IN BLOSSOM TIME

It probably would be an important thing to do to begin to forecast and lambast in connection with the forthcoming governor's race in Texas to start pouring it on against the days when the weather is hot and the temperatures of the people torrid on their semi-annual spree in the realm of political science.

However, right now we are imbued with spring-time, with red buds and their beauty, with the white expanse of spirea that background many lawns of spacious green. And too, with the gorgeous blossoming of the peach and plum trees. For the moment it can be forgotten that they may be due for sudden blight should Boreas blast and roar about in one of his sudden freezing rages.

Often it happens that winter's tantrums spoil the loveliness that is the high plains in springtime. But often, too, it does not happen that way. Surely there is no more beauty anywhere than in Floyd county in springtime when nature smiles and forgets to frown.

HAS SPRING COME?

Having lost touch with nature as manifested in the high plains of Texas, we acknowledge profound ignorance as to prospective weather in these parts.

Will the freeze due tomorrow actually develop or will it be a flash in the pan? Has the February thunder lost its potency as a weather maker later? Will it do to plant some feedstuffs early in ground that has been well cared for during the winter and now has a good season under an over mulch? Would it have to be done over in a few days or weeks when the weeds take it and the thermometer hangs in the sixties and seventies?

A good many times, they tell us, in the past three decades farmers have put seed in the ground in early April and found it profitable. They got a good stand of cotton of feed that withstood the rigors of early springtime. On the other hand, the gamble has been made at a loss also.

Who wouldn't like to know if spring really is here.

A Vital Message To Men Who Feel Old

Why not regain the vim and vitality you once enjoyed?

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for CASELLA stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 50 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try CASELLA tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? There is nothing harmful in these tablets. They contain Celery seed, Thymine Chloride, Passion Flower, Iron. Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Mr. Powell, our very pleasant mail carrier, drove inside just now to bring me a telegram from our son, Wilson, who has landed in New York. By the time you read this he will be with us. Long has been the time since he left. He has become used to strange countries and other ways of living.

I recall how he read over and over again, "Lorna Doone" and other classics of the lands in which he has been living.

How nice it will be for us when he comes back to the farm where he was born, walks under the shade trees he helped to plant, look across the fields in which he once drove the mules to plow. I am sure he will want to look at the old sword his grandfather Wesley Spikes carried in the civil war and was handmade for him by his father, Jack Spikes. He will pick up the books he once loved, and I will cook the dishes that once pleased him. Old memories will flood over him, washing out for a time the years he has been away, tie him again to his own land.

The Methodist revival at Cone has almost come to a close and a revival indeed it has been to many and a fresh start by many at the business of right living. It has been a pleasure and a delight to listen to the beautiful voice of Brother Beauchamp, singing the songs he loves. And what could be more beautiful than a good voice praising the good God who gave it?

His messages have been sincere and straightforward, pleading, and at times sounding out like the prophets of old. It has been an inspiration to the ones who have been attending and the friendliness of Rev. and Mrs. Hartley warms the soul. How the flower gardens blossom after the cultivating and the rain and the warm sunshine! How our lives should blossom and make for a fine harvest after this revival!

Wonderful messages of hope and joy and faith we have listened eagerly to and in spite of all the discords in our lives, Brother Beauchamp told how God could put our lives in harmony and music again.

"I never knew the old brown violin. That was so long in some dark corner that its strings broken or loose, its pegs run down, could ever be of use again. The dust of years lay on its shabby case, until one day a Master took the instrument, and with caressing fingers touched the wood, adjusted pegs and strings; his mind intent on making music as he drew his bow. Then from the violin, long silent, sprang more arpeggios, runs, trills. The wood quivered, leapt into life, and joyous sang.

I now believe that any broken life, jangling with discords, unadjusted, tossed in some far corner, wasted, thrown aside, can yet be of some use; need not be lost. From Heaven's orchestra, a Master's Hand. Scattered with old wounds, can mend the broken thing. If yielded to Him wholly; and can make the dumb life speak again, and joyous sing. In praise of One who gave His life that none need perish. And this message, glad most bleat, I now believe; for placing in His Hand My life, I find my world is now at rest.

most bleat, I now believe; for placing in His Hand My life, I find my world is now at rest.

Dorothy M. Barter. Well of course we have seen the land as green at this time of year, but it seems like a glorious blessing we have never seen before. Mother Earth has thrown off the old brown comfort, good enough in winter days for a spread of green blocks sewed together with brown ones quilted into deep lines, some straight and true as the cross files, others contoured from corner to corner. I like to think the fences are the stitches in the quilt between the seams like mother put in between her blocks, and I like the brand new spread.

All these typewriter keys click to me is, Wilson is coming home. Wilson is coming home, so with a good thought for the week, I will close this column.

There is a legend of a man who found the barn where Satan kept his seeds ready to be sown in the human heart, and on finding the seeds of discouragement more numerous than others learned that these seeds could be made to grow most anywhere. When Satan was questioned he reluctantly admitted that there was one place where he could never get them to thrive. "And where is that?" asked the man. Satan replied sadly, "In the heart of a grateful man."

A WIFE'S LAMENT

I married a man whose head is bald. Oh boy, I sure do step. When I hear him call.

He makes me cook. He makes me sew. All the hay I have to mow.

I hitch the team. I turn the plow. He sits and tells me how.

I dig the "Tatters". I hoe the corn. He sits and blows his horn.

I fry the eggs. I stir the bread. And watch him nod his sleepy head.

He likes the food. He stuffs it in. He gets fat, I stay thin.

Tell me sister. Tell me if you can. How I would live without this man! Mrs. Pearl Childress.

THOUGHTS OF MOTHER

She always leaned to watch for us, anxious if we were late; In the winter by the window, in summer by the gate. And though we mocked her tenderly, for having such foolish care; The long way home would seem more safe, because she was there.

Her thoughts were all so full of us, she never could forget; See, I think that's where she is, she must be watching yet; Waiting till we come home to her anxious if we are late. Watching from Heaven's window leaning from heaven's gate. —Dedicated to Mrs. E. W. Lightfoot, deceased, by her daughter, Mrs. Nadene Smith.

Mineral Oil May Affect Health Health Dept

authorities. Instead of supplying needed fat, mineral oil actually robs the body of essential food elements and its prolonged use may cause harmful effects as "mineral oil poisoning."

Because of the widespread use of mineral oil in foods, a special study was made on the problem by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association. As a result they issued a warning against its use which concluded:

"It has been shown that the ingestion of liquid petrolatum (mineral oil) is capable of interfering seriously with the absorption of carotene, vitamin D, calcium and phosphorus, and vitamin K. The effects of its prolonged use have been thoroughly investigated, but there is sufficient evidence of possible harmful effects to justify the conclusion that its indiscriminate use in foods or cooking is not in the interest of good nutrition, and any such use should be under careful supervision of a physician."

"Well," you may say, "I don't cook with mineral oil. I only use it as a laxative." No matter how you take mineral oil, as a laxative or in food, it is a sufficiently sleek thief to steal away some important vitamins and minerals your body needs. Dr. Norman Jolliffe in Nutrition Notes, December, 1944, says, "The absorption of the vitamins by the mineral oil may take place even when the vegetables of fruit may be eaten at dinner and the mineral oil taken at bed time." He further says that use of mineral oil in foods may have serious nutritional consequences.

Some of these serious consequences are discussed by still another authority, Dr. James W. Morgan, in the October 18, 1941 Journal of the American Medical Association. Among the harmful effects of continued use of mineral oil, he cites what he terms, "mineral oil poisoning" and describes the condition as being loss of weight and other symptoms. Most patients show rapid improvement after discontinuing use of the oil.

The pregnant woman who uses mineral oil may be increasing the dangers of childbirth due to the lowered body supply of vitamin K. Vitamin K is essential for the proper clotting of the blood and is particularly important in preventing hemorrhage of the newborn.

Do not use mineral oil in baking, frying or making salad dressings or to take as a laxative except under specific instructions from your physician, concludes the department's warning.

AIL INSURANCE

Unlike some others, I'm proud I DO NOT represent any, Old Line or Stock Company! ALL OUR stays in Texas and none to Stockholders in this any other State. I think producing farmers like it that way too because—

The Company I represented last year and will represent this year sold more HAIL Insurance Texas last year than any other company!

We paid every loss in full. From 5% paid to J. Bates to 100% paid to Lewis Harber. Our adjusters experienced and practical farmers. Same as year, we will adjust and allow losses as low as 5%. Losses that equal or exceed 90% will be allowed as % losses.

This is a cooperative organization and as such is rated in a manner similar to that of Cooperative Elevators and Oil Companies, which are owned and operated by the farmers comprising their membership.

Our rates for full coverage for each $100.00 are: $12.00 or note 12.60. You save around $60 on premium for each 100 acres you insure at $10.00 acre, by allowing us to write your insurance. I keep this saving in your own pocket and insure your own company.

Don't wait until the HAIL season starts! Insure as it will cost you no more. We do not require to be in full head before adjustment is made. In case of known crop failure, free cancellation of your hail policy is allowed prior to May 10th.

We don't want to write all the hail insurance and will not block it solid. There is some areas where just don't want the business.

Many of you KNOW that I am working, trying to better conditions for the farm home owner that on his own land. I appreciate your confidence and word. Producers can go a long way together. I and we are headed forward.

Farmers wishing to have their seeds tested should send samples from one part to one quart representative of the entire lot, to the seed testing laboratory at Tech.

INDUSTRY FOLLOWS OIL!

WE'VE GOT PLENTY OF IT!

Oceans and oceans of oil—and all in this vast area—and our supply will last for years and years. We all know our peacetime industrial growth will demand more and more oil and natural gas and our petroleum people are ready and eager to supply them. Even now, the Panhandle-Plains and Southeastern New Mexico is producing high octane gasoline, natural gasoline, synthetic rubber and carbon black.

Yes, the Panhandle-Plains and Pecos Valley have plenty of oil and natural gas and an abundant supply of low cost dependable electric power to operate large industrial plants which process these natural resources into finished products.

Conservation District News

Terraces were built during the past week on the farm of Clarence Thorpe, and Marvin Shurbet, co-operators of the Floyd County Soil Conservation district. Most of Mr. Thorpe's farm is level and it was decided at the time his conservation plan was made that this portion could be safely cultivated for an indefinite period of time with proper cropping systems and rotations plus a properly designed irrigation system. However there was a portion of the farm which was too steep to safely continue under cultivation without the use of something to prevent the fast movement of water down the slope carrying soil with it. It was on this portion of the field that terraces were built to prevent this loss of soil and water.

Mr. Shurbet built terraces on a field which is being retired to native vegetation. With the help of Carl Muench, engineer for the Soil Conservation service which is assisting the Floyd County Soil Conservation district with its program, a plan was worked out for using terraces on this field to conserve all the rainfall possible and locating irrigation ditches just below the terrace lines so that supplemental water could be given when needed.

Leale Ferguson has watered out a piece of graded contour row land which he says is watering just right. This is a very good demonstration of contour row watering, the main advantages being long sets, slow movements of water, deeper penetration of moisture and prevention of erosion. Mr. Ferguson has also chiseled his pasture on the contour, and watered it. The contour chisel furrows acted as water spreaders and materially aided water penetration.

Since a great deal of irrigated land is now listed or in such a condition that no further lines will be needed this spring a greater percent of time will be spent in making topog maps and checking wells. It is hoped that the district personnel will be able to check all cooperators wells this summer. This consists of setting a flume to find out the amount of water the pump is delivering and checking the speed of the pump.

This information will be used for planning application of irrigation water to get uniform distribution and a maximum saving of time for the irrigator.

S. H. Millwee Asks Re-Election As County Attorney

To the People of Floyd County:

I am a candidate for the second term as county attorney.

I believe that more complaints have been filed during my tenure than any other like period in Floyd county, and all have been convicted or pled guilty but one.

Monies paid into the county treasury show the office to have been more than self-sustaining after paying all expenses, including the county attorney's salary.

If re-elected I promise a continuance of strict enforcement of all infractions of criminal law under my jurisdiction.

S. H. Millwee.
