NG Calms Riot-Torn Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—This riot-scarred city emerged today from a bloody weekend of racial violence with four dead, hundreds of injured and massive property damage. An uneasy peace was backed by a combat-ready force of National Guardsmen.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller activated 1,000 Guardsmen and ordered them into Rochester to stand by for anti-riot duty if needed.

"Law and order will be maintained in the city of Rochester," the governor declared.

A detachment of 12 open trucks with 18 Guardsmen each toured the city's trouble areas in a show of force shortly after the arrival of the guard Sunday night. The men carried rifles with bayonets fixed but had no ammunition.

COPTER CRASH
Three persons were killed and a county official was injured critically Sunday when a helicopter surveying a potential trouble spot smashed into a three-story house and set it afire.

A man was killed by an automobile when he was struck during wild rioting Saturday night, in the height of the racial explosion, and staggered into the street. Two men were shot. One was in critical condition.

More than 800 persons, nearly all Negroes, were arrested. More than 300 other persons were injured, including 35 police officers and several firemen.

Thousands of Negroes participated in rioting throughout the weekend, but police had no estimate of the exact number.

Looters ran wild, pillaging and smashing, especially Saturday night. Liquor stores were a favorite target.

STOLEN BOOZE
Many rioters were "all fired up on stolen booze," a police official said.

State and local police, working with little rest, were targets of bricks, rocks, bottles, full beer cans, fire bombs and

Wants Respect In Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People appealed to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today to caution National Guardsmen to approach residents of Rochester's trouble areas "with respect."

A telegram signed by Robert M. Morrison Jr., president of the Rochester branch of the NAACP, told the governor that "forcing the people to close their doors and windows in areas of congested and poorly ventilated housing is an unnecessary further incitement of an already resentful population."

A spokesman for Morrison said the NAACP official had based the telegram on a television show. He said Guardsmen were shown ordering people to get off the street and telling them "close those windows, close those doors."

sheets of glass in one outbreak after another.

They answered with tear gas, high-pressure streams from fire hoses and warning shots from their guns. Several individual rioters were clubbed into submission when seized.

The Rochester jail was jammed and a clerk said the property room was filled with "everything you can think of in recovered loot."

Except for ravaged stores in the trouble area, business and industry throughout the city scheduled normal operations, although some plants had planned earlier to curtail operations because of vacations.

The City Council was called into special session to consider legislation and other steps in connection with the state of emergency under which the city government has been operating since early Saturday morning.

The job of trying to keep down the riot was proving a difficult one for the tired police officers, a factor in the decision of city officials to appeal for help from the guard. "We were fighting a defensive battle," a high police officer said.

DEFIANCE
A dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed, although there was widespread defiance in the Negro sections.

The sale of all liquor, guns and ammunition was halted indefinitely.

The peak of the rioting occurred Saturday night in the Jefferson Avenue area on the city's west side, a well-kept section populated by the city's more prosperous Negroes.

The area is across town from Joseph Avenue, where the racial violence broke out late Friday night when police sought to arrest a drunken youth at a street dance.

The Joseph Avenue area was in a state of siege Saturday, with hundreds of armed police ready for trouble. Half of them were rushed across the city in buses when Jefferson Avenue exploded into rioting and looting.

The intensity and scope of the rioting was a shock to this quiet, prosperous city of 325,000. There are about 25,000 Negroes here.

The racial outburst was seen by civil rights leaders as the inevitable result of long-smoldering conflicts. Negroes charged the police with persistent brutality, the same allegation made in the New York City racial outbreaks.

WHITE PARENTS
Efforts by some white parents in Rochester to block school integration plans also were blamed. Because of housing patterns, enrollments in some schools are predominantly Negro.

Tensions between Negroes and white police intensified throughout the rioting.

In calling out the National Guard, Rockefeller's office emphasized that martial law was not declared and that the guard was standing by to assist local and state police.

Senate Aid Win Possible This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders hope to hand President Johnson another victory this week by passing his $3.4-billion foreign aid authorization bill without major changes.

But their chances of matching last week's performance, when they put through the administration's high-priority anti-poverty bill, are threatened by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Morse, who has been gunning for the bill for weeks, has a flock of amendments ready, aimed at trimming it by $466 million. He says it could take a week to dispose of them.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicts passage this week without any "crippling cuts."

BOBBY BAKER
Before it can get into the foreign aid fight the Senate must dispose of a resolution growing out of the investigation of the financial dealings of Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democrats.

The resolution would require senators and Senate employees to make annual disclosure of their incomes.

It may have been disposed of Friday night when the Senate voted to create a permanent bipartisan committee to police the conduct of senators and Senate employees.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the action had taken "a lot of steam" out of the disclosure resolution. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said it had made the resolution unnecessary.

CONVENTION
Mansfield, who hopes to complete the Senate's business before the Democratic National Convention starts in Atlantic City on Aug. 24, has two appropriations bills ready for action this week in case the foreign aid bill is finished up early. They would appropriate $46.7 billion for the Defense Department and $210.3 million to run Congress.

House action this week centers on two bills, one increasing Social Security benefits and raising the tax that supports them, and the other creating a national wilderness system.

House leaders hope to clear the anti-poverty bill for floor action next week. It comes up for a vote in the Rules Committee Tuesday. That's the last big legislative chore left for the House except for final action on the money bills after the Senate passes them.

Jury Convicts Hoffa Of Huge Fraud Plan

Teamster Faces 20-Year Term

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury out for three days found Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six others guilty Sunday of a massive scheme to defraud a $280-million union pension fund.

Hoffa, a trustee of the pension fund, was convicted in U.S. District Court on four counts of fraud and conspiracy and faces 20 years in prison and an $11,000 fine.

Each codefendant was found guilty of at least one fraud charge and one of conspiracy. The indictment included 20 mail fraud charges and one conspiracy charge.

The men specifically were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and diverting more than $1 million to their own use.

KENNEDY HAILS
Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy hailed the decision and complimented the jury and prosecutors in a statement from his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Hoffa faces a maximum sentence of $1,000 fine and five years on each of the fraud counts and $10,000 and five years on the conspiracy count.

It was Hoffa's fifth federal prosecution since 1957—and his second loss in six months. In February he was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 at Chattanooga, Tenn., for attempting to bribe a jury. He has appealed that conviction.

The stocky union leader nervously paced the courtroom floor while waiting for the jury to return its verdict, but showed little outward emotion afterwards.

The case went to the jury Friday after 13 weeks of testimony and sparring between prosecution and defense.

NAVAL BASE
It took two weeks for opposing attorneys to agree on the eight-man, four-woman jury. During the trial, the jurors were kept under lock and key at the Great Lakes Naval Base 30 miles north of Chicago and permitted only one monitored telephone call per day.

The jury returned separate findings on 147 charges — 21 naming each defendant. They had deliberated 17½ hours, returning to Great Lakes Friday and Saturday nights.

Judge Richard B. Austin set Aug. 17 for rulings on motions made immediately by defense attorneys for arrest of judgment, a directed verdict of acquittal despite the jury's findings, or a new trial. He ruled the defendants could remain free under present bond arrangements until the hearings.

Walsh said he planned to appeal Hoffa's conviction.

BACK TO JAIL
One defendant, Benjamin Dranow, 56, a former Minneapolis businessman now serving a prison term for tax fraud, was returned to jail.

The government's conspiracy conviction resulted from its charge that Hoffa and the others schemed to rescue Hoffa from a failing investment in a real estate project near Orlando, Fla.

Besides Hoffa and Dranow, the defendants are: Samuel Hyman, Calvin Kovens and Abe I. Weinblatt of Miami Beach; Zachard Strate Jr. of New Orleans and S. George Burris of New York.

Herbert Burris of New York, son of George, was freed on a directed verdict during the trial.

Some 20 hours later, an Evanston motorist nearing his garage in the early hours saw the body in the alley behind his home.

Later Sunday, a long-sleeved yellow dress believed to be the one in which the girl had been laid out for burial was found in an alley on the north side of Chicago.

Capt. Edward Caulfield, head of the Skokie police force, described the crime, technically only a burglary, as "unbelievable in this day and age." The theft and mutilation of the corpse pointed to a demented man, he said.

Police questioned and cleared two men, one a 16-year-old acquaintance of the girl and the other a man seen loitering around the funeral parlor.

OAS Clamps Down On Cuba As Fidel Bristles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American republics have slapped strong diplomatic and economic sanctions on Cuba and Fidel Castro has brushed off the actions as impudent and unjust.

A conference of the American foreign ministers Sunday approved a diplomatic break and trade embargo against Cuba and cleared the way for the use of armed force against the Castro regime if it continues subversions against other republics of the hemisphere.

Within hours after the action was taken, there were these reactions:

—Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said the action "proved once again the ability of the Organization of American States to defend itself against aggression."

—Castro said the OAS is "garbage" and the prime minister declared "the people of Cuba reject as impudent and unjust the sanctions imposed." He issued a "Declaration of Santiago de Cuba" as a reply to the "Declaration of the Americas" of the OAS.

—Tass, the official Soviet news agency, charged that the action set a dangerous precedent and it accused the United States of openly putting pressure on the OAS to take the historic step.

—Several Cuban exile leaders in Miami disagreed on the impact of the OAS sanctions but in general looked upon them as a forward step.

The sanctions were approved by a 15-4 vote—as author of the resolution, Venezuela, could not vote. Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay—the only Latin-American republics maintaining relations with Cuba—voted no.

The foreign ministers' conference was called at Venezuela's request. It invoked the Inter-American Treaty of Mutual Assistance Dec. 3, after uncovering a three-ton cache of smuggled arms with Cuban markings on a lonely beach in the state of Falcon where most of the oil-rich Venezuela's refineries are located.

The sanctions became official when representatives of 20 nations signed the final act of the ninth conference of foreign ministers of the Americas.

Bolivia announced immediately it would respect the majority decision and Uruguay is expected to follow suit. Chile may do so if a Social Christian government is chosen in the September presidential elections.

Mexico denounced the censure to the Castro regime in speeches to the conference.

In addition, the foreign ministers issued a warning that if the Castro regime persists in carrying out acts of aggression and intervention against one or more OAS members, they may, singly or as a group, use armed force against Cuba.

RANGER 7 CRAFT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The United States is to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft today on a quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to take thousands of pictures and hopefully end six years of frustration for American lunar shots.

An Atlas-Agena rocket is to blast skyward in a favorable launching period between 11:32 a.m. and 1:42 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Thunderstorms were forecast but officials hoped they would hold off until later in the day.

The flight plan called for the 806-pound spacecraft to execute several intricate maneuvers and crash-land on the moon Thursday morning after a 68½-hour, 230,992-mile trip.

COLLISION COURSE
Sixteen hours after launching, a ground station is to send a radio signal to fire a payload motor and jockey the craft into a collision course with the moon.

If Ranger 7 succeeds, it will break a string of 12 straight moon launching failures dating to 1958. The launching is the first American attempt since Ranger 6 failed to transmit pictures last February, although it hit the moon.

The record has seriously hindered the gathering of data for locating possible astronaut landing areas and for designing the Apollo spacecraft in which they will ride.

In a 13-minute, 40-second session before Ranger 7's lunar landing, its six television cameras are to snap more than 4,000 pictures and transmit them to Goldstone, Calif., for processing.

The cameras were geared to operate from an altitude of 1,120 miles to the moment before impact.

CLOSE-IN
Space agency officials said the close-in photos might enable analysts to distinguish objects on the moon the size of an automobile. Astronomers using the best earth-based telescopes can't distinguish features much less than a mile in diameter.

Scientists hoped to maneuver Ranger 7 to an area west of the moon's center, on the left as seen from earth, where lighting presently is most favorable. The goal was to obtain pictures of Maria, large dark areas which appear to be relatively flat and thus possible astronaut landing spots.

The precise landing point is to be determined after Ranger 7 is airborne.

The spacecraft was fitted with two wide-angle cameras and four with narrow angles.

Battered Body Gone When Officers Arrive

What became of the bloody, battered corpse which the witness told Deputy Sheriff Sonny Buzbee he found sprawled on the concrete slab of a lonely oil well pump?

"It wasn't there when we got there," said Buzbee, "and there was no bloodstains nor any indication that one had ever been where the witness said he saw it."

Buzbee and Patrolman Arvin Henry lost a lot of sleep and had nothing official to report as result of the incident.

Buzbee said he was notified about 3 a.m. by a phone call from Vealmoor that a man had found a "bloody body" in the oil fields on the Tom Good Ranch.

Although the reported corpse was in Borden County, Buzbee and Henry agreed to go to the scene since the person reporting the "corpse" said he could not contact the Borden County officers.

The two men went to Vealmoor and picked up the man who had made the call. He told them he had come across the body as he drove from a relative's house to his own home.

He said he was driving by the well when he heard someone call his name, he told Buzbee. At the well pump he found the badly beaten body of a man, "all covered with blood."

"We went to the scene," said Buzbee. "There was no body, and no bloodstains on the slab. The only tracks we found were those made by our witness."

SHAMROCK

Drouth Hitting Texas Hard

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Hot, dry weather, now in its fifth week, has Texas farmers and stockmen worried. Pastures have been hard hit. Stock water supplies are often short. Crops are suffering, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, this week.

Crops which matured on the mid-June rains are making good yields and harvesting is swift. Livestock feeding is becoming more general. Some stockmen are culling herds. Only limited areas got worthwhile rain the past week, the director said. Several districts agents described the situation as critical.

Moisture is short in the Panhandle. Dryland crops were at a standstill and ranges were below average.

SOUTH PLAINS

Thousands of acres set aside for cotton and grain sorghum on the South Plains, mostly south and west of Lubbock, have never been planted, has failed to germinate or is in bad shape. Some dryland crops, however, look very good. Good rains in the immediate future could change the outlook. Irrigated crops look good. Livestock generally are in good condition.

All the Rolling Plains need rain. Cotton made fair growth; fruiting was fair and insect damage light. Sorghum is being combined and due to dry ranges, some stockmen are culling their herds. Stock water is low.

All North Central Texas was dry and hot. All crops are suffering. Ranges are deteriorating rapidly and livestock are showing the effects. Stock water is short.

Heat and winds are deepening the drouth conditions in North-east Texas. Crop yields and farm activities are being reduced. Pecans and cotton are shedding leaves and fruit. Hay yields are reduced and feeding has increased.

COWS SOLD

Far West Texas is dry. Some cows and calves were being sold. Some lambs and ewes were moved from the drier areas. Ranges are dry and gardens are burning. Irrigated cotton is in good condition and insects are light.

The situation in West Central Texas was termed critical. Some ranchmen in Concho and Nolan counties are hauling water. The sorghum harvest has started but yields are low. Much of the acreage is expected to be cut for hay. Cotton is deteriorating rapidly with some already past the recovery stage. Ranchmen are reducing their stocking rates and shearing goats.

Central Texas cotton is showing the effects of the continuing dry weather and is beginning to open. Insect troubles are minor. Moisture is very short; corn is mature; sorghum is being harvested and some fields are lodging. Peanuts made little progress. Rain is needed to complete planting. Grass is dry, stock water short and some stockmen are feeding.

VERY SHORT

Moisture in East Texas is very short; ranges are below average; livestock are in fair condition but are losing weight; and stock water is short. The vegetable harvest is about over; corn was burning badly and a poor pecan crop is in prospect. All of South Central Texas except the southeast corner is extremely dry. Livestock marketing is increasing and some feeding was started. The sorghum harvest is at its peak and most yields are good. The cotton and rice harvests have started. Broom corn, hay and watermelon harvests are over the peak. Peanuts need rain.

Cotton is popping open and the first bale was ginned in the upper coastal and South-east Texas District July 15. Corn is firing from the lack of rain; pastures are short; and stock tanks drying up. Cows and larger calves are showing the effect of the dry weather. Rice and sorghum are being harvested.

In far South Texas, moisture ranges from short to adequate. Parts of the Lower Valley and Coastal Bend got good weekend rains. The cotton harvest is increasing, up to 95 per cent of the sorghum has been harvested. Citrus looks good. Ranges are average to below.

Stolen Property Values Increase

Total amount of stolen property in Big Spring increased by some $3,000 from June, 1963 to June of this year, police reports showed this week.

Stolen property totaled $15,374 for the current year through June. Total value of local property recovered, both in Big Spring and elsewhere, was $7,804 for the same period.

During June, police records showed 13 burglary offenses reported, four aggravated assault offenses, 25 larceny charges under $50 and six over $50 and three auto thefts. Total value of property stolen during June was $5,264.

The police department cleared four assault charges during June, three burglaries, one larceny over $50 and two under $50 and three auto thefts. Total arrests for the month were 177 persons, a decrease of 60 persons from the previous month.

Lad Lost For Eight Days Worried But Not Scared

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—"I was worried some of the time, but I was never scared," said a 19-year-old city boy who survived eight days without food in a rugged wilderness area of Yosemite National Park.

"I thought someone would find me. I knew they were looking for me when I saw a helicopter fly overhead."

Once-chubby John Ireland Jr. of Los Angeles lived on water and his own body fat as he wandered in the mountainous terrain where nighttime temperatures ranged in the high 30s.

He lost 15 pounds during the ordeal — his weight dropped from 183 to 66—but doctors said his condition was good.

"It's amazing," said one doctor. "He had nothing but water. The boy is talking, and you'd hardly know he had taken a hike."

Young John wandered away from his family's trailer at Harden Lake campsite July 18

wearing only a thin T-shirt, jeans and leather shoes.

Rangers Gil Hall and Jim Reilly found him Saturday afternoon about three miles from the camp. About 350 men had joined in an air and ground search.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ireland, had lost hope and were getting ready to break camp and return home when they learned that John had been found.

"I'm hungry," were his first words to his parents. The boy had lost so much weight that he had to hold his pants up."

John told of his adventure from a bed in Lewis Memorial Hospital in Yosemite.

"As soon as I knew I was lost, I sat down and started making plans for getting home," he said. "I was worried some of the time, but I was never scared."

"The worst part of it was the cold at night and the mosquitoes."

Extremist If Necessary, Goldwater Tells Writer

BONN, Germany (AP)—A leading West German magazine says Sen. Barry Goldwater told one of its correspondents: "The only person who is respected is the one who clearly says—when necessary—that he is determined to go to extremes."

"That is a policy that your country and all successful countries have followed throughout the past thousand years," the Republican presidential candidate is quoted as telling Werner Holzer, a correspondent for the weekly magazine Revue.

In a statement issued in Washington, Goldwater said he had not given an interview to the German newsman—"He only asked me a few questions." Holzer said Sunday night he met Goldwater on July 4 at Prescott, Ariz., and told him he had been trying to get an appointment for an interview. He said the senator suggested they talk then and there.

Holzer wrote that Goldwater told him:

"My ideas for a successful American foreign policy correspond generally to the policy of efforts to meet De Gaulle "part way" in the Atlantic Alliance. "Gen. de Gaulle is a great man and he governs a great country so I understand completely that he wants to play the role in world policy that he deserves." Goldwater was quoted as saying.

PAT WASHBURN'S

The Roundtable

Maybe you like the TCU Horned Frogs and maybe you don't, but if there's any truth in the 1964 football press book just mailed out to media around the state by the Fort Worth based school, then it could be a dismal year as far as victories go. No farther than page three, you read this:

KEN HENSON

"It's been five years since a TCU football team has been in the thick of the Southwest Conference championship race. And early predictions for the 1964 campaign fall to see any hope for a Horned Frog challenge for the flag.

"But ABE MARTIN, who will be at the helm of his 12th Purple eleven in September, is a man of optimism. No, he didn't say the Frogs would win the 1964 title. But he didn't say they couldn't, either.

"I don't think any team is out of a race before it starts," reminds the tall Jacksboro philosopher.

"Sure, you have favorites. Someone has to be picked to win. I know we have problems, and we haven't been up to par in recent years. But this group seems eager, teachable and wants to do well. On a good day, we could mean trouble for someone, believe me."

Football has a proud tradition at TCU, molded by the 67 teams that have taken the field for the Horned Frogs in the past, dating back to 1896. During those seasons, the Purple Wave has rolled up the second-best all-time Southwest Conference mark (behind only Texas) and is the third winningest team when it comes to conference titles (behind Texas and Texas A&M). And to top it all off, a coach has never been fired at the school because of the school's record on the gridiron.

But the word is spreading that Martin could have the dubious honor of being the first mentor to get the "hatchet" if he can't come up with a winner very shortly. And considering facts, it's hard to see how this can be Martin's year.

There are only three returning starters — center KEN HENSON, right guard STEVE GARMON and right halfback JIM FAUVER. All three rank easily among the league's top personnel, but the other eight spots are question marks. According to Frog Facts, Martin's legions will neither be a ground-control team nor a passing eleven — they will combine both into what they call a "dual offense." Defense is cited as the Frogs' number one problem, since only two boys have had any real experience.

Henson, the only boy on the Frog varsity from District 2-AAAA (San Angelo), could be one of the conference greats this season. At 6'6", 250-pounds, he is the biggest center in TCU history.

A lot of people in this area still remember him as not only a top-flight footballer for the Bobcats, but also the state discus champion, and runner-up in the shot-put (once he had a heave over 60-feet). When line coach ALLIE WHITE signed him, he said:

"I just don't see how he can miss. He'll probably make All-America, weigh around 275, and be a top draft choice of the pros."

He has enjoyed two fine seasons thus far for the Purple, but has been bypassed by All-Southwest Conference and All-American selectors. However, he was named to TOM HARMON'S top pre-season All-America team for the second straight year. Called the Jolly Green Giant by his teammates, he was chosen in the 1963 draft by both Los Angeles of the NFL and Houston in the AFL.

As one pro scout said:

"He's easily one of the best pro prospects in the country. They say he won't make all-SWC down there. But all I see him do is snap the ball, and knock everybody down. I like him."

Frog Facts continues:

"Overall, the Frogs aren't due to be in the top bracket of the SWC. Lack of experience, lack of desirable team speed and inexperienced secondary could be the difference in the close games. But Martin and his staff still look forward to 1964.

"I just believe this team will live up to the name of Fighting Frogs, and despite not a good forecast, I'm real excited about getting started."

That pretty well sums it up.

ing firsts for the Americans in this meet:

First victories in the 10,000 meters, Lindgren in 29:17.6; in the triple jump, Davis' 53-11; the 5,000, Schul's 13:50.2; the 3,000-meter steeplechase, by George Young, in 8:42.1.

It was also the finest showing by the women's team since the meet began in 1958.

There were disappointments for the Americans, too. Dyrrol Burleson was unable to run in the 1,500 because of a severe virus attack Sunday morning.

Then Ralph Boston lost in the broad jump, Hal Conroy in the hammer-throw and Randy Matson's third place in the shot put.

The main attraction Sunday was Russia's record holding high jumper, Valery Brumel. But Brumel managed 7-3/4 and missed at 7-6 in an attempt to better his mark of 7-5 1/2.

The American records were set by Ira Davis in the triple jump at 53-11, by Leah Ferris of Honolulu in the 800 meters in 2:08.8, and Willye White of Chicago in the broad jump, 21-6. Miss White placed second at 21-7 1/2 but it was wind aided and would not hold up as a national record.

There were several outstanding

Cards Stay In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The football Cardinals are not going to migrate South next fall—after deciding their grounds are best in St. Louis.

Charles and Bill Bidwill, president and vice president of the National Football League team, made the formal announcement Sunday in a joint statement at St. Louis. Charles Bidwill made an announcement at the Cardinal training camp in Lake Forest, Ill., while his brother read the statement in St. Louis.

The brothers said they had reached an agreement on a 30-year lease early Sunday after a meeting with Civic Center Redevelopment Corp.

"We expect to sign the lease within 30 days," said Bill Bidwill.

The announcement came after months of speculation that the team might move to Atlanta. A new stadium under construction there would be finished in 1965. St. Louis' riverfront stadium is not scheduled for completion until 1966. Civic Center is the prime backer for the St. Louis stadium.

The Cardinals, oldest team in the NFL, moved to St. Louis from Chicago in 1960.

The Bidwill brothers said that under the lease agreed to at St. Louis the Cardinals could leave the city in five years without penalty. They said that if the team decided to leave before the five years, they would pay $100,000 a year on time left in the five year period.

"But," Bidwill said, "we have no intention of paying the penalty."

Big Springers Beat Midland In 14 Innings

MIDLAND—Big Spring's visiting Merchants pushed across two runs in the 14th inning here Saturday night against the Midland Builders to break open one of the longest softball games played this season. The tilt lasted 3 1/2 hours and the verdict went to the visitors, 2-0.

The Merchants, who were scheduled to play a Westex Softball League doubleheader against the Abilene A's, had the exhibition game instead against the Builders because of the state American Softball League tournament that was being held in Abilene.

Spec Franklin, the winning pitcher, issued only four hits in going the distance. He and his mates collected 10 hits, all well-scattered, off of Lambeth, the host hurler.

The Merchants scored the winning runs on two Midland miscues and a double by B. P. Thomas, catcher. Hagood, first baseman, led Big Spring batters with three singles in six trips to the plate.

The visitors reached third base in the second frame on back-to-back singles by Gross, shortstop, and Thomas, third baseman, but Midland quelled the uprising with a double play, third to short to first. The Merchants also threatened in the 10th on a Builder bobble and in the 13th on a single by Franklin and another error.

Franklin retired the first three batters to face him in 10 of the 14 innings. The Builders were able to reach third only once in the long tilt—on a single and double in the 9th, but Franklin put out the fire with a strikeout. Angels Win Twice Without Bill Rigney

By The Associated Press

Those double-dealing Los Angeles Angels are getting meaner by the minute.

Their pilot got himself grounded between flights Sunday and the Angels soared right past the fallen leader without a backward glance.

Bill Rigney, the Los Angeles manager, established some sort of record when he was ejected between games of a doubleheader at Kansas City. But Rigney's absence didn't stop the Angels from completing a 3-0, 4-3 sweep over the Athletics and tying a 58-year-old major league record.

The doubleheader victory was the streaking Angels' fifth straight over a two-week period and concluded a 10-3 road trip that has vaulted them into the American League's first division. The 1964 Yankees were the last club to sweep five consecutive twin bills.

Big Springers Beat Midland In 14 Innings

MIDLAND—Big Spring's visiting Merchants pushed across two runs in the 14th inning here Saturday night against the Midland Builders to break open one of the longest softball games played this season. The tilt lasted 3 1/2 hours and the verdict went to the visitors, 2-0.

The Merchants, who were scheduled to play a Westex Softball League doubleheader against the Abilene A's, had the exhibition game instead against the Builders because of the state American Softball League tournament that was being held in Abilene.

Spec Franklin, the winning pitcher, issued only four hits in going the distance. He and his mates collected 10 hits, all well-scattered, off of Lambeth, the host hurler.

The Merchants scored the winning runs on two Midland miscues and a double by B. P. Thomas, catcher. Hagood, first baseman, led Big Spring batters with three singles in six trips to the plate.

The visitors reached third base in the second frame on back-to-back singles by Gross, shortstop, and Thomas, third baseman, but Midland quelled the uprising with a double play, third to short to first. The Merchants also threatened in the 10th on a Builder bobble and in the 13th on a single by Franklin and another error.

Franklin retired the first three batters to face him in 10 of the 14 innings. The Builders were able to reach third only once in the long tilt—on a single and double in the 9th, but Franklin put out the fire with a strikeout. The Merchants also turned in a double play of their own—in the second when Polard, the second sacker, took a liner and doubled a runner off first.

Dear Abby

The Male Viewpoint

DEAR ABBY: I have always considered you the voice of anti-intellectual mid-Victorian morality. As such, you had your finest moment when you advised a 14-year-old boy to run rather than to defend himself against a 15-year-old out-sized girl. I say if a girl wants to act like a boy, treat her as a boy. A black eye and a split lip in childhood is a small price to pay if it prevents a female from confusing her role with that of a male's in adult life.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE L. H.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to MRS. M. burned me up. That's the trouble with society today. You women want to wear the pants, smoke, go in bars and compete with men for jobs, but when the going gets rough you expect special treatment just because you're women. I say that kid who slugged the girl deserves a pat on the back. I'll bet that was the last time the big fat Amazon ever took a poke at him. Sign me... SWEENEY

DEAR ABBY: Just read about the 14-year-old boy who was given a beating by his father for socking a 15-year-old girl in the eye. When I was an 8-year-old boy, I was unmercifully tormented by an older, bigger girl. I was ashamed to ask for help because people would laugh at a boy who would let a girl scare him. If only I had had the nerve to pick up a good-sized stick and let her have some good whacks on the shins, maybe I wouldn't dislike women as much as I do today. When an overgrown, aggressive woman provokes a man, she deserves a black eye. For a man to strike a woman of average proportions and ladylike deportment is a despicable act. But today just let one of those other types bug me and I'll kick her right in the seat. MR. M.

DEAR ABBY: Our sewing club discussed that letter in your column from the mother of a 14-year-old boy who beat up a 15-year-old girl because she kicked him, hit him and called him names. The boy's father heard about it and gave the boy a good thrashing. You were asked what the boy should have done in such a case and you said that since the girl outweighed him by 30 pounds, and was half a head taller than he was, the boy should have run. In our entire group, Abby, I was the only one who stood by you. All the other women said they thought the boy had no choice but to beat the girl up in order to defend himself. Maybe you and I were not raised the same as most folks, but I still think it is less of a disgrace for a boy to run from a girl than to beat her up. NELL IN N.J.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from Mrs. M., whose 14-year-old son gave a 15-year-old girl a black eye and a split lip in self-defense. You said, "Under no circumstances should a boy ever hit a girl." I think you gave some pretty bum advice there, Abby. If a girl hits a boy first, I think he has a perfect right to hit her back. You have a son, Abby, why don't you ask HIM for HIS opinion? I'll bet HE wouldn't run from a girl. ONE FOR YOUR WASTERBASKET

DEAR ONE: I just asked him. He said he wouldn't HIT her in the same way he'd hit a boy. But he'd give her a paddling" she'd never forget. You win!

DIFFERENT BREED OF NEGRO YOUTH

'Hard Ones' Core Of Rioting

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An exhausted fireman felled by heavy smoke was wheeled from a flaming house in Rochester's riot-wrecked Negro section.

"He should have got burned up long ago," a Negro boy said. Here in the brilliant sunshine of a Sunday afternoon the boy and hundreds of other Negroes had watched a gruesome drama.

A helicopter being used to spot potential riot activity had hit the peaked gable of the frame house, fallen to the sidewalk, exploded and burned. The white pilot was killed. Two persons in the house, presumably Negroes, burned to death.

For some in the crowd, the spectacle was sickening and sobering. They were mainly older people. A minister, a chef, a mechanic. But the young fellows, the lean and well-muscled teenagers and men in their early 20s, shed no tears.

RECKLESSNESS

Their attitude throughout rioting that began Friday night has been one of militant recklessness. There is a bravado to them—and the chill quality of boys who have begun to believe that life is a one way road to death and they are on it, put there by white men.

The role of young Negroes in Rochester parallels that of those who met police in hand-to-hand battle in Harlem and in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

"There's a don't care attitude about these boys," said Ernest Denny, a Negro social worker.

"They're saying to the white society, 'You're going to kill me psychologically if I live, so why not kill me with bullets?'"

"The thing is that they are not afraid. These are brave boys."

"They have lost respect for authority," said Lt. Andrew Sparacino, head of the Rochester Police Department's youth division.

Boys and young men from the major Negro areas in town voiced bitter resentment of whites, especially of the police, and talked with a belligerent straightforwardness.

KICKED HIM

"Man, there ain't no cat going to frighten me," said a youth of 19. "They kicked that out of me when they kicked hell out of me one time when they busted a crap game. They grabbed the dough and then used the clubs."

Fireman Hurt Fighting Helicopter Fire

An injured fireman is helped away from the scene of fire in Rochester Sunday which claimed the lives of three people. Fire was started when a helicopter, carrying police on the lookout for racial strife, plunged to earth. The chopper struck a house and a car, setting both afire. Rotor blade rests across hood of auto. (AP WIREPHOTO)

A boy of 14 who wore a wrist wound proudly, said: "We are just different. My mama and I stayed out. I'm, if it was up to them, would of locked me in the house last night. They scared. But they old and old peoples get scared. I what to do."

Viet Nam Anti-Guerrilla Step-Up Appears Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — New measures for stepping up the war against Communist guerrillas reportedly are nearly ready for announcement by the United States and Viet Nam. Sources said they do not involve expanding the war into North Viet Nam.

Prime Minister Nguyen Khanh of South Viet Nam is expected to announce the new measures next week.

Speculation on steps for bolstering the fight against the Communist guerrillas include these possibilities: Sending more U.S. planes, increasing the U.S. training program and sending more U.S. military advisory forces.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 200 tourists had an unexpected surprise Sunday—a tour of the White House grounds conducted by President Johnson. After the Johnsons returned to the White House from church services, the President saw a group standing outside a gate of the White House grounds. He shook hands with some, then invited them into the grounds for a walk. About 100 tourists joined him.

Then he walked to another gate and invited about 100 more to join in the walk. After a stroll around the grounds, the President said he had to go to lunch and the tourists departed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, who held separate meetings last week with business and labor leaders, has issued invitations to a large group of educators to meet with him in the White House.

While the White House said the President will be prepared to discuss with the educators any matters they want to bring up, it is expected he will urge their cooperation in helping smooth compliance with the Civil Rights Act.

Clarifies Name Of Prisoner

The Kendall Webb listed in Sunday's issue of the Herald as one of several prisoners taken to the state penitentiary should have been further identified as Kendall Webb Jr.

His father Kendall Webb Sr., 1216 Lloyd, called attention to the omission of the "Jr." He said that the man is his son but that he is being embarrassed by people mistaking him as the offender listed.

The Herald regrets the omission of the "Jr." and is happy to make a correction of the identity.

Figure Dedicated

DALLAS (AP)—A wax figure of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, described by oilman H. L. Hunt as the "greatest champion of freedom of all time," was dedicated Sunday at the Southwestern Historical Wax Museum. Hunt was principal speaker.

Balloonist Killed By Power Lines

PITTSBURGH, Calif. (AP)—A champion balloonist was killed Sunday when his gondola drifted into high-tension wires and exploded in a white flash of fire.

Richard Pollard, 19, of Denver, was competing in a four-balloon benefit race to raise funds for a recreation center for the handicapped at nearby Clayton. He was the national hot air balloon champion.

The race had been scheduled originally for last Saturday in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, but it was canceled by Police Chief Thomas Cahill as "too hazardous."

Pollard had difficulty with his balloon when the race started at Clayton, a less populous area. A crowd of more than 3,000 watched as he left 10 minutes behind the others because of last-minute repairs.

Russ Reed, a photographer for the Oakland Tribune, watched from a small airplane as Pollard's balloon headed toward the 150,000-volt wires.

"He missed one, then another," said Reed. "But he hit a and Anthony Cerretto attempted to arrest a disorderly young man.

"We ended up on the ground with the guy, putting the cuffs on him," said Cerretto. "The crowd wanted him and they got between us."

Fifty or more young men pushed in to keep the handcuffed youth from being taken to the police station. It was this incident that started the riot.

Sparacino, the youth division expert, knows by sight most of the city's juvenile delinquents and other young offenders.

"But to tell you the truth," he said, "these are kids I've never seen before. They're not the usual juvenile delinquents. I don't know where they come from. I know one we got in a good high school and another is an athlete in high school."

THE SYSTEM they are fighting, baby," explains Denny. "The boys feel the system is against them, and it is."

It was difficult for some of the Negro boys to articulate their feelings, but one, a rather thin boy who looked like he could be a chorus dancer, said: "It's like you're standing and across the way there is that store and the cats is saying, 'Let's go eat on Whitey', or 'Whitey, he going to give me a birthday suit, man.' We laughing and pushing and talking big."

"Doing it is knowing that the fuzz is coming. I mean any cat can reach in for a bunch a bananas if the Girl Scouts is watching, but the thing is, will you do it when you know the police is just around the corner and coming."

"It's like you got to make the scene or the chicks will put you down as nothin'. I mean, you got to go. Ya dig?"

Violent Deaths Claim 32 In State On Weekend

By The Associated Press
Thirty-two persons died violently in Texas during the weekend.
The toll, recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, included 16 killed in auto accidents. Among the latest victims were:
A car rolled off U.S. 181 at a curve near Floresville and Juan Regalado, 33, and Anselmo Regalado, 5, of San Antonio died in the crash Sunday. Five other persons suffered serious injuries.
John Rangel, 33, of Houston stepped in a deep hole while carrying his son, 8, on his shoulders and drowned Sunday at a point where Spring Creek flows into Lake Houston. An unidentified picnicker saved the boy.
Owen Ball, 22, of Hobbs, N.M. drowned Sunday while swimming in the Comal River at New Braunfels. He was an airman stationed at Randolph Air Force Base near San Antonio.
Clarence Herald, 29, was fatally wounded at Houston early Sunday. Officers quoted his wife as saying she was unloading a shotgun and the weapon accidentally discharged.
Leon Gouteau, 43, a Baytown barber, was killed Sunday when his car skidded off a road near Houston.
A car struck and killed a pedestrian Sunday night, and the driver also died in the accident at Campbellton, 50 miles south of San Antonio. The victims were George Sanchez, 22, of Campbellton, who was walking, and Michael Wood, 24, a San Antonio student driving the automobile.

A Devotional For The Day

In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee; for thou wilt answer me. (Psalms 86:7.)

PRAYER: Eternal God, our lives cry out in need and despair. We thank Thee that more than the emptiness of our despair returns to us, for Thou dost answer our cry with assurance and fulfillment. Thanks be to Thee through Jesus Christ, our Lord, who has taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Important Role Of Junior College

Renewed—even militant—emphasis is placed upon the junior college in the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School. This panel, which has laid down some proposals for achieving not only adequacy but excellence in higher education, pointed out that the 30,000 now in Texas two-year colleges should be quadrupled within a decade.

This is one of the most practical approaches to the problem for it invites local participation in shouldering the tremendous load involved. One way the state hopes to encourage this is by vastly increased state participation in the junior college cost. For instance, the share of academics costs would be jumped almost to the point of state assumption. Tuition charges would be lower to encourage junior college participation. Vocational funds would be increased from state and federal sources. Where the combined investment to junior colleges by state, local and private sources is now about $25,000,000 per annum, the committee foresees that this should be raised in 10 years to $70,000,000 (and that does not include another $15,000,000 which might be employed to reinforce the vocational training).

In setting its enrollment estimates, the committee envisioned that half of the number would be preparing for college (which is about twice the total load now) and the other half for vocational proficiency.

The committee also pointed out that having these young people at home during their first two years of college would represent a $50,000,000 annual savings to parents. This is not far fetched, for even now, Howard County Junior College is saving parent—approximately a million a year.

Silent Citizens

Voting for our choice of those we want to conduct our government is both a right and a privilege. The former is bestowed by law; the latter is gained by going to a little trouble.

Article XXIV of the U. S. Constitution provides that the rights of citizens to vote in "any primary or other election" for president, vice president or members of the electoral college who formally carry out the people's will in naming these officers "shall not be denied or abridged . . . by reason of failure to pay any poll tax or other tax." This 24th Amendment, which became a part of the national law late last year, applies also to elections for U. S. senators or representatives in Congress.

In Texas, on Nov. 3, indications are that thousands of citizens who are thus legally entitled to cast their votes for President and other federal officials will not be able to do so. This will not be because of failure of these would-be voters to pay a poll tax, but because they are not registered as voters.

Within a very short time of the 24th Amendment's adoption, Texas voters at a referendum cast a majority of negative ballots on a proposal to abolish the state's own poll tax law. This meant that Texas voters in 1964 would have two ballots—one for a choice of candidates for U. S. offices and another in state and local contests, from governor to constable. Those who paid a poll tax in January (or are exempt from doing so by reason of being 60 years of age or older) will mark both ballots in November. Those who didn't will receive only the former—if, that is, they are registered as non-poll tax-paying voters.

Registration of this sort was from Feb. 5 to March 6 in most other areas of the state, but not in all of them. Interest in an election that is not going to take place until November, not very intense early in the year, especially among those not accustomed to paying poll taxes—and thus not accustomed to voting. To them, the procedure was unclear and, in view of the contradictory circumstances, not easy to clarify. In many places—hundreds of nonpollers of poll taxes were registered to vote on Nov. 3, for U. S. offices only. In other, less heavily populated areas, seekers after information were sometimes told that the "registration machinery" was not complete or that "registration certificates" had not been printed. Had any would-be registrant obtained legal counsel at the time, he could undoubtedly have been registered—and might have cleared up some of the confusion. None did.

Now that the Goldwater-vs-Johnson lines are clearly drawn, there are many Texans who would like to vote for one or the other but who won't be able to do so—because, early this year, they either weren't interested enough to register (with or without paying a poll tax) or weren't deeply concerned enough to penetrate the confusion.

Next January, when the next poll tax and registration period takes place, it will be too late. That is the month in which our president for the next four years is to be inaugurated.

David Lawrence Authority Over Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON — Because of the multitude of distortions already emerging in the current presidential campaign, millions of Americans have been misled into thinking that Senator Goldwater, if elected President, would start a nuclear war. Democratic leaders in Congress have begun to characterize the Republican presidential nominee as "trigger-happy," and various Democratic governors have used the same innuendo.

BUT SOONER or later truth catches up with fiction. The criticism of the statement made by Senator Goldwater some time ago was that he was willing to let military commanders in the field exercise their own judgment as to when nuclear weapons would be used. Actually, the Arizona senator was discussing a specific military problem that might arise in Europe, and he was describing the importance of delegated authority. He was not referring to the ordinary field commanders, but to the commander-in-chief of American forces who, in most instances, would be the supreme commander of all Allied forces, just as General Eisenhower was in World War II, and as Marshal Foch was in World War I.

THE ESSENCE of military procedure is that there must be delegated authority—a prescribed course of action that can be used instantly in an emergency. This is all that Senator Goldwater had in mind, and he wanted such delegated authority given to the commander of the NATO forces, not to subordinate military commanders indiscriminately.

AS A MATTER of fact, the United States government under the Johnson administration, and previously under the Kennedy administration, has been giving careful study to a plan known as the "multi-lateral force," which would use nuclear weapons from vantage points along the coast of a European country. The plan calls for 25 surface ships, each equipped with eight Polaris missiles. Under current proposals each country could exercise a veto but, if there were unanimous agreement among the senior officers on a ship, they could fire the missiles in an emergency. Since there would be mixed crews, all the commanders of the participating nations would agree before pulling the trigger. But plainly it would be the U. S. commander in the field who would be agreeing to the use of missiles in the event of attack.

THE DETAILS of these plans have not yet been completed, but in theory they are all based upon the concept of delegated authority.

The problem is growing more complex all the time, because there are signs that President de Gaulle of France wants Europe to go it alone. He evidently now has some nuclear strength, though the exact amount has never been announced. He thinks that Europe should act as an entity and that it should not depend upon the United States. This does not mean that he would not welcome the help and the nuclear power of America if France is attacked.

THE UNITED STATES, on the other hand, has been willing to cooperate with France and with other nations in order to get a clear understanding of just how nuclear weapons should be used, preferably through NATO.

Again and again in the past there have been discussions as to who should really pull the trigger, and there has been an impression that this has been left entirely to the President of the United States. But, more and more, the European military men, as well as high officials like President de Gaulle, have come to regard such a remote control as dangerous to their safety. Thus the discussion has turned to the delegation of authority in certain kinds of emergencies.

IT IS, THEREFORE, an illusion to imply that Senator Goldwater has initiated the controversy or that anything he has said justifies the interpretation given to his speeches or comments in the past on the subject of delegated authority.

James Marlow LBJ Ready To Increase Viet Nam, Cuba Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has the problem of trying to take the steam out of Sen. Barry Goldwater's complaints about American foreign policy, particularly on two very sore points: Cuba and Viet Nam.

That he is working at it became clear over the weekend.

To bring Fidel Castro tumbling down, Goldwater has proposed various remedies, at various times—from backing an exile invasion of Cuba to shutting off non-Communist trade with it, even if it meant blockading with warships.

SUNDAY The American republics, through their foreign ministers, agreed not only on condemning Cuba for aggression but on approving strong economic and diplomatic sanctions against Castro's regime. The action had strong U. S. backing.

It was the strongest move by a conference of the ministers since Castro grabbed hold of Cuba on Jan. 1, 1959.

One quick way to step up and perhaps end the Communist guerrilla attacks on South Viet Nam would be to extend the war to North Viet Nam. But that might bring Red China directly into the war. The Johnson administration has been reluctant to take the chance.

BUT GOLDWATER has said the United States "can and should end the fighting in Viet Nam by taking strong, affirmative action." This is just one of the things he has said. He has offered various suggestions on how to do this, too.

Sunday night The Associated Press said the United States and Viet Nam reportedly are about ready to announce new measures to step up the war.

This story said there has been no indication here as to the exact nature of these new measures.

But, the story said, they will emphasize this country's determination to support the freedom and independence of Viet Nam and do not involve spreading the war to the north.

IN BOTH CASES—Viet Nam and the U. S.-backed OAS sanctions against Cuba—the Johnson administration could say the new steps were natural developments without any political implications.

But, as Johnson said at his news conference last Friday, "I'm an old campaigner, I've been at it 30 years." Goldwater will have less to complain about if the clamp-down on Cuba gets tighter and the Vietnamese war tougher.

The American states' agreement on Cuba lets them, alone or together, use armed forces against Castro if he continues what the ministers officially described as aggression and subversion against other hemisphere republics.

IT REMAINS to be seen what they'll do since the actual carrying out of the actions approved by the foreign ministers must be the job of the individual governments.

U. S. officials feel this government's sanctions against trade with Cuba have already given Castro acute economic pains. But now the groundwork has been laid for giving him the misery.

It's a talking point for Johnson, and it may turn out to be a good one.

Hal Boyle Animals Don't Match Humans

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The human population explosion hasn't been matched in the rest of the animal world. In the last 200 years some 600 animal species have declined to the point where they are in danger of extinction.

To Your Good Health Buerger's Exercise Helpful In Leg Cramps

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about the cause, treatment and symptoms of Buerger's disease. My husband has ice cold hands and feet all the time, and also cramps in his legs.

He uses an electric heating pad on his feet every night. Will exercise help this condition?—MRS. E. K.

Buerger's disease is a disorder of the small arteries of the extremities. A type of inflammation occurs in the walls of these arteries and the consequence is impaired circulation.

Not all cases are alike, and thorough study of each one is necessary. In some cases, you see, there can be a patchy type of obstruction in larger branches of the arteries. When this occurs, naturally, circulation will be impaired farther down, too.

Whichever type is present, the result is similar: coldness, and cramps in the legs. (There are other causes of leg cramps, too.)

In Buerger's disease particularly, nicotine tends to constrict the small arteries, and when the circulation already is impaired, smoking makes the trouble much worse. The habit should be abandoned completely by anyone with Buerger's disease.

Sometimes drugs can be used with success to dilate the small arteries. Occasionally an operation called lumbar sympathectomy is helpful. This means cutting certain nerves which control the tone of the arteries. When these nerves are cut, the arteries remain relaxed and can dilate, thus permitting greater circulation, and the feet (and hands) become warmer. Frankly, this is not successful as often in Buerger's disease as it is in the somewhat similar Raynaud's disease. All the same, it sometimes succeeds.

Buerger's exercise very often helps. This is really quite simple. The patient lies on his back, then raises and lowers the legs one at a time. Hold it vertical for about a minute, then lower it and raise the other. Repeat several times.

Then do the whole thing again, several times a day.

"Tips on How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

The High Price Of Ransom

This and that: It's very evident that the price of most everything has gone sky-high. Take, for instance, the asking price of ransom.

A 17-year-old male tabby named Mickey was stolen in London by cat-nappers (who obviously weren't asleep on the job—yuk, yuk). For the bribe, the thieves demanded $2,800.

The owner wailed that the animal was all she had in the world but, on second thought, she decided not to break her piggy bank and try to retrieve the cat.

THERE'S A TRIBE in Africa, not yet caught up in the romance of politics, members of which knock out the two front teeth of all of its members. Don't put the rap on them, however. They have good reason for such a custom. The tribe has been afflicted in the past with a disease that temporarily slams shut the jaws.

The wide spaces in the teeth serve as openings for bamboo shoots, through which food can be drawn into the mouth, when the jaw paralysis occurs.

I LIKE the story about the two former bachelor cronies who met for the first time in five years.

"Tell me, Fred," one asked, "did you marry that girl or do you still get your own breakfast?"

"Yes," the other replied.

A FELLOW who studies human nature says two kinds of men go into barbershops.

One type stares at himself in the mirror with undisguised admiration, pleased with everything he sees.

The other steals shy glances at himself. The latter kind outnumbers the former by many legions.

To which group do you belong?

YOU'VE GOT TO admire the attitude of that Amarillo motorist who recently pleaded guilty to a charge in traffic court and was fined $15. He wanted to plead guilty, that is, to $10 of the fine but not the other $5.

The judge took a dim view of the matter and told the defendant to ante up the whole $15.

Cities Are No Good

WASHINGTON — It is fashionable (shucks, in some quarters it is required) to whine that our society is sick, and to point to a variety of causes for this vague distemper.

At any representative cocktail party in the Northeastern quadrant of the country you will find learned sots who airily dismiss such disasters as the Harlem riots as a to-be-expected consequence of the diminution of our moral fiber brought on by ingestion of flourides, or use of refined flour, or swilling canned baby formula, or eating collard greens cooked in aluminum vessels, or the ease with which divorce can be obtained, or the difficulty in obtaining divorce, or inflation, or deflation, or the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

ALL THESE vices are pernicious but it must be said that few philosophers have yet put a finger on the real cause of the social evils that surround us.

The real culprit is the city. Any city, laddy-buck, from ancient Tyre to modern Akron, and from Gomorrah to Glen Cove. City life is contrary to the teaching of the Almighty, and it is no wonder He was forever smiting them into ruin. Brimstone or atom bombs, it makes no difference. The rule of the city will have to be broken before mankind can live at peace with himself and his neighbors.

PEOPLE ARE inherently ornery, of course, and there is a poorly understood rule of geometric progression that finds two people not twice as miserable as one, but four times so. Thus we learn that 100 people who might live out their lives in happy squalor as swineherds or plowmen become dangerously anti-social when they raft up in highrise apartments or in mean suburban subdivisions.

But carry his waywardness to the 100th power, plunk him down in a city and surround him with other such simpatons and you are headed for the same sort of trouble that has plagued every such urban experiment since they lost Ur. Scriptures are riddled with accounts of cities that were laid low when the Creator finally ran out of patience with their wicked ways.

THE ROOT of the trouble is that a city dweller lives in a perpetual state of disorientation. He is separated from reality so effectively that he quickly forgets what reality is. Water, he thinks, comes from pipes, milk from bottles, and diversion from the television.

There has never been a riot of any description in Rockahominy County, and there never will be. We don't have enough people to stage anything bigger than an occasional man-to-man but at catch-weights.

WE HAVE HAD a dry spell in Rockahominy County which has endured for more than 60 days now. As a result of this there was considerable interest when we laid a 1,000-gallon concrete reservoir alongside the spring that supplies our house and tapped into her.

There was a lesson in it when a cold, clear torrent gushed from the ground; never again would any of us equate a dependable supply of pure water with the machinations of some faceless municipal corporation. Cities are havens for scribes and pharisees and they are not good for people.

Does Business Have A Right-To-Quit?

WASHINGTON—Private enterprise will literally stand before the bar of justice in this same year that conservatism goes in judgment before the people.

The Supreme Court, which returns in October, has agreed to take up the celebrated Darlington case, which involves the right of an employer to go out of business and thereby cause unemployment.

WHAT'S PLAIN is that once the Federal Government can force one man to maintain a job for another man, we are coming very close to what Senator Goldwater has called a Controlled State.

The Darlington Carolina was a textile plant in South Carolina that was already losing money in 1958 when it also lost an election. The Textile Workers' Union won the right to organize the plant by an 8-vote margin (256 to 248), whereupon the stockholders, by a much larger margin (134,911 shares to 3,774) decided to close the plant. They put up the machinery and other physical assets at public auction, and the firm ceased to exist.

THE NLRB LEAPED into action with a complaint of "unfair labor practices." But from whom or what could the Labor Board extract "remedies" with which to pay the dismissed workers or guarantee them new jobs? What corporation or person could be punished for this unfair practice?

Having decided that remedies were due and that punishment was required, the Labor Board set out to find culprits. It put the finger on Roger Milliken, who was president of both Darlington and the Deering-Miliken Co., the latter firm being a sales agent and stockholder of Darlington.

THE CONCEPT of "single employer" emerged. Mr. Milliken and Deering-Miliken, as well as several other "affiliated" companies and many stockholders, were ordered to resume responsibility for paying wages and finding jobs for those who had lost them in the closure. After much litigation, the Circuit Court of Appeals ruled against the Labor Board. But the Supreme Court agreed to hear the case, and the GOP platform for 1964 came put in favor of a company's right-to-quit. These issues are at stake.

DOES A COMPANY have a social obligation, enforceable by law, to provide employment even though losing money? If the Supreme Court rules broadly and affirmatively, it will set a precedent which can surely be carried over into automation legislation. The U. S. is one of the few industrial nations where a company is not required to get government permission to automate its plant.

What effect will a ruling for compulsory employment have upon investors, since it would forbid them to move their money from a poor investment to a good one?

HOW FAR CAN the Labor Board, or any Government agency, venture into "mind-reading" an employer's motives? Few employers are without some "bias" against unions. Does previous prejudice cause a man to forfeit his right to make a future business decision?

In the Darlington case, as in ever-widening areas, citizens and corporations are leery of the long, strong arm of Federalism.

Billy Graham

Will you please explain the following Bible verse? "Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."—B. M.

When our Lord said these words (Mark 10:15), He was not referring to the innocence of a little child. I think that is clear for two reasons. For one thing, little children are by no means "innocent," as is sometimes fondly imagined.

In the second place, the Gospel does not declare that before a sinner can enter God's kingdom he must first become innocent or try to make himself better than he is. No. He is invited to come to the Savior just as he is and to throw himself in utter trust upon the saving mercy of God.

And that is what Jesus meant when He spoke about receiving the kingdom of God as a little child. He was referring to the little child's helplessness and dependence on other people. The little child—that is, the babe in arms (see verse 16)—can do nothing for himself; everything has to be done for him. He is the passive recipient of another's love and care.

So it is that we "receive" the kingdom. We can do nothing to earn it or deserve it. It is the gift of God's love. By simple and complete reliance upon Christ we accept His grace and rejoice in His salvation. This is what the Bible means when it says, "By grace are ye saved through faith" (Ephesians 2:8).

Utah's Last Pioneer Tells Of Hardships

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A little brown-eyed lady of 104 stood up and made a speech in one of this city's churches Sunday night and wowed the audience for 29 minutes.

She is Mrs. Hilda Erickson, Utah's last living pioneer to cross the plains from the East before the railroads came.

When it came time for her to appear at the Federal Heights Ward Chapel of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, she was offered a throat microphone.

"This will allow you to sit while you talk," she was advised.

RATHER STAND

"I'd rather stand than sit," she said. Behind her, her only daughter, Mrs. Amy Hicks, 80, watched proudly.

Her husband, John Erickson, died in 1944. The couple's only son died a year later. She now lives alone in Grantsville, Utah. Mrs. Erickson, who will be 105 in November, grinned at the audience for a moment and then said: "My friends, I don't know what I can tell you. They just run me into this!"

Then she laughed, heartily and delightfully, sewing up her listeners forever.

She had plenty to tell. Mormon missionaries visited her home in Skaraborgs Land, Sweden, in 1866. As a result, she and her mother and two brothers sailed for the United States.

WAGON TRAIN

Mrs. Erickson quit grinning when she told about the first leg of the wagon train trip westward, to Omaha.

"Cholera hit us," she whispered. "There were many, many dead."

Then there were the 10 weeks while oxen dragged the wagon train from Omaha to Salt Lake City.

"Wagons drove into a circle every night for protection from Indians, but no Indians bothered us. We stopped early in the evenings so we could see to cook and do things in the circle. There was singing and dancing."

After reaching this city Oct. 22, 1866, Hilda Erickson's family moved first to Mount Pleasant, Utah, then to Grantsville in 1868.

TO INDIANS

She married in 1882 and the Mormon Church assigned her and her husband John to be missionaries to the Goshute Indians in a wild, barren area 65 miles south of Wendover, Utah.

"We taught the Indians to sew and farm," she said. "When they got sick, I took care of them. We did a whole lot of good among those Indians. I even pulled the old Indians' teeth."

You can't very well cheer in a chapel, but the audience wanted to.

Band School Opens Aug. 3

A summer band school for junior high school and high school students will begin Aug. 3. Douglas Wiehe, Big Spring High School band director, announced Saturday.

Classes will continue until school begins for the fall term and will be at the high school, Goliad Junior High and Runnels Junior High.

Times for the classes will be released next week. Students will report to the school to which they have been assigned for the fall term, Wiehe said. R. E. McKiski and Joe Burchfiel, band directors at Goliad and Runnels Junior High Schools, will teach the classes there and Wiehe will conduct the program at the high school. There is no tuition charge for students attending the classes, which are open to beginners and to students with one to six years of band training.

"We need to get started early since some of our performances are soon after school begins," Wiehe said.

Traffic Heavy At Moss Creek

Visitors to Moss Creek Lake totaled more than 80,000 persons for the first six months of 1964, city reports showed this week. The total for June was 19,847.

Total receipts at the lake for permits was $1,096 for June. High month for visitors this year was May, when 28,076 persons used the lake area.

Readings for both Moss Creek Lake and Powell Lake were down over the past year's water level for June. Moss Creek Lake showed 30 feet for June of this year, 3 feet, 8 inches less than last year's reading. Powell Lake had 15 feet level for June, down from the 20 feet, 6 inches of last year.

Gigantic Scandal Looms In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Government investigators report they have discovered close to $20 million in state funds mixed up in the estate left by Premier Sarit Thanarat.

The scandal, described as the biggest of its kind in Thailand's history, has brought expressions of concern for Thailand's good name abroad. It has triggered reports demanding that the strongman, a field marshal in the royal Thai army, be posthumously stripped of his rank, medals and other honors.

The seven-month administration of Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, once one of Sarit's top lieutenants, is face to face with an issue that is expected to be around for a while. Thanom, by all appearances untroubled by the disclosures, has urged his government will try to clear up the case even though it may be an unpleasant task.

UNPLEASANT

Tough, hard-living Sarit, a professional soldier who grabbed power in a bloodless coup d'etat in 1957, died of a liver ailment last December.

Throughout his five-year term Sarit showed himself an able administrator. Within the framework of a firm alliance with aid from the West, particularly the United States, he launched his country on a quick-paced, successful development drive and proved himself a tough anti-Communist.

U.S. aid has for many years contributed substantially to economic development here as well as to military preparedness. Since the end of World War II, the United States has given Thailand about $775 million in economic and military aid and loans.

Despite the large amounts in-olved, there has been no indication that U.S. funds were involved in Sarit's financial dealings.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman says: "The embassy knows of no suggestion that American aid is involved in the Sarit estate. It is impossible because of the rigid auditing system used in the aid program."

While Sarit lived most people—obviously aware of the fact that he brooked little nonsense under martial law provisions—chuckled about tales of mistresses, mansions and merry-making.

Few laughed after he died. A court case arose during the 100 days preceding Buddhist cremation rites which involved Sarit's widow, Lady Vichitra, and two of his sons by an earlier marriage who demanded executive powers to the estate.

The sons claimed the estate, including cash, property and shares, was worth 2.8 billion baht, or about $140 million. Vichitra said it was not, filed a counterclaim and maintained her husband left everything to her.

The press pounced on the case. Public interest grew with claims to the estate by some of Sarit's minor wives—a polite word here for mistresses. The administration froze the estate and appointed a five-man investigation committee to check into it.

A FEW YEARS

If the 2.8 billion baht figure was correct, how could one man have amassed so much money during a few years in power?

The probing committee came up with what looked like at least part of the answer: it claimed state funds were involved.

In an interim report, the committee said detailed statements from Bangkok banks, business firms and other agencies showed at least $94 million baht—about $19.7 million—in state funds were mixed up in the estate.

Among them, it said, were about $2.7 million set aside in so-called secret funds, apparently for intelligence operations, $12 million in funds of the state-run lottery, with which Sarit was long associated, and $5 million due the Thai army in lottery sales commissions. The committee gave no breakdown on how much of these funds actually had been used.

MINOR WIVES

But, his chairman claimed, at least part of one $600,000 deposit was used for payments to Sarit's minor wives.

The committee said there was little chance of finding out what accounts Sarit had in banks outside Thailand, but it called for an investigation of assets owned by five close Sarit relatives, including his mother-in-law.

What political repercussions the scandal might have for the Thanom government is open to guesswork.

Martial law, still in effect, seems likely to help in efforts to get to the bottom of the case.

19 Of French Dancing Troupe Killed In Crash

EPINAL, France (AP)—A bus carrying a French folk-dancing troupe crashed through a bridge guard rail and dropped 30 feet onto a railway track early today, killing 19 persons and injuring eight.

The performers had taken part in a European folklore festival at Senones, in eastern France. They were returning to their homes in the Perpinan region, on the Mediterranean coast.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta says he plans to move Kenya toward a one-party system.

Kenyatta returned Sunday from the African summit conference in Cairo and told a cheering rally that the one-party system makes for "faster national progress."

His Kenya African National Union—KANU—party has a 2-1 majority over the opposition Kenya African Democratic Union—KADU—in the National Assembly.

MONT GABRIEL, Que. (AP)—The Canadian-American Assembly says Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms should be allowed to trade with Cuba and Red China.

The assembly Sunday night recommended changes in U.S. laws prohibiting trade with an enemy.

The assembly, sponsored by Columbia University and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, brought together businessmen, politicians, labor leaders, educators and clergymen from both countries for a three-day meeting.

Canada trades with both Cuba and Red China.

VERMILION, Ohio (AP)—Wilbur Schard, who pitched for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1911-12, suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday. He was 78.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(As Told By The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ Q 4 2 ♠ Q 5 0 ♠ A J 5 ♣ K J 10 9 3

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Three spades. Do not recommend proceeding to three trump. You have already announced your diamond protection and you should seize this opportunity to inform partner of your moderate spade support.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ A K 10 9 8 4 ♠ 0 5 ♠ J 3 ♣ K J 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Double Redouble Pass
2 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Four spades. On the surface this hand is worth only 14 points. But after spades have been supported, the value of your hand is increased by three points—one for the fifth spade and two for the sixth. You therefore have a value of 17 points. Partner's redouble, combined with a raise, shows a minimum of 15.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ A Q 3 ♠ A 7 5 0 ♠ A 4 4 2 ♠ 9 7

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Nothing. Your jump to three spades promised a hand valued at 13 to 16 points. You haven't any more than that. If partner had sufficient assets to warrant interest in a slam, he would have made some move other than the routine bid of four spades.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ K Q 4 ♠ A K J 9 0 ♠ A K Q J 10 9 8 6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Four a trump, a classic Blackwood call. Partner has indicated a heart suit that is probably six to the queen, and the only pertinent question is the number of aces. If he has two, a grand slam will be there. If he has only one, you will, of course, contract for six.

4 Louisiana Congressmen Running Hard

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four of Louisiana's eight Democratic nominees for Congress mapped plans today for "running scared" against Republicans in the Nov. 3 election.

In the past, Democratic nomination has meant automatic election in Louisiana.

"I am not an optimist," said Speedy Long, 36, who scored the only upset of the Democratic primary Saturday. "I always run scared."

Speedy, so named when he was born prematurely, defeated a cousin, Rep. Gillis Long, 41, in the 8th District in north central Louisiana.

The family fight, with civil rights the main issue, highlighted the races for Congress. In other districts, incumbents won easily or were unopposed.

Also facing GOP opponents in November were Reps. Hale Boggs, James Morrison and Edwin Willis.

The four unopposed in the general election are Reps. Edward Hebert, Joe Waggoner Jr., Otto Passman and T. A. Thompson.

Speedy Long's foe is William Walker of Winnfield, a retired colonel.

Walker described the Democratic primary in the 8th District as a confusing family fight. Speedy, a former state senator, polled 33,301 to 28,422 for Rep. Long.

Riots, Guerrillas Keep Malaysian Police Busy

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Throughout the Malaysian heartland, riot police loiter in barracks near major population areas waiting for the call that means communal violence has flared.

"We can handle Indonesia's crush-Malaysia campaign," a government official says. "But if this country collapses, it will be because our Malays and Chinese go for each other's throats."

Indonesian President Sukarno has sworn to smash Malaysia by Jan. 1, 1965, and has launched guerrilla raids and waves of agents against Malaysia to make good his threat.

This month, meanwhile, race riots brought death, curfew and bustling communal enmity to two areas in Malaysia. Shock waves spread throughout the nation.

PLAY DOWN
The government first tried to hide and then to play down the fighting which quickly brought to mind communal battles in India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

The worst riot was in Singapore, 245 miles south of here, where eight persons died during the first few hours of fighting that also injured more than 340 and brought the torch to more than a dozen buildings and scores of autos, trucks and motor scooters. Singapore is overwhelmingly Chinese.

The first clash was in Bukit Mertajam, a small predominantly Malay rural area 250 miles north of here. There two families now are without fathers and bitter hatred divides neighbors who previously got along easily if not affably.

In Bukit Mertajam a market place squabble touched off fighting in bustling, progressive Singapore the spark was a procession by 25,000 of the island's 240,000 Moslem Malays in honor of the Prophet Mohammed—but power politics are believed to have been a factor.

RACIST PARTY
Some of UMNO's firebrands retaliated by trying to picture Singapore State Premier Lee Kuan Yew, a Chinese, as the head of a racist party. The aim obviously was to drive the Malays back to UMNO. It also fired racial passions on an island known for past communal rioting.

UMNO leaders, not including Rahman, recently went to Singapore to try to weld the Malays into a group to bargain and fight—with Lee.

The tough, brilliant state premier charged UMNO was stirring racial passions. He also declared the party had turned for support to extremists and racists as well as a man denounced by the government as a known Indonesian agent.

There were countercharges of racism. The Singapore rioting came three days later.

Malaysia has proudly boasted it is a uniquely successful experiment in racial harmony. But some government sources and others privately say the situation, never good, is deteriorating through key areas.

Much of the agitation is among the Malays, fearful that their country may be swallowed by the Chinese who flooded the area during British colonial rule.

The Chinese, industrious, thrifty and eager for education, in many ways outstripped the easygoing Malays who form the rural population.

TOO SLOW
In the opinion of some diplomats the government has responded feebly and too slowly to extremist elements among the Malays.

Some sources believe this is because of fears that a tough stand might seriously divide Rahman's Malay party. It includes a large wing with strong convictions on what it calls the Chinese problem.

The prime minister is an outspoken liberal on the race question and is generally credited with having made the multiracial nation possible and with keeping it together. He is loved by the majority of his fellow Malays and trusted by key segments of the Chinese community.

Goaded by the virtual Chinese stranglehold on nonforeign businesses and capital, Malays seem to fear that the proud, sometimes haughty Chinese may seize the government and possibly align this nation with Peking.

A 12-year Communist revolt which ended in 1960 was virtually an all-Chinese show although only a small percentage of Chinese actually took part.

BY CHINESE
Malaysia's 10 millions include a bewildering assortment of racial groups and indigenous tribes. It is dominated by the Chinese, with 42 per cent of the population, and the Malays with 40 per cent.

Besides race and economics the two major groups are separated by language and religion.

Under the constitution left behind by Britain, Malaysia—the forerunner to Malaysia—was assured of a Malay-dominated government. Malays made up 51 per cent of Malaysia's population, the Chinese 37 per cent.

Racial tensions turned upward about the time the formation of Malaysia added the overwhelmingly Chinese state of Singapore and the native-dominated states of Sarawak and Sabah to the federation. Malay leaders counted on the native tribes to follow the Malay leadership. This quickly proved false and Malay fears soared.

Lamesa Airport Gets Unicom

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa Municipal Airport now has a Unicom — or as it is officially known, an Aeronautical Advisory Station. The station supplies information to pilots in the area on wind velocity, surface winds, weather conditions, traffic patterns, landing information and suggested runways.

Such a station is nearly the same as a control tower at larger airports except that information given is merely advisory. The distance that can be covered by the Unicom depends on weather conditions and line of sight conditions.

In trial runs, the Lamesa Unicom was effective as far away as Robert Lee while a plane was flying at 10,000 feet.

The airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Lamesa Flying Club and Lamesa Airport Board cooperated in obtaining the Unicom.

Files Suit In Husband's Death

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Wayne Gates Daniels, Colorado City, whose husband was killed in an explosion June 13, has filed suit for $175,000 in 32nd District Court here, alleging negligence on the part of the Lone Wolf Electric Co., Inc., of Colorado City.

George Leonard, Sweetwater attorney for Mrs. Gates, said Saturday night he would begin taking depositions Aug. 6 as the first step before bringing the case to trial.

Gates, an employe of the co-op, was using a cutting torch he had borrowed from the Colorado City Electric Co., to take apart a metal framework which had fitted a pickup bed when the explosion occurred.

Soybean Industry Chiefs Will Review Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rapidly expanding soybean industry is summoning leaders to an Aug. 17-18 meeting in Kansas City to review problems which threaten to slow growth.

This meeting will be the convention of the American Soybean Association.

In letters to members and others interested in the soybean and its markets, the association said the two days will be devoted to a "discussion of what has happened to us—and to what we can expect in the future."

The soybean has been the Cinderella crop of American agriculture for many years. The crop has grown in the past 29 years from 23 million bushels to 701 million bushels.

Encouraging this expansion has been a widening market for soybean by-products, oil and meal.

The oil has become a top ranking vegetable food oil used in making margarine, cooking oils and salad oils. It is also used in industrial products.

Expanded meat animal production here and abroad has increased demand for the meal, a high protein livestock feed supplement.

But signs of trouble began to appear several months ago. Supplies of soybean oil began to accumulate and demand for the meal declined.
