Hottest Day

Heat Wave Hits 102

Monday will go down in the record books as the hottest day of the current year thus far. The temperature reached 102 degrees at the U.S. Experiment Station.

Thermometers downtown showed 103 and one was reported to have climbed to 106.

Hottest Night, Too

Very likely Monday night will be charged as the hottest night of the year, too. It never cooled down below 78 the entire period and even a rumbling, lightning punctuated thunderstorm, which moved in after midnight, failed to break the heat. Only a few sprinkles of rain fell from the menacing clouds.

Tuesday dawned with overcast skies and sultry temperatures. A few drops of rain fell about 9 a.m.

Highway Work Planned

Contract for a million dollars worth of highway repairs on IS 20, from two miles west of Big Spring to the Martin County line, is slated for consideration by the State Highway Department in September.

The commissioners Tuesday approved the project which calls for four inches of additional hot mix surfacing on the road and reconstruction of shoulders.

Under Consideration

Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department, said that the job had been under consideration for sometime. Actually 10.3 miles of the Interstate highway is involved in the project. The department, Smoot said, will arrange the work in such a manner as to keep the highway open while the improvements are under way. The project will not necessitate closing one lane and transferring all traffic to the other at any time, he said.

Another segment of IS 20 to be given the same treatment is 9.3 miles beginning at the Howard County line and extending eastward to Westbrook. The cost of this project is estimated at $895,000. Presumably the contract for this job will be sought at the same time the Howard County project is up for bid.

Gunmen Grab Gold Bars

NEW YORK (AP)—Two gunmen forced their way into the KLM Royal Dutch Airlines cargo office at John F. Kennedy International Airport early today, and firing a shot into the ceiling, stole two gold bars valued at $23,376.30, police said.

The theft was the second to hit KLM this year. In April, a 40-pound gold bar worth $40,000 vanished after it was said to have been placed on board a flight from Kennedy to the West Indies island of Aruba.

'This Is A Stickup'

Police said the two bandits burst into KLM's export office in Kennedy's cargo loading area and announced, "This is a stick-up."

Clerk John Parker laughed at one of the men's long-barreled revolvers and replied, "Quit kidding." His remark drew a quick shot into the ceiling.

At that moment, according to detectives, manager Earl Erickson saw Parker, clerk Hans Brinkhouse and the gunmen and ran to a car where he said he knew there was a hunting rifle.

Baby Big Surprise

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—B. W. Cook's wife called him: "I don't feel good. Call the doctor."

"So I called the doctor and he told me to take her to the hospital," but he said when he got back from the phone call, "my wife was sitting there with a new baby."

Until Sunday afternoon Cook and his wife, Patricia, were unaware that she was pregnant, said Cook.

He reported that Mrs. Cook had felt tired and run down. A few months ago, and after some tests a dentist advised extracting all her teeth. She was fitted with dentures—and felt better.

Bad Back Aches

"Then she began developing back aches. Only Sunday afternoon the back pains got real bad and my wife made an appointment with the doctor for a checkup. She was going to see him Monday." The unexpected baby, Paul Sterling Cook, weighed 3 pounds 3 ounces and was reported in fine condition.

The Cooks have three other children. They are Pearl, 11, Susan, 7, and Steven, 3. Cook is a railway communications technician.

U.S. Troops Winging Home From Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Federal officials today airlifted four battalions of U.S. troops homeward, ending their role in helping to quell the worst riot in recent American history.

Their departure cut the number of federal troops in the Detroit area to about 3,000.

The 2,000 troops from the 101st Airborne Division boarded giant C130 transport planes and headed back to Ft. Campbell, Ky., as Detroit remained quiet after the eight-day siege of sniping, burning and looting.

Gov. George Romney lifted nearly all restrictions clamped on the nation's fifth-largest city during the outbreak.

GAS SALES OKAY
He wiped out an emergency curfew today after earlier allowing sale of alcoholic beverages Monday for the first time in a week. The governor also allowed groups to assemble freely, and unrestricted sale of gasoline was permitted beginning today.

But Romney said emergency bans against sale of weapons and explosives would continue indefinitely.

President Johnson had ordered 5,000 federal troops to Detroit July 24 to help 7,000 Michigan National Guardsmen and thousands of police stamp out the riot. The outbreak killed 41 persons, injured hundreds and caused an estimated total of $500 million property loss.

STANDBY DUTY
Cyrus R. Vance, special assistant to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, told a news conference today that three battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division were being moved from the rubble city to Selfridge Air Force Base, 20 miles northeast. It was from this base that the 101st troops flew out.

He described the action as a "phased withdrawal of regular Army troops." An Army spokesman said 1,200 of the troops would remain for a time in the Detroit area. The regular troops generally were held to patrol and standby duty during the riot.

Two Negro men charged that three younger Detroit Negroes, apparently unarmed, were shot to death during a motel raid by uniformed officers at the height of the rioting.

DEATH PROBES
Their allegations have brought investigations by city, state and federal agencies, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Probes of the slayings began because no weapons were reported found near any of the bodies, although a police report said the youths had been killed in an "apparent exchange of gunshots."

Preliminary investigation showed the three had been gunned down at close range, probably within the rooms where they were found last Wednesday morning.

The victims were Aubrey Polard, 19, Carl Cooper, 17, and Fred Temple, 18, all of Detroit. Their deaths were recorded during the peak period of sniper firing that followed the burning and looting of Sunday and Monday.

The victims were found lying in two ground-floor apartments of a one-time private home annexed to the Algiers Motel.

One witness, rock 'n' roll singer Roderick D. Davis, 20, said about 1 a.m. Wednesday he heard seven or eight shots from the second or third floor.

Then 16 or 17 policemen rushed into the annex, smashing through some doors, he said.

He said officers cursed and struck occupants with gun butts.

Another witness, Robert L. Greene, 26, Hopkinsville, Ky., was quoted by the Detroit News in a copyright story as saying, "I saw the National Guard officer kill two of the boys."

But Greene, a veteran of paratrooper duty in Vietnam, indicated in a transcript he only heard shots fired after seeing an officer take two of the Negroes into separate rooms. He said he didn't know how the third victim died.

Three Drown Near Austin

AUSTIN (AP)—Police reported that three boys drowned today while swimming in the Colorado River in southeast Austin.

Officers said the three were swimming in the vicinity of the Montopolis Bridge near Bergstrom Air Force Base.

The accident happened about 11:30 a.m.

Names and ages were not at once available.

Racial Violence Breaks Out Near White House

Police, Rain Rout Negroes

By The Associated Press

The fires and thrown rocks and bottles of racial violence struck Washington, D.C., today in a 2½-hour-long disturbance that brought roaming bands of Negroes to within a mile of the White House.

A police charge and a heavy rainfall broke up the groups who had surged north and northwest of White House, Capitol and other landmarks, breaking windows and in at least one case looting a liquor store.

A brick heaved through the windshield of a car seven blocks from the White House caused minor injuries to a fireman. There were reports of gunfire, but police later attributed the blasts to firecrackers exploding in garbage cans.

CURFEW CANCELLED

In Detroit, the government continued a phased withdrawal of paratroopers. Four battalions of the 101st Airborne Division were being flown from Selfridge Air Force Base, 30 miles from the city, to their home station in Ft. Campbell, Ky., and three battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division were being moved from the city to the air base.

Gov. George Romney called off the curfew in effect since July 23, and lifted restrictions on the sale of liquor and gasoline. The restrictions on public assemblies also were removed, although a state of emergency remained in effect.

The Washington 5th grad. The Washington outbreak came as violence in Milwaukee and Portland, Ore., subsided and charges grew that politics had played a role in the handling of the Detroit riot.

In Milwaukee, some 4,000 National Guardsmen appeared to have a firm rein on the disturbances that brought two shooting deaths and more than 100 injuries and 260 arrests Sunday and Monday.

30 ARRESTS

An alleged sniper was arrested Monday night and a 34-year-old Negro woman appeared to suffer a heart attack as she fled from a fire-bombed building.

A curfew on the city was lifted temporarily but will be restored tonight.

Police in Portland, where the worst racial disturbance in Oregon's history blazed Sunday and Monday, reported the streets quiet. Negroes were ordered off corners by a loudspeaker truck and they complied within moments.

Some 30 arrests were made in Washington. Most of the violence was concentrated in a predominantly Negro district.

Other incidents hit Providence, R.I. and Erie, Pa., where racial disturbances flared two weeks ago.

MAN STABBED

In Providence, a man was shot and another stabbed but not seriously injured before a Negro section was closed off during a series of rock and bottle-throwing incidents. No arrests were made and police reported the disturbance "pretty well broken up" by midnight.

Police and firemen were called into Erie's tense Negro East Side neighborhood when bottle-throwers and two suspicious fires were reported Benny Wall, a Negro thug man between antipoverty officials and the city, was arrested and charged with inciting a riot and attempted arson.

POLITICS

The talk continued about the causes of the disturbances, and what could be done to halt them. There also were open charges and countercharges about politics entering the handling of Detroit's riots.

"I think the President of the United States played some politics in a period of tragedy and rioting," said Gov. George Romney of Michigan, one of the possible Republican 1968 presidential nominees.

His charge was not answered by Johnson, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield slapped back at Romney, saying such statements are "demeaning and utterly useless."

Romney accused the White House of delaying the dispatch of federal troops into Detroit after his initial request for them.

EQUAL RIGHTS

The civil rights movement was called outnated by Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, who said the tactics and philosophy of the "civil rights era can take us no further along the road to total equality."

He demanded equal rights for black separatists as well as integrationists, reparations payments for wrongs done Negroes, black control of all public facilities in slum areas, and Negro ownership of all sum businesses.

In Washington, a group of 22 leaders from the business, church and civil rights worlds adopted a statement saying, "It is the responsibility of every American to join in the creation of a new political, social, economic and moral climate which will make possible the breaking up of the vicious cycle of the ghetto."

LETTER CAMPAIGN

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People started a letter writing campaign in the Southeast. Designed to restore calm and prevent further rioting.

In Dallas, Henry Ford II said the Detroit riots could have been brought under control more quickly where it not for political squabbling. "I say a plague on both political parties in such a situation."

The President of Fort Motors said, "It is my feeling that this country may turn out to be the laughing stock of the world because of situations such as we've had in Detroit. I don't think there's much point in trying to sell the world our system and our way of life if we can't even put our own house in order."

Wilmington, Del., after a curfewless day on Monday went back to a curfew that kept residents off the streets between 12:30 a.m. and 5 a.m. on Tuesday.

In Philadelphia, the city found work for about 440 unemployed persons through a "job mobile" sent into several sections in a move to head off possible racial unrest.

In West Palm Beach, Fla., several fires were set with gasoline bombs. Two empty houses were destroyed, but firemen stopped a blaze in a lumber yard. One man was arrested carrying fire bombs and a pistol.

In East Palo Alto, Calif., near Stanford University, a patrol of 100 Negro volunteers maintained quiet. Rocks and bottles flew Sunday night and early Monday. A sheriff's deputy wounded a Negro youth after the officer had been hit in the face by a rock.

Long Night

A yawning policeman stands guard with other officers outside a burned out furniture store building early today following an early morning outbreak of disturbances in a predominantly Negro area of Washington, D.C. Eleven fires were reported in the area, with this fire the largest. Police reported many windows smashed from roving bands of Negro youths in the area. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Arms Sales Increase In Riot-Ripped Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—The demand for arms, particularly handguns, has increased in some of the cities struck by violence this summer. A few dealers say they've temporarily halted further sales.

In an Associated Press survey, many of the dealers said their new customers were predominantly white. In the words of one store owner: "I think they're the type who get them for home protection."

Two nationwide retail firms—Sears Roebuck and Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co.—said they had halted over-the-counter arms sales in a number of cities where violence is occurring.

NO GUNS?

Many sporting goods stores in New York City reported what one owner described as "a great increase" in the number of rifles and rounds of ammunition sold since the Newark, N.J., riots.

"We are not in the hunting business at present," said a spokesman for one firm. "We have stopped selling rifles entirely and we won't open again until September. There are no guns in the windows. We don't want to contribute to the mess."

Abercrombie & Fitch Co., the nationwide chain of high-priced sporting goods stores, said police in all its branch cities asked that guns be removed from display windows following the Newark violence.

MOSTLY WHITES

In Newark, where 25 persons died during July rioting, dealer Stanley Senkewicz said: "Summer is usually a dead time where I am located. Usually I can go on a fishing trip and never lose a dime."

"But this year my business was good," he said. "Some people said, 'This is a national emergency, this is not the time to ask for a permit.' A few men came in here crying, saying they had to have a gun."

Senkewicz said his sales were "mostly to whites."

SALES SOAR

In suburban Detroit, gun shops reported a heavy demand for weapons at the height of last week's conflict.

The California Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, part of the State Justice Department, reported an upsurge of handgun sales during July.

From 2,400 sold in the first week the number grew to better than 3,750 in the fourth week. The figures were not broken out by geographical area or race.

PROTECTION

In Iowa, two Des Moines dealers reported minor increases in sales during the past week and the county recorder's office said it had received 36—three times the normal—gun sale reports one day last week.

In Waterloo, scene of disturbances in early July, one major retailer said there was a temporary increase in sales to white persons following the violence.

A popular sporting goods store in Minneapolis noted a definite increase in sales to persons the owner described as ordinary citizens wanting guns for protection.

AMMO POPULAR

A big Chicago firearms outlet, however, reported no increase in sales. A survey in St. Louis indicated some additional in arms buying but the most pronounced increase was in ammunition sales.

Atlanta, Houston and Dallas distributors all noted seasonal increases. A similar report came from New Orleans but white buyers in Baton Rouge had pushed up sales 50 per cent in one big store.

At another outlet the manager noted: "We haven't sold many guns but a hell of a lot of ammunition. We've sold one box of shells to a Negro. All the rest have been white."

Two Save Life Of Texas Teen

KINGSLAND, Tex. (AP)—Kenneth Poe, 16, does not know who to thank for possibly saving his life Monday.

The youth was in good condition at a Burnet hospital Tuesday after treatment for burns on his face and hands received when a pumping unit at his father's gasoline distributing plant in Kingsland exploded.

The son and a truck driver were unloading a tank transport truck when the explosion occurred. The driver was not injured.

The father, Other Poe Jr., told the Austin Statesman that he understood his son ran from the scene of the explosion with his clothing afire. An automobile on the nearby highway stopped and a man and his son jumped out of the car and ran after the Poe boy until they caught him. The flames were extinguished by rolling him in the dirt.

Then the man and boy put the Poe youth in their car and took him to the nearest hospital at Burnet, 20 miles northeast, Poe told the Statesman.

The elder Poe said he had been unable to find out the name of the man and boy who helped his son but there were some indications they were from Austin.

Poe said his plant lost about 8,000 to 10,000 gallons of gasoline and a pickup truck in the fire.

BASE'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY Webb Celebration Plans Firmed Up

Plans for a gala two-day celebration to mark the 25th anniversary of Webb Air Force Base were firmed up Monday, at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors and the Base-Community Council.

The affair, to be staged as a joint-civilian-military undertaking, and due to attract numerous high Air Force officers, will be held on Sept. 8-9.

PLANNING
Preliminary planning has been going on for some weeks, but final approval was given Monday to a series of special events.

The celebration opens Friday evening with the traditional dining-in for Class 69-B, which is graduating the same weekend. Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean, now deputy commander of the Air Force Strike Command and a former wing commander at Webb, will be the featured speaker. There will be a number of special military and civilian guests.

Along with General Dean, the celebration is to be marked by the return here of other former commanders, including some who directed the old Big Spring Bombardier School. It was this facility which formally got into operation in September, 1942.

WING REVIEW

On Saturday morning, there will be a wing review honoring the graduating class and official guests, followed by the commander's reception.

Saturday noon, civilian leaders of the community will be hosts at a luncheon at the Costen Country Club, at which all former wing commanders will be honor guests. The affair also will pay tribute to Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr., commander of the Air Training Command, who, with members of his staff, is due to arrive here Friday evening.

MILITARY BALL

The celebration climaxes Saturday evening with a formal military ball, to be held in one of the large hangar buildings at Webb. This affair is expected to attract some 600 military and civilian guests.

A feature at the ball, and at the Saturday morning review, will be the appearance of the Air Force Pipe Band, a colorful aggregation which provides marital music as well as special shows.

Webb will have "open house" throughout the day Saturday, and the public will be invited to tour the facility, and see special displays. Plans are still under way for special programs during the day, and it is possible that some planes of the Confederate Air Force (World War II aircraft) will be brought here for display and performances.

Mayor Arnold Marshall is to issue a proclamation declaring the week of Sept. 3-9 as Webb Anniversary Week, and both he and C-C president Lee Rogers joined in asking citizens to take note of the affair.

MEANINGFUL

"This is to be a meaningful occasion," said Rogers. "Webb, and its predecessor during World War II days, has been a most important segment of our community, and the military personnel consistently has made more than its fair share in contributions to the good things of Big Spring. We want the city and the Base to join hands in a program that will be important to us all."

Profit-Sharing Plan Skips Along

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's profit-sharing plan to make workers better off through long-term investments was given preliminary approval by the French Cabinet Monday.

Workers in all companies of more than 100 employees are to receive stock in their companies, debentures or shares in a national investment fund. But they will not be able to sell the securities.

During this time the companies could invest the money represented by the stock or use it to expand or modernize their plants. The plan is not popular with the workers, who would rather have higher wages now.

Bolt Of Lightning Kills Nine Mountain Climbers

NAGANO, Japan (AP) — Nine Japanese high school boys were killed and 10 injured by a bolt of lightning which struck a party of mountain climbers in the northern Japan Alps 31 miles southwest of Nagano today.

Police said the bolt flashed out of low clouds and slammed into a party of 50 high school students descending 9,514-foot Mt. Nishi Hodaka because of an approaching thunderstorm. The students had got down to about 8,200 feet.

Erie Arsonists Set Three Fires

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Arsonists set three fires and Negroes pelted firemen with bottles as racial trouble struck Erie for the fifth time in two weeks.

Three Negroes were arrested when police with dogs broke up a gang of 50 persons. One of those arrested was Benny Wall, who was picked up when the trouble first started the middle of July but was released and became an unofficial spokesman for discontented Negroes. Wall, 24, given a $3 an hour job as head of the crew renovating the Booker T. Washington Recreation Center, was charged this time with inciting to riot, attempted arson, assault and battery and obstructing an officer.

Negro Patrols Checking Cops

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A band of Negro volunteers, led by an antipoverty agency official who has been urging Newark slum dwellers to arm themselves, is providing the city streets at night with evidence of police brutality.

The volunteers are members of the Community Black Patrol, an outgrowth of the rioting that took 27 lives and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property two weeks ago.

Their leader is Willie Wright, national president of the United Afro-American Association. He also is a member of the board of directors of the United Community Corporation. The corporation, funded by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, is the official antipoverty agency in Newark.

GET GUNS

The 35-year-old Wright, who lives with his wife and five children in the riot area, has been calling on Negroes to prepare "for the next time."

Wright said in an interview: "This is what I am advocating around my town: Get yourself a piece of gun and put it in the bottom drawer or something, and have it fully loaded and then if some jolly breaks into your house like they broke in Plainfield let him have it."

At Plainfield, just west of Newark, state police cordoned off the Negro neighborhood and searched houses for a cache of 36 stolen rifles. They didn't find the guns.

"BETTER BE RIGHT"

"The next time they cats come into our community with that kind of stuff, we're going to be well prepared," said Wright.

"The next time the white man walks into the black community he had better damn sure be right."

He was referring to city and state policemen and to the National Guard troops who reinforced civil authorities in the five-day battle with rioters.

Wright, who claims a membership of 2,000 for his Afro-American Association, says more than 30 young men have enlisted in the Community Black Patrol and "more are joining every day."

They are observers, Wright said, and do not carry arms.

"Not yet," he said. "But I would not rule it out. Unless conditions change in a very few weeks I plan to test the law in all kinds of ways as far as arms are concerned."

Wright said he informed the Police Department of the patrols, and told authorities his men would not interfere with arrests. He said patrol members could be identified by their dress: white shirt, black tie and with helmets with "CBP" stenciled on the front. "UAAA" on the sides. Wright said he received no reply from the department.

Police Director Dominick Spina confirmed that he had received a telegram from Wright, and said he hadn't answered it yet. He refused to comment on the patrols.

SNIPER FIBS?

Wright said there is a deep-seated belief among the Negro community that police and troops fabricated most reports of sniping during the riot as an excuse to shoot up the slums.

Asked for comment on Wright's accusation, a police spokesman said the department still is compiling incidents and doesn't know how many persons were arrested as snipers. He suggested the prosecuting attorney's office might know.

"It is very hard to say, since sniping is not a legal term," said Prosecutor Brendan Byrne. "We had people arrested for carrying weapons and assault with a deadly weapon, but not very many."

Storms Dot Most Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Widely scattered thunderstorms dotted most of the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast early today.

The main band of turbulent weather extended from the Plains to the Southeast and up the Atlantic Coast where moist, warm Gulf air has infiltrated.

Rain was mostly rather light during the night. Almost one inch was reported in Rumford, Maine.

Heavier rains were reported over broad areas of the country late Monday. Glasgow, Ky., was deluged with three inches in two hours. Two inches fell in parts of Wisconsin and measurements of an inch or more were recorded in upstate New York and parts of New England.

The storms were accompanied in some areas by hail and high winds.

Big Break Occurs In Mail Robbery

BOSTON (AP) — A major break has occurred in the great Plymouth mail truck robbery with the arrest of a woman and two men in the $1,551,277 cash haul.

The woman, mother of four children, and the two men are accused of committing with "other persons unknown" what is believed to be the largest cash robbery in the nation's history.

A federal grand jury charged the three with the 1962 robbery in indictments returned Monday—two weeks before the five-year statute of limitations runs out for the federal government to prosecute.

Texas Heat Marks Fall

By The Associated Press

Heat records went toppling at one place after another across Texas Monday, and more appeared certain to fall today although showers cooled parts of the Panhandle-Plains sector and the Red River Valley a bit.

Afternoon marks ranged up to a scorching 109 degrees at Wichita Falls as many cities chalked up their hottest weather ever for the last day of July.

Two spots on the coast—Galveston with a 86 and Palacios with an 89—were the only regular reporting stations whose top readings fell short of 100.

Highs for the day elsewhere included Childress, Cotulla and Presidio 106 degrees, Alice, Dallas, Mineral Wells and Waco 105, Fort Worth, Laredo and San Angelo 104, Del Rio, McAllen and Wink 103, Abilene, Austin, Perryton and San Antonio 102 and Junction, Midland and Tyler 100.

Showers during the night and early morning brought .18 inch of rain at Dalhart, .13 at Amarillo and .11 at Perryton. Lubbock received a trace of moisture.

Near daylight shower activity also developed along the Red River from Denison to Paris.

Thanks to the rainfall, temperatures sank to 67 degrees at Perryton, 68 at Dalhart and 71 at Amarillo.

Overnight readings stayed well into the 80s at many places downstate.

Weather Bureau observers looked for a cool front edging southward from Colorado to stir up a few thunderstorms along the northern boundaries of Texas tonight and Wednesday, and occasional showers were expected in the southwest part of the state.

Forecasts indicated little cooling could be expected, however.

Film Workers Over-Priced?

By GENE HANDSAKER

For Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Remember when 50 cents to a dollar bought a ticket to the movies?

"They're charging $3 for 'The Dirty Dozen,' which is absolutely ridiculous for something that isn't a reserved-seat show," notes Ross Hunter.

"Dr. Zhivago" on second run is $2. Roadshows like 'Grand Prix' and 'The Happiest Millionaire' are $4 on weekends.

Hunter, producer of another $4 entry, "Thoroughly Modern Millie," offers the ticket buyer little but sympathy:

"For the studios to break even, they have to charge those prices. All the crafts expect too much money. People are 'way over-priced. I think I am.'"

'LOVE MY JOB'

Hunter, 41, spectacled, pink-cheeked and boyishly handsome, has been called Universal studio's boy wonder, white-haired boy and man with the Midas touch. Also, for his contagious enthusiasm, which he admits is probably his greatest asset, a Pollyanna.

"I'm not any of those," he says. "I just love my job. And that's to see that all the money that's spent shows on the screen."

Hunter, who started at Universal 15 years ago as a $125-a-week associate producer after a fling as an actor in 10 movies, won't say what he's paid now except that it's "too much." As for others in the film-making process—

MAKING MONEY

"My writer cost $450 a week then. Today he would get $5,000 to $7,500 a week."

"The average set decorator in 1950 got $275-$325 a week. Now he gets $500. An extra worked for $12 a day but now gets $30 or $40. Art directors have gone from $200-$300 to $1,000 a week. Some stars get $1 million a picture, semistars $200,000 to $400,000. But I don't know of a star who can sell a bad picture."

Hunter, whose 38 productions are said to have grossed $175 million, was allocated $75 million by Universal to make pictures from 1964 to 1971.

These developments, when and if they come—and I for one would bet that it all happens well before the end of the century—will truly revolutionize the world.

Highway Gavel Changes Hands

AUSTIN (AP) — Hal Woodward of Coleman, a member of the Texas Highway Commission since 1950, took the oath as chairman Monday.

Herbert Petry Jr. of Carrizo Springs, who has completed eight years as commission chairman, was sworn in for an unprecedented third time as a member of the three-man commission. He was first appointed to the commission in 1955.

The oaths were administered by Justice Joe Greenhill of the Supreme Court.

A 40-year service award was presented to state highway engineer D. C. Greer. He has been top administrative officer of the department for 27 years, with service dating back to 1927 when he was assistant resident engineer at Tyler.

The third member of the commission is J. H. Kultgen of Waco.

Chu Totters Back To Mao

TOKYO (AP) — Marshal Chu Teh belatedly tottered onto Mao Tse-tung's shaky bandwagon Monday night after being humiliated, criticized and then apparently making his peace with Mao.

The 61-year-old marshal, a cofounder with Mao of the Chinese Red army, appeared with his former colleagues at a reception in Peking honoring the army's 40th anniversary. It was his first appearance at a major event in eight months.

Chu's evident conversion to Mao's side in the power struggle with President Liu Shao-chi gave the 73-year-old party chairman a 7-3 margin in China's top Communist power organ, the Politburo's standing committee. But the massive absence of distant military chiefs from the Peking reception—only four of the 13 area commanders attended—indicated the army remains divided and uncertain.

The most immediate fruit Mao may be able to harvest from Chu's return to his fold could be the convening of the National People's Congress to oust Liu from the presidency. Chu, as chairman of the standing committee of the Congress, reportedly blocked all attempts to call it into session.

Science And You

Remote Computers

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

It's standard procedure nowadays to plug a lamp cord into a wall and expect electricity to come out. Have you ever thought about where that electricity comes from?

For the most part, it comes from public utility companies—companies that operate huge generating stations many miles from your house.

Once upon a time, it would have been possible for a very different kind of system to establish itself. One might have developed very efficient motor-generator sets for supplying electricity to each home on an individual basis. Imagine a little box in the basement which you occasionally fueled up, and which provided the electricity needed to run your radios, television sets and electric stoves.

With this as background, consider what's happening in the computer business. Up to now, for the most part, the businesses and laboratories of the world have each built their own computer facilities. As a matter of fact, a standard procedure when a company is trying to impress a customer is to take the customer to see the company computer and show him all the busybee activities that are going on. The idea is to leave the customer with the impression that the company is really an advanced organization because it has its own computer.

But why really should it be this way? After all, computers are electrical machines and we can obviously send electrical signals over wires or over radio. Why shouldn't we have very large-scale computers at a great distance from any given company, but which are connected to that company by wires or by radio links? Then, instead of having your own computer, you would simply have a plug in the wall, so to speak, from which computer power could be drawn in the same way you now draw electrical power. This is the so-called multi-processor or "cen-

Sweep Claims 350 Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have killed 350 Viet Cong in the largest allied assault of the war in the Mekong Delta, field commanders in the operation reported today.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced the massive ground and river operation by an estimated 10,000 troops was launched last Friday to clear out Viet Cong who were mining the main highway from the delta to the south and north. The operation was withheld for five days for security reasons.

16 YANKS DIE

The U.S. Command said it had reports of 200 Viet Cong killed and that U.S. casualties were 16 dead and 59 wounded. Unofficial reports from the field said 28 South Vietnamese troops had been killed and 50 wounded.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, only light ground action was reported.

The air war in North Vietnam jumped back to normal scale Monday as the weather cleared and Navy fliers resumed full operations after the disruption caused by the fire aboard the carrier Forrester.

U.S. fliers flew a total of 138 missions, 46 more than the 90 flown Sunday. Many of their targets were in the Hanoi-Hai Phong area which had been protected by bad weather in recent weeks.

PLANES LOST

Two more American warplanes were lost, raising to 827 the number of U.S. combat planes reported lost over North Vietnam. Three crewmen were listed as missing.

Two U.S. Army helicopters also were destroyed in a collision which killed eight men near the coastal city of Tuy Hoa, 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Troops of the U.S. 9th and 25th Infantry divisions, South Vietnamese rangers and Marines and a U.S. Navy task force were taking part in the big delta sweep centered about 14 miles west of My Tho, one of the largest cities in the rich rice-producing area.

FOOD COSTS SOAR

Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, commander of Field Force II, said the force is trying to root out Viet Cong who have been mining Highway 4, the main road over which rice and other farm products move to Saigon.

In the past 10 days, Weyand said, the Viet Cong cut the road eight times, raising food prices in Saigon.

Troops of the South Vietnamese 7th Division began a reconnaissance of Route 4 last Wednesday. Two days later U.S. Navy barracks ships pushed up the My Tho River to land a brigade from the U.S. 9th Division in the flooded rice paddies south of the highway.

RED GUNNERS

The U.S. troops began closing in on elements of three hardcore Viet Cong battalions.

On the demilitarized zone front, Communist gunners poured 40 rounds of mortar fire

If West had led a heart against South's six club contract, there would be no story to tell for, after East cashes the ace, the defense cannot be denied a club trick subsequently. West, however, made the somewhat natural opening of the jack of diamonds from his complete sequence, and South was given a fighting chance.

Declarer's ace of diamonds won the first trick and the dummy was entered with the queen of spades in order to cash the king and queen of diamonds so that South might dispose of his two hearts. This leaves him in position to restrict his loss on the deal to one club trick, by returning to his hand to lead the ten of clubs thru West.

West had been doing some thinking; and, when his opponent began to discard hearts, it became obvious that East held the ace of that suit, and—what was more to the point—that a vital trick had now gotten away from the defense. West cast about for a way to get the trick back, and presently he hit upon an ingenious plan.

On the king of diamonds, he followed suit with the nine and then on the queen, he continued his false card by dropping the ten. Since his sequence of plays had deliberately established dummy's eight of diamonds as the master card in the suit, he hoped to create the impression in declarer's mind that he had started with only three diamonds.

South came back to his hand by ruffing a heart and then led the ten of clubs. West followed with the three, since he had nothing to gain by covering. The contract becomes assured at this point, if declarer lets the ten ride, for—even if it loses to an honor in the East hand—the remaining honor must fall under the ace on the next round.

West's diamond plays had given South something else to think about, however. If he passed the ten of clubs and it lost to a singleton honor in the East hand, then a diamond return might enable West to score the setting trick on an overruff with the remaining trump honor. Declarer accordingly put up the ace of clubs in the expectation of finding the normal two-one division in that suit.

When East showed out, the slam went up in the air and West's clever false cards paid off a handsome dividend.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

If I had my preference of "happenings" to start a perfect day, it would be having Mary Cochran come in the office at 7:30 a.m. with a brown paper bag full of fat, fresh figs. As usual, her ESP apparatus was in tune, and my lunch is now here at hand.

Mrs. Camille Inkman missed her birthday dinner at the Raymond Tolletts Friday evening due to a mixup in plans, but Mrs. Tollett sent the chicken and pie to her anyway so all was not lost. Bill Inkman and Mrs. Ivahliu Ashley are both in Houston this week at a meeting of Distributive Education and Homemaking advisors. Mrs. Ashley planned to go on from there to see her family in Georgia. Interesting guests of the Tolletts during the week were Gary Watford and his mother of Sidney, Australia. They flew to New York City for a week before returning home.

Mrs. Albert Smith's daughter, Mrs. Wallace Capaldo of Madison, Conn., has returned home after a month's stay here. She drove to Dallas with Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Ina Richardson of Andrews, and flew from there. Mrs. M. F. Blackbird was a recent visitor at the Hill Country Arts Foundation at Ingram, near Kerrville. The organization sponsors a summer stock theatre, children's workshop and various art workshops through the summer season. Yvette Gonzales, a senior at Sacred Heart Dominican College in Houston, is in Washington, D. C., visiting her sister, Anna Marie, who just got her degree from Incarnate Word and will be teaching here this fall. Another sister, Mrs. Cynthia Zertuche has been visiting here and will be teaching in Houston this fall.

The J. M. Hills and boys, Kelly and Bobby, took a trip out California way so the youngsters could see Disneyland (they were wanted to before they were grown) and Jo and John could visit his brother and family, the Bob Hills in Temple City, Calif. Bob and Bill Coleman talked their mama and papa, the Bill Colemans into a week at the Jack Tar in Galveston and think they may be out Grand Canyon way now or soon. The Don Greens and Donnie are back from California. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bruns and grandchildren, Julie and Mark Charleston, of Denver, Colo., were here for two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bruns.

Bet Mr. and Mrs. Rip Smith had a wonderful trip. They were in Canada and Fort Lewis, Wash., where they visited their son, Col. William J. Roberts who was just back from a tour of duty in India for the past three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. George Lewallen have had as guests, his mother, Mrs. Maude Hipp of Brady. While here they visited another son, Robert Lewallen, in Odessa. Another guest was Mrs. W. A. Brandon of Menard, a sister of the Lewallen men, who was here for the Old Settlers Reunion. It's been a happy household over at the Bill McRees. Their oldest daughter, Mrs. Nancy Dowdall and son, Mark, of Grand Rapids, Mich., are here. Nancy has been selected to take advance studies at Indiana University. The institute in higher education, student personnel and guidance is offered under the NDEA, and Nancy will be in school through June '68. The McRees were to be joined by another daughter and family, the Bill Cregars of Elbow and the youngest daughter, Mrs. Bill Droke, who is here while her husband is in Vietnam, and they all are going camping near Ruidoso.

The C. C. Choates have a growing clan, too. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Choate of Odessa, left the youngsters with their grandparents here while they had a weekend in Ruidoso. When Marie took all her grandchildren for a swim at the city pool, she counted 10 little noses. (One couldn't make it.) Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott and son, Gil, of Los Angeles have been here as guests of a sister, Mrs. Vernon Webb and her husband. Scott is an engineer for ABC in Hollywood. A nice reunion was held here recently where five sisters got together to compare notes on the passing years. They were Mrs. Tom Clifton and Mrs. Ed Patton, both Big Springers; Mrs. Jessie Stuercke of Houston, Mrs. Jessie Parker of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Lorene Phillips of Artesia, N. M. Joining them there for six days was a brother, Sid Hibon of Concord, Calif., and a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lucille Dean of Houston.

BILLY CAMPBELL

Uses Coins To Make Collage

By RHODA LEMONS

Another newcomer to join the ranks of artists in Big Spring is Billy Campbell, Apt. 27, Coronado Hills. Campbell moved here recently from Houston where he has practiced law for the past 10 years.

An avid coin collector, Campbell uses the collage art form in combining coins with other items to depict the story of a person's life. Utilizing souvenirs, memorabilia and coins with particular dates and origin, he makes the collage by fastening the articles on a flat surface. A plastic-like liquid substance, which quickly hardens, is used to seal and preserve the collage before framing.

Campbell has decorated his apartment by combining Mexican and Early American furnishings. He has unusual chairs from Mexico and a striking, imported floor-length room divider. He has a brass antique bell from a Mexican mission and a battered bugle used in the war between Texas and Mexico in 1836.

Another interesting item in his home is an upright piano made around 1890 and still in excellent condition. Also, he has a well-preserved guitar harp of an early vintage which he has recently acquired.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

A miscellaneous gift shower honored Miss Claudia Caudill, bride-elect of Don Stabeno, Thursday evening in the fellowship hall at Westside Baptist Church. Calling hours were from 7 to 9 p.m.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Elvis Caudill, greeted guests assisted by 15 hostesses. Miss Caudill was attired in a yellow shift and was presented with a corsage of white carnations as was her mother.

The refreshment table was laid with a white net cloth over yellow and centered with a miniature bride on a reflector with an arrangement of white roses flanked by yellow roses. The cake was yellow and white and was decorated with hearts inscribed with their names. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Approximately 65 attended. The couple will be married Sept. 2 in the Westside Baptist Church with the Rev. Jerry Bob Taylor performing the service.

Wedding Solemnized In Bergstrom Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Harold George Roemeling Jr. are at home at 1107 Apt. C, Kinny Ave., Austin, following their marriage Saturday evening in the Bergstrom Air Base Chapel at Austin.

The bride, the former Miss Claudia Kay Jolley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Van Vleet, 1703 Alabama, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lillian Roemeling of Luverne, Minn.

Chaplain Calvin Campbell performed the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with white flowers and fernery. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length white Chantilly lace dress designed with rounded neckline, edged in lace, and elbow-length sleeves. Her headdress was a Juliet cap of lace and lilies of the valley attached to a lace and illusion net shoulder-length veil. Her only jewelry was a cameo necklace, and she carried a white orchid atop a white lace covered Bible.

Mrs. Ralph Ryerson, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a pink ribbon-knit street-length dress with bell sleeves and a pink Juliet cap. She carried a single long-stemmed carnation tied with satin streamers.

Kirk Peterson of Austin was best man. Ushers were Sammy Seidenberger and Jerry Knuschick of Austin.

SCHOOLS
The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and is a student at the Austin State Hospital School of X-ray technology. The bridegroom graduated from Luverne High School and is presently stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the chapel annex. Those in the receiving line were the bride and bridegroom, her parents, his mother, and the feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a pink and white cloth trimmed in lace and centered with the bride's Bible and orchid. Miss Judy Kelly presided at the refreshment table. The white tiered wedding cake was topped with a bridal couple. Miss Connie Seidenberger presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. C. J. Seidenberger and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knuschick, all of Austin.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ryerson and Carl Van Vleet, all of Big Spring; Mrs. Lillian Roemeling and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Braa, Karen and Kathy, all of Luverne, Minn.; and David McClure.

A Devotional For The Day

He is the head of the body, the church . . . ; that in all things he might have the preeminence. (Colossians 1:18)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to realize the importance of being wholeheartedly true to Thy Son, always giving Him the supreme place in our Christian life. We thank Thee for the way of life which He taught and lived. Help us to be always worthy of our high calling in Him. In His name we pray. Amen.

Guardsmen For Riot Control

President Johnson's call for new training of National Guard units in riot control is a most constructive proposal.

The National Guard has traditionally been trained in conventional warfare. Few of its members have had any real training in the techniques of riot control, a highly specialized art demanding the exercise of coolness and judgment backed up, as circumstances dictate, with the cold steel of bayonets or firearms.

The performance of National Guardsmen in Newark and Detroit gave eloquent testimony to their lack of training in riots. There was too much indiscriminate firing of rifles and automatic weapons. No adequate response nor procedures for the elimination of snipers had been developed.

Brute force and landscape shooting was the only response.

The Army does have special forces highly trained in the art of preventing, containing or suppressing civil disturbances. Members of those units could be used to act as teachers to the National Guard units in all states.

Those within the Guard chosen for riot-control study should be screened carefully. Stable temperaments, initiative and resourcefulness are the key factors that should be used in choosing men for this work.

Training National Guard units in riot control would remove the necessity for the dispatch of regular Army units to put down disorders, as was found necessary in Detroit. The regular Army has enough duties of its own to perform. A prompt training program in this field for National Guardsmen is clearly needed.

Remember, Red Is WRONG

Red means WRONG.

That is, red means wrong on Texas freeways. The Texas Highway Department has installed red reflectors on many Interstate and other controlled access highways to warn drivers that they are going the wrong way.

A broken red line of reflectors indicates to the driver that he is traveling the wrong way on the freeway. A red arrow pointing at the driver from the pavement as he begins to enter a freeway ramp indicates that he is entering the wrong way.

These reflectors, in extensive use for about a year, are made of acrylic plastic—red on one side and white on the other. A driver going in the right direction sees the white side. A wrong-way driver sees the red. So red means "wrong way."

Thousands of these markers have been installed on such high-volume traffic highways as Interstate Highway 10 through Houston and Interstate Highway 35 through Austin, as well as on many others in the state.

Installation of the markers is the Highway Department's second major innovation within the year to minimize wrong-way movements on freeways.

Earlier the department began supplementing its "Do Not Enter" signs along freeways with "Do Not Enter Ramp" signs and "One Way" signs.

The reflective pavement markers are an effort to cut wrong-way accidents even more.

The lane lines in most cases are limited to metropolitan areas where there are high volumes of traffic. The reflective markers are placed at 40-foot intervals with 15-foot lines of white non-reflective button markers centered in between.

The arrows are placed on exit ramps to two-way frontage roads, exit ramps that have any history of wrong-way entry, and exit ramps where the design of the connection with the cross street or highway is such that traffic may have an easy access to the exit ramp for wrong-way movement.

The highway people are doing their part to cut down accidents. It's still largely up to the driver, who ought always to remember that "red means WRONG."

What About The High-Tax Payer?

WASHINGTON—A wayfarer in the political jungle, though a fool, could distinguish between two animals there—the tax-eater and the taxpayer. Their habits set them apart.

The tax-eater, contributing nothing, has become a predatory beast in our day. Teased by false promises, incited by false prophets, excused by many sympathizers, he rushes out of doors, arsonizing and brutalizing until brought under control.

THE TAXPAYER not only puts up with awful behavior by the tax-eater, but works a good portion of his time to pay the damages. The taxpayer is not without incentives and excuses to revolt. The Internal Revenue Service uses a progressive rate of taxation, so that the more the earner makes, the more the IRS takes. It would be understandable if the earner in the upper brackets felt himself badly discriminated against and resorted to sit-down strikes. It would be at least as excusable for the high taxpayer to soldier-on-the-job as for the heavy tax-eater to riot.

BUT THAT forgotten one-fifth of the nation, the high-income earners, never turns anti-social. An earlier column cited quotes from a Brookings Institution study to point up a social paradox of our time. The real leisure class in America is composed of subsidized poverty groups and of unionized labor. The real working class is the high-income folk. The disincentive that might be expected to come from heavy, progressive taxation just doesn't operate. In the work titled, "Economic Behavior of the Affluent," researched by Robin Barlow, Harvey Brazier and James Moran, the statistical profile of persons working up to 60 hours a week is also that of persons who compose 20 per cent of American families earning 40 per cent of the national income and kicking back 50 per cent in taxes.

PERSONAL interviews of nearly 1,000 persons in the upper tax-brackets, were collected by Brookings in a study of public policy. The question was: Does high, progressive taxation destroy the incentive to work? If decreased taxation has this effect, then it would be folly to take more from the earners and cause them to turn into loafers. But if increased taxation, short of outright confiscation, simply spurs industrious men and women to work harder, then the President could safely recommend a greater take—as he now has done.

MUCH AS WE dislike taxes, we can take some pride in a system where those who have succeeded best seem to say by their actions, if not in their words: "Hit me again." The 283-page Brookings document contains these points that show what stuff productive Americans are made of.

1. Matters other than taxes are "far more important" when a person of high income decides how hard to work.

2. HIGH-INCOME people have little "sensitivity to taxes" when they make their decisions about investments.

3. The high-income population is not obsessed by the steep tax rate which it faces. Less than half of those who answered the 39-part questionnaire made "voluntary mention of taxes as a reason for some action." And of those who did raise the subject, "over two-thirds mentioned them (taxes) only once or twice."

THE PIE FELL OUT OF THE SKY

Presidential Power Poked

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is heat in Congress over the increasing authority of the President, the diminishing grip of Congress. It's too soon to say whether it will end in smoke.

So it was no accident when Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and President Johnson's severest critic on the Vietnam war, got up and expressed concern about the power of the President in foreign affairs.

IN A RESOLUTION he offered for approval, Fulbright proposed the Senate take the position a national commitment in foreign affairs is valid only if Congress joins with the President in declaring it.

This, he explained, will be the basis for a broad study by the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is chairman, on the nature and extent of foreign commitments abroad.

FULBRIGHT'S concern is shared by others. Earlier this year a Senate Judiciary subcommittee was established to make a full study of the separation of powers among the executive, the judicial and the congressional branches of government and the manner in which power has been used by each branch.

Last month, when the subcommittee began hearings, the chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., North Carolina Democrat, acknowledged that in these critical days some look upon separation of powers as outmoded when all governments are "crisis governments."

HE ADMITTED a government without checks or balances can be more efficient than this one. But he asked if inefficiency is not a small price to pay for the "individual freedoms that are bought with constitutional principles."

Fulbright said the resolution he proposed is not intended to restrict the constitutional responsibility and power of the President or to revoke any past decisions.

But he complained the role of Congress, and particularly the Senate, in the determination of national security is steadily being eroded.

ALL THIS BY Fulbright on the Senate floor was mild compared with the stand he took when testifying before Ervin's subcommittee last month.

He said the erosion of congressional power in foreign policy has been going on since 1940 but he does not believe the President has willfully "usurped the constitutional authority of Congress."

Nor, he said, does he believe Congress has knowingly given away its traditional authority.

"The balance before us is whether and how the constitutional balance can be restored."

Sounds Far-Fetched?

NEW YORK (AP) — This may be a typical conversation in the future:

Guest: "My, what a delicious stew. Where do you get such wonderful beef?"

Hostess: "Oh, it's not made of beef. I simply put in parts of our old automobile."

Guest: "The fenders?"

HOSTESS: "No. The fenders on that particular car model are a bit tough, so I ground them up as hamburger for our dog. For the stew I used mostly the dashboard and choice from the brake bands. They are ever so much more tender."

Sounds far-fetched? Well, at the moment it is. But perhaps not for long.

ACCORDING to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, scientists of the Ralston-Purina Co. have raised the possibility of making airplane and spacecraft with edible portions made of soybean products.

They would keep from starvation astronauts marooned on the moon or plane pilots stranded after crash landings in remote areas of the earth.

The idea is fascinating. But why limit it merely to parts of aircraft and space capsules?

AS MOST husbands who have ever eaten a precooked and frozen television dinner know, practically anything can be made edible today. Modern chemistry can make almost any substance palatable, particularly if you salt it enough and cover it with a few inches of catsup.

This raises the possibility of solving forever one of the biggest problems facing today's civilization: how to keep it from being covered up by its own debris.

We are in danger today of being strangled by the things we don't consume but can't seem quite able to get rid of entirely.

OUR WASTERBASKETS and garbage cans are stuffed with paper wrapping and nonreturnable bottles, those cardboard sheets the laundry puts in shirts, that clinging filmy plastic the cleaner puts around suits and dresses.

Wouldn't it be nice if, after draining a can of beer, you could munch on the can as if it were a cracker or a cookie?

THE SAME thing could be done with most furniture, draperies and clothing. They could be made edible, too.

"You want a new dress, dear? Not until you eat the old one."

As a gesture to international good will, science might even develop edible castings for hydrogen bombs. Then, at a given signal, the inhabitants of every nation might hold a vast world picnic at which they'd eat the bomb castings en masse, thus giving mankind, for the first time in its history, peace and a full stomach simultaneously.

What Is A Disc? What Happens To It?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss disc trouble. I am listing the questions I have in mind.—E. R.

You have quite an imposing list of questions. Well, disc trouble can be an imposing problem. So I'll take your questions in the order in which you posed them.

Q.—Exactly what is a disc? Is it the same as a vertebra?

A.—A disc is a fibrous cushion between vertebrae. It is not the same as a vertebra, which is bone.

Q.—What is a slipped disc? A collapsed disc?

A.—The terms slipped, collapsed, herniated or ruptured all mean that the disc, the protective pad between the bones of the spine, has been flattened or become misshapen in some manner.

Q.—What causes these conditions?

A.—Injury or degenerative changes are the usual causes. Or a combination of them.

Q.—How do the symptoms progress in severity? What symptoms are serious enough for one to consult a specialist, and when should one just "grin and bear it?"

A.—Pain in the back or extremities of increasing and persistent nature are the usual symptoms. If the pain is in the back itself, that is understandable enough.

But patients often are surprised at pain in the extremities. They forget that nerves branch out from the spinal column. These branch nerves must pass through the small space between the bones of the spine.

A damaged disc can permit pressure to bear on these nerves. Therefore the pain may seem to come from the area served by the particular nerve which is being pinched.

Sciatica is a common example of this. The patient has pain in the lower back and down the backs of the thighs—one or both. Yet at times the real cause of the trouble is in the spine. The patient wonders why the doctor pays so little attention to the place where the pain seems to be, and so much to the area (the spine) where the pain does not appear to be.

In such a case, however, the treatment has to lie in removing the pressure from that nerve, and salves or liniments on the painful thighs don't do a bit of good.

In general, this sort of trouble tends to get gradually worse unless it is corrected. There is no way of telling by yourself when you should get medical attention, and when you should "grin and bear it." Rely on a specialist to evaluate the situation.

The rest of the questions tomorrow.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

This Home Has A Watch-Cat

Tittums Jerome, my big, black and very-alley tom cat, has assumed a new role at our house.

He realizes we have no dog so he has taken over the duties of watching the premises. He has become a watch cat. A sort of run-down watch cat, I think.

WHEN THE trashman comes down the alley, Tittums peers balefully at the truck through the kitchen door and deepthroated growls emerge from his throat. Even if I pick him up and hold him in my arms the ferocious growls continue. It is worthy of note that not a single time since Mr. T. began his new duties has the trash man attempted to come into the backyard, much less approach the kitchen door.

The other afternoon, Tittums heard a stranger approaching from the north across our front yard. He reared himself up where he could look out the front door. Immediately he began his warning growls. That newsboy must not—repeat must not—invade the sanctity of our front porch.

THE NEWSBOY, a callow youth unaware of the grave menace which lurked just inside the screen door, heeded no warning and approached the door to leave the paper.

It was at this point Tittums, I suppose, realized how big the newspaper carrier was and how little he was. At any rate, he decided that discretion was the better part of valor.

So he departed for the bedroom, somewhat hastily, but in very good order. He continued to sound his war cry as he disappeared deep under my bed.

I AM SURE that the newsboy, if he knew what a narrow escape he had, would be trembling in every nerve and I am certain he would certainly be more cautious hereafter when he delivered our evening paper.

All of my numerous cats (I have had a cat almost continuously; when one dies or disappears I get another to replace him) have been slightly out of focus. What I mean is—most of 'em have been away out. Tittums Jerome (his full name is Tittums Jerome; is farther out than any of my predecessors.

AND WHEN he isn't making like a watchdog or engaging in other rather undignified and uncatlike activities, he sleeps curled up very neatly in the middle of my bed.

Sleeps by the hour, if you please, with his red tongue sticking out of his silly mouth about half an inch. And when he wakes up, most times, he forgets to pull the tongue inside his body and he wanders around the house with that red half inch of tongue thrust out of his inky black face.

PETS, I HAVE heard, take on the attributes of their owners.

My gosh! Am I that nutty?

How To Make A Leader

WASHINGTON — Negro "leaders" aren't born these days, but made — and in, most instances by the news media.

Take the case of Robert Runney-meade as an example. Robert Runney-meade has been standing on the corner of Spring and Maple for the past three years (except when he's been in jail) saying to three or four hangers-on, "We ought to shake someone up." Nobody ever paid much attention to Robert Runney-meade until a few months ago when a reporter for a local newspaper, doing a story on violence in the ghettos, happened to overhear Runney-meade say to his friends: "Man, we ought to burn down this town."

THE NEXT DAY a story appeared in the paper that "Robert Runney-meade, a leader of the 'black power' movement, told a militant crowd at Spring and Maple that it was time to burn down the town."

A television crew was dispatched the next evening to Spring and Maple where his pals were congratulating Runney-meade on making the front pages of the newspaper. The TV commentator stuck a microphone in front of Robert Runney-meade's face, lights were turned on and for the next 20 minutes, Runney-meade said, "The mayor, the city council, the 'honkies' and President Johnson have to talk to me."

THE OPPOSITION television station sent out its camera crews to get the views of Runney-meade, and with all the lights and trucks a large crowd gathered, as they will when they see TV cameras.

The news media claimed that the crowd who had gathered were all Runney-meade's followers, when in fact most of them had never heard of Runney-meade, and those who knew him thought he was a joke.

But the press was not too interested as to how many followers Runney-meade really had. He was now talking about burning down the Yosemite National Park and this certainly had news value.

IN THE MEANTIME the networks had plugged into Runney-meade and he started holding press conferences telling everyone, "I'm not going to take any stuff from anyone, and if I have to wipe out the U.S. Marine Corps I'm going to do it."

The Negro people still considered Runney-meade a joke, but the white people were scared out of their wits by his television appearances and his statements in the press. Things got so bad that when the President of the United States went on television to talk about the riots his statements were played on the bottom of the page, and a statement made by Runney-meade threatening to use tanks against the public library was given a six column headline.

UNFORTUNATELY, the publicity had gone to Runney-meade's head, and one day he announced he was banning all white newspapermen from his press conferences.

Since they couldn't cover him any more, the news media sought out another "Negro leader" on the corner of Marble and Sycamore streets. His name was Huggins Haplap and he was overheard by a reporter the other day saying to a girl he was trying to impress, "I'm going to burn down the Grand Coulee Dam." It shouldn't be long before Haplap becomes a feared American household name.

The Northern Migration Of Negroes

WASHINGTON — Against the lurid backdrop of Detroit, the political figures struggling to end the Negro uprising across the nation have a dwarfed and shrunken look. The search for blame seems irrelevant, since no one has come forward with a remedy for the most radical mass violence in more than a century.

What happened in Michigan may be another and more serious blow to Gov. George Romney's presidential candidacy. He had no knowledge that anything as catastrophic as the Detroit explosion was imminent.

DISCUSSING THE Negro violence in the cities—Newark had just slacked off—Romney made no secret of his belief that the Johnson administration made two big mistakes. One was to overpromise, leading to the illusion that there could be a quick solution to a situation that grew through years of neglect. The governor noted that revolutions have historically begun when rising expectations are frustrated.

THE SECOND ERROR was in assuming that the job could be done through programs imposed by the federal government. This is a favorite Romney theme—that Washington has the answers and can do the job with a federal bureaucracy. He talked about the state's endeavors, the Human Resources Council and other means for breaking down barriers to jobs and housing, as alternatives to the massive federal approach. In the light of what has happened, this was obviously far too little as well as disastrously late.

IN ALL THE casting about for causes of the uprising, almost no one has pointed to a root reason generally ignored. For two decades or more the Negroes of the Deep South have swarmed to the cities of the North, most of them poor, uneducated, semiliterate. They had become "surplus" as cotton and other crops were mechanized.

Hoping to better their lot—anything was better than squalor of near-starvation on the slim handouts of relief—they quickly found themselves trapped in the slums of the North. Under the most favorable circumstances, they were ill-equipped for city life. Now, their children have grown up in rat-infested tenements, a prey to every kind of corruption.

HERE WAS the fuel for the fires burning in northern cities. These dispossessed, displaced, unwanted people are among the looters and arsonists seizing pieces of the affluence they see all around them.

Neither the Kennedy nor the Johnson administrations took any serious cognizance of the exodus and its consequences in the North.

Figures from the Bureau of the Census show how large the movement was.

Between 1940 and 1950 the South lost 1,597,000 Negroes. Of this total, 632,000 went to the North Central states, mostly to Chicago and the surrounding industrial area; 489,000 to the Northeast, mostly in the New York area; and the balance to the West and elsewhere.

BETWEEN 1950 AND 1960, 1,457,000 Negroes went from the South to the North, 541,000 to the Northeast, 538,000 to the North Central states.

The figures for the cities are even more startling for the decade between 1950 and 1960. Newark got 54,000 Negroes from the South. Detroit 85,000, Philadelphia 60,000, Buffalo 23,000, New York City 22,000, Los Angeles 215,000, Washington 59,000, Chicago 176,000, San Francisco 64,000.

HERE IS A POINT of great political vulnerability for the Johnson administration. Whether the Republicans with their "Southern strategy" will take advantage of it is questionable. War, Clemenceau once said, is too important to leave to the generals. The current civil war across the racial divide is far too important to leave to disputatious politicians.

Texas Agents Nab Two Moonshiners

One still was seized in Gregg County, another in Marion County, the board's monthly report said.

Mary's Little Lamb Should Share Blame?

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Mary's little lamb might be tolerated in school but a Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep? That's what a janitor found in the hallway at University Hill Elementary School. It had walked out of a research pen at the University of Columbia.
