The bidding:

2▲ Pass 3▲ Pass
4♦ Pass 4▲ Pass
6♥ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Ten of ♠.
In his attempt to put something over on the opposition, South, the declarer at six spades, overlooked a legitimate opportunity to improve his prospects.
When North made a positive response to South's demand opening bid by raising to three spades, the latter was determined to reach a slam. The four diamond bid was an attempt to probe for even bigger things. Had North taken advantage of the available opportunity presented to announce possession of the ace of hearts—by bidding four hearts, South might have gone all the way. When his partner merely returned to four spades, South settled for the more modest prospect of a small slam.
West opened the ten of clubs and declarer played the dummy's ace, sluffing a heart from his hand. A small heart was led at trick two in an attempt to sneak the king thru. West, however, turned up with the ace of hearts, and he returned another club which South ruffed.

Declarer cashed one high spade, followed by the ace of diamonds and then he trumped the third round with the nine of spades. East overruffed with the ten for the setting trick.
Had South drawn both trumps, there would have been only one spade left in dummy for ruffing purposes and, though he could sluff one diamond on the queen of hearts, he would be obliged to surrender a diamond trick to West at the end.
Declarer had the right idea in attempting to sneak a heart trick thru, but his timing was faulty. He should have made an effort to conserve his high card strength by inducing the opposition to play the ace of hearts on a small card instead of an honor.
It is suggested that South ruff the opening club lead and then play a small heart from his hand. If West ducks, North's queen will hold the trick and declarer's king is discarded on the ace of clubs, thus averting the heart loser altogether.
If West puts up the ace of hearts at trick two, declarer obtains an additional sluff in the heart suit. After drawing the adverse trump with two pulls, South cashes the king of hearts followed by his top diamonds. One diamond is ruffed in dummy and the other two are discarded on the ace of clubs and queen of hearts respectively.

Voting Right 'Not Denied'

FORT DEPOSIT, Ala. (AP)— A member of the Lowndes County Board of Registrars says any qualified Negro can register to vote in the rural county which is one of the targets of Dr. Martin Luther King's voter-registration drive.
"Our policy on the board," said board member Carl Goldson, "is just this: If they can qualify, we're going to put them on. As a matter of fact, that's been our policy for some time, but we just haven't had any applicants."
VOUCHER RULE
He continued, "We're not going to worry about this voucher business. We know the Negroes who are likely to qualify and we know how long they have lived here."
Lowndes County, like most others in Alabama, has a rule which requires registered voters to vouch for those seeking to register. The voucher is required to verify that the applicant has lived in the state at least one year, in the county six months and the precinct 90 days. Those are the resident qualifications fixed by law.

Bobby Plants Flag Atop Mt. Kennedy

PLANTS FLAG
The flag Kennedy placed at the summit appeared of a dark hue, although its exact coloration was not known. He fixed it upright and stood back a few feet, his head slightly bowed, looking toward it.
The red and orange parkas of the climbers gleamed in the sunlight. A wind estimated at 15 to 18 miles an hour whipped up the snow occasionally. The temperature was 5 degrees above zero.
The ascent began Tuesday morning from an 8,500-foot base camp to which Kennedy and others in the party were flown from Whitehorse in a Royal Canadian Air Force helicopter.
OLD PATH
The climbers followed a path originally charted during a 1935 expedition to explore the area. Kennedy and seven members of a National Geographic Society party, which he asked to accompany him to Seattle for a plane connection to New York. College Shift Clears Hurdle In Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—Arlington State College's proposed transfer to the University of Texas system cleared another legislative hurdle Wednesday night.

The House State Affairs Committee approved for debate the Senate-passed bill shifting control of the school from the Texas A&M system.

An amendment was added to the bill providing that money from the permanent university fund may not go to Arlington, a recommendation of University of Texas regent Frank Erwin.

"The University of Texas is deeply honored by the expressed desire of the friends of Arlington State to become part of the university system," Erwin told the committee.

The university has made no effort to add Arlington to its system of colleges nor any commitments to Arlington, Erwin said.

A & M recently withdrew a recommendation for graduate study at Arlington, but "we are not committed to resubmit the recommendation for a graduate program," Erwin said.

The measure is sponsored by Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who recently led a delegation of community leaders before the board of regents in behalf of the transfer.

McAdams Paint, Supply Plans Big Opening Friday

"Our motto is quality service and products," said Tommy McAdams in announcing the opening of the all new McAdams Paint and Supply, at 1602 Marcy Drive.

Grand opening for the store is set Friday and Saturday. Started a little less than two months ago, the building grew out of a side-line of McAdams Building Contractors in October, 1963.

The new store has some 2,400 square feet of floor space, half of which is for display and sales. The other half is for storage and work area. The building is of brick masonry construction. The original design for the building came from Bob McAdams, assistant manager of the store.

The store features large plate glass windows on three sides to allow maximum vision from the outside. The interior of the store is painted bone white with an open beam ceiling. Thirteen counters are located in the store with all the items a person would need to re-decorate or re-finish a home or a room.

Everything from paint brushes to picture frames is available. A complete line of Bute Colorizer paints and painting accessories is carried by McAdams. Bute paint is capable of 1,322 different color combinations, and McAdams is equipped to produce all of them.

A person thinking about re-decorating can find name brand items such as these at McAdams: Armstrong floor cover-

The Old Master Creative Finishes will be of particular interest to do-it-yourselfers. This paint enables a person to paint over furniture without removing the old finish.

Another item that has been added to McAdams is custom picture framing. McAdams has in stock over 40 different picture moldings for selection.

Mrs. Ann Perryman has nine years experience in picture framing.

"Something to brighten up a bathroom are the new colored plumbing fixtures by Kohler that are featured.

"Our goal, when we began the paint store, was to build a new building within two years," said Bob. They beat the two years by about six months. When the paint and supply store began, the stock was estimated at a little less than $4,000. Their stock is now valued at more than $11,000.

McAdams Paint and Supply is more than a paint store; it is a new idea in home decorating. On the shelves and counters within the store are all the items needed for complete home

Trimming Investments Overseas Has Critics

NEW YORK (AP) — Just when the U.S. dollar is going abroad are good for the country and which are causing trouble? A wide difference of opinion is developing, both in the Congress and in the business and banking community.

The administration is asking U.S. banks to limit loans to foreign-owned U.S. corporations to curtail investments in other lands — but just certain kinds of investments and not in all lands.

TRIM EXCESS
The administration says this may cut down the excess outflow of dollars which over the last seven years has caused a drain on U.S. gold reserves and caused some nations, notably France, to question the role of the dollar as ranking with gold in the monetary reserves of other countries.

Critics of the plan for voluntary cutting down of private overseas investments by Americans charge that this would push the United States into economic isolation.

And the widening split in the thinking on how best to bolster the dollar and keep more of them at home comes out in the open with the filing this week of the annual report of the Joint House-Senate Economic Committee.

CUT TROOPS
Democrats on the group want to save the dollar by the program the administration has launched, but also by cutting the number of U.S. troops in Europe, especially in France.

The Republicans say private investment abroad, over the long run, returns more dollars than are sent out. Such investments make "the American economy strong, they contend, and aren't the real cause of the excess flow of dollars overseas. They think government spending is."

They also contend that the better way to stop excess dollar outflows, such as in the final months of 1964, would be to raise interest rates here. This would narrow the gap between the yield from money invested in this country and the return on dollars invested at the higher interest rates obtaining in almost all other lands.

County Stock-Owners Urged To Help Screwworm Fund

All Howard County ranchers and farmers—every individual who has either cattle or sheep—is being asked to contribute to a war chest being raised in Texas to continue the highly successful war on the screwworms.

At a meeting of the Howard County Screwworm Committee Wednesday in the office of Herbert Helbig, county agent, it was decided that assessments for the fund be set at 10 cents per animal unit. An animal unit is a single head of cattle or five head of sheep.

The four banks of the county have agreed to serve as depositories for donations. The money collected will be turned over to Jimmy Taylor, treasurer of the committee, who will dispatch it to state headquarters. All persons owning livestock are being urged to contribute. Although the total amount of money to be levied in this county may not be large, spokesmen for the committee stressed that it was vital all ranchers and farmers have a part.

Also designated to accept payments are the four precinct representatives on the committee. They are Harvey Allen, Precinct 1; Lawrence Davis, Precinct 2; Malcolm Patterson, Precinct 3; and Orba Hamlin, Precinct 4. E. P. Driver is president of the committee.

It was pointed out that the screwworm eradication program in West Texas has been one of the most successful enterprises ever attempted by livestock agricultural interests. As a result of the efforts, not a single screwworm infection occurred in this county in 1964. There will be none in 1965, if the campaign can be pushed to its proper conclusion, spokesmen say.

The counties are being asked to raise $300,000 to match state funds which will carry on the program to July 1. On that date federal funds should be available to continue the program.

Driver urged all cattlemen and farmers to make their per animal unit payments to the banks or to the committeemen quickly.

"No matter how small your assessment or how large," he said, "the important thing is that we get it quickly and send it on to do its work."

4-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., March 25, 1965

Family Has Long History In This Area

Although McAdams Paint and Supply is a relatively new business in Big Spring, the name McAdams is well known in Big Spring as a building firm.

"Our grandfather, W. J. McAdams, started back in the 1930's as a general contractor," said Tommy McAdams, manager of the new McAdams Paint and Supply, 1602 Marcy Drive.

Tommy's father, Thomas J. McAdams, and his uncle, Garner McAdams, were also in business with the elder McAdams. In 1938 Tommy's family moved to a farm three miles south of Ackery and then moved back to Big Spring in 1947.

"In 1958 Dad went into business for himself as a general contractor and after my brother, Bob, completed his military service in December, 1962, he joined Dad," said Tommy. Tommy joined his father's firm in May, 1962 after teaching school for two years.

"We are all getting familiar with the paint store so we can serve our customers better," said Tommy.

The original McAdams Paint and Supply was started in October, 1963 at 2207 Scurry. It was a part of McAdams Contract-tors, but it grew so rapidly that something had to be done. "You couldn't walk in the store without knocking over a roll of floor covering," said Tommy. They took out the building permit for the new store in January of this year. A week later construction started and in less than two months the new store was ready for a grand opening.

Grand opening will be held Friday and Saturday.

School Told To Integrate

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge ordered the suburban Aldine independent school district Wednesday to integrate all grades by Sept. 1, 1967.

Judge Joe Ingraham ordered immediate integration of elementary schools, integration of junior high schools by Sept. 1, 1966, and senior highs by Sept. 1, 1967.

The district in Northwest Houston has two high schools, four junior highs and 12 elementaries.

Previous integration orders affecting Harris County school districts, including Houston, have called for a grade-a-year plan.

One Aldine school, Orange Grove elementary, began a voluntary grade-a-year integration last fall but now is subject to immediate opening of all grades under Ingraham's order.

Ingraham said his order was based on an integration plan worked out by attorneys for the school district and for two teenage Negro plaintiffs.

Supt. W. W. Thorne said about one-fourth of the district's 14,000 students are Negroes.

Houston schools now are integrated through the fifth grade.

'Slattery's' Show Wins A Reprieve

By BOB THOMAS
AP TV - Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Richard Crenna had the air of a death-row inmate who had just been told the governor was on the phone.

The last-minute reprieve had saved Crenna's show, "Slattery's People," after it apparently had been slated for execution by the high powers of CBS. In Hollywood this week, programming chief Michael Dann admitted that a few weeks ago he didn't expect the state-legislature series to survive.

In the last major rating, "Slattery's People" placed third in its time slot, usually an invitation to death. But, said Dann, a great outpouring of critical and viewer protest convinced CBS otherwise. "It was our responsibility as broadcasters to give this show an opportunity to survive," said he.

To which Crenna might add, "Hallelujah."

GOLDEN CHANCE

The escapee from "Our Miss Brooks" and "The Real McCoys" had treasured "Slattery's" as his golden chance to grow up into a no-nonsense role. But even last week, the show seemed to have gone a-glimmering.

"I had been told by everyone, 'You're off,' he recalled, "so there really wasn't much grounds for hope. I had finished my work, but I returned on the last day's shooting and stayed until it was over at 11:30 p.m."

"You see, the crew had been named 'Slattery's pirates,' and every time I came on the set they would raise a black flag. Well, I had to be the last one to leave the ship."

MADE PITCH

Crenna credits Dann with making the pitch to the CBS board to give the series a go at a second season. He also commends the critics for stirring up letter-writers and the sponsors for not leaving what had all the aspects of a sinking ship.

"I said when we started the show that it would be the kind that would take a while to build its audience," the actor said. "We got clobbered on Monday night (opposite "Pen Casey" and Alfred Hitchcock), then things began to pick up a little when we moved to Friday. Still it didn't seem enough."

Far from being discouraged by the apparent failure of "Slattery's," he viewed the future with confidence. He had accomplished what he set out to do: To break out of his typing as an all-American mugger.

"And with the show close to folding, I received some marvelous offers," he added. Among them was a deal at MGM for various services, including costarring with Ann-Margret in "Made in Paris." He hopes to be able to make the film before resuming the series.

Child, 9, Turns 'Donor'

DALLAS (AP)—The research budget at Baylor University Medical Center became more secure today with a perennial pledge of funds from a donor—20 cents each year.

A nine-year-old Oil City, N.M., girl who had read of cancer research at Baylor sent the letter to the Charles Sammons research division. It read:

"Dear Sirs: My name is Sharon Hawthorn. My age is 9 and I want to send 20c to the cancer research to help. If you want me to I'll send you 20c each year. Will you write me if you want me to send 20c each year. Well I'll be looking forward to the letter. My 20c will be in the envelope.

"Your friend, "Sharon Hawthorn."

No Harm In Space Walk

MOSCOW (AP) — The first man to walk in space returned to earth with no noticeable changes in his physical condition, Soviet doctors said today.

They also reported data from the flight showed that cosmonaut Alexei Leonov suffered no muscle strain during his 15-minute tumble in the cosmos.

"The first data on the state of the cosmonaut show, first of all, that there are no noticeable changes in his physiological functions," the three medical specialists reported in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper.

"That means that there has been proven the general possibility of developing space suits with a self-contained life-support system, protecting the spaceman from vacuum, visible, ultraviolet and infrared solar radiation."

Hoot Owl Runs With The Chickens

BOGATA, Tex. (AP)—Newly hatched Hoot Owl who just happens to look like a hoot owl.

Hooter doesn't really care just how you describe her as long as she gets a little red meat and a lot of attention in her backyard apartment at the Bryson home.

She's really an ordinary hoot owl who had domestic rearing with the Bryson chickens. Some of the pupils in Mrs. Bryson's room at the Bogata school found her in a nest near Humble Lake in 1947 and brought her to school.

A PENCHANT
The Brysons always have had a penchant for odd pets, so Mrs. Bryson brought the fuzzy little owl home. Force feeding was required at first, and then almost overnight Hooter was a grown-up owl.

Hooter's only companions were the chickens. She fancied herself to be one, even if all her crowing came out "who-o-o-o."

For a while, the Brysons thought Hooter was a little boy owl. Little boy owls don't lay eggs, however, and Hooter shattered the boy theory in 1951.

Although no little ones came from the eggs, they aroused Hooter's maternal instinct. All the other hens were setting. Why couldn't she?

The Brysons correctly diagnosed her problem and put a small setting of bantam eggs under her. She took on the project with great enthusiasm. The result was five little bantam chicks. Hooter wouldn't let anyone else care for them.

Hooter continued to lay a few eggs, all infertile.

HATCHES THREE
She hatched three more bantams in 1957. There would have been more hatches except that being a good-natured mother, Hooter let her chicks peck at her eyelids. They might have blinded her.

So now Hooter whiles away her time as sort of watchdog and official greeter for the Brysons. She sets up a fuss every time a strange dog or cat enters the yard.

For a while, the Brysons thought Hooter was a little boy owl. Little boy owls don't lay eggs, however, and Hooter shattered the boy theory in 1951.

Although no little ones came from the eggs, they aroused Hooter's maternal instinct. All the other hens were setting. Why couldn't she?

The Brysons correctly diagnosed her problem and put a small setting of bantam eggs under her. She took on the project with great enthusiasm. The result was five little bantam chicks. Hooter wouldn't let anyone else care for them.

Hooter continued to lay a few eggs, all infertile.

HATCHES THREE
She hatched three more bantams in 1957. There would have been more hatches except that being a good-natured mother, Hooter let her chicks peck at her eyelids. They might have blinded her.

So now Hooter whiles away her time as sort of watchdog and official greeter for the Brysons. She sets up a fuss every time a strange dog or cat enters the yard.

Special Forces Objectives Not Met In South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — As an experiment in unconventional warfare, the U.S. Special Forces appears to have encountered heavy going in Viet Nam.

"We should be out there in the mountains fighting the Viet Cong at their own game, but where are we?" said a U.S. Special Forces officer at one of the group's camps.

"We are stuck in camp, and the enemy can see our every move. We have lost control of our troops to the Vietnamese."

"And to cap all of this, we will be posted soon to advise district chiefs. That is not a job for Special Forces, certainly not the Special Forces I thought I was joining."

These comments put in a nutshell the feelings of many Special Forces personnel now serving in Viet Nam.

Originally a free-wheeling organization established as a counterinsurgency force, the Special Forces blossomed under President John F. Kennedy, who saw in their unorthodox concept an answer to the burgeoning trouble of Southeast Asia.

LEAN TIME
More recently, Special Forces seems to have been having a lean time of it. A U.S. officer said: "When I volunteered out of the artillery and into the Special Forces a few years ago, my commanding officer told me, 'You're making a mistake. The generals will kill the Special Forces and your career will die with it.'"

Whether the generals are killing the Special Forces, or whether they are dying a natural death, there is no doubt that the objectives of the Special Forces have not been met in South Viet Nam.

Up to about one year ago they were making progress with one of the objectives — winning over mountain tribes to the government cause.

Scores of special teams were operating in Viet Nam's mountains, working with primitive mountain people and supplying weapons to fight the Viet Cong.

There were misgivings about the program. DEFECTED TO CONG For one thing, the Montagnards were getting thousands of weapons to fight the Viet Cong today — who would they use them against tomorrow? And some of the Montagnards defected to the Viet Cong.

There was also the problem of allegiance to South Viet Nam. The Montagnards dislike lowland Vietnamese, but they appeared to love the tough U.S. Special Forces men who worked amongst them.

Other officers said the Special Forces have been reduced to an advisory effort, as has the regular U.S. Army in Viet Nam. "The only control we have is
