SPIRO T. AGNEW

OFFICIAL NOW Nixon Gives VP Nod To Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon disclosed Saturday that Spiro T. Agnew is to be his running mate again this fall, and the vice president set out immediately on a Republican campaign sweep that ultimately will lead him into all 50 states.

At an airport news conference before taking off for some speeches in Oregon, Alaska and Washington, Agnew said, "I am not going into the campaign with any complacent attitude. I am going out as if this were a last-ditch fight."

Asked about Nixon's selection of himself for re-election, Agnew said, "Everybody has his moments of insecurity, but I never felt I was ever in deep trouble."

He declined comment on the possibility that he would seek the presidency in 1976, saying "It's a little premature."

Nixon informed Agnew of his decision Friday during a one-hour White House meeting with him and then told Republican officials who will play major roles in the GOP National Convention next month in Miami Beach and in the presidential campaign.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said choice of Sens. George McGovern and Thomas Eagleton as the Democratic party's presidential and vice presidential candidates had nothing to do with Nixon's selection of Agnew.

The press secretary, in answer to questions, referred to Nixon's comments in Jan. 2 and June 29 television appearances as to the reason the President chose Agnew to be his running mate again.

In the January interview, Nixon said, "My view is that one should not break up a winning combination."

Nixon again referred to the winning team during a June televised news conference and said: "I think he has done a fine job as vice president."

Claims Lin Pao Plot To Kill Mao

LONDON (AP) — The London Guardian said today that Marshal Lin Pao, once Mao Tse-tung's heir apparent, plotted to assassinate Mao in Shanghai.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from correspondent Cheng Huan in Yenan, attributed the report to official documents circulating on the Chinese mainland.

The article also said Chinese Communist party members are now confirming that Lin died last December in a plane shot down over Mongolia.

According to these accounts Lin circulated a paper called "the 571 document" which suggested Mao give up his power as chairman of the Chinese Communist party and become a powerless figurehead.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Oil interest was quickened here at the end of the week by the showing of a pair of deep wildcats. Desana Corp. No. 1 Armstrong, 20 miles northwest of Big Spring and just east of U.S. 87, looked as a Strawn reef discovery after flowing at the estimated rate of 115 barrels of 42-gravity oil per day, plus 800,000 cubic feet of gas. Across the north edge of the county and west of Vincent, Chater Petroleum Co. No. 1 R. T. Shafter appeared to be a discovery in the Penn reef with gas surfacing in three minutes and oil in nine. More will be known with testing this week.

Tragedy on the roads marred our week. Kenneth L. Brown, 19, back safely from a tour in Vietnam with the U.S. Navy, was killed instantly when his car failed to make a curve near the Snyder FM 700 intersection early Wednesday morning. He was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Branson.

The current Howard County grand jury had a busy week and came up with 26 indictments naming 25 individuals. This was by no means the total case load, for there were 12 other matters

Guard Strike Causes Mass Prison Shift

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — After firing 150 striking guards, Tennessee closed its maximum security Brushy Mountain State Prison Saturday and transferred the 400 inmates under heavy guard to other prisons.

James Earl Ray, convicted assassin of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was among the inmates taken from Brushy Mountain at Petros in east Tennessee to the main state prison in Nashville, 200 miles away.

Ray, serving a 99-year sentence for the slaying of King in April 1968, was transferred in a special three-car convoy that moved out of Petros before dawn ahead of a caravan carrying 185 inmates in buses and station wagons.

State troopers, armed with handguns, shotguns, rifles and submachine guns, were stationed along the route as the prisoners were transferred.

Corrections Commissioner Mark Luttrell said the decision to close Brushy Mountain and transfer the prisoners was made Friday after the guards were fired.

"Due to the conditions that developed, we felt we could not get sufficient help and might as well shut it down," Luttrell said at a Saturday news conference.

When the guards struck Thursday—in protest of disciplinary action taken against two of them—state troopers were called in to man the guardposts. But, Luttrell said, the troopers were temporary replacements and could not be used to keep the prison open.

MOVED TRUSTYS
"We moved about 140 trustys from a cell house to the old women's prison, outside the walls," said Nashville Warden Jim Rose. "We're having to double up elsewhere in the cell blocks for the rest."

"This prison has a capacity of 2,200, but we'd be busting at the seams if we used it all," Rose said. Corrections Commissioner Luttrell added that the Nashville institution has lost about 400 inmates in 18 months and bringing the men in from Brushy Mountain should not strain the facility.

Ray was placed in the Unit G maximum security cellblock where he began his 99-year term in March 1969.

Independent, Claims Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's chief spokesman said Saturday the country is not on a Soviet team or an American team and will welcome initiatives from any nation that would bring peace to the Middle East.

The order for the withdrawal of Soviet military advisers and technicians means that Egypt now is keeping all its options open and desires peace without surrender, Mohamed Hassan el Zayyat told a news conference.

He suggested that the nations of Western Europe use their good offices with the United States as one means of bringing peace to the Middle East.

However, he said Egypt would not accept surrender to Israel. He contends that negotiations with the Israelis while they still occupy Arab lands seized in the 1967 war amounts to surrender.

The news conference was the first by a high government official for foreign correspondents since President Anwar Sadat announced last Tuesday that the Soviet Union had been asked to bring home its military advisers and technicians from Egypt.

After 20 years, Egypt is convinced that being aligned with no major bloc internationally, and with an internal policy of socialism is the answer, he said.

Zayyat said the withdrawal of the Soviet experts means that Egypt now is keeping all its options open and is ready to accept sophisticated weapons of war from any nation.

In another development, the first group of Russian military advisers returned from Egypt to Moscow on Saturday, the News Agency Tass reported.

A leftist Beirut newspaper, Al Anwar, quoted Sadat as saying about 10,000 Russian advisers were leaving Egypt, and their withdrawal would be completed within a few days.

Officers Find Body Of Kidnaped Woman

Victim Is Wife Of Slain Man

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — State Police said they found Saturday the body of a woman reported kidnaped after her husband was shot to death early Friday while sleeping next to his car alongside Interstate 25. Police said Kathleen Sue Markle, 20, who had been living in Redondo Beach, Calif., had been shot several times.

The body was found about 1:45 p.m. by an area resident, Martin W. Heinsen, next to a fence line along a dirt road near a dairy farm near the New Mexico 528-44 intersection just west of the Rio Grande. Officers said there were tire tracks near the body but they had been mostly obscured by Friday night rain.

The body, identified by State Policeman Robert Gonzales, was about 30 miles southwest of the earlier slaying-kidnap scene.

Mrs. Markle's husband, Mrs. Markle's husband, Tacoma, Wash., had been shot four times in the chest as he slept in a sleeping bag next to his parked car 40 miles north of Albuquerque.

Mrs. Markle then apparently was dragged from her sleeping bag and taken away, police said.

GIRL MISSED
Officers said a 19-year-old woman traveling with the Markles, Annette Seaton of Redondo Beach, was in the car.

"The assailants apparently didn't see the second girl in the back of the car. She was down low," Dist. Atty. James C. Thompson of Santa Fe said.

She was quoted by police as saying she was sleeping in the car when she was awakened about 4 a.m. by gunshots and "loud hollering-type noises."

State Policeman Mike Montoya said officers were told by Miss Seaton that she looked out the rear window and saw another parked car with Mrs. Markle inside and that she saw two men.

Montoya said that when the other car fled toward Albuquerque, the witness flagged down a passing motorist who then called State Police.

According to information from the sheriff's office, the matter is to be turned over to 118th District Attorney Wayne Burns Monday. Officers said they would charge the driver of the car with possession of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphernalia. The other two men maybe charged with possession of marijuana.

Shower Douses Limited Sector

A rain shower which hovered tenaciously over the southwest part of Big Spring Saturday poured out as much as an inch of moisture in a limited area.

A gauge in Western Hills measured an even inch, but the Herald's gauge showed only .05 of an inch from the shower. In the Douglass addition, 1.4 inches were measured, in the city park area it appeared the fall may have been heavier. The Big Spring Country Club, however, had no rain but reported "it looked like about five blocks away."

SIGNALS STOP

Soviets Land Space Probe Safely On Venus Surface

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet space probe Venus 8 parachuted safely onto the planet Venus Saturday, and transmitted information back to earth for 50 minutes before going silent, the news agency Tass reported.

The signals apparently stopped because the capsule was incinerated or crushed by the intense heat and pressure on the planet's surface.

"Carried out for the first time were experiments to determine brightness, pressure and temperature in the atmosphere and on the surface of the planet on its day side," Tass said.

This was the second successful Soviet landing on the torrid surface of the bright planet. Venus 7 landed softly on the planet Dec. 15, 1970, and sent radio signals for 23 minutes before it was burned up or crushed in the heavy atmosphere.

Venus 8 was launched March 27 and by Russian calculations traveled more than 186 million miles before reaching the planet.

Tass said the Venus 8 probe had obtained data "on the nature of the rocks of the planet's surface layer" and results of the measurement are being processed.

Murder Charges Are Filed In Slaying, No Arrest Yet

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Austin officers said Saturday night they have filed murder charges against a 19-year-old Ruston, La., youth in last Sunday's torch slaying of a young Massachusetts couple.

The complaint filed before Austin Municipal Judge Ronnie Earle accused David Matthews, 19, of Ruston, in the gun-torch slaying of Kathleen Matzlevich, 19, and her 21-year-old husband, Thomas, in Austin's City Park.

Matthews has not been arrested and a nationwide search is under way, officers said.

The murder complaint, filed by Austin Police Lt. Colon Jordan, said that Matthews, accompanied by two other persons, came to Austin in Matthews' car on July 15, Saturday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Matzlevich, who were in their car. The two persons accompanying Matthews said they became separated from the party during that night and have not seen Matthews since. Fort Worth officers said earlier Saturday they had reasons to believe the Matzlevichs left Fort Worth, where they had lived for a short time, late Friday or early Saturday with at least two other persons, who were believed carrying firearms.

The murder charge against Matthews, also known by several other names, technically names only Mrs. Matzlevich as a victim.

The bodies of the two victims were returned to Massachusetts Friday. The wife was the daughter of Dr. John Connor Jr., superintendent of schools at Worcester. The husband, who was attending Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, was the son of Dr. Benjamin Matzlevich, a Natick, Mass., neurosurgeon.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese positions Sunday in an effort to break a "blockade by fire" on Highway 1 that has halted supply convoys to South Vietnamese troops in the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

The stratofortresses dropped 1,000 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations and ammunition stockpiles on the northern front.

North Vietnamese gunners fired rockets into Camp Eagle, headquarters of the South Vietnamese 1st Division, seven miles southeast of Hue. The Saigon command said some munitions were destroyed, but reported no casualties.

Field informants characterized the North Vietnamese action as a hindrance rather than a major threat to the 20,000-man government task force now waging a counteroffensive in Quang Tri Province.

They noted that trucks still can bring supplies into Quang Tri up coastal Route 555, also known as the "Street Without Joy," and boats and helicopters are resupplying South Vietnamese marines in the eastern part of the province.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported that two South Vietnamese supply trucks were hit and two M41 light tanks were knocked out by the North Vietnamese fire when they tried to run the blockade.

WIN TOP AWARDS — Gary Witte, left, who was named Mr. Band Camp from among 900 musicians enrolled in the two-week Texas Tech annual band camp, shows off his trophy with Bonnie Anderson, named Miss Dorm, and Richard Kitchens, Big Spring band president, who displays the coveted Governor's Award for most bandsmen enrolled.

Bandsmen Of Big Spring Win Major Camp Honors

The Big Spring High School band captured the Governor's Award for the second consecutive year at the Texas Tech Band camp.

This trophy, given for the band outside Lubbock with the most attending, will be nailed down as a permanent possession if the BSHS Golden Wave can capture it again next summer.

Another of the top awards went to Gary Witte, who was selected by camp officials as Mr. Band Camp. Miss Dorm went to Bonnie Anderson, who also was selected as the "Girl Most Likely to be Remembered." Bonnie also was named a girl floor monitor for next year, and Gary Witte and John Riherd were picked as two of the four quartermasters spots of the camp.

Big Spring had approximately 60 members taking part in the camp which started two weeks ago and climaxed Friday evening with an all-camp band concert. More than 700 young musicians, housed in the dorms, took part, and another 200 were enrolled.

In the dorm competition the Big Spring (Dixie) wing won five of eight possible first places.

Supervising the local bandsmen at the clinic, which included instruction in subjects from drum majoring to advanced theory, were Bill Bradley, director, and Kyle Ellison, associate conductor.

Golden Anniversary Comes Up For C-City Lions Club

By STEVE HULTMAN
COLORADO CITY — Monday evening the Colorado City Lions Club will celebrate 50 years of leadership for its town and in district Lions affairs.

The club was to be the first civic club in Colorado City and the second Lions club in the vast West Texas region preceded only by the Brownwood club formed in October of 1921.

The Colorado City Noon Lions Club had its beginnings in the small office of former County Judge C. H. Ernest, where a group of nine men interested in their community gathered to talk about starting a Lions Club in Colorado City.

LEWIS B. ELLIOTT

FIRST MEMBERS
 Included in that first meeting in Judge Ernest's office were "Col." C. M. Adams, W. S. (Bill) Cooper, J. H. Greene, Joe H. Smoot, T. W. Stonerod, W. W. Whipkey and Lewis B. Elliott, who is the only charter member still active.

The men decided to form the club, recruited more members and were granted a charter. From that point, the Lions Club started a tradition of community involvement and leadership that has continued to this day.

The early membership was especially enthusiastic, according to Elliott, and by 1924 had planned and begun work on building the American Legion Building, recently converted to a Boy's Club.

The club has continued its activities through the years, working on special projects and regular Lions projects such as the Kerrville Crippled Children's Camp, eye glasses for those in need and a helping hand for youngsters in need any time.

MEETING PLACES
 "We started meeting in the Baptist Church, with the ladies fixing our meals," said Elliott. "Later we moved to the Barcroft Hotel, now the Berman Hotel, and met in its basement. We moved around a bit, meeting at restaurants, the Colorado Hotel and finally moved to the Civic House."

"The Civic House was an example of cooperation between clubs. We helped the other clubs

ZIP'S UP AGAIN
 Elliott, who went to conventions twice, made directories of all those on the special trains and mailed copies to each, a service appreciated and recognized by many of the Lions around the state.

How has the club held up through the years? Pretty good, according to Elliott. "We lost some of our zip at times, especially as far as district meetings go, but we have always come right back up."

Hart Aims At Monopolies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate antitrust chairman Phillip A. Hart announced legislation Saturday aimed at breaking up U.S. monopoly power which he said costs consumers $55 billion to $60 billion a year.

Titled the "Industrial Reorganization Act," the bill would outlaw monopoly power and order reorganization plans for seven major U.S. industries including automobiles, chemicals, electronics, power and metals.

Hart said the bill is to be introduced Monday after 12 years of study by the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee under himself and the late Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

INFLATE PRICES
 He said it is aimed not at conglomerates as such but at monopolies and oligopolies which he said inflate prices, reduce jobs and freeze out competitors.

Hart contended the bill would restore competition and free enterprise which he said are not being encouraged by President Nixon's price controls.

The club has 686 members today, not including members in the Evening Lions Club, the mother club helped begin recently.

"At one time, in 1927 or 1928, we had about 150 members and were the fifth largest chapter in the country. We have had a district governor, Joe Pond (now of Big Spring), and we have always sent the president and one other member to the International Lions Convention."

"The only exception we made in sending representatives to the International Lions Convention," said Joe Ernest, son of Judge Ernest and a long-time Lion, "was in World War II, when we bought war bonds instead. We used those bonds to buy steam tables for the Civic House."

Banquet To Attract Many Area Lions Dignitaries

COLORADO CITY — The granddaddy of West Texas service clubs — the Colorado City Noon Lions Club will pull out all the stops Monday 7:30 p.m. to mark its 50th anniversary.

Here to address a special banquet gathering will be E. B. (Tex) Mayer, past international director, Ebb Grindstaff, Balinger, recently elected a director of Lions International, will be on hand to present special awards, while Joe Pond, Big Spring, a past president and the only district governor to come from the Colorado City club, will make membership presentations.

Other past district governors who will have a part on the program are A. E. Prugel, Ozona, George Thompson, Sweetwater, and Homer S. Hodge, Winters.

Billy Bridgford, a descendant from one of the club founders, will preside as the new president of the venerable club, which has taken on a flavor of youth in recent years. Other participants include Glenn Roenfeldt, immediate past

POLISH DETECTIVE 'Banacek' Is Twist Upon Traditional Whodunit

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television has come up with an antidote to all those Polish jokes: "Banacek."

T. Banacek, as portrayed by George Peppard in this new NBC television series, is Polish and proud of it.

"I WOULDN'T"
 People mispronounce his name so often—it's Banacek—that his chauffeur suggests he change it. The driver says, "You don't look Polish. Nobody'd know it." Banacek answers: "I would."

Banacek is a Boston-based modern day bounty hunter, a man who specializes in "restorations." He recovers people and things that are lost for a cut of the insurance money. He lives in a Beacon Hill townhouse, collects antiques and drives a 1941 Packard Darrin.

At the Los Angeles Coliseum, where a football sequence was being filmed, Peppard said, "The Poles are a minority and

BUSINESS BROWSEINGS Barbara Russell Sets Five-State Sale Pace

By MYRNA McFADIN
 Barbara Russell, with Sears here in Big Spring, was recently named "Miss Kenmore" for the five-state regional "Greater Kenmore Open."

This was quite an honor, since Mrs. Russell was in competition for the award with all salesmen in the Dallas region for washer and dryer sales during the month of March. She led the field in the five-state area.

Mrs. Russell has been with Sears for only two years. She was presented a beautiful trophy for the achievement by Jim Crooks, district sales manager.

Charlie Marstrand has retired from Montgomery Ward after 12 years of service.

Marstrand was an appliance salesman. He was honored by his fellow employees with a retirement breakfast at Coker's. At the breakfast he was presented with a set of golf clubs.

Marstrand has resided in Big Spring since 1945. He has two married daughters. He has previously been employed by Big Spring Hardware, as office manager for Mead's Bakery and as an automobile salesman.

Mrs. Mercie Glickman, the only electrologist operating in this vicinity, attended the annual conference of the Texas Electrologists in Austin recently.

In addition to business sessions, she attended lectures by an obstetrics-gynecologist-endocrinologist from Houston and a dermatology specialist from Austin. Electrology is the art of removing hair permanently.

Prentice Bass, whose home has been in Big Spring and who is still here almost as much as he is at his Snyder residence, is in the process of converting the former Downtown Motel in the 500 block of Gregg to the Downtown Apartments.

The first five units has already been completed and others will be added steadily. The facility was completely remodeled and refurnished, as well as being tastefully furnished.

Bass recently acquired the property which was originally constructed by Mrs. Bass' mother. He said he felt there was a need for good apartments that were handy to the downtown area.

Flood Waters Roll In Roswell

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — More than four inches of rain in about two hours flooded streets and caused undetermined damage but no reported injuries here Thursday evening.

A bowling alley on the city's west side, suffered extensive damage when part of the roof apparently caved in.

A number of other business places in downtown Roswell suffered minor damage from the flood waters that filled streets and flowed across sidewalks and into shops.

The National Weather Service issued a flash flood warning for the area that remained in effect for about four hours.

Police asked motorists to stay off the streets through which water flowed at depths up to four feet.

The rain fell between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Divided Party Worries Harriman

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Recalling that "I got licked by a divided party," former Gov. Averell Harriman has appealed to New York Democrats to close ranks.

The 80-year-old diplomat and former governor, defeated by Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller in a bid for re-election in 1958, did not try to gloss over divisions within the party in a speech Friday night to Democratic candidates for the legislature and their campaign aides.

James L. Anderson has been promoted to store manager of Clark's Discount Department Store in Abilene.

Prior to joining the discount division of Cook United, Inc., Anderson was employed by Gibson Discount Center in Big Spring for 3 1/2 years as department manager.

Bill Hewlett, H and H Sales and Service, has announced that Charlie Marstrand won't stay retired — he has joined his firm as appliance sales manager.

Said Hewlett, "Marstrand will be setting his own prices and handling all appliances throughout the store as a part of the organization. We are extremely thrilled to have him."

Mr. Hewlett hopes everyone in the community will stop by and welcome Charlie Marstrand to H and H.

Good Rules

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years in the Monroe, La. News-Star. Yesterday I found a yellowed clipping in a box of things. I can't even tell you how many years ago I put it away, but it applies even more today with so many old folks in rest homes today. I hope you'll reprint it.

MRS. WINNIE BRAINS
DEAR MRS. B.: With pleasure. And here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: Years ago, when my widowed mother came to live with me and my husband, she made our lives so miserable that I determined that I would never bring such misery to my children if I ever had to live with them. One day I sat down and wrote myself a letter. In it were some pertinent rules, and on the outside of the envelope I wrote, 'To be opened on the day I go to live with my daughter, heaven forbid.' I tucked it away in an old book and forgot about it. I've been widowed and self-sufficient for 4 years, but now I was recently forced to give up my job and go live with my oldest daughter. I've opened that letter and I think your older readers might benefit from it, as I intend to. Here are the rules:

1. Give what you can toward your keep. Any budget will stretch just so far.
2. Keep yourself clean and neat.
3. Remember, it is THEIR home. Be especially considerate of HIM. He allowed her to bring you here.
4. Give them privacy at every opportunity.

5. If they want to go away on a vacation, but are hesitant because of you, offer to visit another relative or friend so they will be free to go.
 6. Don't offer any advice or express any opinions unless asked.
 7. Volunteer information that they might be too embarrassed to ask for, such as arrangements for your burial, hospitalization, etc.
- These rules were written over 20 years ago! I read them often and am determined to keep them."

DEAR ABBY: I am very happily married to Bill who has a full beard. Many of my married friends ask me how I can stand to make love to a man with all that hair on his face. Well, to tell you the truth, I love it!

When Bill and I were first married, he was clean shaven. His hair is dark and very coarse and it grew in so fast that he would have to shave again in the evening if we were going out. In those days when we made love, my poor sensitive face was rubbed practically raw by his prickling bristle-type whiskers. Now that he has let his beard grow, it's soft and silky. I hope he never shaves it off.

BILL'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It's refreshing to hear a good word about beards because I'm sure many are hair to stay.

'MINNESOTA FATS' KING Hustlers' Hotbed

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Writer
JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (AP) —

At the end of Broadway, the main drag of this small community in the southern Illinois corn country, is the nation's No. 1 outpost for pool players. Turning up at Joe "Paulie" Jansco's Show Bar several times a month are the foremost hustlers, carrying their dismantled cues in neat, leather cases and loaded with cash for shootouts.

KING OF THE CUE
The rotund king of the cue and ivory realm is Rudolph Wanderone, better known as Minnesota Fats, whose home is 30 miles away in Dowell. If a challenger has enough money, Fats is ready to take it away from him in private matches that may last for a week in the tournament pit of the Show Bar. But shootouts can be between any number of challengers from any part of the country who set dates to meet one another on the neutral grounds of the Show Bar.

A showdown in one pocket pool usually involves $500 to $600 a game and a great player, like 32-year-old Ronnie Allen of Burbank, Calif., can make Fats sweat through a series of about 50 games—or until the stake, say $12,000 or $15,000, has all passed to one player.

"Fats has been beaten, but perhaps only seldom, and you don't hear about it," says Paulie. "Hell, if he never had been beaten you don't think he would get these kind of matches do you?"

POOL BOSS
Paulie, a Johnston City native, started the Show Bar a dozen years ago with his late brother, George. Paulie is the established pool boss of the country and is recognized as the hustlers' best friend. Twice a year he holds tournaments at his Show Bar—Tournament of Champions and the World Hustlers' Tournament—with prize money for both toaling about $40,000.

Upward of 60 players compete in straight pool, nine-ball or one-pocket for an entry fee of $125 per division, if this type format is used.

"I don't make any money," says Paulie. "But my bar business triples. In the tournament pit I charge $10 an hour for each table, and in back of my place on other tables I charge $5 an hour."

The sprawling Show Bar—just off Interstate 57, an express route between Chicago and Cairo, and six miles from an airport handling daily flights—is two miles from the Johnston City business district.

The town of 3,900 has a community pride in the Show Bar, which has done more than anything, through the pool tournaments put on by Paulie, to make Johnston City a dot on the map instead of a speck.

PROUD OF IT
"Paulie's place is run very orderly and is used taken more for granted than anything else by the citizens," says Mary Williams, city clerk. "They all seem kind of proud of it, but don't pay much attention to it, except those really interested in pool."

There are only two regular pool halls in the town—Eight Ball Billiards and Johnston City Recreation—and they cannot be tabbed as lively spots. The main going ons are at Teen Town, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is there that school children gather on weekends for organized dances.

It's a sleepy, little town and about the only lights burning after 9 p.m. are those flooding the tables of the Show Bar.

"It gets so quiet you can only hear the clicks of the pool balls," said one resident.

GIRL GOAL: (Q) I am going to California in August for a few days. While I am there I hope to meet an actress who is a star in a TV series.

From what I have read about her, I know that she is 16 and not married. My goal is to have a date with her while I am in California.

This may seem impossible, I know, but I am a boy who sets his sights high.

So I need your advice on how to meet this girl in California. Please give me some hope. — Six-Foot-Two in Pennsylvania.

(A) Your outlook is super. Anything is attainable if you really work toward it and believe you can do it. Determination and hard work are an amazing combination.

I have found through experience that famous people are usually friendly and glad to meet their admirers. The problem is getting to them. Ask this girl's studio, agent or anyone you can find who is close to her to help you get a personal interview with her. After you meet her face to face, the rest will be up to you.

LIP LOAD: (Q) I want to ask you something. What can I say when someone asks me, "Are you growing a mustache?"

One girl I know shaves but my mother says it will make it worse. I need help. — Hairy in New Hampshire.

(A) Do not shave it. Go to an electrolysis expert and have the lip hair removed permanently.

While this is being done, just smile and say "no" when anybody asks that nasty question. Smile again when it's gone and the nasty person looks at you and gasps.

Surety Bond Guarantee Plan Works

DALLAS (AP) — The Small Business Administration's surety bond guarantee program has resulted in 369 contractors in its Southwest region obtaining contracts out of 1,007 in the nation.

Region Director Fred S. Neumann announced that since the program began last September, the 369 contractors in a five-state area have obtained $9,133,519 in contracts. The region includes Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The surety bond guarantee program participants include about one third minority contractors.

SBA guarantees the surety companies 90 per cent of any losses they might sustain. In return for this guarantee, the contractor pays SBA two-tenths of one per cent of the value of the contract, and the surety company pays SBA a fee of 10 per cent of the premium charged the contractor by the surety.

An important meeting of the board of trustees of the United Fund has been set for 5:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The session will be in the Chamber of Commerce conference room, and all UF representatives are urged to be present. The budget screening committee will make its report, and the board will be asked to adopt an over-all budget and establish a campaign goal, according to Morris Robertson, president.

Initial steps toward shaping up the campaign organization for the autumn also may be taken.

Spot Boll Weevils In Cotton Fields

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Despite scattered rain in Texas last week, much of the state still needs moisture for crops, pasture and ranges, the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says.

Dr. John Hutchison, director, said crops are progressing well except in drier areas. Cotton and grain harvests are active in South Texas while crops are fruiting on the High Plains.

Boll weevils and bollworms increased in many cotton fields and sorghum midge threatened some late planted grain sorghum, he said.

Total screwworm cases in Texas for the year neared the 30,000 mark, Hutchison said. Five cases were found in dogs recently.

District agricultural agents gave these conditions:

SOUTH PLAINS: Hot weather boosted the cotton crop. Some hail-damaged cotton was still being replanted to grain sorghum, soybeans and peas. Rains caused weed problems in some areas. Grain sorghum made good progress and irrigation was active. The onion harvest was about 60 per cent complete with good yields. Irish potatoes also were harvested with good yields. Ranges continued in good condition.

ROLLING PLAINS: Good rains fell in some counties, leaving moisture levels adequate in about half the district. Cotton was fruiting well with bolls forming on the older crop. Fleahoppers and boll weevils caused some damage. Grain sorghum also progressed well and guar, planting was about complete. Ranges and livestock were in good shape.

FAR WEST: Good rains in the Davis Mountains should boost range conditions in that area. Dryland crops throughout the district needed rain. The cantaloupe harvest was in full swing in the Pecos area with good yields and excellent prices reported. Harvesting of onions around Van Horn was slowed by rains. Farm and ranch labor was short.

WEST CENTRAL: Cotton was squaring and made good progress. Peanuts were blooming. All crops needed rain. About half the watermelon crop has been harvested. Pecan growers fought webworms and aphids, and some nuts dropped due to moisture stress. Some ranges were so dry they presented a fire hazard. Many lambs and calves moved to market.

SOUTHWEST: Harvest of grain sorghum was in full swing. The corn harvest will start soon. The vegetable harvest was about complete, and land was being prepared for fall crops. Pastures and ranges were still in good shape but needed rain to maintain growth and quality. Forage crops also needed rain.

SOUTH: Cotton harvesting gained momentum in the Rio Grande Valley while the grain sorghum harvest continued. Some grass seed was being harvested in Zapata County. Hay cutting and baling continued active. Both pastures and livestock were in good condition although the screwworm situation remained critical. Ranch labor was scarce.

Equalization Board Session

Final session of the Howard County tax equalization board will be Monday, July 31, at 1 p.m. County commissioners will meet in equalization session with owners of mobile home parks in the county.

The meeting is in connection with recommendations by the equalization board in earlier sessions that the valuation of lots in mobile home parks be raised. The increased amount of taxes would be paid by mobile home park owners, not the persons renting the lot for a mobile home. Novis Womack Evaluation Service has reviewed the mobile home properties in question and will recommend values.

Police Arrest Arson Suspects

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Police arrested three boys, ages 11, 12 and 15, Saturday in connection with a fire at the Holiday Hotel last Sunday night which claimed five lives.

Arson Investigator Blas Arcos ruled arson last week, stating two fires had been set, one at the front door and one at the side door.

Patrolman Carlos Thompson of the Police Community Relations Bureau said the break in the case came with a call from a woman about the trio.

Thompson said he and a police sergeant picked up the three in a patrol car, took them to police headquarters, read them their rights and they confessed.

Thompson said the youths live near the fire site. He said one of the youths told him they set the fire "just for the fun of it." They will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Campaign Leaders Sack Liddy For Demo Breakin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's campaign organization has fired a lawyer who refused to answer questions by the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in connection with a break-in at Democratic National Headquarters.

G. Gordon Liddy, an attorney for the finance division of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, was fired June 28, De Van L. Shumway, director of public affairs, said Saturday.

The reason for the firing, Shumway said, was "because he elected not to respond to certain question by FBI agents in relation to the incident at Democratic National headquarters."

"It is our policy that all employees cooperate fully with appropriate law enforcement officials in the conduct of this investigation," Shumway added.

Five men were arrested May 15 in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee, including James W. McCord Jr., security coordinator for the re-election committee. The five had bugging equipment with them when they were arrested.

Shumway said he didn't know what questions Liddy was asked. Liddy, contacted at his home in Oxon Hill, Md., said: "I do not want to speak with any member of the press on any subject."

The FBI also refused comment. The break-in prompted a $1 million damage suit by the Democratic National Committee against the re-election committee.

Webb Selects Honor Airmen

Monthly and quarterly honors for airmen and non-commissioned officers at Webb AFB have been announced.

A.I.C. Arnold L. Ison was selected airman of the quarter from the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS) for the period April to June.

Sgt. William W. Teague, a native of Odessa, was chosen non-commissioned officer for the same quarter. He is also from 3560th OMS.

Again from the same squadron, Sgt. Roy G. Prince was selected non-commissioned officer of the month, and A.I.C. Larry D. Lambright was airman of the month, both for June.

Sgt. Clarence R. Mauzy was chosen NCO of the month from the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron.

Says Wallace Petition Grows

DALLAS (AP) — Hub Horton of Odessa, a leader in the American Party's Texas wing, said Saturday the party has almost half the signatures needed to put George Wallace's name on the November general election ballot.

The party needs 23,000 signatures on a petition asking that Wallace be placed on the ballot. Horton said, "I guess we have about 12,000 signatures. I just came from Fort Worth—where we are organizing a big petition push—and we are stepping up our efforts in the Dallas area, too."

The deadline may already have passed for acceptance of such petitions. The original deadline was June 30. This was extended by a Midland judge to Sept. 1, but the judge said that current court action could nullify his action.

Police Check On Burglary Cases

Police investigated two reports of burglaries over the weekend, but no items were taken in either attempt.

Two male suspects were seen driving away in a late-model, brown sports sedan at 4:59 a.m. Saturday when police investigated a reported burglary at Bennett's Pharmacy, 305 W. 16.

Police reported that no entry into the building had been gained. Tomasa Vela, 627 NW 4th, reported to police at 1:54 p.m. that her home had been broken into.

SHRINERS INSTALL — Imperial Potentate Harry B. Struby, Evansville, Ind., left, was installed Friday evening in Dallas along with Imperial Outer Guard Randolph R. Thomas, Jacksonville, Fla., and other new officials. The ceremony climaxed the week-long Shrinetennial — the 100th anniversary of the Shrine.

TV VIOLENCE Psychologist Says It's OK

By CLIFF SMITH
Copley News Service

A psychologist gives violent television shows a clean bill of mental health.

Blaming the development of aggressive behavior on TV, said Dr. Robert D. Singer, makes about as much sense as to blame it on old comic books or radio's "The Green Hornet," "I Love a Mystery" or "The Shadow."

He said the only difference is that yesteryear's entertainment staples for the young have been replaced by television as the convenient scapegoat to explain away erring behavior in America.

More likely causes of aggression in this society, Singer said, are deprivation, frustration, competition for scarce resources and "ego devaluation."

EGO ACTION

The last, he explained, is what happens when someone insults you or your race, religion or politics.

"Ego devaluation is very apt to make someone get violent," Singer warned in an interview. A professor at the University of California at Riverside, Singer and a colleague set out a few months ago to field study the possibility that TV critics might be right about it increasing aggressive behavior in children.

Six hundred boys between the ages of 10 and 18 in residential schools ranging from high-priced prep schools to custodial institutions were chosen and divided into two equal-sized groups.

WILD DIET

One group was shown a steady diet of tube shows packed with what Singer calls "fantasy aggression." Two hours a day for six weeks all these boys saw shows like "Wild, Wild West," "Mod Squad," "Combat" and "Bonanza."

The other 300 subjects got a similarly intensive exposure to Pabulum and whipped cream — shows like "Flipper," "Father Knows Best," "Petticoat Junction" and "The Lawrence Welk Show."

All the boys in both groups were carefully observed for any changes in behavior. This need for close observation is why residential schools were chosen for the study; it made it easier for investigators to keep tabs on their subjects.

AGGRESSION

"The results were that we didn't find any increase in aggression in the kids that watched the violent shows," Singer said. "They were no more aggressive than the other group; not the slightest bit."

"I would say that there is very little reason for parents to worry about what their children watch on television. But, I think it is important to add that there has not yet been an adequate study of young children."

He explained that by age six and usually by age four, normal children learn to differentiate between reality and fantasy and it is possible that before this development step they are more vulnerable to dramatized violence.

Singer noted, however, that the studies on young children which have been done do not prove this is the case.

GENUINE DANGER

He also noted that his study recently was replicated on a larger scale by investigators in Michigan. Singer said the results, still unpublished in the scientific literature, were the same as those he got.

How, then, was it possible for a U. S. surgeon general's report to conclude that violent television dramas do have an effect of increasing aggressiveness in children?

"The answer is that most of the research on which the report was based simply was not pertinent," Singer said. "The report relied heavily on a lot of very artificial experiments in laboratories and on highly interpretive correlative studies."

Singer explained that one study, for example, established a correlation between habitually aggressive children and watching television violence.

He said the assumption was that the television caused the behavior, when, in fact, there is more evidence that it is the other way around. Thus, a maladjusted, antisocial child, without friends, is more inclined to watch and identify with television violence.

Helpful Attitude Lands Industry

STANTON — A cooperative attitude on every hand from Stanton people is credited by Don Tollison, Chamber of Commerce president, with the location of a new industry here.

Tollison said that the Martin County Industrial Foundation and local residents had a hand in negotiations which led to an announcement by Charles Priddy, Midland, president of Magnatex Corporation, that its subsidiary manufacturer of children's clothing, Dotty Dan, will open a plant here. It will supplement production from the plant which has operated at Lamesa for the past 15 years.

Chamber and Foundation officials, with the help of many other residents, are presently shaping up the building for the plant, 109 N. St. Peter St.

"Since moving to Stanton I've seen a change in attitude in people locally. We're getting names of prospective industries from local people. This is really important to have the community behind the organizations," Tollison said. "People here believe there's more room to grow than not to grow."

Dotty Dan, Inc. is expected to begin production at its new Stanton installation within two weeks, Tollison reported. James Brown, the company production manager, interviewed applicants Wednesday and Thursday of last week and will continue interviews on Tuesday in the Texas Electric Reddy Room, Stanton.

Employment of women residents should climb to 30 within the first year, with an expected future employment of 30.

"We are very pleased to have a company the caliber of Dotty Dan as a part of our community," Tollison said. The addition is the culmination of work and planning of the Martin County Industrial Foundation, headed by Paige Eiland and the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, he added.

He named two factors as being particularly influential in the decision to locate Dotty Dan's new plant in Stanton. Of primary importance was the present location of Magnatex Corporation headquarters in Midland, and the location of the existing Dotty Dan plant in Lamesa. Second was the availability of labor in Stanton, Tollison said. In view of the location, he said, Stanton was an ideal choice for placement of the new plant.

Stanton growth-oriented organizations have two more good prospects. "Our Foundation is working under the principle that, though Stanton is small in size and population, we have labor available to attract the small industry," Tollison said. These two prospects would bring another 15 or so people into the community.

Texas COPE Backs Demos

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas labor leaders indicated their support of Sen. George McGovern Friday, taking sharp issue with the national AFL-CIO.

The administrative committee of the Texas AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) voted overwhelmingly to "express strong disagreement" with the national AFL-CIO executive council's refusal to endorse McGovern and ask that the decision be reconsidered.

Texas COPE is not allowed to endorse presidential candidates, but Texas AFL-CIO President Roy Evans said he felt Friday's action did not conflict with that prohibition.

"Certainly it is within the scope of our authority and responsibility to express the sense of this committee that in the fall campaign, Texas labor should be aligned with its traditional allies—youths, the minorities, women and senior citizens—to work for a better Texas and a better America," Evans said.

The administrative committee said its "number one support of McGovern at the priority in 1972 remains to help time of the nomination. statewide Democratic Party Labor's specific role in the candidates get elected in No- fall campaign has not been de- vember and to oppose Nixon, termined, but the adminis- Agnew and Connally." trative committee said Friday Evans had been a longtime that registration efforts will be supporter of Sen. LL Tournament

By DON COOPER
Herald Sports Editor

The District Three Little League Tournament is under way in Big Spring. Last week saw the first round games played. Last night, the first game of the second round was played.

In the tournament, which started Monday night, first round action saw the Big Spring Texas League down Midland Northern, 4-2; Big Spring International edged Midland Northwestern, 1-0; Big Spring National walloped Midland Southern, 15-4; Midland Tower tripped Big Spring American, 3-1; and Midland North Central edged Midland Eastern, 2-1.

In the opening game of the tournament, Harvey Hernandez survived a shaky first inning to lead the Texas All-Stars to a 4-2 win over the Midland All-Stars. Hernandez was touched for only five hits; however, two of the five came in the first inning when Midland scored both of its runs.

The Texas League scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning. Tony Rubio opened with a walk. Luis Rodriguez followed with a single. With one out and runners on first and second, James Pinker doubled, scoring both runners. He scored on a pair of throwing errors.

Tuesday night saw a pitching duel as Don Roberson of the International League and Terry Bond of Midland Northwestern handcuffed the batters. The International League won, 1-0, when Allen Hollandsworth tripled over the right fielder's head in the fourth inning. Hollandsworth scored the game's only run on Roberson's single.

Bond struck out 11 International batters, including five in a row in one stretch. Roberson, a lefthander, struck out six Midland batters. In addition, Roberson did not walk a single batter.

Unlike the previous two games, Wednesday night's game was no contest. The National League All-Stars romped to a 15-4 win over Midland Southern. The National League scored in every inning except the fourth en route to the win. Kyle Pfeiffer was the winning pitcher. Pfeiffer also had a perfect night at the plate, going three-for-three.

In Thursday night's game, Mike Richard the game and allowed just five hits as he of Midland Tower scored the first run of kept the American League batters off-balance throughout the first five innings of the game. Midland won, 3-1. Richard tired in the last inning when he was touched for a run. Charles Vernon of the American League hurled a five-hitter; however, Vernon was hurt by costly errors which allowed all three Midland runs to cross the plate.

Two Midland teams tangled Friday night. Midland North Central slipped past Midland Eastern, 2-1. North Central scored in the first and sixth innings to take the win in a game which saw pitchers Doug Schmidt (North Central) and Kenneth Williams (Eastern) tie up in a real duel. Both pitchers allowed just three hits in the game. The winning run for North Central was scored when Jeff Hull opened the sixth with a double to right center. Mike Howard was safe on an error by shortstop Jeffery Loudd. Then Craig Dixon, pinchhitting for David Ross, drew a base-on-balls to load the bases. After Gary Raney struck out, Lee Johnson singled to right scoring Hull.

Two other Big Spring teams are headed for tournament action. In the Sophomore League playoffs, the Red Sox claimed the loop championship by taking 8-1 and 5-4 wins from the Cubs in the best-of-three playoff series.

The Cubs had won the first half of the Sophomore League season and the Red Sox had taken the title in the second half. The championship playoff determined the right to represent Big Spring in the district tournament. The tournament will get under way in Johnny Stone Park Wednesday night.

In the Hi-Junior League, the favored Big Spring Hardware Tigers were upset by Kwanis, 7-6. Kwanis will go on to represent Big Spring in the district tournament at San Angelo later this month.

Another tournament date to remember: The Miss Softball America League State Tournament will be held in Big Spring Aug. 4-5. This is the first time that a state tournament has been held in Big Spring in several years. This is also the first year for the Miss Softball program in Big Spring. Mrs. Jane Upton is director of the program.

Siebert Hurls Boston To Win

BOSTON (AP) — Sonny Siebert pitched a five-hitter and Doug Griffin drove in one run and scored another as the Boston Red Sox beat the Oakland A's 3-0 in the second game of a day-night American League doubleheader Saturday.

The A's won the first game 5-3 as pinch-hitter Gene Tenace came through with a two-run triple following a crucial infield error in the eighth inning. Siebert, 9-5, struck out six and did not allow an Oakland runner to second base after Angel Mantual made it that far in the second inning on a single and an infield out.

Tommy Harper drove a two-out double to right field in the third inning, then scored on Griffin's single for Boston's first run.

In the fifth, Griffin and Carl Yastrzemski walked with two out. Reggie Smith singled Griffin home but was tagged out trying to stretch his hit into a double.

Boston came back for another run in the seventh. Oakland's first-game victory in the nationally televised contest was made possible when Boston shortstop John Kennedy and second baseman Griffin collided on Dave Duncan's pop fly with two out in the eighth.

The error, charged to Griffin, allowed Duncan to reach first base. He moved to second when Ted Kubiak was walked and both runners scored when Tenace, batting for pitcher Darold Knowles, tripled to center field.

Tenace's game-winning hit broke a 3-3 tie that existed since the seventh inning, when Boston came up with a run on Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly. Yastrzemski had earlier tied the game 2-2 with a home run in the fifth, his first homer in 306 at-bats, or 84 games, dating back to Sept. 3, 1971.

Don Wilson, Cedeno Pace Astros To Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Don Wilson scattered six hits and Cesar Cedeno hit a three-run homer, leading the Houston Astros to a 7-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Saturday night.

Wilson, 6-7, held Chicago hitless through the first three innings, retiring the side in the

Cincy Clips Pirates, 6-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch-hitter Ted Uhlaender's bunt single on a squeeze play highlighted a tie-breaking, two-run rally in the eighth inning that carried the Cincinnati Reds to an uphill 6-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday night.

With the game tied 3-3 going into the eighth, Johnny Bench drew a leadoff walk and Tony Perez singled, knocking out Pirate starter Bob Moose, 5-6.

Oiler Guard Breaks Rib

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers, already hurting in their offensive line, suffered another mild blow Saturday when it was learned that starting left guard Tom Regner broke a rib during Friday's practice and will be out a week to 10 days.

But the Oilers received a boost when tackle Gene Ferguson reported to camp. Ferguson, unhappy over the contract offered him this season, had held out before telephoning Friday and saying he would report.

He did not arrive in time enough to join Saturday's controlled 70-play scrimmage, the first held in training camp.

Starting quarterback Dan Pastorini and backup man Lynn Dickey each played half of the scrimmage. Dickie threw 8 of 13 for 102 yards and two touchdowns while Pastorini threw 8 of 17 for 79 yards.

The Oiler offense scored also on a 16-yard running play by rookie running back Willie Rodgers.

Two other Oiler holdouts, linebacker Ron Pritchard and defensive tackle Mike Tilleman, were in camp again for a second day but again they did not join the workouts.

Braves Nip Cards, 8-7

ATLANTA (AP) — Dusty Baker greeted reliever Tony Cloninger with a home run leading off the 10th inning, powering the Atlanta Braves to an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

Car Thieves Hit Golfers

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lanny Wadkins' new 1972 Thunderbird was stolen from his hotel parking lot early Saturday morning, making the rookie the third pro golfer to be victimized by car thieves in two days.

Automobiles belonging to Bob Murphy and veteran Miller Barber were stolen from the same parking lot a day earlier.

For Barber, it was the second time in four years that his car had been stolen in Akron while he was playing in the American Golf Classic.

"It's a shame to Akron for me," said Barber, from Sherman, Tex. "I won't be back again." He failed to qualify for the final

LL TOURNAMENT

Pfeiffer, Spence Lead Nationals To 8-4 Win

The National Little League All-Stars continued to display the most powerful offense in the District Three tournament as they defeated the International League, 8-4, Saturday night.

The National League team earned its way into the quarter-final game with a 15-4 thrashing of Midland Southern. The next opponent for it will be the Texas League of Big Spring. The teams will play at 8 p.m. Tuesday in a semifinal game.

National started the game fast by scoring three runs in the bottom of the first inning. They came after Lloyd Jolly, Kenny Fowler and Kyle Pfeiffer led off with singles to load the bases. Mitch Harris followed with a ground ball to shortstop, and an effort to catch Jolly at the plate wasn't in time.

After J. Wray Warren popped up to the pitcher, Paul Spence got another hit off pitcher Mike Gomez to make the score 2-0. Whitney West walked to force in the final run of the inning.

The International League, though, came back strongly in the second and even went ahead. Ken Coffey led off with a routine fly ball to right field, but the ball was dropped. Dale Hollandsworth walked before Don Roberson struck out. Mike Camp walked to fill the bases. Warren, the starting pitcher, then forced in a run by walking Gomez. When he forced in another one by walking Glenn Reyes, Paul Spence came in from left field to take over on the mound.

He promptly hit Robert Underwood with a pitch to tie up the game. Ron Roberson followed with a single to put the Internationals in front, 4-3. Mark Viera struck out, and Ken Coffey grounded pitcher to first to end the inning.

The National League took back the lead in the bottom of the fourth when Jolly walked, and Fowler knocked him home with a long double to left center field. Fowler advanced to third on the play at the plate and then came home on a single by Pfeiffer.

In the bottom of the fifth, the National Leaguers put the tight game out of reach. Duane Thomas led off the inning with a clean single and was then wild pitched to second and then to third. Jolly popped up to the shortstop, but Fowler hit a deep sacrifice fly to left field. Pfeiffer, a large player, then stepped to the plate and worked the count to one and two before blasting a line shot well over the fence in the left field power alley. It was the first home run of the tournament that began Monday. When he crossed the plate, he was mobbed by his teammates and knocked to the ground.

Mitch Harris, inspired by the homer, singled to left. Warren hit a routine ground ball to second, but it got through for an error to put men on first and third. Spence then singled to drive home the final run of the game.

Spence pitched the final 4 2/3 innings of the game to pick up the victory. The International League got only two hits in the game, but they did have men on base all night because of walks and errors. Gomez got the loss for them.

The National League banded out 12 hits including three by Pfeiffer and two by Fowler. Ron Roberson had both of the hits for the International League.

Defensive play was difficult, particularly early in the game, because of gale winds coming from a storm in the southwestern part of the city. No rain, however, fell at the park.

ANGELS TAKE OPENER, 1-0

Yankees Split Twinbill

NEW YORK (AP) — Rob Gardner pitched a six-hitter that carried the New York Yankees to a 7-1 triumph over the California Angels and a split of their Saturday doubleheader.

The Angels scored their first run off New York pitching in 38 innings on Andy Kosco's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning and beat the Yankees 1-0 in the opener.

Prior to Saturday's nightcap, Gardner had only pitched three complete games in his career—all with the New York Mets in 1966.

Making his second start of the season, the lefthander helped the Yankees keep a low-scoring hex over the Angels. California has scored but two runs in the last 45 innings against Yankee pitching.

Gardner, 2-0, was staked to a 3-0 lead in the first inning as Bobby Murcer hit a two-run homer, his 14th, and Ron Blomberg belted a solo shot off Nolan Ryan, 11-8.

The Yankees added two runs in the third on Roy White's homer with Murcer on base and two more in the fourth on run-scoring singles by Jerry Kenney and Horace Clarke.

Prior to California's first-game triumph, the Angels had been dealt three straight shutouts by Yankee pitchers. California broke a scoreless tie with the late uprising of New York reliever Sparky Lyle, 2-2. The Angels loaded the bases with none out on a single by Leo Cardenas, a ground-rule double by Vada Pinson and an intentional walk to Bob Oliver.

Lyle, pitching in relief of starter Steve Kline, then made Ken McMullen hit into a force-out at home before giving up Kosco's long fly to left that drove home Pinson from third.

Steve Barber, with two innings of relief help from Eddie Fisher, won his third game in four decisions.

AMERICAN GOLF CLASSIC

Bert Yancey Captures Tourney Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Bert Yancey ambled through sweltering heat to a three-under-par 67 Saturday and established a three-stroke lead after the third round of the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

The 33-year-old Yancey had it four under par until he bogeyed the final hole on the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course. Still he posted a 54-hole total of 204—six under.

Rookie Lanny Wadkins, who matched the course record with a 64 a few hours after his car was stolen, and Kermit Zarley were tied for second at 207.

Zarley shot a 68.

Arnold Palmer recovered from a double-bogey six to match par 70 in the 90-degree heat and was one of three at 208, four strokes back.

Defending champion Jerry Heard, Mike Hill and Hale Irwin followed at 209. Hill and Irwin matched 70s and Heard moved into contention with a 68.

Steve Melnyk and Ray Floyd, who shared the lead with Yancey starting play on the hot and humid day, fell back. Melnyk had a 73 for 210 and Floyd 74-211.

Yancey, who scored the last of his six tour titles more than 1 1/2 years ago in the 1970 Bing Crosby, shook his head when asked if he thought he could win in Sunday's final round.

"I don't know," the former West Point cadet said. "I just don't know. It's something you don't talk about. You just try to do it."

Palmer scrambled all day. He had five birdies, but added three bogeys and the costly double bogey on the ninth hole that knocked him out of a share of the lead.

"One thing's for sure," Palmer said. "I can't play any worse. All I can do is score worse."

"I ruined a real good round

PUZZLEMENT — Bert Yancey watches as his long putt failed to drop on the eighth hole. He finished the third round of the American Golf Classic at Akron, Ohio, with six-under-par for the 54 holes and the tournament lead.

'BUILT LIKE A FIREPLUG' Devaney Evaluates Newhouse

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — back Franco Harris of Penn State. "Harris is a big character," said Newhouse "and Penn State has a similar offense to Nebraska. So he figures to be ahead of me. But I'm just happy to be with the All-Stars. It's a great experience."

Newhouse evaluated his situation and said "Everything is working out just fine. It's quite an honor to be out here with all those great athletes."

IN ATLANTA STADIUM Sluggers Fill Rosters For All-Star Contest

ATLANTA (AP) — A host of impressive sluggers will be teeing off in one of baseball's best parks for home runs Tuesday night when the American League and National League All Stars stage the 43rd renewal of their annual mid-season clash.

Home runs dominated this game last year with each team connecting three times at Tiger Stadium in Detroit as the Americans ended an eight-game losing streak by beating the Nationals 6-4.

That reduced the National League's over-all lead in the series to 23-18. One game ended in a tie.

This year, the sluggers will be taking aim at Atlanta Stadium's cozy fences. In 31 games played by the Braves there this season, 78 homers have been hit and there were 188 homers hit there last year — most for any park in the major leagues.

The dimensions are delightful for long ball hitters—330 feet down each foul line and 400 feet in straightaway center field.

And waiting beyond the fence is the Braves' home run mascot, Chief Noc-homa, who goes into a war dance salute every time a ball sails over the wall.

He figures to do his share of high stepping with sluggers Dick Allen, Reggie Jackson, Carl Yastrzemski, Bobby Murcer and Bill Freehan dotting the starting American League lineup and Lee May, Joe Torre, Henry Aaron, Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Johnny Bench for the Nationals.

It was Jackson's towering two-run pinch homer that started an American League comeback in last year's game after early homers by Bench and Aaron had staked the Nationals to a 3-0 lead.

Ironically, the American League's other two home run hitters in last year's game won't be around for this one. Frank Robinson was traded to Los Angeles of the National League and did not make the team. Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota's veteran slugger, was not selected for the AL team.

The American League will have only three starters from last year's team in the opening lineup. They are second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore and left fielder Yastrzemski of Boston. A fourth repeater, Luis Aparicio of Boston was elected to the starting shortstop job but will not play because of an injury. Oakland's Bert Campaneris replaced him on the AL squad.

Jackson, a reserve last year, will start in right field with New York's Murcer in center and Freehan of Detroit catching.

Allen, traded to Chicago over the winter, was the top AL vote getter with 1,092,758 of the record 3,171,556 votes cast in the nation-wide fan poll.

Bench of the Reds who led all players in the balloting with 1,229,677 votes, will be starting catcher for the fourth straight year with teammate Joe Morgan elected to the starting job at second base. The Pirates' Clemente and Stargell will hold down two of the outfield jobs with Aaron of Atlanta, elected to the starting lineup for the eighth straight time, handling the other.

Other NL starters will be Houston's May at first base, Torre of St. Louis at third and

Price Pavers, Midway Take Loop Titles

Price Pavers captured the American League championship in the Big Spring Slow-pitch Softball League with a sparkling 21-1 record. The Pavers were assured of first place in the final standings when runner-up St. Paul's Lutheran was outslugged by Bob Brock Ford, 11-10, Thursday night.

Friday night, the Pavers took a 10-0 forfeit win from Big Spring First Baptist. St. Paul's ran its record to 19-3 for the season with a 25-7 romp over the Coahoma Jaycees.

In the National League, Midway took the title on the final day of regular season play with a 10-0 forfeit win over Bill Reed Insurance. Midway finished the season with a 15-7 mark, one game ahead of the Big Spring Jaycees, who finished 14-8.

In the other game Friday night, Bob Brock Ford defeated Intech, 14-10, to win its seventh straight game.

Thursday night, Intech defeated Hillcrest Baptist, 23-4; Big Spring Jaycees clipped Coahoma First Baptist, 11-8, and the Coahoma Jaycees slipped past Westside Center, 2-1.

The over-all league championship will be determined in a single-elimination tournament. The tournament will start Tuesday. At 8 p.m. American League runner-up St. Paul's Lutheran will meet National League champion Midway. At 9:15 p.m., American League champion Price Pavers will take on National League runner-up Big Spring Jaycees.

San Francisco Nips New York Mets, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chris Speier scored the winning run in the last of the ninth inning on Danny Frisella's wild pitch with the bases loaded as the San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Mets 2-1 Saturday in National League action.

Frisella, 3-5, pitching the last inning after starter Jon Matlack worked eight strong innings for the Mets, got into a jam immediately by leading Ed Goodson's single and an intentional pass to Tito Fuentes. The righthander then worked the count to 1-2 on Doug Rader before throwing the baseball

Cardinals Face 'Dogs'

The Big Spring Cardinals, still boasting a perfect season, face another threat today when the Plainview Bulldogs play a return engagement here starting at 1 p.m. A double-header is on tap.

Next Sunday the Cards journey to Snyder to meet the Redlegs, a team they have not faced all season.

The big clash comes Oct. 6 when the Cards and their arch-rivals, the Big Spring Tiger Cubs, face each other here.

So far the Cards stand 16-0 for the season.

Special guests for this afternoon's double bill will be the Texas All-Star Little League team which won its first round in the District playoffs.

Orlando Olague may get the pitching nod, but other probabilities are Tony Fierro, Joe Cadenhead and Pano Rodriguez.

IN COWBOY CAMP Feeling Of Confidence

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A feeling of confidence pervades the world champion Dallas Cowboys' training camp. This relaxed feeling comes with success. The Cowboys, who finally erased the agony of being second best, are now concentrating on maintaining momentum and warding off complacency.

"We reported to camp in our best physical shape ever," said backup quarterback Craig Morton, who lost his starting job to Roger Staubach last year. "To me this shows confidence, but certainly not overconfidence or complacency. It is a mark of maturity for us."

"We had to report in our best shape because we know there is a longer and tougher road ahead. That's part of being champions."

After narrowly missing the championship many times, the Cowboys got Staubach to guide them to their first Super Bowl victory last year. Now there is talk of a Dallas dynasty.

"I think we have the potential to win every game," said Staubach. "When we go out onto the field I have no doubt that we can win under any circumstances. But no one can say whether we will be a dynasty."

Coach Tom Landry also is cautious when talking about a dynasty.

"You can't make a dynasty," said Landry. "History makes a dynasty. Competition is so fierce that all you can really do is just play every game well. Every week is Super Bowl Week when you're on top."

Landry is convinced that his team gets off to the sluggish start that it has for the past two years, there will be no second championship and no dynasty.

"The pressure would be great on us to come from behind

BS Cowboys In Rodeo

Big Spring will be strongly represented in the American Junior Rodeo Championships Aug. 15-19 at Pueblo West, Colo., as more than 300 youths compete for national titles and $20,000 in cash and scholarships.

Leading the Big Spring contingent will be Wacey Cathey, 19, who currently heads the 16-19 age category in the spirited bull riding event and 17-year-old Terry Davis, who is at the top of the standings in the 16-19 bareback bronc category.

Wacey, who has competed in American Junior Rodeo Association (AJRA) sanctioned events for only two years, has already earned himself more than $800 in prize money in 1972 alone. "Unlike most of the other kids in AJRA, I didn't start to compete in rodeo events until I was 17," said Wacey. "It really got into my blood in a hurry though, and I've been enjoying it ever since."

A graduate of Coahoma High School, Wacey is now attending Western Texas College in Snyder. He first got interested in rodeo competition after being urged to join the AJRA by his father.

McCraney Fires 64

Mark McCraney gave the Munny golf course its worst blistering in two years Thursday when he fired aizzling 64.

This was three strokes off the record established two years ago by Tommy Jackson, Dallas, when he was a student at Howard County Junior College.

Mark fired nine birdies, two eagles and four pars on his hot round. He would have shattered the record but for two bogies and a double bogie on the back nine.

He played flawless golf on the front nine, ripping it apart with an eight-under 28. He faltered on the back stretch with 36, which was only one under, giving him a nine-under round.

He played in a five-man comprised of himself, Ray Gilstrap, Brownfield, Bob Waters, Jimmy Norman and Bud Bachanan.

His rounds were as follows:
Par out 444 453 444-36
McCraney 343 332 34-28
Par in 344 445 343-37
McCraney 463 355 343-36

Billings Has Been Most Consistent

ARLINGTON, Tex. — "When Rich is in there, looks like we get the hits to win," commented Texas Rangers manager Ted Williams in a recent victory in which the veteran Rich Billings contributed three hits.

Billings has been one of the most consistent Rangers with the bat since Williams turned the No. 1 catching mask over to the 29-year-old Michigan State grad after husky Hal King cooled at the plate.

Billings has been flirting with the American League's top 10 batting list for weeks. Only Boston's Carlton Fisk has been more impressive among the American League catchers with the bat this season.

Billings insists he is a streak hitter, however, which means his pursuit of the AL Top Ten catalogue is "iffy" to say the least.

Fortunately for the Rangers, the "longest ball hit in this season with runners on base, meaning he's the club's most formidable clutch hitter to date."

Williams started the 1972 season by platooning Billings and King, a system the former infielder-outfielder quickly admits isn't to his liking.

The righthanded swinging Billings proved his point in a recent four-game series in which he collected six hits, including a home run and drove in four runs. Three of those games were against righthanded pitchers.

Williams notes Billings' surge results from his getting solid wood on the ball. Williams points to Billings' first homer of the season, a shot into the left center stands in the ninth inning against the Twins at Arlington Stadium May 24, as the "longest ball hit in this season with runners on base, meaning he's the club's most formidable clutch hitter to date."

At Wimbledon, Billie Jean was a "new" Mrs. King. She wore makeup and errands for her finale with Miss Goolagong. She refused to take issue with several clearly erroneous decisions by linesmen.

Billie Jean King is a tennis player who is no longer a fan's darling. She is a former Wimbledon champion who has been replaced by a younger player.

Those days are gone. Mrs. King is too familiar a figure now. She is the old pro, refusing to bow to the new ways of the new day.

It matters not that Billie Jean King is the greatest woman tennis player in the world. There are those who would place her among the best four or five ladies ever to play the game.

Yet her reception was embarrassingly cool after she destroyed popular young Evonne Goolagong. Billie Jean needed only 50 minutes to dispose of the 19-year-old Australian, 6-3, 6-3.

So the would-be reformists again stepped aside for the older, wiser veterans. Perhaps it should not be surprising that Mrs. King has fallen from favor at Wimbledon.

Familiarity, in her case, has bred dissent. No longer is she a fresh young face a la Miss Goolagong and Chris Evert. But it goes deeper than that. The spotlight of public attention has exposed her as all too human a character.

There is Billie Jean at countless places debating with linesmen, demanding and often gaining their removal. There is Billie Jean at the Pacific Southwest Open in Los Angeles stalking off the court midway through her final match with Rosemary Casals and still demanding her share of the prize money. There is Billie Jean threatening to boycott Wimbledon and the U.S. championships at Forest Hills unless those tournaments increase prize money for women.

Mrs. King is simply too good, too outspoken to arouse favorable public sentiment, in this country or elsewhere. Tennis fans still prefer the ladies of the game to act like ladies, preferably like little girls. They are delighted when young Miss Evert says, "Once, just once, I wish some writer would say I'm sexy."

As a result, Mrs. King will be the black-caped villain of women's tennis. She is well aware of that fact, and it will be interesting to see how she responds to it.

Colonial Ups Purse

FORT WORTH — Colonial Country Club's Board of Governors has increased the purse for the 1973 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament to $150,000.

The announcement came from Pete Davis, 1972 Tournament Committee Chairman. The purse increase places Colonial in the top one-third of all tournaments on the PGA tour, according to the official 1972 PGA Tour Book.

Colonial and the Masters Tournament in Augusta, Ga., are the only two major tournaments on the PGA tour which are sponsored solely by the country clubs at which they are held.

The inaugural Colonial NIT in 1946 offered a total purse of $15,000. Other purse increases for the 27-year-old NIT are: to $20,000 in '52; $25,000 in '53; $27,300 in '59; $30,000 in '60; $40,000 in '61; $60,000 in '63; $75,000 in '64; $100,000 in '65; $110,000 in '66; $115,000 in '67; and $125,000 in '68.

Channel Cat Still Dominate Catches

Channel cat continue to dominate the catches at Lake E. V. Spence but fishermen were reporting a good variety of fish on their strings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morris, Floydada, reported catching 23 white bass up to a pound. Bill Thomas, Odessa, caught a three-pound striped bass (which are showing a terrific amount of fight), three black bass at two pounds, and 19 white bass ranging up to 2½ pounds.

William Bell, Midland, came in with several channel cat up to four pounds, a couple of black bass which hit 2½ pounds.

J. W. Purser, Big Spring, had the biggest fish of the week, a six-pound striped bass. J. W. Hunter, Midland, reported 35 channel cat ranging up to two pounds. E. B. Coen, Midland, had 30 channel cat up to two pounds and B. K. Midkiff landed 35 channel cat up to two pounds. O. J. Walker, Midland, had four channel cat, the 1½ pounds. W. E. Hardy, Snyder, had 20 white bass, also 1½ pound. J. W. Stewart, Odessa, had 15 channel cat up to 1½ pounds.

BILLIE JEAN KING No Longer Fans' Darling

By BILL FINLEY Copying News Service

It is unfortunate, in a way that those lining center court at Wimbledon recently considered prudence the better part of valor when Billie Jean King stalked off with the biggest prize in ladies' tennis.

Ten years ago, Billie Jean was the darling there. It was she who attracted the British photographers. It was Billie Jean whose antics delighted the prim, proper London fans.

Those days are gone. Mrs. King is too familiar a figure now. She is the old pro, refusing to bow to the new ways of the new day.

Pvt. Dillard C. Johnston, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dillard G. Johnston, Colorado City, is assigned to Ft. Ord, Calif., where he is training under the modern volunteer army program.

The program combines basic and advanced individual training (AIT) into an average 16-week program with less formations and inspections to give the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time. He began his training with company D, 4th Battalion, 1st brigade on June 7 and is scheduled to complete the first phase on Aug. 4. He was graduated from Big Spring High School in 1972.

Cadet Richard R. Wistrand, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Wistrand, Colorado City, is receiving practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps advanced summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kan., from June 10 - July 21.

Cadet Wistrand, who is scheduled to receive a bachelor's degree in 1973 from Texas A and M University, College Station, is one of more than 10,000 students attending Army ROTC training at six installations in the U. S.

The cadet is a 1969 graduate of Colorado High School in Colorado City.

Navy Petty Officer First Class William D. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Thomas Sr. of Route D, Lamesa, took part in Portland, Oregon's annual Rose Festival. Labor Head Says No 'Trade' Meant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson says the Nixon administration's decision to drop a bill unpopular with transportation unions was not planned to win Teamsters support for the President's re-election campaign. The Teamsters were told of the administration's shift over the past weekend and then on Monday the union announced its endorsement of Nixon for re-election. The bill would have given the President permanent new emergency powers for settling rail and airline labor disputes.

Atoms To Start Lighting Up Texas In Seven Years

By PAUL RECEER Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Atomic power plants will start lighting up Texas within seven years and by the end of the century will feed a major part of the state's massive and rapidly-expanding electricity demand.

A survey of the major Texas power companies shows they are moving cautiously, but firmly, toward atomic power as the best and most lasting alternative to the rapidly dwindling supply of natural gas which now fires most generating plants in the state.

FIRST ON LINE

And at the same time the companies' move into conventional atomic power, they are spending millions to tap the ultimate power source—nuclear fusion. This system, which gives heat and light to the sun and has never been controlled by man, is still many years away but Texas research is forming the cutting edge in its development.

As a result, gas is gradually being phased out of electricity production in Texas. Texas Utilities is already strip mining coal to supply a power plant near Fairfield, east of Dallas. Giant earth-moving machines there are ripping out 5 million tons of lignite coal a year to fuel the 575,000 kilowatt generating unit now operating. A similar unit goes on the line next summer.

Southwestern Public Service Co. in Amarillo, which supplies power to the Texas panhandle and south plains, is seriously studying the use of coal for possible use by 1976.

H. O. Hotson, Southwestern vice president, said the company may tap a coal deposit in New Mexico and Colorado and ship the fuel to its Texas plant by rail.

DECADE AWAY

Hotson said his company is also studying nuclear energy, but an atomic plant for the panhandle is more than a decade away. Texas may benefit greatly from the fact that a plentiful gas supply has allowed the state's power companies to wait until now to move into nuclear energy.

Nuclear power production technology has advanced substantially since the first atomic plants were installed in the East.

Current nuclear plants are all cooled by water, a commodity in short supply in many areas of the state. But on the technical horizon now are atomic plants which are cooled by forced air or by helium gas. If this can be accomplished economically, many company officials feel, atomic power will be even more attractive to utility companies in the state.

ISOLATION OKAY

Arthur Busch, the regional director of the Environmental Protection Agency, said because of the broad sweeping plains and low population density of Texas, atomic power plants will be accepted more readily here than in some areas of the east, where land is scarce and people plentiful. Texas power companies, he said, will be able to construct atomic plants in relatively isolated areas. Isolation is desirable as a barrier against an atomic accident, although experts believe such incidents are very unlikely.

In day to day operation, atomic plants are considered as safe as the gas-fired plants. Studies have shown that radiation to the outside world from such plants is less than that from nature.

From the natural background in Texas, according to one study, a person would absorb 100 times more radiation in a year than he would standing at a fence surrounding a nuclear power plant.

Blaise said one study showed that getting an ordinary chest X-ray is equivalent in radiation to living next to a nuclear power plant for 60 years.

Conventional atomic power plants are not the final answer to supplying Texas with electrical power, officials believe.

Current atomic power plants have two continuing problems: the type of fuel that must be used and the accumulation of radioactive wastes.

SHORTAGE OF FUEL

Nuclear power generators are fueled by enriched uranium and, even though only small amounts are needed by each plant, the mineral is becoming increasingly scarce.

As a result, power companies fleeing from a shortage of natural gas face a potential shortage of fuel for the planned atomic plants. A new generation of reactors, however, may solve that fuel problem.

So-called "fast breeder" reactors now under development will be able to produce fuel for themselves and for the conventional atomic reactors.

The government-owned Tennessee Valley Authority plans to build a breeder reactor, probably near Rogersville, Tenn., to demonstrate they are practical.

But even breeders will have the problem of radioactive wastes. Disposal of the spent but still dangerous atomic fuel has not been solved, although several methods are under study.

FIRST COUSIN

On the far horizon, beyond the breeders, is an even more hopeful source of energy. This is nuclear fusion, the ultimate power in nature, the source of heat and light for the sun and stars.

Fusion is a first cousin of atomic fission which is the power source in the conventional and breeder reactors. Fusion, however, does not have the problems of fuel supply, control and waste disposal that nag at the fission systems.

Fission, or splitting, achieves its power by breaking up atomic particles. Fusion, however, gains its energy from smashing atoms together.

Fissions gives off radioactive wastes and the reaction cannot be turned off easily. It also uses the scarce uranium for fuel.

YOUNG THING

Fusion can be turned off like a gas light. It can use processed sea water for fuel. And its only waste is a chemical called helium four.

"This (helium four) is about as stable as you can get," says Dr. E. A. Robson, a University of Texas scientist. "You could sell it to fill children's balloons."

Nuclear fusion research is in its infancy now, but Texas utility companies have already poured millions into it.

Eleven electric companies in the state have supported research at the University of Texas for more than a decade. The current project there, called the Texas Tokamak, is investigating methods of achieving the heat required to start a fusion reaction.

If the research at Texas and elsewhere is successful, then man may harness fusion by the end of this century and any concern about the availability of power would be gone, according to Robson.

"If we can tap fusion power," he said, "we'll have no further worries about energy supplies."

Gulf States Utilities Co. of Beaumont will be the first Texas-based power company to bring a nuclear plant on line. The company starts construction soon on a 900,000 kilowatt atomic power plant in St. Francisville, La. The plant is expected to be in operation by 1979. Gulf States serves a slice of the coastal area from Beaumont to the edge of New Orleans.

Texas Utilities Co., parent firm of Dallas Power & Light, Texas Power & Light, and Texas Electric Service Co., has announced it will break ground on a nuclear plant "early in the 1980s." The operating companies within Texas Utilities serve Dallas, Fort Worth and a belt of the state from Odessa to Tyler.

EL PASO STUDY

A combine of companies supplying power to Houston, Corpus Christi, Austin and San Antonio announced recently it was studying the feasibility of an atomic power plant that will have one nuclear-driven generating unit operating by 1980 and a second unit by 1982. The combine includes Houston Lighting & Power Co., Central Power and Light of Corpus Christi, the City Public Service Board of San Antonio, the Lower Colorado River Authority and the City of Austin.

In the west, El Paso Electric Co. has announced it is studying an atomic plant to be in operation by 1982. It is a joint venture with a power group in Arizona. El Paso Electric Co. services Texas points from El Paso east to Van Horn.

There are already more than 20 nuclear power plants operating in the country and the Atomic Energy Commission estimates there will be more than 100 such plants in the U. S. by 1982.

GAS WOES

Texas power companies have not turned to atomic power before because natural gas for decades has been a plentiful and relatively cheap source of energy for the state's generating plants.

But now the reserves of natural gas are dropping so low, even in Texas, that power companies can no longer be assured that a gas-fired plant built today would have enough fuel available for the three to four decades the plant would be operation.

"In 35 years we'll be right at the tail end of gas," says L.J. Blaise, vice president of Texas Utilities Service Inc., the engineering arm of Texas Utilities. "The current plants will be very old then."

May Be Adjusted Your Good Health Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor passed away, leaving me with two refills of hormone pills. I haven't taken any for several months because I felt bloated and "busty" when I was still taking them for 20 days, and five days off. My questions: At age 60, how much longer do I need to take them? I had a hysterectomy nine years ago. Could I take the pills for two or three days, as needed? I don't get hot flashes, just a warm feeling after I go to bed. — Mrs. R. S.

There's been a phrase, much bandied about, that "once you start taking hormones, you have to take them the rest of your life." Well, as the old song once expressed it, "it ain't necessarily so." Some women may be more comfortable to continue hormones as long as they live. Others may be perfectly happy without any hormones. After all, before hormones were discovered, women managed to get along without them.

And still other women may find that a reduced amount of hormones may be all they need to remain comfortable.

Stop a minute and think: what's the purpose of hormones? Well, some women are quite uncomfortable from hot flashes and other symptoms after menopause, or after "surgical menopause" if the ovaries have had to be removed. Taking hormones in pill form (or sometimes by injection) can make up for the hormones the ovaries are no longer supplying.

The body, however, often manages to compensate for this, in which case there's no real purpose in continuing to take hormones, is there? The question boils down to this: are you getting along all right without them?

Your own suggestion sounds valid enough — taking the pills for a few days if symptoms occur. But since for several months you have been getting along without taking the pills at all, it wouldn't astonish me if you found that you needed very little or even none.

At risk of being accused — again — of answering a question by saying, "See your doctor," I also suggest that it wouldn't be too bad an idea for you to get a new doctor, now that your old one has died, and have him check you over and advise whether you do or don't need hormones, or how much.

One of the chief reasons for continuing female hormones is to combat the bone changes of osteoporosis which can occur in some women well after the menopause. Dear Doctor: May I have your advice on vitamin pills — not the kind prescribed by a doctor for a specific deficiency, but the kind sold over the counter? — Mrs. L. W.

A vitamin is a vitamin is a vitamin, and it doesn't matter whether they're in a bottle or in the food you eat, whether prescribed or not. I have no objection to those sold over the counter.

My only question is whether or not you need them. Your doctor can tell you this. A normal diet supplies all we need in the way of vitamins. If you have a poor diet, you need supplemental vitamins. It's that simple.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Drilling operations in the Permian Basin picked up last week, but in this vicinity they were steady.

Pecos County continued to lead with 23 rigs going, the same as the previous week; Lea County, N.M. was second with 19, also the same. Third place went to Ward with 16, down one.

In this vicinity Borden had one rig turning, up one; Dawson four, up one; Glasscock 1, up one; Howard two, down three; Martin eight, up two; Midland four, the same; Mitchell one, down one; Reagan five, the same; Scurry four, up one, according to the G. W. Murphy Industries survey.

This area had a pair of locations. In Martin County, the Meridian Oil No. 2 Self. 1, 220 from the south and 1,120 from the east lines section 40-36-4-T&P, 12 miles south of Lamesa will be a 9,300-foot test in the Tex-Hammon (Dean) field.

A Mitchell location in the Latan (San Andres) field is an old well plugged back. It is the Texaco No. 7-C Mitchell Field, 1,980 from the north and 1,570 from the west lines of section 9-29-1s, T&P, eight miles south of west of Westbrook, plugged back to 2,364.

Claims Relief Act Overlooks Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Pending federal flood relief legislation neglects Texans whose property was washed away by rain storms, U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said Friday. "A Texas flood victim deserves the same consideration from our federal government as one in Pennsylvania or New York," Bentsen said in a statement released by his office here.

The Nixon administration introduced legislation this week to provide $5,000 cash grants to Hurricane Agnes flood victims in six eastern states, he said. But the bill did not cover victims of recent floods in the New Braunfels, Tex., area or Rapid City, S.D.

Bentsen said: "To correct this inequity, I support legislation that will make the bill retroactive to July 1, 1971. This will provide the same helping hand to Texas flood victims that is being extended to those victims of Hurricane Agnes."

ATTENTION TEXAS MOTORISTS

10 Per Cent Cut In Auto Insurance Rate Expected

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas motorists can look forward this summer to the first significant car insurance rate cut in a decade.

The State Insurance Board's staff is expected to recommend a substantial decrease at the annual auto insurance hearing Monday.

GOOD GUESS

Larry Teaver, who was board chairman until the Senate rejected his appointment July 7, said an average statewide reduction of 10 per cent is indicated by Texas' accident record.

"That's pretty close on liability," said Gaylon Daniel, the board's rate statistician. Jack Claitor, the board's research director, said an average decrease of 11 per cent on all coverages, including 14 per cent on collision and comprehensive, was indicated.

New rates will take effect with policies written or renewed on or after Sept. 1.

Car insurance rates have not changed since the board ordered an average statewide increase of 14 per cent on Jan. 1, 1971. The board was ready to jump rates another 2.8 per cent last summer but was blocked by President Nixon's price freeze. "Phase II" will help reduce this year's rates.

The last significant rate cut was 4 per cent on 1962. There were minor reductions of 1.2 per cent and one-tenth of 1 per cent in 1964 and 1967, but the trend has been steadily upward.

GOOD NEWS

Despite the good news of a probable rate cut, controversy still surrounds the family bank account from the financial disaster of a serious auto accident.

Teaver left the board with a parting shot to the effect that the remaining two members—Durwood Marford and Ned Price—were more interested in protecting company profits than consumers.

He claimed rates could be cut an average of 20 per cent "and they (companies) can still make a reasonable profit." Teaver said this would give Texans $165 million to spend on other things besides insurance.

The board gave Texans reason to wonder about whose side it was on when it set the present rates at the start of 1971.

In devising its complex formula for calculating new rates the board decided to use three highly inflationary years in estimating the future trend of car repair and medical costs. It dropped a long-used formula that would have included two less inflationary years and reduced the size of the increase. In addition, the board decided to project anticipated accident costs two years into the future, instead of just 18 months, further boosting the increase.

NEW FORMULA

Daniel defends the new formula for predicting how much companies will have to pay out in claims.

But, in answer to questions, he acknowledged that the board—not the agency's actuaries—initiated the change. "None of these changes came from here," Daniel said. He added that for some time the industry had wanted the board to adjust the inflation factors in favor of the companies.

Teaver and a number of lawmakers have advocated various "reforms" to ease the car insurance problem, with competitive rates — instead of uniform rates set by the board — foremost among them.

Only Texas has the same manual of rates for all companies. Competition occurs mainly in service and in so-called "dividends" — or return to the policyholder of a part of his premium.

LOW RATES

The board maintains the uniform rating system has given Texas low rates, compared with similar states. According to the industry, Texas' average rate for basic liability coverage ranks 29th among the states.

But Teaver says the state's relative position is not that good when one compares rates in urban areas.

In Houston, for instance, a bachelor under 25 who drives a current model, medium-price car pays $570 for minimum liability and $100 deductible collision coverage.

Another problem has been the failure of the car insurance system to put money promptly in the hands of accident victims when they need it to pay their hospital bills. The legal requirement to prove "fault" in order to collect from another driver's liability policy has been a stumbling block.

EXTRA COST

One proposed solution — which some think would cut rates by removing lawyers from the picture — is no-fault insurance.

Research director Claitor will present an alternative to no-fault at Monday's hearing.

His "personal Injury Protection Plan" would add to each policy—without extra cost—$10,000 per person, up to $20,000 per accident, to cover economic losses to the policyholder and his family, regardless of who caused an accident in which they were hurt. Accident victims would retain the right to sue for "pain and suffering"—something left out of many no-fault plans. Payment for economic losses would cover hospital bills; 75 per cent of lost wages up to $250 per week; and up to $12 per day to replace a housewife's services with a maid.

Opposition to Teaver by lawyers because of his attempts to keep car insurance claims out of the courthouse has been redited by some for his rejection by the Senate.

Claitor believes the board itself can "roll on" the additional no-fault coverage without going to the legislature, where any form of no-fault coverage probably would have tough sledding because of the high percentage of lawyers in the Senate and House.

"I would like to see Texas pioneer this thing, because I think it will work," Claitor said.

Replace Former Pilot For LBJ As Parks 'Boss'

AUSTIN (AP) — James U. Cross, former pilot for Lyndon Johnson during Johnson's presidency, was replaced today as director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Cross planned an immediate news conference. Department spokesmen said they could not say whether Cross resigned or was fired from the position he has held since May 1, 1971.

The agency announced that Cross will be replaced by Clayton T. Garrison, an 11-year veteran of the department who is currently director of finance and data processing.

Cross flew Air Force One for Johnson, served as a White House military aide and later held a brigadier general's slot at Bergstrom Air Force Base here.

West Texans Concentrate On Improving Green Grass

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — South and West Texas cattlemen seeking to expand their herds are looking less for greener grass in neighboring rangelands and concentrating more on improving their own.

"The region has reached a point where the land is supporting nearly all the cattle it can," explained Calvin C. Boykin, a researcher with the U.S. Agriculture Department at Texas A&M University.

"Ranchers will have to apply some range improvement techniques if they want to raise more cattle to take advantage of the current high in cattle prices," he advised.

In a special project for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Boykin analyzed the economics of typical, medium-sized livestock ranches in eight counties in South and Far West Texas.

He found herd sizes had generally increased rapidly over the past few years, primarily because operators were sowing grass in worn out croplands.

As the price of cattle increased, so did return on investment. Between 1967 and 1970 operators in most ranches surveyed had boosted returns from between 80 cents and $1.77 for every $100 invested.

Still, Boykin pointed out, no cattlemen in the surveyed region are getting rich. The highest investment return registered by any ranch in the survey was that of a 16,000-acre operation in Presidio County, which made $4.85 for every $100 invested. In the rest of the region, ranches surveyed returned between $2.27 and $4.18 for every $100 their owners invested.

In a business in which comfortable returns generally begin at seven per cent, Boykin observed that most ranchers in the area studied would probably do better by leaving their money in savings accounts.

"But people here stay in business for a lot of reasons, not the least of which is that they own a lot of land—land that is in most places increasing in value," he said. "Land appreciation is not a factor considered in these investment calculations."

Connally GOP Candidate For President In '76?

HOUSTON (AP) — A former newspaperman who once had business connections with John Connally said Connally does not want the Republican vice presidential nomination this year but could be a leading GOP candidate for president in 1976.

Jimmy Banks told the Texas Association of Life Insurance officials that "Connally does not want the vice presidential nomination and I think President Nixon believes he would be more valuable in some other capacity, such as Secretary of State."

"If President Nixon is re-elected... I believe Connally will play an extremely important role in his next administration—and I think there is a good chance that he could emerge as a leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976," Banks said.

Banks said the prospect of Sen. George McGovern as president "scared" Connally, and that's why he thinks he will wage a vigorous campaign in behalf of President Nixon during the next few months." Banks, a former Capitol reporter for the Dallas Morning News, is now editor of the "Texas Star," a Sunday supplement for newspapers. Connally formerly was chairman of the board of the magazine.

PAINT BRIGHTENS THE HALLS

A Community Cared

By JO BRIGHT

The Westside Community Center marked another milestone in a long journey last weekend when over 100 volunteers donned work clothes to wield hammers, saws and paint brushes at the newly acquired building.

The center, originally known as the Westside Recreation Center, had its beginning in 1933 when the Park Methodist Church began it as a church-sponsored project after acquiring a small building from the CCC Camp. During World War II, a group known as Church Women United took over its operation and made it into a day care center. The CWU continued the work, providing a place where children could have supervised play until June, 1970, when a combination of circumstances forced it to close its doors.

No one wanted to see the center abandoned, but it was Mrs. Ben Boadle who supplied the first spark of enthusiasm which ignited a community response, resulting in the reopening and re-naming of the center in September, 1970. Mrs. Boadle now serves as the CWU's representative on the center's board of directors.

Officers of the board are Peter A. Stone, chairman; Mrs. Boadle, vice chairman; Mrs. M. B. McFall, secretary; and Mrs. Herbie Smith, treasurer. Ben Bancroft serves as legal counsel, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas is publicity chairman. Mrs. John Hogan was in charge of Saturday's workday.

The day-to-day operation of the center is under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Bauch, the only paid worker, and the adult, youth and children's programs are carried out with the help of volunteers from all walks of life.

The center is open daily, except Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and a non-denominational Sunday school class is held Sunday morning. Now operating on a summer schedule, the center will offer an enlarged program this fall, including sewing and cooking classes, family game nights and special events for teenagers and younger children. The center is now serving approximately 250 families who reside on the west side of the city.

The new building, 150 feet long and divided into rooms, was donated by Webb Air Force Base. The moving of the building and its partial renovation was made possible by a gift from the Dora Roberts Foundation. The director's annual salary of $1,800 is provided by the United Fund. Funds from the foundation enabled the board to purchase the land on which the building is situated, and when the work is completed, it will be donated to the city.

Popular activities at the center are the arts and crafts classes and children's choir. The center sponsors a men's softball team, the Westside Center Tigers, which competes in the city league under the guiding hand of Don Arroyo, manager.

'ROUND TOWN

Correspondence between prospective customers and businesses has been going on for a long time, and it always means something to one or the other and sometimes means a great deal to both. Sometimes can become a little more than one cares for. It probably has to do with the type of mail . . . or the time of life.

Long ago I remember that as a prospective college student I had some mail from colleges . . . as a bride-elect some businesses wrote asking that they be given a chance in helping me make selections. In due time a number of insurance groups vied for the chance to arrange insurance for our prospective heir.

With several heirs apparent as the years rolled by we had lots of opportunities, through the mail, for doing numerous things for them. We could buy books, get clothing less expensively, enroll them at various camps and later after high school graduation, get them into technical schools, colleges, universities, etc.

Needless to say, since the older sons are out of school and into business and the third fairly well settled as to what he wants to follow, the mail has now turned back to just the two of us.

All the other mail was interesting to a point but the nature of the mail now, with our name and address on it (not just Occupant) is very sobering, indeed.

For months now we have been getting heavy brochures from numerous places. All in color, there are pages of pictures of lovely buildings, spacious grounds, people enjoying games and out of door activities. The backgrounds are almost always of water or mountains or desert. Nothing like what we've been brought up with. In other words, we are now getting retirement mail . . . and I can't imagine how we got on that list or lists. Who told?

Here from his home in Chicago, Ill. is J. D. Thomas, who is visiting his parents, MR. and MRS. J. C. THOMAS. He plans to be here a week.

Expected to arrive here Thursday are DR. and MRS. N. E. DUDNEY of League City, Tex., who will be the guests of his brother-in-law and sister, DR. and MRS. J. E. HOGAN. The Dudneys are en route home after visiting their daughter and son-in-law in Anchorage, Alaska. The Dudneys will be in Big Spring through Saturday.

The cynecia is blooming again. I never saw such a grateful plant as this purple sage. Just the least bit of rain and it bursts forth in full glory.

MRS. BILL DRAPER has been in Austin during the past week with her son and his wife, M. R. and MRS. DAVID DRAPER. The younger Mrs. Draper, the former Barbara McAlister, is enrolled in summer sessions at the University of Texas. David will enroll in the fall.

MRS. LAURA ERHARDT will return home Tuesday after spending several days in Denton with her son, Tommy Erhardt. STARS

After spending several days here Miss Margie Newman has returned to her home in Dallas. She visited her mother, MRS. FAY NEWMAN, and friends here.

Forsan Families Have Guests

FORSAN — The Louis Whisenunts of Odessa have been visiting friends here.

The G. L. Monroneys have returned from visiting their son, Wayne, and family in Snyder.

Guests of the J. B. Hoards have been their son and family, the William Hoards of Jennings, Kans.

The Sam Cowleys of Henderson are vacationing with the S. C. Cowleys. Both families have been to Lamesa to visit the men's sister, Mrs. Kathleen Goodrich, and to Seagraves to see another sister, Mrs. Bert Martin.

Joe Brackin of Clyde and Mrs. Frank Oglesby of Westbrook were guests of the A. F. Oglesbys. The Oglesby's son came from Odessa, and A. F. accompanied him to San Angelo.

Meeting Changed

Before You Buy

An Information Service For Consumers
BY MARGARET DANA

If you are still not decided on the place or means of getting an inexpensive vacation for yourself and family before summer ends, let me suggest a way which is becoming increasingly popular. It takes little time to plan it, but is probably about as inexpensive as a way of getting a chance and some fun as there is. I am talking about renting a camping trailer — the kind you haul behind the family car. It sleeps from two to six or more, provides shelter during that rainy day as well as a place to cook, wash and rest.

Rentals that I have checked range from $35 to $75 a week in different parts of the country, depending on the size and type of camper trailer. And at camp sites in our National Forests your charges for use of the facilities will be far less than for staying at inns, motels and hotels while traveling.

A guide to camp sites called "National Forest Vacations" is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, for 45 cents. You may find that your local county agent of the Cooperative Extension Service will have the booklet in his files so you may look it over, or your public library may have a current copy.

An alternative to the family camping plan is a farm or ranch vacation. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that quite a lot of farm families with large houses and a fine rural location are offering relaxing vacations for whole families, with rural quiet and peace, and new and interesting experiences for the children. Travel bureaus, auto clubs, yellow pages of phone books and some chambers of commerce provide lists of such available farm vacations in various parts of the country. Fees will depend upon the kind of accommodation offered by the farm, but in general these are relatively inexpensive vacations.

In planning a travel vacation by car there are some important steps to making it both safe and pleasant which should be put to work before you take off. For instance, advice from the CNA Financial Corporation to people starting such a trip reminds you if you're hitching a camper to your car you will want some physical damage liability added at least temporarily to your car insurance policy if yours does not already cover this.

Also, while your homeowners' or tenants' insurance policy does offer some protection against theft or destruction of luggage you take with you, to the extent of 10 per cent of a minimum of $1,000 of on-premises coverage, that policy probably has a deductible of $50 to $100. Things like expensive cameras need to be more adequately insured while traveling.

CNA also recommends you take most of your money in travelers' cheques, and a few basic credit cards can be useful. Keep a pocketful of change handy, however, for the many small items like toll gates, pay phones, rest rooms, etc.

Beside these advance cautions, check some specific points on your car before

Wedding Performed In Methodist Church

The First United Methodist Church was the scene Friday evening of a wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Julie Carol Choate and Jo Bartlett Best of Coahoma.

Chaplain Lee Butler of Big Spring State Hospital, performed the rites at an archway entwined with boxwood and English ivy accented with miniature bells and satin streamers. Twin candelabra holding tall white tapers and baskets of white mums, gladioli and lemon leaves flanked the arch. The altar rail was draped with garlands of gypsophylla.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, organist; and Louis Loveless, vocalist.

PARENTS
The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Best of Coahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Choate, Route 1.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with embroidered Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent accents the bodice and encircling the hemline. Small pearls highlighted the roll collar and long sleeves, and a band of lace edged the train. A full-length veil fell from a Juliet cap, and she carried a bouquet of white camellias centered with yellow roses.

Mrs. Ronnie Hudson was matron of honor, and Miss Laurie Choate, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. They wore empire-style gowns of yellow silk organza trimmed with white lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss

Valrae Best, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Diana Procter. Their gowns were fashioned in green silk organza and trimmed with white lace. The attendants wore matching headpieces and carried cresents of white mums and yellow carnations with yellow and white streamers.

Bruce Allen of Coahoma was best man, and groomsmen were Alvin Best, the bridegroom's brother; Gary Best and Tommy Best, cousins of the bridegroom. Ushers were John Best and Putt Choate.

Leigh Ann Graves of Stanton, the flower girl, wore a yellow gown styled similar to the other bridal attendants. Ring bearers were Shane Forrest and Rodney Gee. Altar tapers were lighted by Craig Graves of Stanton and Gary Gee.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a floor-length white satin cloth overlaid with white organza, and ruffled at the bottom. The bride's bouquet centered the table, and the tiered cake was topped with miniature yellow satin bells. Crystal appointments were used.

Miss Terri Graves presided at the guest register. Serving were Miss Sherry Phillips, Mrs. Robert Crenshaw, Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. Alvin Best, Mrs. Donald McKinney, Mrs. Wendell Shive, Mrs. Ulysses Hall, Mrs. Bobby Gee, Mrs. Winston Kilpatrick and Mrs. Granville Graves.

Attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hall, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Granville Graves, Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Best, Sweetwater; Mrs. Jewel Capansky, Hugo, Colo.; Mrs. Georgia Best and Mrs. Joyce Davis, both of Tuscola; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gregory, Austin; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crenshaw, Snyder.

Couple Says Vows In Friday Evening Rites

MRS. BERNARD A. MIMS

Miss Charleta Faye Findley became the bride of Airman Bernard A. Mims in a ceremony conducted by the Rev. Bruce Wells, brother of the bride, and the Rev. Arthur Thomas Friday evening in Airport Baptist Church. The altar setting was enhanced by spiral candelabra flanking a center candelabra arranged with greenery and flowers.

Nuptial music was played by Miss Vicki Findley, organist, sister of the bride; and Mrs. James Norman, pianist. Miss Patsy Lewis was vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Findley, 2604 Clanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warner B. Mims of New Zion, S. C.

Carrying a bouquet of white feathered carnations, the bride was attired in an empire-waisted gown of white Crystal-line styled with rounded neckline and short butterfly sleeves. Lace trim accented the sleeves and the hemline of the floor-length skirt. Her headpiece was a matching bow which held a shoulder-length veil of illusion.

Miss Carolyn Young of Albany, Ga., was the maid of honor. Her floor-length, blue Crystal-line gown featured a scoop neckline, butterfly sleeves and empire waistline. She carried a single chrysanthemum arrangement flanked by white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Airman IC. Wayne Wagner served as best man, and Sgt. Ed Eastman was the usher.

Both are stationed at Webb AFB. The bride's sister, Jamie Jo Findley, was the flower girl and altar tapers were lighted by another sister, Miss Margaret Findley; and Miss Susan Simmons, of Little Rock, Ark.

After the ceremony, the reception was held in the education building of the church where guests were registered by Miss Nancy Coleman of Odessa. Refreshments were served from a table laid with an em-bossed cloth trimmed with lace and centered with a floral arrangement.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Simmons, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, Odessa; and Dan Newsome of Ackerly.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Kingstree High School, Kingstree, S. C. Currently serving in the U. S. Air Force at Webb AFB, he is scheduled to receive his military discharge this month. After that time, the couple plans to reside in Greeleyville, S. C.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Fuqua, 712 Andree, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Juanita Belle, to Lonnie Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wright, 1616 Eleventh Place. The couple will be married Aug. 25 in North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church.

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Women should have equal rights, but I think there's a place for them... Some things I think men should do. Women should not lose our place as women." Mary Hedrick, sheriff of Tucker County, W. Va.

"Once again Betty Friedman is exercising her right to be wrong. I never asked anyone to vote for me solely on the ground that I am a woman." Mary Scranton, wife of former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton.

"Only a female chauvinist would say that no matter how good a man's record—on peace, on women—women must support a female opponent just because she is a woman." Women's lib leader Betty Friedman.

"... Being the wife of an elected official was a diminishing position. You get a tremendous amount of acclaim and accolade without doing much of anything yourself." Mary Scranton, wife of former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton.

A LOVELIER YOU

What's It All Mean? Detergents Explained

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely bride writes: For the first time in my life I am doing household laundry. Basin laundry is the limit of my experience. I am completely puzzled by all those washday detergents, stain removers, fluffers, etc. on the market shelves. Not to mention all the talk about biodegradability phosphates and enzymes. I guess I didn't take the right courses in school.

The Answer: Let's begin with "biodegradable." It means that the contents of any product, including detergents, do not cause pollution. Phosphates, phosphorus compounds, have been outlawed in some sections of the country where water tables come close to the ground's surface. The labels of all detergents carry the phosphorus content. At this writing, no safe alternative to phosphate as regards cleanliness and health has been discovered.

Enzyme-added detergents offer you a bright, white wash for the least time and trouble. A recent study reported by the Food and Drug Administration makes clear that enzymes are biodegradable, safe and effective. Enzymes break down stains such as grass, gravy and blood; pre-soak enzyme products, render heavy soil and stain in wash-away condition.

No one asks about soap. Can we go back to its sole use? Not for household and commercial cleaning. The country's supplies of fats and oils are inadequate to furnish needed raw materials for the quantities involved.

Any questions? Get the answers from your local ecology group. And join up!

Scouts Await Arrival Of 'Galloping Gallery'

Over 40 Girl Scouts are awaiting the arrival of the "Galloping Gallery" at Comanche Trail Park at 9 a.m. Monday.

The "Gallery", a traveling art workshop sponsored by the West Texas Girl Scout Council, has drawn registrations from Snyder, Roscoe and Coahoma as well as from Big Spring. Last week the "Gallery" was held in Abilene with over 100 Scouts registered.

A committee headed by Mrs. Holman King of Abilene has organized the two-day workshop to offer Junior Scouts an opportunity to explore the entire realm of the arts. Assisting Mrs. King have been Mrs. Joe Owen, Mrs. Bob Beckham and Mrs. Morgan Hubbard, all of Abilene. Miss Arlene Estes, local field director, has coordinated the entire project in the two communities.

Activities are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Comanche Trail Park. The Scouts will rotate between activities in art, music, dramatics and dance. Instructors are Miss Elizabeth Lipscombe, Miss Cathy Thompson and Steve Pyles, all fresh from the production, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," held recently at Howard County Junior College. The other instructor will be Miss Kim Haxton, a student at Big Spring High School.

Participants will need to bring a sack lunch and drink for the noon break. Snacks will be served at mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

Parents are asked to leave their daughters at the parking lot near the main pavilion and return by 8:45 a.m. The girls may be picked up in the same lot at 4 p.m.

Mrs. G. Banks Party Honoree

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Glen Banks was held Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. H. H. Rutherford, 1616 Harding.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Rutherford were Mrs. C. W. Parks, Mrs. A. B. West, Mrs. V. L. Perkins, Mrs. R. C. Anderson and Mrs. W. E. Singleton.

Mrs. Banks is the former Ann Isaacs, and she received guests with her mother, Mrs. Eugene Rush.

The refreshment table was accented with a floral arrangement of daisies and babies' breath, which was presented to Mrs. Banks. Other decorations included honeycomb shower motifs in yellow and white. The floral arrangement was placed in a ceramic vase made in the form of a baby.

Farewell Party For Mary Nanny

Mary Nanny, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Nanny, 610 Bucknell, was the guest of honor Sunday at a farewell party hosted by the Primary Class, Birdwell Lane Baptist Church. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Emory Parrish where games were played and refreshments were served. The Nanny family will be moving to Graham.

Induced Labor Test Successful

Prostaglandins have been administered experimentally to induce labor at term in about 5,000 women throughout the world with successful results in a high percentage of cases. Scientists meeting here were told recently.

The report on the prostaglandins was made at a meeting attended by 60 scientists from 16 countries. Prostaglandins — 14-member family of fatty acids found in tiny amounts in most tissues of the body—are expected to have a wide range of medical applications. These range from regulating fertility to inducing labor and therapeutic abortion.

Dr. Edward Henry, new president of Saint Mary's College says the role and nature of women's colleges is changing and will continue to change. They're no longer exclusively women's campuses, for one. "Whether they recognize that women in the formative period of their lives should be able to control the major thrust of their own education and aim it at the particular needs they have in developing a sense of their own sexual identity and outlook..." Henry added.

Two patients who have just moved to the Work Village need a toaster or a hotplate or both.

One of the unite has a piano and a pianist, but needs some old hymnals. Anyone who can help is asked to call Mrs. Lloyd's office.

Coffee Cost May Be Headed Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of coffee in American supermarkets may go up because there was a severe frost in the state of Parana, Brazil, on the night of July 8-9.

General Foods Corp., maker of Maxwell House, Sanka, Yuban and Maxim coffee products, said Friday that it was hiking its wholesale prices Monday because of the frost's effect on the green coffee market.

General Foods said it was boosting the price of ground coffee an average of seven cents a pound and instant and freeze-dried products about a penny an ounce. It said that since the Brazilian frost, green coffee bean prices had gone up more than eight cents a pound.

Brazil supplies one-third of the $1 billion worth of coffee that is imported into the United States each year.

General Foods said it had notified the Price Commission of its increases, but that approval wasn't needed because the company was only passing on hikes in raw product prices.

4-H'ers Take Course In Washington, D.C.

Miss Kayla Gaskins and Miss Darla Buchanan returned this week from Washington, D.C. where they participated in a Citizenship Shortcourse at the National 4-H Center.

Miss Gaskins and Miss Buchanan were two of the 52 4-H members from Texas attending the week-long session. They are among the more than 6,000 4-H members throughout the United States selected to take part in these teen leadership training sessions conducted by the National 4-H Foundation in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of the State Land-Grant Universities and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Major purpose of the course is to provide insight into individual responsibility for citizenship and to develop skills and knowledge that help young people relate to others in their community, nation and world. Discussion and seminar sessions feature contemporary topics of interest to youth and methods of dealing with problems through positive action.

The young people had a chance to see their federal government in action by spending a day on Capitol Hill visiting with congressmen. The girls visited the offices of Sen. John Tower and Cong. Omar Burleson.

The course also included field trips to historic sites, the White House, Mt. Vernon, and others. Changing of the Guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier was impressive, according to Kayla. They also saw the Washington Monument and spent an afternoon in the Smithsonian Institute. Kayla and Darla especially enjoyed the production "Auntie Mame" at the Shady Grove Music Fair.

According to Darla the most interesting part of the course was working together with 4-H members from other states and getting new ideas about projects that reflect concern and interest in others. Kayla plans to "share the inspiration" received from the trip through a workshop in which participants will be challenged to better citizenship.

The 4-H members stayed at the newly-expanded National 4-H Center which they, together with business and industrial leaders throughout the nation, helped to build.

The young people traveled by chartered bus and also visited The Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum in Nashville, Tenn., and toured the home of Thomas Jefferson in Charlottesville, Vir. They had breakfast beside Stone Mountain, which is the largest solid mass of exposed granite on earth and is in the state of Georgia.

Shower Honors Mrs. Thedford

Mrs. Walter Thedford was honored at a baby shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. James Averette, 2302 Marshall. Mrs. Talmadge Ashley was cohostess.

Mrs. Thedford was attired in a yellow empire dress with white accents. She was presented a corsage of pink roses. A white linen cloth covered the serving table which was centered with a painted plaster stork. Pink was used in decorations and accent items.

Rowland's Best Seller

A $65 book appears headed for best-seller status. Reason: It tells how to compete for $40 billion of Uncle Sam's money earmarked for grants as of July 1, the fiscal year in Washington.

The book is a 1,275-page guide to federal aid to cities. It was written by Howard S. Rowland, a high school English teacher who was rebuffed by the U.S. Office of Education. Rowland wanted to research a problem: Why so many people buy books they don't read.

The Office of Education turned him down because he wasn't a researcher on the college level.

He determined to research another problem: Why federal grants aren't "fairly distributed." He wrote a 600-page book on "Federal Aid to Schools" which sold 10,000 copies and went into a second printing.

His new study is important to city officials all over the country. It may be even more important to American taxpayers. Rowland has located and listed the places where money is available from federal sources. There are 656 "major" urban-aid programs administered by 64 federal agencies, he found.

His study, based on news reports of it, appears to be encouraging, assuming the help is wisely used. Rowland notes the historical trends of cities:

"All through history, individual cities have been destroyed by conquest, disease, natural calamity or changing patterns in agriculture, commerce and technology. But what we are witnessing in the United States is a new phenomenon -- a voluntary and massive abandonment.

With $40 billion in the grab bag and grants-manipulation maturing faster than corn in August, the book will command attention. More importantly, the taxpayers must pay attention to see that proposals do handle a legitimate problem the way they want it handled.

The possibilities for boondoggle with $40 billion are dazzling.

A Real Professional

Gen. Creighton Abrams has just ended five years of tough, thoroughly-professional soldiering in Vietnam. It was his very difficult duty to pare American forces from 543,000 to 49,000 while a determined foe kept pressure fairly intense.

Abrams managed to achieve the goals under great difficulty. He was embarrassed on occasion by mistakes, some of them inexcusable, by intelligence officers down the line. One instance turned up the unprofessional situation of two American officers failing to have a "close working relationship" that led to a grievous intelligence gap.

The general was reported to have been distressed by the optimistic White House statements and assessments of the situation, but fighting was his business.

Moreover, he was trying to move the war from American to Vietnamese shoulders.

At the moment, he seems to have succeeded. He is due the accolades of his profession and the thanks of his country.

How To Ranch

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Sometimes, usually around the time of the national elections, I get the impression we should be called the "United States of America."

IT MUST HAVE been Will Rogers who said "I belong to no organized political party. I am a Democrat."

A co-worker, David Shaw, getting ready for the weekend, said "Robert Burns wrote 'The best laid schemes o'mice and men and gang aft a-gley, and if ye haven't gang-a-gley aft, how do you spend your weekend?'"

A VERSE WHICH deals with a subject dear to all newsmen is dedicated to Mrs. Lucille Pickle, that woman 'Round Town, who retired recently as chief word chaser for The Herald:

The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly; You can hunt it till you're dizzy, but some how it will get by.

Till the forms are off the press it is strange how still it keeps; It shrinks into a corner and it neither stirs nor peeps.

The typographical error, too small for human eyes -- Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size.

The editor is furious, and grabs his hair and groans; The Paste-Pot man drops his head upon his hands and moans.

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be, But that typographical error is the only thing you see.

MY WONDERFUL aunt, Mildred Ladd, quotes a Chinese proverb: "Do not make things comfortable for yourself in such a way as to make them uncomfortable for others.

Handsome Glenn Moffett, Hall Ranch cowboy, came up with the following, which is titled simply: TEN MINIMUM Requirements for Ranching (or What It Takes to be a Cattleman):

1. A wide brimmed hat, a pair of tight pants, and a $200 pair of boots.
2. At least two head of livestock, preferably cattle, one male and one female.
3. A new air-conditioned pickup truck with automatic transmission, power steering, a trailer hitch, a push-button radio for listening to football games.
4. A gun rack, for the rear window of the pickup, big enough to hold a walking stick and rope.
5. TWO LOP-EARED dogs to ride the bed of the truck.
6. A $40 horse and a $400 saddle.
7. A gooseneck trailer, small enough to park in front of the cafe.
8. A place to keep the cows: a little land too poor to grow crops.
9. A spool of barbed wire, three cedar posts, and a bale of prairie hay to haul in the truck all the time.
10. Credit at the bank!

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

Big Spring people have accomplished their goal again by the paintup, fixup, cleanup and remodeling of the West Side community building and area. There were 150 wonderful people who proved they know the joy of giving themselves to help others in actual labor. Some worked an hour and others four hours July 15. I know several who spent 15-25 hours working.

We especially thank Roy Hester for his men and maintainer for leveling the front parking area. We thank Mr. Ernest Welch for furnishing and erecting his large awning for the Lemonade stand. The Modern Women's Forum gave dozens of sandwiches. City officials helped far beyond line of duty, and James Campbell, director of public works, brought a garbage truck. Also The Herald, KBST, KBYG, KHEM all helped.

Four DeMolay boys worked as an expression of community concern, one of them wrestled with a garbage can filled with rocks as though it were nothing because "in my father's store I lift 300-pound refrigerators."

Mrs. R. S. Hays, arts and crafts volunteer director for the center, made a placard of appreciation "You're great! ... West Side Community."

I hesitated to list individuals for so many helped in so many ways. My car is now full of good used draperies from three sources, and the ladies sewing class of the center will remodel them to fit part of the 42 windows.

An anonymous couple gave a good 18-ft. refrigerator-freezer. Several garden clubs plan to help with landscaping later. All of you have given your best and I hope the best will come back to you. Meantime may you have the inner joy of service.

DIXIE HOGAN,

West Side Work Day

Dear Sir:

As the time approaches for Dr. W. A. Hunt to retire as president of Howard County Junior College, I feel compelled to publicly thank him for his years of deep devotion and hard work.

I am sure the people of Big Spring realize how fortunate they are to have such a man in their midst but I wonder if they know just how much interest, concern and love he has expended every day as he tirelessly went about his work for the college. He is a thoroughly good man, a just, compassionate administrator, and an interested, contributing citizen. I have been impressed with this and to say a mere thank you for all he has contributed to Big Spring is inadequate, but because, in the press of every day life, we often fail to show the appreciation to those whom we should appreciate most, may I take this means of saying a special thanks to Dr. Hunt.

WASHINGTON -- If the Congress of the United States had the collective brain of an Einstein and the virtue of Aristides the Just, it might be possible to make wise decisions on the matters of vital importance pending in the weeks ahead. Weighty words will be spoken about how the future of every man, woman and child in America depends on keeping up the pace of nuclear arms development or, contrariwise, that salvation can come only through paring down the swollen arms bill.

YET OVER THE WHOLE scene the specter of politics, the pulling and hauling of special interests, will corrode the decision-making process. Already Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has begun to contribute his share, thumping his tub against the sounding board of the Pentagon.

Beyond the wrangle over the defense authorization bill -- $23.273 billion required to be authorized out of the Defense Department's requested budget of $3 billion -- is action on the arms-control agreement signed by the President in Moscow. While ratification with well over the two-thirds vote required seems assured, the longer the delay the more likely, too, that the whole thrust of a pause in the arms race will be lost.

MAJORITY LEADER Mike Mansfield is setting a determined pace in the Senate. He hopes that the treaty and the interim agreement can be ratified before the Republican convention opens in Miami Beach on Aug. 21.

PROLONGED DEBATE over the new Trident ultralong-range submarine -- ULMS in Pentagonese -- is certain. The Senate Armed Services Committee recommended $906 million to "continue development and initiate long lead-time procurement" of Trident. A heated debate in committee turned on a motion to reduce this to $398 million. The motion failed in an 8-to-8 tie. Arguing for the new submarine, with a price tag put by the Navy at $1.5 billion for 10, as a bargaining counter in SALT II Laird told the committee:

"WE NEED TRIDENT at the earliest possible date. Last year we made the decision to accelerate Trident as the most appropriate new strategic initiative to preserve the sufficiency of our deterrent for the future."

Economy Has Bright Quarter

The Week's Business

By CAROLE MARTIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) -- The wide-ranging agreement between Occidental Petroleum Corp. and the Soviet Union which could involve billions of dollars and provide a partial solution to growing oil and gas shortages in the United States was a key business development this past week.

The week also saw Senate Democrats prevail on minimum wage legislation after rejecting President Nixon's proposal for a smaller increase, and a shift in U.S. policy to protect the dollar on foreign exchange markets.

RAPID GROWTH

And on Friday federal government reported Friday that the economy grew at a rapid 8.9 per cent pace from April through June while the rate of inflation slowed sharply.

The unusual agreement between Occidental and the U.S.S.R. calls for the conglomerate to provide patents and scientific and technical know-how in five areas in exchange for Russian oil, natural gas, metals and other items.

The areas covered by the agreement are exploration, production and use of oil and gas; agricultural fertilizers and chemicals; metal treating and plating; the design and building of hotels; and conversion of garbage into fuel and other useful products.

Nixon Administration figures have forecast a 10-fold increase in Soviet-U.S. trade to about $2 billion by 1975.

On Thursday, the Senate increased the federal minimum wage for most nonagricultural workers to $2.20 an hour over the next two years. The administration proposal for a $2 an hour minimum by next year was rejected earlier by a single vote.

OTHER ITEMS

In other developments this past week:

—The prestigious Committee for Economic Development recommended that the government keep standby legal authority for wage-price controls as long as necessary, but should phase out compulsory controls if they succeed in trimming inflation. —The government concluded that early Corvair compact cars made by General Motors were no more likely to turn over than other cars of the same year and weight. Con-

First Nuclear-Powered Heart Pacemakers Are Working Well

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) -- America's first implantations of long-lasting nuclear-powered cardiac pacemakers in humans have been disclosed.

The devices are powered by the same radioactive material, Plutonium-238, powering instruments on the moon.

The still-experimental devices, weighing about four ounces and about two-thirds the size of a cigarette pack, were successfully implanted this week near the hearts of two World War II veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Buffalo, N.Y., according to Dr. Andrew Gage, the chief surgeon.

LAST 10 YEARS

The men, aged 43 and 48, are doing well after the operations, and expectations are that their implants will last at least 10 years without requiring surgical replacement.

This compares with 18 months to two years for conventional, non-nuclear pacemakers already used by up to 60,000 Americans.

Non-nuclear pacemakers are powered by chemical batteries which must be replaced periodically.

Also, occasional battery failure can pose an emergency situation.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists have said they're hopeful that when commercial models of the pacemakers become available, the cost will be under $3,000.

Cardiac pacemakers are designed to maintain normal heartbeat in patients with "heart block," or injury to a heart's natural pacemaker, a nut-like nodule of tissue which regulates the heart's pumping action.

SWITCHED DEVICES

Dr. Gage said in a telephone interview that the nuclear pacemaker operations were performed on July 18 and 19.

He said both patients, who were not identified, have chronic heart-block and both have

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Please explain the following statement in your column soon. If God creates everyone equal, why are there people born blind, deaf, and mentally retarded? I will be looking for your answer.

J.B.

I don't recall any statement from the Scriptures which say that all men are created equal. It was Abraham Lincoln who made the statement "all men are created equal" famous, and of course this concept of human equality is incorporated in the constitution of the United States.

The Bible indicates that there are only two ways that all men are equal. First, all men are sinners and in need of God. "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23. And second, we are equal in that God loves all of us, good and bad alike. "But God commendeth his love toward us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." Romans 5:8.

There are great inequalities in life, but they are man made and not God made. Of course there are inherent generic differences which give men and women their distinctiveness, but these are the result of nature and should not be blamed upon the Creator -- though some seem disposed to do so.

Though people differ in personality (and it would be dull if we were all alike), they are equal spiritually. Christ would have died for your sins, if you had been the only sinner in the world. And the problem of sin which we all face equally can be solved by trusting Him. "As many as received him gave him the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." John 1:12.

French Flight

William F. Buckley Jr.

NICE, FRANCE -- There are things they don't tell you in the travel posters, which if you knew 'em, you might have stayed at home. Travelling in Europe in mid-summer is a mixed treat, but it is safe to assume that the fun begins after a) you have gotten off your Air France flight; and b) the nightmare of it has worn off. Say a week.

TEN YEARS AGO, approximately, President Charles de Gaulle made a tour of Latin America. He got himself a Boeing 707 and flew to Martinique. Then quickly, while no one was looking except, as it happened, AP, UPI, and Reuters, he sneaked onto a Caravelle, which is the French jet. The idea was to take a jet that would get him safely across the Atlantic Ocean, and then to appear, in Latin America, in a French-made airplane, in a Buy French sort of mood, much as his successor, M. Pompidou, appeared grandly at the Azores last fall for his meeting with Mr. Nixon in a Concorde, the French-made super-sonic jet.

It is not at this moment known what will be the future of the French (and British) Concorde, which is said to have room in it for only 110 passengers. No doubt the economic problem will be solved by Air France doing to it what Air France is currently doing to the Caravelles.

I asked the stewardess how could I make the seat recline, and she answered that there was no way in which I could make the seat recline because the seat does not recline. I tried insinuating my legs under the seat in front, only to run into a barrier designed by a French engineer who has profited from the mistakes of M. Maginot. No way, I was asked, did I want lunch? I replied I could not possibly let down the tray in front of me until after my amputation. I tried to smoke, but reaching the ash tray requires moving your hand left, but stopping short of the lady's thigh, and that requires precise calibration. Then down, under her tray, back again, then, flying blind, straight ahead, heading towards the straightaway by dead reckoning. Nothing like Marlboro country. I tried to doze, but your chair tilts forward, not a chance.

THE CAPTAIN cruised back, and I raised a schoolboy's hand. Sir, I said, I have a suggestion. All smiles, he asked me what it was. Well, I said, why not instead of flying steadily at 30,000 feet, with everybody uncomfortable all the time, why not dive down to sea level, then begin a gra-a-dual ascent back to 30,000 feet. Then when you get there, dive on back to sea level, and begin again. That way, I explained, the passengers would be uncomfortable only during the dive down to sea level, which could be accomplished quickly if he would go down more or less vertically, like a dive bomber. But on the way up, the seats would tilt back comfortably, and you could be as comfortable as, say, on a bus. He promised nervously to relay the suggestion to Air France, but I am not sure that he took me seriously, even when I assured him that he was talking to l'homme moyen gate.

Another thing. Although they know months ahead of time what gate your flight is likely to leave from, the people at the airport appear to enjoy the suspense of not giving you the information until 15 minutes before departure time. At Athens, there were five passport officials for about 500 passengers, and people were missing their flights right and left. That's the bad news. The good news is that they might have succeeded in missing a flight on one of Air France's Sardine Specials. However, the people are very nice.

Star Of 'Billy Jack' Practices Hapkido

The lightning flash of bare feet, as Billy Jack strikes down his tormentors, makes a scene in the new film, BILLY JACK, opening today at the R-70 Theater, as vivid as any combat in recent screen history.

It is a grim moment, but through the art of hapkido, a little-known, but highly effective form of karate perfected in Korea, Tom Laughlin, playing the title role, does battle in a fashion which is as successful as it is artful. It is the first time that this use of barefoot weaponry has been seen in a screen confrontation.

The near choreography of the leaps, kicks, turns and blows is utter and complete truth, for Laughlin learned hapkido from Bon Soo Han, a karate master teacher of other teachers and holder of the top hapkido honors, a Sixth Degree Black Belt.

The screenplay, by Frank and Teresa Christina, is an anti-establishment story of a young Indian and an idealistic teacher struggling to maintain a Freedom School on an Indian reservation against the opposition of the whole township.

Elvis Presley: A Curiosity

By DENIS SANDERS
Director of ELVIS
"That's The Way It Is"

There is a curiosity about Elvis Presley, just as there is concerning Howard Hughes or the Mafia or any entity who avoids the public eye. Having recently created the MGM motion picture titled ELVIS... "That's The Way It Is," and enjoyed a close working relationship with him, I am repeatedly asked by the press and by my friends what Elvis is all about.

What impressed me most, and certainly made my job easier, is that Elvis is an absolute professional of the first order. Perhaps blinded by his image and his income, people think of him as a legend when what he basically is, and has been for over 15 years, is a working musician. Inside observers are initially surprised that in putting a show together, Elvis is the captain of the ship. From the songs to be performed through the lighting, sound and blending of the sections of the orchestra, Elvis makes all the decisions.

When we had to intrude on his time, he always listened to reason. He knows what makes sense and what doesn't. He seems quite good natured, with a rare sense of humor, but he can get quite up-tight when he observes a lack of professionalism or when there is some artistic shortcoming on his part. Once on stage, before an audience, the thing that he has as a performer is what Brando had at the height of his powers as an actor. That is, you can never anticipate what he's going to do next. Each of his shows is entirely different. Though he is well-prepared, it is instinct that guides him on stage. It is difficult to take your eyes off him. I found it difficult to take the cameras off him and focus on some other aspect of the show.

These professional observations don't seem to satisfy those who question me about Elvis. On a personal level, however, I can't be too enlightening. When I began preparing the movie, it was quite clear that Elvis' personal life was not to concern me. That was fine. I would not do the real Elvis Presley personal story unless I had complete control over the film. Otherwise, you're in the same position that William Manchester was when he wrote about the Kennedy family.

Though there is great secrecy concerning Elvis' and his family and friends won't talk to outsiders about him, I don't get the feeling there is anything to hide. He seems well-adjusted to the necessarily peculiar way of life he leads. He appears happily married to a beautiful woman and he's a proud father. He enjoys the fruits of his wealth. His relative isolation has allowed his life to remain uncluttered and I guess he prefers it that way.

The way people respond to this man is an important part of "ELVIS." Did you know he has the largest and most dedicated following in the history of show business? When he appears in Las Vegas, the International Hotel must add 30 per cent to its staff just to cope with the traffic that comes from around the world.

Steiger, Coburn In Leone Film

The turbulent days of the Mexican Revolution provide the exciting backdrop for "Duck, You Sucker," starring Academy Award winner Rod Steiger, James Coburn and continental favorite Romolo Valli. It will open here Wednesday at the Ritz Theater.

Steiger, who won an Oscar for his portrayal of a southern sheriff in "In The Heat of the Night," and Coburn, noted for the "Flint" thrillers and many other adventure films, make an effective anti-establishment pair in this new outdoor drama directed by Sergio Leone. In "For Steiger, 'Duck, You Sucker' is his first screen appearance as a Mexican. He has previously been seen as an Irish Priest, as a Corsican Napoleon, and as an American redneck southern sheriff.

Knife Used On Bullock

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of State Bob Bullock underwent surgery today to remove a lung tumor.

Bullock, 43, said Thursday doctors had done a biopsy on the tumor. "But they haven't told me whether it's malignant or not."

"I imagine they're going to take out about half the lung," he added.

Bullock was hospitalized more than a week ago after a kidney disorder failed to respond to treatment. The tumor was discovered during hospital tests.

Bullock, who announced support of the McGovern-Eagleton ticket in a telegram shortly after he entered the hospital, said, "Just the other day Eagleton called me here. I was so surprised I almost fell out of the hospital bed."

"He said he just wanted to thank me and he told me 'I assure you we're not going to write off Texas.'"

Bullock was appointed as secretary of state last September by Gov. Preston Smith. The Senate confirmed his appointment in the special legislative session which ended July 7.

HCJC Board Meet

TEVYE TALKS TO GOD... played by Jewish actor Topol

Fiddler On The Roof

"Fiddler on the Roof" is the story of a small Jewish village in the Russian Ukraine in the time of the Tsars, where ordinary people live, making the best of a not very encouraging set of circumstances.

As a stage musical, "Fiddler On The Roof" has been seen by 30,000 people throughout the world, and everywhere its sincerity and humanity have been instantly recognized.

In Tokyo, the Japanese actor who played Tevye declared, "We know why it is a success here, but how is it they liked it in America?"

Topol, the Israeli actor who made a name for himself in the London stage production, says "The genius of Sholom Aleichem was that he used the background of Jewish folklore and humor as a frame, to see the general problems of a father, a husband, a member of a minority group."

PEACE TO YOU Sholom Aleichem means "Peace be unto you." It is also the pen name of a unique literary genius who wrote in Yiddish of the experiences and folklore of European Jews. He captured on paper the laughter and the tears, the thoughts and heart beats of a people.

His real name was Solomon Rabinowitch; he was born in Pereyaslav in the Ukraine in 1859 and died in New York in 1916. On the way, he wrote more than 300 stories, five novels plus a number of other works and plays. It is from the play "Tevye and His Daughters" that Joseph Stein fashioned the Broadway production "Fiddler On The Roof" opening today at the R-70 Theater.

JEWISH WIT He has been called the Jewish Mark Twain, but when the two writers actually met, Clements reputedly said "I hear I am the American Sholom Aleichem." The exchange is worthwhile to emphasize the respect felt for Aleichem's achievement by someone totally unfamiliar with his subject matter, but it isn't true. Twain was basically a satirist; Aleichem was a humanist who managed to constantly find joy in the midst of sorrow.

He died a poor man, unable to continue publishing his works, but his funeral attracted literally thousands of mourners who understood the enormity of

NOW SHOWING 101 Dalmations

Walt Disney's animated comedy-romance, "One Hundred and One Dalmations," is one of the funniest, most exciting and, at the same time, most sophisticated of all the Disney cartoon features.

Based on the popular novel by Dolie Smith, this picture is the tale of a song writer, his bride and their pet Dalmations who live through hilarious adventures trying to raise a family of puppies with dog-nappers at large.

Production of the wide-screen Technicolor film took three years and cost $4,000,000. It was the first cartoon feature to be turned out by the Xerox process, a then brand new electronic system developed by the Studio to reproduce the artists' original drawings and not require the intermediate step of having them inked on cels before painting can be done. It has the effect of transferring every artistic touch laid down by the artist's pencil directly to the screen, thus greatly improving the movement, the feeling, and the entertainment value of the animation.

The voices of 25 people were used to speak for the human and canine cartoon characters, and the educated actions of six actors and actresses were required to get reality into the movements of their cartoon counterparts. Animators and animation directors shot about 32,000 feet of film to get the authenticity they needed from live models.

A hundred and fifty artists and animators brought the characters to life on their drawing boards, producing, among other things, 6,439,952 spots to give the Dalmations coats to wear in 133,760 frames of finished film.

The spots and all other color effects required 800 gallons of very special paint — almost as costly as gold leaf — weighing nearly five tons, enough in liquid hues to dress the exterior of 135 average-sized homes.

Among the most impressive special effects was the smoke needed to work out the endless use of cigarettes by the human villainess (Cruella De Ville — smoke, which is compressed into a single cloud, would blanket a city of 100,000 souls.)
