IN VIET NAM Ky's Foes Retreating

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - Buddhist foes of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime came out today with a statement bearing marks of a full-fledged retreat. They disavowed neutralism and said any peace talks now would mean surrender to the Viet Cong.

The presence of American troops in the country is obviously needed temporarily, said a 15-point proclamation by the Unified Buddhist Church, which speaks for a militant minority of South Viet Nam's Buddhists.

Among developments attending the proclamation:

-South Vietnamese troops reported they and supporting warplanes killed 250 Viet Cong after beating off a Communist ambush Wednesday 48 miles north of Saigon.

-Military spokesman announced 244 allied servicemen died in combat last week. Of these, 109 were Americans. The Viet Cong were reported to have lost 902 killed, 120 captured.

-The Buddhist Institute's moderate chairman, Thich Tam Chau, called on U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. In Hue, militant Thich Tri Quang went into the second day of a hunger strike protesting the Ky government and American support of it.

On paper at least, the declarations of the Unified Buddhist Church formed a tougher stance than that of the U.S. administration, which favors negotiations with the Communists, including the Viet Cong.

DECLINED TO SAY U.S. officials declined to say what Tam Chau and Lodge discussed. So did the monk. But it was assumed he tried to enlist Lodge's support for the institute's new campaign of nonviolence against the Ky regime.

The institute is the church's political arm.

The church's statement denied any neutralist tendencies among the estimated 1.5 million Buddhists it represents.

It said that to be ready for negotiations with the Communists, "South Viet Nam has to be strong militarily, politically, economically and socially. Right now, Viet Nam is not ready yet and any negotiations would mean surrender to the Viet Cong."

The government military spokesman said three battalions of Viet Cong - possibly 1,000 men - ambushed a Vietnamese army supply convoy on highway 13 Wednesday. The government troops immediately called for heavy infantry and artillery reinforcements and U.S. planes roared in.

Mental Health Center Oked

Howard County Commissioners voted early today to fully endorse and accept responsibility for the proposed community mental health demonstration project.

Dr. Desmond McCann, outpatient director at the Big Spring State Hospital, and Walter Widger, director of social service, were present at the session. Dr. McCann said that there is a great need for such a project, and he reviewed briefly several areas of the project, which will have centers in Howard, Mitchell, Scurry and Dawson counties.

Dr. McCann is scheduled to present in detail an explanation of the community mental health clinic demonstration project today at 5 p.m. at the First Federal Community Room.

Each of the four participating counties is to set up a corporate structure to administer the program, and an application will be filed for a demonstration project. This will provide two or three years of experience to influence decisions on whether to proceed with an application for a comprehensive mental health clinic.

HUMAN RELATIONS

Special Course For Merchants

A capsule course in "Human Relations and Over-the-Counter Selling" will be held at the Settles Hotel ballroom, Monday, at 7 p.m. for Big Spring merchants and their sales personnel.

The sales training event is being sponsored by the Big Spring Herald as the opening gun to a city-wide campaign in which Big Spring merchants and salespeople are participating. The campaign is a new approach to improving the image of Big Spring as a friendly, progressive community, with emphasis on its superior shopping facilities.

The sales clinic will be conducted by Bill Leigh, president of the William A. Leigh Associates, Inc., a nationally known sales promotion firm which has been recommended to The Herald by many other publishers.

broadcasters, merchants and Chamber of Commerce managers. Other communities where this clinic has been held report that this capsule course gives a most informative and comprehensive presentation of down-to-earth problems in both salesmanship and human relations.

Leigh has a background of many years' experience in sales and sales training problems in both management and direct selling, as well as in advertising and community promotions, and is considered tops in his field. For the past 15 years he has held his present position as advertising consultant and designer and director of sales promotion programs, and in the past five years has held retail sales promotions in over 2,000 communities throughout the nation, and has been highly acclaimed for his interesting and informative lectures.

Although the sales clinic is designed principally for the benefit of salespeople who come in direct contact with customers, business and professional people in varied fields who have attended these meetings state that the course is of great educational and inspirational value to all persons interested in improvement of their own work and in the progress of the community in general.

Bill Haight, Mike Challoner, Ken Mischel, S. R. and Fran Robinson are assisting Leigh in the solicitation for advertising space for the city-wide promotion. If there are those interested who have not been contacted they may call The Herald office for information.

Seek Attacker Of Woman

An unknown assailant is being hunted today in the midnight rape of a 66-year-old Coahoma woman.

The woman, who lives on the C. H. DeVaney farm near Coahoma, told sheriff's Deputy Lindy Oldfield that the man entered the house through an unlocked bathroom window and raped her. Oldfield said that she called Mrs. Louise Lovelless after the man had fled. Mrs. Lovelless took her to the home of Mrs. Ray Hare, Coahoma, and then called police.

Oldfield said that the victim was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital, where she was examined by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper. Oldfield said that Dr. Cowper will submit a report to the district attorney.

"We have a couple of suspects in mind," Oldfield said. He did not release a description of the man.

The woman, who is a widow, has lived on the DeVaney farm for the past two years.

Killer Tornado Cuts Swath Of Destruction In Topeka

Run For Cover

The family in foreground races for cover as the tornado funnel rears toward them. The destructive twister cut a diagonal path across Topeka, Kan., causing deaths and injuries. (AP WIREPHOTO)

The Aftermath

A tornado which swept a 15-mile path of destruction through Topeka, Kan., left 14 dead, more than 400 injured, and 4,500 homeless. This is a main street near the downtown section of the city. The building right center has been roped off because its interior was gutted and it is leaning, giving every indication that it might topple. (AP WIREPHOTO)

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) - A killer tornado, four blocks wide at its base, plowed through the center of Topeka Wednesday night leaving a 15-mile swath of destruction and death, the extent of which was not yet fully known.

"A conservative guess of damage would run around $100 million," said Mayor Charles W. Wright Jr. At least 2,000 homes were destroyed or damaged, he estimated.

FAR GREATER After a helicopter trip over the area today he said the devastation was far greater than he expected from earlier reports.

Civil Defense authorities reported at least 14 dead, and said they expected to find more bodies in the rubble.

Approximately 450 persons were injured, 50 of whom it was estimated still were hospitalized. Two thousand were left homeless.

The damage extended from the southwest corner of the city, through a luxury residential district, 15 miles to the southeast portion of Topeka where there was extensive damage at the municipal airport.

LEFT IN RUINS En route, the storm left every building on the 160-acre Washburn University campus either in ruins, or extensively damaged; plowed through an area of better class homes, hit at the downtown business district and caused extensive damage through the east Topeka area around the Santa Fe Hospital.

Weather forecaster Richard Garrett said the fact there were no more deaths with such a massive storm moving through a heavily populated area was a tribute to the work the last 15 years in stressing tornado safety.

Garrett said the warning sirens were ordered sounded at 7:03 p.m. CST. A clock in one of the first populated areas struck stopped 15 minutes later, at 7:18 p.m.

HEAVY DAMAGE Manhattan, home of Kansas State University, 60 miles west of Topeka, suffered heavy property damage. About 65 persons were injured. Tornadoes also caused damage at Wolcott, Jarbalo, Basehor and Lansing.

Maj. Gen. Joe Nickell, adjutant general of the Kansas National Guard, said the funnel appeared to bounce off Burnett's Mound, a landmark in the southwest section of Topeka, then dropped into a heavily populated residential area. It then raked Washburn University, causing extensive damage to almost every building on the 160-acre campus.

The funnel, loaded with debris and moving ponderously, next hit near the statehouse on the fringe of the downtown area, knocking out windows in all the major buildings and blistering the streets with rubble. It continued moving northeastward, diagonally across the city, striking an urban renewal section called Garden Park and slamming into the municipal airport, damaging planes, the tower, terminal building, hangars and other facilities.

Gov. William Avery was at the scene of some of the worst damage soon after the tornado struck. He called out the National Guard and requested assistance from personnel at nearby Forbes Air Force Base.

The heaviest damage appeared to be in a residential area in the southwest section of the city where an estimated 75 to 100 residences, including single dwellings, duplexes, and apartment buildings, were wind-smashed. The top two floors of two three-story apartment buildings, the Embassy and the Huntington, were destroyed.

The statehouse suffered minor damage to the roof of the capital dome. Windows in the building were blown out and trees on the ground were shredded or blown down. The state printing plant, just south of the statehouse grounds, was badly damaged.

MIGHT TOPPLE The National Reserve Life Insurance Co. building, a 10-story structure in the downtown area was roped off for fear portions of it would crumble. Police Lt. Fred Peaker said the building's interior was gutted and the structure was leaning.

The entrance to the Capital Journal newspaper building was blown out, and across the street, a truck terminal was wrecked like match boxes thrown in the wind.

Alma Claws At Florida Coastline

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) - Hurricane Alma, leaving a trail of at least 45 dead in three nations, howled relentlessly toward today to another landfall in the Florida Panhandle.

Residents of the Panhandle beaches, who went to sleep Wednesday night in the belief they were safe from Alma, awoke today to find themselves next in line to receive the hammer blows of her wind and rain.

ACROSS COAST The wall of the eye, around which the hurricane's top winds of 90 miles an hour raged, moved across the coast near Apalachicola, a city of 3,000, about 11 a.m. EST.

As a sudden westward turn of the storm took the state capital of Tallahassee out of range of its worst winds, Civil Defense officials had led a mass evacuation of the Panhandle beaches.

Walter Murphy, North Florida Civil Defense director, said the majority were believed to have gotten out. But some, he added, were "sort of stubborn" about leaving and "they're going to get washed out."

Florida's death toll from the hurricane rose to three when the body of an unidentified woman wearing a life jacket was picked out of angry seas under the Sunshine Skyway bridge at St. Petersburg.

Alma, already weakened some since she crossed Cuba with peak gusts of 117 miles an hour, may come to the end of the trail over the Florida Panhandle and southern Alabama. Forecasters said she would weaken rapidly over land today and tonight.

Alma had clawed the length of Florida's west coast before reaching the Panhandle.

As the hurricane whirled up the Gulf of Mexico just offshore, heavy tides rolled across the beaches in the storm's wake, but did not reach the dangerous proportions that had been feared.

ROADS FLOODED At St. Petersburg, where Alma came closest to the mainland, water running three to five feet above normal inundated beach roads and closed roads and bridges connecting a chain of offshore resort islands.

The predicted tides of 7 to 10 feet above normal would have wreaked havoc along great stretches of gulf beaches.

Alma left a 250-mile trail of debris from Key West to Tampa Bay.

Top winds of 100 miles an hour whirled around the center as the hurricane struck the city of St. Petersburg a glancing but potent blow.

A last-minute westerly shift in the storm's track spared St. Petersburg's sister city, Tampa, the worst of Alma's winds.

Meredith Resting At Home Before Returning To March

SENATOBIA, Miss. (AP) - The James H. Meredith Mississippi march has led to a related protest in Memphis. In New York, Meredith pledged to return - armed if necessary.

Footsore after adding 6 1/2 miles to the 27 Meredith walked before he was shot, many of the Negroes staged another three-mile walk Wednesday night from a Memphis church to the hospital where Meredith was treated. They claimed Bowld Hospital mistreated the 33-year-old law student in his two-day stay there.

ARMED On returning home, Meredith told newsmen: "I will be armed when I return unless I have positive assurances that arms are not needed.

"I believe in law and order, but if the whites continue to kill Negroes, then the Negroes will have to join together to resist this slaughter."

Meredith said he still is weak from loss of blood and that he has been ordered by his doctor to rest for a week before returning to the South.

The three civil rights leaders who headed the line of marchers down US 51 were to be joined by a fourth today.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality, says he will join Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Floyd McKissick and Stokely Carmichael. King is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; McKissick is director of CORE and Carmichael heads the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Two white men were arrested one block north of Coldwater's downtown area about the time the Mississippi marchers arrived there. Charles Snodgrass, head of the plain clothes division of the state highway patrol, said the men were arrested on a routine check and that a rifle had been found in their truck. No charges had been filed.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Robert A. Wake, 13, son of a computer programmer at the Houston space center, won the National Spelling Bee today.

Another Texan, Sonya Gilliam, 13, of Lubbock, finished third after she missed on the word "man-muu," a long, loose-fitting dress.

Ashley Offers No Witnesses As Defense Rests Today

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The defense rested its case in the Leslie Douglas Ashley murder trial today without having put on any witnesses. The state had rested Wednesday.

Ashley's lawyer, Lloyd Lunsford, asked for a directed verdict of acquittal but Dist. Judge Truman Roberts denied the motion at 9:05 a.m., five minutes after the day's session started.

Final arguments were to start during the morning.

Ashley, 25, is being retried for the 1961 murder of Houston real estate man Fred A. Tones. He was sentenced to death in his first trial but a federal court ordered a new trial because evidence had been withheld.

Lunsford said in a brief argument today that the state had shown no motive for the killing, that it had not proved that Tones was dead, and that his case was purely circumstantial.

The state rested its case Wednesday after Tones' widow, Mrs. Dorothy Tones, identified a photograph of a charred corpse as the body of her husband.

Dist. Judge Truman Roberts ordered the jury out of the courtroom when Mrs. Tones began to weep, and defense lawyer Lloyd Lunsford moved for a mistrial—his second such motion during the day.

Lunsford claimed the "emotional outburst" had inflamed the jury. Judge Roberts overruled the motion and one for a mistrial earlier when Lunsford objected to testimony by a former Houston police chemist, who told about material evidence gathered in New York.

Lunsford has been contesting the attempts of the prosecution to prove a smoldering corpse found near the Houston ship channel the night of Feb. 6, 1961, was the body of Tones.

Mrs. Tones said she had not viewed the corpse at the morgue and the coffin was closed at the funeral.

She testified that a television set, watch and automobile found in New York shortly after the slaying belonged to her husband. Police said the items were in the possession of Ashley.

The prosecution alleged that Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima drove the car to New York after switching license plates to it from Ashley's 1953 Packard.

Thomas Metz, former Houston police chemist, was about to testify about a comparison of what he said was human hair swept from a 1960 Lincoln found in New York with hair taken from Tones' body when the mistrial motion was made.

The accident occurred two miles north of Hillister, where all four lived.

The dead were Alvis Moye, 23, Clarine Moye, 20, Johnny Lee Andrews, 20, and Woodrow Glover Jr., 20.

Investigators said a truck was pulling out from a manufacturing plant on US 69 with a load of crescented poles. They said the car struck the left rear of the truck's trailer.

Storm Hits Cuban Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Alma probably dealt a serious blow to Cuba's already shaky economy, experts said today.

The storm, they predicted, would not only cut Cuba's rapidly dwindling foreign exchange earnings by destroying cigar tobacco crops, but would increase the shortage of food.

Major centers of food and tobacco production in the Havana area and in adjoining Pinar Del Rio Province were battered by the hurricane Tuesday and Wednesday.

Experts on Cuban affairs said this could increase the grumbling among the once well-fed Cuban population, now weary of years of food rationing.

Ironically, the hurricane will do little or nothing to help one of Fidel Castro's major economic problems — the low price of sugar on the world market—experts said.

They explained that there already is a surplus of sugar in the world and that almost all of Cuba's 1966 crop had been harvested before the storm struck.

Cuba barter's part of its sugar to the Soviet bloc countries, but depends on cash for sales on the world market, now so glutted with sugar that the price is below two cents a pound.

Duke Rites Set Friday

LAMESA — Sidney Crockett Duke, 80, member of a pioneer Dawson County family, died at the Medical Arts Hospital here at 3:15 a.m. today.

He had been in failing health for several years but became seriously ill only recently.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Branon - Phillips Funeral Home, and burial will be in the family plot in Lamesa Cemetery. The Rev. Walter Ham, Presbyterian pastor, will officiate.

Born June 1, 1886, in Runnels County, he moved to the Dawson-Gaines counties area as a young man with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Duke. Then he moved to Altus, Okla., where he was a deputy sheriff for 25 years. After about 10 years in California, he returned here four years ago.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Maurice Willis, Altus, Okla.; one sister, Mrs. W. V. P. Baker, and one brother, C. W. Duke Jr., both of Lamesa; two grandchildren, and several nephews and nieces. J. B. Pickle, Big Spring, is a brother-in-law.

Another Texan Dies In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another Texan has died in Viet Nam, the Defense Department announced Wednesday.

Army Staff Sgt. David Z. Garcia, 112, Thekla St., San Antonio, was listed as having died from non-hostile causes.

Officer Cited For Taking Children Into Own Home

Headlining the three-day annual conference of the Texas Police Association, which begins Sunday in Odessa, will be presentation of the Ayres Compton Humanitarian Award.

Police Chief Jay Banks was on the panel to name the winner. The award is given each year to a Texas law enforcement officer who has rendered outstanding voluntary service in the field of humanities.

This year it will go to Sgt. Glenn Walker of the El Paso police force for his work with delinquent children. It will be presented Tuesday at the annual banquet.

Sgt. Walker has, for the past several years, taken delinquent children into his home and shown them a different way to live. He and his wife have done this without compensation, spending their own money and their spare time with the children, according to the TPA.

About 1,200 law enforcement officers, their wives and families are expected to begin registering at Odessa's Lincoln Hotel Sunday, for the 67th annual meeting.

Other members of the Big Spring department may also attend at different times during the meeting.

Banks serves also on the membership and training committees of the association.

Presiding at the three-day convocation will be Charles Batchelor, Dallas police chief and president of the TPA.

Numerous speakers will address the gathering, including U. S. Sen. John Tower; Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr; Col. Homer Garrison Jr., head of the state department of public safety; J. J. Casper, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Patrick V. Murphy, assistant director of law enforcement assistance, U. S. Attorney General's office; District Judge Jim Bowie, Dallas; Bernard Garmire, Tucson, Ariz., police chief; John Ben Sheppard, former attorney general of Texas, Odessa and others.

Heart Research

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Heart Association has announced it will spend about $10 million for scientific research in heart disease during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Feed Grains Allotment May Also Be Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Live-stock feed grains are likely to join wheat under 1967 federal crop control programs that will allow some increase in plantings.

Several weeks ago President Johnson announced the 1967 wheat allotment would be increased 15 per cent this year to encourage production at a time when supplies were shrinking under heavy foreign demands.

An Agriculture Department feed situation report issued today indicates supplies of corn, barley, oats and sorghum grain also are dwindling. It said carry-over supplies from past crops as of next Oct. 1 will be the lowest in more than 10 years.

It forecast these supplies at 50.7 million tons, down five million tons from a year earlier and 34 million tons from the record high of 1960.

Although feed grain production set a new record high of 161 million tons last year, it fell five million tons short of needs. Hence the reduction in supplies at the end of the 1966 crop marketing season.

Committee To Press For Basin 4-Yr. College

Promoting the establishment of a four-year college near Odessa is the purpose of a newly-formed group from the Permian Basin area, called the Permian Basin Committee for a Four Year College, according to John A. Woodward, Odessa, co-chairman.

Included in the executive committee of 12 is ex-Big Spring Mayor George Zachariah. Others on the committee are from Midland, Odessa, Andrews, Monahans, Wickett, Crane and Kermit.

"The Permian Basin, an area larger than several New England states combined," he said, "is the largest and most populated area in the United States without a four-year college, either public or private."

Error Changes Erath Winner

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 100-vote clerical error, found in a box at Dublin, Tuesday gave the Democratic nomination for Erath County judge to Clyde Sweeney in the official canvass of votes.

In the unofficial returns Saturday, Sweeney lost to L. L. Martin by 51 votes. After Tuesday's canvass Sweeney was declared the winner by 49 votes.

Medeiros Consecrated As Brownsville Bishop

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — The Most Rev. Humberto S. Medeiros, 50, was consecrated Roman Catholic bishop of Brownsville, Tex., today.

The consecrator was Bishop James Connolly of Fall River Diocese, with the most Rev. James Gerrard, auxiliary bishop of Fall River, and the Most Rev. Gerald McDevitt, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, a classmate of the new prelate at Catholic University.

Twenty-eight bishops and several hundred priests were in the procession preceding the ceremonies. In the capacity congregation of some 1,000 were Protestant and Jewish leaders of Fall River.

The bishop will be installed as head of Brownsville Diocese June 29.

The Rev. John P. Driscoll, assistant general manager of the Anchor, Diocesan weekly newspaper, delivered the sermon in which he praised Bishop Medeiros' learning and his ability to speak seven languages, including Spanish.

"But Bishop Medeiros is a man unimpressed with his intellectual gifts," Father Driscoll said.

Enrollment Growing For Summer Recreation Class

Enrollment in the citywide summer recreation program continues to grow. Parents are urged to register their elementary-age children in the programs which start Monday and will continue through July. So far 346 have been signed.

The program is a joint venture of the City of Big Spring, United Fund, the Big Spring schools, and the YMCA. Since the latter agency is administering the program, sign-up for those in the south part of town is at the Central YMCA. Those in the northern part may sign either at the Lakeview branch YMCA or at the city's northeast park.

Activities for the boys and girls will include swimming, softball, gymnastics and tumbling, relays, outdoor games, contests, special events, surprises. At the outset, youngsters will be given a physical evaluation, and at the conclusion of the program, another will be made and the comparative results given to the parents.

Boys and girls in the College Heights, Marcy, Parkhill, and Airport School district will have their sessions on Monday and Wednesday. Those in the Washington Place, Kentwood, Cedar Crest and Boydston areas will meet on Tuesday and Thursday.

These programs will center at the YMCA, and parents are asked to bring children or work out transportation pools wherever possible. For those who cannot, a limited bus service will make pickups at the various schools, and take children to the Y, returning them to the schools at noon. A fee of $1 for handicraft supplies is suggested, but no child is denied the program for lack of a handicraft fee.

Children who have attended a parochial school and who do not have transportation will be picked up at the school in the district where they reside.

So far the Monday-Wednesday group has 133 registered, the Tuesday-Thursday group 134, Lakeview 62 and the Northeast Park 12.

The learn-to-swim instruction at the City Park pool this week has attracted 150. Pools at Lakeview and Northeast park have not been opened, so the learn-to-swim effort in those areas will be dove-tailed into the recreation program as a continuous effort during the summer.

Visits Depend On Astronauts

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Nurse Sue Laidlaw of Perth sees her fiancé whenever a U.S. astronaut is shot into space. He is a member of the U.S. rescue team which flies to Perth for each manned space flight.

"Whether I see my fiancé or not depends on an astronaut. The more flights they make, the happier I am," said Sue, 19.

Nine months ago Sue met Californian Douglas Glass while he was stationed briefly at the Australian air force base near Perth during a space flight.

The Gemini 9 flight brought Glass to Perth as usual, but he returned to Hawaii with the rest of the rescue team.

Mrs. Pigman Announces Airlines New President

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Reed W. Pigman, chairman of the executive board of American Flyers Airlines, has announced the election of Lucian J. Hunt of Tulsa, Okla., as the firm's president.

Mrs. Pigman, widow of the man killed with 22 other persons when a Lockheed Electra crashed near Ardmore, Okla., made the announcement Wednesday.

Hunt is a former vice president of American Airlines and a 1940 Naval Academy graduate. Pigman, 59, was piloting the Electra when it crashed while carrying a group of U.S. servicemen from California to Georgia. He was about to make a refueling stop at Ardmore when, some believe, he suffered a heart attack.

In a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing May 26-28, Air Force Col. Robert Prince said American Flyers was removed from the approved list of bidders for military charters on May 6.

Prince said a "resurvey" would be made of the company and a CAB investigation completed before the line could regain its status.

Hunt, who said he would assume his duties immediately, said he would maintain offices at AFA's Fort Worth headquarters and at the firm's operating center in Ardmore.

"It is our sincere goal to continue American Flyers' expansion program as Reed Pigman planned," he said.

Record Budget

BEAUMONT (AP)—The proposed budget for Beaumont for the coming fiscal year — $11.7 million—is an all-time record.

The sum represents a $600,000 increase over the 1965-66 fiscal year's expenditures.

Every Need In Concrete Is Filled At McMahon's

Clyde McMahon Concrete Co., located on the Snyder Highway, north of Big Spring, has what you need for any concrete job or project in the Howard County area.

Open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., daily, except for Saturdays when the hours are 7 a.m. to noon, there are plenty of employees ready to serve customers with all types of service.

Huge mixing hoppers have been set up on the lot where trucks merely back under the chutes and load, an extra-ordinarily fast method of loading the proper mixture.

Speaking of mixtures, McMahon's has the proper one for any kind of job, including mixes for foundations, bridges, culverts, sidewalks, driveways, curbs and gutters, street pavement—and anything else concrete can do, or the customer needs.

Whether the job is large or small makes no difference. Just set your forms and call McMahon's big radio-equipped trucks. The driver pulls into your location, unloads the amount of ready-mix you need, of the kind you want, and is off again.

Where folks once had to use a washbasin, wheelbarrow or wooden mixing box to get a small job done, they now may eliminate the drudgery, and the back-breaking problem of mixing the concrete with a hoe, shovel or by hand.

Clyde McMahon Supply Co. features Whiteman finishing machines and tools to complete the work on poured concrete. Rotary blades finish off the mixture to the proper surface, far different from the time when it was done with trowels or a piece of two-by-four.

Also handled by McMahon's are Eveready brick saws and blades; expansion joint material; wire mesh for re-enforcing; re-enforcing steel rods; Richmond snap ties; Remington stud drivers for driving either studs or nails into concrete; wheel barrows for brick, tile or concrete; vibrators for settling and eliminating air pockets in concrete pourings; and all kinds of small tools for concrete or mason's work.

Many finished products are available from the company. Among them are concrete tile in several sizes and patterns; precast flower bed borders; concrete tables, benches, parking curbs (movable), and rounded top and corner tiles.

Cactus Paint Products Can Beat The Weather

Cactus Paint Manufacturing Co., a local industry, manufactures paints for homes — for interior and exterior uses — for business buildings, and all other uses, to stand up under weather of West Texas, including the hot sun and dust storms.

Long hours and days of testing and analyzing go into the work before a paint is put on the market, and it must meet the extremely high standards set up by Cactus Paint Co. before it is approved for use.

If you want a room painted to match the rest of the house, a Cactus job will give you what you want. If you need a color not shown on the color cards or charts, or if it is one of your own choosing, Cactus men can help you get exactly what you want in mind.

If your home or other building needs painting to protect them from rain, winds and dust weather, there is no better way than by painting with a high-quality paint.

The home with paint beginning to crack or peel, or looking dingy, is in shape to let the elements do a great deal of damage. The only way to get the bare spots covered is with a good coat of paint made to withstand local climatic conditions. Besides, nothing adds to appearance like a good paint job.

Cactus has men experienced in making paints. They know what proven, basic ingredients must go into the mixture in addition to the colors. They know what is required to make the paint stand up in all kinds of conditions.

A telephone call to Cactus Paint will get you the information needed for giving that home or building a new look this summer.

Tea Rooms' Good Food Has Reasonable Price

Food, at the Tea Rooms in Big Spring, is served in the best cafeteria style, except that the patron helps himself to everything but meals, which are portioned from several mouthwatering varieties.

The food is prepared to the strictest specifications, to satisfy even a gourmet. The customer may help himself to — vegetables, salads, desserts, and all he wants — as long as the plate he has will hold them, and Tea Room plates hold plenty.

The Tea Rooms, located at Sixth and Main downtown, and at 1301 Scurry, have become popular eating places for residents for their noon and evening meals. The Tea Rooms are also popular for club meetings and group gatherings where excellent meals are desired — all for only a small charge, so small it will surprise you.

Meats are purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Dee Bennett, owners of the Tea Rooms, and they do all the cutting and trimming.

The Tea Rooms are equipped with facilities to cater to meetings and groups at churches and other places, and enjoy a large business in this line.

As many as 70 patrons can be served in 17 minutes, so there is seldom any waiting or lost time in the lines. No tips are expected by the efficient waitresses.

Sunday is always family day at the Tea Rooms. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 5 to 7:30 p.m., seven days per week.

So, do as those who must eat out during the day do — visit the Tea Rooms, go down the line, pick up salads, choose meat from a variety of several kinds, load the plate with vegetables, pick up dessert and a beverage, and enjoy a leisurely meal. For catering or special meetings at the Tea Room, call AM 4-7644.

"Your business is always appreciated at the Tea Rooms," Mr. and Mrs. Bennett said. "and we strive to give the best service possible at all times."

Delta Electric Gadgets Are Now Assembly-Lined

Delta Electric, a local industry which has invented two new devices unique in the well-protecting field, has just completed a new assembly-line room capable of producing 1,000 of the devices per week when the need arises.

The assembly room, a long, narrow rectangle furnished with comfortable, modern chairs and plenty of working area for assemblers, will hold up to 20 assemblers.

The gadgets which Delta has begun assembling in the new room are in fact examples of automation at the oil well head. Some giants of the industry have already bought and are using the machines, among them Marathon Oil and Union of California. R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, is a major stockholder in the firm, as is T. B. Lambert, an independent oil operator with wide experience.

The Delta Protector is an ingenious package of electronics whose circuits were worked out by Mike Craddock. It performs many safety functions and replaces all safety devices a pumping well normally uses at a fraction of their combined cost, yet is trouble-free, and will work on any size motor in the field.

The protector has no moving parts, but operates electrically, and will not work on wells pumped by gas engine or on flowing wells. It assists pumpers in seeing after wells, Craddock claims.

The protector performs the following functions: overload protection for the motor and switch gear, having instant trip on motor overload, but will allow the motor to draw the required starting current; will shut down the well if the rods part, whether they part near the top or bottom; shut down if the pump sticks or if the rods hang up.

If the balance weights come loose, it will shut down the well. If the crank arms come loose, or the bearings go down, or if anything on the jack breaks, it will shut the motor off.

If the well pumps off, the protector will shut down the well, wait a predetermined time and then restart. It also acts as a self-programming timer, pumping the well as long as there is fluid to pump—no other device can adjust itself to changing conditions. It performs a number of additional functions as well as those listed.

The other new device is an electronically-operated liquid level control. It starts the motor at one level and stops it at another and operates from two probes in the tank or in the standoff pipe. When liquid touches the probes, the Delta Control operates a relay which starts or stops the motor.

Delta, in addition to its new gadgetry, is an oil field and industrial electrification and automation firm, which also does trouble-shooting, line connections and motor winding.

Delta Electric is located on the Snyder Highway, and has a 24-hour telephone, AM 7-3263.

Seiberling Tires At Creighton Tire Co.

Creighton Tire Co., 601 Gregg, owned and operated by Charlie Creighton and Dalton Carr, is featuring the improved Seiberling tire, with wrap-around tread.

The performance rated tire is known as the Seiberling Supreme Sealed-Aire tire. It is performance rated at 700 and is the complete tire for the motorist whose requirements are absolute.

Men with years of experience in handling tires and service are employed at Creighton's. They know there is no better tire on the market than the Seiberling-Aire puncture-sealing tire.

Creighton has been handling Seiberling tires in Big Spring for some 30 years. He has received plaques of commendation from the company every five years since he received the 15-year commendation.

There are eight persons to serve customers at Creighton Tire Co., and all of them feature courtesy with their service.

The firm has made a point of selling quality products and giving quality service during all the years of business in Big Spring.

The Seiberling tires are available for cars, trucks, and tractors, and customers continue to return for more as they need them.

Seiberling tubeless Sealed-Aire tires have a wide, deep, high-traction tread which gives exceptional traction, positive braking power, outstanding stability, easy handling and quiet performance. There is a guarantee for the life of the original tread, which is your assurance of full value for your investment. It also offers exclusive Seiberling Puncture Sealing bulkhead construction, for positive puncture sealing, with perfect tire balance assured.

When West Texas drivers have to travel over all kinds of roads and ranch trails today, they want tires that can depend on. That's why they return to Creighton Tire Co. when they need service and top tires.

Almost every bush in the rugged country has stickers on it which may not let the air out of a tire at once, but after becoming imbedded in the carcass, will gradually "rub" a hole in the tube and let the pressure fall. Sharp gravel and rusty nails have to be contended with and that's where the Sealed-Aire tire comes in. It won't let you down when reliability counts.

Seiberling tires mean ease of mind and riding comfort for all drivers using them.

Try a set of Seiberling tires on your car, truck, tractor or boat-trailer if you want to know full satisfaction. Call AM 4-7021 for further information.

Byron's Transfer Saves You Worry

When thinking of making a move, and you wonder what to do to keep the work at a minimum, just dial Byron's Storage and Transfer for information. The firm can save most of the worry and bother of doing your own packing and the job of taking down beds, tables and other furniture.

Just tell Byron's when you want to move, where you are going, where you want your household goods placed in the new home, and leave the rest to them.

Whether it's a long move or a short one, or storage of furniture for a time, Byron's can make it easier for you.

Disagree On Interpretation Of Statistics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam is the nation's numbers king and it's costing the taxpayers more than $160 million yearly, at last count, to keep him on top of the heap.

In this case the numbers are statistics and the federal government yearly issues thousands of statistical reports on a daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly and annual basis on almost everything imaginable. The list runs from shipments of pills and farm pumps to the cost of a basket of groceries, number of unemployed persons and business investments.

dispute," an AFL-CIO spokesman said in referring to the administration's voluntary wage-price guidelines which seek to limit wage increases annually to 3.2 per cent, representing increased productivity.

HIGHER

The AFL-CIO thinks the figure should be higher.

The labor organization said it has also disputed monthly unemployment figures published by the Labor Department because they don't state whether a man is employed full time or works only two or three days a week.

CONTROL ERRORS

"We do our best to keep errors under control," said Howard C. Grieves, deputy director of the Census Bureau, the largest statistical gathering agency in government. Grieves said the bureau tries to hold the margins of error at no more than 5 per cent.

"We accept the validity of the actual numbers," the National Association of Manufacturers said. "Statistics are more important in their interpretations."

The Chamber of Commerce said that teenagers and other persons who are not heads of households are included in the unemployment statistics, a factor which could distort the result unless this is explained in making the figures public.

On something like the bureau's survey of weekly retail sales, he said, nothing above a one per cent margin would be tolerated.

Business and labor organizations relying on such information agree generally that the government does a good job compiling statistics but disputes do arise in interpretation, emphasis and use.

"It's the interpretation we

The NAM said limitations of data should be realized. "The unemployment statistics are not a measure of hardship," the organization said.

Death Penalty To Be Asked

Wayne Burns, district attorney, recently notified the defense that the state will ask for the death penalty in the case.

RECENT ATTACK

The statistics which came under the most recent attack were compiled by the Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics and the Securities and Exchange Commission which projected a 16 per cent increase in spending this year for plant and equipment.

Dec Scraggs Jr., charged with the death of Norris Sadler, will face a fight for his life in 118th District Court Monday when a special venire of 200 will report at 10 a.m.

Since this is a key economic factor in measuring inflationary pressure, the report got more than routine treatment, especially since a private survey of business investment plans made by the Lionel D. Edie Co. showed a larger increase, one which would be inflationary.

Scraggs, a 22-year-old Negro, allegedly killed two men on the occasion when Sadler died, but the grand jury indicted him for only one of the homicides.

"We're not saying we're right and we're not saying they're wrong," said Louis J. Paradiso, chief statistician for the Office of Business Economics. "The Commerce Department uses a much larger sample and they use a relatively small one."

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, overruled the motion.

Paradiso said the government's projection is based on plans by about 10,000 firms which do more than half the spending for plant and equipment.

Bowled Over

William Gilliland, 1501 Mesquite, told officers he was bowled over when he left the Bowl-A-Rama Wednesday and found the hubcaps had been stolen from his car.

He said the department has a very good history of accuracy since it began compiling this information in 1945. "We caught downturns in 1954, 1958 and 1961," he said, "and the only year we missed it was in 1959 with the outbreak of the Korean war."

FELL SHORT

The survey last year, however, fell short of the mark. The department estimated a 12 per cent increase over 1964 but the actual increase was later placed at 15.5 per cent.

Phoey To Pictures

Five-year-old James Brooke Mackay gives vent to his feelings at a London society wedding by pursing his lips and blowing a ripe raspberry when asked to pose for the customary party pictures. Bad enough it was to be a page boy and wear a white silk suit with a pink bow. But when the lensman told him to "take the little girl's hand, little boy," it was just too much. The little girl was Tracey Sutton, 3, a page girl who dutifully clung to Jimmy's hand. The bridegroom was his cousin. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Insurance Board Chairman Concerned Over Refusals

AUSTIN (AP)—William McLean, chairman of the state Board of Insurance, voiced concern today over "what appears to be the growing tendency of some insurance companies to cancel or to refuse to issue or renew automobile policies for some classes of Texas drivers."

McLean said a public hearing by the board next Wednesday will attempt to find ways to avoid further "drying up of the insurance market."

"While it is still possible for most Texas motorists to buy insurance on the open market," McLean said, "it is well to note that more and more drivers are being forced into the assigned risk plan by the unwillingness of companies voluntarily to issue insurance to young drivers, older drivers and to drivers with poor driving records."

The assigned risk plan is a program that allows motorists who cannot get insurance through the usual channels to buy automobile liability insurance but only up to the limits required by the Texas financial responsibility law. Drivers with poor records must pay substantially more than those with good records.

"It is paradoxical," McLean said, "that critics who insist that the state Board of Insurance ignore statistics and reduce rates by arbitrary action fail to recognize that this would further restrict the automobile insurance market so that only minimal coverage would be provided to many of our state's motorists through the assigned risk plan."

"Many motorists want the protection afforded by higher limits of liability. They can't get this in the assigned risk plan."

Rates under the assigned risk plan rose an estimated 15.3 per cent last year and are growing at an estimated 27.2 per cent this year, McLean said.

Items on the hearing agenda include assigned risk plan coverages, rates and methods of assignment to companies and an insurance penalty system based upon chargeable accidents and upon the more serious traffic violations such as leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated.

Area Reports Some Moisture

By The Associated Press

Occasional thunderstorms broke out early today along a cold front moving slowly southward through West Texas.

Rain fell on all sides of Wichita Falls but none within the city limits. It was described as heavy in a rural area south of Childress and accompanied by hail in places.

Lubbock recorded only a trace of moisture in another storm. By daylight the forward edge of the weak front was past Lubbock and Wichita Falls and shower activity tapered off.

Behind the front temperatures sank sharply. Dalhart recorded a chilly 46 degrees and Amarillo 49. At Wichita Falls the mercury sagged from 79 to 62 in two hours.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in other sections.

Parts of North Central and Northeast Texas were promised scattered thunderstorms by evening as the cooler air advanced. A few showers were expected in the southern half of the state.

A shivery night was predicted in northern areas, with readings down to 45 degrees in the Panhandle.

Top marks Wednesday ranged up to 106 degrees at Presidio in far West Texas. Wichita Falls and Wink recorded highs of 100.

Halfway Board Alters Schedule

The board of Halfway House voted at Wednesday's monthly meeting at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant to have only quarterly meetings in the future.

Board members felt that Halfway House is now well established, making monthly meetings unnecessary. Halfway House is nearly four years old. The next meeting of the board will be in September.

Rocky Criticizes Lindsay Program

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has publicly criticized Mayor John Lindsay in a dispute over the mayor's proposed tax program. Both are Republicans.

Lindsay's proposals center on a city income tax for commuters as well as residents. Rockefeller favors an increase in the real estate tax.

The mayor repeatedly has asserted that if his tax program is not adopted, essential city services will have to be curtailed.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that additional revenue from the real estate tax plus normal growth in income from existing taxes would give the city 700 million in additional revenue in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

"Now anyone who says that they would have to cut services with $700 million of increased revenue is just totally misrepresenting and totally irresponsible in their statements," the governor said.

Lindsay, the first Republican mayor here in 30 years, had no comment.

The mayor has been publicly asking the governor to declare himself in the tax dispute. The city tax program is locked up in the politically divided state legislature.

AUSTIN (AP)—Federal grants for 20 anti-poverty projects in Texas were approved Wednesday by Gov. John Connally.

Grants to develop Community Action programs were approved for the Bee County Community Council, Beeville, $8,066, and the Matagorda County Economic Action Committee, Bay City, $13,350.

Dedicates 37th New Building

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Trinity University has dedicated its 37th building in the last 14 years.

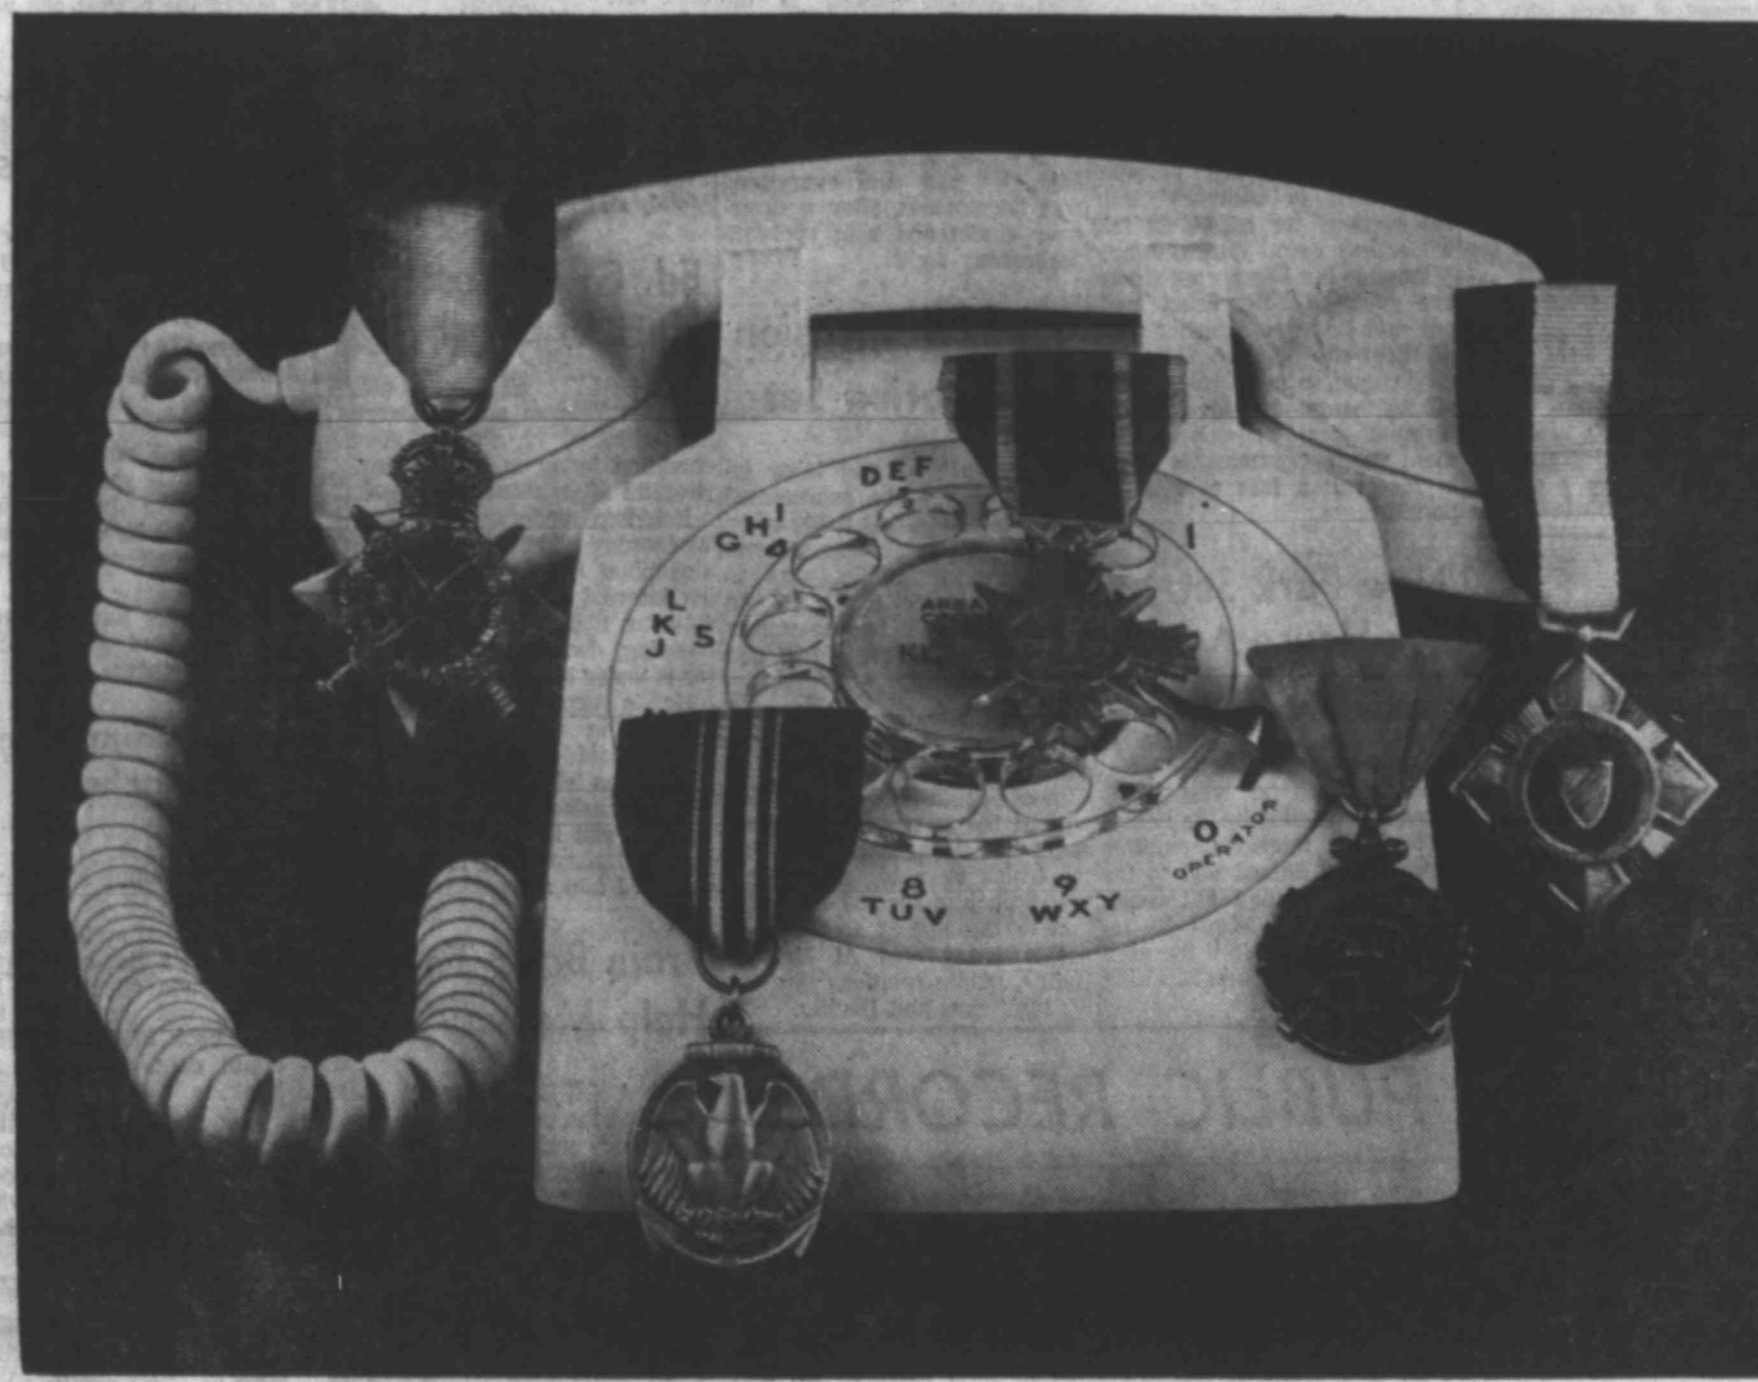

Latest was the Margartie B. Parker Chapel, given to the San Antonio school by the late George Parker, an oilman. It was the sixth building of the year for the school.

Hero

Sure it is. The telephone helps save lives, catch criminals, put out fires, bring help and guard homes. It's had a hand in spreading the alert on tornadoes, floods and hurricanes. It can bring the doctor, the fireman or the policeman—in a hurry. And being a modest hero, it can also do less dramatic things. Like letting you talk with friends and loved ones around town or around the world, quickly and easily. Or letting you shop from your easy chair, call ahead for reservations and do a thousand other things that make life richer, more rewarding, more fun. Isn't it nice to have a hero around the house?

Red Hot Tigers Eye Chances For Flag

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant-hungry Detroit Tigers are making more noise in the American League race now that their big gun, Al Kaline, is taking a firmer hold at the plate.

Kaline was in a Baltimore grade school in 1945 when Hank Greenberg, then Detroit's hot shot gunner, came out of the Army and homered the Tigers into the World Series. They haven't won an AL flag since.

Kaline, who underwent surgery for a foot malfunction last fall, hammered two homers and drove in three runs as Detroit edged Boston 5-4 Wednesday night. The veteran outfielder kept his team in the game until Don Wert walked with the bases filled in the 11th, forcing in the winning run.

The other AL games were close, too. Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1, Baltimore beat Washington 6-5 in 14 innings. Kansas City defeated Minnesota 5-4 and California blanked the Chicago White Sox, 1-0.

Kaline's performance lifted his totals to eight homers and 24 runs batted in and increased his batting average to .291. He hit 251 last season when the Tigers finished fourth.

The victory was the Tigers' seventh in their last eight games and enabled them to remain only one game back of Cleveland and Baltimore. The Indians lead by six percentage points.

Sam McDowell, making his first appearance in two weeks, enabled the Indians to maintain their slim league lead. The fireballing left-hander, who had been sidelined with a sore arm, relieved starter Gary Bell after Mickey Mantle opened the ninth with a single. McDowell retired the next three batters on fly balls.

Baltimore's victory in the first game of a two-night doubleheader was the result of 14th inning doubles by Luis Aparicio and pinch hitter Camille Carreon. The second game was suspended because of Baltimore's city curfew with the Senators leading 5-4 after five innings. It will be continued before tonight's regularly scheduled game.

Russ Snyder's failure to touch first base on an apparent triple almost cost Baltimore a chance to win the opener in the 14th. He opened the frame by reaching third on a drive over center fielder Don Lock's head. But Snyder was called out for not touching first base on an appeal play.

Reserve Clause Debate Shakes Up NBA People

BALTIMORE (AP) — Officials of the National Basketball Association seem somewhat less than shaken by a players' suggestion that the reserve clause be eliminated from NBA contracts.

The BA players association made the proposal Wednesday as the league's board of governors wound up a two-day meeting.

Walter Kennedy, NBA president, said the matter would be referred to a standing committee and reviewed at a special meeting to be called sometime late in July.

But Kennedy said the primary purpose of the July meeting would be to discuss officiating in the NBA and the possibility of a merchandising program to promote the league through the sale of various articles.

Oscar Robertson, of the Cincinnati Royals and president of the players' group, and attorney Larry Fleisher outlined the suggestions of the association.

"We discussed the items briefly and then referred them to a standing committee including Ned Irish of New York, Earl Foreman of Baltimore and Fred Zollner of Detroit," Kennedy said.

Fleisher told newsmen the NBA would be wise to ease contract restrictions before either the courts or Congress moved against the reserve clause which binds a player to a particular club.

But Kennedy indicated the current trend of Congress was toward giving basketball, football and ice hockey the same antitrust protections as baseball, with the reserve clause regarded as a necessary evil.

"In effect," Kennedy said, "the players want to be free to deal with any team. Their suggestion would eliminate the present contractual arrangement which prevents them from negotiating with any other team in the league."

Lubbock Camp Is Scheduled

LUBBOCK — The first session of the third-annual West Texas Baseball Camp opens Sunday and officials of the camp are expecting a large turnout of Lubbock and area boys.

"We are still taking applications for this session," indicated Coach Bobby Moegle, director of baseball instruction at the camp. "In fact, we will still sign up any boy who is interested as late as Sunday." An orientation session is planned for Sunday under the director of Dr. Herman B. Segrest, overall camp director. Actual workout and instruction sessions will begin Monday.

The same staff that opened the initial camp in 1964 is back in tact. This includes Moegle, Earl Parker, Kal Segrist, and Bill Lean. In addition to working at the camp all four are directing summer baseball teams. Moegle and Parker are working with the American Legion program while Segrist is coaching in the city semi-pro league and Dean is working in the Lubbock Colt League.

Baseball instruction at the camp will stress basic fundamentals of all phases of the game. Instruction by position will be covered in the morning while boys will be broken down by age group for afternoon instruction and scrimmages.

Yanks Jump On Cubs, 10-0

The Yanks jumped on the Cubs with both feet in the third inning to win a 10-0 victory in a Soph League No. 1 contest Wednesday evening.

The 10-run rule was invoked in the sixth. Walks, errors and a few hits sprinkled at the opportune spots accounted for the big outburst. Stewart's triple opened up a two-run rally in the sixth for the Yanks. B. White got credit for the victory and J. Rutherford was charged with the loss.

Morton's Enters Meets In Abilene, W. Falls

Morton's Foods softball team will enter invitational tournaments at Abilene and Wichita Falls this weekend and next.

Sixteen teams are entered at Abilene but the field has not yet been made public. Manager D. A. Miller of the local club said he had been informed only that his club would first see action at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Morton's drew a first round bye at Wichita Falls and does not play until 6 a.m. Saturday, June 18.

In all, 27 teams from seven states are entered in the Wichita Falls meet, including five new teams.

New to the tournament will be Mesa, Arizona; Lamar, Colo.; Amarillo, Denton and Sherman.

SWC Elevens Will Earn $700,000 In TV Loot

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference will make six appearances on national and regional television next fall and get more than $700,000.

Whereas the conference teams participated in three games last year compared to four this year, the appearances are the same because Texas and Arkansas met each other in one of the nationally televised games.

This year Baylor and Texas appear in national games but against opponents from other areas, so appearances will total the same.

Baylor and Syracuse play at Waco Sept. 10 in the first TV game of the season. Sept. 17 Texas meets Southern California at Austin.

Regional games have Arkansas playing Texas at Austin Oct. 15 and Texas A&M en-

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Look for the National Baseball Congress District tournament to be staged here later this summer.

Jim Baum, manager of the Big Spring Gage Oilers, is firming up plans for such a meet. If it materializes, the tournament will be held on the Webb AFB diamond. The winner becomes eligible to take part in the State tournament at Lubbock and the winner there goes to the National meet at Wichita, Kansas.

Present plans call for the local show to be staged July 23-24.

The news periodicals around Lincoln, Nebraska, are still spelling the name of his home town wrong — adding an "s" to Big Spring — but good reports continue to come in on Albert Fierro, the ex-Sixer quarterback who led his team to a 28-10 victory in the University of Nebraska's annual spring football game.

Fierro's judgment in the branigan was very good, according to sideline observers, and his performance pleased no one more than it did his coach, Bob Devaney.

The Big Springer throws a buzz bomb that feels like it is going to drill a hole in the receiver if it isn't caught right. He completed nine of 19 passes for 121 yards in the game and several of his aerial thrusts were dropped by butter-fingered receivers.

Devaney said following the game that his receivers hadn't looked good all spring.

Fierro likely will clock a lot of playing time this fall. Since he was redshirted one season, he'll be eligible for the pro draft after the 1967 season.

Charles Bachtell, an outstanding tackle for the Midland High football team last fall, recently received an appointment to attend the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

He plans to play football in college. Bachtell has lived in Midland only three years, having moved there from Longview. At Annapolis, he'll be playing alongside Richard Puckett, who played his high school ball at Midland Lee but whose parents now reside here.

Lon Henson, who quit recently as the basketball coach at Hardin-Simmons to take a similar position at New Mexico State University, talked an El Paso Jefferson cap great into enrolling at his school after the boy had already signed with BJCC.

The boy is Lynn Simmons, a 6-3 Negro youth, who made the All-District 1-AAAA team when he was only a sophomore. Coach Buddy Travis said Simmons is one of the best athletes he ever scouted.

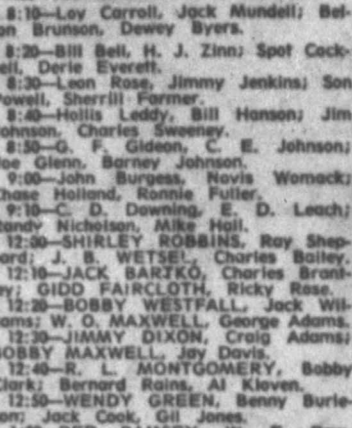

Dean of football coaches in District 3-AAA is Doug Cox of Brownfield, who has been there since 1960.

The circuit will have three new mentors next fall in Keith Miles at Snyder, George Kirk at Littlefield and Joe Boyd at Sweetwater.

Big Spring's Danny Birdwell played in that recent University of Houston spring football game, which pitted the 1966 club against the Exes.

Although his side lost, 46-4, Birdwell reasons the Exes may have their problems on defense this fall. Most of the Exes who performed in the contest had worked out only a day or two. Too, the Exes didn't have many backs of stature.

Shoot 'Em Up Era Story Told

By TEX EASLEY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — West Texas Rep. Clark Fisher, author of several books dealing with his part of the Southwest, has just finished reading proof on a new volume dealing with a kinsman who was assassinated during the shoot 'em up era in Texas history.

Entitled "King Fisher—His Life and Times," the book is to be published by the University of Oklahoma Press, Norman, Okla., about September.

King Fisher, born in Collin County in Texas in 1854, died in March of 1884. He was shot down as he came out of a vaudeville theater in San Antonio. He was a first cousin of Jobe Fisher, the San Angelo lawmaker's father.

Although King Fisher had been indicted several times on murder charges, and tried in some cases, he always was acquitted. He often travelled with rough characters on the range, and heated arguments sometimes arose over livestock ownership.

King Fisher had been a gun-toter from youth and was said to have had several niches carved on his pistol handles, says Rep. Fisher, but just two years before his death had reformed. He was acting sheriff of Uvalde County when shot down by a man who held a grudge against him.

Fisher said he has had to cut out a lot of copy from his original manuscript and eliminate all of a large collection of relevant and interesting old photographs he has been collecting for years.

 D. B. Hardeman, former state representative from Sherman and a former aide to the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, has just completed a year on the staff of Trinity College here as an instructor in government. He plans to take time out from teaching during next fall's semester so he can complete his biography of Rayburn, who had made all his papers and other personal materials available to Hardeman several years before his death.

Ed Shelton of Austin has recently taken a position with the newly created "National Pollution Control Foundation" with headquarters in New York.

DEAR ABBY She Found 'Hot Seat'

DEAR ABBY: I stopped by my husband's place of business just before closing time to get a lift home. When I walked in, he had the guiltiest look on his face, and the lock door of his office was wide open. There was a chair drawn up right next to his. I felt the seat, and it was still warm.

We have been married 33 years, and I never worried about his taking an interest in other women because for the last 10 years he has had no interest in me. Now I am beginning to wonder if maybe the reason he has no interest in me was because he was all worn out from his interest in others. I would like your opinion.

SUSPICIOUS: It could be that the hot seat you're worrying about results from your cold shoulder. Warm up one and watch the other cool off.

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with a situation which baffles me. I am a grown woman of 40, and a neighbor of mine (also a grown woman) is my problem. Everytime I am in her company she paws and pets me and grabs my hand and tries to hold it. She is constantly kissing me. I have been told she is "lonely." Well, I've been "lonely," too, but not for another woman. I try to stay away from her unless our husbands are around, but she comes over when I'm alone.

I've told my husband why this neighbor makes me nervous, but he says she's a married woman and I am making a lot out of nothing. I am running out of excuses to keep her away from me. I feel like a prisoner in my own home. My husband is a physician so I can't sign my name. Can you help me?

A PRISONER: DEAR PRISONER: Apparently you have an abnormal neighbor woman, of a very sticky variety. Assuming you are not unconsciously encouraging her, and from your letter I would say you are not, the time has come for you to stiffen your spine and TELL her if she does not quit pawing you, she isn't welcome.

Life presents many situations requiring forthright action if one is to protect himself, and if you feel like a prisoner in your own home, this is definitely one of them.

More Raw Data Needed For State Budget Planning

By GARTH JONES
 Associated Press Writer

There's a quiet-type revolution under way in the Capitol among those who budget and spend the state's money.

"The old accounting book approach to state budgeting has to go," says Bill Cobb, director of the governor's budget office. "You don't intelligently plan just for the next two years at a time, which is all the law requires now. And you can't just say we'll sit back and cross that bridge when we come to it two years from now."

Budget examiners must be able to know what the needs will be 5, 10 and 15 years from now if we are able to set priorities on needs for the next two years," Cobb said.

Cobb's office and the Legislative Budget Board, which represents the Senate and House, are in the midst of a summer-long series of head-knocking sessions with top officials of state departments and agencies on 1968-69 spending plans.

The current state fiscal period runs until Aug. 31, 1967, on money provided by the 1965 legislature.

The 164 separate hearings scheduled range from brief half-hour discussions with small departments to week-long presentations for the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

Then in September the governor's budget makers and the Legislative Budget Board staff, headed by veteran Vernon McGee, will separate and each prepare a state spending plan for the 60th Legislature, meeting Jan. 10, 1967. These two suggested budgets will provide much of the form and fact of the final appropriations bill passed by the two houses.

For the 1966-67 fiscal period, department heads asked $3.77 billion. The governor's budget trimmed the requests to $3.64 billion and the Budget Board to $3.53 billion. The 1965 legislature then ended up approving $3.72 billion in appropriations from all sources—compared to $1.5 billion in 1956-57.

The 1968-69 appropriations bill likely will exceed $4 billion.

"And do you know what we are finding in a lot of departments and agencies?" Cobb asked. "Some of the department heads don't have the slightest idea what sort of program they will need 5, 10, or 15 years from now."

"We are not getting the raw data now that is needed to make intelligent decisions on budgeting, I think some day, in some form or fashion, we have got to have a central planning office for state government—a place where you can find out how many school kids are expected in 1973, how many we will be feeding in state prisons in 1980, how full the junior colleges will be in 1978. You have to know those answers when you decide where to put your money for the next two years."

A step has been made toward centralized planning—a new alphabet agency called PACT and standing for Planning Agency Council for Texas. With Terrell Blodgett of the governor's office as director, PACT looks into the long range programs of state agencies and encourages them to make such plans.

PACT works arm-in-arm with a private consultant firm, hired by a 165,000 federal grant to "develop basic information for a statewide planning program."

"Usually the firm is doing a lot of checking to see if department heads really know what they are talking about when they say their department is doing this now and will be doing such and such in 1970 or 1980."

"Unless we get geared for the future we will wind up like California and that is a real can of worms now," is Cobb's opinion.

"The future caught up with California before they were ready for it and they can't handle it."

Prosperity Proves Costly

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Prosperity has hit Duluth and neighboring Superior, Wis., in the pocketbook.

Decreasing unemployment and general economic well-being caused the two cities this week to lose their designation as a distressed area. The loss of designation meant loss of eligibility for certain federal funds.

Mayor George E. Johnson of Duluth said the area will no longer be able to qualify for many of the programs under the Economic Development Act.

The Duluth-Superior unemployment rate dipped to 5 per cent in April, 2.1 per cent under the same month last year. A distressed area must have at least 6 per cent unemployment.

HOWEVER, ADDICTS ARE RARE: MOST JUST EXPERIMENTING

Drug Usage On Campus Causes Concern

By BERNARD GAVZER
Associated Press Writer

The college instructor got into dungaree pants and jacket, stopped to take a deep drag of marijuana, and then holding up the paisley necktie he had just removed, laughed happily and said: "Do you get the scene? This is the psychedelic tie. The patterns and colors. Wow."

and that he wouldn't go to class still turned on.

IT'S NICE

"Anyway," he said, "it's nice to blow grass," then laughing, said in a sing-song parody, "Everybody's doin' it, doin' it."

From the sound and fury attending the situation, it might indeed seem that everybody's doin' it.

There has been a flood of reports which make it appear that America's college and university campuses are awash with marijuana, lysergic acid diethyl-amide — LSD-25 — mescaline, psilocybin and other drugs, such as pep pills and goof balls.

There is evidence that at schools all over the United States there are some students who have had some experience with LSD or grass, as marijuana is now called by the hip or in groups.

Some. But how many? No one really has any concrete figure. No one knows how many of the nation's 5,320,294 college and university students are using, or have used psychedelic — mind-manifesting — drugs.

A THIRD

Dr. Timothy Leary, a pioneer experimenter with LSD, estimates that perhaps one-third of the nation's young college students are experimenting with the drug. He bases his estimate on information he says he has received from correspondents — about 700 letters a week — students and faculty who have attended his lectures, and from numerous sources among college and high school age groups.

The Food and Drug Administration issued a warning to college administrators in April saying that use of mind-manifesting drugs was increasing and called it an insidious and dangerous activity.

Whatever the number of users, to most school administrators any incidence spells trouble. Despite the kinds of pressures that can be applied to schools by parents as well as governmental bodies, administrators generally seem to be taking the situation in stride.

DENUNCIATION

"The general denunciation against LSD is not expressed in warnings against its use on moral grounds, but that it is dangerous," says Dr. Howard Becker, sociology professor at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. He is author of "Outsiders," a book which deals with deviant behavior by youth.

Another professor suggests that even warnings about a danger may fall upon unconcerned ears. "It is difficult to tell a kid he may lose his mind with LSD when he knows he can have his whole head blown off in Viet Nam."

Talks with students and faculty at various schools from coast to coast appear to bear this out.

"Grass has been accepted on campus because no one really believes it is harmful," says a University of Texas student. "Too many people who are educated—you know, we can read and write and reason—know from observation, logic and even experience, that stories about marijuana simply are not true. They are convinced that the threat to health and morals is no greater than with ordinary tobacco and certainly far less than with alcohol."

SOCIAL

Marijuana is generally used in the most social of circumstances. A typical session may start spontaneously with a joint—cigarette—being passed from hand to hand. The one who supplies the marijuana doesn't usually sell it to others.

Marijuana is the mildest of the psychedelics and works by altering the senses of taste, sound and time, particularly.

LSD, on the other hand, is considered a more personal involvement. Where there are a dozen at a marijuana session, three or four at an LSD session may add up to a crowd. The person who goes on a trip, which means using LSD, may experience at the height of his action hallucinations and illusions, and a remarkable sensory alteration in which sound may have an odor, color a sound, and odor a dimension. Some may see their bodies oozing into the environment and conclude they are going out of their heads. The effect of a minimal dose lasts 18 to 24 hours. It is nonaddicting.

CACTUS PLANT

The other hallucinogens are mescaline, which is made from a cactus plant, and psilocybin, which comes from the sacred mushroom. They are milder than LSD but more potent than marijuana.

Campus pill-taking can be a group activity among a certain element, but to a large degree it is a solitary undertaking. A student may take amphetamines—pep pills which are commonly called bennies, dexies or uppies—before a big test or in order to stay awake and do some crash studying.

If pep pills can make one jittery and high, the goof balls or barbiturates can bring them down. These are depressants. Like pep pills, they are swallowed. They are nonaddicting, but habit forming and some experts say the heavy user who is shut off from his supply may experience a withdrawal syndrome similar to that of a heroin addict.

FEW ADDICTS

Whatever the drug of choice, it is rare—according to most sources—to find the class narcotic addict on campus. The heroin junkie just isn't to be found. Collegians consider such drug use very, very square and unhip.

"The girls in my sorority who smoked marijuana did it because of their dates, but once in a very great while we'd do it in the sorority house. It would start as a joke, but I guess we really wanted to do it. I guess we did it for thrills."

CREATIVE ARTS

Students in the creative arts express keen interest in LSD on the notion that it may turn some key that will let them flower.

How does a student manage to get LSD, marijuana or any other drug?

LSD has been banned but supplies are reliably believed to be coming from Italy, as well as a few other countries. It requires only 1-10,000th of a gram to produce an effect lasting 10 to 14 hours. An ounce would produce nearly 300,000 doses. It is most commonly sold absorbed into a sugar cube, at from $3 to $5 a cube. Quite often, the student who has some may pass it along to others without charge. It reportedly can be made easily from its two components, lysergic acid and diethylamide, and supposedly almost any high school chemistry student could accomplish the feat.

MOVE FREELY

Despite decades of prohibitive laws on marijuana, quantities apparently move freely throughout the country. The plant can be grown in a window-box. The best quality marijuana comes from Mexico. Enough to roll 10 joints may cost $5.

In Texas, peyote is legal and obtaining peyote buttons, which are chewed, is not difficult. A supply of several pounds, for example, was mailed to some students at an Eastern university not too long ago.

The amphetamines—"speed"—is the current hippie term—and barbiturates, which are called goof balls, or downies, exist in such abundance that the source could be just about any friendly medicine cabinet.

THREE GROUPS

Students who may turn to drugs are generally put into one of three groups—the casually curious, who take a taste and quit; the thrill-seekers, who will try anything that the in-group makes important, and the in-group or committed, an element that might not simply take LSD but has to surround it with a mystical quality that would include knowledge of the Tibetan Book of the Dead.

What is the harm, if any, to the user of psychedelics? "LSD apparently interferes with reality testing and perceptual functions," says Dr. Ernest Wolff, chief psychiatrist for student health services at Northwestern University. "This accounts for the quasi-hallucinatory effects and a psychological regression to the state where one does not clearly differentiate between himself and his environment. LSD users commonly describe seeing themselves from afar or of feeling that the things around them are an extension of themselves. This is what happens in the infant world."

FILES

Says Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth, head of Harvard's psychiatric services, "In our files is the report of a student who took one of the drugs and spent a whole day living the nightmare that he was only 6 inches tall."

"In our own experience, several students have had to be hospitalized for long periods following ingestion of small amounts of drugs."

A professor at Fairleigh-Dickinson in New Jersey says, "Despite all the alleged benefits of the psychedelics, students who use them begin to deteriorate as far as classroom work goes. Frankly, I know of only a few cases of such drug use here. I think abuse of the amphetamines and barbiturates is much more extensive. I've had them come to class on Monday morning with their pupils so dilated they looked like sunglasses."

EASILY CAUGHT

The innocence attributed to marijuana use, according to Dr. Becker, is best illustrated by the fact that so many students are so easily caught at it—actually only small fractions of the student populations have been involved in such arrests.

"For them to hide or to take elaborate precautions about its use would be degrading, hypocritical," says Dr. Becker. "They do not even take the standard pot head precautions against detection and arrest. It is a kind of ideological defiance. It is all of a piece with the growing tendency of deviant groups to stand up and say, 'Leave us alone.'"

At a Berkeley apartment shared by several students, the walls seemed permeated with the somewhat acrid odor of marijuana smoke. They were turning on with pot, and one—a youth with blood wavy hair, neatly dressed in a striped shirt and brown unpleated trousers—said he had first smoked marijuana in high school.

AT LEAST TRY

"I'm from Marin County and I hardly know anyone who went to high school who didn't at least try pot," he said. "I turn on more here than I used to in high school, but maybe that's because more of it is available."

How have such drug users performed in classrooms? What sort of grades do they maintain? "I'd say the hippies in my class are the A students," says a San Francisco State instructor.

"Do they get such good grades because they are heads?" he was asked. "No. They get the grades because they are smarter. They are intellectually superior and highly moral."

NO COUNT

Dr. Harvey Powelson, a psychiatrist with the student health services at Berkeley, says he has no count of known users, but on examining his caseload he found that some four out of six students had experience with LSD or marijuana.

"The ones who come to the psychiatric clinic have a B average, which I might point out is quite good," says Dr. Powelson, "because the University of California attracts the top 15 per cent of the students in the state. Half of the Woodrow Wilson fellowships in the United States come here. They are the cream of the intellectual community."

"As to their motives for using LSD or marijuana, we must understand that we are dealing with the first generation raised on TV and everything is instant. It is a generation that expects instant gratification. You don't have to read about the war in Viet Nam, you can see it. You can leave a hotel in San Francisco and go to New York and register in almost the same hotel, in a matter of hours. It is going someplace and still being the same place. Now, with the LSD pill, you can presumably obtain instant fantasy."

Germans Look To July Meet

By CARL HARTMANN
BONN, Germany (AP) — Germans are looking forward to what many of them see as the biggest political event since the Allied armies of World War II split their country along the River Elbe.

To the naked eye it's only a couple of talk fests by leaders of the West German Socialist and East German Communist parties; highly unusual but with no necessary political consequences.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, head of the West German Socialist party, is planning to lead a team of three speakers to Karl-Marx-Stadt in Communist-ruled East Germany on July 14. They will appear on the same platform with three East German Communists. Both sides have promised full news coverage and live telecasts on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

A week later three Communists are due in Hanover, West Germany, for a similar performance.

Arrangements are not complete. The big difficulty: Under West German law the visiting Communists could be arrested for a whole row of crimes and misdemeanors. These range from illegal propaganda, since communism is outlawed in West Germany, to premeditated murder because of the shootings along the Berlin Wall.

The West German Parliament must pass a special law if they are to have safe conduct. Unless the West German parties agree on a bill and the Communists find it acceptable, the meetings may never come off.

But if they do, they will mark for West German patriots a new hope of progress toward the goal they have sought for centuries and only rarely won — a united country under a free government. Though still a long way from anything that could be called reunification, the debates would mean more political contact than East and West Germans have had for 20 years.

They also would have meaning for the world at large. West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said recently: "It is possible to ignore the displeasure of Germans over the division of their country. It is not possible to ignore the confrontation of world powers in Central Europe which is bound up with this division."

The debates themselves promise to be what the French call a "dialogue of the deaf." The fact that the two parties meet at all will have much more significance than what they say.

The Communists will call for recognition of their East German government and negotiations between "the two German states" for confederation. They will have a lot to say about disarmament and the West Germans' alleged nuclear ambitions. Such ideas may strike a more responsive chord in the Socialist party than it will admit, but the Socialist party is the opposition — not the government — in West Germany and the ideas will not get far with Erhard's government.

Farmers Urged To Check On Efficiency Of Pumps

The decline of the water table has produced a situation in which farmers need to re-evaluate the efficiency of their irrigation pumps, says extension irrigation specialist, Bill Lyle, Lubbock.

Most pumping plants in the area were originally designed for greater discharge and shorter pumping lift, he says. The water situation has changed so the cost per unit of water pumped is often unnecessarily high.

Old, worn pump bowls contribute to the problem. In some instances, Lyle says pumps were improperly matched to the wells when they were first installed.

Seventy to 80 per cent operating efficiency is about the maximum attainable with deep-well turbine pumps even when they are carefully selected and matched to the well, according to the irrigation engineer.

Studies by the agricultural engineering department at Texas Tech indicate only a small percentage of the pumps on the High Plains operate in the 70 to 80 per cent efficiency range.

Their studies show some pumps are operating at only 20 per cent efficiency, Lyle said. He advised irrigators to check with their pump dealers on pump efficiency. Some are estimated to be paying for twice as much power as they actually need if pumps are efficient.

Insurance Women Name New Officers

To head the Insurance Women of Big Spring this fall are, standing, Mrs. Frank Morphis, president, and Mrs. Robin Howell, vice president. Seated are Mrs. William H. McDonald, parliamentarian and reporter, and Mrs. Tommy Harvell, secretary-treasurer.

Officers Elected By Insurance Women

The Insurance Women of Big Spring held a business meeting and installation ceremony for new officers this week in the home of Mrs. Tommy Harvell, 2201 Alabama.

Mrs. Ed Settles, retiring vice president, conducted the service when Mrs. Frank Morphis was installed as president. Others installed who will work with her in the 1966-67 season were Mrs. Robin Howell, vice president; Mrs. Harvell, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. William H. McDonald, parliamentarian and reporter.

Mrs. Morphis announced that committees will be appointed soon and announced during the Aug. 4 meeting.

Miss Pam Ham, a guest, was presented a gift of appreciation for serving the group as "Miss Insurance" during the past year. The presentation was by Mrs. Morphis who said that a new representative will be chosen in the fall.

A family barbecue was planned for 7:30 p.m., July 11 at the Harvell home.

Following the installation, a salad buffet was served. The table was covered with a white embroidered organdy cloth and centered with an arrangement of red roses and Bells of Ireland.

A LOVELIER YOU

Cover Shoulders On Soft Summer Nights

By MARY SUE MILLER

To wear of a summer evening, new cover-ups are a delight. They have everything going for them!

They are handsome in themselves, owing to beautiful fabrics and exciting colors. And because of a great variety in designing, they are easy to team with your dresses in ways that make a real fashion point.

Take the summer uniform — the skimpy linen little nothing — for instance. Only wrap its shoulders in a huge, wildly striped chiffon square with ribbon fringe, and you've got an eye-full outfit in an instant. Or perhaps your pet dress is a float of flowered chiffon. You just know it would look even flatter trailing a taffeta stole, one colored to pick up a flower shade. But of course!

Actually there's no end to the possibilities. Could you use a flirty, flouncy capelet? Would you like it in ottoman, taffeta, organza or lace? Well, it's yours for the asking!

For exotic effects, you are urged to try a small wrap with big ideas — a flash of black zigzags on white organza and a ruffled cowl that flips over the head to frame the face. Wow!

For the utmost drama, the suggestion is a petaled silk organza boa or a feather shoulder shrug. Double wow!

In any case, when the sun goes down and the moon comes up, you will not want to miss the dash, flattery and fashion that come with a cover-up. The only thing it won't do for you is keep you warm. Who cares?

YOUR COLORS

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality — and — style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin.

St. Thomas Catholic Church Altar Society installed its new officers this week during a dinner at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant. Shown are Mrs. Tom McCurdy, second from right, who installed the group, and Miss Ramona Molina, treasurer; Miss Tina Molina, vice president; Mrs. Leo Gonzalez, president; and Mrs. Ray Gonzales, secretary.

Altar Group Re-Elects Slate At St. Thomas

The entire slate of the Altar Society at St. Thomas Catholic Church has been re-elected to serve for the 1966-67 term and was installed during a ceremony held Tuesday evening in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant. Mrs. Tom McCurdy of Midland, president of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, was in the installing officer.

Pledging to serve the society were Mrs. Leo Gonzalez, president; Miss Tina Molina, vice president; Miss Ramona Molina, treasurer; and Mrs. Ray Gonzales, secretary.

Introduced as honored guests at the dinner was the Rev. Charlie Brower, of Midland, Mrs. Gus Waterman and Mrs. R. Koehg, president and vice president of St. Anne's Altar Society in Midland.

A musical prelude was presented by Mrs. Leslie Green at the organ.

The Rev. Robert F. McDermott of St. Thomas Catholic Church presented gifts to the re-elected officers and spoke briefly in expressing appreciation of what they had helped the society accomplish during the past year. The officers received corsages of white carnations.

The invocation was by Rev. McDermott, and the benediction by Rev. Brower. The centerpiece, a statue of the Virgin Mary arranged with white chrysanthemums and greenery, was awarded to Mrs. Lupe Padilla.

Fifty-two members and guests attended.

TOPS Name May Queen

Miss Claudia Locke was named May Queen during the Tuesday evening meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels in the Chamber of Commerce office.

The pledge was led by Mrs. Al Scott. Mrs. Walter Goodwin was in charge of the program which involved a guessing game concerning baby pictures of members. Prizes were won by Miss Locke and Miss Deanna Morris.

Reds Planning To Win Rome Voting

ROME (AP) — Using an unusually genial soft sell, Italy's Communist party is working to win control of the Rome city government in elections this weekend.

There is no likelihood of the Communists winning a majority in the 80-member city council. But if the Communists increase their vote just a bit, as they have done in every major election since the war, they could replace the Christian Democrats as Rome's biggest party.

This would have stunning repercussions. It would:

—Give the Reds an unprecedented dominance in the national capital.

—Make the Communists, for the first time in history, the leading party in the seat of Roman Catholicism.

—Give the Communists ammunition for their argument that they can provide the basis for an all-left government with the Socialists, replacing the center-left coalition of Christian Democrats and Socialists both on local and national levels.

—Probably spark enough disruption within the Christian Democrats to cause the fall of Premier Aldo Moro's national government.

This election is regarded as an especially important political index. Nearly five million of the country's 34 million registered voters will ballot for new councils in 168 municipalities and three provinces.

The vote comes three years since the start of center-left government and the last national election, and two years from the next scheduled parliamentary election.

In the past three years both the parties of the center-left coalition and the Communists have overhauled their basic strategies.

Premier Moro has sought to muffle the Christian Democrats' once vociferous right wing. By sniping at Moro's Socialist partners, the right-wingers enabled the Reds to ridicule the center-left as an unhappy center-right.

The Socialists and Democratic Socialists in the coalition have decided to reunite after 19 years of separation.

Faced with such signs of improving cohesion among their foes, the Communists have dropped their strident denunciations of religion and turned to low-key appeals to Catholics and Socialists to join with them.

This new soft approach has the church worried. The Vatican has issued a stream of warnings to Catholics not to vote Communist, more warnings than during some bigger elections in the past.

The communists are counting on their record of growth. In local elections in 1962 they won 22.8 per cent of the vote in Rome. They won 24.5 per cent of the city's turnout in the 1963 national elections, and 27 per cent in Rome's share of a provincial election the next year.

The Christian Democrats in the same elections went from 29.3 per cent to 28.1 to 28.8. They now control 24 of the Rome council's 80 seats, while the Communists have 19.

Even with the Socialist allies, the center-left coalition in Rome has only 40 seats. It depends for its majority on a single vote — that of a Fascist who bolted his party.

Expecting A Strong Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Results from Tuesday's election point up the likelihood that actor Ronald Reagan, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will be a potent opponent when he meets Democratic Gov. Edmund Brown in the November election.

A county by county check disproved expectations that Reagan might trail his opponent, former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, in the 51 northern counties.

Reagan, running for office the first time, carried 53 of California's 58 counties.

Christopher ran strong in only two, San Francisco and neighboring San Mateo, both in the north. He barely led in another northern county, Alameda, and had a close race in Marin, across the bay from San Francisco.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty carried only five counties against Brown, but polled a substantial vote in his home county and won populous, conservative-minded Orange County in the south.

But while most counties ended up in Brown's column, Yorty made heavy inroads in all but a few.

Reagan, who piled up 64 per cent of the Republican vote, said he woke up the morning after the election and "I must admit I was somewhat frightened. But then, I've been frightened from the first by the knowledge of what's at stake for the people and what they want done."

Ray Bliss, Republican national chairman, said Reagan's majority "can now be blended into a united Republican drive for complete victory in California in November."

To do it, Reagan will need Democratic support. Democrats outnumber Republicans by slightly more than 3-2.

Adapt Historic Building's Use

BEAUMONT (AP) — Cities must learn to preserve the beauty and character of their historic buildings by adapting them to modern use, a San Antonio architect said here.

Boone Powell told historical society members that even the Alamo was once doomed to destruction but was saved by "a single woman who barricaded herself inside and refused to come out unless the destruction was overruled."

GREATER KNOWLEDGE IS SAVING LIVES

Tornadoes Are Most Dreaded Violence

An AP Special Report By LARRY PHIPPS

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Buildings blasted apart like playing-card houses. Trees broken like discarded match sticks. Homes and lives shattered in a few moments of uncontrolled violence.

Such scenes are created throughout the Midwest and Southwest each year by one of nature's most dreaded excesses — the tornadoes which can spew from almost any severe thunderstorm.

Nothing known to man can control the ravages of the killer winds — but greater knowledge of the forces which generate the twisters' deadly vortex is saving more lives each year.

The United States, using facilities centered in the university city of Norman, is in the sixth year of an ambitious study of thunderstorms, squall lines and tornadoes.

The studies at the Norman Severe Storms Laboratory already have led to improved predictions which weather experts are using to give advance notice of threatening storm systems. The tools of the study are many — ground-based radar systems, balloon-borne radio devices, visual sightings, and reports from airplanes which fly into, around and over the storms.

PLANE

Piloted by Air Force Maj. R. J. Vanden-Heuvel, one of the key pieces of this year's study is an especially equipped F100 Sabre Jet fighter plane from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at Dayton, Ohio.

Maj. Vanden-Heuvel is a member of the select group called "Rough Riders," men who ride the wild winds of storm systems.

"There isn't a man in my unit who wouldn't like the chance to do what I'm doing," the youthful-appearing major said. "Other pilots are ordered not to get too close to storms — they let me fly right into them."

Guided by radar-watch teams on the ground, Vanden-Heuvel makes repeated runs through developing storms.

GATHER INFO

The equipment packed into the nose and cockpit of the plane is used to collect and monitor the forces and atmospheric conditions.

The major is operating under some strict limits because a pilot last year flew into a storm bearing baseball-sized hail.

Frank Dechirico, in charge of maintenance of the Rough Rider aircraft, said the bullet-proof glass on the cockpit was shattered, there were giant holes in the wings and body, and pieces of the wing cover peeled off. "I've been in combat situations, and I've never seen an airplane come back damaged like that plane," he said.

In addition to the Rough Rider flights, an equipment-weighted DC6 will fly around the storms to record peripheral information while a U2 flies over the tops of the storms, which observers say can shoot up thousands of feet in a minute's time.

DON'T KNOW

"No one knows how fast the circular winds in a tornado blow," said Gene Lee, coordinator of aircraft study at the lab in Norman.

"We've never been able to get a direct reading on the winds of a twister," Lee said. "Our airplanes can and do fly into hurricanes, but hurricanes have straight winds and seldom blow over 100 miles an hour."

"Tornadoes have vicious circular winds which we think can blow 200 to 500 miles an hour."

The study will wind up sometime in June, since this is the period of greatest tornado activity, although twisters have been known to occur any time of the year.

Dr. William Kessler, director of the lab, calls his station — located in what has become known as "Tornado Alley" — the ideal spot.

SEVERE STORMS

"No other country has severe storms like the United States," he said. "We just couldn't have picked a better place."

Tornadoes are most frequent in northern Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. Records show that tornadoes have claimed an average 197 lives a year over the past 48 years.

During their most frightful blow, tornadoes killed 869 persons in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana on a terrifying sweep on March 18, 1925.

From 1975 through 1965, records show 1,432 tornadoes in Oklahoma, with 1,076 persons killed. The most deadly storm to strike Oklahoma passed over Ellis and Woodward counties on April 8, 1947.

Cutting a swath which ranged up to two miles in width, and hitting portions of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas, the storm struck Woodward, in western Oklahoma.

KILLED 191

It killed 101 persons and injured 782 others.

With a sound like an express train, tornadoes form a funnel-shaped cloud which stretches to the ground in its most destructive force.

The powerful winds, combined with changes in air pressure which can burst buildings as though a bomb had gone off inside, form a threat which can be avoided only by taking cover in reinforced structures, such as storm shelters or inside strong buildings.

Russians Ready To Wait, Watch Viet Nam War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Premier Alexei Kosygin has told the Soviet people and the Communist world, in effect, that the U.S.S.R. will avoid becoming any more deeply involved in Viet Nam than it is at present. He counseled that patience will pay dividends in the long run. In a speech in Moscow Wednesday, the Soviet government chief offered this assessment of Viet Nam: "Administration advisers in Viet Nam did a disservice to the U.S. government because they had prepared recommendations as to where and how the war should be started, but had not recommended how to get out of it."

SAME QUESTION

"This," he said, "is precisely the question which now worries the most sober-minded leaders of the United States." The Kosygin implication is that sober-minded leaders in the United States now are hopelessly entangled and in reality are looking for a way out of the Viet Nam war. He then went on to say that understanding of this was of great importance in assessing the world situation. This suggests that Russia is willing at this time to wait and watch. Most of Kosygin's speech had to do with domestic affairs — shortages of some food and light industry items and plans to overcome such problems in the ensuing five-year period. Meanwhile, the Soviet Union is, in his words, giving the Viet Nam Communists whatever aid is "necessary."

APPEAL

Significantly, this discussion of Viet Nam immediately preceded an appeal to the rest of the world's Communists to show patience with Soviet policy and to present a united front to the rest of the world. He said he was convinced "the time will come" when China's Communists will close ranks with Soviet Communists.

The phraseology indicates Kosygin by no means thinks that time is the near future. Indeed, party relations between Peking and Moscow are worse now than they ever have been and show signs of further deterioration. Evidently the Soviet Communists expect little benefit to themselves to come out of a current widespread party purge in Red China.

FULL CRY

The Red Chinese leadership is in full cry against what they call "all the monsters and goblins and all the Khrushchev-style counterrevolutionary revisionists" in China.

What Peking calls "a great cultural revolution" — a Red Chinese euphemism for the present purge — is intended, evidently, to sweep away any in the upper reaches of the Chinese party who have had any notions whatever of accommodating the Chinese regime to Soviet policies. The warning has gone out that the purge can reach into the highest levels, even into the ranks of old comrades-in-arms of Mao Tse-tung, the ailing leader who now is being glorified as a Communist demigod. People's Daily of Peking said the "only way is down and out" for whoever opposes the current Chinese line, "no matter who he is, how high his position or whether he is a veteran."

NO PROSPECT

In the light of this sort of propaganda and the attempt of the Peking regime to rally mass hysteria against these now designated enemies and criminals, there seems virtually no prospect of finding an avenue toward reconciliation with the Soviet party.

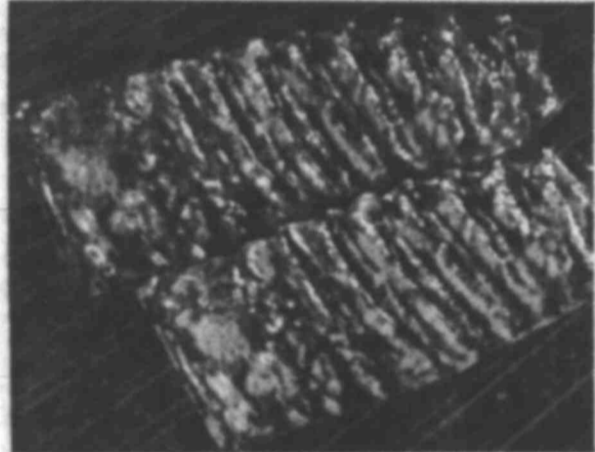

Indeed, Kosygin's latest pronouncement on the Viet Nam situation and the apparent Soviet intention to play it cool can only serve to enrage the Peking politburo all the more.

It is highly unlikely that the Russians could seriously delude themselves on this score. Kosygin, in speaking of some future unity of the whole Communist world, appears to have been simply explaining why Soviet policy at the moment is what it is, and implying a hope that some day in the distant future there may be a change in Peking.

A Devotional For The Day

Set your hope perfectly on the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. (1 Peter 1:13, ASV)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, Lord, that Thou art preparing a place for us. As we set our hope to spend eternity with Thee, help us now to prepare by setting our house on earth in order. May we so live that others will see that our hope for eternal life is real to us. In our Savior's name. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

No One Has This Right

The insidious idea that it is all right to violate a law with which one sincerely disagrees has become so commonplace that a federal official can virtually preach anarchy to a respected profession without creating more than a ripple of criticism.

The National Association of Social Workers was meeting recently in Chicago. Speaking to them was Dr. Daniel Thurst, associate director of Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), an anti-poverty agency. He was quoted as saying: "And social workers who violate laws that are evil in the sense that they demean and degrade man are acting as professionals ought to act."

Anyone who violates any law, whatever he may think of it, is acting as a criminal. He is undermining the rule of law which is the foundation of a democratic society. And he is, however high-minded his motives, promoting anarchy.

The U. S. Constitution's First Amendment protects nonviolent civil-rights demonstrations and protests. But nothing in the Bill of Rights remotely condones violation of a law in the name of individual liberty. The civil-rights worker who violates an un-democratic local ordinance is just as wrong as the diehard segregationist who declares he will never obey the law of the land as determined by the U. S. Supreme Court.

There are three ways to change laws that are unjust—litigation for a fresh interpretation, legislation to revise or abolish and constitutional amendment. But there is no justification in democratic principle for individual defiance of a law deemed personally objectionable.

You Have A Stake Against Vandalism

A few days ago we carried a picture and story about repeated depredations against a Boy Scout (Troop 4) hut. Vandals have systematically raided this place with progressive intensity in destruction.

The irony of this is heightened by the apparent contrast—here is a structure created for the promotion of all that is fine and noble in boys but which is being regularly destroyed by all that is cowardly and mean.

Vandalism is one of the most difficult things to pin down, but when cases are serious enough and arouse the public conscience, they quite frequently are pinned down. We hope this will be the case in this instance. The hoodlums, be they juvenile, youth or adult, ought to be brought before the bar of justice.

The public in general can help officers immeasurably by reporting indications of vandalism, getting descriptions of people or automobiles under suspicious circumstances, or jotting down car numbers. After all, vandals are damaging the public directly or indirectly, and the public ought to fight back.

Vandalism is not new. Three decades ago, vandals of an earlier generation dutifully tore up a rock scout hut in the City Park. Ultimately, this had to be protected with iron shutters. So the problem is not peculiar to our day, but it is none the less obnoxious.

More Than A Passing Worry

NEW YORK (AP)—The British pound sterling is taking another drubbing just when the American balance of payments is running deeper into the red.

Both of these financial problems have flared up periodically since World War II. And both the dollar and the pound have been able to survive without too deep a scar. In fact, world monetary managers have worked out treatments that staunch the wounds.

BUT HAVING BOTH of the world's leading currencies under pressure at the same time—and particularly at this time of international uncertainty—could be more than just a passing worry.

The British pound is under selling pressure because Britain's economy is plagued by a shipping strike when the nation already was making little headway in its attempt to narrow its trade gap.

British imports top its exports. And British production costs have been sending prices up and making their products less competitive in world markets.

THE AMERICAN balance of payments deficit is mounting just now because the Viet Nam war is siphoning off dollars at a time when U. S. exports are climbing slowly and U. S. imports are climbing fast. So more dollars are going overseas this year than last, and many more are going out than are returning.

European critics of American fiscal policies contend that the steep rise in prices here during the last year has helped boost the U. S. deficit, by dimming the attractiveness of American products in world markets. At the same time the fast expanding prosperity here has attracted more imports than ever.

IN TURN, the U. S. deficit can feed inflation in Europe by building up economic pressures there. All those surplus dollars in Europe make for affluence. And affluence usually is translated into higher prices and then still higher wages, and so on.

The big strain in the United States, the warriors contend, could come next year as labor's demands increase. American labor can point to record profits and rising prices here as a reason for better wage scales.

The British monetary problem is more immediate. Heavy selling of the pound sterling by Europeans has pushed its price down to an 18-month low.

AMERICAN BANKERS feel that both this country and other world monetary centers will come to the aid of the Bank of England, if necessary, to support the market for the pound and thus ward off a showdown crisis.

The real problem, in Britain as in the United States, will be in holding down production costs and the prices of goods, and in building up exports and keeping imports in line.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Indonesia's new regime is going about changing Sukarno's course faster than could possibly have been anticipated abroad, and perhaps even in Jakarta, when the military began its cautious isolation of the president.

The urgency of the country's economic plight has been a spur to Gen. Suharto and his colleagues to carry out a house cleaning that is ridding the nation of Communist influence and attempting to gain the confidence of foreign countries capable of granting needed assistance.

As revealed by the Sultan of Jogjakarta, who is handling economic matters, the treasury is empty, exports are falling and 2.4 billion dollars are owed in foreign debts. A pound of rice costs a laborer a full day's pay, and there isn't enough rice to feed the people until the June harvest.

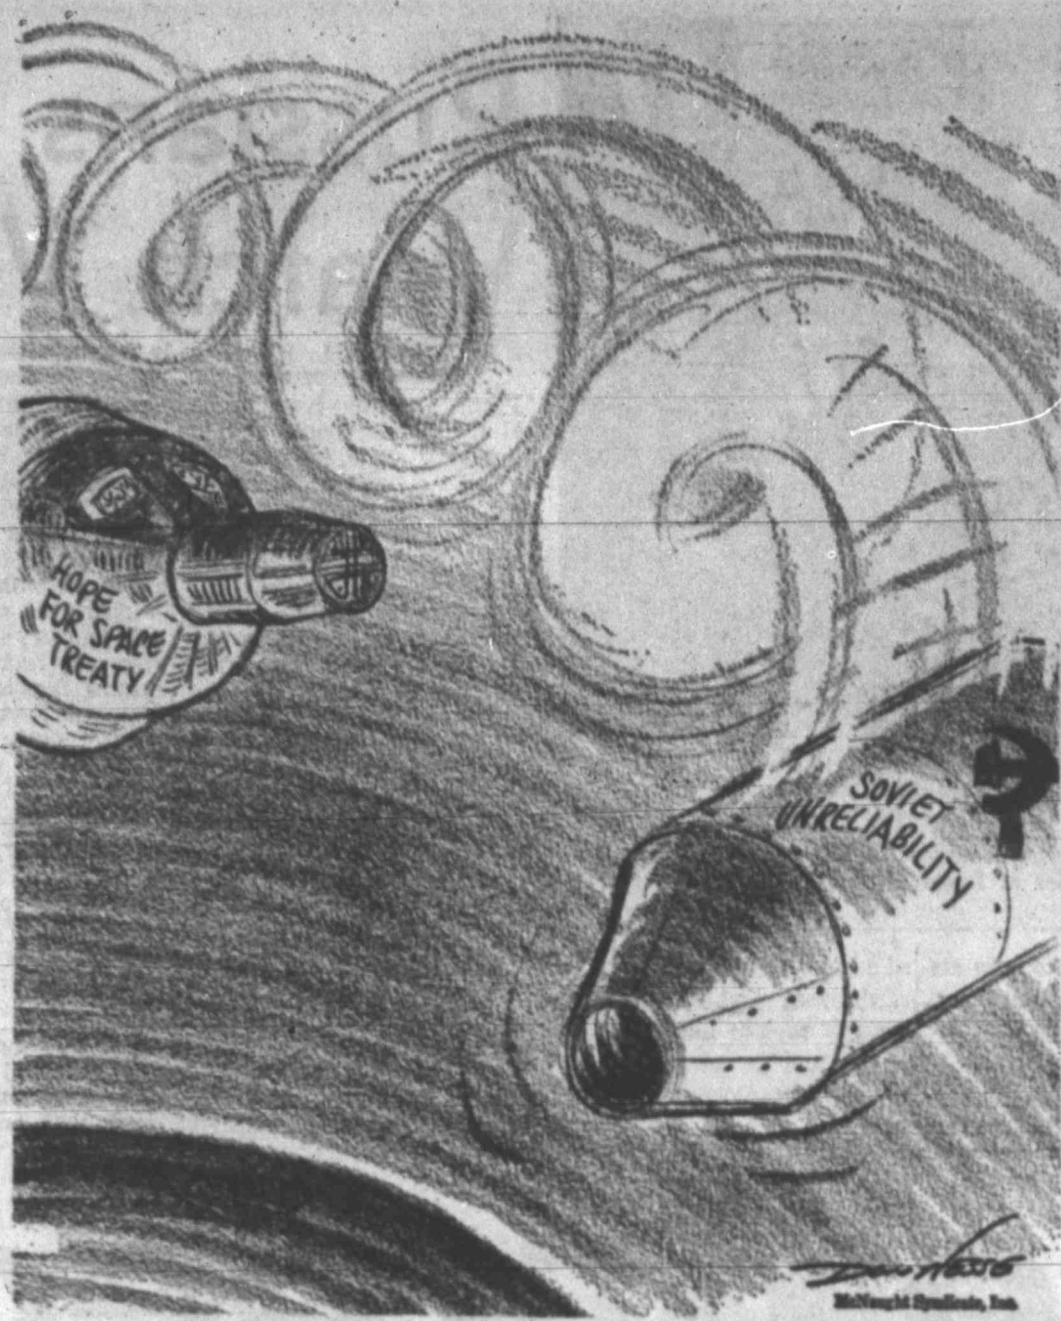

That the free world should respond generously but prudently to the call for help seems clear.

The administration's granting of a five-year credit for the purchase of 50,000 tons of rice is a purely commercial transaction to meet an emergency, but it is a step in the right direction.

TUMBLING TOO MUCH FOR RENDEZVOUS

James Marlow Seeing The Slim Beginnings

WASHINGTON (AP)—People huddle together in shock and terror but go their own way again when the sun shines. The Western world, which huddled after the last war, is showing signs it thinks the sun is out.

Twenty years ago it would not have been far-fetched to think of a union of the Atlantic nations, including the United States, to provide a common interest and a common defense to protect it.

They had learned from Hitler what lack of unity could mean. But the idea would never have been very real. The United States, whose territory was unscathed by the war, would never have yielded its sovereignty to some Western union.

THE ATTITUDE OF the United States might have been different if it had been devastated by bombing as Europe was.

The closest the Atlantic powers came to real unity was in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, including the United States, as a defense against Russian attack.

Meanwhile, the east Europeans had no choice. They had suffered the full impact of the war and were scooped up by Stalin and put in the Russian bag as satellites.

Yet, just as in the West, each treated its own individuality, called nationalism and, instead of immediately absorbing them, Russia let each have its own government, provided it was Communist.

EVENTUALLY, IN 1955, Russia formed a counterpart of NATO by forming the Warsaw pact, a military alliance made up of Russia and the satellites. So now there were two groups of huddlers. East and West under a military shield.

Both sides began to relax a bit as the shock and terror of the war retreated from memory and they began to get back on their feet and prospered. Fear and suspicion remain on both sides, but less intensely.

And the result was predictable. As each nation, East and West, began to feel a little less dependent on its neighbors, that old story which has plagued history, nationalism, began to tell itself again.

FRANCE IS the best example of it under President Charles de Gaulle who, saying times have changed, rocked NATO by deciding to pull his troops out from under its command.

Inevitably other NATO partners will assert their own nationalism more and more, in different ways, as time passes.

But the relaxed mood settling over Western Europe has begun to have its effect in the Communist world.

Romania called for the abolition of all military alliances and the withdrawal of troops from foreign soil, which was a way of telling the Russians to get back where they belong.

The proof is that communism in Europe, like capitalism, has been in this evolutionary process right along and will wind up, like capitalism, unrecognizable by its early prophets. Right now we are just looking at the slim beginnings.

The Only True One

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory is the only true fountain of youth.

But you don't have to stay at any particular age. You can stray at will through all the levels of time you have lived through, from earliest bewildered childhood to the confusion of today.

Perhaps it gives you a feeling of warmth to pause and look back and remember when—

IN 1921 Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart," starred in a film version of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

That same year, during the depression that followed World War I, U.S. Steel reduced wages to 30 cents an hour.

Everybody felt pretty sure that, no matter how much the world changed, the penny postcard would always be with us.

IN THE ERA of silent movies a juvenile delinquent was a kid who had to be thrown out of the theater for pitching spitballs at the lady up front who played the piano.

The corner grocery store sold more lard than it did butter. When you couldn't even afford lard to spread on your breakfast toast, brother, you came from a poor family.

A feather bed was a sign of prosperity.

Only the educated suffered from arthritis. Everybody else over 40 suffered from "the rheumatiz."

THE BEST known one-way street in America was the proverbial one that led over the hill to the poorhouse.

When the doctor made a home call, every small kid in the block yearned to peek into his little black bag to see if it contained a squirming new baby. After all, that's where they came from.

THE ADVANTAGE of being awakened in the morning by a rooster rather than an alarm clock, as village wits pointed out, was that "You don't have to remember to wind the rooster."

People seemed to talk more about how to get rid of warts than how to avoid having coronary attacks.

To Your Good Health

A Lot Of Reasons Why We Get Tired

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: In an otherwise healthy person in the middle 30's, can low blood pressure cause extreme tiredness? Do Vitamin B 12 shots and exercise help? Can a troubled mind be the culprit?—MRS. S. S.

A healthy person does not become extremely tired; hence something is wrong, and it needs to be discovered.

It is true that low blood pressure (extremely low, not merely a bit below average, which does not mean much if anything) can be associated with abnormal fatigue. It is a finding, not a disease, and not a cause. Vitamins alone will not solve the situation. You have to find the basic, underlying factors.

Low-functioning thyroid, anemia, and chronic infection are among the frequent causes, along with a multitude of less common ones which, however, would be revealed by a physical examination.

A "troubled mind" can mean many things, but yes, emotional tensions most certainly can cause chronic fatigue. Plain, extreme boredom is one of the commonest, but there are others which wear you down emotionally and become major elements in physical feelings of tiredness. A sense of inferiority, or of insecurity, or habitual self-centeredness, lack of interest in things and people around you, a guilty conscience, unsolved problems which sit perpetually in the back of your mind—all these and others can be involved.

However, attention to some very simple rules of good living habits can have tremendous effect. It's one thing to work hard, be tired, and then bounce back after a nap or a good night's sleep. But there are plenty of ambitious, intense young people who just try to do too much.

The young woman with a job, and some night school classes, and a house to clean and a husband to feed, can cram too much into 24 hours. Everybody needs at least a little time for recreation and relaxation, but it's hard to convince some who have managed to survive the blistering pace for months, and can't understand why they can't keep it up forever without fatigue.

Eating habits don't always get the attention they deserve. The breakfast-skipper or lunch-skipper is asking for trouble, sooner or later. I have cured many a tired woman just by insisting that she start eating a breakfast with some protein in it every morning. Juice and coffee may get you started, but it does not stay with you. An egg, and/or-bacon or sausage, or other source of protein makes a difference.

Exercise is important for at least three or four reasons. It tones up both muscles and circulation; it stimulates appetite; it promotes healthy tiredness that leads to refreshing sleep; and it is an excellent means of breaking off the accumulated tensions of work.

Too much of "that tired feeling" demands attention. There are things to do about it.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

Right Is Not Just Civil Rights.

For some months now, most of the civil rights leaders have been asking for more severe penalties against anyone harming a demonstrator—that is, anyone exercising his civil rights. Some steps have been taken in this direction, and probably more are on the way. Some have proposed another amendment to the Constitution.

At the same time—and in some instances by the same people—there is a groundswell of opinion to deal less severely with those accused with crime. I doubt, however, that these latter opinions hold for the former.

THE CASE in point will be the upcoming trial of the fellow accused of shooting the "marcher" earlier this week. Almost simultaneously with the reports that the shooting had occurred came quotes from many leaders urging quick trial and conviction of the guilty parties.

It brings to mind previous civil rights shootings and the ensuing trials. Almost without exception, the results of the trials ending in acquittal brought considerable criticism. While at the same time, trials concerning those accused of other crimes, equally as heinous, brought less response.

EXAMPLES of these might be the Reeb murder, a civil rights incident, and the Mossler murder, a more common crime. The reaction following these two trials, as reported by the national press, was not comparable. Anything less than conviction of those tried in the Reeb case was considered a miscarriage of justice; the Mossler case was treated with less heat.

The point here is why should conviction in a murder case be more important when civil rights is involved? It isn't, of course, but these draw widespread complaints.

IN SUCH an atmosphere, and with so many already on record urging conviction, the fellow accused of pulling the trigger Monday in Mississippi, will be hard-pressed to get a fair trial. His best hope for acquittal comes in the rulings of the Supreme Court for Dr. Sam Sheppard. Their findings of too much publicity should certainly hold true in this case—the point being whether such ruling will hold true in a civil rights matter.

TO MAKE the current court rulings even more difficult to understand, recall the recent case in which a judge fined a young woman for reaching into her purse and using a tear-gas gun against a thug attacking her.

There doesn't seem to be much consistency in such cases, and the equity is also in doubt. But isn't this what the law is all about?

Wall Street And The Peace Feelers

WASHINGTON—STOCK PRICES DIVE ON NEW RUMORS OF PEACE FEELERS—headline in the Washington Post.

As someone who watches the stock market every day with trepidation, I was very nervous when I read the news that false rumors about Hanoi peace feelers had sent the market into a decline. I'm as much for peace as anybody in this country, but if it's going to have a serious adverse effect on Wall Street, I think we'd better think twice about any kind of negotiations.

THE MINUTE I read the story, I called my broker and said, "What gives with the peace feelers from Hanoi?"

He said, "It could be just a scare. Our information is that peace is still far away, but people are running scared."

"Thank God, it's only a rumor," I said. "I'd hate anything to interfere with my investments."

"I don't blame you," he said. "I wouldn't have put you in all those defense stocks if I thought there was any chance of a settlement in South Viet Nam."

"LISTEN, while I've got you on the phone, Russia has just asked for a treaty to internationalize the moon. It sounds like a peace gesture to me. Maybe I'd better sell."

"I'm not sure. The next day the Russians warned us to keep our mitts off Cuba. It came at the right time, too, because the moon business could have caused a selling wave."

"Well, if you ask me, the Russians have been too damn conciliatory lately and it isn't helping my portfolio at all."

"I THINK you're being pessimistic."

Something They Can't Stop

WASHINGTON—The Civil Rights Convention last week at the Sheraton Park Hotel wasn't anything like the Buddhists' demonstrations in Saigon, Hue and Da Nang, but you could feel it had the makings.

There were no human bonfires, but there was a smouldering racial glow against the President. There was no overt outbreak against the war policy, but you didn't need a Geiger counter to detect the radiation of resentment—as if in Viet Nam we were fighting a white man's war and spending white man's money which the Negroes felt ought to be spent on them.

UPSTAIRS in a third floor bedroom, the whole bucket of eels was squirming. It was a small press conference held by Lawrence Guyot, chairman of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, and candidate for Congress. Mr. Guyot, a large, café-au-lait Negro, well-spoken, well-formed in state affairs, soon tied in local politics with world affairs. He related the White Power Structure of Mississippi with what he termed the U.S. government's lust for "world domination." He saw the suppression of the Southern Negro as another part of the forest in which the suppression of the Viet Cong was being carried out by force and violence.

THE KILLING of Communists in Asia had some connection, he led us to think, with the Mississippi legislature's program of "depopulation" by paying Negroes to leave the state and by legal sterilization of Negro women after their second illegitimate child.

Mr. Guyot was no public-square arsonist, but you would have to be tone deaf not to hear the crackle of revolutionary flames in his discourse. He is an educated, intelligent man, but afire with the illogic of polemic racism. Nothing could make him admit that the Vietnam War was an ideological conflict—he repeatedly called our part in it a "genocide."

ONE MAY well ask: what will ever satisfy the dissidents? The third Civil Rights bill in three years is before Congress, and a national election is set for September in Viet Nam. But about this," my broker said. "It's true that there hasn't been too many war scares recently as far as the Soviets are concerned, but we're still a long way from peace."

"Don't you think Castro acting up the way he has will help my investments?"

"It might, except Castro is having so much trouble with Red China. The thinking down here on the street is that Castro won't affect the market one way or the other."

"Getting back to Viet Nam," I said, "what do you make of these Buddhist demonstrations?"

"IF YOU want my personal opinion, it should be good for the stock market. As long as the South Vietnamese can't get together, there doesn't seem to be much hope for a peaceful settlement in the country, and if that's so, the bulls are going to come out ahead."

"I figured as much. But this is what has me worried. If a rumored peace feeler from Hanoi can send the Dow-Jones average down 12 points, why couldn't the Communists announce a real peace offer and send Wall Street into a crash?"

"DON'T THINK we haven't thought of it," my broker said. "But I don't think the Communists would be that smart."

"Besides, as long as we have to contain Red China, the stock market should remain steady. You can't worry about these day-to-day fluctuations caused by a lot of silly peace talk."

"One more question," I said. "I hear relations between the U. S. and France are getting worse. That's a good sign, isn't it?"

"Very good. Do you want to buy anything on margin?"

(Copyright, 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

the militant minorities here—and in South Viet Nam—have no finite goals. They seem to be in a chain reaction, a frenetic demand for power in their own hands.

Downstairs, UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg called a press conference of his own, which he soon regretted. Like Mr. Guyot, he tried to tie together domestic and world affairs. The Ambassador told us that the causes of domestic injustice were the same as the cause for war: poverty, discrimination, the denial of opportunity.

IT SOUNDED pretty glib and noble until a reporter wanted to know how an anti-war declaration by this convention would affect the conduct of the administration's foreign policy. Mr. Goldberg ducked the question. He looked around as if hopeful to find a window through which he could jump.

Such was his predicament, and the administration's. Both at home and abroad they have started something and don't know how to stop it.

Rain Dances

LOVINGTON, N. M. (AP)—Indians danced ancient rituals and teenagers danced the Watusi, Swim, Mashed Potato at a festival to bring rain to communities in southeastern New Mexico.

The Philip Whitecloud Indian troupe of Albuquerque and the Lovington teenagers waited all day Saturday. Sunday and Monday, rain fell. It wasn't much, 15 of an inch. "But it's more than any of us have been able to bring," said a nearby Hobbs resident, where no measurable amounts of rain had been reported for more than a month.

Only Time Is Won In Fight Over Alliance

BRUSSELS (AP) — Western statesmen today still faced a fight for the preservation of the Atlantic alliance, after a NATO foreign ministers' conference that narrowly averted the wrecking of their defense system.

The foreign ministers headed homeward with the basic differences between France and the other 14 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization still unsettled.

In three days of hectic diplomacy they won only time and a framework within which to recover from the body blow of President Charles de Gaulle's decision to withdraw French forces from NATO's military setup.

If they succeed, they can continue a coherent Western policy toward the challenges posed by Soviet Communism and the great unsolved problems of Europe.

Failure could push France toward a sort of neutralism, bringing in its trail divided loyalties among the allies and the ultimate peril of NATO crumbling into ruins.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, recognizing that historic issues are at stake, was flying to Bonn and to London today for a reappraisal of the situation with the leaders of America's two major allies in Europe.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville returned to Paris Wednesday night to report to De Gaulle.

American sources reported Couve de Murville would visit Washington in September.

The immediate focus of France's feud with the other 14 allies rests on the future of her 72,000 troops in West Germany.

The ministers worked out a hard-won procedural compromise providing:

—The military and political issues involved in the future status and role of these troops must be tackled under the umbrella of the NATO council in Paris beginning June 15. These will be apart from direct French-German talks beginning June 13 on the status of the French forces.

—Topping the list of problems to be studied are "the tasks and missions of French forces in Germany, including their cooperation with NATO forces and command arrangements."

—A variety of other matters flowing from De Gaulle's pull-out also will be examined. Among them: Permission for allied planes to fly over France, a French contribution to the multi-million-dollar cost of shifting NATO military organs from France, and French participation in NATO's Europe-wide military alert system.

Methodists Show Concern

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Eight Texas conferences of the Methodist Church have approved a statement expressing "deep anxiety" over the shooting of James Meredith and concern for the man who shot him.

The resolution was passed at a joint session of the conferences late Wednesday at Southern Methodist University.

The statement sent to Meredith and his family prayers for "speedy recovery of health," to Norvell and his wife, the conference sent "our word of concern to share in their present suffering, distress and agony."

Appreciation was sent Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi for "everything he has done and will do" toward "the full enfranchisement of all citizens there."

To President Johnson the statement sent greetings and assurances of the conferences' desire "to be led through the wisest and best possible means of government" into "that brighter day when all men shall forsake the harmful and seek out the helpful in the relationships of all the citizens."

Copies of the 528-word statement will be sent to each Texas Methodist conference for action and to be placed in conference minutes.

A Methodist spokesman explained that the joint session is not in itself an official Methodist meeting. Passage of the statement, he said, reflects "consensus of opinion."

MRS. JAMES PUCKETT WITH CAROL AND JIMMY

Camping-Out Style Means Perfect Trip

By JO ANN PHINIZY
Lost for a vacation idea? Follow the path of the Rev. and Mrs. James Puckett, 804 E. 13th. Last year, they took a trip to California and camped out every night.

"It's a perfect way to spend a vacation," Mrs. Puckett said. "You meet more people, see more things, and you always know the cook."

To make the trip even more perfect, the Pucketts rented a camper trailer. It came equipped with butane gas stove, cot for four and an ice box.

Mrs. Puckett said that all you really need to take is a skillet, sauce pan and large box of canned foods. Paper plates and cups do fine for dinner ware.

"The purpose of a vacation is to have a change of pace," Mrs. Puckett explained, "and you sabotage the whole effort if you make a big thing out of cooking. There's no point in taking the whole kitchen with you."

"As far as what you cook, everything smells and taste better flavored with the Great Outdoors."

CAN OF BEANS
A can of beans, a canned ham, bread and onions. You've no idea what a feast it can be out under the stars.

The best thing about camping out is the way the children suddenly lend a helping hand and develop acute cases of appetite.

"Our two, Jimmy and Carol, have been known to have household waning appetites," Mrs. Puckett declared. "But on that trip, they ate everything, including a family unheard of, canned soup."

Rev. Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple, knows no strangers. On this trip, his penchant led to delightful memories.

In Sequoia National Park, the Pucketts' camping neighbors turned out to be a German family. In no time at all there was a joint winner roast under way.

Mrs. Puckett said that some of the winners had cinder qualities and others were icy cold. No one cried, it was a meal to be remembered.

To would-be campers, Mrs. Puckett has several reminders. "Take a good supply of canned foods. It is possible to buy an unfamiliar brand that isn't quite as good as what you are used to.

SELECT PACKING
"And when you are packing of a morning, leave the lunch-time sandwich makings and cold drinks in a convenient spot. Otherwise, you will find yourself at some scenic spot with a crowd of hungry people and you can't find the bread."

Meanwhile, back home, Mrs. Puckett says that she is an "in-a-hurry cook."

"I never seem to have the time, at the right time, to cook large complicated meals," she explained. "Instead, we are sometimes cornered with a large supply of prepared foods."

Mrs. Puckett said that, aside from having a fine time on the cross country trip, she learned a real time-saving trick. Beans can heat just as well in the can as in a sauce pan. She expects the trick to cut no end of motion and dishwashing minutes.

In selecting her recipes, Mrs. Puckett said that they typify her family's more normal eating ways.

TASTY SIX

Ham Patties Become New

When the life of the party has gone home and you still have ham left from dinner, don't despair—rely on sour cream.

Sour cream can make ham flavor live again in succulent Ham Patties. Two cups of ground cooked ham will make six tasty patties. Sour cream gives such zest to leftover ham tidbits that you'll enjoy a new taste treat.

And it's easy, too.

Blend the ham with 1/2 cup bread crumbs, two eggs, a little grated onion, parsley, mustard and seasonings. Shape into patties and brown them on both sides in a little butter.

Keep the ham patties warm on a serving platter while you prepare the delicious sour cream sauce to go with them. Spoon the warm sauce over the patties and serve with baked potatoes, a hearty green vegetable like broccoli, and tall glasses of milk.

HAM PATTIES WITH SOUR CREAM
2 cups ground cooked ham
1 tsp. grated onion
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/2 tsp. salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tbsps. butter
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 cup dairy sour cream, at room temperature
Parsley for garnish
Skillet, 10-in.
Makes 6 patties

In a bowl toss together ham, onion, crumbs, parsley, mustard and salt; add eggs and blend well. Shape into 6 patties. In skillet melt butter; brown patties on both sides. Transfer to serving platter; keep warm. Meanwhile, in a saucepan combine water and paprika; heat to boiling. Remove from heat; stir in sour cream. Spoon over ham patties and garnish with parsley.

BAKED PHEASANT DELUXE (OR CHICKEN)
2 pheasants, cut in serving pieces
1/2 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup butter
2 tbsps. onion juice
1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 cups thick sour cream
Dredge each piece of pheasant thoroughly in mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Heat butter in a heavy skillet and brown pheasant slowly over medium heat for about 15 minutes. Remove to baking dish. Add onion juice and chopped parsley to sour cream and pour over pheasant. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 1 1/2 hours.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE
1 box chocolate cake mix
1 box chocolate pudding mix
3 eggs
3/4 cup corn oil
1 pkg. chocolate chips
Prepare pudding mix according to directions. Set aside to cool. Combine cake mix, corn oil and eggs. Add pudding mix to cake mixture. Bake in oblong pan for 35 or 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle chocolate chips on top of warm cake for a delicious topping and extra moist cake.

SUMMERTIME RICE TREATS
3/4 stick margarine
40 large marshmallows
6 cups Rice Krispies
1/2 cup pecans, if desired
Melt butter and marshmallows. Add Rice Krispies and pecans. Stir well. Place in greased pan and press down until firm. Let cool for 5 to 10 minutes. Cut in squares and serve.

MERINGUE SHELLS
3 egg whites
3/4 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
Combine whites, cream of tartar, salt and vanilla in mixer. Beat slow until foamy. Increase speed. Slowly sprinkle sugar in mixture. Beat 10 minutes longer or until the sugar is well dissolved. Drop by spoonfuls and swirl meringue into shell. Bake slowly at 275 degrees for 45 minutes. These may be filled with fresh or canned fruit or with orange, pineapple or chocolate fillings.

June Pronounced As Annual Dairy Month

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the 20th annual dairy month, and milk production is down and prices are up — and likely to head higher.

Butter production is running 25 per cent lower than last year, and prices are up. So are cheese prices.

Ice cream costs 5 cents more a gallon than it did a year ago. Coffee is cheaper — down 2 cents a pound for regular; and 12 cents for a 6-ounce jar of instant.

The nation's housewives soon may feel the effects of the great plains drought, which coupled with cold weather, has held back the wheat crop, pushing up prices.

General Mills Inc. and Pillsbury Co. plan to raise the price of flour about 10 cents for a 25-pound bag by the end of the month.

Later, prices of cookies, crackers and other bakery products may go up. Bread already is higher — the result of increased costs for labor, shortening and packaging, as well as flour.

The weather also has slowed other crops.

To the great delight of children, spinach is likely to be in short supply this year. So are broccoli, corn cauliflower and lima beans.

Pasteur's Process Aids Milk

Pasteurization is a process named for its developer, scientist Louis Pasteur.

In pasteurization, the raw milk is heated quickly and promptly cooled to destroy harmful bacteria that may be present and to improve the keeping quality of milk.

Every particle of milk is heated to not lower than 145 degrees F. for not less than 20 minutes and promptly cooled to 50 degrees F. or lower to destroy any harmful bacteria that may be present without affecting flavor or food value.

Another method raises the temperature of milk quickly to at least 180 degrees F. for not less than 15 seconds, followed by rapid cooling.

Pasteurization does not change the flavor or the essential and nutritive value and goodness of milk.

Try Cheese, Asparagus Mousse

Molded salads always add a cool touch to summer parties. They're as cool and pleasing to the eye as they are refreshing to the taste.

A Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse is attractive and tasty and easy to make. No woman should ever be afraid of a mousse. It's simple to make this particular salad with its delicate flavor.

Pale green and cool in appearance, this mousse uses both the asparagus and its liquid to produce the true flavor of this colorful vegetable. Enough lemon juice is added to give an appetizing tang and a touch of mustard highlights the asparagus flavor.

Either canned or frozen asparagus can be used in this Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse. If frozen is used, cook it first and save the liquid.

Mixing cottage cheese in your blender is an easy job even on a hot day. Creamy-smooth, it blends beautifully with asparagus. For texture contrast, add chopped or shaved almonds to the velvety salad.

Serve Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse with butter-broiled lobster tails, grilled fish or broiled chicken. Make this masterpiece in salads ahead of time and take it easy until your guests arrive.

Dairy Cows Spend Time In Leisure

DID YOU KNOW? . . . That the dairy cow has been working an eight hour day for years? She grazes for four hours, averaging 40-70 nibbles every minute. The next four hours are just spent chewing her cud with her jaws and four stomachs working every minute. After milking, she sleeps all night, resting her jaws for tomorrow's eight hour work day.

More than 100 food elements are found in milk. A quart of milk provides 82 per cent of the day's needs of calcium, 63 per cent of the phosphorus, 40 per cent of protein, 53 per cent of riboflavin, 30 per cent of vitamin A, 21 per cent of calories, 22 per cent of thiamine.

In spite of being used and abused by the human race, the cow continues to provide man with life itself.

No wonder cows are in demand for zoos in city parks. Parks are pieces of America and the cow is America itself.

Meat Loaf Has Right Proportions
How does one determine the amount of ingredients to use with ground meat for meat loaves? A good proportion includes 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper for each pound of ground beef, fresh pork, lamb or veal.

School Children Consume Milk, Ice Cream Most

During the 1962-63 school year, about $12 of milk and milk products, exclusive of butter, were consumed per pupil enrolled in schools serving food. Of this sum, about $10 represents fresh fluid milk and almost one dollar represents ice cream.

"About 80 cents worth of cheese, mostly processed, was consumed per student during the year and about $1.90 worth of butter per capita.

Most of the milk consumption took place within the framework of the National School Lunch Program. Schools operating under one or both of these programs accounted for 96 per cent of all milk used in the nation's schools.

Major Changes For Scouting Urged

LONDON (AP) — A committee of Boy Scout leaders urged the organization today to scrap its short pants, drop the word boy from its name and take an interest in girls.

The committee's report, delivered after two and a half years of study, recommended a revolutionary streamlining of the worldwide organization founded in Britain by Lord Baden-Powell in 1908.

The 24 committee members — all of them under 45 — said in their report that the scouts need a new image.

Shorts, the report said, "are one of the most damaging aspects of our present public image. They are responsible for the scout movement being dubbed as a juvenile organization in which men drop back to boyhood level."

They recommended mushroom-colored trousers, slightly tapered, with no cuffs.

The streamliners said scouts should wear berets instead of the old-fashioned army hats, and that the berets and shirts should be green.

They also recommended: Scouting activities should be kept to a minimum and "outmoded activities and childish games" should be abolished.

Senior and Rover Scouts should be called "Venture Scouts," a name which is "vibrant, active and forward looking."

Boy Scouts should be called Scouts.

"Venture Scouts between the ages of 16 and 20 should be cleared. It recommended a joint committee representing Venture Scout units and Girl Guide — Girl Scout — units to "combine their activities."

New Face In Roping Lead

DENVER — A Montana-born cowboy, Bob Ragsdale, 29, led national calf roping title standings Monday for the first time in his 6-year professional rodeo career. He now has grossed $10,595.

Ragsdale, a wiry 160-pound southpaw, took the lead following a major rodeo in Ft. Smith, Ark., the Rodeo Cowboys Assn. had been trailing pace-setter Ron Sewalt, 25, Chico, another portside roper, the last four weeks.

Raised at Harlem, Mont., where he learned his roping ABC's in high school rodeo competition, Ragsdale moved to Chowchilla, Calif., four years ago. Since 1961, he has finished each season among the eight top roping winners but never before seriously threatened for a championship.

Leaders in various events are:
 All-around — Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, $15,978, and Bob Ragsdale, $14,142; saddle bronc — Bill Smith, Cody, Wyo., $8,377, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Ala., $6,845; bareback bronc — Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, $10,248, and John Edwards, Cheyenne, Wyo., $8,038; bull riding — Bob Wegner, Auburn, Wash., $7,647, and Billy Minick, Medora, N.D., $6,877; calf roping — Bob Ragsdale, $10,595, and Ron Sewalt, Chico, Tex., $10,365; steer wrestling — Jack Roddy, San Jose, Calif., $8,253, and Dean Oliver, $6,519.

South could have saved a trick by going up with the ace from dummy and drawing trump. However, he was unwilling to settle for down one and, in an all-out attempt to make the contract, he put in the ten of clubs from dummy. East played the king and returned a club which West trumped. The ace of diamonds completed the damages, and the defenders registered a tidy 500 point profit on the deal.

Had South stood for his partner's double of five hearts, that contract would have been defeated one trick—declarer losing a spade, a diamond, and a club. The situation was admittedly difficult to judge, particularly since South lacked defensive strength, and his partner's double might have been based on the expectation that the opening bidder would take two or three tricks.

Our criticism of South is directed against his free bid of four spades. He would have placed himself in a better strategic position by passing at this point, to let his partner have a voice. Observe that North's original jump response is unconditionally forcing to game, so that he must take some action when the four heart bid comes around to him.

If North chooses to double four hearts, South may now bid four spades—thereby making it clear to partner that he lacks defensive strength. If the opponents persist to five hearts and North doubles again, South may place his reliance in partner's decision, having fully described his own holding.

Moving Morality Tale Told By Cartoonist

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP-TV — Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Apprehensive little Charlie Brown came back to CBS Wednesday night in a moving morality tale of the diamond.

There wasn't a dry eye in my house when his loyal teammates made for him a lovely baseball uniform from Linus' pale blue blanket.

Charlie, sensitive, loyal and foolishly hopeful, and his little friends were first introduced to the television audiences in a special last Christmas. But long before that, artist Charles Schulz had built a legion of friends for the characters in his cartoon strip.

They were all there — musical Schroeder, dirty-Pig-Pen, aggressive Lucy. The story centered on Charlie's team — five boys, three girls and "a dog who can't throw" — which had lost 999 games and won none. Worse, the team was so discouraged and disgusted that the girls and even Snoopy the dog were about to give up baseball for rope-skipping, skate-boarding, even surfing in a plastic pool.

At that point, a store owner offered to put the all-stars into a league and even give them uniforms — but not if there were girls and a dog on the team. They were barred from league play.

Did Charlie abandon his faithful dog and the little girls who were so mean to him? No, sir he quietly spurned the offer, only to suffer a lot more abuse until his loyalty was uncovered.

The tale was spun with charm, heightened by the use of real children's voices for the cartoon characters and a delightful musical score. It was a short program of gentle wit and infinite affection and wisdom.

"Shipwrecked," on NBC's Bob Hope Theater was an odd story about an emotionally disturbed widow and a drunken sailor who found new lives and each other when stranded on a Pacific island paradise.

Jason Robards Jr., who played the leering sailor in the two-character drama, had an actor's field day.

But the script, which at one point had Robards staring toward the sky and bargaining with his creator, seemed pretty far-fetched.

After only 15 weeks, ABC's Confidential for Women dramatic series will call it a day July 8. It will be replaced by another audience participation program called The Newlywed Game on July 11.

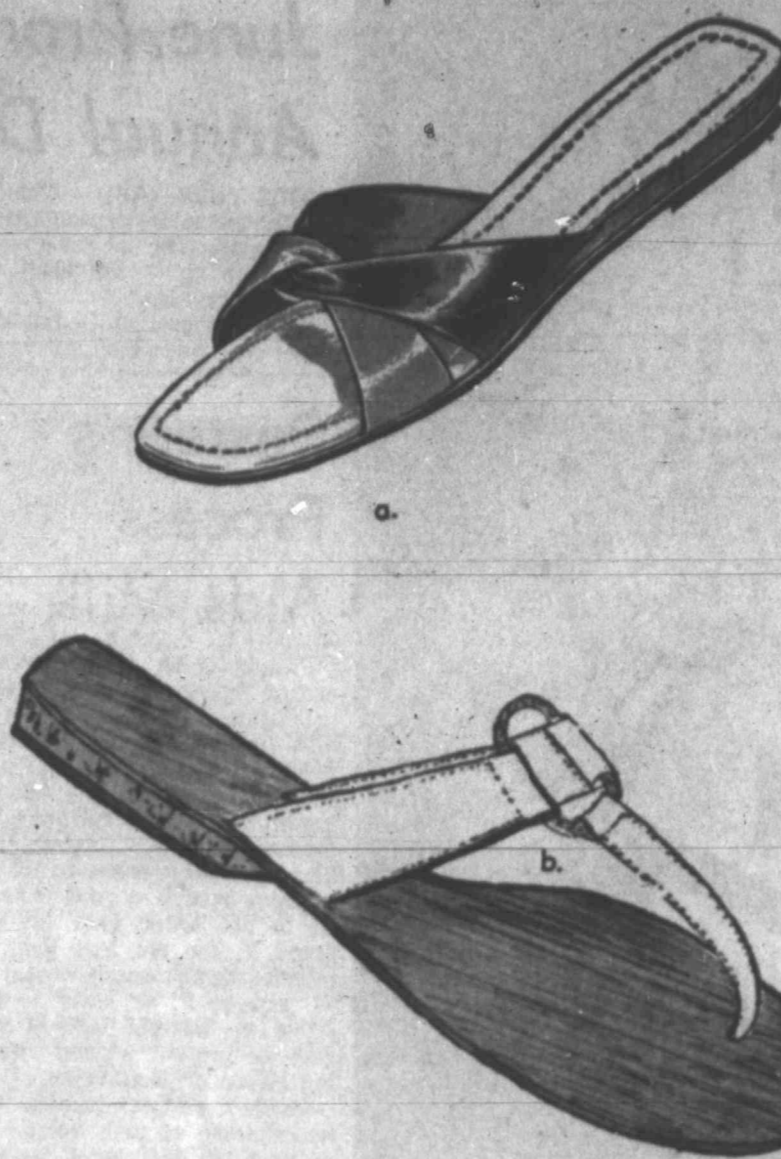

The daytime series presented complete dramas. Mostly about emotional problems, in five installments over a week's time, a departure from the routine soap opera format. It also had a staff psychiatrist discussing the problem at the end of each program. But the series failed to make a dent in the popularity of competing programs, particularly Password.

THANKS

Even though unsuccessful in my campaign for Commissioner of Precinct 2, I want to thank everyone for your many courtesies as I rang your door bell, and to those who helped me in many different ways.

Even though I narrowly lost my race I really gained in making new acquaintances, particularly many wonderful people at Webb AFB, and in renewing many old friends. I'll always treasure these friendships. Thanks for everything.

Jet Wreck Under Check

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A 30-man board is beginning a detailed investigation into the collision between the giant XB70A research bomber and an F104 jet chase plane which killed record-holding X15 pilot Joseph A. Walker and the bomber's copilot.

The XB70A's pilot, Al White,

48, ejected in a capsule seat Wednesday, suffering only bruises and shock.

Also killed was Maj. Carl Cross, White's copilot, whose body was recovered from his capsule ejection seat near the wreckage of the bomber.

The Air Force said it appeared Walker's chase plane hit the two tall vertical stabilizers on the triangular tailwing of the XB70A at an altitude of 25,000 feet. Both planes crashed near Barstow, Calif., 45 miles east of the base.
