In Friona

24th Annual Celebration

1980 Maize Days Events -Something For Everyone!

A week of exciting events is planned for the 24th annual Maize Days Celebration in Friona from September 9 through 13.

The two queen pageants are highlights of the mid-week activities. The Little Miss Friona contest is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening. The Maize Queen Contest will be at 8 p.m. on Thursday evening at the High School auditorium. For those interested in viewing the talent show portion of the contest, it is scheduled for 4 p.m. of the same day.

The Senior Citizens are again sponsoring a Quilt Fair to be held at the Friendship House on Friday and Saturday with all types of handcrafts to be displayed. The art show will be held at the City Council Meeting Room on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. All types of art, paintings, sculpture, etc. will be shown and judged at this event. Those wishing to enter either the Quilt Fair or the Art Show should bring their items in on Wednesday.

The Noon Lions are sponsoring a slow pitch 3-2 tournament which will begin on Saturday morning at 8 a.m. at the soft-ball park. Exhibition Lions Club match and finals will be held on Sunday afternoon.

The Chieftains will play Boys Ranch on Friday evening at 8 p.m. It will be the second home game of the season for Friona.

The "big-event" day of the week will be Saturday starting with the Pancake Breakfast at the High School Cafeteria from 5:30 a.m. through 8 a.m. sponsored by the American Legion. The annual Maize Days Parade starts on Main Street at 10:00 a.m. will be headed by Friona's Man and Woman of the Year, Ron Smiley and June Rhodes, sharing the spotlight as Parade Marshalls. Immediately following the parade, there will be a sky-diving exhibition which can be viewed on the spot from downtown Friona.

The Dixon Six Mile Marathon Race starting from Anthony's Corner to the Community Center, will get underway at 8 a.m.

The annual barbeque dinner at the City Park will be served by the Friona Volunteer Fire Department. The meal will be $2.00 per person. The Easter Opry will provide entertainment for the crowd during the time the barbeque is being served.

After lunch, there's just enough time to run home and tie a bow around Fido, as the annual pet show begins on the Library lawn at 2 p.m.

At 4 p.m. the crowd gathers at the bandstand in the City Park for the drawings offered by various clubs and civic groups.

The Aero-Space Carnival rides at the Park will run from Tuesday through Saturday.

Meanwhile, there will be other activities going on which are not centered at the Park. The Parmer County 4-H youth will display their projects at the Community Center from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday. Modern Study Club will sponsor their "Country Store" across the street from the park on Friday and Saturday. The art show and quilt fair exhibits will be open on Friday and Saturday.

Friona Riding Club will be sponsoring open barrel racing and steer roping at the rodeo grounds starting at 6 p.m.

Buttons and Bows square dance club will hold a square dance on Saturday night at the south side of the park, with Larry Cuper as caller.

A tired and dirty Main Street will heave a happy sigh on Sunday. And on Monday Friona will resume normal day-to-day activities for another year.

FRIONA FLASHBACKS

...from the files of The Friona Star

50 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 22, 1930

Buford Taylor, who has been conducting a cafe on the west side of Main Street just opposite the Rockwell Hardware Store for the past few years, has moved his business into the new Hicks building on Main Street south of the railroad.

45 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 16, 1935

The Friona territory, especially to the west of town seems in line to produce some good row crops far above average, especially as to sudan and hehari, also much good kaffir. This condition, however, does not prevail in all localities nor on all farms, as the rainfall has been very spotted this summer.

40 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 23, 1940

Mr. Brunk, manager of the Harley Saddler comedians tent show, was a business visitor here Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Brunk was making arrangements for his show to appear here on the night of September 20. Further details for the show will appear in the Star at a later date.

35 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 24, 1945

Issuance of sugar for home canning will stop August 25, the War Price and Rationing Board states. All applicants in this county received only five pounds per person after the drastic cut in sugar rations were announced in the early summer. Originally plans were to continue issuance through October, but the local board has been advised to issue the entire allotment for 1945 by the end of August.

30 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 17, 1950

"Along with six of new inventions, etc., the Perfect Circle Piston Ring magazine for August carries the picture of Ray Landrum's land-locked sailboat. The caption reads "No telling how many drivers took the pledge when they saw Ray Landrum of Friona wheeling across the plains of the Panhandle in his road-rolling sailboat."--Bert Neelley's column.

25 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 19, 1955

The Lewis Variety Store has recently completed a 40-foot addition to the back of their building, making an overall 120 feet of space. Other business improvements include a remodeling job at Foster's Dry Goods, with plans to double the size of the building. Gib's Cleaners has added a new permastone front; Friona State Bank has added a modern car port parking area. Under construction are Ware's Department Store and the new Mabry office building.

20 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 18, 1960

Dan True, Channel 10's weather-caster, will serve as the master of ceremonies during the annual Maize Days Queen Contest, announced Deke Kendrick, chairman of the contest, this week. In other news concerning the annual celebration, the addition of a donkey ball game between members of the Friona Lions and Friona Jaycees has been announced.

10 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 20, 1970

Herb Evans, formerly of Memphis, is the new District Conservationist for the Parmer County Soil Conservation District.

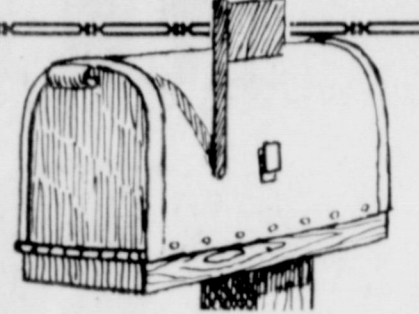

Melody Drake, Amy Mason and Reba Holt were declared the winners in the Friona Star's "Meet Your Merchant" contest. The three entrants split up $50 in prize money. Janet Wallis, exchange student for the 1970-71 school year, arrived last week for her stay with the Carl Schlenker family. Janet hails from Australia.

5 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 17, 1975

The Friona Star was winner of a pair of awards in the annual Better Newspaper Contests sponsored by the West Texas Press Association this summer. The Star won a first place plaque in the "Advertising Composition" category, in the division for newspapers published in cities over 3,000 population. In addition, the Star won a third place plaque in the "General Excellence" category.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Bill:

I think the proposal to increase the city's water rates according to what was published is all wrong. This will penalize the large users of water, and many of these are the ones who try to have pretty lawns and gardens.

If it is going to cost us two or three times as much for water as in the past, I'm afraid that many people will just abandon their lawns, etc., and this will be a detriment to the town in the long run.

I hope the people will take an interest in this problem and attend the City Council meeting on Monday, September 8, and let their wishes be known.

This is a vital issue, and is important to all of our residents, and will be for some time to come, so it should not be taken lightly.

Many of our residents, myself included, like to raise gardens. Not only for good fresh vegetables, but this is a good hobby. I'm afraid that if this new water ordinance is allowed to pass, it will curtail the growing of gardens, which is a big source of enjoyment for many people.

I know we need to be saving on water--and we may need more water wells. But there must be a better way to go about taking care of the problem than the one that has been presented.

Sincerely,
Herschel Johnson

Dear Bill,

We would like to commend you on your "Star Lites" in last week's issue of The Star. That article was a true picture of exactly the way socialism is creeping into our society today. It should be printed in every newspaper across this nation of ours, and maybe people would realize what is happening to our schools.

The Feds first took away the rights of teachers to discipline the students under them, then they took away the parents rights to send them to their neighborhood schools, and now they are telling them what to eat or drink. On top of all this our tax money is going to bilingual teaching.

We are being blackmailed by Washington by not sending our tax money back to the States, where it should be kept in the first place, if we do not comply with all this nonsense. At this rate the Feds will soon have complete control of our children. Have we so soon forgotten how Hitler took control of Germany? Wake up, America, before it is too late, as the old saying goes, you never miss the water till the well runs dry.

Sincerely,
R. L. Fleming

Winners Are Announced In 'Americanism' Essay Event

Winners in the Progressive Study Club-sponsored essay contest on "Citizenship" were announced some time ago, and the winning essays were made available for publication.

Winners were Diane Johnston, first place; Jo Schueler, second place, and Kevin Brogden, third place.

The first place winner received a $50 savings bond from the club.

The top essays are presented herewith:

DIANE JOHNSTON First Place

There are many advantages about living in America. Our country has many things to be proud of such as strong government leaders and rights to stand up for what we believe in, to name a few.

America is a very fortunate country and has been since its birth. When America was starting out, it stayed close by to its mother country England, as a small calf stays close to its mother. England liked having America looking up to them. It made England feel more secure and would eventually make it rich with land.

As a calf gradually turns away from its mother, so did America. Courageous Americans soon grew tired of being ruled by their mother country, as it showed in the war for Independence.

America has come a long way since that time. Our rich, fertile land has kept our country from facing poverty.

Other nations are not quite as fortunate as we are. It is not easy for small countries, such as Pakistan, who is surrounded by larger countries, to support themselves as a nation full of starving people. There are people over there who are starving every day and that's where America comes in. As a wealthy country, America is able to help out other countries which are poverty stricken or countries which have been through war.

America is not a selfish nation. For instance when the war with Japan was fought, Americans helped build Japan back up where such things as the atom-bomb had destroyed things. Now Japan is one of the wealthiest industrial countries in the world.

Another important factor in the life of our nation is the determination of the people. Ever since America was started, "determination" has kept us going. People who criticize America may say that America has just been lucky, but knowing what those people went through to win our nation's independence, I would call it nothing less than sheer determination and strong courageous efforts.

Freedom, to me, is one of the most important things about living in America. Here we have a choice of what religion we prefer, the type of work we would rather do, and the chance to speak up for our rights.

One good example of people not having the opportunity to stand up for their rights is when Hitler took over in 1939. People didn't have any authority over the way the country was run. When Hitler became dictator in 1933, he saw the opportunity to rule a nation and soon many others, and therefore took advantage of it. If people had had the freedom to speak up for what they believed in, they wouldn't have been taken over.

America does not have to worry about being taken over because Amendment 1 states that Congress may not pass any laws that keep the people from meeting in a peaceable manner to talk and/or petition the government for a redress of grievances.

If I had a choice between America and a communist country such as Russia, I would much rather be an American. Maybe I'm just prejudice, but I know I am not standing alone. As a child living in Russia, I would be tied down to a certain way of life such as a certain school and later on a particular job would be assigned to me by the government.

As an American, I would be, and I am, able to go to the church of my preference, attend the college my parents and I agree is right for me and make a living doing a job I can enjoy.

American citizenship to me is knowing that I am a part of a nation full of wealth, freedom and the concern for other country's problems, which makes me feel like I've accomplished something each and every day I'm alive.

JO SCHUELER Second Place

America! The home of the free and the brave. A rich, abundant nation with the people as its power and ole Uncle Sam backing it up all the way.

The courageous Americans in our past are responsible for the country we are today. They fought for our rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness under the strictest rule. They changed the thirteen colonies under British rule into their own nation—the United States. It was worth the fight! These people were a little dubious about this new system of government, but it's survived two world wars, a civil war and it's still going as strong as ever. If it survives this Iranian crisis it has to be the most powerful government in the world.

The American people have so many privileges and they don't realize it. For instance, we don't realize how fortunate we are living in a country free of communism. Such countries as Russia and China aren't so lucky as we are. They don't have any special freedoms and rights like we do. For example, they can't criticize their government while us lucky Americans have the right to speak against our government in speeches and in print. Their dictatorship-like country with the government controlling everything differs so much from our democratic country with the people as the power. We have the opportunity to go out and get a college or high school education while they have to get a job before they ever get a chance at a decent education. We should be proud and thankful for our country. A nation full of opportunities just waiting to be taken!

Americans are always griping and protesting about our government when they should really be filled with gratitude for it. If they'd just sit down for a minute and think about it. It's not so bad. President Carter is doing all he can do for our country and people should realize that. He's not no mighty wonder man who can make things so goody-goody perfect for everybody. He does his best to keep the U.S. in shape and that's all people should expect out of a president—his best. I don't think all of Carter's ideas are really that great, but that's my opinion. After all, he can't please everyone.

America is such a rich nation. We don't really think of ourselves as being rich, but we really are. At least when you compare us to the people of such countries as India and Africa. We take for granted so much that we have that we don't really realize what we've got until we see what others don't have.

America is one of the leading nations and, hopefully, it'll be the same in the future. Our future is the material for the pattern we're designing today. If we make a wrong cut or calculation the whole outfit is messed up. We can't afford to mess

Study Club To Sponsor Maize Days Money Doll

The coming of this 1980 Maize Days celebration marks the 18th year Progressive Study Club has used proceeds from the Money Doll to benefit Farmer County Community Hospital.

Such things as a defibrillator, a couch for the waiting room, a refrigerator for the nursery, a movie projector, a prothrombin machine, and a CO-2 machine for the lab have all been purchased through this service.

The OB room was furnished and a fetal heart machine was also added. Landscaping was done with proceeds from the Money Doll, as was the purchase of a phototherapy machine and two bed-a-chairs.

Electronic scales, vinyl for hospital room walls, and a filing cabinet for microfilm were the latest items added to the hospital.

Credit for starting this money making project goes to Mary Bavousett. Steve was in Lions Club at the time and Mary read about "ways to make money" in one of Steve's Lions magazines.

As Mary is known to get things rolling, the Money Doll soon became a yearly project for Progressive Study Club members.

As in the past, tickets are available for the Money Doll through any member of Progressive Study Club. Tickets will also be on sale during intermission of the Little Miss Contest and the Queen's Contest.

Progressive Study Club asks for your full support in this worthy cause, as it benefits the whole community of Friona.

The Money Doll may be seen dressed in her 25 one dollar bills on display at the Friona Chamber of Commerce office.

HOLLY HODGES....Just one of the several members of the Easter Opry which will be performing at the City Park on Saturday during Maize Days barbeque. The varied musical groups promise to have the crowd doing toe tapping and hand clapping during their open air concert.

Opry Stars To Entertain

The Easter Opry Road Show will be performing Saturday during Maize Days at the City Park while area citizens are enjoying the Annual Barbeque Luncheon.

The Road Show consist of several groups of professional performers from the Easter-Dimmitt-Hereford area. The show has been used primarily as a fund-raising concert for several civic groups around the panhandle area. Though the Maize Days concert will not be a fund-raising project, the Easter Opry Road Show promises a musical jam session which will be enjoyed by the whole family.

The group started out as a country, bluegrass, and gospel band and consisted of Ed Gallagher, Bill Lytal and Jerry Hodges. They were first known as the Frio Trio. New acts and performers were added to the group until it reached its present twenty member status.

Other featured acts in the Opry are Woody Glass, the Bob Stice Quartet, Holly Hodges, Jan Walser, the Goulaire, the Country Four, Cal Garrett, Zelda Ellison, Kristi Lytal, Art Reinauer, Homer Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boyer, Bill Marquis and Herman McCleskey.

After enjoying the entertainment provided by these groups at Maize Days, Friona people will undoubtedly be wanting to hear them again.

up America, like the outfit, because there's no starting over. Once it's done, it's done. There's no changing the past.

Us Americans can't mess up. We've got to try to make things better for the benefit of other generations. We make our future by the best use of the present.

The best thing about the future is that it only comes one day at a time and that's plenty fast enough.

KEVIN BROGDEN

Third Place

I am proud to be an American citizen and live in the United States of America. Being an American citizen you have certain rights. We don't have a dictator telling us where to go and where not to go; where to live and where not to live. Americans have freedom rights such as the freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly and the freedom of petition as stated in the Constitution. Also we have the rights of the freedom to the job of our choice and to enjoy the recreation and entertainment that we like best.

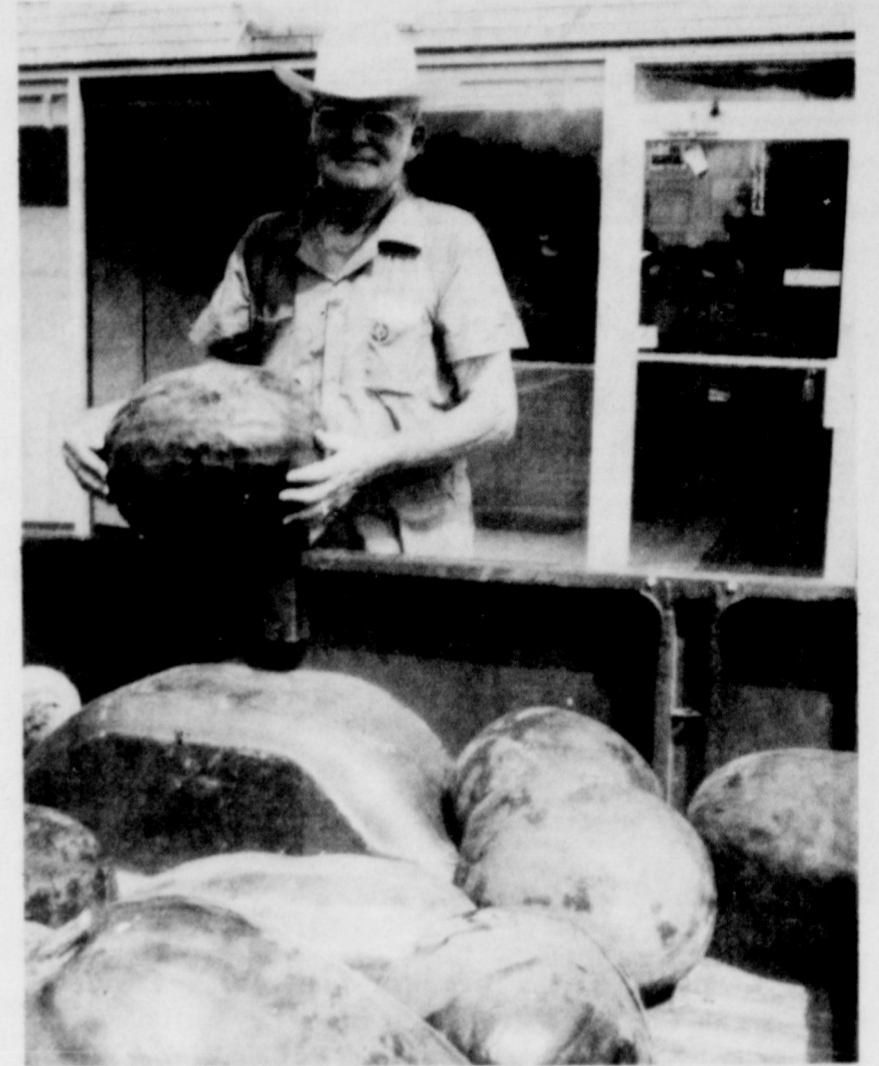

America is fortunate because we have enough things to meet our needs. For instance we have an abundant supply of food to keep us from starving to death, and we also have an abundant supply of clothes to wear which some countries don't have. Here in America we have enough land to live on without being too crowded.

Americans have certain responsibilities to go along with these rights. Some of our responsibilities are to vote for the best man possible in office and following the laws of America. Taking part in civic activities is another responsibility that makes your city or town a better place to live. I think that with these responsibilities it makes America even a better place to live.

This country also has its problems. America has been in wars that have caused problems for the country. Some other problems that we face are inflation, shortages and pollution.

America helps people in her country and other countries. The American government provides for the poor people by welfare, the old people by social security and medical care, the physically disabled are cared for too. America has a large choice of colleges and universities for you to choose from for you to study and learn how to do the job or career that you would want to do. America also provides a good education for its young people.

MILLER MELONS....Local farmer, Roy Miller, is shown with just a few of the many Texas-sized melons grown on his farm this season. His yellow and red-meat water melons averaged between 40 to 45 pounds each. It was also a good year for cantaloupes. All the Miller melons had a fantastic flavor. (We know...we sampled.)

BHS Edges FHS In Scrimmage

The Friona Chieftains were opening their 1980 football season against Tulia Friday night.

The team will be performing for first-year coach Pete Hubbard, making his debut in the contest.

In their second game-type scrimmage against Bovina last Friday, the team scored once, but Bovina scored on the next to last play of the scrimmage to take a 2-1 edge in the scoring.

Friona had scored in the second half of the scrimmage, paced by the running of Tony Jackson. Jackson picked up a pair of first downs, including a jaunt to the Bovina ten-yard line.

The hometown Mustangs dug in and almost held the Chiefs outside their goal-line, but on fourth and five from the Bovina five-yard-line, quarterback Martin Mercado rolled out to the left and found the end zone to tie up the scrimmage.

Ponies Score First In Contest

Bovina, who is also under a first-year coach, Paul Topliff, who guided Texico, N.M. to two state runner-up spots, had scored on their second possession following a long pass play.

Mike Neill, who had intercepted a Bovina pass in the first half, made a circus catch for a 30-yard gain late in the scrimmage, and Friona again drove goal-ward. But Mercado fumbled at the Bovina 30 after a nice gain to halt the drive.

Later, Friona again took to the air, and a long pass was intercepted by the Mustangs, and the interceptor ran the ball all the way for the tie-breaking touchdown.

In the preliminary game, Friona's Freshman team and Bovina's junior varsity battled to a one-one tie.

Bovina scored first on a 70-yard run up the middle. Friona's Charlie Morgan capped an 80-yard drive by going the last two yards to score. He had made about three first downs for the freshmen during the drive.

Enrollment Figures Gain

Enrollment figures in the Friona school system showed a 39-pupil gain after Labor Day, from the figures announced a week earlier by Superintendent Tom B. Jarboe.

Common Law Course Held

Studying for five nights at the rate of three hours per night, five citizens of Parmer County and one from Castro County participated in Phase I of the first "Common Law Courts" course conducted in Parmer County on August 11-15, at 523 Main Street, in Friona. They were Bertram Jack, Lawrence Kriegel, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas, Roy Don Koker and Mike Winders.

Follow-up meetings will occur for graduates of Phase I to continue study and perfect techniques, the first such being scheduled for September 16, with guest Eugene Lunsdale of Farwell as speaker.

Four more such courses are scheduled for September and October, sponsored by the Parmer County Law Enforcement and Research Committee.

Jarboe stated that the enrollment on September 2 stood at 1327, compared to the 1,288 which had enrolled on the second day of school.

The 1,327 total also was a gain of 21 students over a comparable day following Labor Day in 1979, when the total came to 1,306.

The latest figures show 566 students in elementary school; 430 in junior high, and 331 in high school.

Here are the totals by grade: early childhood special ed, 5; kindergarten 99; first 123; second 117; third 106; fourth 107; elem. combination unit 9. Total: 566.

Fifth 108; sixth 114; seventh 107; eighth 101; Totals 430.

Ninth 95; tenth 84; eleventh 79; 12th 73. Totals 331. Grand totals 1,327.

Taxpayers Face Three Hearings

Local taxpayers are facing three hearings during the coming week, of which they might want to make a note.

Two of the hearings are scheduled for Monday, September 8. The third is slated for Tuesday, September 9.

A public hearing has been scheduled to discuss the proposed Parmer County budget for 1981, beginning at 4 p.m. Monday at the County Courtroom in Farwell. The county has given notice to taxpayers that it will raise its tax ratio by 66 2/3 for the coming year, increasing its budget from roughly $1 million to $1.67 million.

The Friona City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday night, September 8, to hold its fiscal year budget hearing. The city is proposing a more conservative budget increase of seven per cent over the 1979-80 budget.

City residents are also expected to attend the meeting to express their feelings on the proposed new water ordinance, which calls for an escalated scale on water sales, which would cause a considerable increase in the rates for larger water users.

Finally, the Friona independent School District has scheduled a public hearing for Tuesday, September 9, at 8 p.m. at the Board Room, Friona High School, on the proposal to raise school taxes by an effective rate of 20.33 per cent over the past year's rate.

Progressive Club Kicks Off Year

Members of Progressive Study Club met Tuesday, August 26 at the Federated Club House for the first meeting of the club year.

The program committee hosted the evening with a meal of salad in pocket bread, baked potatoes with various toppings and a fruit platter for dessert.

Following the meal the business meeting was conducted by the new president Gaye Tannahill. Officers for the new year are Pauline Nelson, vice president; Roxanne Hurst, secretary; Maxine Loafman, treasurer; Ann Graves, reporter; Nancy Edelman, parliamentarian; Arun Osborn, Federation counselor, and Beverly Mars as legislative counselor.

Plans for the Little Miss Contest to be held on Tuesday, September 9, at the High School Auditorium were discussed. Nancy Edelman is chairman for this event.

Also under discussion was the ticket sales for the club's annual Money Doll project with proceeds from the sales going to aid the Parmer County Community Hospital. The 10¢ chances on the Money Doll will be sold at the Little Miss Contest and again in the City Park during Saturday's activities. These tickets may be the only things which can still be purchased for ten cents.

Following the business meeting, the new year books were presented to fifteen members. The books were decorated with rainbows and "Nature's Prism" is to be the theme for the interesting and informative programs planned for the year.

Two new members of the club were welcomed. They are Jo Blackwell and Jeanette Maurer. Mrs. Louise Walker was a guest.

Residents Urged To Complete Histories

Residents of Parmer County were reminded this week to finish up their free 500-word "Living Family" histories for the Parmer County History Book, and get them in to the County Historical Commission.

"They are very vital to the issuance of the county history book. We also urge you to consider a memorial to your deceased loved ones. Read the following memorial to a grand couple," stated Otho Whitefield.

MEMORIAL: A.O. & BESSIE DRAKE

Arthur O. Drake and Bessie D. Miller were born in Ringold County, Iowa. They were married in Mt. Ayr, Iowa in 1903. Two daughters were born there. They were Frances and Treva.

They moved to Friona in 1909 and settled on a farm about four miles northwest of Friona known as Green Valley. In 1911 they moved to Black, Texas about four miles southeast on the farm now owned by Bruce Parr. Here is where four children were born: Owen, Arthur, Pearl and Earl.

In 1919 they bought half a section of land from the Hanson's which was on the northeast corner of Friona and is now part of Friona known as Drake's Sub-division.

Pearl was deceased in 1929 and Owen lost his life in World War II in France in 1944.

Mr. Drake was engaged in farming and ranching for many years and later was a carpenter before retiring. He passed away in January, 1960 and Mrs. Drake passed away in December 1970.

CINDY ALEXANDER, 17 year old daughter of R.S. Alexander and Sarah Owen, has blonde hair and hazel eyes. She is a senior in school. She will sing for her talent in the Maize Queen Contest. Her sponsor is Ruthie's Ladies & Children's Wear.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Finds it hard to sleep

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a female, 61 years of age and having trouble getting to sleep at night. I've been taking over-the-counter pills, such as Nyctol and Somnifix, for two years now. I have tried many things to get away from taking them, but they just haven't worked. I do have some arthritis in my spine, knees and shoulders and I take Percodan every night for the pain and also some aspirin. Could you please give me some information on how to break the habit of taking these sleeping pills?

DEAR READER — If you're having pain, it's sometimes difficult to sleep. The first question is, are you taking enough of the proper medicines to control your pain so that you're comfortable when you go to bed? If not, you may need to make some adjustments in that area before you're successful in controlling sleep.

Most of the sleeping pills that people can buy for themselves leave a lot to be desired. Some have ingredients that can be harmful. Fortunately, the amount present in these sleeping pills is so small that it usually doesn't cause any trouble.

The difficulty is that the amounts are also so small that they don't produce any effect and the person may decide to take more than the amount recommended. When this happens, these ingredients can cause severe reactions, so it's most unwise for anyone to take more of any of these pills than is recommended on the package.

Many of the sleeping pills that doctors prescribe also lose their effectiveness in about two weeks. That's why no one should take medicines regularly every night to enable them to sleep. Pretty soon you have both a sleeping problem and a drug problem.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-6, Sleep and Insomnia. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 62-year-old female and I have been drinking distilled water. I've been told it is not good for me as it does not have any minerals in it. I have real good teeth so I would like to know if I should keep drinking it.

DEAR READER — Distilled water will not hurt you. It's true that some people get an appreciable amount of minerals from their water, particularly if it's "hard water." However, the most important mineral source for your body comes from your diet not your drinking water. So you should be sure that you're on a well-balanced diet that includes enough milk or other dairy products to provide a sufficient amount of calcium every day. That will be one of the major factors in helping you maintain these good teeth.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I wish you would give some advice to us "skinny." Not all of our readers have the same sort of weight problem. Some of us have as much trouble gaining as others do losing.

I don't relish gaining the extra 10 pounds I'd like to have to keep from looking so scrawny by stoking up on milk shakes. A doctor had my mother add those to my menus when I was a 5-foot-6, 100 pound student. I gained weight but it dropped off again when I got tired of drinking so many of them. I've weighed around 110 for the past 30 or 35 years. My question is, what should one use as a source of additional calories if one wants to gain?

DEAR READER — If you just want to gain pounds of body fat, you can eat more than the number of calories your body uses. The same basic laws of energy apply to skinny people as to heavy people. You'll need to eat the foods that we ask people not to eat who want to lose weight, the high calorie foods that contain fat and sweets.

You can find out how many calories you need to gain weight by finding out how many calories your body uses under basal resting conditions. I'm hoping that more doctors will start using the old fashioned BMR test to find out how many calories people use.

The liters of oxygen used per hour multiplied by 4.825 tells you how many calories you use each hour under resting conditions. Multiply by 24 for basal calories for all day. Add the calories your body will need to equal the energy used in physical activity of all forms throughout the day. Then add more calories for weight gain.

You should start doing some strength exercises. Calisthenics such as push ups, chin ups, knee bends and things that use the weight of the body as a resistance are strength exercises. For better results use weight training devices found in exercise facilities to build muscles. As you grow muscles, your body weight will improve. So will your appearance.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. Growing muscles help prevent people from being obese and developing fatty deposits. Growing muscles will also help you gain body weight if you need it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Exercise is a bit like diet. If you build up muscles with strength exercises and then don't maintain an adequate exercise program, you'll lose those muscles you grew and your weight will go back to where it was. Similarly, if you increase your body weight by gaining fat from eating extra calories and then decrease your calories enough, you will lose the fat you've gained. Basically, whether one wants to gain weight or lose weight, maintaining the desired level once it's achieved depends on having permanently altered one's lifestyle in relationship to both diet and physical activity.

Removing old wax

DEAR POLLY — My light gray furniture has become discolored from using furniture wax. How can I remove this old wax? — MRS. A.B.

DEAR MRS. A.B. — For removing old wax you might try a solution of one tablespoon of turpentine and a tablespoon of olive oil in one quart of warm water. Mix well and use a cloth wrung out of this to rub briskly over the furniture. Repeat until excess is removed and the surface clean. Dry with another soft cloth, and when completely dry put on a thin coat of paste wax and rub to a shine. Go easy on the wax after this. Of course, this, as any suggested remedy, should be tested on an inconspicuous area of the furniture. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — How can oil paintings that are not protected by glass be cleaned of dust and dirt that have accumulated? — BETTY

DEAR BETTY — Oil paintings should always be cleaned by a professional. To just remove dust you might try carefully blotting with a piece of soft fresh bread if dusting with a soft brush does not do the job. — POLLY Ministerially Speaking....

How We Complain!

Whenever we suffer some affliction we should regard it both as a punishment and a correction. Our Holy Scriptures themselves do not promise us peace, security and rest. On the contrary. The Gospel makes no secret of the troubles and temptations that await us, but it also says that he who perseveres to the end will be saved.

What good has there ever been in this life since the time when the first man received his just sentence of death and the curse from which Christ our Lord has delivered us? So, let's not grumble for as St. Paul says: "Some of them murmured and were destroyed by serpents."

Often times I ask myself: "Is there any affliction now endured by our mankind that was not endured by our ancestors?" I'm sure that my father and mother endured hardships that I would feel reluctant to undertake. Today I feel that we are an age of silver spoon children!

And yet today we hear of people complaining about this present age because things were so much better then. I wonder if they could be taken back to the days of their ancestors, wouldn't they still complain? We might think that things were good then, but it is only because we are not living in them.

It amazes me that we who believe in the Son of God and studied the scriptures, that we can think of the days of Adam as good? With the words "By the sweat of your brow, you shall eat your bread; you shall till the earth from which you were taken, and it will yield you thorns and thistles. How, then, can we think that past ages were better than our own; Far from justifying complaints about our times, we should rejoice that we are living the days on hand.

Boxed Beef is only the useable portions of the carcass skillfully trimmed and packaged through ultra-modern processing, then vacuum sealed and boxed for ease of handling. Cutting these portions to desired roasts and steaks does not require a trained butcher. In fact, many housewives across the country prepare the boneless cuts to their own requirements right in their kitchens. What a fine way to get just exactly the cuts you need and save dollars on quality beef at the same time. However, on any Boxed Beef purchase you make with us we gladly cut and wrap it to your own specifications.

1. Boxed Beef is naturally aged, thanks to its patented vacuum wrapping.
2. More sanitary-less bacteria.
3. You buy meat without the surplus waste fat and bone.
4. You save money in buying meat instead of bone, fat, and trimmings.
5. Quality controlled beef. Only the best beef is selected to go in the Boxed Beef program.
6. You can buy only the part of the beef that you want.

Safety Tips Are Given By DPS

The Texas Department of Public Safety wishes to warn the motorist that daylight hours will be getting shorter. It is difficult to see a person on foot during the twilight hours.

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Department of Public Safety Commander said, "Children will be attending school and this will cause an increase in pedestrian traffic. Human life is the most precious commodity we have, more especially our school children's lives."

Look for the pedestrian and the big yellow school bus. It's easier to see something when you are looking for it.

When you see a child in the street, expect him to do anything, and be ready to give him the right-of-way.

Back to school time is a good time of the year. Let's make sure ALL the children enjoy it all year long.

Mark Zachary Gives Boys State Report

Mark Zachary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gene Zachary, attended the 1980 American Legion Boys State, June 7-13. It was held in Austin, on the University of Texas Campus.

Zachary was sponsored by the local American Legion Post.

Boys State is a program for upcoming seniors in high school. It teaches the young men about democracy, and how one can operate to help the government. In this year's camp, there were approximately 950 boys that attended.

The young men were divided into two political parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists. They elected state officers from their party to run in the general election.

The state officers included: governor, Lt. governor, attorney general, land commissioner, comptroller of public accounts, state treasurer, agriculture commission, railroad commissioner (3), chief justice of supreme court, associate justice (8), court of criminal appeals (4), and presiding judge for the court of criminal appeals.

There were various speakers for the boys state session. On Sunday and Monday, two aides to the governor spoke to the staters.

On Tuesday night the Governor of Texas, Bill Clements, spoke. Wednesday night a very dynamic speaker, Louis Timberlake of Austin was the speaker.

On Friday, the last day of the camp, Bill Clayton, Speaker of the House, spoke to the Boys Staters, at the State Capitol.

The boys operated in every responsibility from city to state office. Mark was elected to the House of Representatives. On the last day of camp there were mock bills passed by the Boy Staters on the house and senate floors.

A few of these included voting against the SALT II treaty, providing incentives for energy exploration, and honoring the Director-Chairman of the camp.

PIONEER HOSTESSES....Members of Modern Study Club's Program Committee hosted the club's first meeting of the year on a Western Pioneer theme. All decked out in bonnets and old-time long dresses, the group served a meal of "Chuck Wagon Fare" to the other members. Left to right are Carol Ellis, Eva Miller, Program Committee Chairman Donna Mears, Club President Mary Johnston, and Beth Thompson. Seated are Mary Pryor and Linda Murphree.

Study Club Has Special Meeting

Modern Study Club's new club year was opened last Tuesday evening with a Chuck Wagon supper at the Federated Club House, hosted by members of the Program Committee.

Barbeque, beans, watermelon, sour-dough biscuits, green salad, potato salad, cobbler and cake were served to 25 members.

The clubhouse was decorated on a Western Theme with old quilts, a trunk, iron pots and other early-day antique items for points of interest. Each table was centered with a coal-oil lamp and small antique artifacts. Members ate from tin plates and drank their tea from mason jars. Bandana handkerchiefs were the napkins and place-cards were made from brown paper sacks.

The invocation was given by Vera Beil. Members answered roll call with a "Tall Texas Tale." The Program Committee presented a medley of western songs, after which the club members joined in a sing-along.

Program Committee Chairman Donna Mears told the story of early Texas pioneers and the settling of Old Mobeetic, which was the first town in the Texas Panhandle. Club yearbooks with the theme "Values That Endure" were passed out to the members.

During the business meeting it was reported that the club had donated money to purchase a sonic denture cleaner for Prairie Acres Nursing Home. The club has adopted a young girl, 15-year-old Carol Chapman, from Girls Town.

Winifred Hurst, chairman of the Finance Committee, announced that the club would collect aluminum cans for recycling. Townspeople are urged to collect their cans and turn them in to the members of this committee. Phone Mrs. Hurst at 247-3123, Mrs. Amy Mason at 247-3630, or Mrs. Allo Reeve at 247-3856 for more information on where to bring the cans.

Mrs. Reeve gave a report on the Caprock District Summer Workshop which was held at the Garden Arts Center in Lubbock on July 26. She reported that the Club had won a first place in state competition on Federation Interaction Liason.

Club President Mary Johnston presided over the business meeting. The Club was adjourned with the reading of the collect.

Hostesses were Donna Mears, Beth Thompson, Mary Pryor, Carol Ellis, Linda Murphree, and Eva Miller.

Carlsbad Caverns Schedule Given

New fall and winter hours went into effect at Carlsbad Caverns National Park September 2.

Under the new schedule, which will remain in effect until mid-May 1981, the park visitor center will open at 7:30 a.m. (MT) and complete walk-in tours will be offered from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. daily. Big Room trips, which cover the portion of the Cavern seen on the second half of the complete tour, will be offered from 8 a.m. until 3:15 p.m. The complete tour is three miles in length and takes about three hours.

Lantern tours through New Cave will be offered on weekends only, with two tours scheduled each Saturday and Sunday at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Reservations are required for the lantern tours and may be made by calling the park visitor center at (505) 785-2233.

For the month of September, while the bats are still flying, the visitor center will remain open late and evening programs at the Cavern entrance will continue to be offered. The evening talks start at about sunset, which usually occurs between 6:30 and 6:45 p.m. at this season of the year.

According to park officials, some of the best bat flights of the year occur in the fall as young bats born during the summer join the colony in flight and as bats from other caves stop at Carlsbad Cavern on their annual migration to Mexico.

Concession facilities operated by The Cavern Supply Company at the park will also go to a similar schedule on September 2, with food service opening at 8 a.m. and closing at 4 p.m., the drink counter closing at 4:15 p.m., and the nursery, kennel, and gift shop opening at 8 a.m. and closing at 4:30 p.m.

The park entrance fee is $3 per carload daily for private non-commercial vehicles, $1 per person for commercial bus passengers, or an annual Golden Eagle or Golden Age Passport.

Planetarium Plans Show Sept. 6-7

Awesome and mysterious lights that appear in the sky will be recreated on the planetarium dome of Amarillo's Don Harrington Discovery Center in a spectacular show, opening September 6-7, 1980.

The show, called "SKYFIRE," illustrates and explains the amazing variety of natural lights that can be seen in day and night skies. "SKYFIRE" will be presented at the Discovery Center weekends at 8 p.m. on Saturdays and 3 p.m. on Sundays.

Created by the Strasensburgh Planetarium at Rochester, N.Y., "SKYFIRE" explores both common and rare phenomena that occur in the earth's atmosphere and in space. Some of the skyfires shown can be seen with the unaided eye, under the right conditions: rainbows, the northern lights, lightning that travels in a ball, and the sun disappearing in a green flash.

Other scenes are of events within our solar system, such as eclipses, meteor showers, and flares on the sun. And some of the fires in the sky come from deep in space, where stars explode into glowing clouds of gas and galaxies of a billion suns rotate like gigantic pinwheels.

Using the planetarium dome of the Discovery Center and computer-controlled projection equipment, "SKYFIRE" can show certain effects as they appear to an observer on earth or reveal dramatic close-ups of objects out in space.

ERNESTEEN SKIPWORTH

Collecting, Quilting Are Rewarding Hobbies

By JUNE FLOYD

Anyone who is interested in hand made quilts, antique furniture, oil paintings, collecting old newspapers or just talking about any hobby, shouldn't stop at 911 Woodland Avenue in Friona unless time is of no importance.

The charming woman who greets visitors at this residence with a smile is interested in just about everything and has a wide range of projects going all the time. She's very artistic and uses this talent in a number of different ways.

Ernesteen Skipworth is the fourth in line in the eight children of the late E.D. Matlock and his wife, Elva, who lives two doors south of the Skipworth residence. She is a sister of Tootsie White and Dottie Osborn, both of Friona.

The Matlocks were pioneer residents of the Valley View Community in Central Hale County, Texas, where Ernesteen was born and grew up.

As was the custom of the day, when Ernesteen was growing up her family was very self sufficient. Early in life she became a part of the workers in her family and learned to do many things which girls growing up at this time do not learn.

At an early age others began to take notice of Ernesteen's artistic talents as she learned to piece quilts, crochet and do other kinds of handwork.

Ernesteen and her husband, W.D., who is better known as Doc, were married in Plainview in 1937 and lived in Hale County until he began a tour of duty with the United States Armed Forces during World War II.

Doc is a carpenter and enjoys building articles of furniture for their home. He and Ernesteen make a real fine team in the woodworking field. She comes up with ideas and he carries them out.

Several attractive pieces in their home served different purposes when they were new. When their granddaughter, Karla, who lives with them, was smaller, Doc and Ernesteen converted an elaborate record cabinet into a story book doll house for her.

Doc did the construction and assisted Ernesteen with the furnishings, floor coverings and interior decorating.

Several members of her family have specially designed and constructed quilts which tell the story of special events in their lives.

A niece remarked, "When something special is coming up, all of us know Ernesteen will come through with a quilt suitable for the occasion."

When Tammi Kelley was named "Little Miss Friona," in the city's first contest, Ernesteen made a quilt telling the story. It is one of Tammi's most prized possessions.

When 'Teen, as she is called by her sisters, brothers and other close relatives, isn't busy with cooking for her husband; son, Jimmy, who is a custodian at Friona Junior High School; and granddaughter, Karla, who is a sixth grade student, she's apt to be busy doing something constructive.

She can always be called upon for expert advice on the art of quilt making regardless of the problems anyone is having.

The Skipworths moved to Friona from Tom Bean, Texas, where they had operated a lumberyard and had ranching interests for about twenty years, in 1976.

When asked about outside interests, Ernesteen replied, "Well, really, I don't have very many. I spend as much time as I can with Mother, try to keep up with Karla's school activities and do a few oil paintings if time permits."

The Skipworths attend Friona United Methodist Church.

One of Ernesteen's favorite preachers was a pioneer Baptist preacher, who preached at the rural Valley View Baptist Church when she was growing up. He was the father of Jimmy Dean.

IT WILL BE FINISHED BY GRADUATION.... The memory quilt, which Mrs. W.D. Skipworth holds on her lap, will be a graduation gift for one of her nieces, Monique Osborn. Each block depicts a special time in her life and begins with her first year in school. The last four blocks are decorated with pictures of the different events during each of her four years in high school.

DOLLS! DOLLS! DOLLS!.... And a doll house too. Karla Skipworth, sixth grade granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Skipworth, is pictured here with a doll house which her grandparents made and furnished for her. Sitting on top of it are a number of dolls, part of a collection which numbers over 300.

BROOK WEATHERLY is being sponsored by Black Grain Company in the Little Miss Contest. She is the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weatherly.

MARY ANNE PASCHAL
LOST 22 LBS. & 45 IN.!

The radiant beauty of a slender figure, dramatically illustrated here by Mary Anne Paschal, undoubtedly is the most obvious advantage you'll derive from losing unwanted weight at Pat Walker's. Improved appearance, however, is only part of the story; Ms. Paschal cites other benefits:

"(More than a year ago) I completed my prescribed number of treatments, losing 22 pounds and 45 inches. Since then I have easily maintained the loss of pounds and my newly proportioned figure by following the Pat Walker way of eating sensibly, a plan I intend to continue for life.

"There are absolutely no gimmicks, no calorie counting, no carbohydrate counting, no special foods - thus enabling the patron to continue on her own to manage her weight forever. Two important additional benefits are the renewed energy for zestful living and the uplifted spirit as the 'new you' emerges...In my opinion there is no better way to lose excess pounds and inches."

Reduce with dignity

Pat Walker's is not a gym, spa or health club. Rather it is an elegantly decorated salon in which you can shape your figure pleasantly and privately - without stringent diets or strenuous exercises. And you'll enjoy:

Researchers Study Ways To Control Mites In Corn, Sorghum

A major problem in corn and some other High Plains crops is damage from mites. Research to combat this problem will be spotlighted Tuesday, September 9, at the 71st annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at its research facility at Halfway.

The program alternates annually between the TAES center at Lubbock and the High Plains Research site, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Highway 70.

It will begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Motorized tours of the plots will be conducted, with the last tour starting at 4 p.m. In addition to mite control, other featured stops will be low energy precision application system, furrow diking and weed control. There will be a display of equipment and booths where farmers and home gardeners can discuss specific problems with the scientists and with specialists and agents of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Mites are a bigger problem on the High Plains than anywhere else in Texas, says Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist at the Lubbock/Halfway station. He will explain the research to visitors touring the facility.

"We've instituted a pest management-oriented research program to combat mites, trying to look at cultural manipulations, the potential for host plant resistance, and biological and chemical controls," Archer said.

One control measure being tested by the researchers is the use of natural enemies.

"We've been releasing two species of predatory mites against the Banks grass mite. These particular mites have been used rather effectively in California on vegetables and grapes. We're looking to see if they're adapted to the High Plains and whether they'll work well in our cultural systems for corn and sorghum."

The research entomologist said chemical control of mites has been "rather disappointing." He said mites are able to develop resistance to chemicals faster than insects.

"We continue to have a program to screen a number of chemicals for mite control," Archer said, "including quite a few experimental compounds. Also, we're looking at chemicals that might be used for such pests as corn borers and greenbugs on corn and sorghum to see which ones can be used when mites are present, because we know that certain compounds will make a mite problem worse."

Visitors to the field day also will hear about tested cultural practices they can put to immediate use to help curb mites.

"It has been recognized that mite problems tend to occur as the plant goes into grain filling," Archer said. "We've been studying the relationship between mites and the physiological changes in plants, as it might help breeders produce plants resistant to mites."

And he said the researchers have been looking at the influence on the mite problem of such cultural practices as the use of irrigation and rates of fertilizer applications.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, Extension, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Science and Education Administration-AR of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Weather Service.

Severe Drought Is Major Rancher, Farmer Concern

By the Soil Conservation Service DROUGHT!!! There is probably no word in the English language that arouses more worry and fear among farmers and ranchers. Most agriculture people are more than willing to fight the majority of problems associated with farm and ranch operation-problems such as predators, increasing costs, insects, diseases, and numerous others.

However, when hot winds blow, dust boils up from parched fields, and the sky simply will not let go of its precious moisture; the feeling of defeat is almost overpowering.

Many farmers and ranchers can remember the severe droughts of the 1930s as well as the 1950s. They know how bad it was then. But, since we have recently had some good years, it is only human nature to forget those bad years. At present, though, Texas and several other states are experiencing a drought of varying intensity. In some areas the conditions are already as critical as they were during the worst of the 1950s.

"The lessons learned from the droughts of the 1930s and the 1950s have resulted in conservative stocking rates for most ranchers since that time", according to Gary Briggs, Range Specialist with the Soil Conservation Service in Pampa. "However, conservative stocking is not enough to enable ranchers to survive the bad effects of a drought without damage to the forage resource. This is the reason a drought plan is such an important part of any sound ranching operation."

Drought plans provide for controlled reduction of livestock numbers before forage supplies are depleted. A sound drought plan should consider when the plan will be initiated. The plan should be initiated early enough that forage resource does not suffer permanent damage. The dates will vary with each ranching operation and resource.

In addition, the rancher should consider exactly what action will be taken as a result of the drought. Will all or a percentage of the livestock be sold? Will calves be weaned early and sold? Will livestock be moved to a reserve ungrazed pasture? Will additional forage be leased? There are a number of options based on the individual ranching operation.

The ranchers should also determine what set of circumstances actually constitute a drought. When these circumstances are reached, the drought plan should be implemented.

Ranchers who implement their drought plan when it is needed are able to escape most of the supplemental feeding costs that would have been required if action was not taken. When rains do come following droughts, protected ranges will respond much quicker than abused ranges.

Many people can operate a ranch when conditions are good, but the measure of the real rancher is how he manages his land during poor conditions or drought.

For more information on grass management and drought plans, contact the Soil Conservation Service in Friona.

Efforts of agricultural scientists to help farmers cope with problems on the Texas High Plains will be demonstrated September 9 at the 71st annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and Halfway.

The research facility at Halfway, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Highway 70, is the host this year, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of the Lubbock-Halfway complex of the Experiment Station. The annual program alternates between the facilities here and at Lubbock, in cooperation with the High Plains Research Foundation.

Four major stops are planned on the tours of the research sites and facilities at Halfway, said Dr. Douglas F. Owen, research scientist at the station and field day chairman. The stops will illustrate research being conducted in water management, the low energy precision application (LEPA) irrigation system being developed here, crop insect control and weed control.

Also featured on the tour will be tests being conducted at the station on crop varieties, soil fertility and mite control; a plant clinic where specialists will diagnose problems of plants brought by visitors, and a display of equipment and machinery.

Tours will begin at 12:30 p.m. and end at 5 p.m.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Science Education Administration-AR of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Weather Service.

Leap Year Created To Adjust Calendar

Is our current twelve month year set up by the Roman, Julian or Gregorian Calendar? Does the lunar year agree with the solar year? Was George Washington really born on February 11 or February 22?

If time is confusing to you, don't think you are alone. It has been a problem for mankind ever since time began. Julius Caesar decreed that every year was to have 365 days except every fourth year, which would be a leap year of 366 days to use up the fraction of a day left over in each ordinary year. This system is called the Julian calendar.

The Julian calendar was not quite correct because it was 11 minutes and 14 seconds longer than the time the earth takes to circle the sun. As the years and centuries passed, this small mistake grew from minutes into hours and then into days.

In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII, as head of the Roman Catholic Church, ordered that ten days should be dropped from the year. To keep the calendar correct in the future, Gregory ordered that leap year should be skipped in the last year of every century unless that year could be divided by 400. Thus, 1700, 1800 and 1900, although divisible by four, would be ordinary years rather than leap years because they were not divisible by 400. This system is called the "New Style" or Gregorian calendar.

Some Protestant countries did not immediately accept the Gregorian calendar. England did not adopt it until 1752. By that time, the Julian calendar differed from the new one by 11 days. So English people had to give up 11 days to get back on schedule.

At that time, the American Colonies were under British rule, so they also adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1752. Washington's birthday, according to the Julian calendar in use when he was born, was February 11, but according to the Gregorian, it was February 22. We celebrate the latter date because we are still using the Gregorian calendar. However, the U.S. Government has added to the confusion in the last few years by ordering George Washington's birthday to be celebrated on the third Monday in February.

In this manner, the birth date of the "Father of Our Country" never falls on the same date in two consecutive years. If old George's ghost is floating around out there in the atmosphere somewhere, he probably wonders exactly when it was that he was born. Or perhaps he doesn't give a twig about it anyway.

It would be possible to correct all this calendar confusion with another reformation of the calendar. Under the present system, the half years are unequal. The first half has 181 days (182 in leap year) and the second had 184 days. The four quarters contain 90 (91), 91, 92 and 92 days. This makes it difficult to keep records by half-years or by quarters. Payroll and production records kept by the month are hard to compare because the number of work days in a month varies from 22 to 27. Another objection is that the year begins on a different day each year.

In 1956 a World calendar was originated and submitted to the United Nations. This calendar would have four quarters of 91 days each. The months of January, April, July and October would have 31 days and all the rest would have 30. The total number of days would be 364. The extra day at the end of the year would be a holiday. In leap year, another holiday would be added between the end of June and the first of July. The months would still be unequal, but in a regular way. The quarters would be equal and so would the half years. This calendar would be the same year after year, as any certain date would always fall on the same day.

January 1 would always be on a Sunday. This would simplify the keeping of business records. Holidays would always fall on the same day, your birthday and anniversary would fall on the same day every year. And maybe old George's ghost could finally get a little rest.

Teaspoon--Do You Know What It Is????

Some of us don't know what a teaspoon is--when it really counts, as in taking medicine, says a health education specialist.

If you grab a kitchen "tablespoon" in a mad moment of hurry-up medicine taking, you might get three times as much medicine as the doctor prescribed, warns Mary Ann Shirer.

Dr. Shirer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Officially, a teaspoonful should equal five "cubic centimeters"--or "cc's."

Less than that may be inadequate to do the job--and much more may be dangerous, especially to small children, the specialist stresses.

To be sure you get the exact amount, ask your pharmacist for a set of graduated medicine spoons, particularly if you have small children.

These spoons aren't expensive, and they are calibrated to hold what is intended.

Also, don't ever take a swig directly from the bottle--it isn't a measured dose, of course, and more importantly, you may contaminate the bottle with germs.

New Book Contains Best Work Of County Native

By CAROL ELLIS

Just off the presses and available at area bookstores is a new book entitled "The World of Paul Crume" edited by his wife Marion Crume.

People in the local area subscribed to the Dallas Morning News for years just so they could read Paul's column on page one. Parmer County people were proud of the local boy who went off to the big city and made good.

Yes, Paul Crume was a Parmer County product, grew up at the little community of Lariat and was fond of writing remembrances of his boyhood on the plains in his "Big D" column.

Paul's sister Marylou Taylor still resides in Friona.

"The World Of Paul Crume" is a compilation concentrated between book covers of 254 of his columns from among the more than eight thousand which appeared in that famous spot on page one.

At the University of Texas, Paul was a student and protege of two

"superstar" professor/authors, J. Frank Dobie and Walter Prescott Webb. These two men instilled in him a love of the history of the Southwest, which was coupled with his own natural sense of humor and endeared his writings to people all over the country. Lon Tinkle says in his preface of the new book, "His humor stems from a broad, generous understanding of the gap between what people are and what they ought to be."

Columns in the book have been divided into sections dealing with such topics as boyhood days, the world at large, remembering how it used to be, politics, the language and "Forward Progress." His boyish experiences with chewing tobacco will have the reader holding his sides with laughter. The column on the weather forecaster in "Lariat Country" will hit home in Friona, as he usually said the next day was going to be dry. "He was 98 per cent right, too, because 98 per cent of the time it didn't rain."

A few lively comments from the book are as follows:

"Progress nearly always throws the cart away before the horse and then has to haul the horse around in an auto trailer."

On the topic of Lariat Country he says "The feel of the place still comes back, not a memory exactly but an emotional tone, a feel, the echo of a lost happiness and a lost contentment."

"The seasoned householder refuses to worry about a leak in the house when he can foresee a much larger leak in his pocketbook."

On the subject of health, "We are all entrapped in modern medical science which works twenty-four hours a day to lengthen life and wipe out all the reasons for enjoying it."

On politics, "People who talk of conservative and liberal shifts are talking nonsense. The grassroots American is neither liberal or conservative. He is opinionated."

On the government, "The man who robbed from the rich and gave to the poor was a much better redistributor of wealth than the government. Instead of robbing from the rich and giving to the poor, the government robs from the middle class and gives to the rich and to the poor."

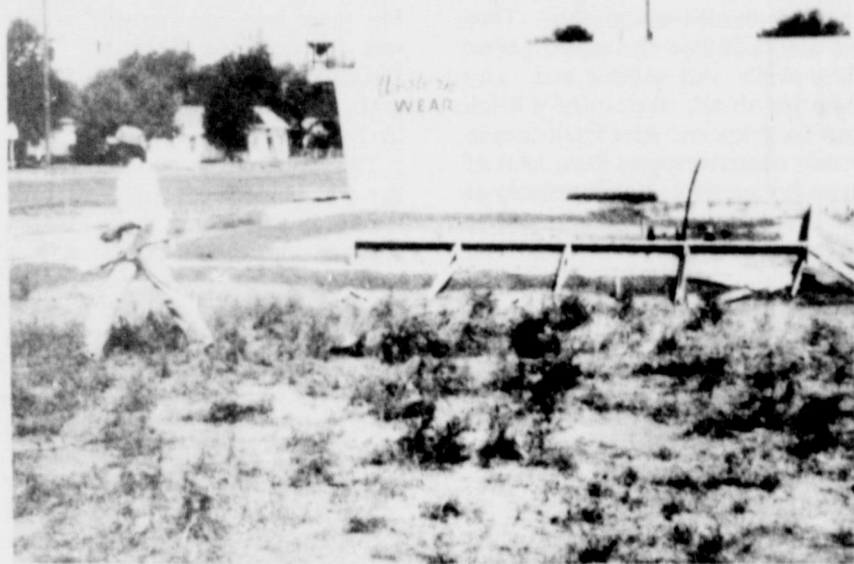

On energy, "A government commission studying the matter has said the United States in ten years is going to run low on energy. When this happens, they needn't come whining to me. I don't have any to spare."

Crume was on top of the oil situation when he said "The oil shortage may turn out to be the salvation of America. It is bringing back the cotton shirt. If the oil companies want to continue to help the shirtmakers, they might go into the business of growing cotton. This will reduce their excess profits faster than anything else I know. After all, if the Lord had meant for man to make shirts out of coal oil, He would have said so somewhere in the Scriptures."

He had some especially pertinent remarks to make on the subject of picking a suitable presidential candidate. Crume thought Snow White would be the only possible candidate. "She comes equipped with seven good advisers. Doc is the perfect secretary of state for advising on foreign affairs. Sleepy is a perfect secretary of agriculture where the people have been asleep for fifteen years. And then, among others, she had Grumpy who could step right in today as head of the Internal Revenue."

It would be fifteen dollars well spent for anyone who enjoys having a good book on the shelf of their home library. The Friona City Library will have the book in a few weeks for those who don't have the fifteen to spend.

REEVE CHEVROLET-OLDS

Writer Recalls Great Prairie Fire Of 1906

FORWARD--George Francis McLean, a sheepman, farmer and rancher, came to Eastern New Mexico about 1899, running sheep over the eastern half of what is now Curry County. In 1901 he settled on the Frio Draw--18 miles north of Texico and 1 mile west of the Texas-New Mexico state line. George McLean died at Friona, Texas, in the late forties. He was a colorful character remembered by many of our oldtimers. The following piece of history was furnished by Mrs. Val Baumgart, a niece of George McLean, and was written in 1941.

The Great Plains were just being settled, and a young married couple decided to move out upon them and establish a home for themselves. They started from the eastern home in a covered wagon, camping overnight wherever night overtook them. But before they started, someone had told the young lady that if they slept on a cornhusk bed on the ground, the rattlesnakes would not go near the cornhusk bed. The lady complied with the rules as to rattlesnakes, but, as there were fleas on the prairies, she got fleas in her mattress at every place they camped.

A Fire Starts

They finally arrived at a point north of Fort Sumner, N.M., and camped for the night, still using their husk mattress for a bed, but by this time it was so filled with fleas that they were kept awake most of the night fighting them.

The next morning her husband thought he would pull a little joke on her by asking her a riddle--"What is the difference between a snake and a flea?" he asked her. She could not answer it, so he told her--"A snake crawls on its own belly, but a flea crawls on some person's belly."

That made the woman mad, and she said she would surely get rid of those fleas, so she set fire to that husk mattress, and from that the fire spread for more than a hundred miles! (This version of how the fire started is just one of many explanations offered these ensuing years.)

That was in 1906, and I lived on the Frio Draw, a few miles north from Texico. It had been an unusually wet season, and the prairie grass had grown so thick and high that hay could be cut on low places all over the plains. There was not much farming done there in those days, but I had cut and stacked fifty tons of this wild hay.

On account of this unusual high grass, we homesteaders were worried not a little about prairie fires, and several of the ranchers had plowed strips of land around our places and had burned the grass between that and the fire guards, with the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company, commonly known as "The Syndicate" (the famous XIT Ranch), on the east and Joe Rhea, on the west.

We had just got these guards burned and connected, and all of mine was burned but about a mile, when I was compelled to stop on account of the wind; but the next morning I was there early to finish burning out the guard, and I had just finished it, when I looked off toward the west and saw smoke along the horizon. I knew what that meant, for in Montana, I have seen a large part of that territory burned off by a prairie fire.

Ranch Is Prepared

I immediately began preparing for safety from the rapidly approaching fire by getting everybody in shape to fight it. I had sheep, and as sheep and fires do not mix profitably, I brought them in from the open range and placed them on a field of wheat, which was up and growing nicely. I knew that the fire would not sweep over that green wheat field. (If you were looking for an early wheat field in Curry County, I had one in 1906.)

Everything being in good shape at the ranch, my crew and several neighbors, started out to help fight the fire. When we came to it, we found that the burning front was eighty or ninety miles long, so we had to hunt for an end. We started west, and at a point about where Ruth, New Mexico (Ruth was located between Broadview and the Frio Draw) is located we found John DeOliveira and Joe Rhea outfits working along the south wing of the fire, putting it out as they went.

Joe Rhea had a complete prairie fire fighting outfit, consisting of a large solid tin drag with chains dragged over the fire by means of two saddle horses, one on each side of the fire line, by a rope, one end of each was tied to the drag, and the other end to the saddle horns. The idea of the large flat drag was to smother out the fire, and the chains dragging behind were to loosen up the cow chips that were burning, and right behind the chains, were men walking with sacks or brooms, with which they put out the small fires that had escaped the drag.

Steer Used As Drag

By the time I got to the fire, there were ten men in the crew, and by noon there were a hundred men in the fighting crew, headed by Joe Rhea. John DeOliveira drove the water wagon, which contained barrels of water. The men took turns at fighting the fire, and the horses that were drawing the drag, were changed often. South of Hollene the drag broke down, and to get another drag, we killed a large steer and skinned him, using the hide, head and legs for another drag.

About sundown we were joined by the Capitol Syndicate Cattle Ranch crew, headed by John Armstrong, the district manager for the Syndicate people. Armstrong had a good outfit, and as Mr. DeOliveira was worried about his ranch on the Frio, he turned back; but I went on east with the firefighters and took my turn at fighting all night.

As we were fighting a side fire and not the lead fire, we saw many wild animals, just keeping ahead of the fire. There were coyotes, rabbits, swifts, antelope, cattle, horses, and a few deer. They did not seem to know that they could make a dash across the fire line, and thus escape without being burned. Coyotes, that had run until they were exhausted, would lie down just ahead of the fire, and lie there until most of their hair was singed off them, before they would move again, being almost completely worn out. We knocked several coyotes in the head, that were completely exhausted from running before the fire.

Wind Changes

The lead fire had passed along the breaks on the north side of Curry County, and as we had fought the side fire to a point several miles north of Friona, Texas (Friona founded in 1906), we were working hard to connect our firefighting crews again. Then the wind changed to the northeast, and the lead fire changed with it and headed southwest, right through the Frio Draw territory. We were right in front of it and my ranch was directly in its path.

I gathered my crew together and started for my ranch, as I knew that all that would save it would be a back-fire at the State Line, where the Syndicate had burned a wide fire guard. We were on good horses and it was about twenty miles to the State Line fire guards, and we had to ride hard to keep ahead of the fire line. I tied an oiled rope to my saddle and started it ablaze and started a back-fire all along those guards that had been burned just a few days before; and that was all that saved by ranch property. It was hard work.

That which causes a prairie fire to travel so rapidly, is, that cow chips scattered over the plains, will catch fire and continue burning after the grass has burned around them. Then the wind will blow the caps off these chips while still ablaze, and carry them far ahead, where they will fall into the grass and start fresh fires in widely scattered spots. Thousands of these fire carriers, blowing ahead of the fire, soon scatter the fire over a large strip of country.

My Ranch Escaped

This fire started in the morning, somewhere north of old Fort Sumner, and by three o'clock that afternoon the fire had crossed over into Texas just east of where Bellview, N.M., now stands. The main path of the lead fire was just south of the Breaks, north of what is now Curry County; but the change in the wind had brought the fire back west and southwest through the center of Curry County, and that is why so many shacks were burned. These shacks or small houses were the temporary homes of homesteaders, who had taken up this land in Eastern New Mexico and there was a house on nearly every half or quarter section in that country--nearly all of which were burned by this prairie fire.

Practically all of the grass in Curry County in New Mexico and on the greater portion of Deaf Smith and Parmer counties in Texas were burned, so there was nothing left for the thousands of cattle to feed upon. My range was not burned, neither was that of Joe Rhea nor John DeOliveira, but all the Syndicate grass was burned, that was north of the Santa Fe Railroad.

This widespread and disastrous fire was immediately followed by a raging blizzard and snow storm, covering the entire plains with a heavy coat of snow. This entire country was fully stocked with cattle, owned by the Syndicate, and it was a pitiful sight to see them starving. North of where Friona, Texas now stands was all open country clear to the Caprock, some fifty miles north. John Armstrong, division manager for the Syndicate began rushing their cattle off the burned and snow covered country as rapidly as he could, using every cowboy he could find anywhere. Finally when enough could not be found in Curry, Deaf Smith, and Parmer counties he began shipping in cowboys by train with their ponies in cattle cars. To push so many cattle right into the teeth of this howling blizzard was a full sized job. My crew helped them get them off my grass and move them to a point on the railroad near where Clovis now stands for shipment. The Syndicate people estimated their loss at 5,000 head. That fire and blizzard were the beginning of the Syndicate selling its plains land, as this experience had convinced them that it was too hazardous to run cattle on the open plains in the winter. Such was the fire and blizzard of 1906, and about every twenty years we have another blizzard, but the plow has put the real open prairie fire out of business.

Another eye witness to this tragic fire was Lora Brown who as a small girl lived with her folks apparently north of Melrose and who reported in 1941 that George McLean's story of the fire did not make it one-half as horrible as it really was. She says that at the time of the fire her father and older brother had gone to Bovina, Texas, 55 miles away, for a wagon load of supplies, leaving her mother, a younger sister and herself at the claim. "We saw smoke rising in the West and the wind was getting stronger; but we did not worry as father had plowed a fire guard around our two-room house and we did not think a prairie fire was much in such short grass, anyhow. As we had nothing to do we just watched the smoke boil up and soon we could smell the fire. A short time later we saw fire away off toward the West; still we were not scared, but it was coming straight at us. We looked up and a cow chip had blown and had lighted on our roof and was burning and we got busy to put it out. Mother boosted sister and I on top of the house to put out the fire with buckets of water she handed us. Our water gave out and the smoke began boiling out of the house. A cow chip had blown inside our house and got in our bed. Nothing could save the house.

We went to dragging what things we could out of there. Soon everything was burned up. The smoke nearly put our eyes out and we could not see hardly at all. Finally night came. No moon, no stars, just pure black. We had no bedding and it was cold, but the fire had made us all friendly.

The cow finally laid down and we lay down against her to keep warm; then the pigs came and lay down beside us and kept us from freezing. After about a month, it seemed, the sun finally made it around again and daylight showed that everything was gone, burned up, except the lake of water about a mile away. When Father got back he loaded us in the wagon and made for Bovina for more grub and bedding. We had been hauling water from McLean's well 35 miles toward Bovina so we headed there. When we got there we found the fire had not burned McLean's nor Joe Rhea, and I have often wondered why God let us poor settlers burn up and protected big cow ranchers and not burn them up like we were burned. But since hearing how they burnt fire guards and then backfired to keep the fire from crossing the fire guards, I can see how they were protected.

"But the horrors of sitting in pitch dark and wondering if the world was all burning up, huddled up all night with the wind blowing the smoke and quite often smoldering cow chips breaking into flames, looking like demons' eyes blinking at us, ready to attack us at any time out of the pitch black night, is no fun. I can still, after thirty-five years, smell the fire and sometimes wake at night and see the demons' eyes blinking at me as they did that night, long ago, in 1906."

The late Clayton Reed, who sold land to the Santa Fe to build Clovis on, said that this prairie fire occurred in October of 1906, but Mrs. Anna (John) Daniel, daughter of John DeOliveira, says the fire occurred the winter of 1905-06 as she helped fight the fire as did her father, who died in the Spring of 1906. Another oldtimer, the late Milton Brown, reported that the blizzard started the 17th of November, 1906, and snowed almost continuously until the 21st. The late Fred Ashley, who lived north of Melrose, pinpointed the exact date: Saturday, November 18, 1906. He told that it started near the Ragland caprock by wood-haulers.

It isn't strange that there is a difference of opinion on when and how the great prairie fire started—it was over 70 years ago, and a long time ago for even those with the best of memories.

Notes On The Author:

Don McAlavy, the compiler of "The Great Prairie Fire of 1906," is a native of Clovis, New Mexico, first seeing light there in 1931. Don has been recording the history of Eastern New Mexico since he founded the High Plains Historical Foundation, Inc. in 1972. He has written numerous articles for area magazines as well as writing a weekly historical column for the Curry County Times. A professional artist, Don has served five years on the New Mexico Arts Commission. He was the founding president of the Clovis-Portales Arts Council and is currently a director of the New Mexico Outdoor Drama Association, which is trying to build an amphitheatre on the caprock near San Jon. He is chairman of the script committee. Don has written several "mellerdrammers" for the Clovis Gaslite Theatre group and has acted in most of their productions for the Curry County Fair, the Elks Club, and Cannon Air Force Base.

Don McAlavy is co-owner of City Printing, Inc. of Clovis, but has found time to publish three booklets on Clovis and Curry County and in 1978 was co-editor of the popular 574-page Curry County History book. It was a sell-out.

And now Don is about to see published a 688-page High Plains History book which will feature the cowboy era in east-central New Mexico, an exciting period in our history that he has been researching for seven years. It will include the Prairie Fire story as well as many more stories that have never been published.

Allsup's Marathon Is Seeking Runners

The 6th annual Allsup's Marathon will be held in Clovis on Saturday, October 4.

Those interested in participating are requested to register no later than September 26. Registration fees on or before that date will be $5.00. Registrations after that date will cost $7.00 and will be accepted through Friday, October 3 at the race headquarters in the Holiday Inn, 2700 E. Mabry Drive. All proceeds go to the Clovis Track Club.

The marathon, sanctioned and certified by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), will give runners a choice of the full 26.2 mile course, a 13.1 mile course or a 10 kilometer course. The race will start at the Clovis High School track at 7 a.m. According to Lonnie Allsup, president of Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc. and sponsor of the race, "The marathon will feature an Olympic finish this year. At 12 noon we will present trophies to the winners and we will again award T-shirts to all contestants who complete the race."

Competition reached new heights last year with 356 runners competing; some from as far away as New York and Florida. Individual records for the state of New Mexico were set in all three races with Benito Arellano winning the 26 mile event in 2:33.16; Joe Anaya, the half marathon in 1:12.46 and Cliff McCurdy, the 10 kilometer in 32:14. A field of over 400 runners is anticipated this year.

Marathon activities will begin October 3 with a spaghetti dinner. Walt Stack, an amazing 74 year old runner, will be the featured speaker. He will also participate in the race.

Persons who desire additional information about the Allsup's Marathon, or who wish to receive a registration form, may do so by writing: Gary Britt, 3201 Wallace Street, Clovis, New Mexico 88101, or by calling (505) 762-1458.

Gaye Tannahill Enjoys Busy Schedule

By CAROL ELLIS

If you have a job that needs doing, just ask the busiest person in town to do it and it will get done. That seems to be what happens to Friona's busy lady, Mrs. Johnny Tannahill, who is serving as the chairman of the Maize Queen Contest this year.

Gaye Tannahill has for the past several years been head of the annual Little Miss Friona contest which is sponsored by the Progressive Study Club. This year, as president of Progressive Study Club, Gaye appointed Nancy Edelman as the chairman of the affair and was then presented with the job of Maize Queen Chairman by the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce.

She enjoys working with stage productions and is often seen at the High School helping with scenery and costumes for the Thespians' plays and for Summer Drama Workshop productions.

Gaye has an artistic talent that knows no bounds. Her home is decorated with refinished antiques and many interesting hand crafted items. She also collects paintings and crafts of her friends and has a collection wall in her kitchen especially for these artifacts.

In addition to painting and needlework, she enjoys putting together "memory boxes." She says these are items which everyone has in their home in boxes, drawers or trunks. They are treasured items which bring back memories from some special happening or a special person. These items, she puts together on a piece of velvet or velour and puts them into a shadow-box frame.

Her current craft project is a friendship quilt which she is piecing together with squares of an applique design of the Tannahill home in calico print which she designed herself.

This active little lady and her husband Johnny are parents of two lively youngsters, Lorianne Tannahill is 9 years old and is a past "Little Miss Friona" title holder. The baby of the family is four year old Mark. The two smallest members of the family are "Petey" the Boston terrier and "B.J." the cocker puppy. The Tannahills are great animal-lovers.

The family is active in church work at the Congregational Church of Friona, where Johnny and Gaye are sponsors of the Junior High Youth Fellowship. Gaye also serves as a substitute Sunday School Teacher when needed.

Lately they have been busy putting a mural on the walls of the church's new educational wing, with Gaye supplying most of the art work. One mural is an interlocking design taken from the church's bulletin covers and depicts events in the life of Christ. The mural for the youth of the church features God's creations of nature.

Gaye is a 1964 graduate of Friona High School and attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University in Canyon. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Jennings. Her husband, Johnny, also graduated from Friona High School, but was raised in Lockney, moving to Friona with his family during his freshman year of high school.

Johnny graduated in 1963 and was in the military service for two years as a member of the 101st Airborne Division of the "Screaming Eagles." He gives vent to his own creative talents by doing woodworking and helping Gaye with her many projects.

Johnny was for several years the owner of his own company, Tannahill Trucking, which he has recently sold and he is now devoting his full time to farming.

The Tannahills are new members of the Friona Square Dance Club, "Buttons and Bows" and say they are thoroughly enjoying this new experience.

Creativity plays a large part in the every day life of this active mother, artist and civic-worker. But perhaps the most widely appreciated assets of Gaye Tannahill are her willingness to lend a helping hand when needed and her friendly, sunshine, smile.

COLLECTIBLES....Pictured above is the kitchen wall at the Tannahill home, where Gaye has hung many of the original decorative items she has collected from her talented family and friends.

Local Woman Makes Bible Land Expedition

By JUNE FLOYD

Geneiva Riethmayer, who lives a few miles southeast of town, usually spends her summers keeping her yard, growing and arranging flowers, canning and freezing fruits and vegetables and assisting Girl Scouts with outdoor activities, did something different this summer.

On June 6 she flew from Lubbock to Houston, where she was met at Hobby Airport by W.T. and Carrie Hamilton for an eleven day Bible Land Tour to Egypt, Jordan and the Holy Land. The Hamiltons and Geneiva and her late husband, Bob, are all former Lamesa residents and W.T. was the tour guide.

The first mix-up of the trip occurred in Hobby Airport when a small woman took Geneiva's large suitcase by mistake. Geneiva said, "When I first discovered there had been a mistake, I tried to imagine myself getting into the size eight things, which were in the bag left for me."

Fortunately, the other woman learned of her error before she got out of the airport, so each one was able to depart with her own luggage.

At 5:50 p.m. Saturday, June 7, the tour group left Houston International Airport on the Alia The Royal Jordanian Airline. The plane was two years old, cost sixty million dollars and flies the same route three times each week. The pilot was Iranian and the co-pilot and engineer were Jordanians. They arrived at Kennedy Airport in New York City at 10 p.m. E.S.T. and left for Vienna, Austria four and one-half hours later.

Enroute to Vienna, they flew up the eastern coast of North America by way of Boston and Canada. Then on over Newfoundland, London, and Paris. From New York City to Vienna was about a seven hour flight, but they arrived at 12:16 p.m. (Vienna time). They arrived at Ammon, Jordan at 5:40 p.m. the same day. The trip from Ammon to Cairo, Egypt was made in a smaller plane and Geneiva reports that during this flight was the only time she got cold while she was gone.

In Cairo on Monday they toured the Cairo Museum, where many King Tut treasures are on display; the Mohammad Ali Mosque, where King Tut's tomb is; and a papyrus factory. They also went shopping and saw one of the Seven Ancient Wonders of the World--The Pyramids. Transportation to the pyramids in Cairo was on the backs of camels.

After dinner that evening the group attended "The Sound and Light Spectacular" at the Pyramids. They stayed at the Julie Ville Hotel in Cairo and there was a military building directly across the street from it. There were soldiers in khaki and guards in green or white everywhere the tour group went and many policemen in the new part of Cairo.

Enroute from the hotel to the airport they saw the modern Cairo. Geneiva reports that it looks much like the USA with usual shops and even some car washes, but no buildings more than three stories tall.

They flew from Cairo to Ammon, Jordan, in a 720 Boeing Aircraft Jordanian Alia. In Ammon there was a water shortage, so drinking water had to be purchased.

Wednesday, June 11, the group went by motorcoach to Mount Nebo and were able to stand near the place where Moses was buried. At the same time they could see the Dead Sea on the left, the Jordan river and valley on the right, and Jericho straight ahead. Highlight of that was riding on the "Kings Highway" which is mentioned in the Bible.

To see the city of Petra, it was necessary to ride 15-20 minutes on horseback. Very few Americans have seen this 2000 year old city, about which Obadiah wrote. It is carved out of sandstone on a mountainside.

Thursday morning the group motored to the King Hussein Bridge from Jordan to Israel's West Bank and proceeded on to Jericho, the world's oldest city. They proceeded along the coast of the Dead Sea to the Caves of Quimram, where the Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered in 1947.

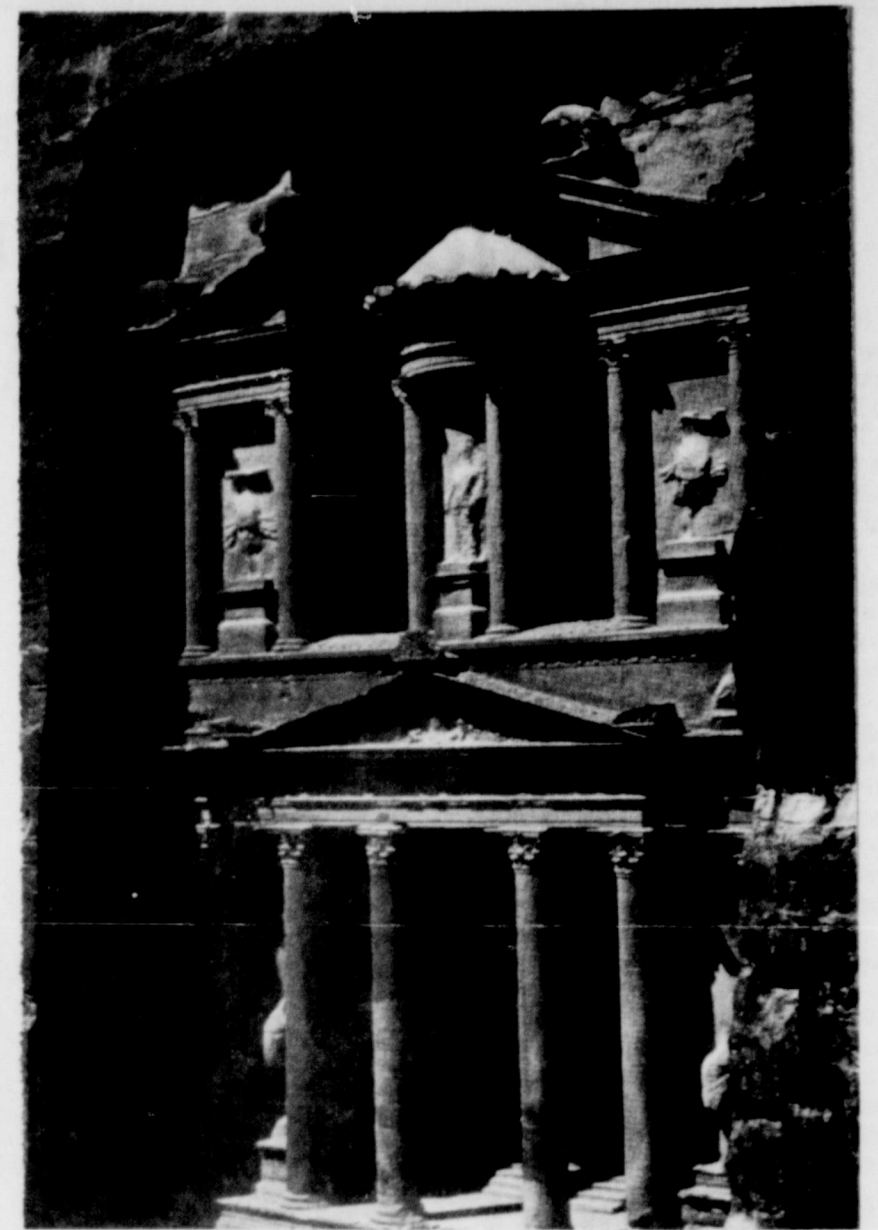

Enroute to their Jerusalem hotel, they passed the Samaritan Inn and visited in Bethany, where they saw the Tomb of Lazarus and the home of Mary and Martha.

They drove to Bethlehem, where they had lunch. Then, they visited the Church of the Nativity, which is supposed to have been erected over the spot where Jesus was born.

On Friday they saw many things of interest in Jerusalem including Mount Moriah; the Dome of the Rock, where tradition holds that Abraham took Isaac to sacrifice him and the Western Wall, the only remaining portion of Herod's Temple.

They also toured the Shrine of the Book Museum, where the Dead Sea Scroll collection is exhibited and drove across the Valley of Kidron to visit Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives.

Saturday's highlight was a cable car trip, which took riders to the top PETRA, THE TREASURY.... This tomb is called the Khazneh or Treasury, and the Urn at the top carries the marks of many bullets, which have been fired at it in the hope of shattering it and releasing the treasure which local tradition says is hidden there. The rock face in which it is carved is sheltered from winds and rain, and the Khazneh is in consequence the best preserved of all the monuments.

JERUSALEM, THE DOME OF THE ROCK.... No tour of the City of Jerusalem is complete without a walking tour, which includes Mount Moriah and the Dome of the Rock, where tradition holds that Abraham took his son, Isaac, to sacrifice him. This spot attracts thousands of visitors each year.

Friona Industries Gives Financial Statement

Friona Industries, Inc. had net income of $2.2 million, or $1.01 per share, on revenues of $161 million for its fiscal year ended June 30, 1980.

This compared with net income of $4.7 million, or $2.14 per share, on revenues of $142 million in the prior fiscal year.

"Reduced profitability was primarily attributable to the cost/profit squeeze in the sale of Company-owned cattle," said Ron Davenport, president.

In fiscal 1979 Friona achieved operating profits of $3.6 million from the sale of Company-owned cattle, while in fiscal 1980 this industry segment registered an operating deficit of $698,000 as the market price of grain-fed cattle was depressed for most of the year.

"Even though our 1980 fiscal year, particularly the last three quarters of it from October 1979 through June 1980, was typical of the cyclical nature of the cattle industry, our Company's diversification through meat processing, commercial feeds, animal health supplies, grain and other businesses made possible a good measure of profitability," explained Davenport.

For the fourth quarter of fiscal 1980 net income was $205,000 or 9 cents per share, on revenues of $32 million, compared with net income of $950,000, or 43 cents per share, on revenues of $33.8 million in the same quarter of fiscal 1979.

The fourth quarter performance followed the trend of the prior two quarters, when all industry segments with the exception of Company-cattle were profitable.

Both the Custom Feeding and Commercial Feeds segments showed improvement over fiscal 1979 and operating profits were up 27 per cent and 17 per cent, respectively, for the 12 months.

Favorable profit margins were maintained for both these segments and Custom Feeding achieved operating profits of $3.7 million compared with $2.9 million in fiscal 1979. Average occupancy at the Company's three feed yards was the same for both years at about 79 per cent. Commercial Feeds tonnage was down slightly—4 per cent—when compared with fiscal 1979.

Operating profits from Meat Processing operations declined slightly from $1.3 million in fiscal 1979 to $1.2 million last year. Pounds processed—45.7 million—and average price per pound were up three and two per cent, respectively, but these gains were offset by higher raw ingredient costs. The Company supplied hamburger to an average of 460 Wendy's fast food restaurants during the most recent fiscal year.

The Animal Health Supplies segment operating profit of $549,000 was very similar to the prior fiscal year's $590,000.

At a meeting of the Company's board of directors held in Ruidoso, New Mexico, on Monday, August 18, a quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents per share on the Friona common stock was declared. It is payable November 3, 1980, to shareholders of record as of October 16, 1980. Friona's common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol FI.

GIZA, THE SPHINX AND MYKERINOS PYRAMID.... Visitors to Giza to-day are able to ride a camel to the base of the Great Pyramids (one of the Seven Ancient Wonders of the World) and the Sphinx. The most outstanding of the Pyramids was Cheops. Built on the Giza Plateau, they present an awesome sight. Each evening visitors may attend The Sound and Light Spectacular at the Pyramids.

Jerusalem for dinner and overnight at their hotel.

Tuesday morning they drove to the border, crossing the Jordan River via the King Hussein Bridge, then flew by jet from Amman to New York arriving there at 8:15 E.S.T. and in Houston at 11:15 p.m. C.S.T.

Geneva concluded her interview by saying, "I enjoyed the trip immensely and am preparing a picture-story book about it for my children, grandchildren and others to enjoy."

The Happy Homemaker

By June Floyd

Rural homemakers from about 1890 until the mid or late 1930's were dependent to a great extent upon a door to door salesman for many of their herbs, spices and flavorings, as well as a large number of home remedies for everything from insect stings to pleurisy.

Many of us remember what a treat it was for us to be allowed to stay inside the house and watch as the Watkins man demonstrated his various products to our mothers, grandmothers or neighbor women.

No where else did we see such an attractive arrangement of pretty bottles which were filled with tangy smelling food additives or perfume, cologne and toilet water.

We also remember the odor of Watkin's liniment, which many of our parents thought was a cure all for just about anything that ailed any member of the family. Sometimes just the thought of that odor made us forget the sprains, bruises or other injuries which now cause small fry to go running for a Band Aid.

The Watkins man didn't always have to have cash for his wares. Sometimes, he would trade vanilla, liniment, talcum powder or insect killer for fresh vegetables, fat hens or home cured ham or bacon.

At that time colored flyers containing recipes, which the Watkins man always had, sent young would-be cooks scurrying into the kitchen to try to concoct something which would be as pretty as the picture.

For a number of years, we didn't see a Watkins man. Nor, did we see many Watkins products. Now, the direct sales approach is again being used by this 113 year old company.

However, the 1980 Watkins salesperson takes a different approach. The party plan is being used and many of the salespeople are attractive, well groomed young women, who demonstrate a wider variety of products than it used to be possible for a man to carry in his buggy or car.

In the near future an all new cookbook will be published using recipes which have been tested in the Watkins kitchens.

This week's column is featuring some of these recipes.

The first one is for Creamy Zucchini Soup. If you have a surplus of zucchini and have just about exhausted your supply of different ways to serve it, you'll sure want to try it.

Creamy Zucchini Soup

- 8 small zucchini
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 chopped onion or 2 Tablespoons Watkins onion flakes
- 3 cups boiling water
- 3 rounded teaspoons Watkins Chicken Soup Base
- 1/2 cup sweet cream or half and half
- Salt to taste
- Watkins pepper to taste
- Watkins nutmeg to taste

Cut zucchini into thin slices. Heat butter and saute zucchini and onion. Cook until limp. Add broth made from boiling water and chicken soup base; simmer 15 minutes. Pour into blender and puree. (At this point it can be refrigerated for several days or frozen.) Return to pan. Add cream, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Serve hot or cold.

Variation: Put a small amount of whipped cream in center of soup and sprinkle with Watkins chives or Watkins parsley.

Creamy Herb Dip

- 2 cups buttermilk
- 2 cups mayonnaise
- 1 Tablespoon Watkins seasoning salt
- 1/2 Tablespoon Watkins garlic flakes
- 2 Tablespoons Watkins onion flakes
- 2 Tablespoons Watkins parsley
- 1 teaspoon Watkins pepper

Whip all ingredients together with a fork and refrigerate for 24 hours for flavors to blend. Use as a dip with vegetables or chips.

If you want a real old fashioned taste in a lemon custard pie, try the two following recipes:

Grandma's Favorite Pie Crust

- 1/2 pound butter

- 2 cups flour
- 2 Tablespoons sugar
- 1 Tablespoon baking powder
- 4 Tablespoons cold water
- Dash of salt

Mix margarine with dry ingredients until crumbly. Add cold water. Makes more than enough for two large pie crusts. Grandma usually cut the remaining dough into small circles and filled them with fruit.

The size of the circles depended upon the number of grandchildren present when they were taken out of the oven.

Lemon Custard Pie

- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 cups scalded milk
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Watkins lemon extract
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 unbaked pie shell

In a large mixing bowl, beat eggs. Stir in sugar and salt. Add scalded milk to mixture slowly, stirring constantly. After cooling, add Watkins lemon extract and grated lemon peel. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake 10 minutes in 450 degree oven. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake about 30 minutes longer or until knife comes clean when inserted in center.

The following recipe makes good use of surplus green tomatoes and provides a very delicious dessert at the same time.

Mock Mincemeat Pie

- 2 apples
- 2 green tomatoes
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 Tablespoon butter
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Chop apples, tomatoes and raisins. Mix with remaining ingredients. Boil for 5 minutes then bake between two pie crusts at 425 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes.

Lonnie's Drive-In Grocery Grows Into Multi-Million Dollar Chain

(Used with permission of the Roswell Daily Record)

People--the more than 1,300 employees and customers from Grants, N.M. to west of Fort Worth--get the credit for helping write one of this area's retailing success stories.

The first chapter began in October 1956 in Roswell with the opening of Lonnie's Drive-In Grocery at 1500 W. Second St. there.

Now, Lonnie and Barbara Allsup have put together the 24th largest chain of convenience stores in the nation, with 168 Allsup's Convenience Stores helping form a $50 million business.

Before the final chapter is written, Allsup's Convenience Stores Inc. will have some 400 stores selling items ranging from garden hoses to barbecued chicken throughout New Mexico, West Texas and parts of Oklahoma. In conversation, Mr. and Mrs. Allsup speak repeatedly of motivated employees, long-term workers, loyal customers and consumer convenience.

"Anybody can have buildings, fixtures and merchandise, but if they don't have good people to run those stores--all the way down--you won't be successful," explained Allsup, president of the corporation which he and his wife started building alone.

"I'd look pretty funny trying to run 168 stores," he added with a chuckle.

"Anyone who gets negative on people won't grow with the business. You really have to be optimistic and you have to think that people are good," Allsup said. "If we decided that people are no good, we'd have to get out of the business."

As chief executive officer of a major chain, Lonnie Allsup looks back nostalgically to the time not so long ago when he was waiting on customers.

"One of the parts I enjoy most about the grocery or convenience store business is meeting the customers, taking care of the customers. I really enjoy that," he said. "I really enjoy that. Now I don't get enough contact with the customers; it's all employee contact now."

"I always enjoyed the customers and the customer was No. 1. That's your business, that's all you've got is the customer," Allsup added.

Barbara Allsup, financial vice president of Allsup's echoed the same thoughts.

She fondly recalls their Roswell customers when they were starting out.

"They were really receptive about what we were trying to do. A lot of people were very helpful," Mrs. Allsup added.

In addition to what she describes as "Lonnie's vision," she attributes the chain's success to Allsup employees through the years.

In fact, they opened their second store--also in Roswell--with money borrowed from an employee.

"We've been lucky to get good people and to keep them," Barbara Allsup said, pointing out that some of the current employees of Allsup's Convenience Stores Inc., started with the first stores in Roswell.

"They're very loyal, it's almost like a family relationship," she added.

The Allsup's began putting their present chain of 168 stores together shortly after selling their 12 initial stores to Southland Corp. in 1963.

At that time, the couple owned eight stores in Roswell, two in Ruidoso and two in Alamogordo.

These dozen convenience stores had been built up since 1956 when Lonnie Allsup opened Lonnie's Drive-In Grocery after his discharge from the Air Force.

Allsup's infatuation with grocery retailing, however, began many years before that.

"I started out standing on a box, sacking groceries when I was 10 or 11," he recalled.

"It's a fast business," he added, explaining how he "liked the fast part of the grocery store business."

Working in the grocery business, he said, was much faster than working for his father's Chevrolet-dealership in his hometown of Morton, Texas.

"That was work real hard and trade cars, maybe make a sale of one a day or two," he added.

Allsup also recalls working in the maintenance area of his father's automobile dealership, around the oil and grease.

To this day, he insists that all stores in the Allsup's chain be virtually spotless.

At the age of 16, Allsup graduated from Morton High School, married Barbara, his school sweetheart, who also was 16 years of age, and moved to Abilene, Texas, so he could attend Hardin-Simmons University.

While Lonnie was studying business and medicine at the university, Barbara was finishing high school in Abilene.

She said that when they left Morton she "only lacked one credit for graduation."

But the new school raised requirements and eliminated some credits.

"I ended up going to school all day long," she said. "I was taking more hours than he was. Unbelievable!"

Barbara recalls, with a laugh, that "we never saw each other. It was just a mass of books. It was a hectic year, but we made it."

While in Abilene, Lonnie Allsup's interest in grocery retailing surfaced.

"There was a little grocery store nearby and he'd go down and buy a loaf of bread and he'd come back and say, 'I'd really like to buy that grocery store,'" Barbara recalled.

But he didn't.

Instead, the couple moved to Lubbock, Texas, where Lonnie enrolled in Texas Tech. Then the Korean War started and he enlisted in the Air Force.

When discharged in Las Cruces in 1956 at the age of 23, Allsup held the rank of staff sergeant.

Barbara Allsup recalled that her husband looked into purchasing land in Las Cruces for a store, but "it was extremely expensive, like it was $200 a front foot even back then."

"We couldn't afford to buy it new and start building a store, so he found a store for sale in Roswell," she said.

"His father co-signed the note or we wouldn't have been able to borrow the $6,500," Barbara said.

Lonnie Allsup, thinking back to that time, recalled that "my ambition was five stores, if I just had five, I think I could run five."

Today, with a goal of adding 25 stores to the chain this year, Lonnie regards building up to 12 stores in eight years as "pretty slow."

But, he adds, "It was pretty fast for me" at the time.

After selling the 12 stores to Southland Corp., which operates 7-Eleven Stores, Allsup "took the week off and went fishing," his wife recalled.

"I was still buried in paperwork, trying to close out with Southland, and he called me out with Southland, and he called me from Clovis and told me he'd bought three stores," Barbara said. "I could have killed him. I never had had a day off."

Rebuilding the chain went rapidly.

"Then he bought one in Portales and then we built the one here," she said, motioning toward an Allsup's Convenience Store near the company's Clovis headquarters. "We started construction right away."

"That gave us seven pretty quickly, within three months of when we sold," Barbara said.

However, because of a five-year non-competitive agreement with Southland not to operate stores in Chaves, Lincoln and Otero counties, Allsup stayed out of the Roswell market for a while.

"Lonnie was afraid that people in Roswell had forgotten who he was," his wife said.

Once Allsup entered the Roswell

Lonnie Allsup

market again, he moved fast and now has six stores in the city.

In the convenience store field, Allsup is an innovator, willing to try new ideas in retailing.

And he usually is followed by the larger, national chains.

It was Allsup who started selling cooked foods through convenience stores and he was one of the first operators to sell gasoline--a concept he and other convenience store owners initially had pooh-poohed.

"The first time that a fellow came in here and asked me why didn't I put a set of pumps out in front of my store, I said, 'That won't work, you can't sell gasoline with groceries.'"

"And now I won't build a store without it," he volunteered.

It's easy to understand why, too.

Allsup's Convenience Stores Inc., sells more than two million gallons of gasoline a month, he estimated.

Long hours and hard work are a reality to Lonnie and Barbara Allsup. Lonnie's ultimate goal is to "cover every town in New Mexico and every town between Clovis and Fort Worth, Texas." His short term goal is 25 new store locations within the next 12 months.

KENDRICK OIL COMPANY

Syndicate Hotel Manager Still Alert At Age 96

By JUNE FLOYD

The building which now stands at the corner of Seventh and Washington in Friona and houses the City of Friona Library and the American Legion and Auxiliary, played a colorful part in the development of farming land in the central part of Parmer County during the twenties and thirties.

The Syndicate Hotel was constructed in 1925 and opened for business in 1926 by the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company, Limited. It was built to accommodate would be buyers, who were brought into this country when the ranches were being sold to farmers.

Mrs. Dovie Wilkerson, who presently lives at 112 West Twelfth Street, and her husband, the late J.C. Wilkerson, were the first occupants of the hotel.

This couple had moved from Tipton, Oklahoma, early in 1925 and were farming one mile west of the hotel location.

Mrs. Wilkerson remembers, "Soon after we moved here, we saw that we would have to do something besides farm to make ends meet. One day I was visiting with Judge J.D. Hamlin, who was the overseer of the Syndicate interests and he remarked that they would soon be looking for a manager for the hotel.

"Right then I told him I'd like to have the job. He said several had already applied, so I thought I probably wouldn't get it. Later I came into town for supplies and ran into one of the salesmen, who told me he thought I would get the job.

"I still hadn't heard anything from Judge Hamlin, so was surprised when Sam Lawrence came down to our house late one afternoon and asked me if I could come down and help cook supper for twenty land prospects.

"Mrs. Lawrence and I cooked supper by coal oil lamps as the Delco system, which had been installed, wouldn't work. Soon after that my husband and two sons, Clarence and Billy, moved in.

"That was our home for the next several years."

When prospective buyers were brought to Parmer County, they stayed two nights at the Syndicate Hotel and were given five free meals.

Mrs. Wilkerson says, "It wasn't unusual for us to feed 100 or more men at one time and wasn't a real big job. Sometimes we would cook a whole quarter of beef at one time and we always had lots of canned vegetables and fruits. We raised our own back at that time. We served fresh vegetables when they were in season and canned the surplus."

This pioneer woman, who will be 96 years old later this month, was born in Denton County. She was born to the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hatcher, who had four other children.

When Dovie was three years old, the family moved to an Indian lease 12 miles from Davis Town, Indian Territory.

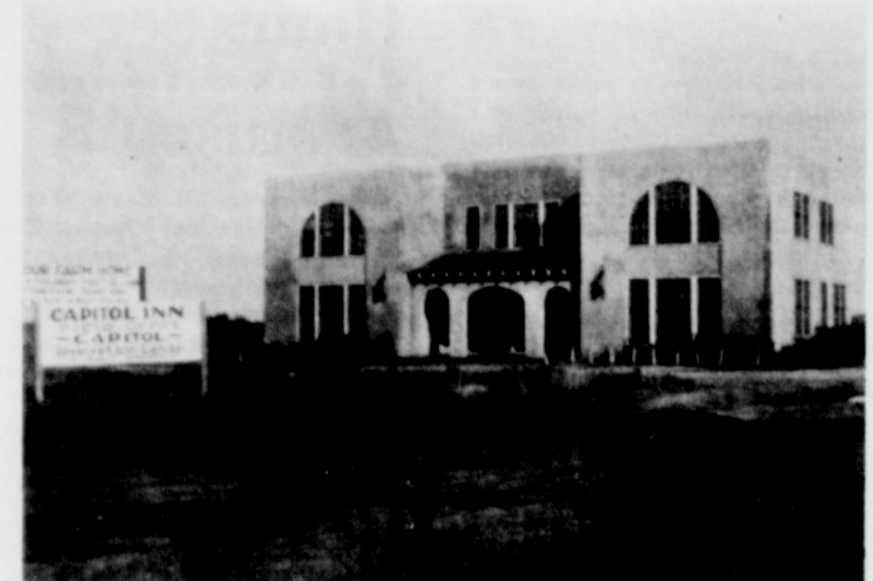

"My name really isn't Dovie," she said. "When I was born, I was named Ella May, but my Granddad always called me Dovie, so the rest of the family kept it up. Now, there's another Ella May Wilkerson here, so I use Dovie officially to make it easier for the post office employees and others to keep from getting the two of us mixed up."

For many years she has done handwork as a hobby. She has pieced and quilted quilts, crocheted, knitted, and done drawn work. Her apartment is decorated with hand made articles.

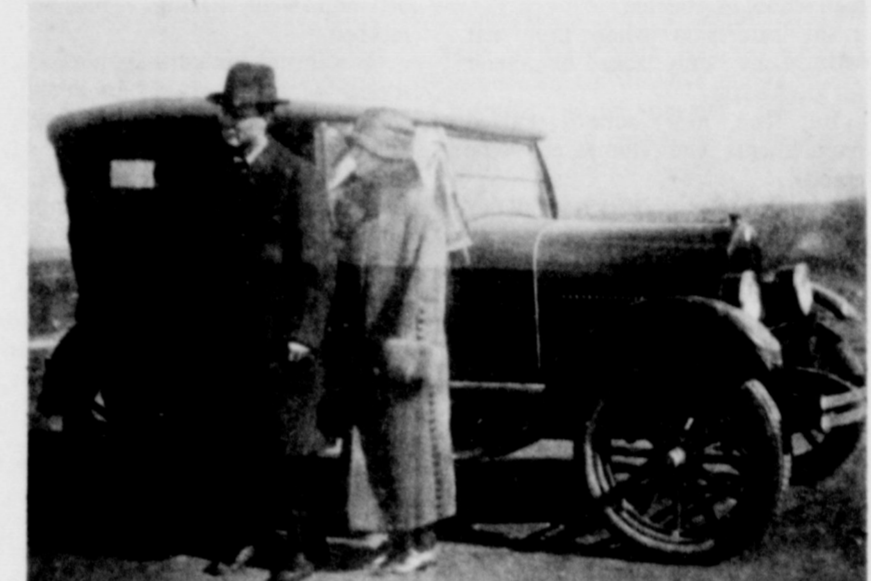

She said, "I guess I learned to knit because it was necessary. I well remember my mother spinning cotton SALESMAN AND PROSPECTIVE BUYERS... These automobiles, 1920-25 vintage, were used to transport prospective land buyers over central Parmer County in the twenties, when ranch land was being sold into farm size plots. Occasionally wives of the prospects accompanied their husbands, but a number of pioneer women moved to their newly purchased farms without having ever seen them before.

EARLY DAY LANDMARK.... This imposing structure, which was built in the twenties, served as an office and hotel for the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company, Limited, for several years. Would be land owners were brought to Parmer County by company salesmen and were given accommodations here.

HOTEL MANAGERS.... Carroll and Dovie Wilkerson, manager and cook, for the Syndicate Hotel for several years are pictured here beside their 1925 Model Star touring car. Mr. Wilkerson has been dead several years, but Mrs. Wilkerson maintains her home at 112 West Ninth. She will mark her 96th birthday later this month.

into thread then starting socks for me and my sisters to finish knitting. Then, when they were finished, she dyed all of them black. She thought stockings were disgraceful if they were any color except black."

Mrs. Wilkerson only has one sister living. She is Mrs. E.G. Adams, who lives a couple of blocks away from her. Mr. and Mrs. Adams, were caretakers of the Syndicate Hotel after the Wilkersons sold their farm land and moved to the Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Her oldest son, Clarence, and his family live in Amarillo. The youngest, Billy, and his family lives at Temple, Texas. She also has one granddaughter and two grandsons; three great grandsons and one great granddaughter; and one great-great-grandson and one great-great-granddaughter.

She is a long time member of the United Pentecostal Church and attends all its services. When asked about club affiliations, her reply was, "I was a member of the Home Demonstration Club when I lived at the hotel, but haven't belonged to one since."

She was modest when asked about her activities, but a friend had given her some grapes and she had made several jars of jelly and canned some juice. She also has one two-piece dress which she crocheted and two full length coats—one in knit and one in crochet—which she has made.

Visiting with Mrs. Wilkerson is a delight. She's interested in what's going on in the world, keeping busy with things she's able to do and enjoying good health.

When asked about her philosophy for a long useful life, she replied, "Have faith in God and work hard."

MARSHA HAMILTON is the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hamilton. She is being sponsored by Tupperware Home Parties/Melodi Drake in the Little Miss Contest.

Mayfield Enjoys Making Hook Rugs In Spare Time

BOTH OF THESE AND MORE TOO....The jovial gentleman, pictured here with two of the latch hook rugs he has made, is Howard Mayfield, a long time resident of the Friona area. He took up rug making a few years ago to keep his hands busy. Since that time he has made a rug for each of his three daughters and five grandchildren, in addition to several for others. Both of these are Indian designs. The Indian in the picture behind him, was a good friend many years ago. A few years ago, Howard found a postcard picture of the man and his daughter, Peggy Snider of Farwell, did the oil painting for him.

By JUNE FLOYD

One of Friona's most jovial citizens recently observed his 85th birthday. Howard Mayfield, 710 Woodland, accompanied a son-in-law and daughter, Keith and Jean Blackburn of Albuquerque, to Show Low, Arizona, Saturday, August 16. They were met there by Ben and Jill Anella and their sons, Jimmy, Jason and Justin, who live in the Los Angeles area.

The Blackburns and Anellas had planned a one week vacation and had made reservations at a lodge there. However, their stay was cut short by the death of M.A. Snider Jr. of Farwell, who was also a son-in-law of Howard's.

They received word of his death on Monday and the entire group returned to Friona on Tuesday.

Howard said, "Jill and Ben and the boys spent Tuesday night and Wednesday night with me. When the boys are here, there's always something going on."

Then he added, "I'm here alone so much of the time and am not very active, so when some of the great-grandchildren come, I really enjoy having them."

Howard was born August 15, 1895 near Okarche, Indian Territory, which is near El Reno, Oklahoma. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hillary Howard Mayfield, were farm people and each one received land in the land run in the Indian Territory in 1889.

When Howard was fifteen, he moved to Anadarko, Oklahoma, with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Hill. He and Mary Tackett were married at Apache, Oklahoma in 1921.

As a youngster Howard was very interested in playing baseball and participating in other sports of the day. He reports, "Some of the best advice I ever got in my life came from a boy's club director in El Reno, Oklahoma. He gave a group of us a good lecture about not having enough wind if we smoked, so I never got that habit."

Following their marriage, Howard and Mary continued to farm in the Anadarko, Oklahoma area until 1930. At that time farm land was scarce and expensive in that area, so the young couple decided to look for greener pastures.

In their search, they learned about Parmer County, Texas. In 1930 they packed their belongings and headed west with two young daughters, Dorothy and Jean. Another daughter, Peggy, was born after they came to Texas.

Their first home was near the Syndicate Hotel, fifteen or twenty miles south east of Friona. Howard bought land, which he farmed, and worked for the late W.C. Wilkerson, who had extensive farm interests in the area at that time.

"Times were hard," Howard remembers, "and prices were very low, so I had to work away from home to keep us going. One summer, when a farm hand could hardly get $1 per day here, my brother, Harold, came by."

"He had been to California and had heard that harvest hands in the El Reno area were being paid $3.50 per day, so I went with him to Oklahoma. We soon got a job and the farmer agreed to pay us $3.50 per day."

"That seemed like very good wages and we worked eighteen and one half days. I'll never forget how surprised and happy we were when we went to get our checks. He told us that we had been such good hands that he had made our checks out for $4.50 each per day. Eighteen and one-half dollars would go a long ways back in those days."

While living in the Hub Community, Howard kept up his interest in baseball and played on a community team. The diamond was located across the road south of the old Syndicate Hotel and Howard remembers, "Several times we almost beat the Friona team, but never did quite get the job done."

He continued to farm until 1951. Then, he and Mary moved to town. He worked at Friona Consumers Fuel Association for several years and Mary was the supervisor of the school cafeteria.

Since Mary's death, Howard has lived alone. He has been unable to keep playing baseball, but he has developed another hobby. He creates latch hook rugs and does a beautiful job.

The "rug bug" hit him one day as he was watching his oldest daughter, Dorothy Lovelace of Farwell start one.

At first Dorothy helped him start his rugs, but soon he was so adept at the art that he was helping her begin hers. He has made one for each of his three children and five grandchildren, as well as a number of others.

His most ambitious project was a huge rug, which he made for Mrs.

Grace Snider of Farwell. He says keeping his hands busy helps keep him calm and since he isn't able to get out to play ball or go fishing he needs to keep busy.

Howard's family, besides the Blackburns, Anellas, and Woodrow and Dorothy Lovelace, who live in Farwell, includes Peggy Snider and her youngest son, David, also of Farwell; Robert and Diane Lovelace Mayes and daughter, Maggie, of Laramie, Wyoming; Grady and Kim Snider Newton and daughter, Lauren, of Lubbock; and Mr. and Mrs. John Snider and children of Lariat.

Texas Lore Includes Indians, Hangings

The first inhabitants of Parmer County were coyotes, cows and a few XIT cowboys. The settling of this area was fairly quiet and uneventful, especially when compared to the Texas counties which border the southern edge of Oklahoma.

As late as 1890 people who lived in the Texas counties of Grayson, Cooke, Montague and Clay, would travel together, taking several wagons of folks "going to town" as protection from the Indians. Indian raids were fairly common, but the Indians coming down from Oklahoma usually only wanted to steal a few cows or horses. They had been known to occasionally snatch children who were playing too far away from the house. The children would then be "sold" back to their families in exchange for food or livestock.

In spite of these drawbacks, the lure of the West was strong for free-spirited, adventure-seeking individualists. So the area attracted its share of mavericks, eccentrics and non-conformists, including those of the "fair sex" ... yes, women outlaws.

The book entitled "Famous Court Trials of Montague County" by M.F. London recalls the "Hanging of Nancy Hill" and is included in the book in spite of the fact that there was never a court trial involved in the hanging of this colorful character.

Nancy Hill was a notorious horse thief of the 1860's and early 1870's. She operated along the frontier counties, where police protection was hard to come by for the settlers. Her headquarters were in Springtown in Parker County. She was usually accompanied by two or three men, who constituted her gang.

She was a woman of average height and weight and was said not to have been unattractive. She wore men's cowboy style clothing and carried two six-shooters. These were covered by the demure lady's long skirts when she was busy "casing" her next victims. Her "modus operandi" was to appear at a rural farm dwelling alone and apparently unarmed, asking for food or water. In those days a stranger in need was hardly ever turned away, so Nancy Hill would be invited to partake of the hospitality of the people she was planning to rob.

Miss Hill would then return to her gang of fellow-outlaws, and shortly thereafter, the farm folk would find themselves bereft of horses or stock or both.

London relates the eventful day in August of 1873 when Nancy Hill met her demise in the following manner:

"On the day she was hanged, Nancy Hill was jumped by a group of men near Springtown, where she had been appropriating other people's horses to her own use and benefit. Whether her men escaped or whether she was cut off from them is not known. In either event, she was pursued by the men, who kept in hot pursuit until they caught up with her on Denton Creek, between Montague and where the City of Bowie is now located. Having caught up with her, the men took the law in their own hands and meted out punishment by hanging. Nancy Hill had paid the supreme price for her stealing activities."

A coroner's inquest was held and the jury found that Nancy Hill died by hanging at the hands of person or persons unknown. The names of the men who constituted the vigilante posse who hanged Nancy Hill were never learned.

True stories such as this make our Northern Panhandle area of Texas seem tame by comparison. Farwell, being on the border between Texas and New Mexico, had its share of gunslingers and rough characters.

But Friona and Bovina have been known to be quiet rural home towns from the earliest days. Perhaps the main reason for this is the fact that there are no trees in this area large enough from which to hang anyone.

DONNY LEWELLEN

Friona Native Pilots Action-Cam Helicopter

A Friona native, Donny Lewellen, is pilot for Amarillo Channel Four's "Action Cam" helicopter.

Lewellen has been flying for seven years, four of which have been as a helicopter pilot. He estimates that he has logged around 2,000 hours in the air.

Lewellen comes by his interest in flying naturally, since his father, Joe, has been flying for over 30 years, and operates Lewellen Spraying Service.

Lewellen is married to the former Debbie Anderson of the Rhea community. They are parents of a two-year-old boy, Greg.

Potter County Chief Deputy Don Smith says that Lewellen soloed after only four hours of instruction, a true indication of his natural flying ability.

"Donny is very capable, talented, and cautious. He is not a person to take chances with his aircraft. He will not take unnecessary chances," says one of Lewellen's co-workers at Channel 4.

Lewellen is also a crack mechanic, and spends hours taking extra precautions to insure that his "ship" is in top notch shape before each Sky-Cam mission.

Since coming to Channel 4 as Sky Cam pilot, Donny has flown several exciting missions. During one bad hailstorm, he flew to rescue a downed pilot, picked him up and flew the man to a hospital for medical treatment.

"That was a bit hairy. The weather was so bad that we didn't have time to take any pictures of the plane crash. It probably was a good thing we found the pilot, because the DPS didn't locate the crash for several hours," says Channel 4 newsman Brian Wilson.

"Donny and I covered the floods north of Dumas in Sky-Cam early this summer. It really gave us an advantage because we could fly right down that river of water and find the real stories. All the other stations were restricted in their coverage because the bridges were out.

"I will always remember that story. Donny and I just couldn't believe what we were seeing at the time. From the helicopter, we got an overall view of the multi-million dollar damage," Wilson said.

Lewellen and Ken Baierl of Channel 4 once flew into a town (Wellington) which had just been ravaged by a tornado. The up-drafts and down-drafts off the thundercloud were so severe that Lewellen almost had to turn back, but he carefully landed, and Channel 4 was the first news crew on the scene.

"I think Donny has come to enjoy the news business as much as I have come to enjoy the helicopter flying. Sometimes Sky-Cam stories can be just plain fun. For example, the time we flew over the maiden run of the new Cotton Belt Railway from Tucumcari to Liberal, Kansas. There was a ceremony at every town along the way. It was a beautiful day for flying. I think this was the most fun I ever had covering a story," Wilson says.

Lewellen's cooperation with the Amarillo police department also has been noteworthy. He has donated helicopter time whenever they need it. Donny's flying helped find a body of a missing person recently.

It was estimated that Lewellen's work saved the police department hundreds of hours of work. He received a letter of appreciation from Police Chief Lee Spradlin for his help.

"Overall, I believe that Sky-Cam and Donny Lewellen's exceptional piloting abilities have really helped us get a jump on the competition. With the helicopter we can do things the other stations cannot do. It is a most valuable tool for the television journalist. We are happy to have Donny as a member of the Action News team, Wilson says.

NEWS PILOT....Friona native Donny Lewellen is the helicopter pilot for Channel 4's Sky-Cam news team. Lewellen is a 1971 graduate of Friona High School, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewellen.

Seeds Now Available For Texas State Bluebonnets

Now is the time to plant Bluebonnet seeds, if you can find them.

The crippling drought has reduced the Bluebonnet seed harvest to a fraction of the usual production.

Carroll Abbott of Kerrville, the state's only fulltime wildflower seed and plant collector, usually sells tons of Bluebonnet seeds each season, but he is now limiting his customers to a maximum of 50 pounds each.

The short supply of seed, however, have an extremely high rate of germination.

"It seems like Mother Nature wanted every seed which was produced to grow," Abbott says.

"Our germination rate was tested at the State Seed Laboratory and came out to an amazing 94 per cent."

Despite the shortage, Abbott's mail-order seed firm, Green Horizons, still sells the smaller packages at former prices. A thousand seed, for example, costs $2.35, including tax and postage. With each order, Abbott sends along cultural notes on how to grow Bluebonnets successfully and a list of nearly 60 other wildflowers which should be planted now.

His address is 500 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, Texas, 78028. Bluebonnets are easy to grow, if you follow a few simple rules, Abbott explains.

Prepare the seed by soaking three or four days in baby-bottle-warm water, changing the water daily, to dissolve the lacquer-like coating on the seeds. Plant the seeds in late summer or early fall and cover them up with soil. Tamp the seed bed to make it firm--even walk over it lightly. And then water thoroughly.

The seeds will begin sprouting in 7 to 10 days and for weeks afterwards, Abbott says.

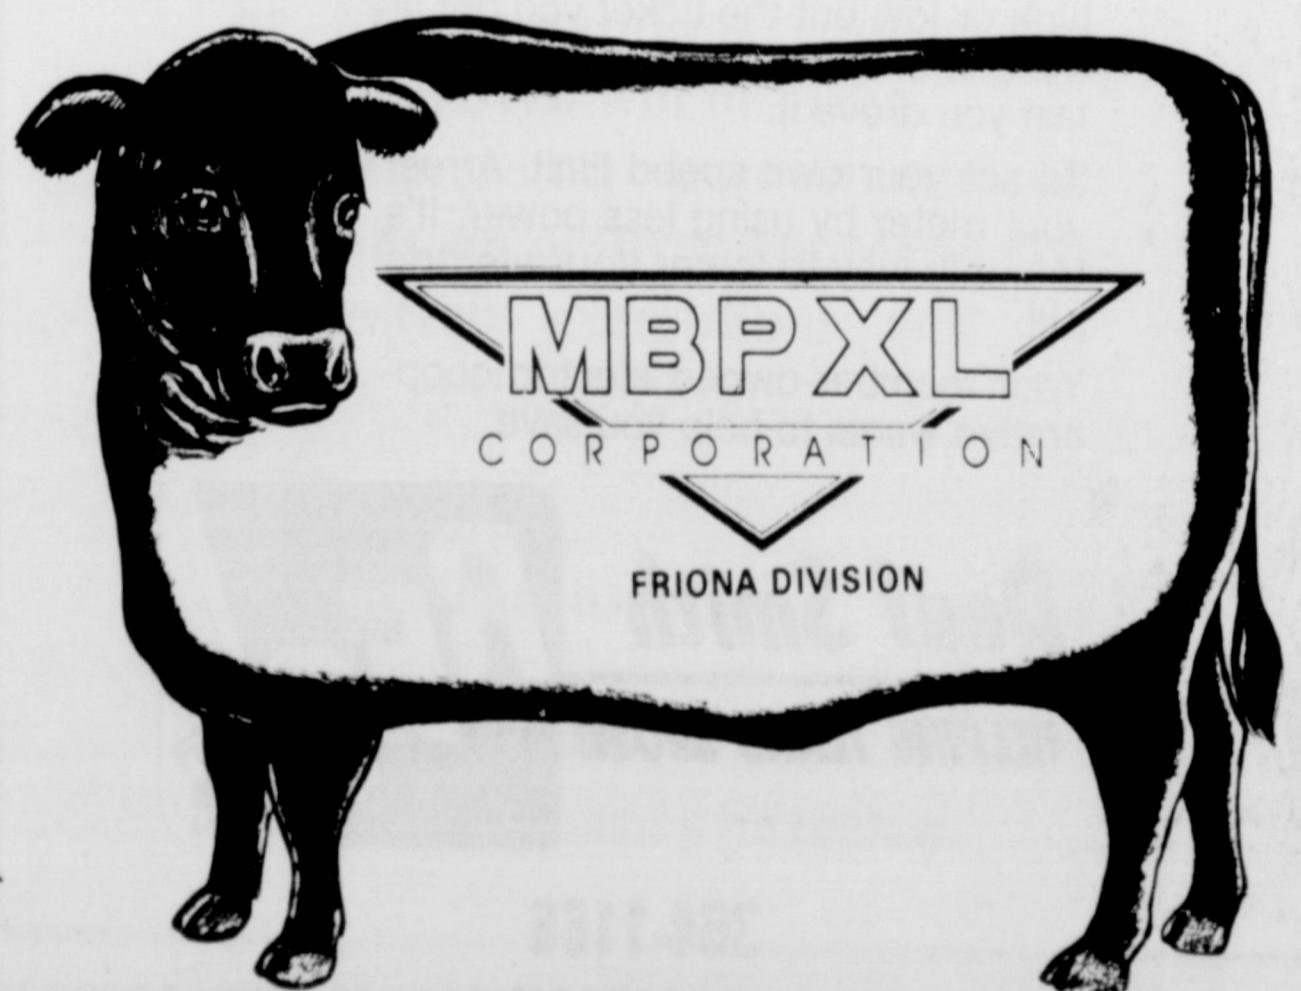

Sowbugs especially love Bluebonnet seedlings and an all-purpose insecticide should be used, he says.

K. Caudill Gives Girls State News

By KELLI CAUDILL

Each year the Friona American Legion Auxiliary sponsors a representative to Girls' State. The candidate is chosen from the junior class of Friona High School. This representative travels to Seguin, Texas to set up and take part in the 51st state government.

This year I was honored by being selected to represent Friona at the 36th session of Girls' State. I left for Seguin on June 10 to take part in a very enjoyable and exciting ten days.

The first step in setting up our state's government was deciding upon our party platform. The planks of the Federalist Party platform are as follows:

1. Support stricter penalties for the crime of littering and the defacing of public property.
2. Encourage the reciting of the Pledge of Allegiance in Texas public schools.
3. Support the enforcement of safety requirements for school busses.
4. Support the production and manufacturing of Gasahol.
5. Support the creation of a teen jury system.
6. Support the federal government in stronger enforcement of federal immigration laws dealing with illegal aliens.
7. Encourage the Texas Department of Corrections to review classification of public offenders prior to the convict's assignment in T.D.C.
8. Encourage the investigation of a more effective means of transporting toxic chemicals in and through Texas.
9. Support stronger punishment and longer sentences for recidivists (repeat offenders).
10. Encourage unscheduled inspections of nursing homes by certified personnel to encourage better health standards.
11. Support the Texas Education Agency in requiring teachers to take an annual competency test.
12. Support state funding and the creation of a program for abused spouses.
13. Support funding of improvement and promotion of railroad transportation.

14. Support the requirement of a driver's test upon license renewal every eight years.

15. Support a public teacher's pay raise.

16. Support the development by T.E.A. of a program for the gifted students.

Next, a state party meeting was held to elect the party officials. These officials direct the state party system.

Following the organization of the political parties, city, county, district, and state officials were elected. Each candidate running for an office used campaign posters, slogans, and pins. On the day of the elections each gave a speech to the city, county, district, or state. After each election took place, the officials who were elected had the same responsibilities as officials have in a real state government.

In between campaigning and party meetings, we had some very informative assemblies. We learned about municipal and local governments, county and state governments, and special districts and political parties.

We also enjoyed speakers such as The Honorable Carole Keeton McClellan, mayor of Austin, Ann Richards, Travis County Commissioner, and Margaret Moore, Travis County Attorney Elect.

The final step in running our government was the Senate and House of Representatives. Each citizen of Girls' State had the opportunity to write a bill or resolution that would be debated by the House or Senate. All bills and resolutions were introduced, sent through committee, and if they passed committee were debated. We got into many heated "discussions" over some very controversial topics.

My stay at Girls' State was a very enjoyable experience. I would like to thank the Friona American Legion Auxiliary for giving me the opportunity to take part in such a valuable program.

Karen Patterson, Criss Wyly United In Church Ceremony

Karen Patterson and Criss Wyly, both of Friona, exchanged wedding vows Friday, August 15, at 7 p.m. in the Sixth Street Church of Christ, Friona. The ceremony was performed by J. Henderson of Plainview, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wyly.

The church was decorated with a fifteen branch candelabra, two seven branch spiral candelabras and bouquets of white gladioli, white carnations and peach roses.

A chorus from the church presented wedding selections including the "Traditional Processional," "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," "Come Share My Life," "I Pledge My Love," and "Blest Be the Tie."

As the bride was presented in marriage by her father, she wore a gown of organza over tafetta fashioned with a scoop neckline and short bell sleeves. A wide lace ruffle sprinkled with seed pearls trimmed the neckline. An inverted v-shaped medallion of chantilly lace and seed pearls accented the skirt front. The skirt had a deep flounce edged with a narrow band of lace, and a wide band of chantilly lace encircling the top of the flounce. The skirt fell from the empire waistline to a chapel length train in the back.

The veil of bridal illusion was edged with chantilly lace and pearl sprinkled lace medallions scattered on the veil, which was attached to a lace covered and pearl encrusted headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations, baby's breath and peach roses on an 1886 Bible which her great grandparents had at the beginning of their marriage. She borrowed a strand of pearls from Winnette Parr, wore new pearl earrings, which were a gift from the groom, and the traditional blue garter.

Donna Patterson of Schenectady, New York served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Terri Giddens of Turkey, Karla Rutherford of Damascus, Virginia, and Cheryl Patterson of San Antonio, all sisters of the bride. They wore identical formal length dresses of peach floral crepe topped with companion sheer capelets and carried a Sonia rose.

Gerall Wyly, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were John Baxter, brother-in-law of the groom, Lynn Pope, cousin of the groom, and Kent Patterson, brother of the bride. The groom wore a beige tuxedo, and the other male attendants wore two toned beige and brown tuxedos. Bruce Patterson, brother of the bride, and Jay Norsworthy, served as ushers.

Lighting candles were Robin Wyly, sister of the groom, and Paul Kevin Henderson, nephew of the groom. The fathers of the bride and groom lit the two side candles which the bride and groom used to light a unity candle.

Jeanette Couper, flower girl, was accompanied by Blake Rutherford, niece and nephew of the bride.

Ring bearer was Jayce Henderson, accompanied by another flower girl, Misty Baxter, nephew and niece of the groom.

The flower girls and feminine candlelighter wore matching floor length dresses of peach crepe. The dresses featured empire waistlines and puff sleeves edged with lace. The flower girls carried baskets of flowers.

Diane Kirk, cousin of the bride, registered guests.

A reception followed. A four tiered wedding cake was served by Dana Miller and punch was served by Cari Hand. Deena Mason served chocolate cake and Shannon Parr served coffee.

Special out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Kirk of Canyon, and Mrs. Bettie Patterson of Floydada, grandparents of the bride.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Finley of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Don Kirk of Dallas; Nova Purdy of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Couper, Jeanette and Marc of Schenectady, New York; Mrs. Fred Rutherford and Blake of Damascus, Virginia; Mrs. Ted

V = Q + P:

Value equals quality plus price. A low price alone is not value. At your Co-op, we always try to bring you quality products . . . at the lowest prices consistent with that quality. So save now on the automotive products you need.

Don't Judge a Battery by Its Cover

A battery, like a book, shouldn't be judged by its cover. That's why we're offering you an inside view of the FARMLAND REDI-START, our most popular battery. Once you discover the quality and workmanship packed into every REDI-START, you'll know why FARMLAND batteries lead the way in value and dependability.

with exchange, RS-22F

- (1) Start off with extra-wide, low-antimony grids for reduced gassing . . . reduced maintenance. Porous active material on these grids allows better acid penetration for improved cranking performance. And dynel fibers hold active material firmly to the grids for prolonged battery life.
- (2) Add micro-porous separators made from resin-impregnated cellulose, reinforced with durable vinyl ribs . . . for long life and dependable starting power.
- (3) Include through-the-partition intercell connectors. This design feature offers the shortest path available . . . for high terminal voltage and safe, sure starts.
- (4) Install lead bushing terminal posts tough enough to stand up to mechanical shocks and vibrations, with tight seals to prevent corrosive acid leakage among the posts.
- (5) Top it off with gang vent caps for easier inspection and service. These flame-retardant caps are specially designed to reduce the possibility of explosion from an internal spark . . . for added safety.
- (6) Finally, pack all these features into a durable, thin-wall polypropylene container/cover. Polypropylene, the strongest automotive battery container material on the market today, resists cracking and breaking. Thin-wall construction means more space inside . . . for more plates and more acid. And heat fusion insures that the case and cover are transformed into a unitized leak-proof container.

WARRANTY

FARMLAND INDUSTRIES' "LIFE-O-TREAD" TIRE LIMITED WARRANTY

The CO-OP "Life-O-Tread" Limited Warranty is unsurpassed by any warranty in the industry. It is one more reason your local CO-OP offers you the Best Deal in the Country.

Without limit on time, mileage or hours of service, all CO-OP passenger, truck and farm tires are warranted against failure due to defects in workmanship and materials; all CO-OP passenger, truck and farm tires, except Agri-Power rear tractor tires, are warranted against all normal road and field hazards with exception of repairable punctures. Agri-Power tires are warranted against road and field hazards only during the first 25% of tread life.)

The failure from the following reasons is not covered: broken beads, nail punctures, fire, wreck and mechanical defects, abuse, tires run underinflated until cords are loosened or broken. Tires marked "Second" or "Blam" or with defaced serial numbers will not be adjusted.

A pro-rata allowance on a new CO-OP tire will be made on all CO-OP tires qualifying for adjustment under this warranty based on original tread depth remaining and on Farmland Industries' current trade-in price.

- * Unsurpassed by any other tire warranty.
- * No limit on time, mileage or hours of service.
- * Warranted against defects in workmanship or materials.
- * Warranted against all normal road and field hazards.
- * Pro-rated allowance on a new CO-OP tire.

WARRANTY

If the FARMLAND 23 rear tractor tire should become unfit for further service within the first 10 percent of tread wear, the tire will be replaced free (note exceptions).

Exceptions — Tires should not be considered for adjustment under the terms of this limited warranty policy should inspection reveal tire with broken beads, merely punctured by small nail, rendered unserviceable by running underinflated until cords are loosened, broken or separated on inside, or otherwise showing evidence of having been run underinflated, regardless of cause of loss of air pressure; rendered unserviceable by fire, wreck, collision, misapplication, abuse or vehicle mechanical defects or irregularities; marked "second" or "blemished"; previously adjusted and/or serial number defaced.
