Rooney Tots Escorted Away As Tragedy Related

Rooneys' Reconciliation Plans Result In Killings

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thomson Rooney, 29, and Milos Milosevic, 23, an actor known professionally as Milos Milos, were found Monday in the bathroom of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young children.

NEW OFFICERS

UF Will Seek More Interest

Trustees of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County did some serious soul-searching at their annual meeting Monday. The problem:

Will the community continue to give adequate support to this system of coordinated welfare giving? The trustees were unanimous in a vote that the United Fund should carry on, but they were also unanimous in the opinion that extra steps must be taken to awaken more community interest, and to reach a broader base of financial support.

As it was, the board voted by necessity to cut remittances to participating agencies this year by three per cent.

This is because last fall's campaign fell some $4,500 short of its requirement; and, since the UF has not actually reached a quota in the past three years, its reserves are running out. The three per cent reduction to agencies was held to a minimum since a part of the payments for this year will come out of reserves. It was estimated that with this procedure, the UF will have around $3,000 to initiate next year's campaign.

A new segment of the board of trustees was elected, the new members to serve for three-year terms.

New officers also were named. M. R. (Frog) Koger, who was campaign chairman last fall, was elevated to the presidency, succeeding Lester Morton. Billy W. Jones was named vice president and Charles Dunnam treasurer.

While the UF sought $99,964.96 last year, its total pledges and payments ran to $95,516.13 of this, $26,997.60 is in pledges yet to be paid, and while most of these come in on a regular basis through the year, some shrink-

Police theorized that Milosevic shot Mrs. Rooney, then turned the .38-caliber pistol on himself because she was planning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

ROONEY HOSPITALIZED
 Rooney himself was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infection acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff: "Mickey told me they'd

(he and Barbara) had a very good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Milos may have resented it."

This apparently triggered the acts of violence by Milosevic, whose divorced wife had asked police protection from his fits of temper.

West Los Angeles police, fitting together the sequence of events that led to the double tragedy, said this picture emerged:
 Rooney returned from the Philippine location in December to discover he had been replaced in his wife's affections by the handsome Milosevic, who had been a friend of the family for a year.

Milosevic had appeared in three films — "The Russians Are Coming," yet to be released; "Religious Legends of Old Monterey" and an art film, "Incubus," in Esperanto. His marriage to Cynthia Krensky Bouron on July 2, 1964, ended in divorce after she charged him with assault last July and was to have become final this July.

FILES SUIT

A week ago, Rooney filed suit for divorce, charging that his wife "was allowing, permitting, encouraging or harboring" the Yugoslav actor at the Rooney home.

Rooney listed his income at $30,000 a year, and suggested monthly alimony of $400 and child support payments of $600 per month.

Mrs. Rooney countered with a suit for separate maintenance. Last Sunday night, Rooney and his wife met in his hospital room. Unknown to him, she had hired a private detective to tape record their conversation.

The 45-year-old actor-comedian, once famed as Andy Hardy, was persuasive in his arguments for a reconciliation. His wife shut off the recorder when she began to succumb to his reasoning.

She and the detective, Herm Schlieske, returned to her home. There she met Milosevic, two of her woman friends and her attorney, Harold Abeles.

The attorney said later: "She agreed not to see him (Milosevic) anymore if it bothered Mr. Rooney."

DISAPPEAR INSIDE

Milosevic appeared to agree without rancor to break off his friendship with Mrs. Rooney. He then invited her into the master bedroom. They disappeared inside at 8:30 p.m. and the door was locked.

It was the last time they were seen alive.

A house guest, Wilma Catania, 35, decided to depart for dinner an hour later. She knocked on the bedroom door. Hearing no answer, she took Mrs. Rooney's car.

She returned at 2:30 a.m. and found the house lights ablaze. Police believe that Milosevic may have fired the pistol shortly after entering the bedroom. No gunshots were heard even though a maid was in the house and three of the Rooney children — Kelly, 5; Kerry, 4; and Kyle, 3 — were in a bedroom 30 feet away.

A fourth child, Kimmie, 1, was at the home of Mrs. Rooney's parents.

SOUND MUFFLED
 Two closed doors may have muffled the sound of shots.

Miss Catania awoke at noon Monday. Finding that the maid had not seen Mrs. Rooney, the house guest unlocked the bedroom door. She found the bed still made. Then she opened the bathroom door.

Mrs. Rooney lay face up on the floor, clad in tan capris and a flowered blouse. A bullet had entered her jaw. Milosevic, in black pants and white shirt, was sprawled over her, a bullet hole in his temple. The pistol was next to the bodies.

Under sedation, Rooney was unable to disclose his plans.

U. S. Hunt For Peace Goes Before Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was called into urgent session today to begin debate on a U.S. proposal for preparatory talks to set up a Viet Nam peace conference.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg put the war in Viet Nam before the 15-member council late Monday in a resolution which asked that a place and date be fixed for immediate and unconditional discussions of arrangements for the proposed peace conference.

SURPRISE MOVE
 Both the U.S. request for the council meeting and the U.S. resolution caught U.N. diplomats by surprise. The corridors buzzed with speculation on possible Soviet moves. One unanswered question was whether the Russians would seek to have the government of North Viet Nam invited to take part in the council debate. Another was whether the Russians would veto the U.S. resolution.

The U.S. delegation was not expected to object if the council favored inviting North Viet Nam, but there was no word on the U.S. attitude toward a bid to the Viet Cong. The British government disclosed Monday night that North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, in a message to Queen Elizabeth II last week set as a new condition for peace talks U.S. recognition of the Viet Cong as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam."

PEKING PROTESTS
 Red China again rejected U.N. intervention in the Viet Nam war. Repeating Peking's often-stated position, the official New China News Agency said the United Nations "has no right to meddle with the Viet Nam question."

The first private reaction of U.N. diplomats to the U.S. proposal was one of doubt that the council debate would be useful. Some feared it would force the Soviet Union into taking a hard line and destroy any possibility of private Soviet pressure on Hanoi for peace.

U.S. officials, however, were aware of this risk and apparently believed the gamble was worth taking. They also were prepared to face strong criticism for resuming the bombing of North Viet Nam.

The U.S. decision to bring the Viet Nam issue to the United Nations represented a switch in policy, and no immediate explanation was forthcoming from responsible officials. Only last week Goldberg went to considerable pains to explain to a group of congressmen that council action was not feasible.

Some U.N. diplomats believed the switch was motivated by a desire to neutralize the expected criticism in Congress over the end of the bombing halt. It also may have been sparked partly by the weekend peace appeal of Pope Paul VI, who suggested U.N. arbitration to end the war.

The main provision of the U.S. resolution provides that the council call for preparatory talks "among the appropriate interested governments to arrange a conference looking toward the application of the Geneva accords of 1954 and 1962 and the establishment of a durable peace in Southeast Asia."

This seemed to point to a new conference of the 14 countries which took part in the two Geneva meetings. These included both North Viet Nam and Red China. The use of the word "governments," on the other hand, could have the effect of excluding the Viet Cong, which is not recognized by the United States as a government.

deadline neared. They showed up at the office of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor, just a short time before the midnight deadline.

Mrs. LeFevre said this morning she had no accurate estimate on how many poll tax receipts and exemption certificates were issued Monday and Tuesday night. She estimated that at least 2,000 were written. She has yet to figure the totals from the several substations which were received in the mail Tuesday morning.

She said that she felt certain the final number of qualified voters would be between 8,500 and 9,000. In 1964, the total as of Jan. 31 was 10,949.

Mrs. LeFevre said that her office was kept busy all Monday evening as belated citizens showed up to qualify themselves as voters.

Three Texans Killed In Viet
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Texans were included on a list of those killed in action in Viet Nam.

The list, issued by the Defense Department Monday, included the following Army personnel:

Major Taylor D. Johnson, husband of Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, Joaquin; Spec. 4 Joseph A. Gutierrez, son of Mrs. Enemencia H. Gutierrez, 329 Torres St., San Antonio; and Spec. 4 Fortunato Luna, son of Mrs. Delina M. Luna, 540 Lucero St., Alice.

Urges Split In Program Into 2 Parts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

POVERTY CYCLE
 "I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve "the kind of world our children will live in."

The $3.39 billion — $2.469 billion in economic aid and $917 million in military — more than Congress voted last year in comparable new funds for the year ending June 30, 1966. But just how much the increase amounts to is difficult to say because a large chunk of the arms assistance, for Viet Nam, has been wrapped into the regular U.S. defense budget.

FIGHT LOOMS
 A fight seemed certain over nonmoney items in the aid legislation as well as the more usual tugging and hauling over the financing.

For economic assistance, Johnson's fiscal 1967 budget proposes $2.47 billion in new appropriations, counting $590 million for Viet Nam. For military aid it seeks $917 million, not counting Viet Nam. If related programs such as Food for Peace are included, the over-all total pushes above the $4-billion mark.

UNSPENT SUM
 The Agency for International Development's program for economic aid next year also includes an estimated $344 million unspent from past appropriations. This would bring the economic figure to $2.81 billion — a quarter-billion increase over this year, counting Viet Nam both years.

Johnson's proposal for a five-year authorization is in line with Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright's call for long-term aid authority. The Arkansas Democrat also has pushed for a separation of economic and military aid legislation.

Hedda Hopper Said Critical

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gossip columnist Hedda Hopper — victim of a severe attack of pneumonia — was reported in critical condition early today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Hopper, 75, was stricken by a virus infection Friday, and her condition worsened Sunday, an aide said.

She was taken to the hospital shortly before noon Sunday, where she "remains critical, and the prognosis is very grave," a hospital spokesman said.

Stone Face Of Comedy, Buster Keaton, 70, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Buster Keaton, the great stone face of comedy, died today at the age of 70 of lung cancer.

He had been ill about three months, although it had not been disclosed.

The end for the little man with the baggy pants and straw hat, who was one of the giants of the silent screen, came this morning at his home in suburban Woodland Hills.

With him was his wife of 25 years, Eleanor. Keaton's two sons by a former wife, actress Natalie Talmadge, were quickly informed. They are James of Santa Monica, and Robert of nearby Marina del Rey.

Keaton, christened Joseph at his birth in Piqua, Kan., began in show business at the age of four with his family's circus and vaudeville acrobatic team. Almost as soon as he could walk he began acrobatics, and the training well-prepared him for the pratfalls of silent film comedy.

Keaton came to Hollywood in 1917, appearing first in two-reelers with comic Fatty Arbuckle, later starring on his own. He became one of the highest paid of early stars. During his career he went through several fortunes. In 1934, filing for bankruptcy, he listed assets of $12,000 and liabilities of $303,832.

His career continued into the talkie era but he faded as a buckstar, later starring on his own. He went out of style.

YMCA Drive Signs 863, But Fund Goal Is Behind

The YMCA Participating and Sustaining Drives were well out the week, according to Mrs. O. S. Womack, sustaining campaign chairman. Mrs. Womack urged all workers who have not turned in their prospect cards and money to do so, so that reports may be completed.

John Berry's participating drive "braves" have rounded up $9,514.50. Hot on the warpath for scalps (Y memberships) is Pat Nelson, who has brought in $1,074 for the raiding party.

New quota busters were Bob Travis, Lanny Hamby and Mrs. Joe Connolly, who exceeded individual goals of $178.50.

Goal for the sustaining drive is $10,500 and for the participating drive, $15,000. The drives are expected to continue throughout the week.

Y Membership Reaches 863

Rockefeller IV Enters Politics As Democrat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Another Rockefeller has entered politics — but in West Virginia of all places, and as a Democrat, of all things.

He is John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV, great grandson of the empire builder and member of one of the nation's best-known Republican families. Jay, whose Uncle Nelson is Republican governor of New York and whose Uncle Winthrop is a GOP gubernatorial candidate in Arkansas, filed Monday for a seat in the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Now 28, he was a registered Republican for five years. "The decision in itself was not difficult," he said. "But you just don't walk out on that much tradition without a lot of thought."

Political decisions affect people so immediately and so forcefully that the legislative level seemed a natural followup to anyone trying to solve problems common to an area like Emmons."

EXPLAINS SWITCH

He explained his political switch this way: "When I registered as a Republican five years ago, I had just gotten back from 18 months of study in Japan and my uncle was seeking the presidential nomination.

"I feel very deeply about my family. Historically, ours is a name that has been associated with Republicanism. But an even stronger family tradition has been the proposition that which best reflects you as an individual is that which brings out the best in you.

"Politics is a lifetime commitment and honesty to self is essential. To have remained a Republican would have been to subordinate my own conclusions and instincts to an undefined feeling of what others think I should be."

CHAIRMAN'S SON

The tall, handsome Ivy League bachelor is the son of John D. Rockefeller III of New York, chairman of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation. He recently moved into his own house in Charleston and says he plans to stay in West Virginia permanently.

"This is my home now," he said.

Before coming to West Virginia, Rockefeller graduated from Harvard, studied oriental philosophy in Japan, did graduate work at Yale and worked as an assistant to Sargent Shriver, then director of the Peace Corps. He later took a position with the State Department and moved on to the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, where he became interested in the Appalachian youth program.

He will be seeking the Democratic nomination for one of 14 seats in the lower chamber from Kanawha County, where Republicans are outnumbered 8 to 5.

Senate Panel Will Hold Off Inquiry On LBJ Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Johnson's decision to loose new on the peace conference call J. W. Fulbright said today his Senate Foreign Relations Committee will not press its inquiries into President Johnson's Viet Nam policy until the United Nations has debated the administration's new peace effort.

"If this starts debate in the United Nations," the Arkansas Democrat said, "the administration should have full opportunity to submit its case."

But Fulbright, who wanted the administration to lengthen the now-shattered lull in bombing of North Viet Nam, said there remains "grave apprehension" in Congress about the air war and other facets of Johnson's policy.

There was also substantial backing on Capitol Hill for

HAS KIN SUPPORT

Jay said he went to Arkansas to talk with Winthrop and recently met with Nelson in New York. "I received their support," he said, "because it's important to them that I do what makes sense for me as a person."

He arrived in West Virginia in July 1964, and has been a neighborhood social worker in the Action for Appalachian Youth Program. Most of the past 18 months he has spent at nearby Emmons working with people he says never had a chance.

"If anything," he said, "my candidacy grows out of my

Plant Workers Make Viet Children Candy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Volunteer workers have made almost a million packages of candy to help win the war of the children in Viet Nam.

About 175 employees of Sunline, Inc., a St. Louis candy manufacturer, worked 12 hours without pay Saturday because of a request from the United States Information Agency and U.S. Army Maj. Donald W. Cameron, an adviser at Thuduc, South Viet Nam.

"WELL PAID"

"I worked because I felt that if one little child was helped it was well paid," said volunteer Mrs. Earl Wood of suburban Webster Groves.

Spokesmen said the company shipped about three million packages of its candy to South Viet Nam several months ago for distribution. Doctors ground it up with aspirin to make the medicine more palatable for the Vietnamese children.

The candies are penny-sized, fruit-flavored tablets packaged in foil.

Cameron wrote: "This small act of kindness brought happiness to many many children, some of whom had never before received a gift. If you decide to send another shipment, the children of Thuduc would be most grateful if you would consider them."

SATURDAY "WORK-IN"

The firm took the problem to its workers, who came up with the idea of the Saturday "work-in". Suppliers agreed to donate the material for the candy, which is expected to be shipped soon from West Coast ports.

"We did it to show the Vietnamese people and especially those kids at Thuduc that somebody cares," said Joe Blackwell, one of the volunteers.

Prosecution Opening Mossler Trial Case

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The State of Florida will fire its opening shots today in the trial of Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers—the couple the state charges with joining up in a love affair that led to murder of her wealthy husband.

The first witness to be called on conclusion of the opening statements will be Dr. J. V. Handwerker, a doctor who was summoned in the early morning of June 30, 1964, to an apartment kept by the Mossler family on the resort-residential island of Key Biscayne off Miami.

Handwerker found the body of the 69-year-old Mossler, who had written a will leaving his wife a $28 million estate, lying

Slanted Well Penalties Set

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Herman Jones returned judgments totaling $22,800 and court costs Monday against two Gregg County men for allegedly drilling five slanted oil wells in Gregg and Rusk counties, both in East Texas.

Named in the judgments were Maurine D. Crawford and William Day. Four wells were in Gregg County and one was in Rusk County.

Foes Of Bale Assessment May Stymie Endorsement

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A small group of cotton growers opposing a $1 a bale assessment for the purposes of research and promotion had a last slim chance today to keep the proposal from going to Congress with endorsement of the National Cotton Council.

Most industry leaders favor the program, which would replace a current system of voluntary contributions at $1 a bale. The current program produces about $3 million a year. The new one would supply an estimated $13 million or more.

STATES' RIGHTS
"It will give tremendous authority to the secretary of agriculture," said Walter L. Randolph of Montgomery, Ala., spokesman for the opponents who put his opposition on a principle of states' rights.

He forced a roll call of the 288 voting delegates when the proposal came to the floor of the 28th annual meeting of the council Monday as a recommendation of the production and marketing committee.

Only six delegates in addition to Randolph went on the record failing to approve. They voted "present" rather than "no" but it had the same effect since two-thirds approval was needed from each of seven segments of the cotton industry.

UNANIMOUS OK
It was 43-7 by vote of the producers; 42-0 by vote of ginners. Then a resolution passed declaring unanimous approval by warehouse men, merchants, crushers, cooperatives and spinners.

At the final convention session this afternoon, the proposal comes to a vote again in a general resolution. Industry spokesmen predicted overwhelming approval again.

"I knew I didn't have the votes," Randolph told a newsman, "but I opposed it on principle. It is the same in principle as the proposal to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Law. It would have the effect of federalizing the cotton council."

Congress will be asked to call a referendum of cotton growers on the assessment. Two-thirds approval will be required to put it into effect.

PERMITS REFUND
Although the proposal provides the assessment against all cotton, it would permit any grower who wished to request and receive a refund of his money.

LBJ Said Rejecting Early Hanoi Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has told administration officials he intends to keep a tight rein on any expansion of the Vietnamese war. He is understood to have ruled out any bombing of Hanoi or Haiphong for the immediate future.

Officials said today the President is determined at this time having resumed the bombing in the North, to stick to a middle-course policy. They said he intends to avoid any show of a lack of determination, on the one hand, and any unnecessary escalation on the other.

The pattern of attacks in the new phase of the war following the peace offensive is expected to be consistent with a pattern followed before the pause began.

Bombing was suspended before Christmas and resumed Monday after a 37-day lull.

ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called for an immediate session of the U.N. Security Council to hear a report on the peace effort and receive resolutions designed to continue efforts to get North Viet Nam to negotiate.

Johnson, it was learned, made the basic decision last Saturday to resume the bombing. He had been discussing it with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other advisers throughout the week.

Late Saturday afternoon the President went over targets which had been submitted for the first strikes after the pause ended. He had followed that procedure during the bombings last year, exercising close control over the operations against the North, and will continue to do so, officials said.

Tramp Aiming At Biggest Honor

Wednesday will be a day of great tension for 13-year-old Dolores Lankford, Howard County 4-H Club member.

Tramp, her big Hereford steer which won Saturday the junior grand championship of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, will be pitted against the grand champion of the senior division of the show for the top award of the exposition.

How Tramp comes out of this competition is a matter of much importance to Dolores.

Her victory in the junior division was high honor and the prize money and other awards she has accumulated as a result of this and other victories has piled up into a neat sum.

Her victory in the junior division, assuming Tramp doesn't win the grand championship of the entire show tomorrow, will mean that her calf will bring not less than $2,500 at the sale. However, should the little Howard County girl win the grand championship of the entire show, Tramp's price tag will jump from $2,500 to perhaps as much as $8,500 to $9,000.

In addition, there are other special prizes which go to the exhibitor who shows the grand champion.

All in all, it could well be, if Dolores is lucky, that she will wind up this week with enough money on hand to insure her college career—all because she had great faith in a big, good-natured Hereford calf named Tramp.

Mrs. McCurry Rites Today

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. E. McCurry, 80, died in the Root Valley Fair Lodge in Colorado City, Sunday night, after a long illness.

Mrs. McCurry was born in Wolf County, Ky., July 21, 1885 and married Eugene McCurry in Coryell County in 1903. He died in 1964.

Mrs. McCurry came to Colorado City in 1924. She was a member of the First Assembly of God Church.

Funeral was held today at 2 p.m. in the Kiker and Son Chapel. Rev. Elwayne Schaefer, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, will officiate. Burial was to be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Oren Lipps, Colorado City, and Mrs. J. V. Glover, McCamey; three grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

County Buys Filing System

Howard County Commissioners awarded Williams Typewriters Co., Big Spring, a contract to provide District Court Clerk M. Fern Cox with a new mechanical filing system for the efficient and room-saving handling of cases filed in 118th District Court.

The device, manufactured only by Remington-Rand, will cost $3,638. Its capacity is 16,000 files. The machine is so arranged that all an operator needs to locate any file is to know the case number. When this number is punched on the machine, the file is brought to the hands of the operator.

When put in service, the machine will eliminate a dozen standard filing cases now in use. Room is becoming a problem in the office. The new machine, Cox said, will take up only about a fifth of the room which handling 16,000 cases in ordinary files would require.

Delivery would be made in a month or six weeks, it was indicated.

Man Held For Agents

Federal agents are expected to take custody of Charles Vigin Hainsworth, 45, held here by the county sheriff. Hainsworth is wanted for allegedly cashing two $25 government bonds. The bonds he is said to have cashed are alleged to have been stolen from a parked car in San Bernardino, Calif. Hainsworth was arrested by Sheriff Aubrey Standard's deputies here.

Standard said that his men have returned Daniel G. Parker, 23, Cisco, to Big Spring from San Angelo. Parker is wanted here for a worthless check charge. He is also wanted in Fort Stockton. Standard said Tony Ramirez, accused of aggravated assault, is being held in Midland on a local warrant and will be returned to the county jail here today.

Pancake Supper Set In Coahoma

Threatening Shells Not From Enemy

By EDDIE ADAMS
HOAI CHAU, Viet Nam (AP) — An American infantryman, his face contorted, leaped to his feet in the sand behind me. As we watched in fear and hope, he shouted out, "We're Americans, we're Americans. Don't shoot!"

For 15 minutes we had lain in that open field under a barrage of bullets and mortars that sliced out of a treeline.

There were four of us with nowhere to take cover. Other groups of Americans were in a ditch, and some were hiding behind boulders over graves.

BULLETS SCREAM
The tracer bullets screamed toward us, flying over our heads, picking at the sand between us.

Earlier, I had landed with a medical evacuation helicopter. As the helicopter settled down in the sand, a mass of wounded American soldiers came running toward us.

One of the unhurt men said: "There isn't much left of the company."

As the helicopters left with the wounded, Viet Cong snipers opened up. We inched forward and a sudden blast of fire came in from the right flank.

BLAST AWAY
We slammed into the ground and M79 grenades, 60mm mortars, and 50- and 30-caliber machine-gun bullets came blasting at us.

It was then that the American soldier behind us stood to his feet and cried out, "Don't shoot!"

He threw a purple smoke grenade to the ground. As he stood there, an M79 grenade exploded in the command group just 50 yards ahead of us.

Five men were hit by fragments, including the company commander, Capt. Eugene A. Fox of Washington, D.C. He

King Joins Pickets

Black, identified as an anti-poverty volunteer worker. He was charged with trespassing while handing out blankets at an apartment in the area. (AP Wirephoto)

GIRLS AT BASE IN VIET

Nothing But Men Around, Yet It's Manless World

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There's a place in this mad world where six American girls have the choice of 10,000 men for dates.

The half dozen are the only American girls on the ballooning U.S. air base of Tan Son Nhut, a key to military lifelines to the war.

The girls walk past so many tough, good-looking guys every day they get so they don't see them any more. The same can't be said for the guys, who see very few female "round eyes" in an Oriental world.

How do the girls feel about it? "Oh, we survive," says Joan Ray of Greenville, Pa.

She works for the deputy chief of intelligence and has the soft voice and buttoned-up lip to go with the delicate job. Before this she worked as a secretary for four years in the Atomic Energy Commission and is so top-secret conscious she won't even give her age. It's probably around a cozy 25.

"You get used to it," says Joan. Her roommate, Janie Coffman, 27, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, interjected: "It's a manless world anyhow. Those boys work so hard all day and part of the night they're bushed. So do we and we're bushed."

Janie is private secretary to Lt. Gen. Joseph Moore, Air Force commander in Viet Nam, and as such sees every VIP who shows up.

"I wrote my little old grandmother in Council Bluffs about meeting Bob Hope and senator so-and-so and lots of others and she didn't think much of it," the pert, petite, Janie observed.

"But when I was home on leave and told her I met Perry Mason (Raymond Burr) she got real excited and impressed."

NO TIME
The Iowa girl confessed to keeping an eye out for the right man but the trouble is there are too darn many around with too darn many things to do. "I used to think in terms of tall, blond athlete," she said with a giggle. "Now, I'm not so sure. I guess I'm not so finicky, if I find the right one."

Joan made it pretty clear she's going to be thinking of the right one some place else, in due time.

Meantime, the girls live in a swirling, dusty daytime and a hot, tired nighttime in an apartment where "you just never seem to be able to get anything done."

"No matter what you want done, it seems too difficult for the Vietnamese," said Janie. "But that's all part of the beautiful little frustrations."

ARTILLERY RATTLE
The girls hear the rattle of artillery and bombs all the time. Just as everyone else does in Saigon. It doesn't bother them. They're also used to the constant rush of ambulances and fire engines to the landing areas, either to pick up American casualties or to stand by when a crippled plane is trying to land.

"We feel we all belong here," said Janie, and Joan nodded assent. "We know what we're fighting for and against and that's all that matters."

"In fact I feel safer here than I do on the streets at night at home. And we all like the Vietnamese. They are nice people once you get to know them."

January departed the Big Spring scene in the role of a roaring lion—the roaring being a raging wind which reportedly did some slight damage to trees, with the reddish color of a better than millrum dust storm.

The blowing sand moved in on gusty winds around noon. It continued without let-up until dusk. Then, as suddenly as it had arisen, it disappeared and by mid-evening the skies were clear, the stars brilliantly bright. Tuesday, the day before

Ground Hog Day, dawned bright and clear with the sun doing its best to dispel the chill which persisted on the heels of last week's wintry weather.

It was still cold at noon, despite the sunshine, with the temperature below freezing.

Whether the proverbial Ground Hog will see his shadow Wednesday morning is yet to be determined. Certainly, had he emerged from his den this morning, he would have seen his shadow etched black and clear.

According to the ancient belief, if the dawn on Feb. 2 is ushered in with a bright sun, there are six dreary weeks of winter weather yet to be endured before spring is here. If, on the other hand, the skies are clouded tomorrow morning, then the winter has passed and spring is, to all intents and purposes, at hand.

Mrs. Ellis' Services Today
Services were held at 2:30 p.m. today in the River-Welch Chapel for Mrs. Mary Gilmore Ellis, 97, long-time resident of Big Spring who died Sunday. The Rev. Robert Polk, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in the City Cemetery.

Mrs. Ellis is survived by one daughter, Mrs. M. C. Stulting, Big Spring; one granddaughter, Mrs. John L. Taylor, Big Spring; and four great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were Uner Powell, Bill Dawes, Robert Currie, Raymond Sims, Freeland Austin, and Harvey Hooser.

Paul Soldan, chairman of health and safety, said that after Friday the entry lists will be closed. The contest will be held at the Runnels gymnasium the evening of Feb. 14. Soldan has a team of judges organized for the event.

He leaves one son, W. D. Stamps, Bakersfield, Calif. Pallbearers were Travis Reed, G. W. Dabney, H. F. Jarrett, Joe Tuckness, H. L. Shirley and J. T. Gilmore.

DeWitt Davis Dies, Rites Set Wednesday

DeWitt Davis, 89, 604 Runnels, resident of Big Spring since 1942, died today at 5:55 a.m. in a local hospital.

Services will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Big Spring First Presbyterian Church, with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Masonic section of the City Cemetery, under the direction of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Davis was born Jan. 12, 1877, in Argyle, and married Miss Enzie Elizabeth Hinds Aug. 7, 1907, at Baird. They moved to Big Spring in 1942, where he was associated with the John Davis Feed Store until his retirement.

An elder in the First Presbyterian Church, he was elected life president of his Sunday school class in 1960. He was a member of the Big Spring Staked Plains Lodge No. 598 and was a Scottish Rite Mason who received his 50-year Masonic membership pin Dec. 4, 1963, from the Grand Lodge of Texas. He was a member of El Media Temple of the Shrine in El Paso.

He was a member of the Big Spring Chapter No. 178, Royal Arch Masons, the Big Spring Council No. 117, Royal and Select Masters, and a member of the El Paso Consistory.

He was preceded in death by one son, W. A. Davis. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Enzie Elizabeth Davis; two sons, J. N. Davis, El Paso, and Samuel DeWitt Davis Jr., Waco; two sisters, Mrs. M. T. Montgomery, Rotan, and Mrs. Kate Hines, Big Spring; three grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Van Meter Is Hospitalized
Donald Van Meter, director of the Veterans Administration Hospital, is in Providence Hospital in El Paso where he is undergoing treatment.

He was en route home from a VA conference in San Francisco when he became ill and entered the hospital for treatment of lung congestion, and for tests.

Van Meter is reported staying with Mrs. VanMeter in El Paso at the Sahara Motel in El Paso.

Enrollment Is At 800 Mark
Enrollment at Howard County Junior College is at the 800 mark.

At noon today, 788 have cleared the business office, said Registrar B. M. Keese, and 17 others are in the process of completing their registration.

Students may continue to sign this week between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. through Friday, and on the same schedule next Monday, which is the final time for enrolling for the spring semester.

Error Corrected
An error on the Planning and Zoning Commission agenda was reported Monday. A request for zone change from "general residential" to "commercial" to be made today at 5:15 p.m. on property in the Bauer Addition will be made by Hull & Phillips, not Al Milch, as previously reported.

HD Club Shown New Style Trends

WESTBROOK (SC) — "Style Trends Appropriate for the Individual," was the program topic at the Monday afternoon meeting of the Westbrook Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Hoyt Roberts was hostess and Miss Idalia Wood, county agent, conducted the program.

Program Given At Rest Home

Community mission day was observed during the Monday morning meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Stadium Baptist Church. The members met at the church with Mrs. B. D. Rice presiding. The six members went to the Sunshine Rest Home, near Ackery, and conducted a program of Scripture reading and songs. Refreshments were served to the patients. Mrs. J. W. Arnett and Mrs. Rupert Madrey gave prayers. The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Rice.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

An area school has home economic classes for boys and the girls have the opportunity to have a sort of shop course which just might be a good thing. Just think of how many boys keep house when they go away to college and have a try at cooking, keeping the apartment reasonably clean and some even do their laundry. This leads on to the day when they are going to make mighty helpful husbands.

On the other hand it will be handy for the young women to recognize a screwdriver or socket wrench. It's upsetting to have to learn the hard way... when the husband is on top of the house or under a car and the wife is running back and forth getting the tools he never thought of taking with him. When he wants a monkey wrench a socket wrench won't do, and when he wants a Phillips head screwdriver a plain one won't do. I just mention this to let the readers know I learned... the hard way.

We had such a good time with out of town visitors along with our in town guests Sunday. Here from Lamesa were MR. and MRS. DON DUKE, MR. and MRS. C. W. DUKE and MR. and MRS. A. B. HARWELL. The H. R. PICKLES came down from Lubbock and the PHIL

Anniversary Marked At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, 4003 Wasson, were honored with a silver wedding anniversary open house Sunday afternoon at their home.

Hosts for the event were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Alexander, and Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Jones, all of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Long.

The refreshment table was covered with white net, over a pink taffeta underlay, edged with silver roses. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and silver seasonal flowers, and silver and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Jack Hanks, Odessa, and Mrs. Charles Priddy, Denver City, assisted at the refreshment table. Mrs. J. B. Sample was in charge of the register.

Among the 100 guests calling between the hours of 3:30 and 5 p.m. were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kendrick and Charles Priddy, Denver City; Mr. and Mrs. Odell Wilson and children, Warren and Nanette, and Jack Hanks, all of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Royce Johnson and Robert, Water Valley.

Hears Talk On Orchids

The dividing and re-potting of orchids was shown by Victor Williams of Midland at the Sunday afternoon meeting of the Permian Basin Orchid Society.

The members met in Midland at the First National Bank Building with Mrs. Preston Harrison of Big Spring presiding.

Williams stressed that the time to divide and re-pot is when the plant has outgrown its container or when it is just beginning to put out new growth.

Twelve attended with orchid plants being awarded to Mrs. Harrison and Horace Whiteside, also of Big Spring.

The next meeting will be Feb. 20 in Midland when slides will be shown.

Mitchell County HD Clubs Hear Activity Reports

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. R. M. McMillan presided at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Mitchell County Home Demonstration Council at the Medallion Room.

Eight home demonstration clubs were represented with 20 members attending. Miss Idalia Wood, county agent, conducted the meeting, and the treasurer reported a balance of $325.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. Swan Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Blessingame, Miss Wood, Mrs. Harry Dockrey, Mrs. Sam Armstrong, Mrs. Maggie Hamrick, Mrs. Bud Shepherd, and Mrs. Raymond Wheeler.

The standing rules for the 1966 term were adopted, and the group planned to sell pie pans during the stock shows and fairs.

The next meeting will be a Feb. 8 covered dish luncheon at the Medallion Room.

Don Tarbets End Coahoma Visit

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Don Tarbet and children, Perry and Patty, of Albuquerque, N. M., left Thursday after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett Sr., in Sand Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roberts spent Thursday in Midland visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Roberts.

William E. Miller of the Midway Community is a patient at the Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Wellborn and son, Gregory, of Ackery, spent Thursday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lilly, in Sand Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller are visiting in Fort Worth with their son and his family, the Rob Millers.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Turner, Odessa, are the parents of a son, Cary Todd, born Jan. 27. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner, Odessa, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alva Boyd, Midland. The paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Roberts, Midland, former residents of Coahoma.

Mrs. Fred Dean, Odessa, has been a recent visitor in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Stover.

Colorful Baths

Bathroom fixtures now come in a wide variety of colors — blues, yellows, greens, pinks, beiges, grays — to match any color scheme. Multi-colored tubs also are possible to find.

Miss House Marries William C. Etchison

Miss Margaret Lea House and William C. Etchison were married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Luke's Methodist Church in Midland. The Rev. W. A. Appling officiated, assisted by J. W. Thorne, for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. House Sr., 3228 Fannin, Midland, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cramer, Scenic Drive. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Etchison Jr., 716 Arliss Drive, Waco.

The altar was illuminated by seven-branched candelabra and graced with vases of white carnations and stock interspersed with greenery. Mrs. Huch Dickson was the organist.

The bride wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace with sculpture bodice and softly pleated skirt accented with clusters of peau de soie roses. The bodice featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline, dotted with seed pearls, and had sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was held by a petal caplet touched with seed pearls and crystals.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white orchids and carnations showered in white satin picot tied in loveknots.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Malcolm Roberts of Tulsa, Okla., was the matron of honor. Mrs. G. H. House Jr. of Denton, was a bridesmatron, and Miss Shirley Fink of Hamilton was the bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's sister, Sheila Etchison, was the flower girl, while the candle lighters were the bride's brother, Dub House, David Pederson and Rob and Mike McGowan.

Bryon Etchison served as his brother's best man, and groomsmen were Donald Schmidt and F. L. Matthews, both of Waco.

The feminine attendants wore matching formal gowns of hot pink peau de soie, fashioned with molded bodices and full skirts. Their headresses were peau de soie bows accented with pale pink silk illusion veils. They wore short white silk gloves and carried colonial nosegays of pink carnations. The flower girl carried a white lace basket from which she scattered white flower petals.

At the reception in the church parlor, guests were registered by Mrs. Robert Turner, and Mrs. Wendell Westerfield and Mrs. W. H. Barkley presided at the refreshment table.

An arrangement of white stock and carnations graced the bridal table, and members of the house party wore shoulder corsages of white carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Midland Lee High School in Midland, attended North Texas State University, and the bridegroom is a student at Baylor University at Waco where the couple will reside.

It was announced that $66 has been raised by the "vanishing parties" project for national fellowship awards. The last party was a hatmaking party with Miss Mary Foreman and Miss Gladys Burnham as hostesses. Also, members were told that the dance and drama workshop at the state hospital has been adopted on a full-time basis.

The local branch will host a workshop March 3 for area representatives of District Two, and the San Angelo Branch will sponsor a review of "The Source" Feb. 5.

Mrs. William Peden is leading a group of members to write stories for the Texas Adult Literary Writing Project. Members will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Peden.

The next study group meeting will be Feb. 7 in the Community Room. Civil government will be discussed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Albert Condon, Miss Elizabeth Daniel, Mrs. Taylor Eubank, Mrs. Robert Kuefner, Mrs. Sam Pieper, Mrs. Joe Shafer and Mrs. William Peden.

AAUW Speaker Dwells On Defects Of Society

How the defects of society are traced to the defects of mankind was noted by Mrs. O. T. Brewster Monday evening when she discussed "Genesis of the Social Conscience" in relation to the book, "Lord of the Flies."

Mrs. Brewster spoke before the Big Spring Branch of the American Association of University Women in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gary Sims presided, introducing four guests to the 30 members attending. The guests were Mrs. Jack Dunn, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Dick Rossmiller and Mrs. Dale Nowicki.

It was announced that $66 has been raised by the "vanishing parties" project for national fellowship awards. The last party was a hatmaking party with Miss Mary Foreman and Miss Gladys Burnham as hostesses.

Miss Love Honored With Hospital Party

A multi-colored beach ball, a miniature baseball bat, "fun money" and an orchid corsage were some of the gifts presented to Miss Bessie Love at her Monday afternoon farewell tea at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Miss Love, chief of nursing services at the hospital, began her retirement by making plans for trips to Florida and Houston.

"Tomorrow, I am going to spend the day packing for my Wednesday flight to Jensen Beach," she said. "I'll probably be the only one on the plane with my own beach ball."

She plans to meet her sister and brother-in-law in Florida and spend the vacation sightseeing and deep sea fishing. Later she plans to see some baseball in Houston.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli, carnations and greenery, a gift from Dr. and Mrs. Charles Miller.

Members of the nursing staff made the hors d'oeuvres and refreshments.

Assisting with the serving were Miss Frances Bartlett, Mrs. Joe Peay, Mrs. Harold Bell, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Dick Egan, Mrs. Ed Fisher, Miss Charlene Goins, Mrs. Henry Dirks, Miss Jane Linder and Mrs. Horace Smith. Mrs. Jerry Metcalf was in charge of the register.

Escape Through Cemetery In Viet Nam

A twisting line of U.S. 1st Cavalry Division soldiers, several of them wounded, race through Viet Cong sniper fire to reach helicopter in cemetery in Hoi Chi. Sand and airblasts from helicopter rotor blades whip at them as they circle grave stones. The troops of unit that were not evacuated on helicopter were caught in a deadly crossfire when friendly South Vietnamese troops mistakenly opened fire on them also. (AP Wirephoto)

Viet Reds Dealt Heavy Blows By Air, Ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while on the ground American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a giant vise along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes — one Air Force and two Navy jets — were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

PILOT MISSING
The pilots of the two Navy planes were rescued, but the pilot of an Air Force F105 Thunderchief was missing about 20 miles south of Vinh. He pulled into cloud cover and disappeared. Rescue efforts were called off after a search, the spokesman said.

As U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes roared over the north again, the combined allied Operation Masher in the rice fields and jungles 290 miles northeast of Saigon smashed at a large Viet Cong force from three sides. Some of the guerrillas were reported ripping off their green jungle fighting suits and donning the black pajamas of the Vietnamese peasantry in a desperate effort to escape.

In addition to the 488 dead reported, six days of heavy fighting with the hard-core Viet Cong backed up by North Vietnamese regulars yielded 12 enemy prisoners and 408 suspects. A U.S. Army spokesman said intelligence had established that 75 per cent of the suspects are Viet Cong.

BATTLE RAGES
The battle raged over an area 13 miles wide and 10 miles deep. Units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division were pressing the Communists from the south and west, while South Vietnamese and South Korean marines were hitting from other directions. An American spokesman said the battering by ground forces, artillery and air strikes appeared to have convinced the Communists their only escape from an area they have held for 15 years lies to the hills in the west.

Of the Communist toll of dead, 100 were credited to the Vietnamese force of several regiments and 75 to the South Korean marines on the flank.

U.S. and Korean casualties remain light, military spokesmen said, but the South Vietnamese suffered moderate losses. In their use of the term moderate, they mean anywhere from one-tenth to one-third of the total force involved.

A government spokesman said the Vietnamese troops have been in a half dozen fierce fire fights and while the number of dead is low, "the number of wounded is quite high."

Two new punishing actions against the insurgents opened up south of Saigon.

OPEN ATTACK
The Vietnamese 9th Division kicked off a regimental size search and destroy attack in Vinh Binh Province 62 miles southwest of Saigon Monday and reported 78 Viet Cong killed and eight captured.

A spokesman estimated that another 30 bodies were carried away by the retreating Viet Cong who left behind 31 weapons, including two East German machine guns and four Czech light automatic weapons.

U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops, 10 miles east of Saigon sent back word they had uncovered a big bunker complex and called in air, artillery and tank fire to destroy it. Dug-in Viet Cong continued small-arms fire. The air strikes could be seen from downtown Saigon.

U.S. Marines based at Da Nang and the units which landed from the sea south of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, last Friday reported little contact with the enemy.

Union Shop Bill Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate resumes debate today on the union shop bill with no end to the talkfest in sight.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he will begin holding seven-hour or eight-hour sessions in his attempt to wear out opponents of the bill which would repeal the right of states to outlaw union shop contracts.

The Montana senator told a reporter he had no idea when the stalemate would end. He said he looked for nothing but talking during the remainder of the week.

So far opponents of the measure have been conducting their filibuster against Mansfield's preliminary motion to bring up the bill which repeals section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Mansfield agreed Monday to a short three-hour session because of the crippling snowstorm that marooned many Senate members and employees.

RECORD FOR A YEAR

Earnings At GM Top $2 Billion

DETROIT (AP) — With profits zooming by $391 million in 1965, General Motors has become the first corporation ever to report a year's earnings of more than $2 billion.

Before the report Monday, GM's stock closed at $102.75 a share, down 87 1/2 cents for the day, on the New York Stock Exchange.

EARNINGS SOAR
GM's 1965 earnings soared 23 per cent above 1964's to a record $2.12 billion. It was a fourth straight record-breaking year for the world's largest manufacturing enterprise.

Dividends and sales also set records.

REWARD DIVIDENDS
The company paid dividends of $5.25 a share in 1965, including a special year-end of $2.25, paying out a total of $1.49 billion to holders of common stock.

The 1964 payout was $4.45 a share. Both these were records. Net earnings equaled $7.41 a share last year, compared with a previous high mark of $4.05 in 1964.

Sales were estimated at $20.7 billion, an increase of 22 per cent over the previous record of $17.0 billion the previous year.

Air Force Counters 'Squatters' At Base

GREenville, Miss. (AP) — The Air Force flew 100 officers and airmen into its deactivated Greenville base early today to counter an invasion by a band of Negro squatters.

"We will secure the base from further demonstrators," said Maj. George Hennrikus, an Air Force information officer. "Under no circumstances will our men be equipped with weapons."

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a determined bid to make their capture of an abandoned building force special antipoverty help from the federal government.

The Negroes said they were hungry and had no jobs or land.

BOLSTERS GROUP
The Air Force contingent, flown in from five bases, bolstered Lt. Col. George Andrews, the only Air Force officer on the base, and his 27 civilians.

Most of the Air Force troops were air policemen. There were also some medical personnel.

Asked if the Air Force would use force in dealing with the squatters, Hennrikus said no men would be armed. "They will be equipped with billy clubs."

The band, chiefly Negroes, forced their way onto deactivated Greenville Air Force Base Monday despite the objections of civilian guards, who said later they were caught by surprise.

Once gathered in an unheated, one-story building near the main gate, the group issued a manifesto of complaints and demands.

"We are asking President Johnson whose side he is on — the poor people or the millionaires."

Lt. Col. Andrews said he was kicked in the shin by one of the Negroes. He said he had alerted the White House and the Air Force chief of staff about the land grabbers.

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the squatters said. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

The Air Force shut down operations on the base last March but maintains control of it with Andrews having charge of 27 civilians.

Some of the Negroes claimed they were evicted from their homes by plantation owners but declined to give the names of the landowners.

During the cold night, the group huddled on the floor around coal-burning stoves. They had smashed out two windows and stuck stovepipes through them. A paper sign on one door said: "This is our home. Please knock before entering."

The first group to invade the base numbered about 35. They carried blankets and clothing. Later in the day about 15 others, including old women and small children, joined them.

They identified themselves as the "Poor People's Conference."

Ida Mae Lawrence, identified as their spokesman, said they wanted a government program to provide emergency food for the poor. She said antipoverty funds should be administered by the Freedom Democratic party, the Poor People's Conference, the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union and the Delta ministry — not by state officials.

Opening lead: King of ♠ Today's hand produced some wide swings when it was dealt in a recent tournament.

The bidding sequence depicted in the diagram occurred at a number of tables. South opened with one club and West overcalled with one heart. North freely bid two diamonds and East jumped to four hearts.

South had a minimum opening bid and passed the decision around to his partner. North persisted to five clubs and East competed once more with five hearts. It was not clear to which side the hand belonged, so South passed again and North carried on to six clubs. East doubled and the auction subsided.

While the double of a slam bid is normally a conventional call that asks for the lead of the first suit bid by dummy, the highly competitive auction produced a doubt in West's mind regarding his partner's intention.

West chose to open the king of spades in order to look at the dummy. With the appearance of a singleton spade and two small hearts in the North hand, West decided to play his partner for the ace of hearts and he shifted to that suit.

East's queen of hearts was taken by South's ace and the latter cashed the king of clubs. When West showed out, dummy was entered by ruffing a spade and the proven club finesse was taken. The last trump was drawn and declarer discarded his remaining spade and heart on North's diamonds. The profit for the doubled slam was 1,540 points.

At a few tables, West became the declarer at six hearts which was doubled. A spade lead defeats the slam for, when South gets in with the heart ace, he can give his partner a spade ruff. Where North led the king of diamonds, West ruffed in dummy, ruffed the ace of hearts, ruffed the club return and drew trumps. He trumped one more diamond and sluffed the remaining three on East's spades. East-West scored 1,600 points on the deal.

At one table where South was in six clubs doubled, West — for reasons best known to himself — led his fourth best heart. South played the ace and, after the king of clubs revealed the necessity for a trump finesse, he attempted to enter the dummy with the king of diamonds. East ruffed, cashed the king of hearts and then put his partner in with a spade for another diamond ruff. South suffered an 800-point loss on the deal.

Snowdrifts Smother Eastern Communities

By The Associated Press
Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y., still was in the grip of blizzard snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario. Four feet of snow covered some parts of the city.

RECORD SNOWFALL
The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va., and 32 inches at Lynchburg, Va. Florida recovered from its frost and freeze and mild weather pressed in from the Gulf of Mexico along the coast to Texas.

Mrs. Tippit Donations Up

DALLAS (AP)—Board members of the Dallas Policemen's and Firemen's Welfare Fund Monday decided to keep $337.73 sent to the widow of Patrolman J. D. Tippit "until she asks for it."

Tippit is the policeman shot to death by Lee Harvey Oswald a few minutes after the assassin killed President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963. Asst. City Auditor C. F. Craig said since disbursement of the Tippit moneys had to be done through court order, the Policemen's and Firemen's fund would retain $337.73 "until she asks for it or until it grows to where we ask the court to take it over."

Craig said Mrs. Tippit had received a total of $656,391.58 from donors from all over the country.

DDD Means Swapping 4 For 7 In Phone Number

Harry Sawyer, manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, reminded customers today that all remaining AMherst 4 telephone numbers will change when Direct Distance Dialing goes into service here next summer. Sawyer said that approximately 4,400 telephone numbers will be affected when the change-over is made and that it is necessary.

"Changing telephone numbers is something we do not like to do," he said, "but it is necessary in order to bring Direct Distance Dialing service to our Big Spring customers."

Sawyer also said that the last four digits of a customer's telephone number will probably not be affected. "For example," he said, "supposing that your telephone number is AMherst 4-6012. In all probability your new telephone number will be AMherst 7-6012. Now there may be some isolated cases where the entire number will have to be changed but for the most part I think the numbers will remain the same except for the prefix of AMherst 4 which will change to AMherst 7."

The manager reported that work on the DDD program was on schedule. He said that a positive cutover date will be announced within the next 30 to 60 days and that a customer education program will move into full operation at the time.

"We want our customers to know how to use this service and hope to anticipate most of their questions about it," he

Headaches - 15,000,000

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
Several years ago, Readers Digest magazine ran an article saying there were 15,000,000 Americans suffering from headaches. Their article told of special researches on headaches and stated — "experts now believe that practically all chronic headaches were traceable to dilated vessels in the head or to the effects of muscle tension, or to a combination of both."

Note these quotes carefully: "Routine tension headaches — usually start in the back of the neck or base of the skull — head and neck muscles become rigid, go into spasm. With sustained contraction comes constriction of the blood vessels and their network of nerves. Decreased circulation adds to the pain of the muscle spasm. The headaches begin."

Arterial blood vessels have muscles in their walls and these muscles run in a circular manner around the vessels. Nerves

Labor To Be Imported To Help Salvage Citrus

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Florida growers moved swiftly today to bring in West Indian laborers to help harvest millions of boxes of citrus hard hit by cold weather.

Wirtz, who had insisted that domestic labor be used to harvest the crops in Florida, relented after weekend subfreezing temperatures swept the state. Growers, fighting desperately to salvage their fruit, were grateful.

Gov. Haydon Burns telegraphed Wirtz Monday saying, "Your immediate approval of emergency offshore labor is sorely needed and will be greatly appreciated."

NO LIMIT
Approval was quickly granted, and Burns said no limit was placed on the number of West Indian laborers who would be allowed to work in Florida.

"This is most gratifying to our growers," said Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of Florida Citrus Mutual, the state's largest grower cooperative.

Rutledge said 1,500 West Indian workers probably would be in the state by next Saturday and 3,000 may be needed. They will be flown in by chartered plane. Dry, cold air spread frost over the entire state, forcing growers to begin to harvest millions of boxes of citrus immediately. The fruit must be gathered quickly after the frost, and growers say sufficient domestic labor is not available.

Rutledge estimated 15 million boxes of oranges and 43 million boxes of Valencia remain on the trees. About 20 million boxes of grapefruit have yet to be harvested.

STILL ON TREES
Rutledge said there was no estimate of citrus damage but the loss would be considerably less than in 1957, and there was no tree damage. Temperatures ranged from 14 at Tallahassee in extreme north Florida to 47 at Key West. The low at Miami Airport was 35 and at Miami Beach it was 37.

The temperature Monday dropped to 19 degrees near South Bay, on the southern shore of Lake Okeechobee, and extensive damage was reported there to young sugar cane and sweet corn.

John H. Causey, associate Palm Beach County agricultural agent, said the freeze lasted from 10 to 13 hours in Everglades farming areas and it will be several days before an accurate estimate of the loss to sugar cane and vegetables can be made.

Doyle Conner, state agriculture commissioner, said the vegetable harvest would be set back three months by the need for replanting.

Bomb Scare Stalls Royal Tour Start 29 Minutes

LONDON (AP) — After a 29-minute delay due to a false bomb alarm, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip took off today for a five-week tour of Commonwealth territories in the sunny Caribbean.

Philip will go on to the United States to seek a million dollars for charity and more trade for Britain.

Just before the queen and her husband were to board their jetliner, an anonymous caller telephoned London Airport that a bomb was aboard the plane. The couple waited in the royal lounge while security men searched the plane, but no bomb was found. The tour will take the royal couple to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and 12 British territories in the area, including restive British Guiana.

For the first leg of their journey, the queen and Philip were flying by super VC10, the rear-engine jet British Overseas Airways Corp. uses for intercontinental flights.

The royal plane was to refuel in Gander, Nfld., then fly to Barbados. There the queen and her husband will board the royal yacht Britannia and sail to British Guiana, where the tour officially begins Friday.

A Devotional For The Day

All I care for is to know Christ, to experience the power of His resurrection, and to share his sufferings. (Philippians 3:10, NEB)

PRAYER: Bless, O Lord, all those who this day must suffer grievous pain. Help them to share Thy sufferings, Thy death, Thy glorious resurrection. In Thy spirit we pray for them. Amen.

Second, Logical Step

Texas has not yet assessed the results of its revision of the Code of Criminal Procedure, but its objective is expeditious administration of justice. Despite confusion surrounding it and some premature attacks upon it, the code should in general be a step in the right direction.

A second step is now in order. The revision of the Texas Penal Code, the State Bar is working on the code and may have it ready for the 1967 Legislature. The Penal Code lists crimes, defines them, and prescribes the range of minimum to maximum punishments.

The Texas Penal Code has not been completely revised since 1925, but has been haphazardly amended over the past 40 years. As a result, much of the code is an anachronism under modern concepts of penology.

Worse, the code contains a bewilderingly complex classification of crimes. And the dissimilar punishment prescribed for similar offenses, notably in a fantastically wide variety of theft charges, are not only inequi-but in some instances nonsensical. The apparent needs are to simplify the classifications of crimes, achieve a uniform range of maximum and minimum penalties for similar offenses, allow judge and jury more latitude in sentencing, draw a clearer line between the misdemeanor and felonies, and redefine criminal offenses to adjust to circumstances in contemporary society.

In one way it will be easier to rewrite the Penal Code than it was to revise the Code of Criminal Procedure, because constitutional questions will not be involved. But there will be highly controversial issues encountered — for a prime example, whether to abolish the death penalty or not.

The State Bar is to be commended for taking on so soon — though none too soon — another major task toward improving Texas justice. And the Legislature should be prepared, if bar members approve their committee's recommendations, to undertake an enlightened revision of this state's outmoded Penal Code.

Another Bright Outlook

Add to the list of forecasts of a busy 1966 that of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America in its Index of Credit Reporting. Although the index showed December down by two per cent from November, it nevertheless was nine per cent over December of 1964. By the same token, the index showed a growth in credit reports during 1965 of 11 per cent. This compares with seven per cent in 1964 and an average of six per cent for the past 10 years. The only other year equal to 1965 in percentage of growth was 1959, which also was up 11 per cent. The 1965 record, however, is even more impressive for it was having to improve on several successive expanding years.

Perhaps the dip in December may presage a slight moderation this year, but Dr. Robert B. Williamson, associated professor of finance at the University of Texas, said it was the consensus of recognized authorities that consumer spending and borrowing will show large increases in 1966. The trend this year may be more to non-durable goods and services, thus lessening the dollar volume somewhat. In the past, the turning points in credit reporting have appeared to lead to turning points in the economy, thus there is some assurance in the outlook from the current report.

Marquis Childs McNamara's Battles

WASHINGTON — In the somber drama of the three-hour meeting of Congressional leaders at the White House on the bombing issue, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made the most dramatic presentation. Many present felt that they were re-living moments as grave as the Cuban missile crisis when nuclear war hung in the balance.

MENAMARA TOOK the key document in the case of resuming bombing of North Viet Nam and with his wily kids in the Pentagon translated it into charts and graphs. That document was the urgent, top-secret message from Adm. Ulysses S. Grant Sharp Jr. With facts and photographs based on aerial reconnaissance Sharp, commander-in-chief in the Pacific, declared that infiltration of men and military materiel in the bombing pause threatened the security of the defenders of South Viet Nam.

It was a masterful presentation showing how not just jungle infiltration trails but truck routes from north to south had been re-established. The McNamara graphs put estimates on the volume of men, guns, food and other supplies that had moved north since the bombing was suspended.

IF ANY SINGLE act could have underscored the increasingly vital role McNamara has assumed, this was it. Harried, pushed almost beyond endurance, he occasionally shows the impatience of a man who, having a mind of extraordinary capacity, does not suffer fools gladly. Yet he is faced on Capitol Hill with a revolt that has an ever-broader base.

An episode in the small war within a war early in January shows how the tension between the master of the Pentagon and the committee chairmen bent on holding the purse strings flairs up. From the McNamara view on the Pentagon side of the Potomac, the generalissimo of the opposing forces is Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, the silver-haired South Carolinian who is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. Opposition to closing military bases, to phasing out the manned bomber, every aspect of the attack is believed concentrated in the committee and its hard-working chairman.

MENAMARA GOT word, which he passed on to the White House, that Rivers was taking top-ranking members of his committee to Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico. Rivers had asked the Defense Department for a plane to fly eight or nine committee members to Ramey early in January ostensibly for a study of installations in Puerto Rico, one of which is to be closed.

But McNamara's staff suspected the objective was to plan strategy for a campaign against the Secretary of Defense. By what no one considers a mere coincidence, the meeting would take place while top Air Force commanders from around the world were holding their annual conference at Ramey. When Gen. John P. McConnell, Chief of Staff of the Air Force, god word of the Congressional rally, he postponed the commanders' conference until February.

WITH RIVERS went the ranking Democrats on his committee. Philip J. Philipin, Massachusetts, and F. Edward Hebert, Louisiana, and four top Republicans, William H. Bates, Massachusetts, Alvin O'Konalski, Wisconsin, William G. Bray, Indiana, and Bob Wilson, California. McNamara appeared before Hebert's subcommittee to read a complicated statement on America's posture with the passing of the B-52. To his dismay, not a question came from the committee.

But if the Secretary is dismayed, Rivers, who has a quick-burning temper, is indignant. This is not the last skirmish in the small war on Capitol Hill.

Too Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A brief report in Ohio State University's alumni magazine suggests that there may be such a thing as being too good.

A senior transfer student, who had been majoring in dramatic literature at Northwestern University, took the oral test for speech defects while going through OSU's orientation. Her diction was so unusually good that the examiner—until she explained why—suspected it must result from some speech defect.

ORPHANS OF THE STORM

James Marlow

Views Varied On Conducting The Air War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both the hawks and doves probably were dissatisfied with the way the air war against North Viet Nam was restarted.

The hawks wanted to raise the level of the targets — to hit industrial, power, port, petroleum supplies and other Communist resources, including those around Hanoi and Haiphong, North Viet Nam's capital and chief port.

THE DOVES wanted the bombing pause continued longer, perhaps indefinitely.

The first bombing strikes after a 37-day break for the peace offensive involved roughly the same order of targets and the same areas that were hit when the air war in the North began just short of a year ago.

THE PROponents of escalation claim these objectives were hit repeatedly before the pause — and that the infiltration actually grew rather than diminished.

President Johnson indicated strongly Monday that bombing operations in the North will remain under tight control from the White House.

But by no means did Johnson foreclose the possibility that the United States may find it necessary to escalate the war by slamming targets which so far have been only nicked, or not struck at all.

THERE'S A broad body of opinion in the military and in Congress which holds there is little sense in returning to the air war at the old stand.

Officers and congressmen holding this view argue that the only logical course now is to heap punishment on the Communists in North Viet Nam — to hit them where it really hurts.

As a counterweight to this, certain officials in the State Department reportedly have favoring holding the bombing to a lower target level, strictly along the infiltration routes.

The terms hawk and dove actually are oversimplifications. There is a range of views in both general camps — varying degrees of hawkism and dovism.

FOR EXAMPLE, nobody could legitimately characterize any of the military chiefs as doves. Yet, there are divergencies among them on various aspects of the war.

(Today's column by AP's Fred S. Hofman substitutes for Gen. John P. McConnell, the Air Force chief of staff, is understood to be eager to turn his B52 heavy jet bombers against North Viet Nam. Other members of the Joint Chiefs would place priorities elsewhere.

Chief of naval operations, action against the port of Haiphong — the main intake of seaborne supplies from the Soviet Union — bulks perhaps more important.

NEW YORK (AP) — The best way to improve a wife is to stay married to her.

Some things don't improve much with age. Wives are an exception. The longer they are married the better persons they become. Of course this may not hold true in all cases — but it is the general rule.

A 10-YEAR-OLD automobile is about ready for the junk pile. Its gloss is gone, it creaks and squeaks, its performance is faulty, and it costs too much to have it overhauled.

Some men think wives are like that. Since it is illegal to throw a wife on a junk pile, they dispose of her in some more orderly manner, and get a new model.

But they are wrong. A wife is not like an automobile at all. Ten years after saying "I do" at the altar, she is just beginning to show her mettle.

EVERY YEAR after that she gets better and more useful to her husband. After 15 or 20 years she may need an occasional repair job, but she is certainly well worth it. After 25 years a wife becomes an indispensable woman. A wise husband then begins to treat her as a member of the family.

After all, she has earned this right. It is only her due, and high time a husband quit insisting that she salute him whenever he comes into the room.

She may still believe that money grows on trees, but she realizes that kind of tree doesn't grow in your back yard.

IF SHE continues to think candlelight dinners at home are romantic, she goes ahead and lights the candles herself instead of bothering you about them.

If she finds a blonde hair on your coat, she doesn't make a big scene. She knows some dame just brushed against you on the bus. On the dough you make how could you even afford to buy the first twig to build a love nest?

She never asks to be taken anywhere on weekends between September and mid-January. She accepts the fact that every red-blooded male's place at these times is before a television set drinking beer and watching football games.

If her vacuum cleaner breaks down, she doesn't ask you to fix it. That way lies madness. She fixes it herself.

Around The Rim Of Groundhog Withstands Logic

We may be able to send a rocket to the moon. Perhaps in a few years, we will be able to shoot a missile to a distant planet and have it manned by astronauts.

WE CAN prove and disprove nearly anything that comes up by science and logic. We can show a reasonable cause for nearly anything that happens and account for every misadventure mortal may have from a logical standpoint.

Yes, we can do all of these things. Nevertheless, we will never, I think, be able to eradicate deep-rooted superstitions and old beliefs from the minds of men. Be as coldly logical as you will and demonstrate beyond all possible argument that there is no such thing as luck.

Your listeners will sagely nod their heads, and as soon as you have ceased to speak, will be fingering worn rabbit feet and lucky coins they carry in their pocket. Maybe they will hasten to read what their pet astrologist has to say.

A MAN tries something and makes a dismal mess of it. Why? Bad luck, of course, reason, logic, and competitors notwithstanding.

Tomorrow is Groundhog Day. Where the belief began or when I do not know. But for countless generations men and women have believed that the presence or absence of clouds at daybreak on Feb. 2 forecasts the sort of weather in store for the next 72 days. And they believe, too, that on Feb. 2, the groundhog (where there are groundhogs) is selected umpire of the weather to come.

They believe that the groundhog, who has been hibernating happily for two or three months, selects Feb. 2 as his day to awaken.

BRIGHT AND early before the sun has risen, Mr. Groundhog pushes aside the barrier to his den and creeps into the morning dimness.

He looks up his sleep-fogged eyes and looks about.

THE TIME is at hand for the sun to rise. If the skies are clear, our groggy Groundhog peers at the ground. If he sees his shadow etched black and sharp on the frozen ground, he promptly pops back in his hole, pulls the door shut and coils up for an additional six weeks of sleep. If his shadow is not visible (the sun having been obscured by clouds) he forgets about going back to bed, knowing that clouded skies presage the arrival of spring. Mr. G. starts housecleaning or spring planting or whatever a groundhog does.

YOU MAY ridicule the idea. A lot of tripe you say. How could a groundhog know about the weather? I only know that despite all our amazing advance in technical science, a very great many good people do believe in Groundhog Day and the legend that has grown up about it. Scientific palaver to the contrary ain't gonna change their minds, either.

After The Bomb Pause

WASHINGTON—Anthony Harrigan's wise and stirring new book, "Defense Against Total Attack," offers the only explanation I can find of what comes next when the President ends his bomb pause.

Harrigan, a world-traveled correspondent and commentator, finds that our only defense is to destroy our enemies. He does not make up this thesis on his own, but he extracts it from a huge amount of historical reference and from personal observation and interview on the battle fronts.

HE REMINDS us that the great nations are those which have won their wars, and that we are sinking into second-class nationhood only because we choose to suffer conquest rather than to wage it. Nothing in religion or reason requires us to accept liquidation at the hands of our foes. Nothing in all the recorded and legendary story of mankind so much as hints that peace is a normal existence. Nowhere in sacred or patriotic literature is it written that life is more dear than honor and the soul.

WHAT NEXT, then, for President Johnson? This devious genius has worked himself into a predicament from which he can only emerge, as I see it, by snatching the role of aggressor from the Communists, and moving on toward decisive war. When Johnson resumes bombing of the Communist homelands, he will have asked for a showdown against Sen. Fulbright and the peace-mongers, and he will have shaken loose from the "sick-sick" counsels of cringing Western leaders in Europe. He will have discarded the fatalistic "no win" doctrine that has doomed us to defeat and retreat since the Korean War, and have reversed the roles which Harrigan calls playing "lamb to the Communist wolf."

WITHOUT PRESUMING to read the President's mind, one can see that he willfully moved himself into these positions. He is not without native intelligence enough, a n d information enough, to know that the implacable Communist leaders would never be won over by the soft approach. Among many others, the Communist spokesman, Kan Szu-ch'i has frankly stated that China is prepared to lose 200 million of its 600 million population under American bombing, and still fight on. This kind of determination tells us—tells Johnson—what we are up against in Asia.

THE PRESIDENT could not get on with this grimly necessary business while keeping one foot in the camp of the Fulbrights, or without giving the peace-loving allies a chance to see that peace is impossible. There had to be a total break, and there will be when the bombers go back into action against North Viet Nam, with China on the waiting list of targets.

The Telephone Game

and I can see into his office and I know he's there."

When you call many government officials, the secretary automatically says, "Mr. Brown is in a meeting."

This is standard operating procedure for Brown's own protection, because if Brown was in his office the caller might not think Brown was working. If the secretary agrees to interrupt the meeting for your call, you know your star in Washington is really on the rise.

THE WORST beating you can take is if you place a call and a telephone operator asks who is calling.

Then if she comes back and says, "Mr. Brown's secretary just stepped out," you know your star in Washington is on the wane.

In fairness to government secretaries, they only play the game to preserve their jobs. Government secretaries are judged not by how many persons they permit their bosses to speak to, but how many persons they prevent from getting through. If they have prevented more people from getting through than they have allowed to speak to their bosses, they are considered to have done a good day's work.

Secretaries play the telephone game more than their bosses. One of the favorites is when one man's secretary places a call to an official. The official's secretary refuses to put her boss on the phone until the other secretary has put her boss on the first loss.

SOME SECRETARIES are ruthless when it comes to the game. If you place a call, a secretary will ask who is calling. After you give your name she will say, "I'll see if Mr. Smith is in."

Now you're really on a spot, because you know she knows damn well whether Smith is in or not, so you wait on tenterhooks for her to come back on the line. If she comes back and says, "I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Smith has just stepped out," you've had it. A good defense against this type of ploy is to say, "Where did he go?"

THIS CAN fluster a secretary pretty badly and she'll probably say something about his being in another office, to which you can then shout, "I'm calling from across the way

Billy Graham

I can't remember any definite time of conversion, but in my heart I want to live for Jesus. Am I saved?

W. O.

While no man can answer this question for another, if as you say, you want to live for Christ, I would say that you have experienced conversion.

Many people have lost their birth certificates, and can't tell you the day and hour they were born, but they know they are living. Just so, I know of many persons who are Christians, but they can't recall the exact time of their spiritual birth. My wife Ruth, for example, can't recall the exact time of her conversion, but I know of few people who are surer that they love Christ.

Christ's main concern was that His disciples loved Him and wanted to serve Him. When Peter denied Him, Jesus didn't scold him, but simply asked, "Peter, do you love Me?"

The New Testament requirements for conversion are uncomplicated. "Whoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God" (II John 5:1). It's as simple as that! If we believe that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God, the Savior of the world, we are BORN OF GOD! Since salvation is of God, and not of our own works or righteousness, we should not think it strange that there is so little for us to do. "By grace are ye saved; and not of yourselves, it is the gift of God."

Future Of Drug Krebiozen Muled

CHICAGO (AP) — The four chief supporters of Krebiozen have been acquitted, but what of the future of the drug?

The foreman of the jury which Monday acquitted Dr. Stevan Durovic, developer of Krebiozen, said the jury was convinced that the government had not proved Krebiozen was worthless.

HELD WORTHLESS
In Washington, the Food and Drug Administration has reiterated its contention that Krebiozen is worthless in the treatment of cancer and cannot be sold interstate.

The U.S. District Court jury acquitted Dr. Durovic, 60, and the Krebiozen Research Foundation, thus clearing all five defendants. The four men and the foundation were charged in a multicount indictment with mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of the drug.

The trial, the longest federal criminal trial in Chicago history, lasted nine months and three days and cost something between $350,000 and $3 million, depending on who made the estimate.

The jurors, seven women and five men, listened to 178 witness testimonies fill 22,000 pages of transcript which formed a stack seven feet high. They heard physicians and cancer patients for the government and defense testify to the worth or worthlessness of the drug.

38 BALLOTS
They deliberated for 47 hours and 50 minutes and took 38 ballots before acquitting the defendants.

The two other defendants are Marko Durovic, 64, a lawyer and Stevan's brother, and Dr. William F.P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who administered Krebiozen to cancer patients.

Adolph J. Beranek, 59, the jury foreman, said after the trial: "There was no proof that Krebiozen wasn't worth anything. Most of us felt it does have a value."

TRIAL'S COST
"This trial, I understand, cost over $1 million. I think the money could have been put to a better use, such as a laboratory test of the drug," he said.

The white-haired Dr. Ivy said a new test is the only way the drug's worth can be evaluated in cancer control.

"I intend to go back into research into the anticancer substance which I have been working on since 1917," Ivy said. "Krebiozen is such a substance, but I think there may be others."

Ivy, director of medical research at Roosevelt University and chief sponsor of Krebiozen, said he is "not yet fully relieved" by the jury's verdict and that the trial was "just an incident in my quest for a clinical test."

"STUBBORN REFUSAL"
Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., said in a statement from Washington that the FDA "has stubbornly refused" to act on his suggestions made over several years that Krebiozen be given a clinical and hospital test.

The FDA, which has banned interstate shipment of Krebiozen, said that "scientifically, the case was closed in 1963."

The government agency said that tests by FDA inspectors, scientists, cancer experts and chemists showed that the "so-called Krebiozen powder could not be produced in the way Durovic claimed."

"Krebiozen has never been approved and it does not now meet the standards for distribution even for investigational use," the FDA said.

The Lady Pipe-Smoker

DEAR ABBY: My bride of five weeks is trying to quit the cigarette habit, so now she smokes one of those ladies' pipes. It is dainty and fancy, but it's a pipe all the same and she smokes a real he-man tobacco in it. She likes to smoke in bed at night while reading the newspapers, and she knocks that darned pipe against the headboard, the night-stand or the wall to loosen the tobacco. Our bed is always full of ashes, and the bedroom smells like a tobacco warehouse on fire. Should I tell her that either that pipe has got to go, or she does?

SMOKED OUT
DEAR SMOKED: Don't threaten her or she'll need even more nicotine to calm her nerves. Substituting one bad habit for another is useless. Believe it or not, some smokers are so badly hooked they need medical help to effect a cure. Your bride sounds like a victim. Don't wait for smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 16 years and I now find myself in the most ridiculous situation imaginable. He is involved with another woman and he can't make up his mind which one of us he wants. About a month ago he started telling me all the things that were wrong with me. I was a lousy housekeeper, I nagged, I was extravagant, etc. Then suddenly he got sweet again and told me he'd had his fling and was ready to settle down. Now he's in an indecisive mood again. I have been patient with him as we have three children. I've tried extra affection, acting like I didn't care, telling him to pack and leave. Now I'm at a loss because he says he loves us BOTH so much he can't make up his mind between us. Can this be? Am I old-fashioned to want my husband all to myself, or is this something new with men these days?

ONLY HIS WIFE
DEAR ONLY: You're not old-fashioned—and it's nothing new. It's known as having one's cake and eating it, too. Don't let him get away with this game. Tell him you are not about to go "halfies" with anyone, so he'd better start behaving like a husband—yours!

DEAR ABBY: The principal of the school our children attend calls my sister and me by our FIRST names at all the P-TA meetings. She taught us 18 years ago. I asked her please to call us "MRS." and she said she didn't know the "MRS." meant so much to us. I think she should have a little more respect for us in front of other parents. We are respectable people in our neighborhood and church. It's no fun hiring a sitter and going to P-TA meetings just to end up feeling like the end of a janitor's mop.

DEGRADED MOTHERS
DEAR "DEGRADED": Hold on! I am sure the principal intended only to be "friendly"—not degrading. Don't forget, she did know you by your first names when you were pupils. However, since you did make an issue of it, she might have accepted your criticism a bit more graciously. But I think you are a wee bit touchy.

Does she know something you don't...about Frost's bread?

It's possible. She, too, wants balanced nutrition foods like milk help provide, with many nutrients—not many calories. So she asked, "How nutritious is Frost's?"

Facts revealed, ounce for ounce, Frost's Bread has twice the protein of milk. 60% of the calcium. 13% less fat. More iron. And more B vitamins than milk.

Calorie-wise, she also found out that 2 slices of Frost's average even less calories than a glass of milk.

She always knew how good milk is. Now, she also knows all the health and energy builders Frost's has.

Now that you know, too... why not serve Frost's Bread and milk to help your family stay in trim?

Frost's has it...

- Twice the Protein of milk
- 60% of the Calcium
- 13% less Fat
- 50 times the Iron
- 30 times the Niacin
- 7 times the Vitamin B₁
- 98% of the Vitamin B₂

These are ounce for ounce comparisons per U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Handbook No. 8. © 1966—THE W. E. LONG CO.—180

Heaters For Citrus Trees In Orchards

WESLACO, Tex. (AP)—They play for stakes of millions, use trees instead of chips and although they don't call themselves gamblers, no dice thrower or poker player can match the chance they take.

These are orange and grapefruit growers, and the opponent across the table from them is nature.

This is one year nature so far has dealt them a winning hand in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

FORTUNES AT STAKE
Each winter, disaster is just a thermometer tick mark away from this group of orchardists. If the mercury drops below 22 degrees above zero and stays there for just a few hours, they can lose a fortune.

For years, citrus growers burned worn out tires, hay and diesel fuel, trying to warm groves and ward off cold damage.

This winter, they're trying something different. Several products that heat a single tree are on the commercial market for the first time.

The promising new idea is a block of solid fuel made from waste left over when oil is refined. The products going on sale vary in chemistry, size and shape but they work about the same way.

LIFT TEMPERATURE
Growers will place two to four blocks under each tree when cold weather is forecast. When the temperature drops to the danger level, crews go into the groves and set fire to the blocks. Depending on the number of blocks and the position, the temperature can be raised as much as 15 degrees, the manufacturers assert.

Four major oil companies—Sinclair, Texaco, Humble and Mobil—and Diamond Chemical Co., are working on the solid fuel blocks. Two companies have the blocks in production, another hopes to start its plant before the first freeze and at least one other won't be far behind. More testing and evaluation will hold back other competitors for a while, but probably not long.

Freezes in 1949, 1951 and 1962 almost wiped out the citrus industry in the semi-tropical Valley.

Production dropped from record highs of 25 to 30 million boxes of fruit worth up to $40 million in the 1945-48 period, to 250,000 boxes in 1963 worth $375,000.

COULD DOUBLE
This year the crop is estimated at 4.1 million boxes, and if freeze protection methods prevent damage, this figure could double next season.

Under normal conditions, fruit on the trees will be damaged if the temperature drops to the 26-28 degree range for four hours. The trees, and thus production for years, can be lost if the mercury stays at the 20-22 degree level for four hours.

The most threatening thing to citrus growers is the long range average which indicates temperatures of 20 degrees or lower will occur in the Valley at least once within every 11-year period.

Morris Bailey Jr., horticulturist at the Valley Research and Extension Center in Weslaco, conducted experiments with the new products last winter but he had a problem: Temperatures weren't low enough to test accurately their effectiveness.

VITAL ATTEMPT
"The idea of under-tree protection is the most significant thing that has ever happened to the citrus industry in Texas," Bailey said.

"The other methods—conventional between-the-tree heaters that burn diesel, and wind machines—have worked in California. The work with these in the Valley, though, has not been significant."

"We now have a better chance of avoiding severe freeze damage here in our Valley than ever before because we've got more protection alternatives open to the grower."

"The University of Florida will be testing several under the tree heaters this season. California (researchers) did a little testing last year. They're not the whole answer yet, but they show a lot of promise."

Bids Requested For Road Work
Bids are being asked by the Texas Highway Department for 137.149 miles of seal coat for highways in this district.

Included is US 87 from the Glasscock County line to Big Spring. Other counties with work are Haskell, Jones, Taylor, Fisher, Callahan. Proposals are to be submitted to the Texas Highway Department in Austin, where bids will be opened Feb. 24.

Foot-i-pede?

Well, not quite. This centipede measures just over nine inches from pliers to tail. It was found on FM 521 Monday by Ray Hillbrunner, city fireman, who dug it up and brought it to the fire station. Whether it would make a good pet is unknown, as the monster insect died, which is obvious, since Hillbrunner and another fireman are actually holding the thing.

Dead Woman Reported Strangled, Assaulted

SEAGOVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A woman found dead in her partly burned car was strangled and raped, an autopsy showed today.

The body of Mrs. Herbert Vann, 45, was found by police and her brother, Clyde Watson, Monday about a mile from the washateria she had just left.

The woman had been reported missing from this Dallas County town since 11 p.m. Sunday.

The body, burned on the legs, was in the rear of the car. The interior of the tightly closed car was partly burned, and flames spurted up when officers opened a car door.

A hubcap and a man's glove were found in the car. The left rear tire was flat. Keys in the ignition were turned to the on position.

Her husband, who was in a hospital in critical condition at the time, was not at once informed.

Police said they believe $13 was taken from the woman's purse.

STRANGE VERSION
A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history—particularly as it applied to the Old West—if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hours news show became a colorcast Monday night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Christmas card.

American Telephone was off about half a point as it continued to touch new lows for 1965-66.

Activity in some of the lower-priced issues and weakness in aerospace defense stocks and airlines were other features of the market which was drifting a shade lower based on the Associated Press average.

The AP average at noon was down 4 at 365.9 with industrials off 4 rails off 5 and utilities off 1.

No traffic accidents were reported Monday, officers said today, but Big Spring ended the month with a high number of accidents, 117. There were 25 injuries and four fatalities. The number of accidents is not a record, as more than half the months last year recorded well over 100 accidents each, officers said.

U.S. History Versions Odd On Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Jesse James? Oh, he was really a good guy and the only reason he went around robbing banks and killing people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun." It is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just Monday night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

HARVARD INDIAN
Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, G-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights Injuns—except his best friend, who is a feather-wearing Injun who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan'l.

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors from destroying the nation and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

Spears, Calhoun Candidacies OK'd

AUSTIN (AP)— State Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, 1967. Both Calhoun and Spears contended that their terms end in November.

Spears said his term began with his election in 1962. Calhoun, elected to a four-year term in 1964, said Senate redistricting cut his term to two years by forcing him into a single district with Sen. Jack Strong, Longview.

MARTIN IN RACE
The only other announced candidate for attorney general is Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

In Spears' case, the court ruled 8-1, with Associate Justice Meade Griffin dissenting, that his term expires in November. Griffin and Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert dissented from the ruling that Calhoun is eligible to run for attorney general.

The majority opinion, by Associate Justice James R. Norvell, said the general rule is that terms of office begin, when no date is fixed by law, on the day of election or the date of appointment.

Patricia Gets Divorce From Peter Lawford

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)— Patricia Lawford, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, was granted a divorce today from actor Peter Lawford on grounds of mental cruelty.

The divorce was entered at the District Court of Judge Charles Scoggins in nearby Gooding, Idaho.

Mrs. Lawford, who established Idaho residence at the Sun Valley resort last Dec. 30, went to court with her attorney, but was unavailable for comment afterward.

Idaho requires six weeks' residency before a divorce can be granted. She was given custody of their four children. He was given visitation rights. The Lawfords were married 11 years ago. They were legally separated since early in January but had lived apart for some time. Mrs. Lawford, 39, is a Roman Catholic. Lawford, 41, is a Protestant.

Texas Due New Chill

By The Associated Press

A cold front pushed southward into Texas late Monday night, bringing with it dropping temperatures, gusting winds and light rain over portions of the state.

Considerable cloudiness is forecast today for North Central and Northeast Texas with clearing skies expected in the areas by this evening.

Skies should be partly cloudy over West and South Texas. Cooler temperatures can be expected over much of the state today as the weather picture will be influenced by the south-bound cold front.

HURRICANE WINDS
Gusting winds of hurricane force were reported in sections of West Texas, with reports of considerable damage in some areas. Police officers in Odessa were alerted Monday night for possible looting as the gusting wind knocked out several store windows in downtown Odessa and in shopping centers. Nearby Midland reported no serious wind damage.

The fierce, dust-moving winds which whipped the West Texas area Monday reduced visibility to zero at some points and caused considerable damage at Fort Stockton. "Half of West Texas blew over," said a Sul Ross College staff member at Alpine.

AT 95 MPH
Winds reached hurricane force at Fort Stockton, blowing steadily at 50-75 miles per hour and gusting up to 95 mph at the Fort Stockton airport where two planes were damaged. Many roofs in the town were damaged and windows were blown out. Trees and shrubbery suffered.

State police stopped traffic on Texas 18 for a while near Fort Stockton because of a rash of automobile accidents caused by zero visibility from the blowing dust. By midnight, much of the dust had settled.

Winds at Pecos reached 50 mph. At Lamesa, where the sand blew into a drizzle of rain, the townspeople called it mud-cake weather. Lamesa's blowing mud came on winds gusting up to 62 miles per hour. Alpine winds were 35 mph. Midland had 60 mph in gusts, and San Angelo 43 mph in gusts.

Eager Buyers Getting Tags

Tuesday was the first day that 1966 auto license plates could be purchased and there were eager buyers on hand even before the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax assessor-collector, opened Tuesday morning.

The tag office and the ad valorem tax office, both of which are issuing license plates, were kept busy during the forenoon as motorists showed up to pay their 1966 license fees.

Mrs. LeFevre announced that Mayor C. J. Lamb, Forsan, will be a deputy tag agent for the residents of that community. He was provided with plates and certificates today and will be ready for business at Forsan Wednesday.

Meantime, plates are being sold at the Newsom Food Store, South Gregg Street, and at the Lewis 5-and-10 store, in College Park Shopping Center.

Deadline for the payment of car taxes is April 1.

Tourism Fund Needs Cited

DALLAS (AP)— Gov. John Connally said today he will ask the legislature next year for more funds to attract tourists.

"Considering the magnitude of the market, we still are going after an elephant with a peashooter," Connally told the Dallas Advertising League.

"I am more convinced than ever that no other state dollar invested returns so much so quickly to so many as the dollar invested in the development of tourism."

Pack To Meet

Cub Scout Pack 138, sponsored by the College Heights P-T-A, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the College Heights School. New dens will be organized and plans will be completed for the Blue and Gold Banquet Feb. 15 at 6:30 p.m. All boys and parents interested in Cub Scouting are welcome.

Guilty Pleas

Three guilty pleas were accepted in the Howard County Court Monday afternoon. C. M. Bentley, charged with writing a worthless check, was fined $25, costs in the case, and sentenced to a day in the county jail. Bobby Roberts, charged with obtaining room by fraud and also with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty to both charges. He was sentenced to 30 days in county jail on each count and assessed costs in the two cases.

DROPPED OUT
Sonny Oliphant, last year's steer wrestling winner, dropped out of contention for first go-round money Monday as he missed his steer out of the chute and had to take no time for the event. Oliphant, of Okemah, Okla., who won more than $1,400 last year, will have a shot at some second go-round money but will miss out on the overall prize dollars.

4.6 SECONDS
Jim Smith, Of Okemah, Okla., downed a steer in 4.6 seconds to move into second place behind Junior Meek of Anson, Tex., who turned in a time of 3.9 seconds Saturday.

Martin Wood of Bowness, Alberta, Can., the 1964 world's champion saddle bronc rider, hit a score of 71 points to move into second place behind Bill Smith of Cody, Wyo.

Smith scored 73 points Saturday.

Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, tied his calf in 12 seconds flat, but found himself behind Kenneth Kelly of Midlothian, who turned in a time of 11.2 seconds. Oliver won $33,000 last year en route to the all around rodeo championship.

War Olee, owned by Dorfman Quarter Horse Ranch of Celina, Tex., scored 148 points to edge out Lee Page Boy, owned by Jonny Heidle of Mabank, Tex., who scored 147 points in the cutting horse competition.

Cuba Seeks To Ease Ration Sting

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Some days ago, Cubans learned that their rice ration was being cut in half to three pounds a month per person.

Since then, in a program of helpful hints to housewives, Havana radio has plugged water-cress and potatoes, corn or sausage, with rice, as tasty dishes for the family table.
