FIVE QUIZZED $5 Million Ransom Paid Skyjackers

BONN (AP) — Transport Minister George Leber announced today the West German government paid a $5 million ransom to secure the release of the hijacked Lufthansa jumbo jet and its 14 crew members.

Yemeni authorities said the five hijackers had been taken into custody for questioning but mentioned no charges against them.

It was not immediately known what happened to the money.

Leber told a news conference that a Lufthansa security official handled the payment of the money to members of an Arab guerrilla organization in Beirut.

He said the money was handed over Wednesday afternoon about 25 miles from Beirut airport, several hours after a deadline set by the hijackers, who threatened to blow up the plane and its crew. "It was like a perfect thriller plot," Leber said.

He said the money was the only demand made by the five hijackers, who say they were members of an organization called the Victims of Zionist Occupation, a "daughter organization" of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

The airliner was hijacked over India Monday night with 189 people aboard and diverted to Aden on the southern tip of the Arabian peninsula.

Among the passengers was Joseph P. Kennedy III, oldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Leber said the hijackers' demands became known late Tuesday afternoon when Lufthansa's Cologne headquarters received a letter which had been posted in Cologne that morning.

The letter, "written in perfect English," announced the jet would be exploded with all the passengers and crew aboard unless the ransom demand was met, he said.

The letter specified that the ransom be flown to Beirut airport by a West German courier dressed "in a black jacket and light gray trousers," and carrying a Newsweek magazine in his left hand and a suitcase with the money in his right, Leber said.

The letter also contained the key of an automobile which it said the courier would find parked outside Beirut airport.

The letter specified 9 a.m. Wednesday as the deadline for the ransom payment.

BUSING BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate adopted today, 43-40, a proposal to strip federal courts of the power to issue any busing orders in school desegregation cases.

The proposal was offered by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the Republican whip, as an amendment to a higher education-school desegregation bill.

Its backers, including Southern senators and other conservatives, said it was their best chance to win passage of any legislative amendment halting busing orders in school cases.

In addition to affecting the powers of the courts, the amendment would prohibit federal officials from withholding or threatening to withhold any government funds in order to coerce a local school district into accepting a busing program to carry out desegregation.

Opponents of the amendment said it would in effect repeal the provision of the 1964 Civil Rights Act which requires withholding of federal money from state or local government agencies that practice discrimination.

They declared it would mean the end of the present school desegregation effort.

The amendment would go much farther than the relatively mild Mansfield-Scott proposal written into the bill Thursday.

Berrigan Trial Four Refusing To Speak Out

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Four reluctant witnesses described by the government as integral parts of an antiwar conspiracy plot to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger were granted immunity from prosecution today and ordered to testify.

If they still refuse to answer questions, they could be jailed for contempt.

Jane Hoover, 22; Mary Sandel, 23; Patricia Rom, 28; and Zola Horn, 53, had invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The government alleges that the Rev. Philip Berrigan masterminded a conspiracy in 1970 from his cell in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary.

The four women all are linked to Boyd Douglas Jr., a fellow convict of Berrigan's and the FBI's chief informer in the case.

The Misses Hoover and Sandel were students at Bucknell University where Douglas was attending classes on a work-study program.

Miss Rom and Mrs. Horn were employed in the university library.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch told the jury of nine women and three men in his opening statement Monday that the coeds and Miss Rom were part of a communications network that helped Douglas smuggle letters in and out of the penitentiary for Berrigan.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who heads the defense team, charged Thursday the government is guilty of discrimination and illegal use of a prison informer in prosecuting the Harrisburg 7.

Clark sought futilely to cross-examine a prison official on the propriety of using an inmate for spying.

Visitors Can Try Hand At Sewing At Dress Plant

The Big Spring Dress Factory open house begins Saturday at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 12:30 p.m. The plant will be in full operation and will have demonstration machines set up for visitors to try their hand at sewing.

About 155 people are employed by the factory, the first of the new industries to settle here in 1971. The open house is the first the plant has had, and is being done so that the people of Big Spring can see what the money they put into the Industrial Foundation is doing.

Garments will be on display, and refreshments will be served.

Nixons Give Banquet For Chinese Leaders

PEKING (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai pledged tonight that China "will work unswervingly" for normal relations with the United States.

At a dinner in his honor, the Chinese leader was responding to a toast from President Nixon, who declared: "We have begun the long process of removing that wall between us."

The toasts seemed more low-key than those raised at Chou's banquet for the Nixons on Monday. At that time Chou remarked that "the gates to friendly contact have finally opened." Nixon said the two peoples can "rise to the heights of greatness from which we can build a new world."

FUN TIME

Nixon gave a nine-course banquet for Chou and his Chinese associates in the Great Hall of the People, where the premier had entertained the presidential party at a dinner on the Americans' first day in China.

It was a meal of Chinese food except for grapefruit and orange segments flown from California and Florida, and California champagne.

Nixon, in his toast, said it is possible for nations with different systems and values "to live together in peace ... letting history rather than the battlefield" be the judge of their decisions.

Chou, who was seated at Nixon's right at the banquet, applauded frequently as the president spoke. Nixon likewise clapped his hands as Chou spoke.

Then Chou and Nixon drank a toast as the band played "America the Beautiful."

SWAP TOASTS

Nixon mingled with the crowd, exchanging toasts with various Chinese officials.

In his introductory remarks, Nixon praised the Chinese people.

Recalling his visit to the Great Wall of China, Nixon called it one of "the great wonders of the world." He said the wall showed the determination of China to maintain its independence through its long history.

Chou responded to Nixon's toast by expressing his thanks to the president for being host at the banquet.

"We have exchanged views on normalization of relations," Chou continued, noting that Nixon had met with him and had a talk with Mao Tse-tung. "There exists great differences between us," Chou said, but he pledged that China "will work unswervingly" for the establishment of normal relations.

"The general trend in the world is definitely toward light and not darkness," Chou declared.

The banquet was in response to the dinner Chou gave for the Nixons on their first night in Peking.

Nixon and Chou had been scheduled to hold what was probably their last business session in Peking at 3 p.m. but did not meet until 5:45. "They just decided to delay," said

White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler, explaining that the delay was by mutual agreement.

Ziegler also was asked if Chairman Mao Tse-tung, who saw Nixon for an hour on Monday, was present. Ziegler said he was not.

BUSING DISPUTE Demo Senators Achieve Unanimity Of Sorts

By The Associated Press
The Democratic senators running for president have achieved unanimity of a sort in the stormy dispute over school busing.

All five were absent Thursday when the Senate approved compromise terms on the busing issue, 51 to 37.

Only one, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, had announced opposition to the busing terms sponsored by Senate leaders, who sought to defuse what looms as a major issue in the 1972 campaign.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George McGovern of South Dakota announced they would have voted for the measure; Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana expressed pleasure at the outcome.

The amendment would write into law some limits on school busing for the sake of racial balance, and would stay the effect of federal court orders requiring busing across district lines until all appeals have been exhausted.

The presidential candidates of both parties spread their campaigns from one coast to the other Thursday.

McGovern—The South Dakota Democrat told a gathering of teachers supporting him in New Hampshire that education must be financed by something other than property taxes. And the alternative, he said in Manchester, "has to be primarily the federal income tax." In Santa Fe, N.M., McGovern became the second Democrat—after Jackson—to register for the state's June 6 primary.

Ballard Undergoing Tests At State Hospital Here

Whitmer Jean Ballard, charged with the robbery-murder of Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, was checked into the Big Spring State Hospital today.

Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, confirmed that Ballard had been brought by the Rangers for an evaluation and likely would be at the hospital all day.

Ballard's trial in 112th District Court at Alpine was recessed after a Thursday afternoon session in which a barmaid testified she saw a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun in Ballard's possession Nov. 28, 1970, but thought he was kidding about a week later when he told her he had killed a man in Garden City. Currie was shot to death at his home Dec. 2, 1970.

Ballard was brought here by the Texas Rangers after Thursday's session and spent the night in the Howard County Jail, according to Sheriff A. N.

Standard. Rangers checked Ballard out early Friday morning and a few minutes later he was at the State Hospital.

Doshie Lee Smith, Midland, who said she had seen a shotgun similar to the one in evidence at Ballard's trial, and heard Ballard say he had killed a man, was the first of two witnesses to testify Thursday afternoon before court recessed for three days.

The woman said she lived at Midland Motel and worked in an adjoining bar.

Ballard went to the motel the afternoon of Dec. 6, 1970, she said, and his clothes were tattered and smattered with grass and thorns and his hands were so swollen he could not wash up without help, Doshie Smith said.

The witness testified Ballard told her he had killed a man in Garden City, and said his pickup had caught fire and he had injured his hand in the fire. She said, however, she did not and 1.3 per cent in January.

NO CONFLICT

But there was no comfort for administration economists in the segment of the index that covers industrial materials and commodities. It increased five-tenths of one per cent, compared with four-tenths of one per cent in December. The industrial commodities are considered a better indicator of future price movements at retail than the food and farm prices, whose movements are more erratic.

White House economists had predicted substantial increases in both December and January, the first two full months following the end of the 90-day price-wage freeze. Early decisions by the Price Commission gave a green light to substantial adjustments of prices frozen since Aug. 15.

BAD NEWS

The wholesale price showing was disappointing nevertheless because consumer prices rose only one-tenth of one per cent in January, or three-tenths of one per cent after seasonal adjustment. This movement, announced Wednesday, was a distinct improvement in the cost of living increase from December when the jump was four-tenths of one per cent, or a rate of 4.8 per cent a year.

White House economists had predicted substantial increases in both December and January, the first two full months followdiscovered was Mrs. Judy Dunham, who has been granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for State testimony in the trial on Currie's death. Mrs. Dunham previously had testified in the trial.

ON WAY HOME

Saunders said Mrs. Dunham told her she was a student at Angelo State University and was on her way home to Odessa. He told her a rancher had just been killed and let her go, he said. He had detained her less than five minutes.

He said he did not remember seeing a pickup truck pass his roadblock the next 20 minutes or so.

Defense Attorney Bobby Bearden asked about the pickup truck because Mrs. Dunham testified that after she was stopped at the Garden City roadblock, she drove slowly until Floyd Palmer, an alleged participant in the robbery and now dead, caught up with her in his pickup truck.

He was not stopping local traffic, he said. About midnight he stopped a Cadillac occupied by a young woman, he later

BOARD OF TRUSTEES DECIDES Cost Of Air Conditioning Schools Is Prohibitive

The school board Thursday reluctantly turned down an offer by the Airport Elementary School PTA to assist with air-conditioning the school.

Mrs. Myrel Coffman, president of the Airport School PTA, pointed out that the PTA was very active, and had provided about $4,000 for school improvements over the last four years.

"We have about $1,000 now that we would like to use for air-conditioning at least part of the school," she said.

Mrs. Coffman discussed the noise factor in the area, and suggested that the school be used as a pilot program in air-conditioning open-wing schools.

"We are aware of the problems and the desirability of air conditioning," said Roy Watkins, board president, "but we are beset by financial problems and when the schools are air-conditioned, we want to do them all."

STUDY IS MADE
Watkins pointed out that a preliminary study had been made, and Jim Bill Little added that all the units would need to be standardized in order to keep maintenance problems down.

"The full study of the problems would cost about $3,000," said Ralph McLaughlin, "and the best estimates we have now indicate a cost of about $1,000,000 to air condition all the schools."

"The prospect of air-conditioning anytime soon looks pretty dismal," said Watkins. "We would like to do it, and appreciate your offer, but we just are not in a position to do anything now."

Watkins said the board would approve an alternate project, either carpeting the library or putting curtains in some of the rooms, if a letter was sent to the board requesting approval.

Representatives of the Park Hill PTA also appeared before the board. O. O. Craig, PTA president, asked that the board include in its budget money to provide a library at Park Hill.

21 GIs Wounded In Viet Battle

SAIGON (AP) — American ground troops today fought their biggest battle in months, a clash with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces 42 miles east of Saigon.

First reports from the U.S. Command said 21 Americans were wounded but none killed in the five-hour battle south of an American artillery base called Cross Sabers.

Enemy losses were not immediately known.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Chester Hanson, said the casualties were the heaviest since last July 5, when five Americans were killed and 38 wounded in a rocket attack on the Da Nang air base.

CALL ON BOMBERS
Fighting broke out at noon when a company of the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, engaged an enemy force of unknown size and exchanged small arms and automatic weapons fire.

The ground troops called in U.S. bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery to blast the enemy. Hanson said the fighting broke off just before dusk, but U.S. fighter-bombers continued to pound the area.

Meanwhile, U.S. military sources said heavy U.S. air strikes against three major enemy base camps along South Vietnam's western border in mid-February knocked out more than 200 trucks and destroyed large quantities of ammunition and fuel.

The sources reported, however, they could not say how the raids had affected enemy plans for an offensive in South Vietnam's central highlands, which has been predicted for several weeks by U.S. officials.

In other battlefield action reported today, enemy forces ambushed a 35-vehicle U.S. convoy in the central highlands and shot down a helicopter flying overhead. The U.S. Command said seven Americans were wounded and three vehicles damaged, but only minor damage was done to the helicopter.

Pick Humble President

HOUSTON (AP) — Directors of Humble Oil & Refining Co. have selected Randall Meyer as president-designate of the company.

Meyer, 49, presently is a vice president and director. He is a native of Mount Union, Iowa, and joined Humble in 1948 upon graduation from the University of Iowa as a mechanical engineer.

The selection of Meyer by directors Wednesday followed a New York announcement that Thomas D. Barrow, president of Humble since August 1970, has been designated as a nominee for election to the board of directors of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Humble is the domestic operator for Jersey Standard and Barrow's nomination as a director will be submitted at Jersey's annual shareholders meeting in May.

Under the planned changes, M. A. Wright will continue as chairman and chief executive officer of Humble, with Dr. Charles F. Jones continuing as vice chairman.

Meyer moved to Houston in 1961 after serving as an engineer at Humble's Baton Rouge, La., refinery. He became manager of the supply transportation department in 1964.

He moved to New York in 1966 as executive assistant to the president of Jersey Standard but returned the next year to become a vice president and director in charge of Humble's refining, marketing and supply functions.

ACCIDENTAL FIRING
Five more U.S. troops were wounded 13 miles southwest of Da Nang when an American helicopter gunship accidentally fired into their position while trying to drive off an enemy squad which engaged the U.S. patrol. A sixth man was wounded by the enemy, whose losses were not known. The command said the accidental firing is under investigation.

In the air war, Air Force F4 fighter-bombers Thursday destroyed one anti-aircraft gun inside North Vietnam, 35 miles north of the demilitarized zone, after they were fired on while conducting operations over neighboring Laos, the command said.

The U.S. Command also issued its weekly summary of aircraft losses, and this one revealed the crash of a Navy F4 Phantom into the Tonkin Gulf due to engine trouble a week ago, the loss of a small Army OV1 reconnaissance plane in the Mekong Delta four days ago and the loss of two helicopters elsewhere during the week.

The summary said three crewmen were killed and one injured in the four crashes.

Seize Pot,
Six In Raid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Federal agents confiscated a truckload of marijuana Thursday night in what an official called possibly one of the largest seizures in the Southwest. Agents said six persons were arrested.

The report was not disclosed. Reports said 2,000 pounds or more was found, but authorities said this was only a very rough estimate and was not at once verified.

Keith Fieger, agent in charge of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau here, said it was probably one of the largest seizures made in San Antonio and "probably in the Southwest."

Agents confirmed that as the raid was being conducted, a warning shot was fired to stop one of the six arrested persons from escaping.

The marijuana, packaged in brick form, was found hidden in a truck bearing Mexico license plates.

Agents declined to disclose details of the raid pending discussions with the U.S. attorney's office.

Officials said the suspects were not charged at once.

The raid was conducted by agents from the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and local U.S. Customs agents.

Heart Association Will Benefit From Tub Stunt

A bathtub pull to Austin is currently under way this week as a portion of the week's ceremonies commemorating National American Heart Association Week, and the Upsilon Eta Chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will be pulling a tub through Big Spring today.

Pulling the bathtub behind a car, the members of the chapter were to have stationed themselves at the intersection of Third and Main Streets between 1 and 2 p.m. today, for the purpose of collecting donations in behalf of Heart Week.

According to Dean Sheppard, executive of the local Heart Association, the funds collected in Big Spring by the chapter members will come back to Howard County to be used by the local association.

Every chapter in the state is participating in the bathtub pull endeavor. The tubs will meet in Austin at 2:30 p.m., Feb. 26.

The Upsilon Eta Chapter is the only unit west of Abilene, therefore, many of the West Texas cities have been covered by the group this week. The pull originated in El Paso.

The state-wide goal is $10,000, and the Upsilon Chapter is trying to raise half of the amount among West Texas

Closing Arguments In Fernandez Trial

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments get open today in the trial of a Mexican-American activist charged in connection with the Feb. 6, 1971 riot at Pharr.

Efrain Fernandez, 28, of Pharr, is being tried in 92nd District Court on a felony charge of malicious destruction of property. The indictment accuses Fernandez of breaking the windshield of an automobile owned by the Pharr Fire Department.

The case will go to a jury of seven women and five men, including five Mexican-Americans, at the conclusion of arguments by Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis and defense lawyer Warren Burnett of Odessa.

Judge Tillman Smith, a retired district court judge from Corpus Christi, recessed the jury Thursday after Burnett abruptly rested his case after presenting evidence from only one witness. Burnett had earlier predicted he would take three to four days to complete his case.

Claiming his client had been framed, Burnett only called Texas Ranger Jack Dean of McAllen as a witness Thursday after presenting a brief opening statement.

Earlier, Burnett had presented a character witness out of order for Fernandez. The witness was Bishop Patrick Flores, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic Church.

The riot resulted from a peaceful demonstration at the Pharr City Hall and police station against alleged police brutality.

Fernandez, active in the Mexican-American Youth Farm Workers Organizing Committee and the La Raza Unida political party, was one of the organizers of the demonstration.

Alfonso Laredo Flores, 22, of Pharr, a bystander, was shot to death as a large contingent of police officers used guns, clubs, fire hoses and tear gas to break up the crowd estimated at about 400.

Robert C. Johnson, then a Hidalgo County deputy in the large force of officers at the riot, was indicted on a misdemeanor charge of negligent homicide in Flores' death.

Johnson was suspended from duty by Sheriff Claudio Castaneda. He has not been tried and no date has been set for a trial.

Speed Reading Course Set To Begin In Big Spring

Arrangements have been made to conduct a 21 hour course in speed reading. The course is open to anyone above the age of 13 and guarantees every graduate a reading speed over 1,000 words per minute and with at least a 15 per cent increase in comprehension.

After the seven week program a person can read an average length book in less than an hour and understand it better. In addition to speed reading the course also emphasizes improved study techniques, better test taking skills and increased concentration and retention abilities.

The course requires a person to attend one class per week on the evening of their choice. For those who would like more information without obligation to enroll, a series of FREE one hour orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These meetings are free to the public and the course will be explained in complete details including entrance requirements, classroom procedures, class schedule and location. You need to attend only one of the meetings whichever is the most convenient for you. These free one hour orientations will be held as follows:

DRIVE AGAINST IRA MOVES INTO HIGH GEAR Bombs Scar Northern Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Bomb blasts exploded across Northern Ireland today while police in Dublin and London questioned new suspects in the Irish Republican Army bombing of Britain's Aldershot army base.

Explosions believed to be the work of the IRA wrecked a downtown Belfast shopping arcade, a warehouse less than 100 yards away and a bus depot in Antrim.

Six persons including two policeman and a soldier were taken to a hospital with slight injuries after the shopping arcade was hit by a package bomb strapped to a bicycle.

No injuries were reported in the other bombings.

In London, police raided a suburban house, found shotguns and ammunition, and seized an Irishman after a struggle in which he received a black eye, authorities said.

The man was taken under armed guard from the south London house to Scotland Yard special branch headquarters for questioning about Tuesday's Aldershot IRA revenge bombing. Seven persons were killed in the blast.

During the raid police also confiscated a driving license. They checked to see if it was the one used to hire a car in which the Aldershot bomb was placed.

Police disclosed they arrested a second Irishman Wednesday in a raid on a south London house. The raid yielded important clues about the men who hired the car, they said.

No charges have been placed against either Irishman.

In Dublin, Prime Minister, Jack Lynch's drive against the IRA moved into high gear. Thirteen militants were behind bars and police lodged formal charges against Cathal Goulding chief of the IRA's leftist official wing.

Supporters of the outlawed organization called for mass demonstrations throughout the Irish Republic to protest the government's crackdown.

Goulding, was charged with violating the Offenses Against the State Act by belonging to an illegal organization. Charged with him were three executives of Sinn Fein, the Official IRA's political division, including General Secretary Tony Heffernan. They were among eight men arrested in Dublin Wednesday after the Officials had claimed responsibility for bombing a British army base at Aldershot, England, the day before. Seven persons were killed in the blast.

Kenton Shows Open Tonight

Stan Kenton and his orchestra will be performing two concerts, one tonight at 8:15 and one Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

Tickets for the performances will be $2 each, and the concerts, which will highlight the Texas Stage Band Festival this weekend by the Big Spring High School band, will last approximately 1 1/2 hours.

A total of 25 high school bands from around the state will be participating in the stage band concert competition, which began this morning. Award ceremonies will be held directly following the last performance of Kenton Saturday night.

Admission for the day functions, which includes the high school band performances and Joe Morello's Drum Clinic, will be $1 per ticket.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD Proposal By Sharp To Back Mutscher In Statewide Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Houston promoter Frank Sharp asked a public relations man in 1969 how to organize a statewide campaign in 1972 for Speaker Gus Mutscher, the Associated Press has learned.

Sharp sought the advice of Vance Newell, public relations counselor.

Newell replied in a confidential letter dated Sept. 17, 1969. Sharp sent Mutscher a copy of the letter on Sept. 19—10 days after the passage of two banking bills that Mutscher allegedly pushed through after accepting a bribe from Sharp.

Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the bills 10 days after Sharp sent Newell's letter to Mutscher.

PLUS EXPENSES

The letter does not specify which statewide race was being considered, but apparently it was either the governorship or the lieutenant governorship.

"A little money at the right time for a legislative candidate can pay dividends," Newell wrote.

He recommended that two "bright" assistants be hired at a total of $50,000 a year, plus expenses, to begin work in 1970 on a statewide campaign for Mutscher in 1972.

This would be worth more, he said, than $500,000 injected into a campaign in its final weeks.

Mutscher should avoid projecting an image that Newell said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes was acquiring: a young man in too big a hurry.

IDEA SOURS

Newell said he would like to handle Mutscher's campaign. Apparently the idea soured for Sharp after Smith vetoed the banking bills.

The bills would have permitted state banks, including Sharp's bank in Houston, to avoid federal bank examiners.

Mutscher, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Mutscher aide Rush McGinty go on trial in Abilene Monday on a charge of conspiracy to accept a bribe from Sharp.

Mutscher also is charged with accepting a bribe.

All three defendants "made big profits on National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock purchased with loans from the Sharpstown State Bank. The loans were secured only by the stock they were used to purchase.

Sharp controlled both the bank and the insurance company.

Mutscher says he later bought more of the stock and ended up with a net loss.

The bidding:

1NT Pass 2♥ Pass

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

North and South reached a game contract in hearts for which there was no legitimate play inasmuch as the partnership is off four top tricks. Had the hearts divided less favorably—in fact—a contract of two hearts would have been the maximum possible score obtainable on the deal.

The first round of bidding was routine and South's response of two hearts to one no trump shows a five card suit with less than eight high card points. It is a sign off and partner is not expected to carry on unless he has a maximum no trump plus a good fit. While North has four trumps, his high card content comes to only 16 points and he should pass. If South had 8 or 9 points, his proper response is two clubs which requests the no trump bidder to show a major suit. South's subsequent action would depend on partner's rebid.

Once North invited a game, South could hardly quit inasmuch as he had 7 high card points—the very top of his original response.

West opened the jack of spades which provided declarer with a respite from an immediate setback inasmuch as he is off two tricks in each of the red suits. He began by cashing the top three clubs in order to dispose of one of his losing diamonds. The nine of hearts was led next and ducked around to West's jack.

The latter shifted belatedly to a diamond and East was in with the king. He resisted the temptation to cash the ace, and instead, led back a fourth round of clubs. South ruffed in, however West overruffed with the king to complete the defensive book and East subsequently scored the setting trick with the ace of hearts.

Once West failed to find the killing lead on the deal, South was in position to safeguard his contract. After he obtains a diamond discard on the third round of clubs, the only danger is in permitting the jack of clubs to remain outstanding which provides the opponents with an opportunity to score their trumps separately.

The solution to the problem is quite simple. After the queen of clubs holds, South merely continues with dummy's remaining club and discards his last diamond—permitting East to win the trick with the jack. Subsequent trump leads will restrict the defenders to two hearts and one club trick

It's Been Business As Usual For Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Other than serving as a presidential stand-in at a governors' banquet, it's been business as-usual this week for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while President Nixon is 10,000 miles away in China.

Aides said the reception and dinner Agnew and his wife hosted Wednesday night at the National Governors' Conference was the only event added to the vice president's schedule because of Nixon's 12-day absence from the country.

Agnew himself was somewhat amused when, at a Turkish Embassy party the night Nixon left for China, he was asked whether he should be called "acting president."

"No," he replied. "The president takes the office with him wherever he goes."

In some states, a lieutenant governor becomes acting governor when the boss crosses the state border, but Agnew does not assume the powers of the

Harte-Hanks Adds Moyers, Mace To Board

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Newsday publisher Bill D. Moyers and Myles L. Mace, a Harvard business professor, have been elected to the board of directors of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc.

Moyers was press secretary to former President Lyndon B. Johnson and a deputy director of the Peace Corps. During his three years as publisher of Newsday, the paper won 33 major awards, including two Pulitzer Prizes.

He currently is host of a weekly news and analysis television program.

Mace is a professor of business administration at the Harvard Business School, a management consultant and author of four books, including "Directors: Myth and Reality," published in 1971.

Moyers and Mace are the first directors who are not involved in the management of Harte-Hanks, a San Antonio based group with one television station and newspapers in 19 markets in five states.

Houston H. Harte, chairman of the board, said in announcing their election Thursday that they will help Harte-Hanks continue to develop as a national group.

"They balance each other, one being a professional journalist and the other an experienced director and management specialist, Harte said.

Mace, of Dover, Mass., served as vice president and general manager of Litton Industries' electronics division from 1955 to 1958 and as a Litton director from 1955 to 1970.

He is presently a director of Hanes Corp., Winston-Salem; Josten's, Minneapolis; and Inmont Corp. and Squibb Corp., New York.

Moyers began his journalism career as a boy of 14 on the Marshall, Tex., News-Messenger, a Harte-Hanks affiliate.

He is member of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation, a member of the board of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the Board of Visitors of the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard, and a member of the board of Wake Forest University.

His book, "Listening to America," an account of his 13,000-mile trip across the nation in 1970, was a best seller.

Busing Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and John Tower, R-Tex., voted with the minority Thursday as the senate adopted 51-37 key provisions for a compromise school busing amendment.

Bertha Hillger Death Victim

Mrs. Bertha Lillie Hillger, 80, died Thursday in a local hospital.

Services are set for 3 p.m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, Wesley United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Garden City Cemetery.

Mrs. Hillger was born Nov. 4, 1891, in Bonham. She married B. H. Hillger Jan. 10, 1910 at the ranch home near Garden City. She had come to Glasscock County in 1909 in a covered wagon from Bonham. She was in farming and ranching until she moved to Big Spring in 1950, shortly after her husband died. She was a member of the Wesley United Methodist Church, and had been ill for several years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Vera Mary Doty, Andrews, and Mrs. Eunice Becknell, Mound Valley, Kan.; one son, Glen Hillger, Garden City; one step-son, Lee H. Hillger, Fort Worth; one sister, Mrs. J. M. Jordan, Andrews; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers are to be Noel Clendenning, Lee Williamson, Judson Loyd, W. L. Robinson, Eugene R. Peters and John Robinson.

Higher Interest Rates Attacked By Patman

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., says high interest rates mean higher prices and higher prices mean inflation.

Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, spoke to newsmen Thursday during the Mortgage Bankers of America Conference. He addressed the Conference after his meeting with newsmen.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally was to address the bankers today at the final session of their two day meeting.

"The American people are paying $150 billion a year in interest rates," Patman said. "We've given the President power to roll back interest rates. He still has refused to control them."

Patman said a buyer should pay no more than 5 per cent interest for a home.

He said new homes are going more and more to the affluent and less and less to the poor.

"As a result, the low and moderate income housing areas have been abandoned in many cases, at a time of greatest need," he said.

He said another roadblock to the needy obtaining housing is the settlement changes associated with a home mortgage.

He said these settlement costs are imposed on the homebuyer at the last minute and at a time that he has already come up with a sizable down payment and the cost of moving.

"The homebuyer is already strapped for cash at this point and should not be stuck with additional and unnecessary fees and charges at closing time," he said. "He should be charged for items based on time, work and risk involved and not on generalized and undemocratic rate schedules."

It is important, Patman said, that the homebuyer be informed prior to the actual closing about the fees so that he can raise questions if they appear out of line.

Some 600 mortgage bankers from around the country attended the conference.

He said new homes are going more and more to the affluent and less and less to the poor.

"As a result, the low and moderate income housing areas have been abandoned in many cases, at a time of greatest need," he said.

He said another roadblock to the needy obtaining housing is the settlement changes associated with a home mortgage.

He said these settlement costs are imposed on the homebuyer at the last minute and at a time that he has already come up with a sizable down payment and the cost of moving.

"The homebuyer is already strapped for cash at this point and should not be stuck with additional and unnecessary fees and charges at closing time," he said. "He should be charged for items based on time, work and risk involved and not on generalized and undemocratic rate schedules."

It is important, Patman said, that the homebuyer be informed prior to the actual closing about the fees so that he can raise questions if they appear out of line.

Some 600 mortgage bankers from around the country attended the conference.

Port Arthur Area Alarmed Over Slayings

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Discovery of three bodies of apparent murder victims within three days had city authorities alarmed today as a $1,000 reward offer was expected to grow quickly.

Mayor Bernis Sadler of Port Arthur announced Thursday that the city was offering a $1,000 reward for arrest and conviction of what he called the "vicious persons or person" responsible for the deaths.

Sadler asked corporations, groups and individuals to add to the reward fund.

The third body found was believed that of a missing officer from the tanker Texaco Rhode Island, A. H. Strickland, about 50, who vanished from the Driftwood Motor Hotel here about midnight of Feb. 15.

Police said they believed Strickland, from Middletown, Conn., carried about $500 when he disappeared, but the decomposed body found in what apparently were Strickland's clothes had no wallet on it and only about $6 in the pockets.

A receipt from the Driftwood also was found in the clothing.

The body believed to be Strickland's was found in high weeds off Farm Road 365 Thursday. Nearby officers found a spent 25 caliber slug.

It was the same caliber weapon that killed two area businessmen some 24 hours earlier, George Martin, 55, of Groves and Bernard B. Bardsley, 56, of Port Arthur. Both men, their bodies about five miles apart, had been shot in the left ear.

Bardsley's body was found under a bridge on La Belle Road at Taylor's Bayou while Martin's remains were found in grass off Texas 73 about seven miles west of Port Arthur.

Yippie Beats Conduct Rap

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) Yippie Josh Bowers has been acquitted of a charge of disorderly conduct stemming from a demonstration last Halloween at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus.

Justice of Peace Buck Smith ruled after listening to briefs Thursday. The trial was last Dec. 2, but Smith reserved a ruling pending reading of the briefs.

About 60 Yippies, their faces painted and wearing costumes, danced, sang and argued with onlookers at the library. One demonstrator "auctioned off" a policeman to the crowd.

University police filed the charge against Bowers.

Contests Ahead For Students

Members of the electric appliance repair class at Big Spring High School will hold their contests for district representation in the vocational department Tuesday evening.

Winners in the event will be chosen to represent Big Spring in the district contests March 17-18 in Big Spring, said E. Y. Buckner, instructor. Several merchants have donated prizes for winners and will assist in the conduct of the contests he said. Parents and friends of the boys, and anyone else interested, are invited to attend.

Llano Hotel Sold

LLANO, Tex. (AP) — Wayne May, operator of the Brownwood cattle auction, has bought the Hotel Llano.

The Austin American said May purchased the hotel from Mrs. Nannie Elliott, who had bought it last April from Phil McGee of Kerrville.

Arm Shaver

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM.

UNDERARMS: (Q.) Some of my friends found out that I shave my underarms and they got the stupid, silly idea that I'm a sissy for shaving. I do it to keep down the odor. I tried every kind of deodorant without much success. I tried shaving under my arms and it worked better than anything else. Will you say it's all right for boys to shave under their arms? Then I can show your letter to my friends. — Not a Sissy in Pennsylvania.

least I love him. He is 19 and I am 17. — On the Outside in Alabama. (A.) Step quietly out of the triangle and it won't be a triangle any more. You won't be in trouble any more, either. Right now you ARE in trouble, and could get hurt badly. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope can be answered.)

(A.) It's perfectly all right for a boy to shave under his arms if shaving does not irritate the often-tender skin there. It apparently does not irritate yours, so it is all right for you to shave under your arms. Now, that should prove to your friends that you are not a sissy. But you should also use a deodorant. Some of today's man-type deodorants are effective, and don't have a sissy fragrance.

Church To Open A new church in Big Spring will open Feb. 27. Services will be held at the building at West Fourth and Galveston, which was formerly the old Church of God meeting place. The official opening will be of the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ, and the pastor is C. M. Henson. The new church is fundamental in belief. Its basic doctrine is the full standard of Biblical salvation, according to Rev. Mr. Henson. Services will be held Sunday morning at 10 a.m., Sunday evening at 7 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m.

TRIANGLE: (Q.) I'm in love with a married man, but he's not a happily married man. His wife runs around on him. What can I do to break this little triangle up? It makes no sense for him to be unhappy with her. I'm not sure exactly how he feels about me, but at Arab guerrillas killed a young married couple in a bazooka ambush just below the border early Thursday, and infiltrators in another attack later in the day killed a soldier and wounded seven others. I.F. Gen. David Elazar, Israel's chief of staff, warned the Lebanese government that reprisals were likely unless it curbed the guerrillas.

UN MEDIATOR VISITS ISRAEL New Raids Into Lebanon

TEL AVIV (AP) — New Israeli raids were reported in southern Lebanon today in retaliation for guerrilla attacks as U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring arrived in Israel in an effort to revive his deadlocked peace mission. Residents in southern Lebanon reported that Israeli planes and tanks struck in three areas. There was no immediate confirmation from the Israeli government, but the Lebanese army reported that two Israeli infantry battalions and an armored battalion attacked at dawn under a heavy air and artillery cover.

two villages two and three miles inside Lebanese territory. Israeli planes meanwhile attacked the town of Rachaya-Foukhar, in the southeast corner of the country on the lower slopes of Mt. Hermon, these reports said. The area is a major stronghold of the Palestinian guerrillas. Initial reports said the invaders blew up several houses in Aitaroun and Ainata in the belief that they were used by the guerrillas. Israel in a letter to the U.N. Security Council in New York declared that the Lebanese government has an obligation to stop the guerrilla attacks. Lebanon has denied that Beirut authorities had any connection with the incidents. Jarring has confined his efforts to trying to get negotiations going between Israel on the one hand and Egypt and Jordan on the other. On his arrival today, he made no mention to newsmen of the renewed guerrilla activity, saying only, "I want to inform myself on the situation in the Middle East."

WITHDRAWING The army communique said Lebanese border outposts fought back, and the Israeli units began withdrawing three hours later. One Lebanese soldier was wounded, it added. The Al Fatah guerrilla organization said six guerrillas were killed and three wounded in the first hours of the battle. The Lebanese government reported that the Israelis completed their withdrawal shortly before noon, about six hours after the first attack. A communique said one civilian was killed, one Lebanese soldier was wounded and 20 houses in Ainata were blown up. Foreign Minister Abba Eban took a cool-toned wide range meeting, declaring in a newspaper interview that Israel's position on withdrawal of its troops from the territories captured in the 1967 war "still prevails and we are not going to change it."

mean accepting an American solution to the crisis, which is something we cannot accept." But editor Mohammed Hassan Heikal warned that the Arabs should not cut off all contacts with the United States. Eban said Jerusalem was concentrating on a special settlement to reopen the Suez Canal and not on the Jarring mission. Israel accepted a U.S. proposal to mediate a canal settlement earlier this month, but Egypt has ruled out negotiations under the U.S. aegis and is holding out for Jarring. Asked if Israel would agree to allow Jarring to mediate a canal settlement, the foreign minister replied in the negative. "U.S. mediation is one of the integral conditions of the partial agreement," he declared. "Our consent to hold negotiations was the basis that the good offices of the United States would be utilized." The editor of Cairo's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran said today that the proposal for an interim canal agreement "appears like a trap and would

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have some very definite ideas about just what you would like to do and how you would like to do it, and if you will only ask for what you want with a smile and a kind voice, you have a good chance of getting it. The mood, however, is for most everyone to make demands and so get into unpleasant situations which is not necessary. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Ideal day for amusement, but make sure you do not argue over it, or something serious could result. Quietly analyze what changes you want to make. Then use intelligent methods to do so. TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Some situation at home is most annoying but do not argue over it, or something serious could result. Quietly analyze what changes you want to make. Then use intelligent methods to do so. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put your own ideas to your suggestions. Ideas during the day, but tonight or tomorrow or undivided. Try to be more helpful to others in group affairs. Take the cause more to heart. VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Find the right system for taking care of any promises you have made so there is no criticism. Forget that urge to criticize others and do something to improve your own life. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Talking over with partners and congenials how best to have greater harmony and more successful results with mutual activities is fine now. You can get much backing from them and can use it wisely. Make this a banner day. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A bigwig is watching how you do that special work assigned to you, and can be very well. All-Day Meet Slated Tuesday

Miss Velma Hegarty and Miss Arlene Champoux, national teacher training team of the Child Evangelism Fellowship, will hold special sessions next week to help those working with children in the Sunday School, weekly Good News Clubs, Children's Church, and in the home. The first all-day session will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, at Phillips Memorial Church, 408 State. After a noon break, the next session begins at 1 p.m. and continues until 2:45 p.m. The second all-day session is on Wednesday, March 1 at Baptist Temple Church, 400 Eleventh Place. Again, the day begins at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 2:45 p.m. The sessions are divided into four 45-minute topics each day. Included are: Using music as a teaching tool, visitation, discipline, transforming stories into lessons, and attendance boosters and contests. On Tuesday, beginning at 7:30 p.m., there will be an informal meeting with the training team in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building, 500 Main. The topic will be: Teaching victory and consecration.

Trustees Okeh Building Site For Youth Inc.

The school board Thursday agreed informally to provide a building site for Big Spring Youth Inc., if legal questions can be worked out and if another site is not chosen by the group. Norman Picquet, Ike Robb and Rene Brown represented the group that is working to set up a teen center in Big Spring. The requirements for a site, according to Picquet, are a site near the high school and the junior high schools, parking space, no zoning problems, and most important, free or low cost property. The school board agreed that a lease arrangement would be most desirable of a 99 year lease. The two sites discussed were at the South Ward facility between Thirteenth and Fourteenth facing Owens, or below the Birdwell dam. The South Ward site was considered the most desirable by the board and the teen center representatives, mainly because of the condition of the land. A plan is to be presented to the board at the first meeting in March, when the board is expected to make a final decision, if the teen center group is ready.

'Super Church' May Take In Roman Catholic Faith

HOUSTON (AP) — The general secretary of the Consultation of Church Union (COCU) says the Church of Christ Uniting, a proposed "Super church" that would join nine major Protestant denominations, may include the 48 million-member American Roman Catholic Church. Dr. Paul Crow Jr. was here to address the annual Assembly of Representatives of the Texas Conference of Churches, a statewide ecumenical group meeting through Saturday. "It's conceivable that any united church would find a relationship with the Roman Catholics," he said at a news conference Thursday. Crow's group has conducted a 10-year study of possible union. He said this was the first time he had publicly suggested that Roman Catholics may some day be included in the proposed union church. Crow said he had talked to several members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy and "they showed deep interest." However, a high official of the Galveston-Houston Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church said he doubts the Catholic Church would ever participate in the proposed union. Crow did not indicate when the Roman Catholics might join the union. He said it would be at least 1980 before the union church could be formed. In his address to more than 200 delegates to the assembly Thursday night, Crow suggested that part of the opposition to the union plan stems from denominational pessimism.

Lay Evangelism Institute Set

The Midland Lay Institute for Evangelism begins Monday under the direction of W. O. (Bill) Menefee. Featured speaker during the week is Howard Ball, San Bernardino, Calif., national lay director for the Campus Crusade for Christ.

"What the world needs is not an analysis of the problems," said Ball, "but a positive solution. It is time for concerned Christians to be trained to communicate positively and simply that Jesus Christ is the answer to crises — not only on a world scale, but also on a personal level."

Campus Crusade for Christ International is operating on a world-wide scale with these training programs. The institute is designed to train church members how to live and share the abundant Christian life. This is done through seminars as well as lectures.

Sessions will be held at the First Baptist Church where interested individuals may pre-register or enroll Monday for either or both the morning and evening sessions. People from all denominations are invited, and the charge is $6 per person. The meetings are due Monday through Friday at 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. An afternoon session on Saturday will close the meeting.

Ball is a former businessman from northern Illinois, being general sales manager for several firms. In 1964 he sold his companies and moved to California to join the Campus Crusade for Christ. He has been in training seminars all over the United States as well as Mexico and Australia, Japan, the Philippines, Indonesia and several South American points.

Menefee is chairman of the board of Homecare International and is on the board of a local church in Houston. He also serves as a trustee for Houston College.

Campus Crusade is working toward a gigantic mid-summer conclave in Dallas to be climaxed, its leaders hope, by an outdoor rally calculated to attract 250,000 persons.

FOR PASTORS First Aid Courses Available At School

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Being a "Jack-of-many-trades" is recognized among pastors as a necessity in their profession. Some of them, just in case, are boning up on still another skill—first aid.

The new training program, the first of its kind as a part of theological education, has been initiated at the School of Theology at Claremont, Calif.

It gives seminarians the same instruction given ambulance drivers in the state and will qualify them as Red Cross mobile unit operators, able to render first aid as well as counseling to victims of accidents and disasters.

"This is a human responsibility for one's neighbor as profound as any other if one extends his sense of the Gospel into the events of daily life," says the Rev. Dr. F. Thomas Trotter, dean of the seminary.

Ministers traditionally have been expected to be versatile in many fields—as church administrators, financial planners, educators, public speakers, worship leaders, counselors, marriage advisers, guides in time of family troubles or death.

It generally takes seven years of college-level education to prepare for the job, four undergraduate years, plus three more years of seminary study, and even more for advanced degrees.

The Claremont school is interdenominational, with ties to the United Methodist Church, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), the United Church of Christ and the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Its new academic course, designed to prepare students as experts in time of emergency such as highway accidents, fires, airplane crashes, tornadoes or earthquakes, was conceived by a graduate student, Jeff Mangel, 24.

"Historically, ministers have not been trained for disaster situations and consequently, they are not prepared when a disaster occurs," says Mangel, who is teaching the new graduate-level course.

The idea for the new program was born after the earthquake and firestorms in Southern California last year. Many seminaries and pastors sought to help and found first-aid skills would have been useful.

Training in "crisis counseling" will be included in the course, in addition to emergency medical procedures, and ways of giving spiritual solace to the dying and critically injured—a kind of "Protestant last rites."

Mangel says the plan could serve as a model for other seminaries and churches throughout the country—most of which have facilities that could be of great benefit in emergencies.

He adds: "But for the most part this potential has been untapped."

Leader Asks Missionaries To Quit Inciting Division

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An African church leader, the Rev. Dr. Jean Bokeleale, has appealed to Western missionaries to quit spreading their own divisions among Christians in his country.

This is a sharpening issue in many Asian and African areas, a scene once dominated by American Protestant denominational extensions, but where new, indigenous run churches are now developing widely.

"We do things differently from what you have been brought up to do," says Dr. Bokeleale, general secretary of the recently launched United Church of Christ in Zaire (Congo).

In an unusual letter to all foreign missionaries there, he urged them "to preach love, unity and holiness among the children of God, instead of setting us one against the other."

KNOWS PROBLEM
"We understand your difficulty," he wrote in an appraisal of the problem. "It is very hard for some of you to accept unity of the children of God, because in your own experience in your own countries, there has never been room in people's hearts for unity."

He emphasized that most missionaries of the major mainline denominations have stopped concentrating on denominational interests. Most have ended their control and turned over the reins to the newly maturing younger churches.

But Dr. Bokeleale said a minority of missionaries "continue to spread confusions by dividing Protestants," just at a time when the newly united Congolese church is getting started.

It was formed in 1970, including 39 denominational groups once tied to various American and European denominations, and has about five million members.

In his letter, also circulated among mission agencies in this country, Dr. Bokeleale said some of their representatives in Africa have opposed his church's unification because it was "a decision of Africans and not of missionaries."

CAN'T UNITE
He said a missionary recently told him: "You are our children and you have no right to do anything without the agreement of your parents."

In other words, Dr. Bokeleale said, "this brother was saying that we cannot unite without the agreement of the missionaries and, since the missionaries are not yet disposed to accept unity, we will not have peace."

He said the situation is getting worse, has hurt the evangelistic work of the new church and "besmirches further the name of our Lord and that of the Protestant Church in this country."

As an example of the resulting confusion, he said one group of visiting Baptists from America insisted that "their Baptist" denomination had nothing to do with "those Baptists" who were fomenting conflict.

"Dear brethren," wrote Dr. Bokeleale, "how can our people, who know nothing of all the problems in America, understand this? They receive brethren who are Christians and they cannot distinguish that they came from 'this Baptist church and not 'that' one."

MORE COMPLAIN
"We believe that God does not want us to perpetuate such divisions of the body of Christ, but He wants us to live united as Christians to bring honor to His name and lead our countrymen to Him."

Numerous other African church leaders have brought up the same issue, pointing out that the younger churches of their region have a chance to develop a fresh, unified Christianity, unencumbered by divisive heritages of older foreign churches.

The Rev. John Gatu of the Presbyterian Church of East Africa, says: "The time has come for the withdrawal of Western missionaries from many traditional mission fields, so that the churches of the 'third world' can find their own identity."

Rev. Alford To Speak At College Park

A representative from the Church of God World Missions Department will be guest speaker for the annual missions service at the College Park Church of God Feb. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. George W. Alford will speak on the Church of God being a product of an evangelistic zeal and yearning for deeper spirituality, and will expound on the church's missionary endeavors.

According to the mission representative, the church has maintained a steady growth since 1886 and a world-wide perspective since 1910.

He said the Church of God presently operates in 90 countries and has 5,020 appointed missionaries and foreign ministers.

The Rev. Mr. Alford is widely known as a student of the scriptures and will draw upon his extensive knowledge and experience in the delivery of his mission sermon, according to the Reverend O. D. Robertson, pastor of the local church.

The Rev. Mr. Alford is now serving as a member of the Executive Council of the Church of God to which he was elected in 1970.

62 Producers, Writers Get Christopher Awards

NEW YORK (Sp) — Sixty-two producers, directors and writers received Christopher Awards Thursday night for their achievements in the fields of film, books and television.

In all, 15 books, 15 television specials and two films were cited during a reception at the Christopher Center in New York City. A special award was also presented to Geraldo Rivera of WABC-TV for his investigative television reporting about conditions for institutions for the mentally handicapped.

Award winners were selected on the basis of their affirmation of the highest values of the human spirit, artistic and technical accomplishment and a significant degree of public acceptance of the work.

Father Richard Armstrong, M.M., director of The Christophers, explained the purpose of the awards: "These awards pay tribute to individuals who have used their God-given talents to provide high quality literature and entertainment for the general public."

Connie, The Conformist

The last thing Connie intended to be was a conformist. So one day Connie resolved in dead earnest to be a nonconformist. She joined the group. She learned their views, their values, their life-style. Soon the cycle was complete—Connie had embraced the way of the nonconformist... had conformed to it.

The adventure of Connie is a reminder that conformity is part of human nature. We all conform to something. And the seemingly sharp differences apparent between certain life-styles merely reflect the contrasts and contradictions between the things to which men conform.

The role of the Church in our society is to provide spiritual and moral values that enrich life. In a world in which all men conform to something, the Church's aim with youth and adults is to give them SOMETHING WORTH CONFORMING TO.

READY TO JOIN THE ESTABLISHMENT

Job Picture Shocks Collegians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national survey suggests that collegians of the 1970s may be more job- and money-conscious and ready to join the establishment than were students of the 60s.

A popular trend among undergraduates during the past decade, was to shun profit-making careers and turn toward service to mankind through such agencies as the Youth Corps and VISTA and such endeavors as working in urban ghettos.

Employers were lined up bidding for those ready to take a job. Then the economic crunch hit. Now most graduates have to seek out potential employers. Many are finding it difficult.

GREAT DEPRESSION

"The unemployment situation has come as a shock to many college students who, up to this time, had considered stories of the Great Depression as part of American folklore," said William W. Carlson, president of the University of Toledo.

"The idea that an opportunity to have a job is something to be cherished is a new concept for some of them," he added. "I feel it has had a sobering effect on many a campus."

Toledo was one of 80 schools that responded to a survey conducted by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU).

"Are your students turning away from the altruistic, non-profit oriented types of courses evident during the 60s in favor of courses that will insure them well-paying jobs when they graduate?" the questionnaire asked.

Replies ranged from flat yes to no but a sizable number of qualified replies that indicated student concern over employment after graduation.

MIXED VERDICT

John J. Kamerick, president of University of Northern Iowa, Cedar Falls, Iowa, reported a mixed verdict from his staff and added, "I regret the decline of idealism."

President R. Leestarp of Worcester State College, Massachusetts, quoted a school counselor as saying, "Generally speaking, I feel that the freshmen I have had contact with during this past year are running scared. By that I mean they are not only concerned with the question 'Who am I?' but far more concerned lately with the question, 'Where do I go?'"

H.K. Hughes, vice president of State University College, Potsdam, N.Y., said, "We do not see any turning away from altruistic-oriented career goals. Our students are intensely interested in service to their fellow man and prepare for careers in the field of environment, sociology, social service, psychology and economics."

Dr. Norman A. Baxter, president of Fresno State College, California, reported a trend "too real to ignore."

"Over the recent years," he said, "the enrollment in the professional, career-oriented programs, as a percentage of the total college enrollment has increased significantly, while the enrollment in the traditional humanities and social sciences has decreased."

'New Town' Suit Filed By Groups

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A proposed "new town" faces a federal court suit filed by four local groups who claim the project will pollute this city's water supply.

At issue is the planned location of the community over the recharge zone of the Edwards Underground Aquifer, a huge limestone structure that serves about 1 million persons in this area.

The plaintiffs say San Antonio is the largest city in the United States relying on underground water.

After their suit was filed

HOWARD HUGHES

Loaned Yacht To 'Rich Man'

MIAMI (AP) — A Baltimore advertising executive says he loaned his yacht to Howard Hughes so the billionaire could flee the Bahamas undetected.

"I did it as a favor for a friend," Leon Shaffer Golnick said Thursday.

Golnick, owner of a Baltimore advertising company bearing his name, said he was a neighbor of Hughes for more than a year in the Bahamas.

"My boat was docked at the Hurricane Hole just across the way from the Britannia Beach Hotel. We were neighbors," Golnick said.

Golnick said Hughes left the Bahamas Feb. 16, in the Cygnus, Golnick's converted, 85-foot U. S. Navy sub chaser. He said Hughes stayed aboard for the 22-hour trip to Florida's East Coast.

"He got out somewhere in Miami Thursday morning, I'm not saying exactly where," Golnick said.

The dockmaster at Hurricane Hole in Nassau confirmed that the Cygnus had left its mooring last Wednesday or Thursday and had not returned. He said the craft was capable of making about 10 knots, which would mean it would take about 22 hours to sail it from Nassau to Miami.

Student Pilot Crash Victim

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A Reese Air Force Base student pilot was killed Thursday when his supersonic jet trainer crashed into a plowed field a mile and a half southwest of the base runway.

Second Lt. Richard L. Thomas, 24, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Wreckage of the Northrop T38 Talon aircraft was scattered over an "L"-shaped area approximately 100 yards wide and 400 yards long.

Officers at the base said the lieutenant was in an approach pattern prior to the crash.

The pilot's ejection seat lay crumpled less than 25 feet from Thomas' body. A silk parachute still attached to Thomas stretched toward one of the sections of the aircraft.

Thomas was on a routine solo flight during the final week of advance training prior to completion of the year-long course. His graduation was scheduled March 15.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Thomas of San Diego, Calif.

Wednesday, spokesmen for the four groups said they are not against the "new town" concept but oppose its proposed location northwest of here.

They asked the court for a temporary restraining order to block an $18 million federal loan guarantee sought by developers of the 80,000-population project, called San Antonio Ranch.

The plaintiffs charge that the project will pollute the underground reservoir for several reasons, including leakage of sewage lines. The developers have denied such claims in the past.

The groups specifically attacked an environmental impact statement on the project issued last month by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

They also requested a hearing on a preliminary injunction to halt action until HUD issues a new statement.

The present statement falls short of legal requirements on five major points, the suit declared, including a failure to state the environmental problems posed by the project and possible solutions. It said adequate studies have only been promised, not made.

Issuance of the HUD statement permits federal officials to approve loan guarantees after a now-expired 30-day period for public comment.

The suit contends that approval of the guarantees will limit HUD options to modify or abandon the project if later environmental studies showed such moves necessary.

The plaintiffs say the present environmental statement violates the National Environmental Policy Act, guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality, and the Housing and Urban Development Act.

Joining in the suit were the local chapters of the Sierra Club, the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, and Citizens for a Better Environment.

6,000 Trail Riders Parade In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 6,000 trail riders, some who have traveled 200 miles into the city, participated today in the huge downtown parade of the 40th annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

While the parade moved through the downtown streets judging of livestock continued at the Astorhall since the show officially opened Wednesday.

The first rodeo performance also was scheduled today with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans leading off a group of entertainers who will appear each day at the event.

One of the biggest showings of Brangus cattle in the history of the show took place Thursday.

The grand champion Brangus bull was shown by Pruett-Wray Cattle Co. of Yuma, Ariz. Grand champion female honors went to John R. Hester of Cabot, Ark.

In the judging of Holstein cattle, Price's El Paso Dairy took most of the top honors. Price's had the champion bull and junior champion female. The grand champion female was owned by Willard Hoff of Windthorst, Tex.

Champions also were picked in the beef breed and dairy breed.

U.S. Sugar Corp. of Clewiston, Fla., showed the grand champion Brahman female. The grand champion bull was shown by J. D. Hudgins, Inc. of Hungerford.

Vincent Braddock of Dimmitt had the grand champion Brown Swiss bull and Garland Braddock, also of Dimmitt, showed the grand champion female.

Judging of breeding swine for adult competitors was held with going before the judges.

Alfred Harris of Arcadia had the champion boar and champion sow in the Berkshire judging. The grand champion boar in Chester White judging was shown by J&I Hog Co. of Valley Springs.

Roberson Farms of Devine had the champion and reserve champion boar in the Duroc judging while Norman Grenwedge of Llano had the grand champion sow.

Billy Ames of Eagle Lake showed the grand and reserve champion sow in Poland China judging.

John M. Albert of Cibola showed the champion boar and sow in Yorkshire judging and James Epperson of Valley Spring showed the champion boar and sow in Hampshire competition.

COMPARISON SHOPPER — Mrs. Pat Nixon, like women the world over, can't resist shopping when the opportunity arises. Here, she "feels the quality" of fine fabrics during a tour of the Peking Friendship Store.

Alpha Etas Give Aid To Young Girl

Mrs. Derrell Bearden and Mrs. J. E. Peugh described their recent trip to Girls' Town at Whiteface, for Alpha Eta Upsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Ackerly.

The club will sponsor Barbara Ponder, 11, who is a resident of Girls' Town. Miss Ponder will spend one weekend each month with a club member and her family. The chapter also plans to buy her an Easter gift, and provide clothing and other necessities throughout the year.

Jake Merrick gave a slide presentation which demonstrated use of a new line of cosmetics. He showed the women methods of skin care and make-up techniques.

The group will meet at 12 o'clock noon, March 9 at the Spanish Inn for lunch, and then visit residents at Big Spring Nursing Inn to serve refreshments.

Mrs. S. P. Jones Is High Scorer

Mrs. S. P. Jones won high score for members Friday evening when the Rook Club met at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. J. S. Sims was hostess.

Guests included Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. J. C. Graves and Mrs. T. G. Adams. Mrs. Nobles and Mrs. Graves tied for high score among visitors. Refreshments were served. The next meeting is March 17, with Mrs. J. L. Terry as hostess.

Angry Spouse Puts Feminine Foot On Political Ladder

ANOTHER MA FERGUSON?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of convicted Rep. John Dowdy is returning to Texas today, seeking votes of vindication. She hopes to follow the pattern set 48 years ago by the legendary Ma Ferguson.

Mrs. Dowdy, known as J. D., doesn't think the comparison is apt but says many people are making it.

"If I can win like she did, I don't care," she said in an interview on the eve of her departure to campaign for Congress.

A Baltimore federal court has convicted Dowdy of bribery charges and this week sentenced him to 18 months in prison and a $25,000 fine.

Dowdy said bad health is keeping him from seeking reelection. His wife decided to run instead, saying she got between 500 and 1,000 telegrams, letters and calls from friends urging her to take up the banner.

"I think if I got a large vote it would be a vote of confidence for him," Mrs. Dowdy said.

She said her initial sampling of constituent sentiment showed the conviction of Dowdy might work in her favor.

"I find that so many of them are really mad about it," she said. "They feel like he was framed and of course I do, too. I don't think it was a fair trial."

Mrs. Dowdy said she doesn't think her candidacy can be separated from the trial. And, pressed for what she planned to say in this respect, she typed out this statement:

"The trial of my husband is not over. It will not be finished until the U.S. Supreme Court has an opportunity to review the very peculiar features of it. We believe the Supreme Court will establish rulings which will help to insure justice and fairness for you, if YOU should ever be falsely accused."

The idea of vindication for an alleged wrong done to a spouse is what propelled Ma Ferguson into the governor's chair in 1924.

The Texas Legislature impeached and convicted Gov. Jim Ferguson in 1917, technically for taking a $150,000 "loan" from brewers. The action came soon after Ferguson had vetoed appropriations for the University of Texas.

His wife won election, according to history buff Rep. W. R. Poage, "strictly on a platform of vindication for old Jim. And the people vindicated Jim, by a very substantial vote."

Mrs. Ferguson served two years, was defeated, won election again in 1932 and again was defeated after two years.

"I see a great deal of similarity today," said Poage, a Waco Democrat.

"Sure, I think she has a chance," he said. "I think it is a very similar issue. It could be an issue in East Texas as a great time to come."

Dowdy was charged with taking a $25,000 bribe from a now-defunct home-repair firm in exchange for help in squelching a federal probe of the company.

The veteran East Texas conservative says however, that his enemies in the District of Columbia got even with him for his years of what he calls "crime-fighting efforts" as a member of the D.C. Committee.

Parks Superintendent Advises On Planting

"Golden Rules for Planting" was the title of a talk by Johnny Johansen, superintendent of parks, when he was guest speaker for Rosebud Garden Club Tuesday at the YMCA.

Johansen said one of the most common mistakes is planting shade-loving trees and plants in the wrong areas. He said the discolored area on trunks of trees should be used as a guide when replanting, in order to plant them at the right depth. Caution must be taken to see that trees and plants are not placed too close together or too near a building. An Arizona cypress has a 20-foot span, and if planted near a doorstep, it will soon hide the house.

In the winter time, grass should be watered at least once a month if there is no rainfall. Fertilizer should be used when trees and shrubs are first planted, and roses should first be planted in peat moss and top soil, with fertilizer used the following year.

Mrs. Odell Womack presided, and Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall announced a bake sale is scheduled April 1 in Highland Center Mall.

The next meeting is March 28 at the YMCA, when Mrs. Dale Smith, master flower show judge, will be speaker. Hostesses will be Mrs. L. B. Edwards and Mrs. Eddie Read.

Ada Belle Dement Club Sews Quilt For Funds

The Ada Belle Dement Civic and Art Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Banana Moore, 711 Wyoming, at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Tom Traylor, president, as the presiding officer. Following the club song, 10 members answered roll call.

The women have sewn a quilt as a fund-raising project, and the winner of the quilt will be announced March 14. Tickets for the project may be purchased for 25 cents from any club member. Tentative plans were made to make more money for the treasury by selling hog dogs.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. E. S. Morgan, 706 Ohio.

Therapist Describes Treatment At Dora Roberts Rehab Center

Jim Thompson, director and physical therapist at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, outlined progress of the center since it opened in 1962, for members of Altrusa Club Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Thompson was introduced by Mrs. Willard Hendricks, community service chairman. Mrs. Bill Thompson presided and announced the Big Spring State Hospital needs used luggage for patients leaving the hospital, as well as a sewing machine.

Refreshments were served from tables decorated with arrangements of blue flowers and blue candles. The next meeting is at 12 o'clock noon, March 9 at Coker's.

Something To Think About

China and the United States have ended their long isolation this week with President Nixon's visit to Peking. Leaders of both countries made all the correct political statements about the interdependence of each nation and the diversity of their systems. They also agreed that these long-held differences need not hinder better relationships.

Premier Chou En-lai laid down again the 1955 terms for normal relationships. The terms could be troublesome, depending upon definition and temper of the times. But the Chinese welcome appeared to be cordial enough for decent protocol and with Mao Tse-tung's extended, earlier-than-planned meeting with the President, one could even say the welcome held a hint of eagerness.

Chou's principles included mutual respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of nations, mutual nonaggression, noninterference in internal affairs, mutual equality, and of peaceful coexistence. The "territorial integrity of nations" is a sticking point, from the Chinese and North Vietnamese viewpoint, to the American presence in Vietnam.

That the Chinese are anxious to get into the issues that have kept an American "presence" in Asia since the days of World War I seems obvious. The five-day stay of the President is rather extended for summit talks. That should have afforded teams of diplomats and technicians time to exchange views in detail on the problems where each side feels some progress can be made.

There are some Americans still held prisoner there. There were views to probe about America's departure from Vietnam, and even about America's "permanent-temporary" duty along the north-south dividing line in Korea.

Digging A Deep Hole

It has become apparent to a growing coalition of congressmen that the Congress has given birth to a monster. It is subsidized interest payments for housing — cottages to large apartments. The Department of Housing and Urban Development has projected tax-paid costs at about $7.5 billion a year by 1978.

One part of the 1968 Housing Act provides that the U.S. treasury will pay up to all but one per cent of interest on mortgage money for qualified persons. The law qualifies nearly any family within the $5,000-$8,000 annual-wage range. It also qualifies builders of apartments for low-income occupants.

The interest-subsidy guarantee is for the life

Whatever develops from the talks, the visit opens the way to open, official contacts between the governments. For her part, China — with 4,000 years of history — must ponder the merit of America's nearly 200-year-old system. China's influence is more potential than real, even in Asia. America's is worldwide and came into being despite an almost-reluctant people. The fact has to stimulate the mind of old Mao even when he is pondering his own Great Thoughts.

On Foreign Assignment

Around The Rim

Jean Fannin

YPSILANTI, Mich. — I have a new game to play — it's called Texas Lib (as opposed to women's lib).

The first objective is to convince people that Texas really exists — and that you can get here from there without a Lunar orbit. I think the location of the National Aeronautics Space Administration in Houston has a lot to do with that misconception.

The second objective is to convince people that I'm really from Texas... even though I don't talk like Lady Bird Johnson. This only applies to the people from southern Michigan. The people from northern Michigan are continually begging: "Say something — anything!" and then going into gales of laughter when I do. The things I am tempted to say to such people are not printable.

NEXT ON THE list is to convince my new friends and neighbors that I am not a member of a subversive group determined to annex Michigan to Texas. The fact that just recently the newspaper here added three new Texans to the staff doesn't help much.

Once that they are convinced that there really is a Texas, that I am really from there and that I'm not going to take over the state, I am continually besieged by people saying:

"Tell me about Texas!"

This generally comes on the days that the temperature hovers around 10 degrees. On the days when heat waves strike and the temperature gets up to 20 (or even 30 when a real scorcher hits) I can go an entire day without people mentioning Texas.

One day I conducted singing lessons, and taught the entire group such favorites as "The Eyes of Texas," "Texas, Our Texas," and "Yellow Rose of Texas." The boss suggested that a good place for us to gather and practice these ditties might be the unemployment line, and I hit an obstacle in my attempts to win friends and influence people in favor of my home state.

TO TOP IT ALL off, when the boss announced in the paper that I had been hired, guess what he put as my hometown? You guessed it — Big Springs, Tex. This, after I spent an entire week teaching people that there is no S on the end.

Clearly it doesn't pay to start at the bottom. Tomorrow my job, I may need help. Any Big Spring group want to take up a collection to aid a hometown girl in returning home?

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

I was brought up in a church which considered it improper and unladylike for women to wear long pants, especially to church. Lately, some of our young adult women have started coming to church functions in pants suits. Am I wrong in feeling these women are improperly dressed, or am I just behind the times?

J.H.E.

You are entitled to your own feelings, but you had best keep them to yourself. The Bible does not lay down a strict set of rules about attire, but it does talk about modesty, propriety, etc. "Let the women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with sobriety..." I Timothy 2:9.

Pants suits are certainly modest, but the Bible seems more concerned with modesty of the heart, than modesty of apparel, although it recommends the latter. Women who profess godliness are to be adorned with good works, said Paul. I Timothy 2:10.

The Bible does condemn a censorious, critical spirit, and if there is anything that can rob a woman of her femininity it is a hacking, critical attitude. It is probable that when Paul told the women to "keep silent in the church", they were gossiping about clothes, the hairdo, or the life style of the other women in the assembly.

As I said you are entitled to your own convictions and feelings. But, do not try to impose your convictions about apparel upon the other women of the church. Christian women, in addition to modest apparel, are to be clothed with "good works", and Christian attitudes are the most flattering apparel one can wear.

Inflation Results

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Do you remember when people used to say that a little inflation is a good thing? It keeps the economy moving, makes people work hard, gives them a little extra reward. That's what they said. It wasn't too long ago either. When an economy is bogged down people begin to talk that way and, in response, political leaders begin to put such thoughts into action. They seek to spend the economy into action.

Inevitably, however, every-one learns that just a touch of inflation is the most immeasurable quantity known to man. When a cook puts a pinch of salt into the recipe he knows precisely what it will do. But a pinch of inflation in the economy sets off a nuclear reaction that explodes in a boom and ends in a bust.

Many people who advocated a bit of inflation now realize the extent of the chain reaction as one segment of the economy feels the pressure of higher costs and so raises its prices in order to maintain balance. The return to equilibrium is almost unattainable without government intervention and most likely also a recession.

In that sense, the ordinary American of 1972 is a lot smarter than his counterpart of 1966. He has lived through the cycle and probably will never forget it.

But population changes constantly and that means that the ordinary American of 1972 will be a stranger in 1982, when Americans who have not lived through the boom-bust cycle will be in a position to experience it.

Meanwhile, the postrecession economy does seem to be struggling painfully and slowly toward balance. The consumer price index receded last month to an annual rate of only 3.6 per cent, a one-month drop of 1.2 per cent.

But the results will long be with us. —About 25 cents has been pared from the value of money since 1967, which means that insurance policies, savings bonds, savings accounts and pensions have been seriously impaired.

—The economy has lost a great deal of its freedom of action and, judging by past involvement of government in what are considered free enterprise areas, the same degree of freedom may never be regained.

—Joblessness remains stuck at more than 6 per cent and seemingly cannot be sharply reduced without the danger of reinflation.

Even with an inflation rate of 3 per cent or so the value of money is cut in half in about 25 years. Like the compounding of interest, inflation builds upon previous inflation. As a rule of thumb, you can estimate the half-life of currency, or the time that must elapse before 50 per cent of value is lost, by dividing the rate of inflation into 72.

A steady one per cent rate means that the dollar will lose half its value in 70 years. If a two per cent rate is maintained the dollar is cut to half in about 35 years. At three per cent the time period is a bit less than 24 years, and so on.

By using that formula one can easily see that the current 3.6 per cent rate is satisfactory only in relation to what went before. It means that in something like 20 years $1 becomes 50 cents.

Many people didn't like to hear this six years ago. Families were upwardly mobile on the economic scale and, unconsciously perhaps, felt that a little inflation would help redistribute the wealth that they eagerly sought.

No doubt that inflation did help do this. It took from the conservatives and rewarded the speculators. Fortunes were made during the 1960s and many of them have been retained. But many more people were hurt than were helped.

It hardly can be denied that if somebody takes 25 cents from your dollar he hasn't helped you.

Feel Of Approach

William F. Buckley Jr.

(This is the first of six or seven columns by Mr. Buckley to be filed from China.—Ed.)

ABOARD NI-HAO ONE — Nothing weighty, quite yet. The feel of the approach. And some impressions.

EVERYWHERE we turn, we come upon the logo of this voyage. "The visit of President Richard M. Nixon to the People's Republic of China." It is thus emblazoned on our baggage tags, stationery, rucksacks.

At first, it puts you off. But if you sit down and doodle, asking yourself: what is a more self-effacing way to have done it, answers leap not instantly to mind. It is, after all, a visit. The U.S. principal is, after all, the President of the United States. And there is no getting around the fact of his being Richard Nixon, or that his destination is — careful!

It may appear stilted, that every time one alludes to the area in question, one speaks of it as the "People's Republic of China." Actually, it is not only proper that we do so. We recognize a government which is called "The Republic of China," and that government sits in Taiwan.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, it is bad form to visit a territory of a government you do not recognize, which government is in mutinous contention with the recognized authority. Thus, one would not, a few years ago, have traveled to Biafra. But if one did, one would avoid designating it as a visit to Nigeria. Accordingly, the constant references to PRC are, in fact, diplomatic appeasers, for the benefit of Chiang Kai-Shek.

THE COMMUNISTS systematically pervert the language — what Mao squats over is as much like a republic as Caligula's Rome. Ours is a republic, but there is bonapartism in the air — Lyndon Johnson would not venture to a barbecue without the presidential seal engraved on his blue jeans; or whatever. And, notwithstanding that Mr. Nixon is a little more informal, trappings-wise, bonapartization continues, thus "the visit of President RMN," when, one supposes, it would have sufficed, for purposes of communication, to refer to a "Presidential visit to the People's Republic of China," leaving it for our grandchildren to reach for the almanac to remind themselves who was president of the United States at that Peking summit, and to their grandfathers to hope that the almanac in question will be in English, rather than Chinese.

THE OMENS ARE distinctly not good. For instance, we have to land at Shanghai before going on to Peking. Why? Shanghai is four hours from Guam, less than two hours from Peking. The ostensible reason for landing is to pick up a "navigator." No, the gentlemen have something symbolic in mind. The history-minded recall that the emperors of yore required that visiting nabobs stop well outside the confines of the capital to sue for permission to go further.

ANOTHER BAD omen: we are allowed to take off the airplane only a single suitcase. Why? You figure it out. aboard the airplane, we read, mostly, Theodore White, the gifted old China hand, now renowned for his series on the making of American Presidents, is ecstatic at the prospect of visiting his old haunts, and of justifying his early optimism about the vector of Chinese Communism. We tease each other. A few minutes ago he came beaming. "I have a clip saying the Red Chinese killed 34 million people. What will you offer me for that?" I rummage about, and offer him the clip that says the Red Chinese have reduced illiteracy from 80 per cent to 20 per cent, but he scoffs. "Hell, I have that one."

Is Death Worth Living For?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — A man should sort out his worries periodically just as he does his convictions.

If he doesn't, he will wind up worrying needlessly and profitlessly in all directions.

And since Lent is a good season for giving up things you don't really need, now is a good time to quit worrying about things you can't do much about anyway.

Here are a few possible items on your I-won't-fret-my-little-head-about-that list:

Has science gone too far?

How many friends will Mayor John V. Lindsay make and how many people will he influence in the Democratic party?

Would it be better for international amity if all Americans studied Russian or just learned to eat with chopsticks?

Can a man really build character by eating more breaded veal cutlets?

After Congress, what? Is death worth living for?

"When a lot of people are out of work," said Calvin Coolidge, "unemployment results." What did he really mean by that remark?

Some people don't put too much stock in the stock market. Do they need to take stock of themselves?

Who gave Margaret Mead that snazzy new red hair ribbon for Valentine's Day?

Why is it that everything that goes into one ear of Dr. Joyce Brothers seems to come out her mouth?

If a baby is reared according to Dr. Spock, will he grow up to think like Dr. Spock?

Why save the environment as it is? Since it changes us for the worse—it makes us grow old, for example—why shouldn't we try to change it for the better?

What makes people so violent when they talk about violence? When will the real Howard Hughes stand up?

Cautious Beginning

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The beginning could not have been better. President Nixon and his national security advisor, Henry Kissinger, have successfully engineered a breakthrough momentous for the entire world.

THANKS TO electronic technology, the whole world watched. We saw the arrival, the banquet, the exchange of toasts between the President and Premier Chou En-lai, the President clinking his glass with every Chinese in the hall. Thanks to television close-ups, we probably saw more than most of the guests in the Great Hall of the People.

The rare privilege of a talk with Mao Tse-tung in the privacy of his home was a propitious start. The impact of this impressive scenario on the American voters is incalculable. Here is the President flying halfway around the world to sit down with a leader once an avowed enemy to carry out his promise to work for peace.

FADDISTS THAT we are, Americans go from one extreme to another. Two or three years ago Red China, the designation for 700,000,000 people locked in a wall of secrecy, was a dirty word. Today everything Chinese is en vogue. This euphoric mood is in itself a hazard, since so much can still go wrong and swing the pendulum back in the other direction again.

In the midst of intensive preparations for the Peking mission Kissinger was asked for his appraisal of the stability of the government of China. His response was a shrug and a reminder of what had happened since his first visit in mid-July when he negotiated the invitation for the President.

THE DEFENSE Minister, Lin Piao,

No. 2 in the hierarchy and Mao's anointed heir, disappeared. Whether he is dead or merely under house arrest, no one on the outside can say. How many of his immediate aides went with him is also a guess. Tales of Lin Piao's fate percolating out to Hong Kong are so fantastic they can hardly be credited.

The entire top military command disappeared. For a number of weeks flights by military aircraft were cancelled. The crash of a mysterious Chinese plane in Outer Mongolia gave rise to more rumors of attempted defection and retaliation. All of this, it should be noted, in six months. None of this has been reported out of China itself, if only because secrecy is so strictly kept.

WITH SEEMINGLY a firm grip at the top are Mao, 78, and Chou, 74. They have given the army an important role in every aspect of life in building back from the destruction of the Cultural Revolution. But has the power struggle ended? And did that power struggle involve opposition to the Nixon visit?

THERE IS NO doubt the Chinese are realists. A recent visitor reported that they had deliberately put their stake on President Nixon for another four years and a continuation of the dialogue with a Republican in the White House. They knew the widely televised visit would give him a boost. It is a safe guess that "working for peace" in Peking will lift him three or four points in the Gallup poll. The bids of two leading Democrats, George McGovern and Edward M. Kennedy, for an earlier visit were spurned. Above all, Chou, the master negotiator, is a realist.

WASHINGTON — With the newspapers in China now full of dispatches and pictures of President Nixon's meetings with Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai, and other publicity over the radio and television, it is evident that the government of Peking decided finally to let the Chinese people in on the biggest event of current history.

IN A COMMUNIST country, the government tells the press what it may or may not print. The hesitancy in this case was apparently due to a desire to follow a program whereby the distinguished visitors would be received first and entertained, and a decision they would be reached about the next step. There is no question but that a new atmosphere of relaxation and friendliness emerged as wall posters and front-page displays in newspapers, showing the airport welcome of Monday and the banquet the same night, gave the Chinese people something to feel encouraged about.

What might be regarded as significant is that a spontaneous feeling of friendship was manifested. For the people of China are really friends of the people of the United States.

FOR A LONG time, thousands of Americans went to China as missionaries or as volunteers to help in the schools and hospitals and in other institutions with a humanitarian purpose. Likewise, many Chinese came to the United States, to study. Scholarships were provided for Chinese students. This correspondent recalls a group of Chinese, young people who came to Princeton to study in 1906. They were warmly welcomed, and the same attitude was shown at other universities.

ON THE whole, it may be said that the relationship between the United States and China before the break that came in 1949, when the Communists took over the mainland, was close. China was regarded as a nation which needed the help of America, and this was freely offered.

Today, one of the reasons for our closeness with the Nationalists on the Island of Taiwan is that so many of their leaders were associated with us in the days when China was on friendly terms with the United States.

A Devotion For Today...

Come, and let us build up the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproach. —Nehemiah 2:17

PRAYER: Christ Jesus, as each day we are building a wall of life, help us to see that our every act is a brick laid in that wall. Recognizing this, help us to build a wall founded upon obedience and rising always toward perfection. Amen.

Steer Leaders Announced For Last Season

Robert Wallace and Mike Randle, having been the big guns for Big Spring all season, were the shining stars when the Steers' basketball statistics were released yesterday.

Wallace, a Steers' post man, led his team with a 17.6 point average throughout the 32 games in which he played. The six-foot, seven-inch senior made 564 total points to lead in that department. The youngster, who is expected to make the first team in District 5-AAAA, made 480 points from the floor and 84 from the free-throw line. He led his team with a 51 per cent average from the floor and was second in rebounding with a 15.3 average.

Randle, another post man, finished the season with a 15.6 point scoring average. The sparky senior, who is expected to make the second team in District 5-AAAA, made 498 points in his 32 games this season. He made 406 points from the floor and 92 from the charity line. Randle also led his team in the rebounding department with an average of 16 per game. He grabbed 512 total rebounds throughout the season 252 of which were offensive and 260 of which were defensive rebounds. He led the Steers in the recoveries department with 2.3 per game.

Johnny Tonn, a junior who played the post position, led the Steers in the assists department with a 3.8 average per game. He assisted his teammates in making points 120 times in 32 games. He also paced his team in the free-throw department by finishing with a 76.7 per cent average.

Bobby Edwards was second in field goal percentage with 50 per cent from the floor. David Carter rated third in that category with a 49.9 average. Carter also ranked second in the free-throw category with a 70 per cent average.

South Plains Tips Amarillo

LEVELLAND — Tom Jordan led South Plains College to a 73-68 Western Conference victory over Amarillo College here Thursday night, insuring the Texans a second place finish in the race.

The win upped South Plains league record to 10-3. Amarillo finished conference play with a 12-2 mark.

George Pannell and Kenny Bacon also hit in double figures for the Texans. Larry Kenon paced Amarillo with 19.

Gene 'The Machine' Leads Gleason Pack

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Golf's glamor gang—Nicklaus, Trevino, Palmer, Player—couldn't dent par at the beginning Jackie Gleason's $260,000 Inverrary Classic.

For heroes, you had: —Gene "The Machine" Litter shooting a record 65 for the first round lead, displaying the faceless precision that magnetizes golfing perfectionists if not the roaring majority.

—Bruce Crampton, the "Awful Aussie" to some, close behind at 67 and explaining how he is perhaps the most misunderstood man on the tour.

—And, other contenders at 68 with such unmagical names as Bob E. Smith, Benson Rayfield, McLendon and Forrest Fezler. Jack Nicklaus began double-bogey, double-bogey and "rallied" for a one-over-par 73 on the 7,128-yard layout. Arnold Palmer "played miserably" with a 74. Lee Trevino shot 76 and marched to the putting green for practice. Gary Player was the best of the millionaire clan with even-par 72.

Crampton, while not in the upper strata of golf's glory squad, has always performed well in high-paying tournaments. The son of a Sydney cop won a $50,000 payoff at the 1970 Westchester Classic and has bagged $120,000 in his three latest tour triumphs.

With $52,000 top money on the table this week, Bruce headed around the first turn in magnificent position behind Litter, the family man from San Diego who gets a kick out of tinkering with his three old Rolls Royces, a Model A Ford and a 1955 T-Bird.

Rookie Fezler, along with unheralded campaigners Smith and McLendon, played well during an unusually windless Florida morning.

Sensational rookie Lanny Wadkins, Masters king Charles Coody, Englishman Tony Jacklin and Doug Sanders were among a group of seven players at 69.

In all, 27 men cracked par on what was supposed to be a rugged Robert Trent Jones-designed court. The Nicklaus-Palmer-Player-Trevino bunch faced a battle today to make the 36 hole cut.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — First-round scores Thursday in Jackie Gleason's $260,000 Inverrary Classic on the 7,128-yard, par 72 Inverrary Golf Club course:

Snyder Tangles Odessa Ector

LEVELLAND — Snyder and Odessa Ector tangled here at p.m. Saturday in a Class AAA Regional game.

Snyder has won 28 of 31 starts. Ector brings a 15-6 record here, having won their last 14 starts.

Snyder defeated Brownwood in bi-district play Tuesday, 99-57. Ector bombed Levelland, 93-72, in their bi-district contest.

Sands Tangles Here Tonight

The Sands Mustangs tangle a tough Old Glory tonight in the Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

The Mustangs carry a 28-2 record with them into tonight's game. Old Glory won 30 games during its regular season.

The game has been scheduled as a practice game for the upcoming bi-district tournament. Sands clipped Old Glory in the last practice game, 60-59 in Aspermont.

Jayhawks Drop Overtime Game

The Jayhawk girls' basketball team dropped a squeaker to Abilene Christian College here last night in an overtime, 46-44.

Joanne Holmes paced the Jayhawks with 17 points. Judy Holubec with 10 and Betty Crskey with nine points assisted in a losing effort.

Sandra Prince made 22 points for Abilene Christian.

The Jayhawks led by 44-42 in the overtime, but they were outscored in the closing seconds.

Howard County meets Wayland here Saturday.

TWO TEAMS TANGLE TUESDAY Y'Leaders Collide In League Playoffs

Big Spring Tool and Tompkins Oil both rolled to easy victories last night in their final games of the season to share the number-one position in the YMCA Adult Basketball League.

Big Spring Tool dumped First Federal, 74-66, and Tompkins Oil crushed Temple, 82-55. Both teams finished the season with identical 9-1 records. These two teams will tangle for the championship at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the local YMCA.

Cotton Wright and R. L. Coates, both poured in 17 points to lead Big Spring Tool to its ninth win. Cliff Riley was hot with 38 points for First Federal. Riley led his team from behind to tie Big Spring Tool during the intermission, but Big Spring Tool roared back to grab the lead and to win the game.

First Federal finished the season with a 5-5 record.

Dan Dasullo with 30 points paced Tompkins Oil to its ninth victory. Tommy Tompkins added 23 points and Ben Nea made 19 points to insure the win. Tompkins Oil never was headed as they jumped in front 40-23 at the first stop and led 42-32 at the half.

Gary Huckabay with 18 points led Baptist Temple Joe Fraser pitched in with 16 points for the losers. Temple finished the season with a 1-9 record.

First Federal captured third place with its record. The Cabots, who defeated the Jaycees last night by a forfeit, finished in third place with a 4-6 won-loss slate. The Jaycees were next with a 2-8 record, and Temple followed with a 1-9 slate.

Colorado City — The annual Lone Wolf Relays are scheduled to get under way at 9:30 a.m. here Saturday.

Seven schools, including the host team, will be competing. Director of the meet is Dell Riley.

Vernon won last year's team championship. Colorado City is a three-time winner of the tournament and was runnerup on two other occasions.

Davis Scrutinizes His $$$ Decision

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston senior forward Dwight Davis says he turned down two ABA pro contract offers last year but he won't throw stones at undergraduates who have signed early.

Noting that Marquette's Jim Chones had signed for a rumored $1.5 million, Davis said, "It would be impossible for me to turn it down. I could use a million and a half right now."

"It would be like you turning down a better paying job to stick around and get your 55-year watch," he added. "You have to think of your family too."

Davis said however he turned down the offers because he felt the merger between the warring leagues would not be consummated and he could still get a good contract.

"I had a couple of offers to leave college but I had a friend who was in the know and he said don't worry about the merger," Davis said. "He was right and I knew with another year behind me, I could get a better contract. One more year of maturity does a lot for a guy."

So after looking at both sides of the coin, what would Davis advise undergraduates?

"It would be my advice if a contract was lucrative enough and so appealing that it didn't make logical sense to turn it down, I say go ahead and sign," Davis said. "You can always come back in the off-season and get your degree."

Davis said players who are likely to earn a degree will be back anyway. "The player who doesn't return, probably never would have received a degree anyway," he said.

"It's the same way with guys going to war," Davis said. "The ones who want a degree come back later and get it. It's the same thing."

Davis is certainly right about one thing—it's a war all right.

King Stalks Out Of Tourney With Her Swollen Big Toe

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Billie Jean King stalked out of the press room Thursday night following her loss in the opening round of the Virginia Slims Women's Invitational Tennis Tournament and said she planned to rest her foot for at least a week.

"I'm physically and mentally exhausted and I can't play my best," the tournament's top-seeded player from Long Beach, Calif., said.

Later, Mrs. King defaulted her doubles match. "I choose not to risk further damage of my big toe," she said.

She also said she was withdrawing from the Birmingham, Mich., tournament next week and will make a decision later on the Dallas, Tex., tournament March 7-12 where both Chris Evert and Wimbledon champion Evonne Goolagong are expected to play.

Mrs. King awoke Monday with the big toe on her left foot infected. She went to a doctor and was given a cortisone shot which relieved the swelling, enabling her to play.

Thursday night, however, Mrs. King swept past Julie Heldman of Houston 6-3, in the opening set before dropping the next two 6-4, 6-1.

"She won the first set," Miss Heldman said. "I won the second and, on a silver platter, she gave me the third. I don't think she wanted to play in that third set."

Mrs. King refused to use her injury as an alibi. "The foot didn't hurt at all," she said. "There was no pain. You can't blame my loss on that."

YMCA Swim Meet Slated Tomorrow The YMCA swimming team will compete in a quadrangular swim meet at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the local YMCA.

Abilene, Midland and Odessa will also compete in the invitational tournament.

Mrs. Sharon Splawn, Big Spring's YMCA swimming coach, expects about 180 swimmers in the meet.

Myers With 33 Leads HCJC

ODESSA — Archie Myers, Howard County Junior College's superstar, poured in 33 points here last night to lead the Jayhawks over the Odessa College Wranglers, 110-83.

Myers dazzled the Odessa crowd by pumping in 13 shots from the field for 26 points in field goals. He weaved through the Wrangler defense to zip underneath for costly layups.

The Jayhawks enriched their over-all season record to 27-8. Last night's win pushed the Jayhawks within reach of second place in the Western Conference with a 10-4 record. If South Plains with a 10-3 slate loses its last game of the season, the Jayhawks would move into a tie with the Texans.

Coach Harold Wilder said, "Everybody played well on the team giving us the impetus that we needed to go into the Regional tournament." The Jayhawks travel to Lubbock Wednesday to compete in the Region V tournament.

Coach Wilder emptied his bench in the second half as the Howard County express pulled ahead with about five minutes remaining before intermission. Myers engineered the drive with his hot, shooting irons. The Jayhawks were able to dominate the boards and break down the court in a powerful locomotive — the fast break.

Four other Jayhawks reached double figures. Harry Miller made 19 points, 16 of which were from the field; Herbert Lee made 15 points, seven of which were from the free-throw line; Roger McCalister made 12 points, all of which were from the floor; and Jim Kreier made 11 points, 10 of which were field goals.

Russell Frontz and Bey Gay both came off the bench to make eight points for the Hawks

Child Is A Child

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is my first letter to a column: How should one react to the news that their friends have had an "abnormal" child? I can answer that because we had one. We were lucky enough to be told immediately of our baby's condition and did not have the agony of the slow realization that "something was wrong."

Perhaps "congratulations" are not in order, but to ignore the presence of a new baby in a home, when you would normally express interest in, I think, is cruel. To this day I remember the pleasure I felt when someone came to see our baby, to hold him, and to let me talk about him.

One of the burdens a mother of a retarded child is not having anyone with whom to compare notes about her child's progress. Every tiny gain has a tremendous important meaning for the mother of a handicapped child.

So, do acknowledge the birth of a special child. Or send flowers to a lovely, mischievous 11-year-old Mongoloid, going to a special school, and we have never regretted our decision.

touch with their local society for retarded children for help with mutual problems. It will be rewarded with much love, affection, and gratitude. EDITH

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote asking you if they should send a gift or a card of "congratulations" to a mother who has given birth to a Mongoloid child. Thank you for saying "By all means, yes. To a mother, a child is a child."

I know your advice was sound because I had a Mongoloid son. Friends called. They stopped by. They even gave me a surprise baby shower when he was a month old. Here is the message on one card which meant so much to me:

"Gave this child to you to guide. To love, to walk through life beside. A little child, so full of charms, To fill a pair of loving arms. God picked you out because he knew how safe His child would be with you."

"God gave this child to you MRS. C. B., BEACON, N.Y."

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the person who wanted to know if she should acknowledge the birth of a Mongoloid child or out of kindness ignore the "tragedy."

I will always be grateful to friends who sent cards and gave us the feeling of "normalcy" when our Mongoloid son was born. He is now a happy 6-year-old and great source of joy to us. He goes everywhere with us and is so full of love, we wouldn't trade him for any child in the world.

Not all Mongoloid children are severely retarded. No one knows at the time of his birth what his potential will be if given a chance. He deserves better than to be written off as a "tragedy." An investment of love and care and a little work can be returned tenfold.

There are organizations all over the country to guide and counsel parents who share this experience. Anyone interested may write to The Mongoloid Development Council, 1810 S. 31st St., Kansas City, Kas. 66016.

Scared Teenagers

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please reply as soon as possible. A case of crabs has developed among some of my friends. We wear each others' clothes, and the like.

The five of us are best friends, all under age, and can't possibly go to a doctor without our parents finding out. We'd be murdered.

Two of my friends already have the crabs and know it. Last night I was checking things out and am almost positive I have them, too.

What can be done to get rid of them? What about clothes and bed things? Any medicine we can purchase to kill them? — Five Very Frightened Teenagers Who Can't Go to a Doctor.

Whaddya mean, "we'd be murdered"? Acquiring a crop of crab lice may not make you one of the smartest people in the world, but it doesn't mean that you have committed any sins, either.

If one of my offspring had happened to get crabs, I'd have seen to it that he got proper treatment and told him to use his own good sense to avoid any more, but it wouldn't have been any big deal, and I don't see why you should be in such a tizzy about it.

It was only a few weeks ago that I was writing on this same topic, and warning about how crab lice spread. But as usual, some folks won't pay attention to any advice until they get the trouble themselves.

Crab lice used to be found primarily among people who weren't any too clean, but the fact is anybody can get crab lice, and once you have them, soap and water won't get rid of them.

The reason: the lice lay their eggs by attaching them with a very strong glue-like substance to hair shafts (mainly in the genital region for crab lice, other regions for other kinds of lice). You can't wash off these eggs. You may get rid of the original bugs, but in a few days the eggs hatch and you have the whole thing over again.

Physicians commonly use a product called Kwell, which is obtainable only on prescription, and is highly dependable in killing both lice and the eggs. That's what I recommend.

There are drugstore preparations which you can try if you want to, but follow instructions carefully, and if you don't succeed, go to your doctor.

This epidemic of crab lice (and it seems to be a real epidemic) is attributed in large part to swapping clothes, and bugs are readily switched from person to person in so-called "communes." The bugs can (and do!) hide in seams of garments or in beds. Laundering will get rid of the lice but it only takes one wearing to deposit the bugs in a pair of pants, and one wearing (maybe) for the next wearer to get crabs.

So stop being so panic stricken. But also stop swapping clothes "and the like," whatever you mean by that. Direct body contact, obviously, can pass crabs along, but so can clothes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there anything besides heart disease that can cause chest pain? I am 14.—T.Y.

Certainly — digestive troubles, strains, muscle spasms, and a lot of things you are doubtless too young to experience, if indeed you ever do. Fear and worry — particularly about having heart trouble — can cause a lot more such pains than you might think.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

IT'S ROUGH IN RUSSIA — Winter has come with a vengeance to the Soviet Union and the Sea of Azov, normally an ice-free area, has been hit unusually hard. Ice and snow, blown by the wind and sea, covered the deck of the freighter Koroz and the craft began to list to starboard. Photo was made from the icebreaker Ivan Moskvitin which rescued the freighter after its crew, after two days of work, failed to clear the decks.

Accident Victim A Former Mayor

Glenn R. (Bob) Robinson, hospitalized here when he was injured in an automobile wreck on a farm-to-market road earlier this week, is a former mayor of Colorado City. He has severe chest injuries, multiple breaks of the right leg and head injuries.

The 52-year-old executive was returning to his Big Spring residence from his Mitchell County residence when the mishap occurred.

The accident occurred at the intersection of FM 821 and HC 14 southeast of Big Spring.

Condition was reported by members of the family today to be substantially better although serious. Mr. Robinson, who had been critically hurt, appeared to have reached a turning point shortly before midnight Thursday and had been resting as well as can be expected. His brother, Jack, and mother flew here from Miami, Okla., to be at his bedside.

DeMolays Honor New Pledges

New DeMolay pledges were honored after initiation ceremonies Tuesday night with a pizza party at the Pizza Hut, sponsored by the DeMolay Mother's Club.

The honorees were Joel Fellows, Steve Ferrell, Tim Raney, and David Duggan. In all there were 23 DeMolay members present at the party.

The four new boys started initiation Feb. 15, and received the DeMolay degree this past Tuesday. The DeMolay Club is sponsored by the local Masons, Lodge No. 1340, AF&AM.

Captain Dismissed From Local Force

Perry Chandler, captain of the local reserve police force, has been dismissed from duty with the Big Spring Police Department.

According to city officials and Vance Chisum, police chief, the man was charged for conduct unbecoming a police officer, an act contrary to the local police department's code of standards.

Says Few State Workers Receive Welfare Checks

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — The chief of the Texas Employment Commission has launched a campaign for public support for pay increases for state employees.

Harold K. Dudley said in a statement Wednesday that as of last Aug. 31, approximately 22 per cent of the 50,559 classified state employees were making $3,900 or less a year and thus were in the poverty level.

Dudley said that state salaries have been notoriously low in the past, although a blanket increase voted by the legislature last year alleviated the conditions to some extent.

But he stressed that "we still have some state employees receiving welfare checks and the present condition still calls for remedial action."

Vets By Millions Have Trained Under GI Bill

Nearly three million veterans and servicemen trained under the GI Bill since the bill went into effect in June 1966, a publication reveals.

The January issue of the information bulletin summarizes VA educational activities from Fiscal Year 1967 through November 1971.

Jack Coker, director of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said the bulletin indicates 1,044,460 Texas veterans have trained in the agency's programs out of a total of 270,000 eligible veterans in the state.

Coker noted that nearly 1.2 million veterans were enrolled in VA educational programs around the country last November. Of that number, 67,955 took their training in Texas.

Other highlights of the information bulletin:

The 1.2 million veterans in training last November were a 21 per cent increase over the year before.

There were nearly 1.6 million GI Bill trainees last fiscal year, 31 per cent more than the 1.2 million a year earlier.

An estimated two million persons are expected to participate in VA's educational programs this fiscal year.

Last November, 737,000 veterans were studying in college under the GI Bill — 25 per cent more than the 590,000 in November 1970.

GI Bill trainees at all levels jumped 240 per cent between fiscal years of 1967 and 1971, from 468,000 to 1.6 million.

During the same period, vocational rehabilitation trainees (disabled veterans) increased 144 per cent, from 12,500 to 30,500.

Also during the same period, enrollments in dependents educational assistance programs rose 61 per cent, from 37,200 to nearly 60,000.

To qualify for this benefit, a recipient must be the wife, widow or child of a veteran who died from service-connected causes, or suffered service-connected permanent, total disabilities.

Wives and widows are also eligible while their servicemen husbands are missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

Tarzan Baptists Slate Meetings

The Rev. Ronnie K. Bostick, pastor of Prairie View Baptist Church, will be the evangelist for a series of meetings starting Sunday at the Tarzan Baptist Church.

Danny Shirley, director of music for the East Fourth Baptist Church, will direct the music program for the week.

Bostick and his wife, Sally, are awaiting appointment as Southern Baptist missionaries to Africa, probably some time this year. He has pastored several area churches, including Prairie View and Airport before he entered Southwestern Theological Seminary.

Shirley recently began his ministry with East Fourth Baptist as director of music and youth. He held a similar appointment at East Dallas Baptist prior to coming here Jan. 3. He has been directing revival music since he was 14.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily Sunday services will be at 11 and 7 p.m. The initial service will be Sunday evening.

Tax Suits Filed Against Hotel

COLORADO CITY — Problems for the new owners of the Baker Hotel property here continue to mount.

A suit to recover seven years of delinquent property taxes has been filed in 32nd District Court by the Colorado Independent School District, the city of Colorado City and Mitchell County.

Present owner of the property is Everman Success Inc., a Fort Worth based firm.

The total delinquent tax bill against the property amounts to about $26,000, an attorney for the taxing agencies revealed.

Renovation work is currently in progress at the hotel. The new owners previously had announced plans to re-open the facility for permanent-type guests.

College Baptists Youth In Charge

The College Baptist youth will conduct the evening worship service at the church this Sunday. The service will begin at 7 p.m. Russ Rainey will direct the congregational singing, while Bill Truett will direct the special music by a choir composed solely of young people. Steve Rich will serve as head usher, and the sermon will be delivered by Jackie Richards. The public is invited to participate in this worship experience.

Diogenes Need Look No More

Cooperation between the Big Spring Police Department and the Howard County Sheriff's Office employs Thursday resulted in invaluable aid to a family who was passing through the city.

Frank Marino, 7-12 Store, reported Thursday that a family going through town, had lost a money purse in the vicinity of his store, containing $1,500 in $20 and $50 bills.

Officer Larry Lee and Deputy Eddie Owens recovered the lost purse and money and a message was sent to the Colorado City police department to stop the family on its way through the city.

The family was notified and came back to Big Spring to claim the valuables.

Mrs. Neff Files For Board Spot

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Tom (Jodie) Neff, 34, a mother of five children, has filed for one of two positions on the Colorado Independent School board of trustees.

S. L. (Mac) Morris and Tom Rees had previously been certified as candidates for the posts.

Rees is the only incumbent seeking re-election. Mrs. Kenneth (Eleanor) Cowan had previously announced she would not seek the post again.

Morris is a partner in an implement firm here. Filing deadline is March 1. The election is scheduled April 1.

Items Recovered In House Heist

Two juvenile burglars were apprehended Thursday by Keith Jones, county juvenile officer.

The two youths reportedly had been involved in a house burglary at 1700 Purdue. The house belongs to George B. McAllen, who is presently on vacation.

Officer Jones reported Thursday that the juveniles are in custody pending disposition of their cases, and all the items stolen from the house had been recovered.

Senate Votes To Allow Fed Spending For Busing If . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the support of its liberal members, the Senate has voted to allow federal spending for busing only at the request of local school officials.

The provision was part of a compromise amendment approved Thursday as a preface to debate on several tough proposals to outlaw busing.

A vote was expected today on an amendment by Republican Whip Robert F. Griffin that would strip federal courts of power to order busing as a means of achieving integration.

Southern senators are ready with other artibusing riders if the Griffin amendment is defeated.

The compromise proposal offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott was adopted on separate votes on its three parts—51 to 37, 50 to 38 and 79 to 9.

The outcome was a setback for senators who opposed all busing. They denounced it as meaningless and a hoax, and said it would not stop any of the busing now being ordered by federal courts.

The compromise was supported by a combination of liberals and moderates, many of whom said they hoped it would allay much of the concern about busing and stave off much stronger amendments.

These are the main restrictions in the Mansfield-Scott proposal:

—Federal funds could not be used for busing to carry out a racial desegregation plan except on the written request of local school officials. Courts and federal officials would be barred from ordering local officials to make such requests.

—Federal funds could not be used for busing "when the time or distance of travel is so great as to risk the health of the children or significantly impinge on the educational process."

This language was lifted from the decision last year in a Charlotte, N.C., case in which the Supreme Court permitted busing to continue.

—Federal officials would be barred from inducing local school officials to use state or local funds for a school busing desegregation program unless constitutionally required. The latter phrase would let the courts continue to decide what is required.

Hunting Suspect In Six Murders

DALLAS (AP) — Cities on the West Coast have been alerted by the Dallas County sheriff's department to be on the lookout for a murder suspect who may hit their areas in the near future.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal told of the development in its Friday editions.

Dallas authorities say the suspect may be connected with the murders of five women and one man in Salt Lake City, Utah; Lakewood, Colo., and Lubbock and Mesquite, Tex.

The alert was in a confidential bulletin sent Thursday by Dallas Sheriff Clarence Jones to cities in California, Oregon, Utah and Texas.

This bulletin was the result of three days of efforts by police officers from Texas, Colorado and Utah, who gathered in Dallas to pool their information about a series of murders since last August which had striking similarities.

For one thing, all victims were shot with .32 caliber weapons, apparently German-made.

Also, most of the killings were carried out in drive-in grocery stores between 8 and 10 p.m.

The bulletin warned cities of 50,000 and more on the West Coast to expect "the same type of offense within a time period of 10 to 30 days following Feb. 19, 1972.

The killings occurred Aug. 12 in Salt Lake City, Aug. 20 in Lakewood, Sept. 28 in Lubbock, two in Mesquite on Oct. 17 and one more in Mesquite on Oct. 19, 1972.

The bulletins indicated in that information pooled by the peace officers indicates that the murders are the work of one person.

The bulletin indicated that the suspect may be traveling in any direction from Portland, Ore.

Big Milk Co-Op Reveals Cutbacks

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — With a former assistant U.S. secretary of agriculture now in charge, one of the nation's largest dairy cooperatives is in the midst of personnel switches and cutbacks in expenses.

A top official of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) said the changes are being made in the interest of sound business practices.

In another development, it was disclosed that a reorganization is under way for AMPI's political arm, which has been singled out in recent months for its contributions to national office holders.

Signs of changes in AMPI's home office here began with the announcement last month that Dr. George L. Mehren had been named general manager of the cooperative.

It was disclosed Thursday that AMPI has replaced one of its regional managers, has transferred a Chicago executive to its home office and has introduced economy moves.

Mehren, an economist who served in the 1960s as an assistant secretary of agriculture, joined MPI about a year ago.

He now has succeeded Harold S. Nelson of San Antonio, who in 1969 began shaping AMPI into a 43,000-member dairy farmer cooperative with members in 22 midwestern states.

Officials said Nelson resigned as general manager to devote more time to his law practice but remains with AMPI as an attorney.

Stirring interest in some circles recently has been the Trust for Agricultural Political Education (TAPE), a political arm similar to the AFL-CIO's COPE.

AMPI and TAPE are separate organizations, although members of AMPI support TAPE through voluntary contributions, spokesmen noted.

Records in Washington show TAPE has contributed thousands of dollars to political figures in both parties since it was formed in 1969.

And tape was mentioned in a suit filed recently by consumer advocate Ralph Nader against Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and the Commodity Credit Corp.

Nader's suit said TAPE gave $10,000 to four Republican Committees as various dairymen lobbied for a hike last year in the government's support price of milk.

A. L. McWilliams, newly appointed associate general manager of AMPI, said in an interview Thursday that TAPE is "being reorganized to some extent." He did not elaborate.

McWilliams said AMPI's cutbacks in expenses include a halt to the practice of furnishing cars to staff members, affecting 35 to 40 vehicles throughout the organization. AMPI also is disposing of two airplanes that it owned and another that was leased, he said.

He termed these and other moves "good business practice" and said AMPI is not in any financial trouble.

MOD Benefits From Armory Vehicle Show

Hotrods, antique cars, special display cars and motorcycles will be on display Saturday and Sunday at a Rod and Custom car show to be held at the National Guard Armory building from 1 to 10 p.m. each day.

The public will be asked to vote for their choice in each of four categories — custom, antique, streetrods and motorcycles.

The five winners will operate concessions each day, providing cold drinks, coffee and cotton candy.

The Alpha Chi Chapter will handle ticket sales Sunday. Tickets, available at the door, are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. All proceeds go to the March of Dimes.

The offer to help the March of Dimes committee came from vintage car enthusiasts.

Something in excess of $6,000 has now been raised by the MOD committee, an estimated $5,000 of the total realized in last year's campaign.

Music Company Owner Slain

IDABEL, Okla. (AP) — A. E. "Buddy" Clem of Paris, Tex., was dead on arrival Thursday at McCurtain Memorial Hospital after being shot.

The McCurtain County sheriff's department was investigating the shooting.

Clem was owner of an Idabel music company.

CAMPAIGN GOES ON Trestle Burning Stops Barnes' Special Train

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes completed a whistle-stop tour of Texas, from Amarillo to Houston, convinced that Texas voters are more interested in politics this year than any recent election.

Even a burning railroad bridge on the outskirts of Houston failed Thursday to stop him from finishing what his staff claimed was the most successful campaign tour by any Texas political candidate since television appeared.

"A very, very successful trip," Barnes said of his 758-mile journey in a silver colored special train.

His staff members claimed he talked to more than 17,000 on the three-day train trip.

At his final rally, Barnes brought up, for the first time on the trip, the stock fraud scandal and any connection with Gov. Preston Smith, another Democratic candidate for governor.

ACCIDENT?

Actually the Democratic candidate for governor traveled the last 15 miles by helicopter when the train was halted by a burning railroad bridge on the south outskirts of Houston. Officers blamed the blaze on small boys smoking under the bridge and setting the grass afire. Later the blaze was put out and the train came on into Houston.

"I think it was an accident but just in case any of my opponents think that by burning a bridge they can stop me, they have another think coming," Barnes said jokingly at the final Houston rally.

"This trip has convinced me that the people of Texas are more interested this year in politics—and earlier than ever before," Barnes told newsmen. He said he knew a lot of people appeared at the 27 whistle-stop appearances to see a special train and a lot of them came to see the five professional football stars who accompanied him "but I think most of them came because they are more interested in politics this year."

"I did not expect to see one-half or even one-third as many people as we have seen," said the obviously enthused candidate.

At only one point of the trip was there opposition to Barnes. At Alvin, between Galveston and Houston, about a dozen persons appeared Thursday carrying signs that read: "This is Briscoe Country." Local officials said relatives of Dolph Briscoe have lived there for years and Alvin is the headquarters of Briscoe Irrigation Co.

CONFUSION

"You're going to see more and more of the Sharpstown State Bank thing in the campaign," he said. "There is confusion in voters' minds and I'm going to stress that it was Preston Smith that knew Frank Sharp and bought insurance company stock, not Ben Barnes." They can't tie me to Frank Sharp because the truth is that I don't know Frank Sharp and never bought any of his stock. It was Preston Smith."

Destitute Family In Need Of Help

A family in grave financial straits has been offered use of an apartment here but needs furniture before it can make the move.

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, who drew attention to the family's plight, said that the father and husband of the family is hospitalized and his wife is expecting a baby. The apartment offered the family has a stove and a refrigerator but nothing else in the way of household goods.

Mrs. Phillips, whose telephone number is 3-7191, said that those prepared to help the family need only call her for pickup and delivery of the items.

COMPARE! DODGE PICK-UP VS CHEVY!

72 DODGE 115" - 131" WHEELBASE	72 CHEVY 115" - 127" WHEELBASE
Dodge has the strength and durability of more double-wall construction.	While Dodge hood is double-walled, Chevrolet hood is single-walled.
Standard on Sweptline is easy-off tailgate that is quickly removed for camper adaption.	Tools are required to remove the Chevrolet tailgate.
Dodge Sweptline offers over two cubic feet more cargo space than Chevy Fleetside.	Width between wheel housings is 1" greater in Dodge Sweptline, accommodating wider cargo.
All mounting bolts on Dodge pickups are out of sight, located under pickup floor.	Chevrolet has exposed mounting bolts on floor as well as wheel housings.
Replacing fuses on Dodge is as simple as ABC — just open glove box cover.	Chevy fuse box is under instrument panel between brake mechanism and steering column.
Dodge is quieter with heater blower motor located inside the engine compartment.	Chevrolet's heater blower motor is inside the cab under the dash.

Dodge Pickup for '72!
All-new with brand-new front suspension, wider front and rear track, longer wheelbase and the roomiest cab around. All this plus the same tough construction you expect from Dodge — like double-walled cargo box!
