland County, which office she still holds, and Maedee Roberts was named to 'Who's Who Among Career Women' in the United States.
"In 1948, Midland's newest full-fledged Beta Sigma Phi Chapter—Iota Beta—was organized. Mrs. DeLo Douglas and Mrs. Harvey Sloan were chosen as educational director and social sponsor, respectively. This year we contributed to the state project of buying a mobile tuberculosis-ray unit.
"Our city council permanent charity fund was substantially enhanced—to the tune of $800—by our presentation of a style show in the American Legion Hall. 'Club 49' was the theme and Elizabeth Ayles sparked this venture.
"Another milestone in 1948 was the organization of our 'little sister' group, Nu Phi Mu. Thelma Denson was chosen as advisor.
"Early in the 1949-50 season, the three chapters collaborated in a style show which was unique in that script, as such, was completely dispensed with in favor of placards carried by the models. It was held in Hotel Scharbauer and ticket sales totaled $644.05.
"The three chapters are currently assisting a high school girl. A heated bassinet has been given to the Midland Memorial Hospital. It is impossible to list the various drives to which we contribute not only time, but money."
Myra McReynolds, president of Iota Beta Chapter, has "boiled down" the attitude of both older and newer members in a statement which, in part, says "During these two years we of Iota Beta have gone forward. We have learned through the programs we have had and we have made new friends. Ask any one of us if Beta Sigma Phi has enriched our lives and all answers will be a definite 'Yes!'"

Above, the buffaloes are shown loaded and ready to leave the Moss ranch for their new range. Judge Moss expects to present the ranch with one or more females in the near future.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service
"It's really unbelievable," sighed Hard Luck Joe. "The things that happen to me shouldn't happen to me."
"To an alert player," I finished. Joe plunged right on. No force thus far discovered can stop him from telling a hard luck story to everybody he meets.
"I had a beautiful hand last night," he said, his face glowing in fond memory. "But I lost my shirt with it."
Joe was between me and the door, so I had to listen. "What went wrong?" I asked.
"Well, we had lots of melds down on the table, and our opponents didn't have any melds at all. I had a million cards in my hand—I'd just picked up the deck—and I figured I'd get the pack back very easily. Wouldn't you figure that way?"

"Sounds reasonable."
"The only trouble was that I wasn't absolutely sure which discards were safe," Joe continued. "I didn't want to give the pack away if I could help it. But I had four wild cards, and I was sure I could get the pack back again by the time I came to the end of my wild cards. So I played one of the deuces, freezing the pack."
I began to see what was coming. Joe spends half his time digging holes that he can fall into, and the other half complaining about his hard luck.
"Would you believe it?" Joe asked indignantly. "They played us safe for seven rounds—and then they got the pack after all. They went right out, and caught me with all those cards in my hand. I didn't even have a canasta."
By this time I had edged around him and had a clear road to the door. "Cheer up, old boy," I comforted him. "It couldn't happen to a nicer fellow." Before he could corner me again I had escaped.
Of course every experienced Canasta player has already seen what went wrong with Joe's game. He chose one of the worst possible times to freeze the pack.
In general, it is very poor policy to freeze the pack when you have melds on the table and your opponents have no melds.
When you freeze, an opponent often has a safe chance to discard cards that match your melds. You cannot pick up such a discard unless you have a pair of natural matching cards in your hand.
When you leave the pack unfrozen, the opponent cannot safely discard a card that matches your meld. If he does, you can pick up that card and add it to your meld. At the same time, of course, you take the rest of the discard pile.

Groom Hair In Private

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Have you seen a girl comb her hair on the street or in a restaurant recently? It isn't a pretty sight.
Combing your hair in public is a quick way for you teen-agers to destroy your youthful charm. It happens to be a crime particularly allied with your hair needs attention when you're out in public, either find a rest room where you can comb it properly or wait until you reach home.
Pin curls belong in the same category. If you must take your pin curls into public life, cover them. A dish towel or three-cornered cotton scarf won't do. Try, instead, one of the many fashion-coordinated coverings for pin curls which can be bought in any department store.
A third teen-age grooming fault is carrying a comb which doesn't see soap and water often enough. Clean hair and a dirty comb just don't make a good team. And a dirty comb is a poor evidence of daintiness, which is an important part of any teen-age charm.
Use slices of unpeeled red-skinned apples combined with slices of avocado for a colorful salad.
