MUSKIE DOESN'T WANT FLOOR FIGHT

McGovern Nixes Closed Meeting

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Edmund S. Muskie today set himself up as a peacemaker hours before the start of the Democratic National Convention, but front-runner George S. McGovern spurned the olive branch of conciliation. Once the front-runner himself, Muskie called for a parley of all eight declared candidates for the presidential nomination to iron out a dispute over challenged California delegates that could keep the opening session meeting until near dawn. NOTHING TO GAIN But McGovern, his hopes for a first-ballot nomination already buoyed by two favorable parliamentary rulings and signs of support from uncommitted delegates, said the Maine senator's offer showed traces of a stop-McGovern movement and he would have no part of it. "I really see nothing to be gained at a closed meeting of this kind," McGovern told a news conference an hour after Muskie voiced his proposal on national television and party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien set the hour at 1 p.m. McGovern aides said Muskie apparently wants to reach some compromise on the California squabble but they wouldn't play ball with him because they feel McGovern is entitled to all 151 disputed delegates. Besides, they said, implicit in any compromise would be a loss of some of these votes. In the labor ranks, there was evidence of a mounting drive to head off McGovern. AFL-CIO officials were circulating privately a harshly worded attack on McGovern's record on labor, the Vietnam war, communism, civil rights and a laundry-list of other issues. Moreover, one could detect in Muskie's call for a parley of nomination-seekers a ploy to pull McGovern back to the pack and away from his front-running spot. At a midmorning news conference at which no questions were answered, the Maine senator said the credentials squabble was "leading toward a growing polarization of the Democratic party." HORRENDOUS He said the McGovern and

Humphrey camps are in a virtual war and "the toll in political dead and injured could be horrendous." From the headquarters of a fourth candidate, George C. Wallace, came a call for party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien to resign or ask for a vote of confidence from the convention's delegates. Charles S. Snider, the crippled Alabama governor's campaign manager, said his action was prompted by O'Brien's rulings Sunday on California's credentials challenge. O'Brien, who will preside over the convention, held it would take a majority of those eligible to vote to adopt credentials reports and that the uncommitted members of challenged delegations may vote on the challenges.

By LINDA CROSS
A resolution was enacted today by the Howard County Commissioners to enable Keith Jones, county juvenile probation officer, to apply to the Criminal Justice Council for funds to increase the operations of his department. Through the resolution, commissioners committed the county to a three-phase support program concerning the juvenile office should the Council grant the funds. According to the terms of the resolution required by the Council, in the first year of the grant which would be for $24,720, the county would pay 25 per cent of the operations cost of the juvenile office in the second year, the county would pay 50 per cent of the total cost, and would take over total financial support at the end of the three years. SHARED COST The county enacted the resolution subject to the approval of the City Commission and the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School Board. Cost of the juvenile office is shared between the three agencies with the county and city paying 40 per cent each of the total cost, and the school district contributes 20 per cent of the total cost. Jones told the commissioners that the three-agency support of his office is outlined in the application, and that the other two agencies are aware of the financial commitments involved in obtaining the grant. NEW STAFF Jones plans to use the funds if granted by the Criminal Justice Council to employ a female assistant juvenile probation officer to work with female juveniles and a full-time secretary rather than a part-time secretary for his department. Jones said that currently either the women police dispatchers or the women deputy sheriffs are called upon to assist him whenever he must deal with female juveniles. Jones' secretary is also secretary to Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer. NEW REQUIREMENTS Bruce Griffith, county agricultural extension agent, met with the commissioners today to tell them that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare now requires him to increase participation of minority groups in 4-H and County Home Demonstration Club Activities. Griffith said that there would be little change in the basic programs carried out by his office, but some programs would be devised in an effort to increase minority-group participation. Mrs. Jan Nichols was hired as secretary in the extension office July 5, according to Griffith, and commissioners approved her starting salary of $310 per month to be increased to $360 per month after a six-month probationary period. A part-time employee hired to serve as secretary to the agricultural and assistant agricultural agents and the home demonstration agent until the hiring of a full-time employee was approved for payment at the rate of $310 per month for the time she worked. TO BUILD DAM Construction of an earthen dam and retention tank was approved to begin this fall to prevent run-off waters from rains from flooding Moore Road, a county road north of the Big Spring State Hospital. Ten acres of land on the Jack Hatch property are to be deeded to the county for the construction of the tank, according to Commissioner Simon Terrazas. Terrazas was instructed to determine if all property owners affected by construction of the tank were in favor of its construction before the county proceeded. FLOODED ROAD According to Terrazas, Moore Road was constructed through a dry "lake" with the result that the road is under water for long periods of time following each rain. Marvin Hanson, acting road and bridge administrator, said that employees in his department could construct the dam and tank in three weeks using one bulldozer. Commissioners purchased a $429.93 six-horsepower riding lawnmower today from Taylor Implement Co. (John Deere). In (See JONES, Pg. 2-A, Col. 4)

Regan Arrives To Take Job
The city's IBM System 3 computer has a new friend and leader today as Floyd Regan takes his position in city hall as manager of the computer department. Regan has 1½ years of experience with computers similar to the one used here. He came here from Sulphur Springs where he was manager of the computer department for the city. A veteran of the Navy, Regan, 28, is single, interested in astrology and mathematics applications. His first job here will be to plan a curriculum for the computer which will eventually employ the mechanical brain to its full capacity. While in the Navy, Regan worked as a French linguist and spent a term in what he calls "a weird place," the National Security Agency. When asked how he liked Big Spring, he indicated in the affirmative. Although he can't say exactly why, he said "the city somehow reminded him of Monterey, Calif., except, of course, that there's no ocean here.

Death Trial At Belton Postponed
BELTON, Tex. (AP) — Judge James K. Evetts postponed today until Sept. 11 the murder trial of two men charged with murdering an antique dealer and her tiny granddaughter. Fred Foy Young Jr., 22, of Houston and Dennis Ray Anderson, 27, of Pearland, are charged with the murder of Mrs. Mabel McCormick, 53, and her granddaughter, Leslie Bowman, 3, in Kountze, Tex., Jan. 5. The two were to be tried in Bell County's 27th district court only in the slaying of the woman. The trial in the slaying of the child was scheduled for Tyler.

Line Saves Skydiver
ELSINORE, Calif. (AP) — A power line saved a skydiver's life when both his main and reserve parachutes failed to function properly, say Riverside sheriff's deputies. Gregory Jones, 30, of Indio, said the cords from his reserve parachute, which opened late and only partially bloomed, wound around a 30,000-volt power line near here Saturday. It shorted the wire but saved his life. He hung for nearly 30 minutes before being rescued.

COUGHS UP BULLET AFTER 38 YEARS
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A 58-year-old Atlanta man has coughed up a bullet after being shot 38 years ago. Clifford L. Wood said he was shot in DeKalb County when a woman opened fire on the door of a cafe as he was leaving. Wood said he was taking a bath Sunday morning when he started coughing and couldn't stop. I must have coughed until I turned black. I thought I was done for. I couldn't get my breath. He was examined at a hospital and a doctor said Wood seemed to be all right and had not suffered any lung damage. Dr. Dan Cantwell said the bullet had worked its way into Wood's breathing passages and subsequently had been coughed up.

ASSAULTS BOY FRIEND WITH WATERMELON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police were seeking a 25-year-old woman they say assaulted her boy friend with a watermelon. Officers say Ofena Jones dropped the 51-pound melon from a second story window on O. C. Henry, 29, Sunday after an argument. Henry suffered a broken right shoulder, two broken ribs and a punctured lung and was admitted at Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital. Police said the watermelon was intact and had been taken as evidence.

Lucchesi Fired
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank Lucchesi was fired today as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, the team with the worst record in the majors, and was replaced by General Manager Paul Owens. Lucchesi, 45, was in his third year as manager of the Phillies, his first major league team. Owens, 48, will remain as general manager and would be field manager for the remainder of the season in order to evaluate every player on the club.

Democrats Battle Over Credentials
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Democrats wade into a logjam of credentials scraps tonight at their national convention amid indications compromises may be made through roadblocks in smaller states but not in the red-hot California battle. The unprecedented consideration of 23 challenges to delegates in 15 states marks the final stage of a reform struggle within the party that requires participation of more women, youths and minorities. It appears the bogging volume of credentials fights — which some said would last more than a full day if settled on the floor — might be reduced by compromises in advance of the convention's opening bell. TAKE IT ALL But the night's biggest confrontation is expected on the challenge to California's winner-take-all primary rules where both Sens. George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey said they are not in a compromising mood. McGovern won the 271 California delegates in the primary but the Credentials Committee later decided they should be allocated on the basis of popular votes, paring the South Dakota senator's total to 120. The other 151 are split among the other Democratic presidential contenders — most of them going to Humphrey, who is leading the fight to uphold the Credentials Committee decision. Many party leaders say a bitter floor fight over California might splinter the party and hand President Nixon another four years in office. McGovern backers got a big boost Sunday when convention Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien ruled that 1,433 votes would be enough to settle the issue. That excludes the 151 California delegates being challenged and reduces the convention majority on the vote from 1,509.

THREATS However, if O'Brien's decision is challenged and the convention votes on whether to approve his interpretation, every delegate — including the 151 Californians in dispute — could vote. McGovern backers are not as certain about a majority of this bloc.

TO BEAT OF DIFFERENT DRUMMERS

Saints And Sinners Marching In

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The carpet is down, the bunting is up, and Larry O'Brien's gavel is about to bring the Democratic saints and sinners marching in again. To the beat, it would seem, of a lot of different drummers. Delegates in dungarees and Dashikis. From Southern mansions and Washington, D.C., welfare homes. With buttons that say "Let George Do It" and mean McGovern in one case and Wallace in another. Indeed, the sight to be beheld by the television millions starting tonight is said to be the most different—if not decorous—parley of the Party of the People since its first quadrennial call by political revolutionaries in 1832. Since when, for example, has it been so difficult to tell so many of the delegates from so many of the demonstrators? Who recalls the last time blacks were proportionately overrepresented? Or when the spouses who were left at home or consigned to the hotel with the kiddies were, in large numbers, men? Or who could have foreseen that old pro Hubert Humphrey would pin his hopes to an argument founded on party reforms, as is the case tonight when the convention takes up the issue of George McGovern's claim to 271 delegates from California? Still, there is much of the same old song in this experience, even though 90 per cent of the delegates are convention freshmen and can't sing "Happy Days are Here Again" without a cue card. The giant hall stands bathed, like most things here that don't move and some that do, in carnal-like splashes of red, white and blue. Elaborate portraits of party mentionables peer down on the delegates, as if no man dare commit an act of heresy beneath the brooding presence of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson or John F. Kennedy. Lyndon B. Johnson's likeness was stolen or misplaced, but they got another and hung it in the rear.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Edmund S. Muskie today set himself up as a peacemaker hours before the start of the Democratic National Convention, but front-runner George S. McGovern spurned the olive branch of conciliation. Once the front-runner himself, Muskie called for a parley of all eight declared candidates for the presidential nomination to iron out a dispute over challenged California delegates that could keep the opening session meeting until near dawn. 'BUSTED' CHAIRMAN LARRY TEAVER CLAIMS:

Two Board Members 'Owned' By Insurance Industry

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Larry Teaver, "busted" Friday as State Insurance Board chairman, said today that he cleaned out his office that the other two board members are "owned" by the insurance industry.

He said he has a high regard for the staff of the insurance department, "but I have absolutely no respect at all for the board here. As far as I am concerned, they can't call their soul their own."

International Insurance Seminar. "There isn't anybody who has been more of a consumer advocate than we have been. I'm talking about a public advocate. This can be seen by comparing our rates with those of other states."

much should be allowed for inflation when the board sets rates for insurance on homes and cars. Studies are being made of actual inflation trends on the cost of repairing houses and other buildings in Texas—as opposed to the overall national consumer price index now being used in deciding how much to allow in rates for price increases.

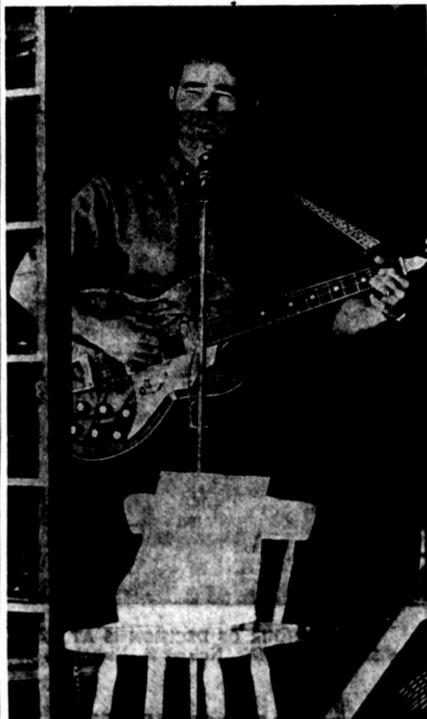

fraudulent insurance advertisements and "gimmick" life insurance policies. GIMMICK Teaver predicted that even without his voice on the board, it would cut car insurance rates this summer, "but it won't be half the decrease we could have expected by revising the whole rating process."

consumer advocate." Teaver said his personal choice to replace him was Secretary of State Bob Bullock, who was confirmed in his job only last week. Bullock will leave office in January along with Smith.

"We can't beat the system. We simply didn't realize the depth of it—the fantastic influence they bring to bear, Teaver said. "The companies simply have too much money. When you talk about $4 billion in premiums, which is what they get in Texas, that is hard to fight."

Ranch Given Top Rating

The Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch has received an outstanding national standard camp rating by a national Boy Scout Council inspection team conducted the annual inspection of summer camp operation at the Ranch on June 29.

Jack Maddox, Hobbs, N.M., headed the inspection team. Maddox is a member of the central Scout regional committee. Assisting him were John Clardy, Lubbock, area director for the national Boy Scout Council, and Eugene Vaughan, Scout executive from Rowell, N.M.

HOPING TO WIN UNDERSTANDING Race With Solar Eclipse

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A team of solar astronomers hopes to make an airborne observation eight miles above Northern Canada of the sun's corona during the solar eclipse today.

A converted Air Force cargo jet stuffed with elaborate scientific gear monitored by two dozen scientists from the Los Alamos, N.M., Scientific Laboratory was to take off from Fairchild Air Force Base here.

At 3:42:56 EDT at a point northwest of Hudson Bay and 1,600 miles from the North Pole, the scientists hoped to train telescopes, cameras and radiation measuring devices on the eclipse. An eclipse occurs when the moon glides between the earth and sun, blotting out the sun.

The scientists' primary target is the solar corona, the gases that stream millions of miles out into space and normally aren't visible because the brighter light from the sun's body blots them out. But when the moon obscures the solar disc the corona becomes visible, the source of many scientists' attention.

COLORADO CITY — Elmer Martin, who has been named the Democratic nominee for state representative from District 61, said during the weekend that he has no commitments on the House speakership race.

SWEET NOTES FOR SWEET CHARITY — Dr. Gale Kilgore strapped on his guitar and sang a few western numbers in front of the City Pawn Shop in downtown Big Spring recently. Grateful listeners, taking note that a Leukemia Society of America collection bag had been placed in the chair in front of Kilgore, donated around $39 for the charity.

Experiments aboard the aircraft were to measure the corona's magnetic field, its temperature, and other characteristics that still aren't well understood despite 140 years of research.

Says Rep. Collins Ordered Kickbacks To Pay Bonuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense charged today that it was Texas Rep. Jim Collins—who ordered kickbacks from employees and then told them to lie to investigators.

former top Collins aide, George A. Haag, 33, on trial for taking the kickbacks from fellow employees' federal paychecks. Haag contends that Collins, millionaire Dallas Republican, now is trying to make him take the rap alone.

Collins knew nothing of a monthly kickback of about $76 she took from a Dallas employe and held for Haag to pick up. "And he said if we weren't careful we would all wind up behind bars," she testified.

IRA Cancels Cease - Fire

BELFAST (AP) — The Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing broke off its cease-fire Sunday night after 13 days and renewed its guerrilla campaign. At least six persons were killed, and Northern Ireland teetered on the brink of civil war.

The Provisionals charge that British troops junked the cease-fire by attacking Roman Catholics in Belfast's Lenadon district. William Whitelaw, the British administrator for Northern Ireland, charged that the IRA "set up" the incident "to provide justification for resumption of terrorist activity." He said the troops were fired on first. Witnesses backed the claim.

Sean MacStiofain, chief of staff of the Provisionals, ordered his gunmen back to their bullet-and-bomb campaign with "utmost ferocity" to oust the British army.

BATTLES RAGE

Within 15 minutes, firing broke out all over Belfast. Gun battles raged in the Catholic Ballymurphy, Ardoyne and Andersonstown sectors and the Protestant Springmartin area.

Carloads of gunmen made hit-and-run attacks on army posts and ambushed patrols, wounding at least four soldiers. Six civilians, including a Catholic priest giving the last rites to another victim, were killed around the Ballymurphy zone of Belfast. The dead also included a 13-year-old girl.

The British army claimed one gunman was killed and seven others wounded. But the IRA as usual spirited all their casualties away.

TRUCE SHATTERED

The truce was shattered when a column of 2,000 Catholics marched on the Lenadon housing project in Belfast to force resettlement there of 16 Catholic families bombed out of their homes in a Protestant area.

Squads of the militant Ulster Defense Association and other Protestants blocked the marchers and two trucks loaded with the furniture of the displaced families. When troops moved in, the Catholics rained rocks, bottles, iron bars and gasoline bombs on them. Nine soldiers and half a dozen civilians were injured.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mae Beth Cormany, competing for the third time, was named Miss Texas 1972 late Saturday night representing Hurst-Eules-Bedford, a group of Fort Worth suburbs.

The brunette stunner, who measures 36-23-36, told reporters she wants to be "like Doris Day—a vivacious, All-American young woman."

The difference between being Miss Texas and first runner-up, she said, is like the difference between "walking down the runway and falling into the orchestra pit." She was first runner-up in 1971 when she competed as Miss Fort Worth.

Miss Cormany is a senior speech major at Texas Christian University. She also has taken home economics.

Runners-up in this year's pageant were:

First, Amy Griggs, Miss Fort Worth.

Second, Linda McCaskill, Miss Dallas.

Third, Jackie Barrett, Miss Haltom-Richland.

Fourth, Candy Crocker, Miss White Settlement.

With her crown and trophy, the 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cormany of Wichita Falls won a $3,000 wardrobe, a $500 fashion award and the trip to Atlantic City where she will compete in the Miss America pageant.

AUTO MISHAPS CLAIM 19 Half Dozen Shootings

Auto accidents claimed 19 lives in Texas and the toll from all forms of violence in the state went to 28 during the weekend.

The fatalities also included half a dozen shootings and three drownings in the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

These were among the victims:

Berlinds Comache, 18, of San Antonio and her infant son Henry were killed Sunday night when a car overturned in western Bexar County. State police said the car went out of control after hitting loose gravel.

An argument ended in the fatal shooting Sunday night of George Perales, 65, in a tavern at Flotina, in Fayette County, sheriff's officers reported. They took a man into custody.

Keith E. Wilborn, 15, of Port Lavaca was killed Sunday evening as a small foreign car ran off Farm road 774 about 15 miles east of Refugio, plunged through a fence and overturned in a field. Three companions suffered injuries which were not believed to be serious.

A tow truck hit and killed Felix Malpe, 5, of Port Isabel while he was playing on the bench Saturday evening on South Padre Island. Officers said he apparently failed to see the truck as he ran to rejoin relatives.

Wilma Bass Brown, 50, of Tezakana, Tex., was killed Sunday night as the family car ran off a U.S. 67 curve and overturned near Bassett, in Bowie County. Her husband Robert, 54, was injured.

Anna Gordon, 48, of Splendora was killed Sunday when two cars collided just south of her home town in Montgomery County town. Officers said Mrs. Gordon was a passenger in one of the automobiles.

Donald Meshell, 21, of Porter was killed Saturday when his motorcycle hit the rear of a pickup truck. A 16-year-old girl riding with Meshell is injured. The accident occurred at the intersection of Farm Road 1485 and U.S. 59 near Houston.

Jim Black, 18, of Wimborsbo was shot to death in a Longview apartment Saturday. Officers said the shooting appeared accidental.

Paul Kemper, 25, a seaman from Utrecht, Holland, was shot to death early Sunday in Houston as he pounded the front door of a closed bar. Police filed no charges against the woman who they said blasted him with a shotgun.

James R. McMillin, 37, of Hugo, Okla., was killed early Sunday when the car in which he was a passenger overturned in Paris. Police said the driver suffered minor injuries.

Ronald D. Steele, 42, of Dallas was dead on arrival at a hospital Sunday after a motorcycle-auto accident on a city street.

Gannard Golightly was shot and killed with a British-made rifle early Sunday in Dallas' Oak Cliff section. Police arrested a suspect.

William H. Harris, 49, of San Antonio was killed Saturday when his car went out of control on an Alamo City street and crashed.

Guidebook For Grab Bag

A $65 book appears headed for best-seller status. Reason: it tells how to compete for $40 billion of Uncle Sam's money earmarked for grants as of July 1, the fiscal new year in Washington.

The book is a 1,275 guide to federal aid to cities. It was written by Howard S. Rowland, a high school English teacher who was rebuffed by the U.S. Office of Education. Rowland wanted to research a problem: why so many people buy books they don't read.

The Office of Education turned him down because he wasn't a researcher on the college level.

He determined to research another problem: why federal grants aren't "fairly distributed." He wrote a 600-page book on "Federal Aid to Schools" which sold 10,000 copies and went into a second printing.

His new study is important to city officials all over the country. It may be even more important to American taxpayers. Rowland has located and listed the places where money is available from federal sources. There are 656 "major" urban-aid programs administered by 64 federal agencies, he found.

His study, based on news reports of it, appears to be encouraging, assuming the help is wisely used. Towland notes the historical trends of cities:

"All through history, individual cities have been destroyed by conquest, disease, natural calamity or changing patterns in agriculture, commerce and technology. But what we are witnessing in the United States is a new phenomenon — a voluntary and massive abandonment of cities."

His book is essentially a case study in preventing that abandonment.

Helpfully, he has found that claimed "innotion" is not enough. Successful grantsmanship must "correct a problem, introduce a desirable new element or lead to improved conditions in the service or field."

With $40 billion in the grab-bag and grantsmanship maturing faster than corn in August, the book will command attention. More importantly, the taxpayers must pay attention to see that proposals do handle a legitimate problem the way they want it handled.

The possibilities for boondoggle with $40 billion are dazzling.

Give ITT A For Brass

International Telephone and Telegraph, whatever its shortcomings, does not lack for audacity and arrogance.

According to a letter and a memorandum obtained by the New York Times, ITT submitted a plan to the White House for the overthrow of President Salvador Allende Gossens, the Marxist leader of Chile.

The proposal, made last October, suggested that the United States wage economic warfare on Chile, use the CIA, subvert the Chilean armed forces, involve foreign governments in pressuring Allende and commit diplomatic sabotage.

To its credit, the Nixon administration did not act upon the ITT plan. It did move later to curtail U.S. credit for countries which expropriate American private investments.

ITT was stirred by the Chilean expropriation of its telephone holdings. It had a right to be upset and to ask for U.S. government help. But it went beyond the bounds when it drew up a plan to overthrow an elected government. It is disconcerting to know that ITT had access to the White House for its proposals.

Poetic Doom

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

Today in capital cases, where individuals accused of the vilest of crimes are made to answer for their indiscretions, the rights of the defendants are guaranteed.

THE BENCH itself might be convinced that the accused has forfeited all rights to co-exist with other members of society but chances are the jurist leans over backward to treat the defendant with human dignity.

It is true that some miscreants are still railroaded into Stoney Lonesome without having benefitted from proper legal representation and a fair trial but the courts never lose their appetites for propriety, mainly because the so-called champions of jurisprudence were taught such inflexible demeanor while still in law school.

IT MAY ALSO be true that the prosecution may have used a wire tap and the avenging testimony of a Lady of the Evening to nail down its case against some luckless individual but, at the same time, the champions of Law and Order never stoop to avail themselves of the language of the gutter or the poet in imposing sentence upon the defendant.

All too often, the rights of an individual are trampled upon before getting him into court. But, once he arrives there, the dialogue used to see that he gets his just desserts is invariably stilted and masked in legal jargon.

IT HAS NOT EVER been thus. Less than a hundred years ago, a jurist himself would sometimes betray human emotions to rail at a defendant, especially as judgment was being passed upon some practitioner of the black arts.

As an example, I cite a verbatim transcript of a sentence imposed upon a defendant convicted of "murder one." The trial took place in a Federal District Court of the Territory of New Mexico in 1881 and was heard by a United States Judge, sitting at Taos in an adobe stable used as a temporary courtroom.

READING FROM the bench, the judge directed his remarks to the defendant, saying:

"Jose Manuel Miguel Xavier Gonzales, in a few short weeks, it will be Spring. The snows of Winter will flee away, the ice will vanish, and the air will become soft and balmy. In short, Jose Manuel Miguel Xavier Gonzales, the annual miracle of the years will awaken and come to pass, but you won't be there.

"THE RIVULET . . . will run its soaring course to the sea, the timid desert flowers will put forth their tender shoots, the glorious valleys of this imperial domain will blossom as a rose. Still, you won't be here to see.

"From every treetop some wild-woods songster will carol his mating song, butterflies will sort in the sunshine, the busy bee will hum happy as it pursues its accustomed vocation, the gentle breeze will tease the tassels of the wild grasses, and all nature, Jose Manuel Miguel Xavier Gonzales, will be glad, but you. You won't be here to enjoy it because I command the sheriff or some other officers of the country to lead you out to some remote spot, swing you by the neck from a nooting bough of some sturdy oak, and let you hang until you are dead.

"AND THEN, Jose Manuel Miguel Xavier Gonzales, I further command that such officer or officers retire quickly from your dangling corpse, that vultures may descend from the heavens upon your filthy body until nothing shall remain there but bare, bleached bones of a cold-blooded, copper-colored, blood-thirsty, throat-cutting, chili-eating, sheep-herding, murdering son-of-a-bitch."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I, along with many other Americans, am troubled about the violence and crime in our nation. What is the basic cause of violence — the kind that caused the young man to shoot Governor Wallace in Maryland? Are our leaders doing anything about curbing violence in our society?

M.W.R.

Violence is inherent in human nature, and regardless of legislation, will remain with us until the last man is in tune with God, and has a change of nature. It cropped up in the first family when Cain killed his brother, Abel, and has been plaguing mankind ever since.

We see inherent violence even in infants when they scream, kick and strike out to get their way. We see it in adolescents when they fight, paw each other, and inflict injuries on others. Though some of us are able to control the violence within our natures, it still lurks in our hearts, and like a coiled serpent can strike out at any time. The person who by hook or crook is able to keep his violent nature under control is accepted in society as a "lady" or "gentleman," but the seeds of violence are there and may germinate and mature at surprising times.

The person who is unable to control the violence within him is called a

It Just Isn't So

John Cunniff

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ (Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — It's the fond belief of the Communists that capitalism needs war to operate. Marx said it and Lenin confirmed it.

But a little incident in the stock market Thursday should prove that it just isn't so.

What happened was an early report that Russia and China had put pressure on North Vietnam to make peace. There wasn't much foundation for the report, but the stock market moves fast even on rumors.

The market went up a whopping 13 points in the first half-hour. In the second half-hour it rose nearly 5 points more. That was the biggest gain in months. But, you may say, perhaps the rise was due to something besides the possibility of peace. The proof that it was purely a peace reaction came in the next hour.

There was no confirmation of the report. The State Department said it doubted the Russians and Chinese had put pressure on the North Vietnamese. Diplomats in London, where the story started, said they had no information to back it up. The stock market operators took this in and began to back off.

The industrial average slid in the second hour by 6 points and continued to fall most of the rest of the day. Obviously the peace report was the only thing which had made the market rise because, when the prop was eliminated, the averages fell.

This has been repeated time after time in the past few years. The last previous time was in May, when rumors of an armistice spread through Wall Street. That time the rumors drove the market up 8 points and, when they were denied, the market lost the 8 points and 10 more in addition.

Industry itself knows very well that war doesn't help it or its profits. Most senior executives have been through three wars: a big one in 1941-45, a smaller one in Korea and a nonwar in Vietnam. Their experience has proven and proven their belief that war is bad for business.

Wars bring controls, and controls hamper management. Prices can't be raised, and if profits are too high under wartime conditions there is the threat of an excess profits tax. Even ordinary taxes may be increased to pay for the war.

War also brings shortages, of both materials and manpower. Materials are rationed and many a company has to find substitutes or do without. Manpower is in short supply and industry has to reach into the ranks of the unskilled, male and female, for workers. This means training problems and low productivity of the new workers.

Above all, war means uncertainty in sales, taxes, supplies. Business men hate uncertainty. They would much rather plan for an aggressive sales campaign in predictable peace.

Reverse Field

Omar Bursleson

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Brookings Institution here in Washington is a non-partisan, non-profit research organization. In its economic studies it draws on some of the best scholars in the country.

IN A RECENT STUDY, a group headed by Charles L. Schultz, who was Budget Director in the Johnson Administration, came to conclusions and opinions considerably different from those he and associates expressed in the early 60's.

At that time, along with other prominent economists, Schultz, Walter Heller and others saw a "fiscal dividend" in the country's economic growth immediately ahead. At that time they saw large amounts of revenue coming into the federal treasury permitting tax cuts, revenue sharing with states and localities and funds for programs of the "Great Society."

THE REPORT recently completed by these gentlemen and others has the effect of repudiating many of the actions which were a part of the Great Society. The report calls for a reversal of direction for the federal government from providing goods and services and other complex schemes for aiding the poor, to increasing the quality of opportunity and improving the quality of public services. In clear terms it calls for drastic change in the spending programs of the federal government and warns of the fiscal plight which has overtaken it. One significant line stands out — "For the first time in American history, except during major wars, government spending — even without any new programs — is now rising relentlessly faster than the growth of economy." In other words, the conclusion is that the government is overspending itself and the programs to which the government is committed can't be paid for without huge deficits.

FOLLOWING THIS CONCLUSION, the report says that the over-committed federal government cannot spend any more on trying to solve social or other problems without a big tax increase. It says that even if the Congress enacts this year only the programs that President Nixon has proposed, and no more, the Federal Budget for 1975 will reach $300 billion, and that this would be $17 billion more than tax revenues under present rates.

The makeup of the brookings group who produced the report reflects a change of attitude on the part of liberal intellectuals. They refer to many programs as uncertain, wasteful and not providing solutions. It goes far in undermining the liberal intellectual belief in the Federal Government as the chief problem-solver in our society.

THE BROOKINGS PEOPLE seem to agree with proposed reforms which have been around several years. Essentially what is needed, among other things, is (1) 5-year budget projections submitted annually; (2) pilot testing of any new programs; (3) a joint congressional committee to evaluate the total budget to determine both revenues and expenditures and (4) more disciplined spending. That means cutting the tax drain.

A Mixed Group

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — For the first time, two women and three black persons have been elected to the United Methodist Judicial Council, the church's "supreme court" in ruling on ecclesiastical legal questions.

Their election came at the church's governing convention here.

Quotable Notables

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If people really ate like wolves, a hungry 200-pound man would be able to consume nearly one-fifth his own weight in food at one meal. That's almost 40 pounds.

Scientists are certain now that the planet Mars cannot sustain human life because of the lack of oxygen there. The atmosphere of Mars is about nine-tenths carbon dioxide, which makes it far worse for breathing even than the air at a national political convention on this planet.

Does imprisonment in jail or prison have any real deterrent effect whatever on criminals? Some sociologists doubt it, but the statistics say otherwise. Confinement may not affect the hardened professional criminal, but the facts are that from a half to two-thirds of all persons who serve a first prison term never have to serve another.

The three most expensive cities to drive a car in America are now Boston, New York and San Francisco, according to an Ala Auto and Travel Club study. The two where driving is cheapest are Portland, Ore., and Richmond, Va., where costs are nearly three cents per mile cheaper than the top cost of 14.93 cents a mile chalked up in Boston. Which city he lived in could make a difference of some $475 to a businessman driving 15,000 miles a year.

Quotable notables: "I have learned a great truth which I shall always cherish—that people are pretty much the same the world over when you get down to fundamentals, and that it does not much matter what is their race, creed or color." — Louis Bromfield.

Our rising cost of government: The payrolls of U.S. state and local governments went up 400 per cent between 1953 and 1971.

Nature notes: Mountain lion kittens weigh only about a pound each at birth. The fawns of whitetail deer are such homebodies that they rarely stray more than ten yards from their birth spot for the first month of their lives. Racing pigeons have been clocked at an average speed of 93 to 95 miles an hour over an 80-mile course. The common flea can leap 100 times its own height.

Still a good idea: The motto on the first coin (1787 penny) issued by the United States was: "Mind Your Business."

Former Missouri Governor Dies

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former Missouri Gov. John M. Dalton, 71, died Friday in Jefferson City Hospital of cancer of the spine after an illness of several months.

Dalton, the state's 44th governor, served eight years as attorney general before he was elected governor in 1960. He served two terms and was succeeded in 1965 by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, the present chief executive.

Selection Slighted

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Amid the confusion which has emerged in the complex process of choosing delegates for the Democratic national convention, a simple and all-important factor has been overlooked — how do you find the best-qualified man in the party and select him as the presidential nominee?

PRIMARIES ARE held in various states under laws which are by no means uniform, but evidently the results can be revised by a party mechanism which can award a majority of delegates to an aspirant who makes a better showing than someone else. He may be given the benefit of a "winner take all" rule. The Decisions are being made by a "credentials committee," which theoretically can be overruled by the convention itself but probably will not be.

The task of gathering delegates to win nomination has been a challenging one for many years. All sorts of devices have been tried. But when a system commits the delegates to vote a certain way and denies them freedom to pick the best man, then a convention is merely a struggle between two or three individuals whose pre-convention campaigns have managed to build up delegate strength.

THE COUNTRY knows something about all of the candidates, to be sure, but in the Democratic race there are four men whose names are most prominent — Sen. George McGovern, Hubert Humphrey and Edmund Muskie, and Gov. George Wallace. If the national convention offered an opportunity for each man to make a careful exposition of his views on different aspects of domestic and foreign policy, the delegates would be better able to determine which of the individuals seeking the nomination is most qualified.

SINCE THE PEOPLE of the country would be watching on television and listening to four major addresses, the convention would become a very significant moment in the whole election process. But as the news from Miami Beach and the stories about the battles over control of delegations are being read in the press and heard on the air, it is evident that the voters back home will not learn a great deal about the abilities of the prospective candidates from what they hear during the convention.

THE PRESIDENCY of the United States is the biggest and most powerful official post in any free government in the world. Yet election is obtained by methods that could prove harmful to the country. How much experience has the would-be candidate had in the executive departments of the government? What does he know about current legislation? What is his familiarity with the nation's domestic and foreign policies? What is his knowledge of the complex problems and issues that affect economic recovery on the one hand and the maintenance of peace on the other? Can the management of the huge office of president, with its numerous departments and agencies, be suddenly turned over to someone who has not had intimate contact with it and not risk ill effects as far as business, labor and other segments of American life are concerned? (Copyright, 1972, Publishers-Hall, Syndicate)

Letter To Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

In the last two meetings that the city officials brought up the subject of selling water to the people outside the city limits and the city manager and one of the city commissioners suggested that the people living outside the city limits be charged twice as much for water as their neighbors living inside the city.

Could this be blackmail or discrimination or both? A few months ago the minimum charge went up a dollar and the price of water went up 10 cents per thousand gallons. We didn't protest this action because we were willing to be charged a reasonable amount more than the people living in the city.

The last several years, if you kept a saddle horse or pet bull in the country, you could get a meter and water, but if a man, wife and children lived outside the city and wanted water, that was a no no.

As we people living in the country do not have any say in the dealings of the city government, all that we can do is to appeal to our folks and friends living inside the city for help. For I do know the city commissioners are responsible to the people of Big Spring for being fair and just in all their dealings, whether it be passing an ordinance or making a ruling. If I remember right the city manager is responsible to the commission.

SKATING SUPERSTAR — Karen Magnussen has plenty of fame to talk about, but she comes off as a friend, not a star. From North Vancouver, B.C., she brought home a silver medal and Canada's only win from the 1972 Winter Olympics in Sapporo, Japan.

Canada's Superstar: She's Cool On Ice

By NANCY JOHNSON
Cooley News Service

Slick as a whistle on stakes and pretty enough to be an all-American cover girl, Karen Magnussen may well be Canada's answer to Peggy Fleming.

But the fame has not affected Karen — pleased her, but not affected her.

She has shunned lofty attitudes and ego trips and for the nice-girl next-door type of friendliness and a warm welcome smile when she meets someone new.

Sometimes it's not easy to be humble when you have a scrapbook full of skating honors, but Karen has managed to do it.

And it's hard not to notice it even though you know she won Canada's only medal in the 1972 Winter Olympics.

Mixed with the modesty is a super sense of humor and her humor who chuckles when she talks about beating Boston's hockey pro Bobby Orr in a Canadian mail there I almost dread going home.

A Karen who grins when she confides she's been romantically matched with Czech ice skating star Ondrej Nepela at the Olympics. A Karen who laughs, although she said she was admired in Japan as Audrey Hepburn, Japanese teens' idol.

Karen has lots to tell you when she broke both legs and about Japan. But then she has lots to talk about. She brought home a silver medal, quite an achievement for the blonde-haired pixie who doesn't seem to mold her whole life-style around skating.

Karen puts in a lot of practice. In between life as a student at Simon Fraser University, she racks up more than 40 hours a week practice. And as if that weren't enough, she takes on a share of the family cooking "to give mom a chance to do something else."

Both mom and Karen share the mail responsibilities that have come with Karen's superstar rating. She came home from the Japanese Olympics with gifts and fan mail following her all the way. Now, she said two Japanese boys have written to tell her about their serious business for Karen, but she hides it under an attitude of friendship and a spirit as free in style as her skating.

"On the ice, we're competitors," she will tell you. "But off the ice, we're just friends. Athletes are really the fantastic ambassadors they are said to be. If the world were as friendly as we are with each other, it would be a much better place."

Athletics may be her business forever. Karen enrolled in a kinesiology course in college and became entranced. Now she said she'd like to go into the field, first choice, above a career in public relations. She would like to be a sports doctor, something the United States is missing. "There are doctors, but no sports doctors."

When she isn't skating or studying — she took this semester off from school — she's involved in sports. Tennis and swimming are favorites, but she's a fan of football, hockey and lacrosse.

This summer Karen will be skating about six hours a day when she goes to Toronto for a month of steady training. There, she said, she'll be working on her speciality, freestyle skating, and jumps.

Blindness: High Cost For "Good" Detergent

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some nonphosphate detergents on the market can cause irreversible blindness if accidentally rubbed into the eye, according to an unpublished government study.

"The results of this study indicate the rather sharp demarcation between moderate ocular damage caused by soap in phosphate detergents and the intense causticity of carbonates and metasilicates," the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences concluded.

The Food and Drug Administration, charged with protecting the public from hazardous substances, has reacted to the report with disdain.

"They are treading outside the realm in which they should be operating," said an official in FDA's Bureau of Product Safety. "We have the charter, we have the mandate."

The official asked not to be named, because he said it would violate protocol to criticize a "sister agency."

The institute's study, conducted by Dr. David P. Rall, the director, said NIH veterinarians Dr. Donald B. Feldman and John A. Moore, concentrated on nine synthetic-detergent products purchased near its Triangle Park, N.C., facilities.

Seven were laundry products, of which three contained phosphates (Tide, Ajax, and Dash); two contained carbonates (Sears and Arm and Hammer), one had metasilicate (Ecolo-G); and one was a soap powder (Ivory Snow). Two were dishwashing compounds, one containing metasilicate (Electro-Sol), and one with phosphate (Cascade).

Material was put into the left eyes of New Zealand white rabbits and reactions were recorded at one, two, three, seven and 14 days.

The researchers said all the products tested irritated the eyes and caused an inflammation, known as conjunctivitis, and some clouding of the cornea.

The soap-powder eyes began clearing by 72 hours and were healthy again at seven days. The laundry-phosphate eyes cleared in all but one of 24 rabbits by 14 days.

"The reaction to carbonate and metasilicate detergents was more intense," the report said. Carbonates caused chronic opacities on 14 of 18 rabbits. Eleven animals suffered partial or total destruction of the cornea and a deterioration of tissue in the eyelids.

Test results were similar for dishwashing detergents:

The researchers cautioned that detergent formulas may change frequently and vary regionally depending on hardness of water.

The FDA disagrees with the institute's testing methods, particularly because the eyes were not washed after exposure, and in fact plans to revise its own procedures to provide a wash after five minutes after 24 hours and lengthen the observation period from 72 hours to a minimum of seven days.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Honor Miss Estes

Miss Lura Denise Estes was honored at two pre-nuptial events recently. She is bride-elect of Karl Franklin Kutch of Perryton.

A shower was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Clyde Ragsdale of Perryton. Cohostesses were Mrs. Eddie Williams, Mrs. Fountain Wade, Mrs. Raymond Overby, Mrs. H. C. Brown Jr., Mrs. Bill Fulton, Mrs. Dwight Drake and Mrs. Neil Thompson.

Miss Estes received guests with her mother, Mrs. Bill Estes of Big Spring, and with the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Elza Kutch. The women were presented corsages of white Shasta daisies trimmed with red and blue.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cutwork linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red carnations and white Shasta daisies in a silver epergne. Crystal and silver appointed the table.

The honoree was attired in a red crepe Dacron dress with a flared skirt. About 35 guests attended.

The second event was a complimentary brunch for Miss Estes and Kutch, held Saturday morning in the home of Miss Kandy Easterling and Miss Kathy Easterling, both of Lubbock.

Miss Estes wore a blue and white pantsuit for the occasion. Brunch was served buffet style to about 20 guests. Miss Estes and Kutch are both students at the University of Houston. They will be married Aug. 5 in the Wesley United Methodist Church, Big Spring.

Ex-Dropout Gets Degree At 64

Mrs. Eva Bobrow, 64, has earned an associate degree in business from Queensboro Community College. 44 years after she had to drop out of high school.

Mrs. Bobrow, who works for a law firm by day and studies at night, entered the college six years ago. She is now trying for another associate degree at Queensborough, this time in liberal arts.

Treat Stain First Then Launder

Treat oily stains on durable press fabrics before laundering because the fabric tends to hold on to the stain. Use either a non-flammable drycleaning solvent or an all-purpose liquid household cleaner.

Look Wide-Eyed

Clear or slightly tinted lip gloss can be worn as a subtle eye highlighter just under the eyebrow. The shine gives a more wide-eyed look.

NOW Says Advertisers Discriminate By Sex

HOUSTON (AP) — The local chapter of the National Organization of Women stepped up its drive against the Houston Chronicle Monday by filing sex discrimination allegations against 149 of the newspaper's classified advertisers.

The women's liberation group has asked the Chronicle to end the practice of allowing advertisements under "male help wanted" and "female help wanted" designations.

Dick Johnson, vice president of sales and marketing for the Chronicle, said the law allows advertisers to specify such qualifications. "We're merely serving the society we live in," he said.

Mrs. Parrish Hirasaki, local chairman of NOW, filed the allegations against the Houston area business with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Lorenzo Cole, supervisor of investigations in the EEOC office here, said the companies will be notified by mail within 10 days and given a chance to reply to the complaints. "Until then they are just allegations anyway," he said.

Citing EEOC regulations, Cole declined to name any of the companies in the NOW complaint.

Mrs. Hirasaki said if the Chronicle ends its practice of running separate employment classifications for men and women her organization will drop the complaint with the EEOC.

She claimed such separate classifications are a violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, except in instances where sex is a bona

Baby Oil Not Tanning Lotion

Some persons claim that mineral oil or baby oil mixed with iodine makes a good suntan lotion.

In a pamphlet on "Sun and Your Skin" the American Medical Association comments on suntan lotion by saying: "The fact is that these preparations do not contain sunscreens and therefore will not promote tanning or prevent burning. Their only benefit is that they provide lubrication to cut down on the drying effects of the sun."

Get In Step With Separates

Sporty separates set the fashion pace this summer season. A spiffy skirt and shell outfit is always a great start for your basic, casual wardrobe. Top a solid-colored skirt with striped boatneck shell — a three-color winner coordinating the main color with your skirt. Slip a light-weight shirt underneath the shell to make your two-piece combo three. Each separate is a versatile addition for summer sporting.

Jewelry Uses Artsy Designs

Jewelry themes are going artsy. Replicas of objects of art can now be purchased as personal treasures. Bronze replicas of famous sculptures, jade theater masks, crusader crosses will give an artful look to any outfit.

A LOVELIER YOU Cosmetic Ingredients Explained, A To Z

By MARY SUE MILLER

So many cosmetics are on the road to farm and forest, there's a traffic jam. To keep things moving in an orderly fashion on your buying excursions, below is a partial list of "raw" materials and their use in cosmetics.

Algae from the sea in various products: aloes from vera cactus in soothing creams.

Balsam, superb hair conditioner.

Cucumber juice, respected cleanser in creams and liquids. Coconut oil for dryness.

D-vitamin, the builder-upper in controlled amounts of sun.

Elder flower, possessed of astringent qualities.

Fruit, the real thing — bananas, pears and strawberries — helpful to dry and oily skin when blended with emollients.

Ginseng, Chinese "wonder herb" now available in bath soap.

Honey, the skin exerciser, available in brand name cosmetics.

Irish moss, processed for the bath.

Jasmin, one of most popular blenders to scent soap, cosmetics and perfume.

Khus-Khus, oriental grass, smelling fresh as outdoors in soap and sachet.

Lemon, today's "naturalizer," the juice being the foundation of entire lines.

Mint, refresher in facial pick-ups.

Nettle, contained in hair products, to polish your hair.

Oatmeal, formulated as facial masks and soap, for young skin problems.

Proteins, natural proteins, recommended for healthy skin and hair.

Quince, a curl persuader in wave sets.

Rosemary, effective as a scalp stimulant.

Sage, herb with healing powers.

Tomato juice soap. Your vitamin-A, Madame!

Ump-teen (or teen). Never give up searching for beauty solutions.

Vegetable oils, those polysaturates in lovelifiers.

Wheat germ, good inside and out in cosmet-care.

XVZ. You name it, the scientists will make it!

Commie Artillery Shell Kills American General

SAIGON (AP) — A lone north Vietnamese artillery shell landed at An Loc for the first time since the U.S. command announced today that it had been captured by the enemy. The shell killed an American general and wounded three other U.S. officers shortly after they landed at An Loc for an inspection, the U.S. command announced today. Two U.S. officers in the Vietnam War were killed in the Vietnam War and the first in two years. A South Vietnamese unit there.

Navy admiral was killed two months ago in a helicopter crash in the Tonkin Gulf. The names of the other American casualties were withheld until notification of next of kin. But all were from the 3rd Regional Assistance Command, embracing Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces. Tallman had been the command's chief of staff since last January, was named its deputy commander June 28 and the next day was promoted to brigadier general. He and members of his staff had flown on Sunday to An Loc, the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, to inspect South Vietnamese units there. The town was under heavy North Vietnamese siege for weeks and is still being shelled daily. Field reports said more than 50 enemy shells hit An Loc Sunday, killing seven South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 17. Tallman was a combat infantry officer in Korea and was serving his third tour of duty in Vietnam. He is survived by his widow and seven children, including one son who was graduated from West Point last month and another who is a member of the class of 1973. Tallman was graduated from the Point in 1949.

$4.5 Million Pledged During Demo Telethon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Democratic party says nearly $4.5 million was pledged during its 19-hour money-raising telethon. But despite the financial success of the program, the party is still more than $6 million in debt from the 1968 campaign. The party conducted the telethon extravaganza in an effort to wipe out a $9.3-million 1968 debt. Performers appearing on the show which ended Sunday night donated their services, but the Democrats reportedly had to pay the ABC television network $1.6 million for the airtime. Officials were hopeful that late mail-in contributions would push the show's gross over $5 million. Viewers pledged the contributions via telephone calls to 2 regional centers manned by 12,000 volunteers or charged it to credit cards. At one point in the show early Sunday morning, one telethon host placed a call to the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., to ask President Nixon for a contribution. The call, however, never got past what apparently was a guard who thought the idea was a bad joke.

Ex-King Talal Dies In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Former King Talal of Jordan died in Istanbul Saturday, Amman radio announced. He became king in September 1951, a month after the assassination of his father, King Abdullah. But one year later the Jordanian Parliament removed Talal on medical advice in connection with his mental condition.

RUNNERUP TEAM IN PLAYOFFS — Mrs. Jack Barber, wife of the Little League district administrator, was on hand Saturday night to present the Barber award to Manuel Ramirez, manager of the Cubs, after the Texas League team had lost to the American League's Colts, 12-3, in the finals of the City playoffs. ## Texas Leaves Weaver Team In Bad Way

By The Associated Press
Earl Weaver was looking ahead today because if he looked back all he could see were four straight losses by his Baltimore Orioles to the lowly Texas Rangers.

"The next game is the big game and the real big game might be in October," the Orioles manager said after Texas beat the Orioles 3-2 in 10 innings Sunday night to complete their four-game sweep in Baltimore.

The Boston Red Sox, meanwhile, probably will be happy to see anything that looks like a good pitch to hit after California's Nolan Ryan struck out 16 and retired the last 26 batters in beating them 3-0 in a twilight game on the West Coast.

Baltimore went into the Texas series with a two-game lead over the Detroit Tigers in the American League East.

IN KANSAS CITY
Tonight the Orioles open a series with Kansas City in a tie with Detroit, which lost to Chicago 5-4 and then came back to beat the White Sox 4-2.

In other AL action, the New York Yankees moved to within 1/2 game of the East lead by beating Minnesota 9-5; West leader Oakland topped Milwaukee 3-2 and Kansas City swept Cleveland 6-4 and 8-5.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs downed Cincinnati 5-0 and 10-5, San Diego nipped Philadelphia 5-4, San Francisco took Montreal 5-1.

Gay Brewer Holds On To End Slump

FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP) — Gay Brewer held on to end a slump that had kept him out of the lineup for 10 days.

Brewer, who had been out of the lineup for 10 days, returned to the lineup today and hit a home run in the first inning.

The Brewers' victory over the Yankees today was their first since Brewer's return to the lineup.

Brewer's home run was the only one of the game, and it proved to be the difference between a win and a tie.

The Brewers' victory today was a significant one for the team, as it ended a losing streak of four games.

Brewer's performance today was a testament to his resilience and ability to overcome adversity.

The Brewers' victory today was a morale booster for the team, and it showed that they were still capable of competing at a high level.

Brewer's home run was a clutch hit, and it showed that he was still capable of hitting for power.

Bill Melton Out For Whole Year

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox will play out the season without their slugging third baseman, Bill Melton.

But over the weekend, the team obtained a reserve third sacker from the San Diego Padres.

Ron Broadrick Grabs Invitational Crown

By DAVID PICKLE
Ronnie Broadrick slumped to a 71 after his brilliant opening round of 63 but still easily won the 41st annual Big Spring Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament Sunday.

Lee Emfinger of San Angelo captured second place. He shot a 67 the first round but had his score go up to even par Sunday. Dan Wilkins shot the low round Sunday with a four-under-par 67, one of only two scores under 70 in the final round. Mike Hall had the other, a 69. Saturday, seven golfers had scores of 69 or below.

Other golfers finishing close to the top Sunday included Howard Stewart with a two-day score of 139 and Duncan Boyer, Abilene, also with a 139. Hall was next with a 140.

Wilkins won the first flight with a two-day total of 141. He narrowly escaped the seven-stroke rule that says any player improving his score by more than seven strokes over his first day's score will be advanced one flight. He shot a 74 Saturday.

Three shots back at 144 was the defending champion in the tourney, Mike Weaver. He was tied with Royce Cox.

Frank Powell was alone in fourth with a 145.

Fred Wilkerson edged Bill Poindexter and Ted Griffin with a 146 to capture the second flight. Poindexter and Griffin had 147s.

Don Lovelady was fourth with a 148.

Randal Carpenter won the third flight with a score of 157, one ahead of Don Reynolds, Joe Gunning, John Burgess, Roy Hughes and William West allied tied for third with 158s.

Bud Pickett took the fourth flight with a 164. His total nipped Wayne Dixon who shot a 165.

Harold Davis and Alton Underwood followed with 167s.

Winners in each flight got $150 gift certificates, second place got $100 certificates, third place won $60 and fourth got $25.

IN FIVE SETS
Smith Outlasts Ilie Nastase

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Stan Smith, the gentle giant of U.S. tennis, won the treasured Wimbledon singles crown and couldn't quite believe it.

Smith, the 6-foot-4 American Army corporal from Sea Pines, S.C., raised his arms in relief and triumph after beating mercenary Romanian star Ilie Nastase, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5 in a thrilling final on Wimbledon's center court Sunday.

"There were times out there when I thought he was going to win," admitted Smith.

Perhaps Smith's calm disposition saw him through the breath-taking final which was given an added psychological twist by being postponed 24 hours through rain.

Nastase kept his well-known fiery temper in check most of the time. But he was like a simmering volcano that was liable to blow its top at any moment.

"I couldn't sleep last night and the postponement made me more nervous," said Nastase. "I didn't eat any breakfast."

Stan didn't seem to have pre-match nerves at all.

"I had orange juice, cereal, several eggs and hamburgers for my breakfast," he said.

Smith's victory, added to Billie Jean King's victory over Australian defending champion Evonne Goolagong in the women's final, gave the United States the two singles crowns for the first time since Tony Trabert and Louise Brough grabbed the double in 1955.

It will take all Smith's notefy temper in check most of the time. But he was like a

George Follmer Speeds To Victory In Porsche

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The mighty McLarens have fallen once again in Can-Am racing, and a new era may be dawning in this richest single series for sports cars.

Supersub George Follmer drove Roger Penske's exotic 12-cylinder turbo-charged Porsche to an easy victory Sunday in the second Can-Am event of the season at Road Atlanta, near Gainesville.

En route to the winner's circle he passed the wrecked McLaren of perennial Can-Am champion Denis Hulme and the companion car of 1971 title holder Peter Revson, sitting in its pit with a sick engine.

"We're going to turn this series around," said a jubilant Penske, whose regular driver, Mark Donohue, won the Indianapolis 500 this year in his fourth try.

"No longer are the McLarens going to be considered automatic winners in Can-Am racing," he added.

Follmer, 39, of Arcadia, Cal., had replaced Donohue in the Porsche Friday after the three-time U.S. road racing champ injured a leg in a practice crash last Monday.

Donohue underwent surgery to repair the leg Saturday. He will be out of action for at least 13 weeks and Follmer appears to be his permanent replacement.

The Californian, averaging a record 113.96 miles per hour, finished more than a lap ahead of Gregg Young in a year-old McLaren. Milt Minter was third in a Porsche, followed by Charlie Kemp in a Lola and Peter Gregg in a Porsche.

Follmer, who won the Sports Car Club of America's first national road racing title in 1965, was paid $15,000 from the $75,000 purse.

Veterans To Anchor U. S. Olympic Team

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Veterans Jim Ryun, Frank Shorter, Willie Davenport, Jay Silvester and George Young and youngsters Rey Robinson, Larry Burton, Steve Smith and Dwight Stones are "on the boat" hoping to blend their exuberance and cool to produce another great American Olympic team.

Ten days of competition, surviving 100-degree heat and rain, have sorted out the athletes; the top three finishers in each event at the men's Olympic trials here advance one step—the biggest step—into the 20th Olympiad beginning Aug. 31 at Munich, Germany.

FELT GOOD
"I feel I have a better and faster race inside me," said the jubilant 25-year-old from Kansas who hopes to become the first American since 1908 to win the metric mile. Young cracked 13:30 for a lifetime best and moves to Munich with an American record fourth Olympic berth for a distance runner.

The sprint picture is dotted with young, excited kids lacking international experience. Eddie Hart, Robinson and Robert Taylor will run the 100-meter dash in Germany. The 400-meter tandem of Wayne Collett, John Smith and Vince Matthews looks about as solid as a wall. An American sweep in the event is a possibility because there isn't a runner in the world who has cracked 45.7 this year. Collett ran 44.1, Smith 44.3 and Matthews 44.9 in advancing here.

Davenport ran second, Tom Hill first and Rod Milburn third in the 110-meter high hurdle final to qualify for the U. S. team. That trip is as good as America has sent in years. Burton, a Purdue sophomore in his first year of track, joins Chuck Smith and Larry Black on a swift 200 combo. Smith became the world's fifth 18-foot pole vaulter. Stones cracked the world age-group high jump record as the 18-year-old from UCLA went 7-3.

THIRD TIME
Silvester whipped the discus 211-2 to earn a berth on the team for a third time. Ryun had once considered running both the 1,500 and the 800 in Munich but fast-rising Dave Wottle is the only one with that choice after his world-record equaling 1:44.3 in the half mile and second place to Ryun in the metric mile. Steeplechaser Mike Manley, 30, is a veteran of the 3,000-meter event but Doug Brown, Tennessee's 20-year-old sophomore, makes that event somewhat of a question mark.

Manley, America's second fastest ever in the event, was only two seconds ahead of the fast-closing Brown in the trials—the lad only started running the race 10 weeks ago. Ralph Mann is back for another shot in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles. Mann ran 48.4 for the second best time ever here to take dead aim on this year's gold.

Bob Seagren, back after off-season knee surgery, proved nearly unstoppable with an 18-5/8 vault for a world mark. Some old faces are gone, though. Mel Pender, the 34-year-old Army captain, called it quits when he failed to make the finals of the 100-meter dash here.

RYAN PITCHES TO A NEW AMERICAN LEAGUE RECORD — California Angels' hard-throwing pitcher Nolan Ryan established an American League record Sunday night when he struck out eight straight Boston batters in Anaheim Stadium. Ryan is shown as he struck out Boston Red Sox shortstop Juan Beniquez in the second inning. During the first three innings, Ryan struck out nine Boston batters although he permitted a walk and a single during that span. Angels won the ball game, 3-0.

Out Year — The Chilli play out their slugger Bill Melton. And, the team third sacker Padres.

The bidding has proceeded:

 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. This is not much of a hand and partner's bid is not forcing. Nevertheless, you should decline to give up the shot at this point. Whereas your one no trump bid promised six points in high cards, you have seven plus two rather impressive tens.

Q. 2—Your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:
 ♠43 ♣A3 ♦AK4 ♣AQ10754

What is your response?

A.—A jump shift to three clubs is our choice, despite the fact that we have no special support for spades. This hand is worth 19 points and, unless the jump shift is made, it will be almost impossible to show the full strength of the hand on subsequent rounds.

 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Your hand contains considerably more than you might have had for a minimum opening, and you should do something other than make the mere routine bid of four spades, which would be a forced bid. The suggested call is a bid of four diamonds. This will not indicate a desire to play in the minor suit, since your major suit has been vigorously supported. It will merely serve as a mild suggestion for a slam, without incurring any additional expense. If partner is not interested, he will return to four spades.

Bird Lovers, Ma Bell Feud Over Gluey Stuff

HOUSTON (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone said it is changing its anti-squirrel campaign after protests they were getting birds instead.

But Dr. Thomas O. Nichols, an investigator for the Houston Audubon Society, said he is still unconvinced by Bell's new effort.

The telephone company has applied a gluey substance which they call Squirrel Repellent 3906-L to telephone lines to keep squirrels from gnawing on them.

Two neighbors, Raleigh A. Smith Jr. and John H. McKenzie, said the coating was not really stopping squirrels but killing birds.

"Those squirrels would stick in it like it was fly paper," Smith said. "The squirrels were big enough to get away, although they left some fur behind. But the birds weren't so lucky."

Smith said the birds got their wings stuck to the line and finally tumbled to the ground to starve or fall prey to cats. They notified the Audubon Society which protested to Bell.

A Bell spokesman said the phone company was using the substance on about 5 per cent of the company's lines, where there are both squirrels and older lead-sheathed cables.

The squirrels gnaw on the lead, apparently for its salt content, and allow moisture to short out lines, he said. The company had been using the repellent in wooded locales throughout the five-state system since it was licensed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1968.

He said Houston's humid weather apparently was to blame for the sticky situation.

The substance is supposed to film over so it won't bother birds but will discourage the sharp-clawed squirrels who puncture the film. "Squirrels, so we're told, can't stand sticky feet."

The new substance the phone company will use films over instantly, the spokesman said. Dr. Nichols said he wants a demonstration before the phone company starts using it.

The Bell spokesman said the earlier repellent won't be removed since it should have film over by now. But after protests from Smith and McKenzie, they did remove it from their lines. It took them four days, Smith said.

Meeting Set Anent Land

The Section 17 Committee meets in the city commission room this evening at 5:15. The plagued committee again faces the problem of planning development for the ill-fated section 17.

The committee once considered development of section 17 but ultimately recommended to the commission that the land be auctioned as it now stands.

A bid opening revealed one bid for the property for $160,000 from Roger Brown, G. C. Broughton and J. C. Sackett. Commissioner Jack Watkins expressed the conviction that the sale of the land at such a low price would be a great waste of potential city revenue. He argued that the purchase of the land at $160,000 would allow the buyers to make a sizeable profit upon development and resale, a profit which the city should not necessarily hand over to the first and only bidder on the property.

The commission proceeded to reject the bid.

Section 17 Committee is again meeting to determine the future of the 640 step-child acres. Necessity of city development seems evident, the first step likely appearing as the construction of roads.

Hopefully, a bit of grading and dividing will invite more profitable bids for the land.

Restaurant Is Hit By Thugs

Weekend thieves took $340 in cash and a quantity of meat and beer from the K-C Steakhouse on the North Service Road to IS 20.

Lamar Green, restaurant owner, reported the break-in to the Howard County Sheriff's office at 11:15 a.m. Sunday.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Whitton investigated, and found that the thieves had gained entry by smashing the glass to the back kitchen door with a chunk of asphalt and then unlocking the door.

A bank bag contained $340 in assorted bills and change was taken from an unlocked desk drawer, according to the officer's report, and 14 cases of beer and 250 pounds of meat were stolen.

Deputy Whitton said that he was unable to find any tracks at the scene of either the thieves or any vehicle they might have used in the theft.

Council Eyes Rate Proposal

City business is the topic Tuesday evening when Big Spring's City Commission gathers in the city commission room for a regular meeting at 5:15.

The gas cost adjustment again comes up for discussion along with the first reading of the ordinance governing rates. The ordinance will provide for new rates to be effective August 1972.

Four public hearings will provide discussion on two specific use permits and two zone change ordinances.

A bid opening will hopefully reveal an affordable cost on a truck cab and chassis.

Two ordinances will undergo third and final reading: "Loitering on car lots" and "Bookmaking."

Approval of members of the Big Spring Police Reserve will be voted on.

A review of ordinances governing the operation of the cemetery is scheduled for discussion.

And a discussion of the tennis center should bring some facts to the surface. It is probable that bids on surfacing the tennis courts will be available for scrutiny.

Draft Physical Schedule Fixed

Draft physicals will be given here in August and September for Selective Service registrants born in 1953 and with lottery numbers up to 50, according to John W. Hughes, chairman of Local Board No. 71.

No 1953 registrant may be inducted before Jan. 1, 1973. Those in the 1-50 lottery number group are most likely to be drafted next year. The early physical, which about half the registrants fail, will allow those most likely to be drafted next year to make early plans, he said.

The physical examinations only establish the registrants' acceptability for military service. Draft quotas for next year have not yet been set. The highest lottery number reached this year was 75 for induction and 100 for physical examination.

Hughes added that draftees are no longer being sent to South Vietnam.

Probate Terms Are Given Two

Two men scheduled for trials this week in 118th District Court pleaded guilty to the charges against them, and no trials are to be held this week.

Jurors summoned for duty this week in district court have been dismissed.

Nasario A. Juarez, 39, pleaded guilty to a second offense of driving while intoxicated and was given a five-year probation sentence. Juarez was arrested Feb. 20, 1971, and indicted by the grand jury April 20, 1971.

A four-year probation sentence was assessed David T. Mendez, 22, charged with assault with intent to murder. Mendez is charged with the March 27, 1971 knife attack on Big Spring Police Patrolman Glenn Hunsucker. Grand jurors indicted Mendez April 20, 1971.

Both men were released from custody after sentencing.

District Attorney Wayne Burns said today that no other trials would be held this week because the defendants had been granted motions for continuance or were passed over in order to allow them time to confer with attorneys newly-appointed to their cases.

Sadler Proposes Boost In Rate

COLORADO CITY — City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr., will propose to the city council tonight that they offer a 6 1/2 per cent gas rate increase to Lone Star Gas Co. as a counter proposal to the 8 per cent hike in rates the company asked for.

The Lone Star rate increase request was on a graduated scale with those using 1,000 cubic feet of gas per month facing a 32 per cent rate increase.

City councilmen voiced strong objections to the sliding scale. The counter proposal would be an across the board increase. This is thought to be the only counter proposal offered to Lone Star Gas Co. by an area city.

THEFTS

No entry was gained from an attempted burglary at Bennett's Pharmacy this morning. The service window shelf had been broken and fresh pry marks on the back door indicated an attempt. The evidence was discovered by patrolmen at 3 a.m.

Boll Weevil Lure Works

RALEIGH, N.C. — Cotton "trap crops" spotted with a boll weevil sex attractant and treated with a systemic insecticide can lure the destructive pest away from regular crops and kill it in large numbers.

The new technique for combating the nation's costliest agricultural pest came to light in the pilot boll weevil eradication experiment, now nearing the end of its first year in parts of Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana.

Researchers see it as a potentially effective method of reducing cotton crop losses to the boll weevil and of lowering the costs of controlling the pest.

Dr. George A. Slater, manager of entomology research for Cotton, Inc., said the new development occurred in southern Mississippi, where samplings showed that experimental plantings of trap crops treated with Grandure and Temik attracted and killed hundreds of weevils emerging from hibernation, while some samplings of regular cotton in adjacent rows yielded weevil counts of near zero.

A trap crop is a tiny fraction of the grower's total cotton acreage. A few trap-crop rows of an earlier-fruiting variety are planted adjacent to the regular crop, thus offering more succulent fare to the weevils than the immature regular crop next door.

Grandure is a chemical duplication of the boll weevil pheromone — the naturally occurring sex attractant given off by male weevils.

Temik is a systemic insecticide developed commercially as an outgrowth of earlier Cotton Incorporated research.

Will Build Two Nuclear Plants In Austin County

BELLVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Houston Lighting & Power Co. already under fire from landowners over their plan to build a power plant near here, said Sunday they will be building two plants — and both will be nuclear fueled.

The leader of a landowners' group drew applause at a meeting attended Sunday by some 600 Austin County residents by telling HL&P officials to "please go away."

The meeting was called by HL&P officials after a storm of protest from landowners here about their plan to build either a fossil or nuclear fueled plant on Mill Creek, midway between Bellville and Sealey.

DRAWING BOARDS
Under sometimes hostile questioning at the meeting, officials disclosed that a second plant is on the drawing boards, this one about 10 miles southeast of Sealey near Wallis on Allen's Creek. The HL&P officials said both would be nuclear plants.

About 6,000 of the 8,000 acres needed for the Allen's Creek plant has already been bought, William B. Thornton, HL&P's land manager said, while about 500 acres has been purchased at Mill Creek.

George Oprea, the utility's operations vice president and chief plant designer, told the Sunday meeting that the plants would use nuclear power to generate electricity "unless there is a turnaround in the fossil fuel shortage and we can go that route." He indicated he expects no such turnaround.

PLEASE GO AWAY
The Austin County plants are purely HL&P ventures, he said, and not connected with a five-utility consortium recently formed to build a nuclear plant.

Robert William Abel, head of the Mill Creek Environmental Protection Association, drew applause when he told HL&P officials, "Let me convey to you the feelings of an organization of landowners. We don't want it. . . . We have very productive property. Please go away."

Abel, an engineer with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said he owns 185 acres at the Mill Creek site. He said agents for HL&P have tried to buy the land for $600 an acre, and threatened him with condemnation proceedings if he refuses to sell.

Public utilities have the right to condemn land through court action to carry on their business.

Abel said in an interview earlier this month, "We feel that the prices offered are unfair, but that's not the main thing. That land is unbelievably fertile. It's unique ecologically, and it should be preserved. Our land's not for sale at any price. It's been in our family for 100 years."

The Atomic Energy Commission held hearings on safety of nuclear power plants earlier this year after a coalition of 45 environmental groups contended the emergency core-cooling system of such plants are unsafe and could lead to a nuclear explosion.

SURVIVED TEL AVIV MASSACRE Terrorist Pleads Guilty

LOD, Israel (AP) — The Japanese terrorist who survived the Tel Aviv airport massacre pleaded guilty at the opening of his trial today, but the Israeli military court rejected the plea.

It also postponed final decision on a request by the defense that the terrorist, Kozo Okamoto, 24, be given a mental examination.

"I don't want an examination," the defendant shouted. The court's rejection of the plea means the prosecution will have to present its case.

Okamoto is accused along with two other Japanese in the murder of 26 persons at Lod Airport May 30. The two other Japanese also were killed, and 67 other persons were wounded in the machine-gun attack.

The tribunal later recessed to weigh the plea and the defense request for an examination by a panel of psychiatrists.

The prosecution will now try to prove its case beyond doubt.

The court deliberated for almost two hours before its president, Lt. Col. Abraham Frish, announced the decisions on the examination request and the guilty plea by Okamoto.

His chief lawyer, Max Kirtzman, said he did not contend Okamoto was now insane, "but he should have an examination to determine if he was sane at the time of the commission of the offense . . ."

Kirtzman said he had no material yet "to convince you of the defendant's mental state," but added, in the circumstances and in the defendant's behavior since leaving his homeland for a faraway country, with which he had no connection, we see that the facts speak for themselves.

Under Israeli law a defendant in a capital case has to plead innocent. Okamoto is expected to get life imprisonment.

The opening of the trial was delayed 55 minutes by strict security checks. Many of those at the trial stood in line for more than two hours before they could enter the courtroom about four miles southwest of Lod Airport, where the massacre took place.

Wearing a red shirt and dark slacks, the small, solemn defendant stood in a waist-high wooden enclosure manacled to two husky policemen as the chief prosecutor, Lt. Col. David Israeli, read the four charges against him.

Asked if he understood, Okamoto replied quietly, "Yes."

Asked how he pleaded to the charges, Okamoto replied: "On the 30th of May 1972 I discharged firearms with two other persons . . . I forgot their names . . . I do not know how many people I killed . . ."

"I have many things I want to say in court . . ." Then he pleaded guilty.

In effect, the charge sheet accused Okamoto of participating with two other Japanese radicals, Yasuyuki Yasuda and Tsuyoshi Okudaira, in the murder of 26 persons at Lod Airport May 30. Yasuda and Okudaira were also killed, and 67 other persons were wounded in the carnage.

The Japanese were acting for the Arab Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Three of the charges against Okamoto carry a maximum penalty of death. But the only person ever put to death by Israel was an Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann, and Premier Golda Meir has expressed opposition to capital punishment for Okamoto.

The three most serious charges against him are membership in a group that fired arms and threw grenades on May 30 at Lod Airport causing the death of 26 persons; discharging a firearm at passengers and visitors at Lod; and throwing a grenade with intent to kill and cause damage to property. The fourth charge is performing a service for an unlawful organization.

Okamoto's Israeli lawyers, Max Kirtzman and David Rotlevy, said he had to plead innocent because Israeli law follows the British procedure requiring such a plea in capital cases. The innocent plea forces the prosecution to prove its case in court as a safeguard against a miscarriage of justice that could result in the execution of the defendant.

The prosecution said it would call 13 witnesses in the trial, which is expected to take no more than four or five days.

Only in Eichmann's trial did the security measures equal the precautions taken today.

Revenue Exceeds Costs At BS State Hospital

Net revenue of the Big Spring State Hospital exceeded the operating expenses by $193,554 during the last fiscal year, which ended Aug. 31, 1971, according to the report of the State Auditor in Austin.

The hospital, operated under the management of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, had revenues of approximately $3.48 million in fiscal 1971, with about $2.8 million provided in legislative appropriations. The largest portion of the $3.28 million operating costs went for salaries, $2.21 million.

Average cost per day per patient was $10.54 in 1971, compared to $9.85 the prior year. The ratio of employees to patients was 1 to 2.08. Medical treatment and patient care accounted for $4.24 of the daily cost, $1.75 went for medical and special services and food amounted to $1.23 per day. At the end of the fiscal period, Aug. 31, 1971, 1,654 patients were enrolled. Outreach centers for the hospital were located in Scurry, Dawson, Taylor, Mitchell, Reeves, Gaines, Ward, Nolan and Garza counties in 1971.

Also a half-way house and community house were operated in Big Spring and a half-way house was located in Odessa. The Taylor County Outreach Clinic was discontinued at the start of the 1972 fiscal year, Sept. 1, 1971.

PARKING: (Q) I have dates with many girls and I always show them a good time. My problem is that after we go where we are going that night, I want to take the girl parking.

Is it wrong to take a girl parking if you really want to go? — A Boy Who Wants To In Alabama.

(Q) Yes. Parking is dangerous.

There is the first danger that you and the girl might do something that you would be sorry or later.

There is the second and greater danger that somebody out for money or kicks might do something to her or you or both of you that you or your survivors would be sorry about later.

You will be safer ending up the evening in her den or living room.

BETTING BOY: (Q) Every month we have a dance. The last two dances I have felt like a race horse or something. You see there is this boy I go with sometimes and I like him very much.

Before the next to the last dance, I saw him with a group of boys. He came over to me and asked me to go with him. I said yes. He went back over to the group of boys and collected some money from them.

I wondered what was happening but said nothing. That night at the dance he walked over to the same boys twice and they gave him money. The second time he did it my girl friend came over and told me they were betting him so much that he would not ask me out or kiss me or something else.

I told him if he didn't stop it I would not go with him any more. He promised to stop. But at this month's dance he did the same thing, but I need advice. Should I quit going with him? He's 16 and I'm 15.

— Hurt in Conn.

(A) Your friend may be a year older than you, but in his emotional development he is still a child. Look for some other boy who can value you for what you are — not as a gimmick to win bets.
