Death Toll Headed For New Record

Traffic	176
Boating	3
Drowning	6
Total	185

By The Associated Press
The holiday weekend traffic death toll shot upward Saturday at a rate that was termed the worst ever recorded for the early phases of a Labor Day weekend.

"So far," the National Safety Council stated, "it's the worst Labor Day we've had."
A spokesman said that, through the half-way point of the 78-hour period, the count of dead rose at a faster clip than it did last year, when it reached 557, a record for a Labor Day weekend.

Each Labor Day the compilation starts at 6 p.m. on a Friday and ends at midnight Monday.
The early trend is, of course, subject to change. The council had warned that the first 24 hours of the holiday period were the most hazardous. The reason, it added, is that there is a tendency to drive too far in too short a time.

Roads were dry across most of the nation. The pleasant weather was an added inducement to motorists to go places. The heavy traffic increased the exposure to danger.

The council had estimated in advance that traffic accidents would take between 490 and 590 lives during the holiday weekend.

An Associated Press survey, made to establish a basis for comparison, covered a recent nonholiday period of three days — from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 1 to midnight Monday, Aug. 24. The toll: 456 deaths in traffic, 20 in drowning mishaps and 30 in boating for an over-all total of 506.

The lengthy weekend brought death in many parts of Texas with the vacation period just started.
Late Saturday the death toll included 20 traffic victims and 3 drownings.

In addition, others lost their lives in homicides, but the tabulations were limited to traffic, boating and drownings other than boating.

City Closes For Holiday

The Labor Day weekend is providing Big Spring and Howard County residents an opportunity to flock to parks, Lake Thomas and the golf courses, with most normal weekday activities closing down Monday.
City and county offices and most retail firms announced they would be closed. Banks also were taking the traditional holiday observance. A scattered number of retail outlets advertised they would remain open for business-as-usual, however.
Residential postal delivery service will also be cancelled Monday, the post office reported.

And although the city swimming pools have already closed for the fall, the usual holiday movement to the out-of-doors was expected to put park and recreation facility space at a premium.

Law enforcement officers began Saturday keeping eyes open for the expected upsurge of traffic accidents during the extended weekend.

MEGAPHONE HERE AGAIN

Schools are back in action — and so is that special Herald page devoted to activities of school students, in Big Spring and surrounding communities. The MEGAPHONE is written by and for young people and presents a full account of the school and extra-curricular activities.
Students will keep up with the MEGAPHONE every week, and adults will find much of interest there, too. For the first MEGAPHONE of the new school year, turn to Page 3-D.

Veep Candidates Open Campaigns

Miller Goes All-Out With First Blast

REP. WILLIAM E. MILLER

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller opened his campaign for the vice presidency Saturday with an all-out attack on his Democratic opponent and an assist from presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.
"I run proudly with Bill Miller," Goldwater said, after announcing that, if elected, he would ask for automatic income tax cuts annually.

The Republican vice presidential candidate began his campaign formally in his native city of 27,000, where both his parents were Democrats who entered politics.
Miller lashed at his Democratic opponent, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as a founder of an organization trying to subvert the U.S. government into a "foreign, socialist totalitarianism."

The crowd, estimated by sheriff's deputies at more than 20,000, stood on the Niagara County Fairgrounds under a sunny sky, on a warm, later-summer day, to cheer Miller and Goldwater.
Introducing Miller, Goldwater said that "we come from different parts of the country but we believe alike . . . that the government for us."

Miller cited Humphrey's connection with Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) as a founder and current vice chairman and said that organization advocated policies ranging from appeal of internal security legislation at home to a "disastrous coalition program" in Southeast Asia.

Employing a technique that is becoming increasingly popular among candidates on the national political trail, Miller drew the enthusiastic crowd into his speech by luring them to respond vocally.
He listed program after program he said the ADA advocated and, each time, he asked whether voters wanted a vice president from an organization that proposed such policies. The crowd roared back: "No."

"Well," Miller replied, "Lyndon Johnson does." This produced a chorus of boos.
Soon, Miller began stopping after the word "well," and the crowd shouted back the line — "Lyndon Johnson does" — then booing, finally laughing and applauding.

The candidates flew to Niagara Falls, about 12 miles from here, aboard their respective campaign planes — Miller from Washington on his prop-jet "The Niagara," and Goldwater from Phoenix, Ariz., aboard his Boeing 727 jet, "Via Bi Ken." That is Navajo for "House in Sky."

The crowd swooped it up for five minutes to the rhythm of a bass drum as Goldwater and Miller stepped to the rostrum.

Say Farewell

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP) — Thousands stood under a broiling sun in a country churchyard Saturday to say farewell to Sgt. Alvin C. York, the doughboy hero of World War I.

Heavy rains accompanying the typhoon, packing 160-mile winds at the center caused flooding and landslides which wrecked many homes and

Humphrey Heaps Praise On Johnson

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said Saturday night America needs a "can-do" president like Lyndon B. Johnson — not "a man who specialized in driving away those with whom he disagrees."
The Minnesota senator returned to the town he once served as mayor to kick off his campaign as Democratic nominee for vice president.

The speech wound up a day of festivities for Humphrey, first Minnesotan ever named to a national ticket. More celebration is on tap Sunday when he returns to his home town of Waverly, about 40 miles west of Minneapolis.
Speaking at the University of Minnesota, where he was graduated in 1939 after 10 years of studies frequently interrupted by the Depression, Humphrey said the president must be a "true leader — a giant of a man."

He said, "leadership is more than words," then ticked off the legislative accomplishments since Johnson became President last November.

"Leadership in the presidency is also the ability to bring together men of conflicting views, so that their differences may be resolved in a spirit of mutual understanding and respect. This nation needs a president who seeks to bind our people together," he said.

"What this country does not need is a man who specializes in driving away those with whom he disagrees, who scorns the path of moderation and accommodation, and who sows the seeds of disunity and discord even within his own party," he added.

"But the American people understand what responsibility is not," he added. "It is not the deliberate advocacy and support of extremism — however it may be defined or explained — or re-explained."
"Nor is responsibility a seemingly endless stream of confusing and contradictory public statements which only leave Republicans and Democrats equally befuddled. And responsibility surely is not the use of meaningless generalities, empty slogans, and impetuous schemes to resolve the awesome problems and crises of our age."

Sunday's schedule calls for Humphrey to attend morning services at the First Congregational Church, where he worshipped from his student days through 1945-59, while serving as mayor.
Then he will head by motorcade for Waverly, his home for the past eight years. Nearly all the town's 570 people are expected to join in the five-block parade headed by Humphrey's 16-year-old son, Douglas.

MIAMI (AP) — The fifth tropical storm of the year, Ethel, was spotted by the Tirus weather satellite and hurricane hunter aircraft Saturday in the far-off Atlantic.
Ethel already was close to hurricane force with winds of 70 miles an hour whirling around the eye. First reports indicated she would offer no threat to Caribbean Islands or the U.S. mainland.

The storm was several hundred miles north of the track taken by hurricane Dora, which so far has whirled over open water, a threat only to shipping.
"Dora's circulation will pull Ethel to the northward also," said forecaster Gilbert Clark. "Ethel will go in that direction."
Ethel was centered 1,400 miles east-northeast of Puerto Rico and the same distance east-southeast of Bermuda. It was moving toward the northwest at 17 miles an hour.

Quick End To Military Draft Could Be Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson suggested Saturday that a quick end to the military draft might cost several billion dollars. But he didn't rule out the possibility that the draft may be halted next year.
This was the highlight of a 35-minute news conference in which Johnson announced some notable military and nuclear advances and, in a statement of philosophy, urged that all Americans resist "the spiritual cancer of hate."

In discussing the draft, Johnson took a more cautious position than the one voiced earlier this week by Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, who made a campaign promise to end the draft "as soon as possible."

The President said a distinguished member of one of the congressional armed services committees, whom he did not name, estimated "it would cost several billions to act precipitously" to halt the draft.
Johnson philosophized about "the spiritual cancer of hate" after being asked about former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's claim Friday that the Democrats have become "the party of big business." Nixon's statement was prompted by the endorsement the day before of

Johnson by 45 prominent business and financial leaders. Johnson responded that he thought both parties are "trying to do what they think is best for all the country, without regard to any specialized segment."

Turning to two sheets of paper on his desk, he began reading a statement in which he said, "We have witnessed the complete destruction by inner conflict of many nations because they pitted race against race and religion against religion, group against group."
Looking up, he said the question about a big business party suggested pitting class against class and asserted: "That must not happen here in either party."

Turning back to his prepared statement, he said that what is needed most in this country is unity and understanding.
Declaring that "we must not lock ourselves in with our prejudices," he said: "I want to urge all men and women in this land of ours to resist with all their dedication the spiritual cancer of hate."

In response to a question, Johnson said he did not want his statement "to have any connection with a job or reference" aimed at Goldwater or anyone else.
Someone then wanted to know if Johnson saw any contradiction between Goldwater's frequent remarks about violence in the streets and his July meeting with Johnson to seek ways to reduce racial tensions in the campaign.
"I think you make your point," was Johnson's only reply.

In still another statement, Johnson hailed the election Friday of Eduardo Frei, a moderate, leftist, as the new president of Chile over Communist-backed Salvador Allende.
Johnson said the election of the moderate candidate "seems to me to reinforce our hopes for a very bright future in the Americas."

Johnson said Saturday the nation and its workers have made great gains since the first Labor Day 70 years ago, but "we still have far to go."
Johnson said that as Americans observe Labor Day on Monday "our purpose and our policy must be to create more jobs, open more doors of opportunity, shelter and safeguard the rights which have been won and seek to assure rights not yet secure."

While Johnson's statement had no political overtones, there was a strong atmosphere of politics in the air as Americans rested and played over the long holiday weekend that culminates Monday.
Detroit
Johnson will make a Labor Day speech in Detroit's Cadillac Square, a traditional forum for Democratic presidential candidates to kick off their campaign for the November election.

Bush Defends State Police

SHERMAN (AP) — Republican George Bush said Saturday his opponent for the Senate Ralph Yarborough, is trying to "squash state investigating and police agencies."
Speaking here and also at Bonham, Bush said.
"Yarborough has questioned the rights of our Texas Department of Public Safety to investigate and learn the truth in the case of Yarborough's" alleged campaign contribution from Billie Sol Estes.
Yarborough said in Dallas Friday he had not discussed with the department a report that it had given a lie detector test to a person involved in the alleged gift of $50,000 from Estes.

EARLY PAPER ON MONDAY

Due to the Labor Day holiday, The Herald will be issued early Monday, and the office will be closed during the afternoon.
The earlier press time moves up the "deadline" on Classified ads. If you want service Monday in that department, please call by 9 a.m.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With one week to go, the high school Bible Class fund is still about $1,250 away from its minimum goal of $2,500.
Saturday several friends kept the effort going with gifts aggregating $100. A big response the forepart of the week will be needed to assure success of the appeal. Funds for the class which serves 100 students must be raised voluntarily. Bring or mail your gifts to the Herald for acknowledgment.

Major development continues to be announced for Big Spring. Last week, Ramada Inn revealed plans for a half million dollar project to provide 66 units in a motel at the IS 26-State 176 (Andrews) highway juncture. Meanwhile, Americana motel broke ground on its 52-unit facility at IS 20-US 87 north, a $252,000 venture. And there are some other things in the mill.

No withering on the vine was indicated by school enrollment figures. At the end of the first week the total stood at 7,546, about 250 more than on the first day and 330 plus above the end of the first week last year. We will have a clearer picture at the end of next week, for some people keep their youngsters out until after Labor Day.

Barry Pledges Program Of Automatic Tax Cuts

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Saturday that, if he reaches the White House, he will ask Congress to enact a program of automatic, yearly income-tax cuts.
"This program could and would be accomplished free of political manipulations," the Republican presidential nominee declared.

He made the pledge in a Labor Day weekend statement issued as he flew from Phoenix, Ariz., to Lockport for the campaign kickoff of the GOP vice-presidential candidate, Rep. William E. Miller, in Miller's home town.

"The rewards of hard work must be returned to those who earn them," Goldwater said. "A Republican administration will do just that."
"As leaders of that administration," he said, "we will propose to Congress, for instance, a regular program of automatic, annual cuts in income taxes."

Goldwater did not spell out details of his tax-cut plan. Press secretary Paul F. Wagner said the GOP nominee would do that in a speech in Los Angeles on Tuesday night.
Goldwater coupled his tax pledge with a charge that, under President Johnson's administration, "the dark cloud of compulsory arbitration is casting its shadow across the rights of working men and women."

INFLATIONARY
The Arizona senator voted against the administration's $1-billion tax cut earlier this year. He said he feared it would be inflationary.
He has said any tax-reduction should be accompanied by a cut in federal spending. He promised Thursday a Republican administration would go to work at once to trim the budget.

The senator also has declared that tax reductions should be designed to stimulate investment in business and industry.
With the leaders of organized labor lining up against his bid for the presidency, Goldwater said Republicans "reaffirm our faith in the fundamentals of trade unionism."
"We pledge ourselves," Goldwater said, "to the cause of free collective bargaining and pledge also that we will not impose the iron fist of compulsory arbitration on laboring men."
"The present administration has shown itself quite willing to threaten such arbitrary intervention," Goldwater said.
"Unless stopped, it may prove as willing to carry out these threats."
Goldwater said unionism "could have flourished only in a climate of free society."
"The right to organize, the right to bargain collectively and the right to strike, natural companions of freedom of association, owe their existence as well to that climate," he said.

NO MENTION
Goldwater's statement did not mention the question of "right-to-work" legislation. A critic of the union shop system, Goldwater has spoken out for what he calls "voluntary unionism."
The senator proposed in 1963 that Congress permit the union shop only in states that passed laws approving the system.

He told the Senate he would not vote "for a so-called national right-to-work law" because he thinks the states should have discretion on the issue.
The legislation he proposed, however, would be reversed by the present law under which union shops are ruled out only in the states that passed "right-to-work" measures against them.

Big Spring's Dollar Day

News Of Long Ago Has A Familiar Ring

By SAM BLACKBURN

"There is a good deal of excitement in the union in reference to the conduct of the Captain General of the Island of Cuba, and the repeated insults which it is alleged he has offered the American flag. Our people are not much inclined to submit to insult and aggression, come such things from what quarter they may, and the instant it is ascertained that any nation has dared to offer us an insult, the masses rise in the fullness of their power and manifest what they are pleased to consider a manly and patriotic indignation."

The hands of ready fillibusters which have been organized in this country... have already become so powerful and so determined that this government would find it impossible to restrain them if they should commence their crusade for the conquest of Cuba tomorrow.

FAMILIAR

This editorial comment has a strangely familiar ring to modern ears but the astounding thing about it—it was penned and printed 112 years ago. The quotation is from an issue of "The Atlas," a weekly newspaper which flourished in New York City about midway in the 19th century.

Sometime about Oct. 17, 1852, an unknown person was framing two black-and-white prints. To make sure that the print fitted snugly against the glass, this person carefully laid in five copies of a current newspaper of the day and then added parts of two others.

The paper he selected for use as padding was the Oct. 17 issue of "The Atlas." This newspaper was published in New York City at 44 Ann St.—The editors are identified only as "Herrick and Robes."

About a month ago, J. D. Rhodes, Monahans, attended an auction in a small town near his home city. Offered for sale were two ancient black-and-white prints in antique frames. Rhodes, who is the brother of L. Z. Rhodes, who lives two miles west of Elbow, wanted the frames. He bid in the two prints at $8 each.

FOUND PAPERS

When he removed the heavy paper backing on one of the pictures he found the five complete copies of the 112-year-old New York newspaper as neatly folded and well kept as they had been in 1852. The paper was not even faded. A partially multilated copy, which was atop the others, was yellowed but still intact.

Rhodes sent these fragments to his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes have found the ancient journal most entertaining.

Its size is unusual. Although the issue comprised only four pages, each individual sheet is 21 inches by 28 inches in size. The type is small—technically about five point. The headlines, such as they are, are not much larger than the body type.

The entire front page, is devoted to praising four men who were running for four offices—congressman from the Sixth New York District, judge of the marine court, street commissioner, and city inspector.

These candidates are shown in engraved portraits—the editor explaining that the engravings were made from daguerotypes by "Mr. Gurney."

ARTIST

The editor refers to Mr. Gurney in another part of the paper as an "artist" and the paper's readers are urged to consult him if they need artistic photographs.

Mrs. Rhodes also found another interesting sidelight on the political situation.

"Apparently the editor wanted to be fair about things," she said. "Under the caption 'Backing down,' he wrote: 'The Daily Times states Mr. R. G. Campbell, declines the Whig nomination for congress in the Seventh district and suggests the names of Geo. Briggs, Robert Smith and Don Alonzo Cushman from which to select a candidate to oppose the popular Democratic nominee, William A. Walker Esq. It is of no consequence who the Whigs bring forward, for the people intend to elect Mr. Walker.' Apparently he was a Democrat."

In another part of the yellowed paper, she found where the editor was gravely disturbed over the election of Franklin Pierce as president, but he hopefully held that perhaps the "General" would be a progressive leader.

BARGAIN

In the advertising section, Mrs. Rhodes is wondering if the General Furnishing Store at the Big Tea Kettle, 50 Maiden Lane, is still prepared to supply the following household furnishing articles for $30: kitchen stove, tongs and shovel, iron tea kettle, tinned iron pot, soap-stone griddle, two tin bake pans, tin dripping pan, tin sauce pan, small tin kettle, pepper and flour dredge, tin wash basin, dish pan, three iron table and tea spoons; chop knife and bowl, eight tin pie plates, dish pan, tea and coffee canister, two Japanned lamps, one chamber pail, match safe, two smoothing irons, two large cedar wash tubs, washboard, 12 clothespins, pint measure, settable mats, coffee pot, tea pot, six stag-handled knives and forks, one pair carvers, cork screw and funnel; large waiter, two painted pails, coal hod, grid-iron, fry pan, cullendar, coffee boiler, tea pot, grater, tin dipper, egg whip, basting spoon, skimmer, ladle, meat fork, meat knife, knifeboard, two scrub brushes, dust pan, two brooms, coffee mill, clothes horse, flour sieve, oil-filler, knife box, door mat, kitchen table, potato masher, flour pail, spice box, pastry board, rolling pin and clothes line.

"Sounds like a good buy," observed Mrs. Rhodes.

BARNUM

Barnum's American Museum, Phineas T. Barnum, manager and proprietor, had an advertisement announcing that due to the "eager crowds" which have "besegged" the museum each day, that the performance of "The Orphan's Dream" would be continued a "few days longer," so that people would have a chance to "enjoy the luxury." He also had some interesting displays on hand—a living ananconda, two living ostriches, and the monkeys. The admission fee was 25 cents for adults and 12½ cents for children.

The United States Mail Steamship Co. was offering trips to New Orleans and Havana for $60 first class, and $30 steerage.

The Rhodes plan to frame the front page of the ancient journal. It has been a conversation piece since it reached their home. The Monahans owner of the five good copies can probably make a nice profit on his original $16 investment if he wants to sell the papers and still have the prints and frames he was bidding for. Collectors of old newspapers would probably be glad to take the copies off his hands at a nice price.

Should Juveniles' Names Be Printed?

By The Associated Press

Some 40,000 Texas juveniles will be arrested this year for offenses ranging from malicious mischief to murder.

Should their names be printed?

Some say yes, in the belief that this would deter juvenile crime.

Others disagree, asserting it would only add misery to an already miserable situation.

Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry, whose officers apprehend hundreds of youngsters every year, says, "It can be argued either way."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas said the publication of names "would awaken parents" and deter crime.

Judge Eva Barnes of the Tarrant County Court of Domestic Relations says: "The juvenile law was set up to help children, not punish them."

NOT INDICTED Under Texas statutes, boys 16 or younger and girls 17 and under are dealt with as juveniles. They are not indicted nor tried in district courts.

Instead, their cases are processed by county juvenile offices. Court sessions, usually closed to the public, are run by special juvenile judges.

Grand juries at San Antonio and Austin recently urged that names of juvenile offenders be published.

Most larger papers and radios use names if the crime is extraordinary or serious enough. Editors decide for themselves what is "serious enough."

A few papers carry all juvenile names.

One of the biggest papers in the state uses only names of youngsters who commit serious crimes against members of their own families.

Since juvenile court records are closed to the public, it is up to the juvenile judge to make public or withhold names as proceedings reach his hands.

USE NAMES A Montana judge, Lester Loble of Helena, permits news media to use juvenile names if the county attorney has filed a written petition in the case.

Loble says juvenile felony cases are down 49 per cent since the policy went into effect three years ago.

In Texas, the Amarillo Globe-News has such an arrangement with Judge Carl Perriman.

The whole matter of juvenile crime is of some concern to Texas news media. State police

Nikita Back For Talks On Red Unity

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev returned to Moscow Saturday for urgent policy talks with Kremlin advisors on the crumbling structure of world Communist unity.

Back from a nine-day visit to Czechoslovakia, Khrushchev is expected to plunge into strategy sessions on two major developments during his absence from Moscow.

—The scornful refusal of the Chinese Communist party to attend the Dec. 15 meeting in Moscow to prepare a conference of the world's Communist parties.

—The Italian Communist party's declaration of differences with the Kremlin over its handling of the Soviet-Chinese split and over Moscow's leadership of the world movement in general.

These events appeared to present Khrushchev the gravest Communist block political crisis since the anti-Stalinist upheavals of 1956.

In a clear reply to the policy statement written hours before his death in Russia Aug. 21 by Italian Communist boss Palmiro Togliatti, Khrushchev noted in a speech Friday in Prague that, "Some leaders in the fraternal parties, worried by the situation that has developed as a result of the actions of the Chinese leaders, express doubts whether a meeting of Communist and workers parties will do any good in the present conditions."

"These comrades propose to wait and meanwhile try to bring closer together the views of all parties."

"These are good wishes," Khrushchev commented mildly. "But how are they to be realized?"

Soviet party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev returned earlier this week from Rome where he attended Togliatti's funeral and had talks with Italian Communist leader Luigi Longo. He is reported to have tried to dissuade the Italians from publishing Togliatti's last political testament.

Khrushchev is expected to listen attentively to Brezhnev's report on other more ominous features of the Italian declaration.

—The Italian plan to head off the Soviet-proposed world meeting next year by pushing for more preliminary meetings with the Chinese.

—Rejection of a Soviet model of the Communist movement as a monolithic Moscow-centered unit and their insistence that "every party must know how to act in an autonomous manner."

Pushes Ahead With Socialism

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Placards posted in Stockholm show a little girl sitting on the knee of an elderly and obviously contented man.

She asks: "Grandpa, what does security mean?"

This is part of the campaign of the Social Democrat party, which expects to see Tage Erlander continued as prime minister in Sept. 20 elections.

The party's slogan is "Security for All," and it stresses that Sweden has practically no unemployment; that every fifth Swede owns a car, and that the Swedes enjoy perhaps the world's most elaborate Social Security system.

Erlander, 63, seeks to extend four years his position at the head of Europe's oldest freely elected government — and to push ahead his policy of gradually socializing the economy. He has been in office since 1946, and his party has held power, with brief interruptions, since 1932.

BETWEEN BLOCS

The Liberal, Conservative and Center parties are challenging the Social Democrats for control of this strategic nation situated between the Western and Eastern power blocs. They want to reverse the trend toward socialization and institute a free-enterprise economy.

In a move that could have long-range consequences, the three non-Socialist parties have a common ticket in the powerful southern province of Skane. This followed the failure of efforts to mold a nationwide common front in an effort to break the Social Democrats' dominant position. If the coalition wins in Skane and the Social Democrats win elsewhere, the road to cooperation between the from ages 18 to 52. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings in this area during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay us high as $44,000 a month to start. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.
Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.
For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail of once-TODAY. You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests.

Military Voting Privileges Are Still Not Spelled Out

Twenty-four applications for absentee ballots for the Nov. 3 general election, all from men and women in military service who formerly resided here and who enlisted in this city, have been received by the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy, is at a loss how to handle these applications. She points out that at least 22 of the applications on hand were mailed too early—the law specifies that applications for absentee ballots must not be mailed prior to 60 days before the election. Some of the applications on hand at the clerk's office were mailed in June.

Further, Mrs. Ray is puzzled over what to tell the applicants—they enclosed no proof of registration or that they hold a poll tax as a qualified voter. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that service personnel cannot obtain a poll tax receipt of ordinary type. Last year, a ruling was handed down that special poll tax receipts could be issued to persons who did not want to pay the poll tax, but who wanted to vote in the national elections for president, vice president, senator, congressman, etc.

However, these receipts were of no local value to military personnel since the Texas constitution forbids a person in service from voting in the county or community where he is stationed and restricts his voting privileges to the county in which he entered service. It is further required that he be a qualified elector.

A new development, which is making the question of the right of the servicemen to vote more acute in Texas, is the decision of a three-judge federal court Aug. 25.

This ruling, handed down in San Antonio in a case brought by two San Antonio servicemen, held that such personnel have the right to vote in state elections regardless of where they entered service if they are stationed in Texas.

The decision specified they must be "qualified electors under reasonable standards imposed by the state." This is puzzling officials—what is meant by "state elections"; what are "reasonable standards" for qualifying a voter?

An election held in Texas on a proposal to abolish the poll tax payment as a requisite to voting was turned down by Texas voters.

Mrs. Ray said she would return the cards of those who had applied too early and that she thought Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, would probably ask Wayne Burns, county attorney, to get some sort of ruling from the attorney general on the question of what is to be done about late application.

In the past, applications for absentee ballots such as these have been received but always in small numbers. This year is the first time there has been a flood of the requests.

One of the applications wrote on the margin of his postal card that since the poll tax has been repealed I feel I am entitled to vote absentee in the general election." It is pointed out that applicant is in error—the poll tax payment as a requisite for voting has not been repealed. As to the recent federal court ruling which apparently holds Article 6, Section 2 of the Texas Constitution invalid, the question arises whether it is applicable. The case is on appeal according to reports.

Texas constitutional framers wrote: "Any member of the armed forces of the United States or component branches thereof, or in the military service of the United States, may vote only in the county in which he or she resided at the time of entering such service so long as he or she is a member of the military forces."

This provision has kept many Big Spring residents, connected with the Air Force but who have been residents of Howard County for several years and who are, in many instances, property owners, from taking part in any locally held elec-

Jewish Holiday Begins Today

Sundown today begins Rosh Hashanah, a sacred day marking the beginning of another year for those of the Jewish faith.

For the first time in many years, no services will be held by Temple Israel here, but members of the congregation will instead go to Odessa, San Angelo, Abilene or other points to join in the observance which continues until sundown Monday.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Sept. 6, 1964 3-A

This coincides this year with the Labor Day holiday. It also sets in motion the 10 days of atonement, climaxes on Sept. 15 by the observing of Yom Kippur beginning at sundown and continuing through Sept. 16 until sundown. Accordingly, businesses operated by those of the Jewish faith will be closed on Sept. 16.

Filing Extended

The 11th District Court of Civil Appeals has granted a motion extending the time for the appellant to file briefs and to postpone the submission date in the case of James B. Simpson vs. Modesta Good Simpson, a case appealed from Borden County.

No Potatoes For Cabbie

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A cab driver who didn't want to be paid in potatoes blew the whistle on Edward Johnson, 42.

Johnson hopped into the cab at the railroad station, police said, and asked to be taken to Long Wharf.

Johnson told the driver to stop in front of a produce market and to turn out his lights. Then he hopped out and started hauling sacks of potatoes from a truck and dumping them in the cab, police said.

When the cabbie asked what was going on, Johnson explained he had no money and hoped to raise the fare by selling the spuds.

As Johnson returned to his labors, the cab driver put in a call to his dispatcher. Police said Johnson was still hard at work when they arrived.

Johnson was charged with theft, evading payment of a fare, and intoxication.

Julius Glickman Expands Seminar Into Year's Work

Julius Glickman's participation in the International Student Relations Seminar this summer is going to stretch into a year's work.

Back from several weeks at Haverford College near Philadelphia, Glickman has decided to accept an invitation from the National Student Association to be on its field staff during the next year.

As such, he will visit campuses where exchange students under the NSA program are attending school. He will visit with these students, evaluating their leadership abilities and capacities. His recommendations, together with others in the program, will have some effect on providing additional scholarships for some of the students, giving them additional exposure to the United States.

He will be directly responsible for working with 24 Algerian exchange students as well as part of the other 637 who are attending colleges and universities in the United States under the NSA exchange program. One other participant in the recent seminar, a young man from the University of Rochester, will be working on an assignment similar to Glickman's.

The philosophy behind extending scholarships to foreign students with leadership potential is that within a few years these individuals will be in places of big responsibility within their own nations. In many instances, this already has happened.

At the Haverford seminar, students selected from a dozen and a half universities across the country were subjected to lectures by professors and in studies of international and political economics. Officials from government, notably the state department, and industry addressed the seminar, were quizzed intensely. Subsequently, discussion would continue upon points raised by the lecturers. Frequently, these were pursued as between students, particularly where exchange students were brought into the picture.

At one interval, the group made a brief trip to Washington, D.C. which facilitated contact with some of the top departmental heads.

Glickman is taking out a year from his studies toward a degree in law at the University of Texas, where for the past year he also has served as president of the student body.

Last summer he went to Chile on an exchange program, and he is following the current Chilean elections with keen interest. This is one of the few Latin countries where the military is not predominant, he explained, and where a test may be made on whether there are alternatives between hard left and right. One of the things he had observed from his contact with students of other nations, particularly the emergent ones, was a seeming tendency to develop native alternatives which would still avoid control by other powers.

Glickman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Glickman, plans on returning to Austin next September to complete work on his law degree. He will be headquartered as of Sept. 10 at Philadelphia but will move about the country, and possibly will go abroad during the year.

New Ramada Inn To Be Built In Big Spring

This architect's drawing of the new national chain motor hotel to be operated under a franchise agreement with the chain, by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Fields, will be located at the intersection of the new IS 20 by-pass and the Andrews Highway just north of the interchange overpass. The 66-unit building will be of traditional Williamsburg motif, and will cost approximately a half million dollars. Construction will start around Nov. 1 and completion is scheduled for about March 1, 1965.

Berry Reports On Civil Defense Unit

A 15-month report on activities of Big Spring-Howard County Civil Defense unit has been submitted to County Judge Lee Porter and Mayor George Zachariah by Director W. D. Berry. The report also lists eight coordinators and directors, and 31 service chiefs for all aspects of Civil Defense work.

Berry reviewed the program and called it the joint action of all echelons of government. Locally the program for the past 15 months includes providing facilities for public fallout shelters for over 13,000 persons, with 50 per cent underground.

The shelter spaces have been stocked with food, water, medical kits, sanitation kits, communications, and radiation detection instruments, procured from the federal government.

An effective warning system has been set up in the county with sirens, whistles, horns, and other devices. A new emergency broadcasting system, put into effect in August, provides first priority for broadcasting from the President or his representative, from local authorities, and from state officials, to the public in case of an emergency. No local stations are authorized in this system at present.

Emphasis has been placed on communications to increase capabilities of the county disaster operations. The City of Big Spring police department has a new remote controlled base station plus mobile units; public works department with a new system including a base station and mobile units; fire department with three mobile units; civil defense department with 10 mobile units; City of Foran, one mobile unit; and Coahoma with a new siren warning system to cover approximately five miles.

In addition the Big Spring-Howard County Amateur Radio service is available for emergency service. Then 10 radios have been installed in shelter buildings housing over 13,000 people. There are also 37 fixed monitoring stations in the radiological network and these will be manned by trained monitors.

The coordination of police activities in time of emergency has resulted in special training in shelter management, first-aid, rescue, and other phases. These have included regular and reserve police officers. Fire departments in Big Spring and Coahoma maintain emergency fire fighting services for the entire county, and have taken part in civil defense training programs. Trucks, cars, and rescue units are available, along with the county road department and the city public works department personnel.

A medical advisory committee and a disaster medical program have been developed; food distribution points have been established, and arrangements made for water distribution; emergency plans for distribution of gas and electricity are being made with Texas Electric Service Co. and Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Southwestern Bell Telephone has taken no part in Civil Defense, according to the report, because of local management plant department policy.

A working relationship between various military units has been worked out; training has been directed toward school participation in disaster relief, including evacuation and shelter for fallouts.

A public information program, in which all communications and news disseminating media have taken part, has included programs and news items and bulletins to the public. Speakers have appeared before clubs and groups.

During the past 15 months several items of surplus property have been purchased, Berry said. These include: trucks, tractors, trailers, generators, motor vehicles, which cost the government $76,596.62, purchased for $5,699.76; miscellaneous tools, parts, motors, tires, equipment, office machines and furniture, costing the government $15,577.96, were acquired for $1,168.22. Total government cost of all items was $92,174.58, and the Civil Defense cost $8,867.98.

Civil Defense matching funds, aided in improving communications systems in the public works, fire, police, and sheriff's department networks, at a federally-approved cost of $6,326.88, with the federal share being $2,909.43, and the Civil Defense share $3,417.44.

Project applications, now obligated but not completed, show the federally-approved cost to be $7,215, with the federal share being $3,507.50 and Civil Defense share the same.

Administrative and operational expenses for the period from April 1, 1963 to June 30, 1964, as itemized by Berry's report, showed total $10,680.95, with the federal share $4,577.57 and the city and county shares, $2,551.69 each.

Mize Receives Purdue Degree

Joe Henry Mize, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Mize, Gall Route, Big Spring, received his Ph.D. degree in industrial engineering from Purdue University at the end of the summer session. He was one of 78 students from 20 states and seven foreign countries awarded the Ph.D. degree.

Mize was a 1951 graduate of Big Spring High School. He attended Texas Tech at Lubbock for three years, majoring in engineering, before going to Purdue.

Certificates of graduation were mailed to the students, but they are eligible to return for public presentation of diplomas at the annual commencement June 6, 1965, registrar Nelson M. Parkhurst said.

Even Where Rain Fell, Stock Water Is Short

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas still has many dry areas and even in sections that got rain, stock water is short.

John Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says late crop prospects got a boost and ranges in the more favored sections have begun to furnish some grazing. Prospects for late hay harvests improved.

District farm agents emphasized the need for more general rains.

Panhandle moisture was still short. Some wheat was being put in; dryland grain sorghums needed rain and ranges are below average.

VERY SHORT

Moisture over the South Plains was short to very short. Irrigated cotton and soybeans were doing well. The sorghum harvest was picking up speed but yields were short. Wheat planting has started. Ranges are dry; feeding is necessary and some cattle are being sold. The overall cotton insect situation was good although boll weevils were migrating further onto the plains.

Moisture was adequate in only three Rolling Plains counties. Cotton improved in a few counties; volunteer grain made good growth and ranges were improving. Stock water was short. Some replanting of grain was noted.

Conditions in North Central Texas were much improved but many counties needed more rain, especially Kaufman and Navarro. Ranges provided some grazing but stock water was still short in some areas. The cotton harvest was in full swing. Peanuts made good growth since the rains.

Northeast Texas pastures and hay crops have made rapid progress since the rains but armyworms were causing heavy damage. The corn harvest was due to light. Some sweet potatoes were being dug. Prices were good on all vegetables.

FAR WEST

Spotted rains helped in far West Texas but the drought continued in some areas. Livestock were being fed, sold or moved from those areas. The shearing of sheep and goats was under way. The cotton harvest has started and the grain sorghum harvest was in full swing.

Rains varying from scattered showers to downpours greatly benefited many parts of West Central Texas. Feeding decreased in the more favored areas and marketings slowed in all. Volunteer small grain and sorghum made good growth. Pastures were green but more rain was needed for hay and pasture growth. Goat shearing was near completion. Sheep shearing has started. Plowing for small grain planting was active.

Recent rain left the Central Texas moisture short to adequate. Peanuts prospects improved and pastures were greening-up. The cotton harvest was moving but only a fair crop was made. Peanuts needed more rain. The pecan crop will be short and some shedding was noted. Livestock were in fair condition; goat shearing was under way. Stock water was short.

East Texas moisture was spotted and ranged from very short to adequate. Pastures responded to rain and some hay was being baled. The cotton and corn harvests were slow. Feeding went on in some counties.

SMALL GRAIN

More rain was needed in South Central Texas to keep ranges improving and to supply moisture for small grain planting. Cotton and corn yields were much better than expected. Lots of hay has been harvested. A good rice harvest went on. Cabbage and broccoli were being planted. Increased marketings of light slaughter calves was noted.

Scattered showers in the upper Gulf Coast and Southeast Texas area delayed the cotton and rice harvests. About 70 per cent of these crops has been harvested with good yields. The showers helped pastures. Areas in the western and northern counties of the district were extremely dry.

Mushroom Crop Is Good

MOSCOW (AP)—The country may be having trouble with its grain harvest, but the mushroom crop is the richest most people can recall.

The birch and pine forests around Moscow are so thick with mushrooms that thousands of city-dwellers move in with bags and baskets.

"Never known a crop like it," said one Russian, "and I've been picking mushrooms for 40 years."

Ten-coach trains leave Moscow every morning bound for the fields. Some buses travel for several hours, covering up to 200 miles, to favored spots.

Most go to pick the mushrooms to eat at home. The Russians have five ways of cooking them, or pickle them for the winter.

Others bring the mushrooms back to sell in the city markets. Old suspicious folk say that so many mushrooms spell an omen—an omen of war.

Accidents Listed

Texas Highway Patrolmen investigated two minor traffic accidents on Howard County roads Friday.

A Big Spring man, Eddie Strickland, lost control of his car about seven miles south on FM 33, with minor damages resulting when the car rolled onto its side, officers said.

In an accident about 16 miles south on US 87, William McCown, Floydada, ran over a bridge when he went to sleep momentarily, with the car straddling the bridge full length, officers reported. His car received considerable damage from the accident, according to patrolmen.

A school eye chart test is not enough... to determine the condition of your child's eyes

The purpose of a school vision screening test is to discover any visual problems that need professional attention. These tests are limited in the defects they reveal and should not be substituted for a professional eye examination. Make sure your child's vision is what it should be. Have his eyes examined by a TSO Doctor of Optometry. At TSO his eyes are examined internally for evidence of disease such as glaucoma or cataract; then for visual abnormalities such as near or farsightedness, astigmatism or muscle imbalance. If the examination indicated that glasses are the required treatment, they will be fitted for the clearest, most comfortable vision possible. Finest quality single vision glasses are as low as $14.85 including professional eye examination, lenses and frame. Shatterproof plastic lenses or shatter resistant safety lenses are available at a slight additional cost to afford your child added protection. Contact Lenses are also available at only $65 complete with examination and fitting. If glasses are not needed, there is only a $4 examination fee. Convenient credit at no extra charge.

Takes Lots Of Paint To Keep Stripes Bright

BY PRESTON MAYNARD
It takes some 1,500 gallons of paint each year to maintain street markings in Big Spring, including traffic signs, center lines, crosswalks, parking zones and school zone crossings.

Three city employees spend about one-fourth to one-third of their time each year doing the painting.

For years the street work was done by makeshift arrangements, but several years ago the city purchased a paint-stripping machine to reduce the time required.

Crosswalks are still painted by hand; however, as Raymond Neill, supervisor of the work points out that the lines can be painted faster by hand due to the heavy traffic.

On more continuous work such as painting center lines down streets, the machine is put to heavy use. Neill said the center lines downtown, for instance, could be painted in two to three hours with the machine.

With no traffic interruptions, all of the parking lines downtown could be painted with the machine in a day, Neill said, while hand-painting would take two men about a week.

"We do most of the street painting in early spring or late fall," Neill said.

Center lines are repainted about every two years, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. Crosswalks and intersection stop lines are repainted somewhat less than twice a year in areas of heavy traffic.

"The two major expenses involved," City Manager Larry Crow said, "are the paint and the labor."

The city buys paint in 100-gallon and 200-gallon lots, paying from $2.50 to $4 per gallon. The 1964-65 budget includes $2,800 in an account for paints and similar supplies for streets.

Motorists driving in the 1500 block of Goliad can still see portions of paint put down about a year and a half ago as a test plot. Twelve stripes were put down on the street, to test the wearability of 12 types of paint available for street markings. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $6 per gallon.

Paint now used has a rubber base with a special thinner. The rubber base, Neill said, is the big advantage in withstanding abrasive action.

"The thicker we can put it down the longer it stays," Neill said. The paint now used is among the cheapest the city tested, yet is among the longer lasting paints available.

"We feel tests such as this have paid off in respect to costs," Crow said. "For every $5 we spend on paint, we spend an equal amount on application."

Improvements have been made in the past several years in street markings, Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said, particularly in respect to school zone markings, which are now marked with a series of stripes across the street to attract the motorist's attention to the zone.

Work recently completed includes center lines on part of Goliad Street, Cedar Road and Wason Road, no parking areas near the new Malone and Hogan Clinic and several school zone crosswalks. Crosswalks for Third and Fourth Streets will be repainted soon, Neill said, along with portions of Birdwell Lane and the downtown area.

The repainting work is sandwiched in with other work done by Neill and two assistants, M. A. Castillo and Santiago Valencia. Neill also has charge of repainting and maintaining street and traffic signs and much of the maintenance on city buildings.

The striping machine now in use cost the city about $700 and includes a hand spray gun. It holds about six gallons of paint and can be adjusted for width of lines. The unit is self-propelled and contains a compressor.

Allied with the street painting is replacement and repair of street signs. Neill and his helpers replace and repaint such signs when needed.

"Practically all of the street signs are new within the past two years," Neill said. A change

Hazardous Lots Spotted

Some 50 letters were mailed during the past two weeks by the City of Big Spring to owners of lots selected as fire or health hazards.

The letters notify the owners that the lots must be cleaned. If property owners do not undertake the cleaning, city crews can be instructed to do the work with the cost billed to the owner.

About 15 lots are currently being cleaned by city crews.

More than 75 lots have been included in the city program thus far this summer, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. The city engineering department selects lots as constituting fire or health hazards, or as breeding places for mosquitoes.

"The weeds become a particular fire hazard as fall approaches, with dryer weather,"

Lillard said. Under the cleaning program, which was initiated by the city commission last summer, the cost of the cleaning done by city crews can be levied as part of the tax assessment against the properties.

Volunteers Are Needed For Drive

Big Spring residents who will volunteer to help in the drive for funds to fight muscular dystrophy, are asked to contact Mrs.

J. C. Williams, who is in charge of recruiting workers, Dan Shockey, local chapter director, said this week.

Mrs. Williams may be contacted at AM 4-6866, and those willing to participate may call her, and may select the block in which they wish to work.

A meeting will be called to give instructions and kits to workers from Sept. 14 to 16.

No goal has been set for the local drive, Shockey said, but last year Big Spring residents gave $1,700 to the fund.

Napoleon's Chair

MOSCOW (AP) — There's an armchair out at Karaganda, in Central Asian Kazakhstan, that engineer Dmitry Lyuboshinsky says belonged to Napoleon. Not that the French conqueror ever got that far. Dmitry says he owns the chair and it came from a Moscow house Napoleon lived in when he took Moscow in 1812.

Nations Take Giant Steps

MONTVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Nine Latin American nations have taken giant steps toward a common market for 300 million Latin Americans by 1973.

They are Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru and Uruguay — all members of the Latin American Free Trade Association (LAFTA).

Set up in February 1960 but not functioning until the end of 1961, LAFTA still is a long way from a trade zone like the European Common Market. Yet it has produced some results in 2 1/2 years.

The nine countries — soon to be joined by a once doubtful Venezuela — have already slashed tariffs on 8,247 products — from cocoa to shoes, electric shavers and locomotives.

Trade among the nine jumped 44.3 per cent — from $659 million in 1961 to $951 million in 1963. And even more encouraging, L A F T A experts think, is that Latin America shows signs of beginning to look inward for untapped resources.

Regional commerce used to account for only 6 per cent of overall trade of the LAFTA countries. Last year it was up to 8.4 per cent. It may hit 10 per cent by next year.

Governments keep in constant touch through LAFTA headquarters in Montevideo, seeking ways of welding together budding industries in each other's countries.

Industrialists show a few signs of becoming "but Latin American" conscious. There is increased buying of Latin American-made parts for the manufacture of cars and trucks, radio and TV sets and other products.

For LAFTA to survive, its members must achieve two things: Set up a common market by scrapping all their regional tariffs and trade barriers by 1973, and speed up Latin America's industrialization by coordinating plans and individual industries.

GOLDEN CUP AWARD PRESENTED
Bill Schlecht gets plaque from Bill Sheppard

Cafe Wins Award For Coffee Brew

The first "Golden Cup" award in Big Spring for 1964 was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schlecht at the Pancake Patio Thursday afternoon. The award, given by the Coffee Brewing Institute, Inc., is in recognition of brewing coffee in accordance with the highest brewing standards.

Bill Sheppard, institute representative who presented the award, said it was designed to encourage the preparation and service of the finest coffee beverage possible in public feeding establishments. The brand of coffee is not considered. The operator is required to submit samples of his beverage to be judged against a standard quality established.

Tests indicate beverage strength and extraction, which must fall within the proper ranges indicated on the Institute's Coffee Brewing Control chart, which is correlated with consumer taste. Other information about the brewing is necessary, such as timing, grind, filtering devices, and water and beverage holding temperatures. These determine whether proper procedures are being followed, and influence final judgment.

Since its inception in 1959, the award has been presented to over 2,000 public feeders throughout the United States and Canada. Field representatives are available to all operators and will consult with them without charge to determine the adjustments necessary to qualify for the award.

DINING IN AT WEBB
Col. Chuck Yeager (left), Col. M. E. Frantz

Over 200 Attend Webb's Dining In

Approximately 200 persons including members of Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 65-B, family, friends and staff officers of Webb Air Force Base, celebrated the completion of over a year's flying and academic training at a Dining-In Friday night at the Officers Open Mess.

Forty-six student officers of Class 65-B participated in the traditional Air Force affair that had its beginnings in England many years ago. Not exclusively a military custom, the dining-in is believed to have begun as a custom in English monasteries, spread to the universities, then was taken up by military units.

Col. Charles E. (Chuck) Yeager, commandant of the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards AFB, Calif., was the guest speaker.

Three officers won outstanding honors. Capt. Billy J. Rhoten, class 65-B president, received the military excellence award. 2nd Lt. David A. Skilling, who has been assigned to Luke AFB, Ariz., received two awards, the academic award which is presented to the member of Class 65-B who has distinguished himself in academic subjects, and the athletic award, presented to Lt. Skilling for his contribution to the athletic advancement of his class.

2nd Lt. Gordon S. Beebe who has been assigned to the Oregon Air National Guard for duty, received the flying excellence award, which is given to the officer graduate who possesses the optimum of ability, dedication and luck.

Col. Yeager drew from his experiences in the Air Force to relate stories of flying in early aircraft and his life as a fighter pilot during World War II.

He told the graduates, "You're getting your wings and going out into an entirely different Air Force. Human nature has not changed—you will make close friends, as I did, and they will last a lifetime."

He described the relatively simple and primitive instrumentation of early aircraft. "The lack of safety procedures that are a basic part of today's pilot training accounted for numerous aircraft accidents," he said.

Col. Yeager gave an account of his experiences as a fighter pilot and bomber escort over Germany. He described the hazards of low level strafing of enemy tanks and airfields. He said that he and his fellow squadron commanders accounted for some 63 German aircraft destroyed.

He related his experiences in flying experimental aircraft at supersonic speeds, the technical knowledge and flying skill required to exercise these "birds."

In closing, Col. Yeager detailed the exacting requirements demanded of an Air Force pilot for entrance in the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards AFB, Calif.

Prepared To Fight Again

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — An attorney for two white men acquitted in the murder of Lemuel Penn, a Negro educator, but who still face federal conspiracy charges, says: "We stand ready to fight the federal government again."

Joseph H. Sims, 41, and Cecil William Myers, 25, both identified by the FBI as former members of the Ku Klux Klan, were acquitted Friday night after a jury of white men deliberated a little more than three hours.

Both men are still in custody under federal conspiracy charges of violating Penn's civil rights under the 1964 Civil Rights Act. The maximum penalty under the charges is a $5,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment.

Their attorney, James Hudson, said negotiations were under way to have their $25,000 bond reduced. Asked how Sims, a mechanic, and Myers, a yarn picker and laborer, could meet bond, Hudson replied: "These boys got a lot of friends and we do too."

The wives of both men wept. Mrs. Sims said, "I'm overjoyed. I prayed for this."

During the trial a group of from 15 to 30 Negroes had been sitting in the small balcony set aside for them, but all Negroes left the courthouse after the case went to the jury.

Penn was killed by shotgun blasts on a remote northeast Georgia road near Colbert, by assailants in a passing car. Prosecution Atty. Jeff Wayne, who asked for the death penalty, warned the jury that if the killing was condoned, "human life was worth less than a box of snuff."

Defense attorney John Darsey, in a rafter-ringing, arm-waving argument that left him soaking with perspiration and on the verge of exhaustion, told the jurors that FBI agents had been instructed to go to Madison County and "don't come back until you bring us white meat."

He said the "social revolution" has plagued the nation with "sit-ins, sit-downs, walk-ins, walkouts, insurrections, riots, police dogs, fire hoses, U.S. marshals and federal troops.

"They may succeed in passing forced laws," he told the jury. "They may get them upheld and ruled constitutional by the Supreme Court. They may break down the distinction between federal jurisdiction and states' rights.

"But in the name of all that's holy they shall never destroy the jury system which is the heart and soul of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence."

Darsey, 60, pacing back and forth in front of the jury shouted: "Never let it be said that a Madison County jury converted an electric chair into a sacrificial altar on which the pure flesh of a member of the human race was sacrificed — to the savage revengeful appetite of a raging mob."

Attend Rites For Mr. Blow

Mrs. Daucey Kinard, 908 E. 14th, and Frank Montgomery, 204 W. 9th, attended funeral services Thursday in Lindale, near Tyler, for Wiley Blow, 71, formerly of the Center Point community.

Montgomery was a nephew of Mr. Blow, who lived in Mount Sylvan prior to his death. Also attending the funeral was a daughter of Mrs. Kinard, Mrs. Bernie White, Abilene.

Mr. Blow died Thursday afternoon in his home after a lengthy illness. Services were held in the Mount Sylvan Baptist Church and burial was in the Mount Sylvan cemetery. He was a retired farmer and veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Norma Blow, Mount Sylvan; three daughters, Mrs. Norma Hill, Mrs. Frances Adams and Mrs. Polly Rowan, all of Tyler; one son, Joe B. Blow, Houston; one brother, Ernest Blow, Mount Sylvan; and 15 grandchildren.

NEWS BRIEFS

Reds Lose Chile Vote

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — He seems to remain the nation's leader no matter how he changes. He issued in the past week a series of declarations and counter-declarations that even government insiders found hopelessly confusing.

Back from the mountain resort of Dalat with his goatee shaved off, he told newsmen that he and all the other generals had resigned their government jobs but would continue to run the country — for a little while anyway.

By acting the way he did, Khanh foretold rioting, appealed Buddhist leaders and bought two months' time in which to straighten things out.

Barry Expected WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater will visit six Texas cities within seven days starting Sept. 18 in his campaign for the presidency.

Security Area KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The king proclaimed all Malaysia a security area Saturday to combat Indonesian invader bands and to halt race rioting in Singapore believed fomented by Indonesian agitators.

Changes Status SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the space of a week, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh resigned and re-emerged. It was the fifth time since January that he had changed his status in the South Vietnamese leadership.

two inches, while adjacent territory hardly had more than a sprinkle. Moss Creek Lake caught a couple of feet of water, while Powell got none. This proves it was a freakish shower, for usually the reverse is true.

If the Bible Class fund can have a few days like last week, it could achieve its minimum goal of $3,500. About $1,200 came in during the week. This will be the last week that the Herald can keep the appeal going, so if you plan to help out — and we hope you do — please don't delay.

After a long illness, A. P. Kasch, who had lived here for two score years, died last week. For more than half that time he operated a plumbing business, then joined with his sons to form a contracting firm which in 15 years has become one of the major builders in the region.

One of the structures the firm erected had its open house a week ago today when Malone and Hogan Clinic drew 3,000 or more visitors despite threatening weather. Word got around, and during the week possibly another 1,000 visitors came just to get a look at the new facility.

Dry weather has put a crimp on activity for farmers in the Knott area (which is in better shape than most when it comes to crops). So folks at the Co-op Gin in Knott just organized a domino tournament. For 111 games the smoke and tobacco juice progressed until champs were named. It was so much fun, sponsors may stage it every year.

H. D. (Hunka) Stewart, new member of the state board of barber examiners, found himself in a bewildering spot. Able backers of Tom Gorman for a place on the state Demo committee claimed they had supported Stewart for his post in return for assurance Howard Countians would support Gorman. "Ridiculous!" snorted Frank Hardesty, county chairman, himself a candidate for the SDEC post. All he knows, said Stewart, he appreciates everyone's help.

Summer is dying a hard, hot death. Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District are a case in point, for during August the district sold a billion and a third gallons of water. That's enough to put a square mile under five feet of water.

Two churches have new pastors today — Phillips Memorial Baptist where the Rev. Grady Etheridge has been called, and Airport Baptist where Ronnie K. Bostick is the minister. Webb AFB has a new Catholic chaplain, Capt. T. D. Holland. West Side Baptist is dedicating its new educational unit today, and Tuesday the San Angelo diocese Catholic women will gather here about 300 strong.

It was a happy birthday Wednesday for Dr. T. M. Collins, and we do mean happy. The venerable physician had been in the hospital, and it began to appear that his 96th birthday party would have to be passed. But he got to go home in the nick of time and shared the occasion with 41 loved ones and friends.

Consultants Recommend Sweeping Changes Here

Revamping For Police, Firemen

A new promotion system—downgrading seniority in favor of a semi-merit formula—is suggested for the fire department in the management study, along with a revamping of the police department to eliminate the traffic division.

Under the police proposals, the traffic patrol would be assigned under the present patrol division. The assistant chief's post would also be dropped. The position would become that of detective captain, who would act as chief in the absence of the top officer.

Several activities would be lumped together in a new general services unit, to be supervised by the lieutenant who now directs the identification-records office, which would be a part of the unit. The jail, communications, parking meter enforcement, animal control and ID records are included in the services section.

A suggested drop in police hours, from 48 to 44, has already been enacted by the city commission. "The morale and operating effectiveness of the force appeared to be good," the report says. A recent change, installation of small writing desks in patrol cars, has cut time required for report writing, the firm observes.

While Big Spring's police set up ranks among the highest of similar-sized Texas cities in per capita cost, $9.28, the cost does not rank high when compared nationally, the report observes. On-duty firemen would be utilized to make fire prevention inspections both in the downtown area, as is now done, and in residential areas. In some cities, the report relates, as much as 30 per cent of the on-duty force is used for this purpose.

The present seniority system does not necessarily provide promotions of the best men, the report states. A promotional formula should instead be used, allowing some credit for seniority, as well as performance and knowledge. A performance rating plan for the fire department is also suggested.

Some of the old department equipment should be replaced with new vehicles. These include two 500 gallon pumpers, more than 20 years old, which the report says should be replaced with 750 gallon units. Little or no credit is received on the fire insurance ratings for this equipment, according to the firm.

In general, we found that this department is well-organized, trained and equipped," the report states. Current staffing numbers are justified by the county coverage required. Added office space and use of a full or part-time clerk typist are also needed, particularly for records work now done by chief personnel.

No Abrupt Changes, Crow Says

There will be no abrupt changes at city hall from the organization report which moved into the hands of commissioners and department heads this week, City Manager Larry Crow commented.

But the report offers the long-range goals which the city will work toward, Crow said. Crow emphasized the report was not a comprehensive study of administration, but rather a side product of the study completed earlier this year by the Griffenhagen-Kroeger firm on the city's pay scales and job classifications.

No formal consideration of the report is planned, Crow said. "These are goals to work toward as the organization changes over a period of time," he said. The report, titled "Observations," is pertinent when recognized as comments of trained specialists who study numerous cities rather than a single city government, Crow pointed out.

"In general, their impression of our operation was a favorable one, concerning both our financial and operating procedures," he said. Some of the recommendations, such as for more centralized and controlled purchasing and for a centralized personnel program, the city has already had to some degree, Crow said, while other suggestions are entirely new to Big Spring.

Affects Several City Departments

By PRESTON MAYNARD If a report sent to city commissioners this week should be implemented, Big Spring's city hall organization would undergo considerable facelift.

The report suggests several sweeping changes, including a new semi-merit system of promotion for the fire department, elimination of the police traffic division as a separate unit and changing the assistant city manager's job to primarily one of a purchasing agent-personnel officer.

The tax assessor-collector functions would be moved into the city secretary's office under the proposal, while two new city departments are also suggested. The report is a follow-up of the recent pay scale-job classification survey, adopted with some changes by the city commission. Its authors, Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Inc., a management consulting firm, termed the report observations made during the research on the pay scale-job classification project. The report primarily concerns the administrative organization of the city.

A reorganization of the department of public works, as now organized, into several sections is outlined with an observation that the scope of supervision of the public works director is somewhat excessive. Two new departments are suggested—for parks and recreation and utilities.

"The field of recreation is more and more coming to be recognized as a distinct profession," the report says. "As the city grows, there will also be more of a need for a well-rounded recreation program." The golf course, city lake and other park-recreation functions are lumped together as a new department. These areas are sufficiently different from other public works activities to justify the separation, the report says. Suggested also is the utilities department for water and sewage functions, with billing and collection for both to continue under the city secretary's office. Water production, treatment and service are included in the proposed department, rather than operating directly under the city manager's office as presently done.

The proposed change leaves the department of public works with six major functions. These are engineering, planning, inspections, street maintenance and repair, equipment maintenance and repair and traffic planning and control. No longer would the streets division handle equipment upkeep and repair, as these are included in a separate section of the proposed department, planned to serve the six major areas. Several functions are combined under the traffic area, to include traffic engineering, parking meter upkeep, signal installation and traffic painting. Building maintenance is switched to a new general services unit.

A considerable number of changes is advanced for the city's fiscal program. The primary change would be to put functions of the tax assessor-collector office into the city secretary's office. In addition, instead of cash being received in both the tax office and the water billing-collections office, a central location is pointed out as more desirable, from a standpoint of standardized procedures and control of cash. The report points out that the tax assessor-collector uses city time for his City Employee Credit Union work. Commenting that this arrangement does not appear appropriate, the report suggests the work be done on other time or by a non-city employee. Pointing out that peak loads in the tax and finance offices occur at different times, the report suggests that combining the two offices could bring greater utilization of equipment and employ time in both. Tagging of all city equipment and keeping of annual records through physical inventories are advanced as improved methods. No central record is being maintained on the city's real property holdings, the report comments.

While beer taverns are currently licensed, the report suggests such licensing be extended to involve all businesses, under a general licensing ordinance. A city has a responsibility to its people to insure that those doing business in the city are legitimate businessmen operating under accepted standards," the report continues. License fees could provide a modest revenue and the licenses insure a hospitable climate to business enterprise, according to the report.

Tuesday Is Deadline For Voting In ASC Elections

Community election for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees will close Tuesday and the ballots mailed in will be counted Thursday.

Gabe Hammack, ASC office supervisor, said that all ballots will be received by mail. The ballots were sent the farmers Aug. 28. He said a considerable number of votes have already been received.

Five top candidates in each of the five communities will be elected. The three who receive the largest number of votes will be declared elected as committee members from the community. The fourth and fifth place candidates will be alternate committee members.

Those elected serve for one year with their terms beginning Oct. 1.

Community A candidates are Morris B. Barnes, Durwood Blagrove, L. O. Free, Joe McGaskins, Robert Merrick, Ralph Proctor, Lloyd Robinson, Larry Shaw and J. H. Woods. Community A is the northwest portion of the county.

Community B candidates are A. M. Anderson, James C. Barr, Jack Buchanan, J. H. Fuller, Jim Hodnett, Winston Kilpatrick, A. F. Lankford, Jeff Painter, Neil D. Spencer, and L. C. Underwood. Community B serves the northeast quadrant of the county.

Community C candidates are W. C. Fryar, Jeff Grant, J. R. Murpree, B. M. Newton, J. T. Russell, Ray Russell, L. Z. Shaffer, and Jack Walker. Community C is for the west central part of the county.

Community D candidates are J. L. Baugh, J. W. Broughton, W. D. Coates, Harvey Fryar, R. E. Haney, Donald Lay and C. C. Wolf. Community D serves the east central section of the county.

Community E candidates are Lawrence Davis, Neil Fryar, Ross Hill, Jack McKinnon, Louis Rosser and Wiley Williams. Community E covers the south central section of the county.

The community committees selected Sept. 19 will meet in a convention about a week later, and select the county committee.

Construction Completed On Retention Dam Project

Construction was completed Friday on the series of earthen retention dams across the Edwards Draw area, two weeks ahead of the projected completion date for the project.

The dams are the flood control portion of the Eleventh Place extension project of the city.

Since no funds are available for the planned roadway extension of Eleventh Place, the completion of the second phase will not begin until some later date, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

Some 260,000 cubic yards of earth were used in the construction of the dams. The contractor, W. D. Caldwell, was completing the shaping up of slopes, walls and sides of the dams Friday.

Included are six large dams and three small ones. The roadway includes an 80-foot width over each of the same.

City engineers will survey the project and complete final cost estimates within the next several weeks, Lillard said.

The series of dams is planned to hold back water flowing into the Edwards Draw area during heavy rains, allowing the water to flow out over an extended period of time through drains in the dams. Included are six 12-inch drains and three six-inch ones.

At the upstream end, water inlets are provided for each of the drains. An eight-foot inlet pipe at each will be the primary source for water to flow out of the dams. An additional 12-foot pipe will provide an overflow outlet, also connecting to the concrete drains, for heavy rains.

The city eventually plans to extend Eleventh Place west as a main artery across the city, with part of the route along the tops of the flood control dams, Lillard said.

The total contract estimate for the dam construction was $154,995. The project was begun March 17, with the completion date Sept. 15.

Construction Totals Down

Construction in Big Spring during August dropped below $2,900,796, the June and July totals, with some $211,000 in building permits filed during the month, bringing the total for the year to $29,000,000.

The outlook for construction activity was already increasing this week, however, as a single project for a motel on the IS 20 loop north of the city topped the entire month's totals for August. The motel permit was for $300,000.

Business construction increased during August from the July totals, while residential construction dropped below the July figure.

Ranchers have been selling off surplus cattle in a fairly steady fashion as the drought held on and pastures continued to dwindle. However, Helbig said he had heard of no complete sell-off actions. Some ranchers have reduced their herds in anticipation of short feed supplies this winter.

Major business projects for the month was a building for Pioneer Natural Gas Co., 700 Anna, with a $28,000 permit. Two other projects were for $15,000 each, for a new laundry building at 2204 Gregg and for White's Stores, Inc., 206 Scurry. A permit to repair fire damages at the Sands Motel Restaurant, 2900 W. 80, also hiked the total for business by some $14,000.

Late August showers were beneficial to the rangelands, where they fell, as they were to the cotton fields. There are a few areas in the county where cotton continues to look fairly good. There are fields in the vicinity of Knott, for example, which are still doing well and are well loaded with fat bolls. However, in the same area, there are other fields, stunted and wasted, which hold little promise of any production at all.

Other business projects during August included a $4,000 office structure for Clyde Brown, building contractor, at 3103 W. 80 and a $5,500 permit to demolish a structure at 210-214 W. 2nd, owned by A. P. Kasch & Sons.

Human carelessness remains the primary cause of most fires, Fire Marshal A. D. Meador pointed out. Firemen made 39 calls during August, including eight calls outside the city limits. City fire trucks serve the county, under a contract arrangement between the county and city.

One new church project was started during August, a $2,000 sanctuary for the Highland Church of God, 1110 E. 6th.

About one-fifth of the fire calls each year are outside the city limits, Meador said.

Six new residences were begun, with the high permit for $24,000 for a home at Number 3 Coachman's Circle, owned by Clyde Brown. Three permits were issued for $18,000 homes, at 2605 Cactus Drive, owned by Tom McAdams; at 514 Scott Drive, Brown; and 2611 Ann Drive, McAdams.

Total insured fire loss for the year at the end of August was $79,567, including $44,096 loss to buildings. Three insured fire losses were reported during August, with the blaze at the Sands Restaurant, West Highway 80, the largest loss, some $22,700 to contents and building.

The total of building permits for the year was under the figure at the end of August, 1963. Last year's total after the first eight months was $3,509,090, compared to $2,900,796 for the current year thus far.

All three insured losses resulted from fires which started from grease in kitchens, with the flames moving up through vents, Meador said.

A total of 57 permits for all types of construction activity were issued during August, bringing the total for the year to 409. High month for construction work for the year remains June, when $1,029,135 of projects were filed with the city building inspector's office. Low month remains May, when the total dipped to $148,375.

Total business construction activity increased to $88,740 during the month, up from a $10,375 figure for July. Total residence construction dropped from $154,240 for July to $120,905 for August.

Original Co-Op Directors Cited

Three original members of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative Board who are still members of the board were cited last week with 25-year certificates. They are Mrs. Lee Castle, left, Glenn Cantrell, president, and Arah Phillips, secretary, and they were at the first board meeting Sept. 11, 1939. Over the years Mrs. Castle has attended 318 meetings, missing only four. Cantrell missed only 13 and Miss Phillips only 15. Paul Adams, another Howard County board member, was given a certificate for 15 years of service. J. W. Broughton made the presentations to the directors.

Few More Cotton Bales Trickle In

By SAM BLACKBURN
 A few more bales of cotton, harvested from the sunburned fields of the county, found their way to the gins.

county where cotton continues to look fairly good. There are fields in the vicinity of Knott, for example, which are still doing well and are well loaded with fat bolls. However, in the same area, there are other fields, stunted and wasted, which hold little promise of any production at all.

Rains of last week brought some slight encouragement to those farmers whose fields were favored and where the cotton still was healthy enough to respond to the welcome moisture.

The same spotty conditions prevail in all parts of the county. There are a few promising fields to be found in nearly every section and plenty of other fields which offer so little promise as to make it hardly worth while to harvest the crop.

Feed crops, too, where any remained, were helped to a degree by the rains.

Meantime, the ASC committee office here said that nearly all of the farmers have completed with the domestic allotment program and have plowed up as much as 33 per cent of their planted allotment. They will be paid at the rate of about $9 an acre for the unplowed portion of the cotton—about enough money, Gabe Hammack, ASC office manager, pointed out, to pay their tractor fuel expenses.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that one slight blessing has been afforded the hard pressed cotton growers—there have been few reports of insect infestation and only a few farmers have had to poison. Flea hoppers and boll worms have been found in some fields, but there have been no instances of heavy invasion by the pests. No boll weevils have been reported, according to Helbig.

Whittington then passed on this bit of wisdom to his fellow Ambucs: "You may not set an example, but you can sure give advice."

Richard Hughes, in charge of the program, said other members of the club would be called upon to address the luncheon meetings in the immediate future.

Hammack said that the ASC is facing a problem of getting the cotton measured. Extra workers of the committee have been, for the most part, college students working through the summer. These are now going back to school and there are hundreds of acres yet to be measured.

Late August showers were beneficial to the rangelands, where they fell, as they were to the cotton fields. There are a few areas in the county where cotton continues to look fairly good. There are fields in the vicinity of Knott, for example, which are still doing well and are well loaded with fat bolls. However, in the same area, there are other fields, stunted and wasted, which hold little promise of any production at all.

Fire Losses Continue High

Fires in Big Spring during August took some $25,000 in insured losses, with the total loss for the year now more than $75,000.

ABC Hears Whittington

The American Business Club dipped into its own ranks for a speaker at its Friday luncheon meeting in the Settles hotel.

August's loss figures were highest for a single month thus far, with $18,788 damages to buildings and an additional $6,200 loss to contents.

The club voted to enrich the public school's Bible Fund by $100, as per custom.

The other insured losses were for $1,900 damages to the home of Charles Edward Gressett, 1217 E. 17th, and $988 to the home of H. L. Weeks, 1106 Pennsylvania.

Bailey Wins Match With J. Patterson

The Bill Craig Memorial Invitational Golf Tournament will feature a new champion. Jimmy Patterson, who shot brilliantly only a year ago to take the tourney crown from Colorado City's Bill Craig in medal play, found himself suddenly on the outside looking in Saturday as Charles Bailey, captain of the Big Spring Golf Association...

Both In Title Flight

wasn't so lucky, losing out on the 20th hole of the finals match. In another big surprise, Webb's Robb Smith was uncoupled from the championship flight and was booted into the consolation bracket by Charles Hopkins of Post, 2-1. Both Smith and Patterson were considered good picks as possible champions in this year's tournament.

Other top first flight matches found Frank Powell of Big Spring slipping past Jake Bariko, also a local swinger, 1 up 19, in one of the day's closest matches, and Bobby Blum, Lamesa edging by Jake Brylmes, Fort Stockton, 2-1. Eddie Harris, Big Spring, who is given an outside chance by some to win the crown, ripped by Dallas' John Cameron, 5-4.

Both the winners and consolation bracket of the championship flight will tee off today in 10-minute intervals beginning at 7:10 a.m.

In one of the tourney's early quirks, Rusty Young, Fort Worth, showed up late for his championship flight match with Barney Barnard, Odessa, and could not catch him until Barnard had already played three holes. Young had to thus start three down, but almost rallied, losing only 2-1.

Yankees Rout Bonus Baby

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joe Pepitone's three-run homer in the fourth inning snapped a 6-6 tie and carried the New York Yankees to a 9-7 triumph over Kansas City Saturday night.

Pepitone's 21st homer came off reliever Ken Sanders after Roger Maris singled and Mickey Mantle walked with two out.

Just moments before, in the third inning, the Athletics had rallied for five runs, tying the game. Kansas City was aided by five walks, two by starter Al Downing and three by reliever Stan Williams.

John (Blue Moon) Odum, a $75,000 bonus pitcher signed out of high school in June, made his major league debut for the Athletics, but the Yankees battered him mercilessly in the first two innings.

Charles Coody Leads By Stroke At Dallas

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS (AP) — Charles Coody led a charge of Texans in the $40,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament Saturday when he shot a three-under-par 67 to take the lead at 36 holes.

His 134 was only one stroke better than fellow Texans Rocky Thompson and Don Cherry, who played in the same threesome with Coody. Thompson shot a 64, the low round of the tournament to date. The top four places had only one out-of-state member — Tommy Bolt, from Kennebec, Fla., who came in with a four-under-par 66 to tie the Cherry and Thompson for second place.

Chuck Courtney, the rookie from LaJolla, Calif., who led the first round with a 65, ran into out-of-bound trouble and fell well down the list. Thompson, 25, on the pro tour only 15 months and winner of just $265.44, used only 26 puts.

Cherry, the 40-year-old professional singer now a professional golfer, shot a 68 and had 135 for 36 holes, the same as Bolt and Thompson, who like Cherry is from Wichita Falls, Texas.

The hot and dusty, 6.7-mile Oak Cliff Country Club course proved easy and more than 30 cracked par in the race to make the cutoff that will trim the field to the low 70 and ties.

Bolt finished in threatening rain and a high wind. The former National Open champion tried for a 20-foot birdie putt on 18 that would have tied him for the lead but missed by six inches.

Jurgenson Star In Redskin Win

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Sonny Jurgenson made his first appearance in a Washington uniform Saturday night and kept the Redskins in command all the way in a 17-10 National Football League exhibition victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jurgenson, who had been sidelined with a shoulder injury, went all the way for the Skins and received top-flight help from rookie Charley Taylor, who gained 94 yards in 17 carries, caught three passes, and scored a touchdown that sealed Washington's triumph.

The Redskins took a 10-0 lead in the opening period on a 29-yard field goal by rookie Jim Seeborg and on a 29-yard touchdown run by defensive halfback Lonnie Sanders after he intercepted a pass by Cardinal quarterback Buddy Humphrey.

Jim Bakken's 11-yard field goal put St. Louis on the scoreboard in the second quarter, but Washington made it 17-3 shortly after the third period began.

Taylor kept the drive moving with a 44-yard run and scored from five yards out. Seeborg converted.

The Cardinals moved 65 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown, Billy Gambrell scoring on an eight-yard pass from Humphrey.

Jurgenson showed no effects of the shoulder injury that has plagued him since the Redskins obtained him in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Emerson Forced To Go 4 Sets With Drobny

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia and America's bounding Chuck McKinley smashed into the second round but it remained for a self-exiled Czech, fat and 42, to steal the hearts of the gallery Saturday in the National Tennis Championships.

Jaroslav Drobny, a respectable, left-handed veteran who won the Wimbledon title in 1954 at the age of 32, brought 7,000 fans in the West Side Stadium roaring to their feet when he took the opening set from Emerson, rated the world's best amateur.

It is immaterial that Drobny's aging legs wilted under the heat and Emerson, the number one Queen'slander, went on to score a 7-4, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 victory.

For nearly an hour the 41-year-old man of world tennis had given the crowd a thrill.

Once he blunted the ferocity of Drobny's early attack, Emerson played superbly and added a note of uneasiness to U.S. Davis Cup hopes.

These hopes were further dampened when McKinley, the nation's No. 1 ranked player but seeded fourth in this event, looked less than overpowering in an 8-6, 6-3, 8-6 triumph over left-handed Francois Godbout of Canada.

Drobny was an outstanding hockey and tennis player for his country, winning the Czech national tennis championship 10 times. But when the Communists moved in he moved out and became a world citizen, first taking up residence in Egypt and finally in England.

Twice he went to the finals at Wimbledon—in 1949 and 1952—before he finally crashed through to a victory over Ken Rosewall in 1954.

The crowd was pulling so hard for Drobny that it was yelling at the balls to go out or stay in. Emerson had to ask the umpire to request that the gallery remain quiet.

Cookie Rojas led off the first with a double and scored on Johnny Callison's single. Allen tripled across Callison, and Thomas followed with his 10th homer, a blast into the lower left field stands.

Jim Duffalo relieved Bolin at the start of the second inning and held the Phillies hitting until two were out in the fifth. That's when Thomas doubled in Allen, who had walked.

Duffalo walked Wes Covington intentionally and hit Tony Taylor with a pitch, loading the bases. Triandos then connected into the upper left field stands for his eighth homer. The grand slam was the seventh of Triandos' career.

Colts Ridden By Corsairs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran Bob Friend, backed by Jerry Lynch's 16th home run and Bill Mazeroski's run-scoring triple and helped by shoddy Houston fielding, set down the Colts with six hits Saturday for a 4-1 Pittsburgh victory.

Mazeroski got the Pirates off in front in the second inning when his triple scored Lynch, who had singled.

Two plays which backfired in the fifth inning led to another Pirate run. Losing pitcher Ken Johnson had nobody to blame but himself. After Gene Alley singled, Johnson threw wildly to second on Friend's bunt. The pitcher then picked up Bob Bailey's bunt and threw the ball past third base, permitting Alley to score.

Triandos Smash Defeats Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gus Triandos smashed a grand slam homer and Frank Thomas drove in three runs, powering National League-leading Philadelphia to a 9-3 victory over San Francisco Saturday night.

Jim Bunning scattered nine hits, winning his 16th game against four defeats. Two of the hits were bases-empty home runs by Jim Hart in the third inning and Orlando Cepeda in the sixth.

The Phillies scored all of their runs in two bursts. They jumped on starter Bob Bolin in the first inning, erupting for four runs before he could retire a batter.

Cookie Rojas led off the first with a double and scored on Johnny Callison's single. Allen tripled across Callison, and Thomas followed with his 10th homer, a blast into the lower left field stands.

Jim Duffalo relieved Bolin at the start of the second inning and held the Phillies hitting until two were out in the fifth. That's when Thomas doubled in Allen, who had walked.

New York Mets Succumb To Los Angeles, 6-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Home runs by Tommy Davis and Wes Parker and the air-tight relief pitching of Ron Perranoski carried the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets Saturday night.

Perranoski replaced starter Phil Ortega in the fourth inning, after the Mets scored both their runs. The left-hander came on with runners on first and third and no one out. He retired the side and blanked New York on one hit the rest of the way for his fifth victory.

Willie Davis singled in the first inning and Tommy Davis followed with his ninth homer for a 3-0 lead. Parker hit a solo shot, in the fourth. Both circuits came off loser Ron Locke.

Collegiate Season To Open Saturday

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If Texas becomes the first team since Oklahoma 1955-56 to repeat as national college football champion Lone Star folks might make the Tower on the campus a shrine, like the Alamo.

Ohio State and Michigan, are putting in major bids for the 1964 crown. The season, which will be played under a revised and almost unlimited substitution rule, will be kicked off in a blaze of television tubes—NBC—next Saturday when improved UCLA invades Pitt. Texas opens its title defense a week later at home against Tulane. Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns defended their way through a 10-0 season last fall and then turned on the attack for a 28-6 Cotton Bowl battering of second-ranked Navy. Texas is 28-1-1 over the past three regular campaigns.

The team remains a strong threat for top laurels with 25 lettermen, including super-linebackers Tommy Nobis and Timmy Doerr, plus a healthy Ernie Koy at tailback. But there is a general lack of experienced depth and holes left in the line. The Texas Tower is the main university building at Austin, illuminated by orange floodlights after every Longhorn victory.

If the lights don't go on often enough, Rice in the 38th year of Jess Neely's coaching career, stands ready to make some Southwest Conference hay. The head-on collision comes at Rice Oct. 24 at night.

Illinois' once-beaten Rose Bowl champions of 1963 will be tough to unseat in the Big Ten, with All-America center Dick Butkus, tackle Archie Suttton, fullback Jim Grabowski and quarterback Fred Custardo on hand. The Illini are biggest and deepest where it counts — up front.

There is a real threat at Michigan, however, and no one ever counts out a Woody Hayes Ohio State production, particularly when he has a field general like Don Unverferth to run the show.

AUBURN TOUCH
Elsewhere, the regional breakdown looks like this:

Southeastern Conference — Auburn, Alabama, Louisiana State, Mississippi and Mississippi State all look powerful in a circuit where a couple of goal line stands and a dropped pass in the open can settle a bloody war. Auburn has All-America quarterback Jimmy Sidle.

Big Eight — Oklahoma lost Bud Wilkinson to politics but gained longtime line coach Gomer Jones as head man in a smooth transition, and has standout performers in Jim Grisham at fullback, tackle Ralph Neely and guard Newt Burton. Defender Nebraska was hit hard by graduation, but look out for Kansas.

Ex-Big Six now grown to eight — Washington is the popular pick but there's a strong minority vote for Southern Cal. Newly-admitted Oregon is a threat with Bob Berry at the throttle. Missouri Valley — Co-champion Cincinnati to take it all, chased by high caliber gunner Jerry Rheme and his Tulsa Hurricane.

Atlantic Coast—North Carolina draws most support. Duke and Clemson will make it interesting, defending co-champ N.C. State has lost too much.

Southern — It's between Virginia Tech and West Virginia. Ivy League—Yale and Princeton will settle it Nov. 14 in New Haven.

WAC — Wide-open among New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and Wyoming.

Independents — Syracuse, Georgia Tech, Navy as long as Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach rolls, Army. Memphis State has a 17-game unbeaten streak but it probably won't survive the Ole' Miss opener. Notre Dame is moving under its new coach, Ara Parseghian, but the road is long.

Most surprising teams of the year — Kansas, California, Indiana, Texas A&M and Florida. Last year this corner picked bowl kings Illinois and North Carolina in this category.

Although the rules call for free substitution with the clock stopped and two player changes per team when it is running, the emphasis may remain on defense rather than attack.

Defense, a better one, is the reason Baylor believes it can stir things up in the Southwest even without national passing champion Don Trull. The Baylor stop-'em crew has been named the Chinese Baptists.

MEN TO WATCH

Better defense and improved passing characterizes Auburn, the team which went 9-1 last year before being edged by Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Watch center-linebacker Bill Cody and tackle Jack Thornton.

Bear Bryant's hard-as-nails elephants at Alabama, now honed whippet-fast, have survived two seasons of damaging injuries and shuffled their way into bowl victories. 'Bama remains several '63 cripples, like fullback Larry Wall, and top-flight quarterback Joe Namath, who left the squad on a disciplinary count.

LSU has 27 letterman, including two fine quarterbacks, some breakout runners guard Remi Prudhomme and center Ruffin Rodrigue. The Tigers are back to the old familiar three-unit system which is coming back in style again.

Mississippi, losing only four of its last 55 starts, has talent and depth. But Johnny Reb hasn't made national champion, even on unbeaten records, with its segregated schedule. Mississippi State has stars Pat Watson at center, tackle Tommy Neeger but must replace departed Sonny Fisher and ode Burrell.

68 WINS TROPHY Medalist Barnard

Barnard Is Medalist

Medalist honors in the 33rd annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament were won Friday by G. A. (Barney) Barnard, an Odessa dynamite salesman.

The popular, fun-loving Barnard, who grew up in Lamesa, toured the course in 68 strokes three under regular figures.

He beat Bobby Wright, Big Spring, by a stroke. Wright made the rounds relatively early in the day and it seemed for a long time that his round would withstand all challenges.

Barnard posted birdies on the fourth, eighth, 14th, 17th and 18th holes and settled for bogies on the seventh and 15th.

His round:

White's Visitors Win Cup Matches

A. G. (Barney) Barnard led the visiting 10-man team to a nine-stroke victory in the annual Fina-Cosden Cup Matches at the Country Club here Friday.

Barnard, who hurried through his round to fulfill an officiating date in a Crane football game, posted a three-under par 68.

The visitors, captained by Gus White Jr., Lamesa, fashioned an aggregate score of 740 for the 18 holes, compared to 749 for the Country Club team.

Charley Bailey's Big Spring Golf Association squad trailed the pack, finishing up with a score of 755.

Barnard, who used the opportunity to win medalist honors in the 33rd annual Big Spring Invitational tournament, was given plenty of help by Bobby Blumh, Lamesa; Roy Peden, Kermit; and Jake Broyles, Fort Stockton.

Blumh wound up with a one-under par 70. Peden piced together a 71 while Broyles finished with a 72.

VISITORS (740)—Gus White Jr., Lamesa, 81; Russ Young, Fort Worth, 78; Vol Howard, Lamesa, 75; Jerry Scott, Austin, 74; L. J. Brown, Andrews, 73; A. G. Barnard, Odessa, 68; Bobby Blumh, Lamesa, 70; Roy Peden, Kermit, 71; Jerry Edwards, Ruidoso, N. M., 75; Jake Broyles, Fort Stockton, 72.

COUNTRY CLUB (749)—Weldon Bryant, 79; Bobby Wright, 69; Darvie Hohertz, 80; Jack Cook, 78; Tommy Wilkerson, 78; W. E. Ramsey, 71; Jimmy Patterson, 74; Frank Powell, 84; E. L. (Son) Powell, 76; Jack Wallace, 72.

BIG SPRING ASSOCIATION (755)—Joe Thompson, 75; Novis Womack, 78; Charley Bailey, 73; Marvin Williams, 80; Bill Pettus, 75; Rick Terry, 77; Delnor Poss, 79; Donald Lovelady, 70; Al Kloven, 77; George Adams, 71.

SEAGRAVES—The Seagraves Eagles, favored to win District 5-A, raced to a 28-0 halftime advantage and then eased on past Jim Ned Friday night for an easy 36-0 win. Danny Rosson, Dwight Hamilton, Tim Raper, Ronnie Huffman and Bo Faulkenberry each scored a touchdown.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Gus Moreland, who last week was named pro at Houston's Westwood golf course, is the fellow Big Spring's John Pipes thinks ought to be in the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. Pipes says Moreland did as much as any one man to establish Texas as a golf center. Now 53 years of age, Moreland had his heyday in the amateur sport in the '30s. Moreland, who lived in Peoria, Ill., for many years after leaving Texas, was twice a member of the Walker Cup team, won the Trans-Miss twice, the Western Amateur once, the Mexican National twice and captured 21 amateur crowns in Texas, in all. Bill Wood, the former Midland High quarterback, is now playing football for NMMI in Roswell, N.M. That's the same school that Roger Staubach played for before becoming an All-American at Navy.

L. SHIELDS

James Ingram, the former Odessa griddler, didn't make it with the Houston Oilers. Big Spring's Delnor Poss visited with his cousin, Tommy Ford, recently and was told that Tommy probably would take up coaching as a career after earning a degree at the University of Texas. A total of 275 boys are playing football at Snyder, from the seventh grade level on up through the varsity ranks. McAllen High, where Big Springer Chop Van Pelt is an assistant coach, has 20 lettermen back from a team that won four of ten starts last season, including nine regulars. The Bulldogs reportedly have good power but will be handicapped by a lack of speed. Top fullback in District 2-AAAA this fall could well be Odessa High's Larry Priddy, who stands only 5-7 but weighs a little more than 200 pounds. He's built along the lines of Charley Tolar, the Houston Oilers' ramming fullback. Horst Paul, captain of the University of Houston football team this fall, is a native of Rumania. Dizzy Dean, who used to toil for peanuts for Sam Breadon in St. Louis, is supposed to be getting $100,000 a year now for his various TV chores with CBS. The San Diego Chargers of the AFL cut tackle J. R. Williams from their squad while he was attending his mother's funeral. Larry Shields, the Wichita Falls athlete who is due to be a football titan for Oklahoma University this fall, was born in Arkansas and is part Cheyenne Indian.

Chamberlain Is Wealthy Athlete

Nebraska has almost 45,000 square miles of pheasant range. Thirty of Midland Lee's 39 varsity football players are seniors. Will The Still Chamberlain, the pro basketball player, is well on his way to becoming a millionaire. A few years ago, he made a relatively small investment in an undeveloped plot in West Los Angeles. It is now the 48-apartment Villa Chamberlain, worth no less than half a million dollars in itself. Chamberlain has a building with 32 apartments in New York, along with an interest in a prosperous night club. His basketball pay is supposed to top $70,000 annually. Forsan's Oscar Becker and R. L. Adams, the new coach at Flower Grove, were school mates at Sul Ross College. Odessa High and Sweetwater, which have been meeting here each fall, had their annual scrimmage in Odessa last night. Odessa had 110 boys in uniform the first day of workouts this fall. Bill Ferem, who had agreed to serve as start-

Tornadoes Look Better On Film

A new book on the market, called the Texas Hunters Guide, gives instructions on how to seek out deer, dove and duck and gives a list of 2,000 ranches where hunting leases are available. It is available at Box 6701, Dallas 19, Texas, and retails for $1. Big Spring High School may have to cancel its sophomore football schedule because the talent is too thin in that class. The shortage of first year athletes in high school has the coaches worried about what is going to happen to Steer football two years from now. St. Louis scribes reveal that Mrs. Charley Johnson, wife of the Cardinal quarterback, left the Card-Baltimore Colt exhibition game recently and checked in at a hospital to have a baby. Barbara Johnson, like her husband, is a Big Spring native. The Johnsons now have two children. Floyd Martin, the former pro baseballer who brought his family here for a vacation recently, timing it with the Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, now resides in a Los Angeles suburb. He visits occasionally with Bob by Maines, the former Big Spring er of this year's Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, moved to California from Midland recently.

The veteran Earl Reynolds was tapped for the job here. Don Lovelady, who wound up on the Big Spring-Webb golf associations' team in the Cosden-Fina Cup Matches Friday, had two chances to play. He is also a member of the Country Club. Five members of Gus White Jr.'s visiting team in the cup matches have called Lamesa home at one time or another. The others are Bobby Blumh and Val Howard, who still live there, Barney Barnard and Ben Alexander. Ross Montgomery Midland High's mammoth tailback, checked into camp weighing 227 pounds. Darlington, S. C., due to attract 75,000 for its Darlington Southern 500 auto race tomorrow, is a sleepy town of 6,000. Cecil Grigg, Rice University's veteran coach, was quarterback on the Canton (Ohio) professional football team that had Jim Thorpe in its secondary.

The homes of the two are about ten miles apart. Maines is still employed by a wholesale drug concern. Don Jay, Lamesa's new football coach, says his respect for his boys picked up after he viewed films of the recent scrimmage with Kermit. "We didn't look as bad as we first thought," he was quoted as saying. Lamesa plays host to Big Spring next Friday night in what could be a lulu of a battle. Big Spring, by the way, is rated 59th among Texas Class AAAA schools by the Harris Rating System. The same handicapper picks Lamesa No. 26 in his AAA listings while Snyder occupies the ninth spot. Tops by classification in Harris' poll are Garland in AAA, Ballinger in AA, George West in A and Pflugerville in B. Why do the pro football people put more of a premium on playing in a "name" city than they do in crowds? One AFL game drew less than 9,000 paid in Las Vegas recently, another in Fort Worth less than 12,000. Either of those contests would have done much better in Odessa, Abilene, Lubbock or Amarillo.

DRIVE SAFELY

- OBEY ALL THE TRAFFIC SIGNS!
- DRIVERS KILL MORE CHILDREN THAN ALL MAJOR DISEASES!

Fall, and another School Year brings increased traffic activity. A child may be thoughtless and irresponsible, that's why Safety should be made a prime concern, especially in and about school zones . . . So, "Always Alert" should and must be your motto to assure that child's safety. School yourself to be a safe driver . . . start today, tomorrow could be a sad TOO LATE!

ROUTE OF THE ALL-TEXAS AIR TOUR

Big Spring to be first overnight stop; triangles are other overnights, and circles are day stops

Few Flights Reported At County Field

By M. A. WEBB

There has been light activity around Howard County Airport this week. Comparatively few flights have been made by flying club members and no notable long-distance flights by individuals or families were listed.

Jack Lewis, local automobile dealer, now has his private license. He completed his examinations and took his test flight this week. Two or three more will soon take exams for their private licenses and others are coming along. By the end of 1964, another half dozen should be able to pilot their own aircraft.

Remember the big bunch of pilots and private airplanes coming into Big Spring for the night of Oct. 3, when the All-Texas Air Tour flight sets down at Howard County Airport. Some sort of entertainment will be announced later for pilots and passengers of between 50 and 75 airplanes. The week's tour will take the flyers over most of Texas, and each time the annual route is laid out, new areas are visited.

Big Spring Flying Club members up in the Skyhawk during the week were: Weaver (2), Joe Clark, Bob Brock, Simmons (cross country and 2), Charles Neefe (three-day cross country and 1). The Club's Colt is undergoing a major overhaul.

Webb Aero Club members flew in three airplanes during the week. Up were: Colt-Whitlock (2), Maxon, Casey (3), Lambert, Cessa 150-Barrington (4), Maxon (Mooney-Spence (2 and cross country), Williams, Howard County Flying Club members using the Colt were: Green (4), D. Long (5), Weaver (2), McClure (cross country).

Believe it or not the Rotary Club of Port Isabel, the only club in the United States that meets on Saturday, must have a lot of flying enthusiasts. It is

"The Livin' Is Easy"

A SUMMER PLACE is just inside the garden gate at 504 Dallas, the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Orenbaun. Here, sheltered in shadows, old friends may reminisce and new neighbors get acquainted while coffee perks in the pot. Mrs. Paul Kasch, left, dropped by to visit with Mrs. Orenbaun and admire the growth of a multitude of plants. A carpet of St. Augustine grass fits snugly against the cement squares that form the patio. The metal tables and chairs are used for informal dining against a background of geraniums, caladium, bougainvillea, hibiscus, pink cannas, roses and daisies.

VIRGINIA CREEPER twines about fences and trees to form a lush background of greenness when Roy Rogan entertains friends on the patio at 1313 Lincoln. During the day, tall American elms provide an umbrella of shade, and there is a fountain where birds may drink. After dark, the splashing water is illuminated by colored lights, and the blue bulb in the antique lamp gives the illusion of moonlight. Coral and blue has been used in the cemented areas where new growth is forming a border of phlox and carnations, and good talk flows freely to the soft strains of music that wafts from a concealed speaker.

THE NEXT BEST THING to a real flower is a beautiful imitation. Taking wind and weather into consideration, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, 1506 Johnson, have used their imagination and artificial blossoms and greenery in decorating their patio. There is even a tiny plastic duck and lily pads to make the bird bath more inviting and a gazing globe for the cat to be puzzled by. Centering a ledge on the rock and shingle wall is a dried cactus limb, its hollows filled with bright flowers and foliage.

THE WATER IS COOL but the colors are warm on the patio and in the backyard of the new home of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Lurting, No. 3 Highland Cove. The kidney-shaped pool is encircled with a terrace of exposed aggregate cement with redwood dividers and enclosed with a redwood fence. Lime-washed brick forming a retaining wall matches that used for the home, and a growth of grass is covering the upper level. There is a live oak tree, and a young pecan will be reflected in the shallow end of the pool where a Mexican surface sparkles, in shades of yellow and orange. Resting with the Lurtings at the redwood table is the family pet, "Happy", while Pam relaxes on the diving board.

YOU CAN TAKE your choice of sun or shade in the outdoor living area at the A. K. Guthrie residence, 1313 W. 16th. Patio furniture on wheels make it simple to follow the sun as the hour grows later. Here Mr. and Mrs.

Guthrie enjoy late summer sunshine while they chat with the children, Kim, left, scratches Flintstone's ears as she and Will get a demonstration of real hobby horsemanship from young Kate.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1964

WEBB WINDSOCK

By SALLY HUDSON
The Thrift Shop has been closed this week in order to move to its new location in Bldg. 200, located immediately east of the library and the Clothing Sales Store.

On Wednesday the Thrift Shop will reopen in the new location and begin the stock reduction sale. The sale will be Sept. 9 and Sept. 11. On these two days the hours of operation will be from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. Prices will be reduced as much as possible, and no new items will be received on contract on these two sale days. Beginning Sept. 16, fall and winter items will be received, and no new summer clothing will be accepted.

Visiting from Los Angeles, Calif., are Mrs. Elmer Sedin and her daughter, Vicki. They are visiting Mrs. Sedin's son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. G. W. Green. They plan to visit for a week and will take a trip to Carlsbad Caverns while here.

ORIENTATION

All wives are urged to attend the Family Services Orientation to be held Sept. 18 at 8:30 a.m. at the Service Club. The nursery will be free for all who attend, but there will be a charge for your child's meal. Meals for the wives will also be paid by each individual. Those having children under three months in age may bring the child to the meeting, and facilities will be available for their care at the Service Club. If you have never attended one of these orientations it is worth your time. Any time you have to give as a volunteer would be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. F. L. Sneed Sr., Mrs. F. L. Sneed Jr. and Jody Sneed have been recent guests of Lt. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson. The Sneeds are from Seminole, Tex.

Knitting classes will begin Sept. 14 at 1 p.m. in the Officers' Open Mess. Those who have had no previous experience in knitting may want to purchase or use some practice yarn to develop a uniform stitch before starting their garment. It is not necessary to bring anything with you to the first lesson.

Duplicate bridge lessons will be held for three consecutive Tuesday mornings beginning Sept. 22, at 9:30 a.m. in the Officers' Open Mess. You do not need to be expert in bridge, these are just lessons in duplicate. The instructor will be Mrs. Ron Kibbler.

Sewing classes for beginners will begin in October if sufficient interest is shown. To indicate your interest call Mrs. James Kiehl, AM 3-4344.

USED CLOTHING

If you have any used clothing please contact Mrs. Glen Lingenfelter or Mrs. Robert Pedigo. This clothing will be used by patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. Any clothing from child size 10 up is acceptable and would be greatly appreciated. These pieces must be wearable.

Monthly bridge will be on Sept. 17 at 1:30 p.m. in the Fireplace Room in the Officers' Open Mess. Bring your own partner and be on time to win a 500 point bonus. For information call Mrs. Kenneth Monroe, AM 3-6185.

Lt. and Mrs. George Mitchell have had several guests recently. Lt. Mitchell's mother and brother, Mrs. J. D. Mitchell and Johnny, were here from Stillwell, Okla. From Albuquerque, N.M., were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mitchell Jr. and sons who were visiting last weekend.

MRS. CHARLES FRANKLIN RICE

Residence In Hawaii Planned By Rices

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin Rice will reside in Honolulu, Hawaii, where the bridegroom is stationed as a flight engineer with the U.S. Navy. The bride is the former Barbara Nell Clarkston. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Clarkston, Nederland, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice, 1739 Purdue.

The bride wore a white antique satin gown created with a bell skirt, rounded neckline and brief sleeves. It was adorned with appliques of lace enriched with sequins and seed pearls. The chapel train, embellished with lace appliques, fell from a waistline bow. Her tulle veil was caught by a band of white satin and lilies of the valley designed with a front cluster of satin leaves. She wore a gold watch which was given to her maternal great-grandmother by her great-grandfather as a wedding gift 67 years ago. With her bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis centered with a white orchid, she carried a white satin Bible, a gift from her paternal grandmother.

The maid of honor, Miss Kay Clarkston, sister of the bride, was attired in a formal gown of copen blue peau de soie designed with a blue chiffon panel flowing from the shoulders. Frocks of matching peau de soie styled with blue chiffon overskirts were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Terry Macklin, Miss Luray Biffar and Miss Phoebe Ann Rice, the bridegroom's sister, all of Big Spring. Matching hats completed their attire and each carried a long-stemmed blue carnation. The flower girl, Vicki Lee Bidwell, Dallas, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a white peau de soie frock and carried a single white carnation.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Gary Caffee, Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom; James Fuller, Shreveport, La., cousin of the bride; and Ronnie Bidwell, Dallas, cousin of the bridegroom, served as groomsmen, ushers and candlelighters.

The reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's bouquet, flanked by white tapers in silver holders, formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table which was laid with white lace over blue satin.

Mrs. F. M. Fuller, Shreveport, La., aunt of the bride, served the three-tiered cake which was decorated with blue roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Another aunt, Mrs. Bob Bell, Blooming Grove, presided at the punch service, and Miss Lucy Clubb, Hampshire, was at the guest book. Mrs. Jack Bidwell, Dallas, the bridegroom's aunt, and Miss Marilyn Fraser were in the house party.

For traveling, Mrs. Rice changed into a two-piece blue frock which she wore with black accessories. A white orchid was her corsage.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice were hosts Friday evening for the rehearsal dinner held at the Wayside Inn in Bridge City.

The table was centered with an arrangement of blue and white chrysanthemums. The bridal couple presented their attendants with gifts, and the hosts gave the bride and bridegroom the book, "Leaves of Gold."

BREAKFAST
Mrs. F. M. Fuller was hostess at a brunch Saturday morning honoring her niece, Barbara Nell Clarkston, and her bridal attendants.

The affair was held in the Driftwood Restaurant where the table was laid with white linen and centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums. Pink roses marked the guest's places.

Tourists Greeted By Pretty Girls
MONTE CARLO—There have never been customs officials to inspect the baggage of foreign visitors arriving in Monaco, and now the welcome is becoming even friendlier.

Hostesses in folk costumes are being placed at the railroad station and the borders of the tiny principality to give gifts to arriving tourists and to offer them whatever help they require.

The government decided quickly that girls give a friendlier look than men.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

When I was younger there was a lot I didn't know about football; I knew a little more about football players. At least, it seemed clear that if they wanted to spend their time with me discussing sports — somebody had dropped the ball already.

Not so now. My best beau expects me to know the difference between a pass and a punt. Like every other mama of an embryo all-American, I am taking a cram course and am irritatingly anxious to display my newfound knowledge.

It isn't easy to work into casual conversation.

Ladies, I realize that you know how long a football field is—but do you know its width? I do, she said smugly. I know, too, that the first game between two colleges in the United States was played in 1869. I've known this for several days and would have appreciated someone asking me about it. Is there one among you who would like to know WHICH colleges?

My late afternoons are spent watching the junior high players work out.

At 5:30, it's hot. Coaches occasionally use a forearm to brush sweat from their face as they slap a backside and roar, "Let's MOVE!" Soon players are grateful for the breeze that cools their soaked jerseys. They're Mavericks, all right, but when the sun shines on those determined faces and shiny helmets — they're ten feet tall and the "Golden Boys of Goloid."

It's a good time to catch up on the news while the boys are showering. The Carleton Chapmans get to visit with their nephew, Jim Finch, who was in town Friday, the Robert Adkins are anxious for a rain so they can locate a leak in the roof, and the C. M. Wrights were planning a last summer fling this weekend. Others who have boys to pick up are the Jack Gulleys, the James Underwoods, the Charles Neefes and the Al Mitches.

Chaplain and Mrs. B. F. Meacham are back from Gap Mills, W. Va., where she played the organ while he officiated at the wedding of their niece, Rosemary Wiley, and Freddie Padgett. Millie was lunching the other day with some of the local school teachers who looked refreshed and ready for another year. Noticed Mrs. R. C. Anderson, Mrs. Arlis Yater, Mrs. Carl Bradley and Miss Sally Baber, before my attention was drawn to R. L. Beale who came in with some live wires from Texas Electric.

About the time everybody else is winding up vacations, Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt and Miss Wilrena Richbourg are just beginning theirs. They've left New Orleans on the Delta Line's "Del Mar" and I'm sick with envy. They'll be sending friends postcards from such places as Barbados, Curacao, Brazil, Argentina, etc., and won't dock back in the States until Oct. 15.

I didn't know Ed Fisher had been working on his master's degree until he told me the other day that he was a sandbox student — covers up what he doesn't know and digs for the rest.

Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Goulding are reporting a good trip to California. In Los Angeles, Calif., they joined their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hughes, and the four toured the area's tourist attractions and saw San Diego. They tried to visit all the missions along the way including Mission Capistrano. (No swallows—just pigeons.)

Seems too soon but the Ed Corson family has just helped the twins, Charles and Cathryn, celebrate their first birthday. That reminds me, someone said Mrs.

LEGION WILL NOT MEET

The American Legion Auxiliary will not meet Monday evening but will hold their regular coffee and game party at the Veterans' Administration Hospital Tuesday. The next regular session is set for Sept. 21 at the Legion Hut.

Robert O'Day was doing a mural for the nursery at Webb and there was a birthday celebration out in that end of town, too. The honoree was Lt. Col. Michael W. Shareck Jr. who was surprised with a party hosted by members of the 331st PIS and their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Steen thought that one of the nicest things about their visit in Hawaii with their son, Airman I.C. John M. Steen, and his family was his being chosen Airman of the Month while they were there. Formerly at Webb, he is now at Hickam AFB. Also, they got to be with the grandchildren, Christi, Jim and Gary.

And aren't the W. L. (Squeaky) Thompsons lucky to have their son and pretty daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson right here at Webb?

Wonder if Mrs. J. O. Newsum got off on that trip to Dallas? She was going to visit her sister, Mrs. Roy Chapman, then maybe go to Hot Springs, Ark., but was undecided when we talked at the beauty shop. (I had stopped in, as the city editor suggested, for an estimate.)

While chatting with my friend, Mrs. V. T. Anderson, the other day, she mentioned that people think youngsters are going to the dogs.

Perfect example of following in their parent's footsteps, wouldn't you say?

A&M Club Sets Date

The initial meeting of the executive board of the Federation of Texas A&M University Mothers' Clubs for the year 1964-65 will be held Sept. 12 at 9:30 a.m. in the Birch Room of the Memorial Student Center on the campus of Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

Mrs. Lee Porter, president of the Howard County A&M Mothers' Club is expected to attend the meeting.

Mrs. H. Elbert Dew of Tyler, president of the Federation of Texas A&M University Mothers' Clubs will preside. The club projects for the year as well as other business will be adopted at this time.

A "get-acquainted coffee" will be served in the Birch Room Saturday at 9:00 a.m. preceding the executive meeting.

This will initiate the 36th year for the service organization which was started to "contribute in every way to the comfort and welfare of the students and to cooperate with the faculty of the college in maintaining a high standard of moral conduct and intellectual attainment."

MRS. LAWRENCE JOHN HOWELL

Miss Jo Knightstep Marries L. J. Howell

The wedding of Miss Jo Nell Knightstep and Lawrence John Howell was solemnized in the Stadium Baptist Church Saturday at 8 p.m. The Rev. J. W. Arnett performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Knightstep, 1317 Wood, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Howell, 4707 Round-Up Trail, Austin.

The bride's father accompanied her to the flower decked altar. Baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked a candelabrum that centered the setting, and satin ribbons and bows accented the altar rail.

Mrs. W. R. Whitaker sang "Whither Thou Goest" and was accompanied at the piano by Miss Lana Shurtliff. Following the ceremony, she sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The bridal gown of white slipper satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice and long petal point sleeves. Appliques of seed pearls and sequins accented the Sabrina neckline and the center panel of the floor-length veil skirt. The shoulder-length full was attached to a crystal and pearl tiara, and the bride carried a bouquet of white and yellow roses atop a white Bible.

The feminine attendants were Mrs. John C. Reed, Waco, who served her cousin as matron of honor; Mrs. Kenneth Howell, San Angelo, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; and Miss Lynda Sue Howell, Austin, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore identical frocks of yellow cotton styled in a sheath design and carried a long stemmed yellow rose. Kenneth Howell, San Angelo, attended his brother as best man, and groomsmen were Don Knightstep, brother of the bride, and Roy Howell, Stanton, cousin of the bridegroom. The ushers were Preston Davis and Carl Howell, Stanton, both cousins of the bridegroom.

Rene Howell, San Angelo, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was attired in a two-piece beige wool suit and dark brown accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will make their home in Austin where he is employed by the city as an electrician. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of Future Homemakers of America. Also, she was active in the Young Women's Association at Stadium Baptist Church. The bridegroom is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin High School.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony and guests were received by the bridal couple, the parents and the feminine attendants. The house party members were Mrs. Preston Davis, Miss Joyce Davidson and Miss Carlene Hammack, who was in charge of the register. Guests were served at a table covered with a white lace cloth over yellow and decorated with the bride's bouquet. A three-tiered bridal cake was adorned with yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal appointments were used. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Knightstep, Abilene; the Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Knightstep, Sanger; John C. Reed, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Howell and Roy Howell.

The Heirloom Look...with the Fire and Flair of Sunny Spain...

Monterey by Thomasville

Spanish at its colorful best, intermingled with the friendly warmth of Early American... this is Monterey, perfect choice for a master bedroom. The latticework headboard and massive squared off bed posts could have come from the chambers of a long-ago Spanish don. Rich overlays and framed panels give an opulent look to fronts of dresser, chest-on-chest and armoire. All pieces complement each other without really matching, all look as if they had been lovingly bequeathed by affluent ancestors. Bring your husband to see Monterey... he'll like its ruggedly handsome look. And don't forget to investigate Monterey's practical assortment of drawers, shelves and trays... storage to delight you both! From a varied collection, in Vintage pecan, for living, dining and bedroom.

One Of The Most Exciting Spanish Groups... Monterey!

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Never a week passes that we don't learn something, thank goodness, but this week has brought forth something that hadn't really given much thought to. It all comes about by our youngest entering the seventh grade. I have learned that although I had put the Babylonians back in my ancient history bracket, it now appears they are important in Modern Math with which the seventh graders (and their parents are now battling. The Romans and the Egyptians also figure in this new conception of teaching. I think when I get time I fully intend to work at this a little and see if the Greeks have a word for this too.

Taking time off for the Labor Day holiday are a group of friends who enjoy each other's company and a good game of dominoes or 42. They are MR. and MRS. T. H. MCCANN, MR. and MRS. J. O. HAGOOD, MR. and MRS. MERRILL CREIGHTON, MR. and MRS. BLEDSOE O'BRIEN, MR. and MRS. LONNIE COKER, MR. and MRS. BILLY SMITH, MISS SHARON CREIGHTON and her two roommates from Dallas. The party is in Ruidoso, N.M. where they have been since Friday. They expect to return here late Monday.

When the ROY REEDERS were in Ruidoso last week they were delighted with the cool days, seldom over 75 degrees and the brisk nights.

The MISSES LILLIAN and WINNIE DELL RHOTAN were delighted to hear that their niece, SHARON LOUISE HAMILTON, had been chosen first runner-up to the queen at the Dublin Free Fall Fair. The young lady is the daughter of MR. and MRS. PAUL HAMILTON and is a senior student in Dublin High School where she is a majorette with the band and is on the annual staff. The queen, Sandra Hickey, and Sharon were in competition with 13 other junior and senior girls. The winners with their mothers and escorts will be honored with a weekend at Western Hills in Fort Worth any weekend they so choose.

JIMMIE SIMMONS, son of MRS. ETHEL SIMMONS, was graduated with a BBA degree from Baylor University at the end of the summer term. The graduate is the husband of the former LINDA WOODALL, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodall.

There's much happiness in the home of MR. and MRS. ELLIOT TAYLOR of Lubbock. They have a son, PHILIP NEIL, who was born Aug. 23 and came to make his home with them on Aug. 27.

MRS. Y. C. GRAY, mother of Mrs. Taylor, returned Thursday from Lubbock after spending a week with the new parents. Mrs. Taylor is the former Helen Claire Gray.

Altrusa Club members received their yearbooks earlier this year than at any other time in the organization's history. They were distributed Aug. 27 when the weekly meeting was a patio party at the home of Mrs. G. T. Orenbaum. The club has high hopes for the book that was compiled by Mrs. Alma Gollnick, Mrs. W. H. Kay and Mrs. Kay Thornton. It will be entered in the district contest for yearbooks at Corpus Christi and if it should win it will be placed in competition next year at the International contest in Dallas.

Friends of DR. and MRS. ARON CARSON are looking for cards or letters any day from the two who are in Europe on a leisurely six weeks tour. They left Chicago on Aug. 27 and flew directly to London. Their plans include seeing the Shakespeare country and taking in the anniversary festival.

When SGT. RAYMOND J. WOLVERTON, US Army Recruiting officer, celebrated his 18th wedding anniversary last week he also did the military a good service by re-enlisting for another six years.

The RAY EBLINGS will be in Midland today to meet his sister, MRS. EUGENIA HOLMES.

Homecoming Held In Lamesa Park

KNOTT (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mack Gaskins and children, Kelly, Kala and Martin, attended the Sparenberg homecoming celebration held recently in Forest Park, Lamesa. Mr. and Mrs. Wes Nichols, Lamesa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jeffcoat Thursday. B. F. Airhart is receiving medical treatment in Cowper Clinic and Hospital in Big Spring. Mrs. C. G. Ditto, Lomax, was a recent guest of Mrs. Jewell Smith.

Luncheon For Class

The Susanna Wesley Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church met Friday in Fellowship Hall for a luncheon and business meeting. The Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, district superintendent, gave the devotion on the different corners turned in a lifetime.

Dr. H. Clyde Smith worded the invocation, and Mrs. W. E. Moren presided at the business session.

Refreshments were served at a U-shaped table decked with bouquets of zinnias. Mrs. A. C. Bass and her group were in charge of the luncheon and served 37 members and guests. The visitors were Rev. and Mrs. Hamilton, Rev. and Mrs. Marvin James, Dr. Smith, and Mrs. Wade Bledsoe.

COSDEN CHATTER Cosdenites End Vacations

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown and sons are returning his mother, Mrs. Mary Brown, to her home in Houston this weekend. Also, they will visit his brother and family, the L. C. Browns. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sandridge are attending a family reunion in Dallas this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Horne departed Thursday for Texas A&M, where he will enter the school of Veterinary Medicine. They were accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Halbrook. Don Alexander, son of the Jack Alexanders, will return Monday to New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, N.M., where he will be a sophomore. His parents will accompany him. The Fred Simpsons had as guests last week her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Conley of Washington, D.C., who are now stationed in El Paso. The Conleys had just returned from points East, having visited relatives in Washington, D.C. and Maryland. James Darrell Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Phillips, came home Tuesday for a 30-day leave from the Navy. Since January, 1962, his home base has been in Japan, and this is his first trip back to Big Spring. Kay Harris of Houston, who has been here visiting her sister and family, the O. L. Bradfords, is returning to Waco where she will be a senior at Baylor University. Sympathy is extended to the Winston Harper family in the loss of his mother, Mrs. W. D. Harper, of Gorman. Mrs. Harper died Monday night after a long illness. Services were held Wednesday in Gorman. Sympathy is also expressed to Bill McClendon and his family. His grandmother, Mrs. F. L. McClendon, died Monday at the age of 90. The funeral was conducted Thursday at Octavia, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parker and Mike are visiting relatives in Fort Worth and Greenville this weekend, and planned a tour through Six Flags over Texas. They were accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Tucker. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Irwin and Gary are in Stephenville for the weekend with her brother, Wil-

Women Plan Style Show

"Fall Festival of Fashion" will be presented by Hemphill-Wells Company when Big Spring Catholic women host the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women convention Tuesday and Wednesday.

The style show, narrated by Mrs. Dean Forrest, will be presented during a luncheon Wednesday in the Settles Hotel ballroom. Featured will be pretty fashions for West Texas living.

Models will be Mrs. Harry Jordan, Mrs. Jim Lewis, Mrs. Douglas Hattenbach, Mrs. E. J. Engle, Mrs. Frank Loftus, Mrs. Carl Marcum, Mrs. Eugene Sieja, Mrs. Samuel Fields, Mrs. V. O. Wade, Yolanda Torres, Pam Gingold, Laurie Gingold, Sandra Sieja and Jane Heise.

The convention will begin with the serving of coffee during registration Tuesday from 9 to 10 a.m.

The theme, "Personal, Family, Community and World Lay Apostolate" will be developed in four workshops. Two will be held Tuesday morning and two offered that afternoon with all four being repeated Wednesday for those who could not be present.

The workshops will be given in English and Spanish simultaneously.

There will be a luncheon Tuesday with a musical program. The opening session will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. featuring the keynote speaker, Sister Mary M. Fideles, C.D.P., who is the supervisor for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of the San Antonio diocese and a professor at Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio.

A mass will be officiated by the Most Rev. Thomas J. Drury, bishop of the San Angelo diocese, at 4:45 p.m. There will be a reception honoring the banquet speaker, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Roy Rihn at 6:30 p.m., followed by the banquet at 7:30 p.m. A social hour will follow the banquet.

The Wednesday session will begin with Mass at 7:30 a.m. and a repeat of the workshops.

The feature of the day will be the style show, and in the afternoon, there will be a repeat of Tuesday's afternoon workshops with a summary given by Bishop Drury.

All Catholic women of the Wedding Rites Held Saturday

Miss Sandra Ann Pope, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Andrews, 310 Austin, Saturday became the bride of Jerry R. Pike, son of J. R. Pike and the late Mrs. Pike, Sand Springs. The wedding was held in the Sand Springs Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar accented with baskets of white gladioli. Mrs. Francis Hudson played traditional wedding music. The bride's gown of white satin overlaid with Chantilly lace was styled with a waltz length skirt and a fitted bodice. The scalloped neckline was adorned with lace and long petal point sleeves completed the costume. She wore a shoulder-length veil and a beaded tiara.

Miss Judy Dunlap was maid of honor and wore a pink frock and a feathered chrysanthemum corsage. Loy Pike served as best man.

For travel the bride wore a beige knit suit. The couple will make their home in Dallas. She attended Big Spring High School, and he was a Forsan High School student.

A reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's father where guests were served at a refreshment table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom. House party members were Miss Donna White, Miss Alice Dorries, Mrs. Jim Bob Roberts and Mrs. Foy Dunlap. Miss Jackie Nelson had charge of the guest register. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Estelle Nickles, Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Nelson of Borden County.

CALL FOR LUNCHEON

Reservations for the Kiwanis-Queens luncheon Sept. 10 must be made by 12 o'clock noon Sept. 9 with Mrs. Clyde Hollingsworth, AM 3-1167. The luncheon is scheduled at the Holiday Inn.

Nick Travels Far To Have Education Opportunity Here

By JO BRIGHT

When the first few notes of "Exodus" or the sad melody of "Warsaw Concerto" are recognized above the lunch hour din at Goliad Junior High School, the babble dies down.

Someone shouts, "It's Nick!" and the band hall and choir room are soon crowded with hushed students who appreciate music and respect the talent of their new classmate, Nick Androvitch. Quiet, and a little shy, he warms to their requests and may respond with a lively composition of his own.

Nick will be 15 years old Dec. 9 and has neither parents nor relatives in this country. Born in Istanbul, Ankara, Turkey, he is the son of Jack and Simone Androvitch, who still reside there, and the ward of Chaplain Thomas D. Holland, a Catholic priest stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

Chaplain Holland met the Androvitch family less than two years ago when he was covering over 8,000 miles as a site chaplain in the Middle East. Androvitch had been, at one time, a concert violinist but was then employed by the Portuguese Embassy and they were introduced by mutual friends at the Italian Embassy.

Besides the parents and Nick, there was a daughter, Olga, who is now a United States citizen and married to a Texan, Airman Donald Midkiff of Dallas. They are now at his station in Michigan but will be returning to Turkey in the near future.

IMPRESSED

"I recognized Nick's scholastic talent and was impressed when I realized how much his parents wanted him to have the opportunity to study in this country," said Chaplain Holland. "I decided to sponsor his stay here and don't know of any two more grateful people than his parents."

Nick speaks five languages, Italian, Spanish, French, Turkish, English and Greek. However, Chaplain Holland said that is not unusual for students in that area of the world. Of course, he is used to a different school system and grading practices and will have to do some adjusting and take more tests before being sure that he is properly placed here.

In noting differences, Nick said that in Turkey the students have a physical education period every day, without fail, whether in unbearable heat or freezing cold. It was always outside so there was considerable sickness as a result.

Their home life was different. There is no TV, for one thing, so spare time is spent more in family activities. Music is a common meeting ground and many of the young people learn to play instruments. Nick's piano lessons have dealt with classical music but he has taught himself to play the bouncer type things that all teenagers enjoy.

Chaplain Holland and Nick arrived here Aug. 24 and will make their home at 38-B Chamute. Chaplain Holland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Holland, will arrive soon from Iowa and plan to make their home with him.

too, at least during the winter months.

MAY CAN STAY

Nick's visa is for four years and it is probable that it will be extended as long as he is in school. He is concentrating on a well-rounded basic education and is unsure yet about his future profession. While Nick is studying here, Chaplain Holland is held responsible for him financially as well as guiding his educational, spiritual and moral growth.

Chaplain Holland is a stern disciplinarian and feels his responsibility strongly.

"While Nick is away from his parents, I hope to show him charity, kindness and understanding," said Chaplain Holland.

With ability and ambition—that may be all he'll need.

Flower Art, Novelties Shown In Meetings

Home Demonstration Clubs that met this week had guests, speakers on their program schedules. They were given tips on flower arranging and the making of novelty items.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

Mrs. Boyce Hale, 4102 Dixon, was hostess to the College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday. Mrs. Paul Bruns was named president when the new official slate was selected.

Other officers were Mrs. Conard Miller, vice president; Mrs. Nelson Ball, secretary; Mrs. Hale, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Bodin, council representative; and Mrs. John Birdwell, parliamentarian.

Mrs. W. D. Caldwell was guest speaker at the session and spoke on dried arrangements. She detailed the different materials that could be used in this flower art, and demonstrated her program with three arrangements she had designed.

Refreshments were served to eleven members and five guests. The table was covered with a brown linen cloth and accented with an arrangement of yellow cannas grouped in a pottery bowl. Miniature ceramic chickens completed the centerpiece. Brown pottery appointments were used.

Guests were the speaker, Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. Bob Read, Mrs. Roy Lynn and Mrs. Ronald Hansen. Mrs. W. E. Holman was welcomed as a new member.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Leonard Blank, 195 West 24th, Sept. 15th.

AIRPORT CLUB

Mrs. J. W. Trantham gave a demonstration of dried flower arrangements to members of the Airport Home Demonstration Club when the group met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. A. N. Standard Jr., 504 E. 15th.

Officers were named for the coming year. Mrs. Omar Decker was named president, Mrs. R. B. Covington Sr. will serve as vice president, and Mrs. E. A. Jones is secretary and treasurer.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Mikolajczyk, Mrs. Dan Gorman, Mrs. H. D. Brown, and the guest speaker. Fifteen members attended, and Mrs. Raymond Key won the special prize. The next meeting will be Sept. 15 in the home of Mrs. Henry Tubbs, 601 State.

ELBOW CLUB

A demonstration on novelties made from nylon net, coffee cans and pecans was given by Mrs. J. F. Skalicky at the meeting of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club this week. Mrs. Hugh Clark, Elbow, served as hostess.

A meeting date change was made and the group will convene at 9:30 a.m. on the first and third Thursday of each month. Mrs. Ray Shortes was in charge of the business session. Thirteen members attended.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Mrs. Frank Wilson outlined four points in flower arranging when she spoke of dried arrangements at the Tuesday meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club. She noted design, scale, balance and harmony were needed in this flower art and demonstrated the program with several examples. Mrs. W. H. Ward Sr., Rt. 1, was hostess.

New officers elected at the session were Mrs. W. C. Robinson, president; Mrs. H. S. Hanson, vice president; Mrs. Shirley Fryar, secretary; Mrs.

Chaplain Gives Talk For Guild

The St. Ann Guild of Webb met Friday for mass and communion at 9 a.m., and held their regular business session in the Chapel annex at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. T. D. Holland, newly assigned chaplain at Webb Air Force Base, spoke to the group on spiritual growth and the forthcoming activities of the parishioners.

Mrs. H. Hopkins, vice president, presided at the session when the official name of the group was changed from Catholic Ladies Sodality to the new title. New members were welcomed. They are Mrs. M. Macurek, Mrs. M. Diaz and Mrs. J. Brown. Mrs. R. Encinas gave a spiritual reading.

Mrs. F. Loftus asked all Catholic women to attend the National Council of Catholic Women scheduled Sept. 8-9 in the Settles Hotel.

Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Loftus served refreshments to the group.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 4.

MRS. BEN J. JOHNSON

Pledge Vows In Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday by Miss Eva Angeline Madrid and Ben J. Johnson in St. Joseph Church in Stanton. The Rev. John Pierce performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madrid, Stanton, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Guthrie, Okla. Traditional wedding music was played on the organ by Mrs. Edmund Tom and Mrs. Glenn L. Brown sang "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of bridal satin styled with a fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. Highlighting the semi-belted skirt and cummerbund were floral motifs of seed pearls, and a chapel train was attached at the waist with a bouffant drape. She wore a caplet of pearlized orange blossoms and an elbow-length veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet of white roses was arranged in a cascade with streamers of picot ribbon, and she carried a white Bible. Miss Rosa Madrid served her sister as maid of honor, and Miss Hilda Levario and Miss Alice Vigil, both of Kermit, were bridesmaids. Marta Padilla, Gloria Arguello and Christine Barron were flower girls.

Marvin Ellis, Kingfisher, Okla., was best man, and groomsmen were Don Wanjura, Lubbock, and Frank Madrid, brother of the bride. Tom Aresta, Big Spring, and Owen Cotton, Plainview, were ushers. The rings were presented at the altar by the bride's brother, Carlos Madrid.

For a wedding trip to Mexico, the bride wore a pink silk suit and white accessories. The couple will make their home in Lubbock at 2118 6th St. She is a graduate of Midland High School and a senior student at Texas Tech. He is employed with Dun and Bradstreet and a graduate of Oklahoma State University, Stillwater.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony where guests were received by the wedding party. The refreshment table was adorned with a four-tiered wedding cake.

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN SPENCER JR.

Community Activities Intrigue Newcomers

By MARY COCHRAN
A quick entry into community affairs has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Spencer Jr. since they moved here from Snyder a few weeks ago. She plunged into theater work and took part in the recent melodrama presented by the Little Theatre of Big Spring, and he hung his hat at a new law office in the Elmo Wasson building where he is in private practice.

With the opening of school, she began teaching at Runnels Junior High School. This will be quite a contrast to her last teaching position in 1963 in the Spanish Harlem section of New York. When she reads the current news on the riots occurring in that sector she has a deeper understanding of the situation than most West Texans.

"It takes dedicated teachers to remain in those 'Blackboard Jungle' schools," she said. "There were uniformed policemen on duty at all times in the halls, and one of my major jobs was simply to keep the students in the classroom. They were not interested in an education but to find an area of interest for the free lunch."

"The level of education of my junior high pupils was so far below the normal it was difficult to find an area of interest for them," she said. Knifings were not uncommon in the classrooms and one of the physical education instructors had to fight for his life in the gymnasium one day.

OFTEN DISCOURAGED
"I was ready to give up in defeat many times but always returned to the classroom after a bit of encouragement from the older teachers who have coped with these underprivileged youngsters for many years. One taught by force of will," she said.

A background of education is predominant in the Spencer household. He is the son of an educator and spent his early years as a 'faculty brat' at Sul Ross College where his father served as dean of the college. Her grandfather founded the Texas Military Institute and the San Antonio Academy in her native city of San Antonio.

She is a graduate of Sophie Newcomb College of Tulane University in New Orleans and received her BA degree in theater with a minor in English. She did post graduate work at Trinity University in San Antonio and had pursued several career fields prior to her marriage in December of 1963.

One of the more colorful jobs was with the welfare department in Louisiana where she worked in the French Bayou country despite the fact she was not able to speak the language of the majority of her case families.

While in New York she did some acting and directing for a semi-professional theater group and in direct contrast to her regular fields, worked in a brokerage house for a year and a half.

Spencer received his law degree at the University of Texas and has a minor in anthropology and psychology. While in Houston with a lumber firm where he worked with oil, gas and land leases, he maintained a private law practice. He spent three years in practice in Snyder and moved to Big Spring in the summer.

When time permits, he is working toward a pilot's license but finds that too many duties interfere with a heavy pursuit of this special interest.

FASCINATING WORK
"Every day is a new world in the field of law," he said and finds it an absorbing profession.

Leisure hours are often devoted to reading, and his favorites are in the field of adventure and mystery. He prefers foreign authors because their point of view often differs from the American breed of writers.

West Texas is familiar territory to Spencer as his grandfather was J. P. Anderson, an early day rancher in the Luther community.

The third member in the Spencer household is "Fang" a Russian Blue cat of impressive proportions. This big feline enjoys curling up on one of the antique chairs that accent the home at 602 W. 18th. Mrs. Spencer likes to refinish furniture and chooses a variety of periods for their home furnishings. She took pleasure in re-doing and antiquing furniture for her husband's law office.

With such diversified interests and an enthusiasm in community affairs, this newcomer family will have no trouble establishing themselves in Big Spring.

Gift Party Held For Bride-Elect

Miss Lana Chapman, bride-elect of Harry Lee Money Jr., was honored at a pre-nuptial shower Friday in the home of Mrs. Ira Dement, Knott.
Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Stan Harris, Mrs. E. L. Roman, Mrs. Melvin Gibbs, Mrs. V. L. Jones, Mrs. J. W. Fryer Jr., Mrs. Lonnie

Smith, Mrs. L. O. Free and Linda, Mrs. Morris Cockrell, Mrs. Lester Owen and Carolyn, Mrs. J. B. Shockley, Mrs. Anna Mae Petty, Mr. Jim Walker and Mrs. L. B. Savell.

The honoree was attired in a dress of purple and wore a gift corsage of white carnations as she received the 50 guests who called.

The refreshment table was decorated with an orchid arrangement of flowers and appointed in silver and crystal. The cloth of lavender was overlaid with white lace and the cake was accented with orchid motifs.

ONLY TWO YEARS OLD

Teri's At Home With Geography

By SAM BLACKBURN

Suppose they stood you up in front of a terrestrial globe and told you to put your finger on Viet Nam? How long would it take you to find the little dot on the orb and indicate it?

It would take Teri Therise Anderson less than three seconds. And if you asked her to spot Madagascar, the Hawaiian Islands, Laos, Cambodia, Burma or any of at least 62 other nations and states, she would pick them out just as speedily.

She might have trouble pronouncing their names. After all, Teri Therise is just three months past two years old. And little girls that young sometimes find long strange sounding words a bit hard to say.

REMARKABLE

Teri Therise is a remarkable little lady. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Midland, and the great-granddaughter of Charley Robinson, pioneer Howard County resident, has literally fallen in love with the world.

She and her mother are visiting with Mr. Robinson and Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Denia Baker, at the Robinson home on Moss Creek Road.

About three months ago, Teri found a globe which was the property of an aunt. She became captivated with the device and it became her favorite plaything.

She began to ask questions. "Where," she wanted to know, "is Texas?"

Apparently she has a photographic memory—once she has located the country or state on the map, she never forgets. Nor does she fumble when you ask her to find some country. Round goes the globe and a chubby finger unerringly is placed on the country asked for. Try to confuse her by shifting from one part of her tiny world to another and you get nowhere. Ask her to spot Borneo and then demand she show you Utah—quick as a wink the tiny finger is on the spot.

SHAPE

Nor, according to her mother, does it matter what color a map may give to a country or a state. Apparently, Teri identifies the country by its shape and not its color on a globe or a map.

"A few days ago," said Mrs. Anderson, "we were in the Midland Air Terminal. There was a big map on the wall and it immediately caught Teri's attention. 'Mama,' she said, 'there's Massachusetts.' And she pointed directly to that state."

Mrs. Anderson said the night the television carried the selection of Miss Universe, Teri was an interested observer. However, said her mother, the child was not interested in the girls or what they looked like.

"What country is she from, Mama?" Teri would demand each time a new candidate appeared on the screen. Told the country, Teri then located the nation on her globe.

"She may be able to read a little," said Mrs. Anderson. "We know that she can pick out her own name from a group of names printed on a sheet of paper."

LOCATED

Teri located without error the following countries, states and cities for the reporter:

Alaska, Canada, Greenland, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Oklahoma, California, New Mexico, Mexico, Texas, New Orleans, Massachusetts, Florida, Nicaragua, Panama, Costa Rica, Peru, Venezuela, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, the North Pole and equator, Borneo, Brazil, Africa, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Madagascar, Australia, Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, China, Russia, Afghanistan, India, Burma, Japan, Philippines, Iran, Iraq, Israel, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, New Zealand and the Hawaiian Islands.

The finger sped to Louisiana and covered the tiny type reading "New Orleans."

"And where was the baby Jesus born, Teri?"

Around spun the globe and that

Teri is going to be a delight, about four or five years from now, to her geography teacher. Meantime, she tells you that she wants "Santa to bring her a globe for Christmas."

WELCOME TEACHERS
OUR CHILDREN NEED YOU

With school days here again, we are reminded how fortunate this community is to have their dedicated services. Underpaid and usually overworked, they unselfishly devote their lives to helping our children become worthy adults.

We join others in our appreciation of their devotion to teaching. If there is any possible way we can be of assistance, please call on us. We too, in our pharmacy, are trying to help children grow up and have healthier lives.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

A Devotional For The Day

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; a good understanding have all those who practice it. (Psalms 111:10. RSV.)
PRAYER: Our eternal heavenly Father, be with us very closely every moment. Help us to practice Thy wisdom amid human suffering in daily life. In the Saviour's name we pray. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Re-Establish The Habit

Now that we are passing the Labor Day holiday season and with it closing the chapter on another summer, why not open a new chapter in church participation?

Some people make a great to do over defending God in public institutions, but they never bother to pay Him the minimum of respect in the form of worship. God can be worshipped in truth and in spirit almost anywhere and under any circumstance, but experience tells us that this rarely happens outside the confines of some congregation.

Experience also tells us that the great moral tides usually move out from the quickening of the spirit within in the church. This renewed strength may find expression in many other areas of our society, but its source invariably is the church.

And yet church participation is an individual—a personal—matter. Not every person believes in worship, nor every person desires to worship; there is no compulsion, nor should there be, to enforce conformity. Yet there ought to exist in the consciousness of those who do believe, and who profess to care, a spark of obligation. When this sense of responsibility is honored in sincere devotion, it finds its reward in greater faith, leadership and vision. In the end, it accomplishes what compulsion could never, for it is rooted in love one for the other. Nowhere is this fellowship to be found and nurtured as in our churches, and thus, for most of us, this is where we belong.

Now is a good time to re-establish the habit of church attendance if we have let it slip or lapse.

Honoring What Made Us

The Howard County Historical Survey Committee, composed of Ed Fisher, chairman, Mrs. H. C. Stipp and Mrs. Modesta Simson, has called a meeting for Thursday evening at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Purpose of this is to explore interest in preservation of our historical documents, sites, lore, pictures and other things which serve to remind us of our rich heritage.

This is a tremendously important meeting, and we hope that as many as possible will take time to be on hand if they have an interest in this field or if they appreciate the importance of preserving local history.

Big Spring has a more romantic past than most communities—a frontier background with fantastic ranch-ty tales, Indian trails and battles, buffalo slaughter, English nobleman, railroad for development of the South Plains, cradle of the oil industry in the Permian Basin, and many other epochal events.

There is much talk about tourist attraction. So much of capitalizing on history ties in with tourist development, for you need something to command the interest of the tourist in order to hold him even momentarily. From this point, exploitation of our history could be quite profitable. The overwhelming reason, however, is that we should take pride in our area and all that went into making it.

Senator Humphrey As A Liberal

WASHINGTON—Many businessmen, as they examine in detail the record of Senator Hubert Humphrey, are beginning to get worried about what kind of administration the country would face if the Minnesota senator, now a vice presidential nominee on the Democratic party ticket, some day should have to assume the presidential office.

Mr. Humphrey was the co-founder of Americans for Democratic Action, and has been its national vice chairman for many years. This organization, in the eyes of many businessmen, is just as much an "extremist" group as the John Birch Society, though the views of the two organizations are directly opposite.

THE MINNESOTA senator has lined up almost always with the union-labor side in matters of legislation. The Committee on Political Education of the AFL-CIO, which before every election issues its ratings on Republican and Democratic members of Congress, has for many years given Senator Humphrey a highly favorable rating for his position on various issues affecting labor. The organization usually lists as "right" or "wrong" those senators who, in its opinion, favor or oppose the demands of the AFL-CIO. In both of the last two Congresses, the Minnesota senator has been listed as having a 100 per cent record in behalf of labor.

THE AMERICANS for Democratic Action—which is usually on the radical side of public questions—also gave Mr. Humphrey a 100 per cent rating on selected issues in which that organization is interested.

There has been no more staunch a supporter of organized labor in Congress than Senator Humphrey. He has opposed any efforts to impose restrictions on labor unions. He has voted against all measures that would authorize injunctions against strikes or would strengthen laws against secondary boycotts.

THE SENATOR was particularly opposed to the provisions which forbade a "closed shop." He made it clear that he believed that the "closed shop"—which means compulsory unionization—should be made lawful.

On the subject of economic policy, Senator Humphrey has frequently indicated that he does not think the public-debt figures by themselves are of great importance. He continuously supports the deficit-spending theories. Also, in a speech in 1960, he said that

Billy Graham

My wife and I belong to churches of different denominations, but our children favor my church. This is causing trouble in our home, can you tell me how to settle this? J.L.

It is not my place to tell people what church to attend. In all my years of evangelism I have never urged people to join a particular denomination. The important thing is for everyone to get into a church where they can grow spiritually, and every man must determine this for himself.

In regard to your situation, this is something you must work out for yourself, as a family. It would seem under the present circumstances, that since your children seem to favor your church, that a simple solution would be for your wife to attend with the rest of the family. But, this would of course, be her decision to make. I have always said that there are only minor differences between the denominations, if they are true to their creeds, but it is a quirk of human beings to major upon minors. The things that seem small to many, appear huge to a few. If your wife is more interested in family unity than in her particular view of some minor doctrine, your problem could be easily resolved. The important thing is for all of you to show a good Christian spirit in this matter, for nothing is so incongruous as an unchristian attitude in matters that are distinctively Christian.

Soviet Planning Keeps Looking At New Systems

MOSCOW—A Prolife says: "The problem of growth is a growth of problems." An American exaggerates: "Soviet planners are beginning to feel the pinch of abundance." An Englishman says: "Too many goods are chasing reluctant rubles."

And no one has said it more poignantly than Nikita Khrushchev, himself, in his address to the Supreme Soviet in mid-July: "The time has already passed and gone when any goods could be supplied to the shops and the population would purchase them indiscriminately."

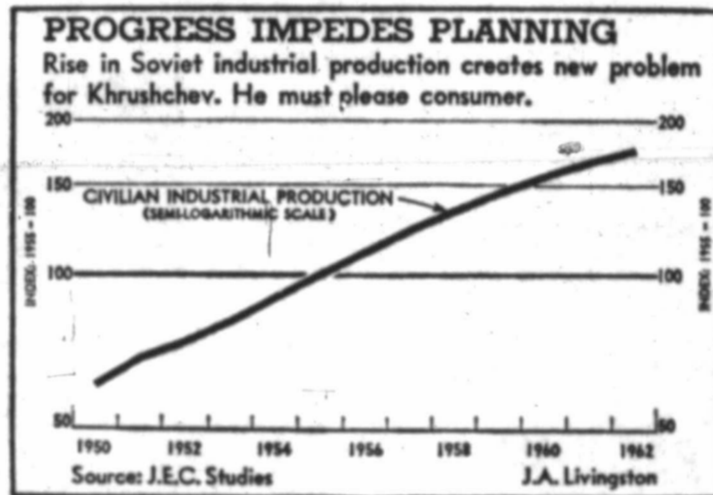

"BECAUSE formerly there was a shortage, the buyers would take anything. Strictly speaking, this was not trade but a distribution of commodities, in which the customer had no choice."

"Suppose a man was in need of a pair of trousers. If the shop could not supply his size, he would say: 'Let it be. I'll alter them at home.'"

"The situation has changed. Our industry is manufacturing more consumer goods... People are beginning to examine goods more closely... This is not whim or fault-finding. The working people wish to buy the type of footwear or clothing which is of modern style, pretty color and in fashion for the season of the year. This is a fine phenomenon."

IT IS a phenomenon which has piled up 2,500,000,000 rubles (nominally a ruble is worth $1.10) in unsold goods. Protests Khrushchev: Manufacturers must produce goods for consumption, not for the warehouses and the penitentiaries. Should factories which manufacture inferior merchandise be compelled to reimburse the retailers whose shelves are loaded with unsalable? Or, if a distributor specifically orders goods which are rejected by consumers, should he not pay a penalty?

DECLARED KHRUSHCHEV: "The fulfillment of a program should be judged not only by the gross volume of goods produced but also by the popularity of the goods, the demand for them. The time is ripe to alter the system of planning and the evaluation of the work of enterprises."

This was not the first time that profit principles had been argued in the Soviet Union. Two summers ago, a Karkov economist, Prof. V. V. Yevseyev G. Liberman, proposed that factory managers should be permitted to set their own prices and be rewarded with bonuses according to the net income of their factories. In other words, profit should be rewarded.

PROF. LIBERMAN'S ideas evoked wide comment, both in and out of the Soviet Union. But his proposals got nowhere. If the engineers and managers were free to set prices, they'd gradually work their way clear of central planning and central planners.

The profit idea wouldn't die. As if in response to Khrushchev's comments, Pravda in August devoted four and one-half columns to an article by V. A. Trapeznikof, a high-ranking Soviet engineer and academician, entitled "Toward More Flexible Direction of our Economic Enterprises." Pravda editors invited comment from scientists, engineers, plant managers, workers, planning officials—in short, everybody.

TRAPEZNIKOF repeated Khrushchev's criticism of waste and misplanning. He asserted that profit should determine bonuses and salaries, not quantity output alone. This approach was identical with the one I found in Prague among Czech planners.

Too often, wrote Trapeznikof, what suits the pocket of a plant manager will be at odds with the needs of consumers and the national economy. Producing plants will postpone changes to improve quality if this slows down output.

Trapeznikof also proposes penalties for failure to meet delivery schedules and for overproducing and overordering. He'd even charge factory and store managers for the use of capital—interest payment on the physical investment. And he'd employ variable prices as an economic lever. Firms would be permitted to charge extra for excellence—high quality.

Furthermore, by cutting down on labor and economizing on materials, they'd be able to earn greater profits and bonuses. This would reduce wastage of labor and materials.

AN ABSURDITY of the present system is the frequency with which new, high-quality goods sell for less than older stock of poor quality. The older goods, having been priced at earlier costs, stay on the shelves, hostage to change and to the inflexibility of centrally fixed prices.

The lifting of living standards and the overcoming of scarcity are tributes to the Soviet post-war struggle. Through hard, unremitting effort, production has been increased, distribution widened. During the years 1954-62, civilian industrial production doubled in the Soviet Union (see chart).

Pigment In Eyes Can Change With Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a man had lovely brown eyes when a boy, and now they're ugly or hazel, what accounts for the fading? —MRS. B. W.

A quirk of the pigment or coloring. This man started, as do all babies, with blue eyes. Then, dependent both on hereditary and racial characteristics, varying amounts of the pigment accumulated in the eyes.

Sometimes as a person grows older, the shift of pigment reverses. That is, color tends to leave the iris of the eye, leaving it a self-limited disease. It runs its itchy course and ceases even without treatment. Medication to relieve the itching is about all that can be done. Sunlight or ultraviolet seems to hasten recovery. The disease usually lasts only three or four weeks, but occasionally may persist several times that long.

Dear Dr. Molner: My X-rays were interpreted as intestinal spasm. How could that show in a picture? What is the probable cause? Is it related to a stroke? I was treated and cured. —H. L.

In the stomach, the spasm me it is not contagious. But where did I get it? About a week before, I ate some fish and then I had this rash and horrible itching. —MRS. M.A.J.

Pityriasis rosea is an inflammation of the skin, probably a mild but very itchy infection. The fish had nothing to do with it.

There is no sign that the ailment is contagious; for reasons not known, it occurs primarily in young adults in temperate climates, and mostly in spring or fall.

It is a self-limited disease. It runs its itchy course and ceases even without treatment. Medication to relieve the itching is about all that can be done. Sunlight or ultraviolet seems to hasten recovery. The disease usually lasts only three or four weeks, but occasionally may persist several times that long.

Around The Rim

Now, Let's Not Be Extremist

In my own ineffectual way, have been pondering this situation of extremism. It's getting to be a dirty word, you know, and I suppose you can with less damage call a man a boss-thief, wife-beater and a lying blackguard than call him an extremist.

One school of thought holds that the extremists are going to carry us all to perdition; another takes the position that if the extremists at opposite ends of the spectrum would but their heads together enough, all of them would turn out to be moderates.

ANYWAY, there is more extremism than the political savants write about, and just look at some:

To the management, a laborer is an extremist when he walks out the door at 5 o'clock on the dot when there was a small emergency job in front of him. To the laborer, management is an extremist when he protested paying time and a half for that three and a half minutes.

TO THE SECRETARY, the boss is an extremist who handles all his dictation the last 15 minutes of the day. To the boss, the secretary is an extremist who spends a fourth of her time primping before her hand-mirror.

To the doctor, the patient is an extremist who calls at 4 a.m. and says, "Doc, I'm dying," and goes on to say that this same pain has been killing him all day. To the patient, extremism is going to the doc's waiting room and cooling heels for four hours.

TO THE AUTO dealer, extremism is the customer who drives in with the 1954 clunk and wouldn't take a penny less than $2,500 for it. For the car buyer extremism is having the air conditioner go out within an hour after he drove his new machine out of the showroom.

For the man who issues credit, extremism is when the so-and-so didn't give any kind of a turn signal. For the driver in front, extremism is while the other so-and-so is riding on top of his rear bumper.

FOR THE YANKEE baseball club, extremism is having Mickey Vernon go all year without a home run. For the Mets, extremism is getting into ninth place.

For the man who issues credit, extremism comes from that character who hasn't paid a dime in six months. For the guy who owes the money, extremism is in the merchant who dared to think that he could get at the top of the pay list.

FOR THE GROCER, the extremist is the lady who pinches all the tomatoes in the bin. For the lady shopper, extremism is the grocer not having all perfect tomatoes in the first place.

For one neighbor, extremism is the guy across the fence who borrowed the lawn mower and never returned it. For the borrower, extremism is the uncooperative neighbor who knew all the time the mower wasn't working.

FOR THE WIFE, an extremist husband is the lunk who clutters up the house all Saturday afternoon watching TV. To this husband, the wife is an extremist who keeps demanding that the lawn be mowed and trimmed.

For all of us, the extremist moment is when you get your water bill. And also for all of us, the extremist is always the OTHER fellow.

—BOB WHIPKEY

Might Look For Self-Improvement

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the best-beaten path in Washington is the one that leads to the Tariff Commission on 8th and E streets. It is there that American producers and Labor leaders go to complain about foreign manufacturers, with low-cost workers, taking business and jobs away from our economy. Some of us who don't mind being called protectionists automatically side with American enterprisers and against the aliens. There never was an American business or trade union whose prosperity wasn't important to the U.S.A.

BUT DOWN at the Tariff Commission, they're now operating under the 1962 Trade Expansion Act which has enriched the nation in export trade to the tune of about $8 billion in the past two years. Section 301 of the Act provides recompense to any American enterprise which can prove it's been seriously injured by foreign competition. There is a subsection which offers "tariff assistance" to an industry if it can prove itself hurt by imports. Nine industries have filed claims of injury—not one has proved its case. There is a second subsection which proffers "adjustment assistance" to a labor union which can plausibly blame unemployment on the foreigners. Five unions have tried to show that aliens have swiped their jobs—not one has satisfactorily established that fact. A third subsection offers "adjustment" to individual firms which can show injury. Three firms have made the claim—not one has been able to make it stick.

WELL, THERE ARE two possible explanations. Maybe the U. S. Tariff Commission is fiendishly stacked against the U.S.A., but that's hardly likely. Or maybe the spokesmen for industry, labor and individual companies are looking for a convenient scapegoat—the foreign devil—instead of asking whether the fault might not be at home.

THE BEEF-RAISERS this summer complained that beef imports were doing them in. Ordinarily, a Democratic administration would not be very sympathetic. But this year is different. The administration is in political trouble in the Western and Southern cattlelands, and Senate Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) is up for re-election. The administration did come to the aid of the cattle-raisers, but nobody's at all sure that beef imports was the chief reason for the dip in domestic beef prices. A study in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee finds that the fault is at home—over-production, a misjudgment of the market, and some get-rich-quick investment.

THEN THERE'S the electronics industry. A few years ago the makers of transistor radios were waiting that the Japanese had taken an American invention and swamped the American market with cheap imitations. Further research showed that the big U. S. companies had simply failed to study customer preferences and had flubbed an opportunity to get there fustest with the mostest.

Much of the blame for our sluggish economy and the stagnant pool of unemployment, lies with ourselves. Despite tax credits under Mr. Kennedy, and tax cuts under Mr. Johnson, this country hasn't really undertaken to retool, retrain and recapitalize.

A Quiet Place By The Sea

FIRE ISLAND, New York — the beach here stretches for miles in its lonely untouched state and in this is a small victory at summer's end.

Congress has voted to make a national park of Fire Island which is only two hours from the center of New York City. It has been a continuing battle against developers and road builders and the war to save one of the few pieces of shore still unspoiled is not yet won. For sizable appropriations are needed to save the dunes.

SECRETARY OF the Interior Stewart Udall gets high marks for holding the line against the spoilers and the greedy builders. Only a few pieces of natural shore line are left on the East Coast—in North Carolina at Kitty Hawk and Nag's Head, on the end of Cape Cod, and here at Fire Island.

The stoutest enemy here was Robert Moses who was determined to run a concrete highway down the center of the island. He had long since, as Commissioner of Parks, laced Long Island with a massive highway system envisioned as a scenic and recreational facility. With the fantastic population explosion outward from the city these highways are now commuter arteries. The traffic is bumper to bumper morning and evening.

A HIGHWAY down Fire Island, where now in most areas cars are not allowed, would make it simply another raceway.

To one who has recently been in Atlantic City the contrast could hardly be sharper. There the ocean was a distant and rarely viewed backdrop for the carnival atmosphere of a gaudy resort.

Popular resorts like Atlantic City serve an important purpose. For hundreds of thousands who come each year they provide color and gaiety, noise and distraction, the gregarious sense of moving with the crowd.

BUT THERE are those who prefer a little solitude and a feeling of the beach and the dunes before man, the builder and the destroyer, came along. The sea grasses bend to the wind. Here in the shelter of the dune a family is picnicking with no one else in sight and the only sound the rhythmic roar of the surf.

Megalopolis is rapidly coming into being—a city almost unbroken extending from Boston to Washington. Much of it is already calculated chaos. Architectural critics and others aware of what megalopolis means in human terms protest vigorously.

ONLY THE VERY affluent can wall themselves away from the crowding and the chaos. Part of the nightmare of a megalopolis—an ant heap, an asphalt jungle, more than 400 miles in extent—is a boardwalk complete with honky-tonk extending the whole length of the Atlantic shore.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—When a ewe in Mrs. W. S. Watson's sheep herd refused to have anything to do with her new lamb, another ewe had to take over.

Two weeks later the same ewe gave birth a second time and this lamb suited her. Mrs. Watson said all the mother instincts worked fine for the second lamb.

Goliad Pupils Welcomed With 'Howdy Week'

By MARTHA JORDAN
The Goliad Junior High School Student Council welcomed back students, old and new, with a "Howdy" week.
During the first confusing days of study, members of the Student Council decorated the front showcase and directed traffic in the halls. Newspapers and "Howdy" cards were given to each student to help promote friendly relations.

School was dismissed at 2:45 Friday afternoon for the Labor Day weekend. Classes will resume at 8:30 Tuesday morning. Goliad welcomes its new teachers. Mr. John Black assumed duties as coach and physical education teacher. Mr. Don Duncan teaches the art classes. Mrs. Virginia Martin divides her time between Runnels Junior High and Goliad; she teaches two home economics classes at Goliad. Also new to the faculty are: Mr. Barry Clayton, English and speech; Mrs. Patricia Parks, English; Mr. Robert Thompson, mathematics; Mrs. Marilyn Sims, science. Teaching the Spanish classes how to "Si" will be Mrs. Mary Sue Warner.

Next fight ribbons will be sold for the Lamar games. Students may buy ribbons from FHA girls. Black and white vests are being sold next week to promote school spirit and to encourage the Goliad teams. For only 50 cents, a student can buy a school vest to wear to all the football and basketball games.
Nick Androvitch, a 15-year-old student from Turkey, experienced his first week in American schools. Nick, of Italian descent, but a native of Turkey, is the protégé of Capt. Thomas D. Holland, a new Catholic chaplain at Webb AFB. Nick has spent only one month in the United States, but intends to live here for the rest of his life. He enjoys Goliad and complimented its modern buildings. He is particularly impressed by the friendly smiles of all the students. Nick speaks six different languages, and has no trouble with English class. He plays the piano and the drums. He thinks it is simply wonderful that Texas teenagers can get a driver's license at 14. He likes American food, and is especially fond of hamburgers.

Many Attend 1st Assembly

By LINDA CLEMENTS
The first assembly at Garden City was well represented by parents, trustees, and other members of the community. The program began with a presentation of colors by two Boy Scouts, Charlie Parker and Sidney Fowler, who were assisted by their Scout leader, Mr. Harry Calverley.

Mrs. Mildred Mitchell presented a song and dance with the assistance of Ann Carter, Paula Hardy, Frances Cypert, Dana Wersl, and Susan La Martina. Groups participated in songs led by Mrs. Louise Arp, grade school music teacher. A solo, "America," was sung by Mrs. Jack Berry, and a duet, "God Bless America," by Mr. E. J. Bednar and Mr. W. E. Bednar.
Mr. Roy Thurston, school superintendent, opened the school year urging students to push forward for a better education. The 1963-64 annuals were distributed Tuesday by three ex-seniors, Gail McDaniel, Juda Wilkerson, and Nancy Davee.
Friday night the football team met at Sands for a scrimmage. The Pep Squad also met with its members before the game to practice new yell. The Bearkat's Booster Club had a business meeting before the scrimmage, and afterwards ice cream and cake were served to players and members.

The Pep Squad wore red jumpers with white long sleeve blouses and white gloves.

With sophomore boys sporting traditional haircuts and seniors new rings, classes at BSBS opened to a standing room only audience Monday.

Klaus Limbacher arrived Aug. 17 to begin his year as Big Spring's first foreign exchange student under the sponsorship of the American Field Service.
DE students, under the direction of Mr. George Rice, will begin selling a combination "beat em" tag and ribbon Wednesday for 20 cents.
Mrs. Janice Harris, librarian, has announced that the library finished taking inventory Friday. Starting Tuesday, Sept. 8, the library will be open before school and during lunch as well as the regular hours. Students may begin checking out books then.
The junior class plans to start selling mums Tuesday. They will take orders for the Lamesa game through Thursday. Prices are $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4, and $5.
Students will have their first holiday of the year Monday while schools are closed for Labor Day.
The annual staff will begin taking class pictures Tuesday in the study hall classes. Boys will be required to wear dress shirts, coats and ties. Next week will be the last chance for the senior boys to have pictures made.
Merry Lee Dibrell, El Rodeo editor, requests that all seniors who have not returned their proofs, do so before the end of the week.

A "Howdy" dance sponsored by the Student Council was held Friday night on the patio. Music was furnished by the HiFi Combo.
Mrs. Betty Green's morning shorthand class elected Beverly Womack, president; Andrea Askins, vice president; Peggy Spier, secretary-treasurer; Sue Hammond, editor; and Carolyn Hooser, co-editor. Her afternoon class elected Barbara Campbell president; Kerry O'Brien, vice president; Jan Worthan, secretary-treasurer; Tricia Statter, editor; and Sue Grant, co-editor.
Brenda Greene, Corral editor, announced that the first edition of the paper will be out Thursday. Each student will receive one free copy.
Two new football coaches have been added to the BSBS coaching staff. They are Allen Simpson and Tom King.
The French Club will hold its first meeting Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m. Patty Haralson has been elected president, and the rest of the officers will be elected at the meeting. A constitution will also be drawn up. All French students are urged to attend.
Starting Tuesday, tickets will be given to motorists parking in the circle or the no-parking zones along Eleventh Street.

New Teachers Introduced To Forsan Student Body

By SUSAN ELROD
School began with the usual confusion Monday. Tuesday morning the poor freshmen were painted and mistreated as the seniors began initiation. By the end of the week, things settled into the regular pace.
The student body extended a welcome to new teachers. They are Mr. David Redwine, a graduate of A&M, who is teaching science, and Mrs. Linda McQuaid, graduate of Sam Houston State Teachers College, who is teaching music and English. A welcome is also extended to the many freshmen and to Cathy Griffith, a new senior. Cathy attended school in India last year, but is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore.
The seniors were excited Tuesday when the first of the long awaited senior rings arrived.
Wednesday after school, the school personnel honored Mrs. Margaret Gressett with a surprise farewell party in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Gressett has been tax-assessor of the Forsan Independent School District for the past 12 years. Mrs. Nova Scuddy is assuming Mrs. Gressett's duties.

Several of the FHA members, with the help of their sponsor, Mrs. W. M. Romans, completed this year's yearbook for the FHA. I am sure they have planned an interesting year of events. All girls are urged to join.
Class officers and sponsors were elected Thursday. The senior sponsor is Mr. W. M. Romans. The officers are Roberta Hammack, president; Donnie Simpson, vice president; Wanda Alexander, secretary; Kenneth Sneed, student council representative. David Roberson and Susan Elrod are also student council representatives from the senior class.
The junior sponsors are Mrs. Hamlin Elrod and Mr. David Redwine. The officers are: Judy Dodd, president; Sherye Kirkpatrick, vice president; Linda Hodnett, secretary; Cindy Nobles, treasurer; Jackie Shoultz, student council representative. Cindy Nobles will also represent the junior class in the student council.
The sophomore sponsor is Mr. Oscar Boeker. Their officers are Susan Heideman, president; Mary Simpson, vice president; Tommy Girdner, secretary; Valynia Conway, treasurer; Larry Callihan, student council representative.
Mrs. Barbara Gandy, sponsoring the annual, the annual staff, and the senior class went to Big Spring Friday to sell advertisements for the 1965 "Buffalo Trail."

More Students Enrolled At Stanton High This Year

By CAROLYN SPRINGER
All SHS students came back to school with a bright smile as they entered the building on Monday morning. A total of 268 students crowded into the halls and tried to make their way to classes on time. This number of students is quite a bit larger than numbers in the past few years.
The Future Teachers met on Wednesday in the auditorium and were privileged to hear Mrs. Thaxton, English teacher, speak on the merits and joys of teaching. She told of some of her experiences while teaching overseas. President Janis Burgess presided at the meeting and told of some of the activities that members would participate in this year. The other FTA officers were introduced by Janis as Leta Johnson, vice president; Mike Springer, treasurer; and Larry Haggard, secretary. Mrs. Hazel Pruitt was also introduced as she is the group's sponsor. About fifty members are expected to join the FTA club this year. All dues are to be paid to Mike Springer as soon as possible and a deadline will be set at a future date.
Student Council officers and permanent members met on Wednesday to discuss coming affairs of the council. Those present were Carroll Anderson, president; Dale Thompson, vice president; Larry Haggard, secretary; Tim Bristow, treasurer; and Mary Wilson, who is a permanent member. Mr. Bill Johnson, principal, is sponsor for the group.

In a meeting of the Pep Squad, Evonne Welch was elected as head cheerleader for this year. Evonne is a junior and she has been a cheerleader for two years. She is also active in various other school organizations and is well liked by her fellow classmates.
Also elected in the meeting were Pep Squad officers. Cindy Britton was elected president, Brenda Standerfer, vice president; and Sandra Jones, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Boyd is the sponsor for the group. Pep Squad members decided to sell megaphones to the students and other Buffalo fans. Those interested in purchasing one of these are urged to see any member of the Pep Squad.
The cheerleaders and Pep Squad appeared in their new uniforms for the first time at the game against Roscoe on Friday night. Wearing red skirts with gray pleat inlays and gray sweaters with a red "S" were Evonne Welch, head retary; Tim Bristow, treasurer; and Mary Wilson, who is a permanent member. Mr. Bill Johnson, principal, is sponsor for the group.

Excitement High In 'New Interns'

"The New Interns," Columbia Pictures release which arrives today at the Ritz Theatre, is a breathless and exciting drama of young people—whose world is continually rocked by the explosive excitement that is to be found in their own work, and which directly effects their days and nights.

The screenplay was written by Wilton Schiller, based upon characters from the best-selling novel "The Interns," by Richard Frede.

Produced by Robert Cohn, "The New Interns" is a swiftly-paced screen entertainment whose frank compelling story, really a composite of many, details the private and professional problems of young doctors struggling to complete their year of internship, and the nurses about them. It examines, too, such sensitive topics as sterility, rape and juvenile delinquency.

THE 'HOSPITAL ROMEO... who made hospital history, invading the nurses' quarters!

THE 'BABY PARTY'... that ended up in a wild wall-to-wall ball!

THE NEW INTERNS

...and their new loves!

Movie Depicts Daring Raid

Authenticity is the keynote of the dramatization of one of the most daring aerial raids of World War II, "633 Squadron," opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

of the old "Mosquito" and had flown one on occasion. He has to fly one in the "633 Squadron," and this he does, expertly and efficiently, without the aid of a stand-in.

Authenticity in the actual planes which took part in the raid—which some say turned the tide of battle in favor of the Allies during that war—and authenticity in manpower. The planes are the famous "Mosquitos" or "wooden wonders," those fat, easily maneuverable men-of-all-work, actually made of plywood. This plane, say those who should know, of all the planes flown during the war, were regarded as the only ones capable of entering a walled fjord in Norway, bombing a secret Nazi stronghold there out of existence, and getting out again.

Since the fjords of Norway were in the darkness of their six month nights when "633 Squadron" went into production, "authentic" fjords to stand in for them had to be obtained, and these were found by camera crews on the extreme west coast of Scotland. Not even a trained geologist, it is said, would know the difference. The flying field from which the "Mosquitos" take off on their dangerous mission is authentic enough. It is that R.A.F. in Bovington, the very one from which the original "Mosquitos" took off.

Then there was the business of finding an "authentic" refugee beauty, to play the role of sister to Academy-Award winner George Chakiris, who also stars in "633 Squadron."

This role went to lovely Maria Perschy, the Viennese beauty who was forced to flee her country in real life when it occurred Hitler's Gestapo that her father, a government official, was talking to much and the talk did not rebound to the glory of Der Fueer. She is best remembered for recent portrayals in "Frenzy" and "Man's Favorite Sport."

Book Details Communists' Takeover Plan

RED BLUEPRINT FOR THE CONQUEST OF AMERICA, by Joseph H. Wherry (Naylor, $4.95)

"Red Blueprint for the Conquest of America" is the sort of book that any person who does not feel well indoctrinated in anti-communism should read. The taking off point for the book is the Communist "Manual on Organization." Quite a thing is made of the manual, although we fail to see where it presents anything basically new. Certainly it details some of the fine points of Communist structure, of use only to the official agencies with responsibility for controlling the party.

The value of the book lies in the general discussion of communism by the author, Joseph H. Wherry.

It is hard to believe that there is anyone worth recruiting into the U. S. Communist party who is not irrevocably anti-Communist.

But books such as this, and frequent reading of them, serve to keep Americans reminded of what could happen.

Thoroughly on the credit side is a lack of advocacy of witch hunts, and an admission that the FBI's J. Edgar Hoover may know what he is doing. Neither does the book propose some easy cure-all for communism, home variety, or the more complex international problem of containment and rollback.

Like a good book of this kind, from the point of persuading some crackpot back to sanity, there is insufficient emphasis on what would happen to the individual should communism take over, in this reviewer's opinion. The property situation would be disastrous, but even a little thought on what would happen to his individual freedom might just shock some prospective Communist recruit back to good sense.

The author is a professional writer, which means that the book is well organized and readable.

 The new 5 cent U. S. commemorative stamp honoring Doctors William J. and Charles H. Mayo will be issued Sept. 11 at Rochester, Minn., where the world-famous Mayo Clinic is located.

The design of the stamp features statues of the Mayo brothers in surgical gowns. The symbol of healing—the staff of Aesculapius with entwined snake—appears at the lower left of the stamp. The color is green.

Both brothers died in 1926. Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Rochester, Minn., 55901. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Doctors Mayo Stamp." Requests must be postmarked not later than Sept. 11.

Afghanistan has issued four new stamps showing Asian mountain wildlife species. One stamp depicts a snow leopard, a philatelic first for this animal. Another stamp illustrates a male ibex, an agile mountain goat. A third portrays the head of a male argali, an Asian wild sheep. The fourth depicts a yak, the long-haired wild ox characteristic of Central Asia.

Papua and New Guinea have issued a new set of four stamps publicizing the health services of the territory. The designs show a medical officer and patient at a health center, a child receiving dental treatment, a nurse and child, and a student with microscope.

'Think Young' Picture Aims At Youthful Fans

Youth serves and is served in "For Those Who Think Young," opening today at the Jet Theatre. The teen-filled, tune-filled comedy stars James Darren and Pamela Tiffin, and co-stars Paul Lynde, Tina Louise, Bob Denver, Robert Middleton, Ellen McRae and introduces comedian Woody Woodbury.

Two other co-stars of "For Those Who Think Young" have names with a familiar ring—Nancy Sinatra and Claudia Martin. Although the girls are making their film debuts, their fathers have been around for a few years—thinking young. Their names are Frank and Dean, and they sing. Perhaps older audiences will remember them!

Filed in Hollywood on location near Malibu Beach and at Occidental College in Los Angeles, "For Those Who Think Young" is the first United Artists release to be made in Technicolor's new wide-screen process, Techniscope.

"For Those Who Think Young" was produced by Hugh Benson, top TV executive who "discovered" many now famous young performers. Leslie Martinson, who previously directed "PT109," also directed "For Those Who Think Young." James and George O'Hanlon and Dan Beaumont wrote the screenplay from a story by Beaumont, and the film's music masters were Mack David, Jerry Livingston, and Jerry Fielding.

Although most Hollywood sets are generally "closed" to the public, producer Hugh Benson released a figure of 6,774 visitors who watched the filming of his movie. Benson declared an "open set" and VIPs in Hollywood (and other cities) sent the clients and friends there to watch the cast cavort.

THE CABLE TV VIEW
 By Jim Lancaster
 BIG SPRING CABLE TV

An interesting experiment is shaping up for the coming television season — how to take the horror out of the so-called horror.

The network will bring out "The Munsters," a slightly altered family name for the monsters of the Frankenstein variety; the ghostly looking Addams family from the weird cartoons by Charles Addams, and "Bewitched," after many stories of those beautiful witches who wanted to be like everybody else for the sake of love for mortal man.

In a way, it is unusual for several series on the same pattern to start at the same time. Usually, when success comes to a new type of program, TV executives rush out to get on the bandwagon with their own versions of the same situation. So we have had our westerns, policemen, lawyers and the popular nurse and doctor series.

I, for one, look forward hopefully to those exposures of people whose forms and features are somewhat different. Is there any reason why someone whose face looks like Frankenstein's should want to be a destructive person? Often times an odd shape is the result of an injury or an illness, and such a person can seek affection with greater intensity than others.

Kids have been pictured as ready to taunt, and at the same time be ready to run from those suffering distortions from the norm. Now, by way of television, they have a chance to view the "Munsters" as folk who might be quite ordinary, if only people didn't have special reactions to them.

Or, take the Addams family whose residence is set in a cemetery background. Here is the standard setting for chills and terror. Television intends to let us see these ghostly people as having the problems that are daily routine for anybody. Maybe a by-product will be the change of interpretation of what is ghostly and to be dreaded. After all, we have had our "Toppers" visitors from the world beyond. And in the movies and on TV, they could bicker, or indulge in light talk, just like the neighbors.

One nice thing about being on cable television, you can accept these programs for what they are trying to do, or you can select something else, because you have more channels to choose from at any particular time.

MEN IN SERVICE

Marine Pvt. Gary D. Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorell Carey, 416 Ryon, Big Spring, completed recruit training in August at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Marine recruits undergo more than 100 hours of physical conditioning, spend more than 80 hours learning how to drill, and devote three weeks to rifle and pistol marksmanship in their 11-week training program.

Several hours are devoted to spiritual and character-building courses. Production of good basic Marines and responsible patriotic citizens are the two primary objectives of the program.

Pfc. Louis B. Sweeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Sweeden, 2806 Apache, is in Big Spring on leave and will soon be transferred to the Fourth Missile Battalion. He has been serving at Abilene but his new duties will take him to Korea for a 13-month hitch. His assignment at Abilene was at Dyess Air Force Base, where he was with a battery on the base. He has been there since December, 1962. He has been in the U. S. Army two years.

Pvt. Jerry L. Davis, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davis, Colorado City, completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training with light weapons at Fort Polk, La., Aug. 28. During the training Pvt. Davis received instruction in the use of the automatic rifle, the light machine gun and the 3.5 inch rocket launcher. He attended Colorado City High School and worked for the Texas Highway Dept. before entering the Army.

Pvt. A. J. Jackson, whose wife, Eloyise, lives at 1107 N. Goliad, Big Spring, completed advanced training as a cannoneer at the Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., Aug. 27. He was trained as a member of artillery gun or howitzer crews.

The 22-year-old soldier entered the Army last April.

Capt. Robert F. Bennett, is a member of the Outstanding Missile Crew of the Quarter in his Strategic Air Command (SAC) unit at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho. He and other crewmen were cited for their commendable performance during operational and training missions. He is a missile launch officer in a unit which supports the SAC mission of keeping the nation's intercontinental missiles and jet bombers on constant alert.

The captain, a graduate of Powell County High School, earned his B. S. degree at

GARY D. CAREY

PFC. LOUIS B. SWEEDEN

Montana State College. He received his commission in 1953 through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program. The captain's wife, Jimmie, is the daughter of H. C. Blessingame, Colorado City, Tex.

James D. L. Phillips, seaman apprentice, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest H. Phillips, 1201 Mulberry, Big Spring, returned Aug. 31 to San Diego, Calif., aboard the radar picket destroyer USS Frank Knox upon completing a tour of duty with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

Knox provided anti-air warfare support for various aircraft carriers and anti-submarine warfare coverage for other units while with the Seventh Fleet. As a special reward for two and a half years service in the Western Pacific, Knox was granted a goodwill trip to Australia. Pervis visited "down under" include Brisbane and Sydney, Australia.

Pvt. Hermon L. Wilemon Jr., 22, whose parents live at 808 E. 13th St., Big Spring, completed a seven-week signal parts specialist course at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga., Aug. 28. During the course Wilemon received instruction in the supply and storage of Army signal equipment.

He entered the Army in February, 1964, and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La. The 1960 Big Spring High School graduate was employed at McAdams Cabinet Shop before entering the Army.

Bobbie G. McMurray, 1006 W. 7th, re-enlisted in the Navy at Albuquerque, N.M. recently. He was discharged from the Navy one month to the day before he re-enlisted.

He is taking 30 days leave before reporting to his next duty station at Long Beach, Calif. He first enlisted in the Navy in 1955 through the Big Spring Navy recruiting station.

Circus Monk Appeared In Tarzan Movies

Cheta, an African chimpanzee which appeared in a long series of Tarzan movies, is a featured member of the troupe presented by Al and Jeri Antonucci in performances at the Suez Shrine Circus Sept. 24. The circus, appearing under the sponsorship of Big Spring Shrine Association, will be set up at the Big Spring rodeo arena.

Cheta's name was Zachary before playing the role of "Cheta" in the Tarzan pictures. Bozo, his partner, was in the movie, "The Road to Bali," with Dorothy Lamour.

Cheta and Little Poncho are from Sierra Leone, Africa, while Bozo is from the Belgian Congo.

Their trainer, Al Antonucci, started working with chimps at the St. Louis zoo, and then spent 12 years in Hollywood showing chimps how to perform their parts in motion pictures.

The three chimps do a great variety of tricks such as walking stilts, skipping rope, and walking on their hands, and they pose for pictures doing such things as talking over a telephone or using a typewriter.

The chimps present an act equally entertaining for adults and children, but there is a host of other animal acts in the show, including a troupe of elephants.

The show, requiring two hours, features a variety of outstanding acts including aerial, acrobatic, animal and clown numbers.

DEAR ABBY

Face Up To The Facts

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I had an affair with a woman who left her husband and children to live with me. I left my wife and children, too, but I couldn't stay away from them so I finally broke up with this woman. After I left her, she claimed the last child she had was mine. It could be, so I have been giving her money. I've been hiding all this from my wife, but we've been having so many arguments over money lately that she suspects me of keeping this money. If I stop giving her money, I'm afraid she'll take me to court and the mess will be known. If I keep giving her money, I'll lose my wife. I want to save my marriage because I could never be happy with this other woman. I've already hurt my wife so much, I don't want to hurt her any more. Please answer in your column. I can't get mail at home. Thank you.

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: You need a lawyer. To submit to blackmail for the rest of your life is unnecessary. If she does take you to court and the mess "becomes known," it shouldn't shock your wife too much because she knew you left her to live with another woman. Let the law decide how much, if anything, the other woman is entitled to. And pay up like a man, if you must.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were at our club recently, and while dancing with an eligible bachelor who has been a hunting friend of my husband's for years, something he said left me with mixed emotions. He said, "If anything ever happens to your husband, I want you." I confess I was both flattered and disturbed. How would you have taken that remark?

OVERWHELMED
DEAR OVERWHELMED: As a warning, don't let your husband go hunting with this "friend" any more.

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 16 and my problem is a mother who won't let me have a girl friend over unless the house is in perfect order. She's afraid the girl might go home and tell her mother that she's a poor housekeeper. Abby, my girl friends don't go to people's homes to see what kind of housekeeper the mother is. I know when I am at someone's house, I never notice the housekeeping unless it is horribly messed up, and even then I wouldn't care, or say anything

Freight Cars Are Purchased

ST. LOUIS—Orders for 1,750 new freight cars and 50 locomotives, at a cost of more than $36,000,000 have been placed by the Missouri Pacific System, Downing B. Jenks, president, has announced.

Delivery of the new cars is to begin next month and be completed by next August, Jenks said. They are part of the road's 1965 improvement program, he added.

This is the fifth consecutive year of heavy purchases of new freight cars and locomotives, Jenks pointed out. In this time, the system has bought more than 8,000 new cars and 296 locomotives at a cost of over $156,644,000, he said. The new order includes 25 diesel locomotives.

LABOR DAY

Proudly, we pay tribute to American labor. Since the first official Labor Day in 1882, both our industrial strength and standards of living have taken great strides forward . . . with the help of labor, in our national tradition of free men working together. We confidently look toward ever greater gains.
